AP interviews prey nominees

NEW YORK (AP) — In an attempt to elicit the views of the major party candidates concerning the main issues of the 1968 Presidential election the Associated Press editors recently conducted in-depth interviews with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic candidate, the Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon and George C. Wallace, the American Independent party candidate. Some of the questions asked of each candidate were the same, and dealt with domestic as well as foreign affairs.

Because of the extreme length of the article the University Daily has broken it into a series, the first of which ran Tuesday and concerned law and order. The remainder of the article will run in its entirety as space allows each day.

Here is the gist of their answers:

Q. HOW WOULD YOU DEAL with the widespread growth in petty crime, mainly committed by youth? And tied to this is the question of the growth of drug addiction, since much of the crime is committed to obtain funds for narcotics?

HUMPHREY

"The great share of all crime today is committed by young people under 18, and a goodly share of the serious crime today is committed by young people 15 years of age and younger.

"You come back once again to the central problem. There isn't a single city in the U.S. that is adequately policed. When I use the term 'adequately' I mean in terms of policy, quality, quantity, training and equipment. The average police officer receives two-thirds of a living wage. He really is underpaid, and yet he is required to take on one of the most important jobs of our community, namely the protection of life and property.

"What we need . . . is the funds and the personnel at a state and regional level so that we can integrate our police forces — state, county and local — and include within them training for the National Guard . . . and also coordinate our use of federal officers, so that we know the lines of command, so that we have some idea of the sharing of responsibilities and even our means of communication.

"We also need to improve our court procedures. In the average court today we have a delay on cases of a year or two years. This lends itself to all kinds of laxity, both in terms of court activity and police activity."

NIXON

"Organized crime is at the heart of this, because organized crime is responsible for perhaps two-thirds of all the narcotics traffic. And also, I think that the recent study in New York indicated that half the crime in New York is committed by people who were under the influence of narcotics in one way or another.

"The program I have advocated, with regard to greatly increasing the number of customs officials on our borders to stop the inflow of narcotics into the U.S., also increasing our diplomatic efforts with other countries from which those narcotics come, to see that we can cut them down, as well as a general program dealing with narcotics — I think will strike at one of the major sources of revenue for organized crime.

"AT THE HEART OF THE narcotics problem is the pusher, the individual who sells them, the individual who profits from taking teenagers, in effect, and making them addicts.

"I think, again, first at the federal level where interstate traffic is involved, the federal government should not only in terms of penalties but in terms of its activities to apprehend such individuals, should step them up very greatly. And then I would have the attorney general, as I have indicated, launch a new federal, state and local program, so that we can enlist local law enforcement officials in apprehending and punishing those who are involved in the traffic.

"You have to enforce the law. More convictions will help in terms of the pushers. More education will help in terms of the users. You cannot have this permissive attitude that you see on television, for example, programs where people say, 'Well, pot isn't too bad. It is probably no worse than alcohol, and maybe not as bad.' I think we ought to try to get the cooperation of the television networks. I am not speaking of censorship. I am trying to get some voluntary activity on the part of people who should have a greater public conscience in that."

WALLACE

"I think the Justice Department and the states ought to really bear down on this matter of marijuana and LSD.

"I don't know that you need any further federal legislation. I think the states ought to handle it. However, transporting marijuana, LSD, across the state line is or should be a federal offense. But I think by and large we ought to leave the matter of law enforcement to the states.

"I am not a law enforcement official and I cannot talk about items of strategy, logistics and methods of combating heroin or the importation of heroin or anything else. But as president, I would ask these federal agencies who are charged with law enforcement to stop the heroin traffic. How they are going to stop it would be left up to them."

Muskie slams Nixon in local Demo rally

In a brief stop in Lubbock Tuesday Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, democratic vice presidential candidate, slammed the Nixon-Agnew ticket as unprogressive and said the key to the future of America depended on creative thinking and education.

"In the urbanized society of today we simply cannot afford a Nixon administration," Muskie said.

MUSKIE WAS interrupted several times by enthusiastic applause in his 30 minute speech in Municipal Coliseum before about 3,000 persons.

There were numerous signs in the crowd proclaiming "Sock It To 'Em All Muskie" and "Spiro No Ed Yes—All The Way Humphrey-Muskie." There were no hecklers or demonstrators among the crowd, which appeared predominately pro-Humphrey.

Muskie cited Nixon's record while in office as indicative of his "back-away" attitude toward education and the farm problem.

"WE BUILT THIS country through the efforts of the people and we need a progressive administration to continue to build toward the kind of future Americans want," Muskie said.

Muskie said Nixon's record showed neither his abilities or desires to do this.

In a blast at Nixon Muskie said Nixon had an opportunity to cast the deciding vote in a bill for federal support of education and didn't.

MUSKIE SAID 73 per cent of the republicans voted against a 1965 education bill that benefited 90 per cent of the children in the United States.

In a pledge of support for education Muskie said if HHH were elected education would be a means not only of enlightening the society but a means of raising America's position in the world.

Muskie further stated since Nixon left office the gross income per farm in Texas had increased from $10,000 to $15,000 per year, the unemployment rate in Texas had dropped from 5.3 per cent to 2.9 per cent and construction jobs had increased by 50,000.

"THE KENNEDY and the Johnson administrations promised a greening and a strengthening of the society and we are committed to carrying out and furthering this promise," he said.

"The way to beat the problem is to face it, not back away from it, and the GOP administrations have continually backed away from the problems of education and the farm problems," he said.

Muskie concluded with a plea for Texas support for the democratic ticket and a "progressive, vital" society.

'Teatro' set to perform in Tech Union Friday

Spain comes to Lubbock Friday when the Tech Union presents the only local appearance of the internationally famed Spanish theater troupe "Esta Noche Teatro."

Coming to America after a successful season in Madrid, "Teatro" brings an evening of Spanish theater to the Union Ballroom, tracing its history from the 16th to the 20th century, and features the important highlights of works by De Vega, de la Barca, de Molina, Benavente, Inclan and Lorca.

THE COMMENTARY is in Spanish and English, and some of modern Spain's finest actors perform under the direction of Delfor Peralta, one of Europe's most talented theatrical personalities.

Peralta has established his reputation on the basis of more than 25 outstanding productions in both Europe and in South America, where he studied at the National Theater of Dramatic Arts in Buenos Aires.

On the continent his production of three one-act plays by Eugene O'Neill won the Grand Prix d'Angouleme in France in 1966. His "Divinas Paroles" won Poland's director of the year award. And his production of "Maitre Sancho Dans Les Airs" was awarded the Prix du Jury at the Festival de Valence.

PERALTA IS considered one of the most exciting theatrical directors today in Spain, and a major talent throughout Europe.

His troupe's performance at Tech, free to Tech students, is sponsored by the International Interests committee of the Union.

UD chief, news editor leave for press confab

They will be gone until Sunday. In their absence, Lane Arthur, managing editor, will be in charge of the paper and Gary Shultz, copy editor, will handle the news editor's duties.

SAO-SDS connection disclaimed by Riddle

By GARY SHULTZ
Copy Editor

Mike Riddle, Student Association president, denounced any connection between the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) and the Student Action Organization (SAO) in a speech to more than 100 people gathered in Gates Hall Tuesday night.

Riddle said certain points of the platform drawn up by the SAO sponsored convention—the All-School Convention—did "in the final analysis reflect . . . a philosophy paralleling the national SDS philosophy."

THE STATED purpose of the SDS, according to Riddle, is to attack the quality of American life and the U. S. foreign policy.

"The New Left's program is a cry of outrage and an attempt to wreck the establishment as it is.

"THEIR MOVEMENT demands not just peaceful protest, but physical protest. They are outraged by what they consider to be the moral deceits of our society. They are in total rebellion.

"SDS is not just a band of youthful rebels, but rather a militant group whose actions truly threaten the concept of academic freedom in the U. S.

"The use of violence and their dedication to the principle of absolute student control of universities is dangerous."

RIDDLE SAID the convention platform called for a strengthening of student government by promoting interest and participation by the entire student body.

"This is a laudable ambition, one which we could not and would not disagree with. However, we must disagree with several particular points of their platform."

RIDDLE'S MAIN attack came to the final clause of the platform which states "It is acknowledged by this convention that by far the most acceptable and most effective form of student power is student economic powers.

"Our candidates will exercise student economic power through the Student Senate by developing tactics and leading student movements (i.e. boycotts, dorm rent strikes) when necessary to secure the aims of the Student Association."

Riddle said such measures called for the complete disruption of the university.

"IF WE HAVE reached the point where a dorm rent strike is the only means of getting things done, then something is terribly wrong here."

"I AM NOT saying that the candidates endorsed by the convention are SDS members.

"Some of the candidates—not all—merely have been inflicted by the national philosophy of the SDS."

Tech students elect senators

Techsans go to the polls today to elect 21 senators out of eight schools in an effort to changeover to their amended election processes by which senate elections will be staggered.

Polling places are located in the Foreign Language and Math Building, the Union, B.A. Building and the Civil and Mechanical Engineering Building and will be open 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. A poll in the Administration Building will be open 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30-5:30 p.m.

Student Senate hits Tech housing policy

The Student Senate voted Tuesday night to revoke all support of the Tech Board of Directors and the administration in prescribing the current housing policy for male students, and also adopted an extensive act creating an executive cabinet under the Student Association president.

The Open Housing Act, authored by BA Sen. Billy Windsor, decries "an almost complete disregard for the valid interests of the students of Texas Technological College in formulation of housing policy."

THE RESOLUTION reads "We, the Student Senate . . . do hereby disaffirm all support of the Board of Directors and administration of Texas Technological College in prescribing the current residency requirements for male students."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the Board of Directors, Tech President Dr. Grover E. Murray, Women's and Men's Residence Councils and news media.

The Executive Reform Act, authored by Engineering Sen. Mike Anderson, provides for a selective service adviser, business, judicial, student life, academic, athletic, organizational, international students, campus facilities, elections and public relations departments under the Student Association President.

Committees for most of these functions already exist in the Senate, but these new departments will be concerned with carrying out policies formed by the Senate and its committees.

Graduate Sen. Robert Mansker read a statement which said some of the students running for Senate office who were nominated by the All-School Convention have been slandered by accusations spread across campus by other aspirants to office.

Mansker said efforts had been made to link the candidates to the Students for a Democratic Society.

"The scare tactic of trying to link SDS membership with these innocent newcomers to student politics is, to say the very least, vicious in nature," Mansker said.

"I know each of the students involved in this smear tactic and I know as a matter of fact that not one of the candidates seeking office this semester is a member of the SDS," he said.

IN OTHER legislation considered Tuesday, the Senate:

— Passed a bill calling for a day of no classes for summer school sessions, as is currently scheduled during the fall and spring terms.

— Passed a resolution stating the Senate would be "vigorously opposed to the construction of further dorm facilities on campus, namely the second phase of the Wiggins Complex."

— Passed a resolution calling for abolishment of curfew hours, room checks and dress code for women of legal age living on campus.

Gary Johnson, listed in Tuesday's University Daily as a candidate for the Senate, is not running. Names to be added to the list of Arts and Sciences candidates are Johnetta Williams, Steve Cook, J.W. Bales and Larry Wood.

BULLETIN

Ten coeds were selected Tuesday night as finalists for the campus football queen competition which is part of the centennial celebration for college football, and in the Phi Mu sponsored mock election Techsans chose Nixon over Humphrey and Wallace as the next president.

The 10 finalists in the queen competition were: Rhonda Lewis, Bobbie Specht, Barbara Zimmerman, Peggy Kincannon, Terri McKinney, Linda Baker, Janell Gerald, Susan Acree, Jana Mahon and Beth Huff. Alternates are Peggy Wooldrige and Tia Taylor.

In the mock election Nixon drew 58.1 per cent of the vote while Humphrey drew only 18.2 per cent and Wallace 17.2 per cent. Miscellaneous candidates drew 6.5 per cent of the votes.

On the state level Paul Eggers netted 48.4 per cent, Preston Smith 49.9 per cent and miscellaneous 1.7 per cent.

Editorials

Bad point sours all

The All-School Convention platform has some good points, some points that are already being worked on, and one particularly bad point.

The bad point, coming as it does in the platform's implementation clause, sours all the others. We refer to the plank on economic sanctions.

Student Senate candidate John Fletcher says the plank would "put teeth into the Student Senate." By calling for boycotts of 19th Street merchants, for example, or dorm rent payment strikes, he hopes to pressure the administration and the Board of Directors into meeting student demands.

The use of such tactics would destroy what respect and influence the Student Senate has built in recent years. For one thing, there is no way to make students go along with boycotts or strikes. It would take some powerful feeling among the student body for all of it to support such measures.

For another thing, if such tactics were pursued by the student body as a whole, it would create a state of open hostilities between student and administration.

In the first case, the Student Senate would become just a hollow voice dictating to a nonexistent following.

In the second case, the Student Senate would become a hollow voice which could not be heard above the tumult it had created.

Such tactics could only be detrimental to the Student Senate.

Campus needs education

In light of all the rumors about the Students for a Democratic Society that have been circulating on campus this semester, it is obvious that the Tech student body needs to inform itself about what the SDS is.

Student Association President Mike L. Riddle said Tuesday night that there is no SDS chapter here and that the Student Action Organization is not a front for the SDS. This needed to be said.

He also said parts of the SAO-sponsored All-School Convention platform reflected the SDS national philosophy, and that Tech could very well be a target campus for the SDS.

A composite of Tuesday's rumors received by us runs like this: The candidates nominated by the All-School Convention for the Student Senate are actually members of the Students for a Democratic Society. The SDS was organized by Hubert Humphrey.

Humphrey's SDS has a $400,000 grant from the Ford Foundation with which disrupt activities at Tech. If the candidates from the All-School Convention get elected to the Student Senate, today, the school will be leveled Thursday.

Students must learn to separate rumor from fact. The University Daily will publish the full text of Riddle's address in Thursday's issue. The current hypersensitivity to something that most students cannot recognize is distressing.

It would do everyone well to acquaint himself with the philosophy behind SDS, so he will know it when he sees it instead of having to grab every beard that passes.

On SDS claims

'Smear' charged

David Sanders, student senator and member of Student Action Organization (SAO), said Tuesday a "smear campaign" is underway against All-School Convention candidates for student offices.

Sanders declined to say whether the smear campaign is organized, or who was behind it, but he said some people are spreading rumors that the convention is connected with Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), an ultra-liberal student organization present on some campuses.

He said most of the people associated with SDS on the campus last year no longer attend Tech. He compared the "smear tactics" with tactics used by Sen. Joseph McCarthy in the '50s. Sanders said a smear campaign would solidify opposition to the convention.

SANDERS MADE THE remarks as convention candidates were outlining their platforms to about 75 students in front of the Tech Union.

Candidate for senator Arthur Yarish called the present student elections "socially oriented popularity contests." Asked his views on SDS by persons in the crowd, Yarish said, "In principle I am opposed to denying any group the right to organize on campus. If we permit exclusion of a group, whether we like or dislike it, then all organizations are in danger."

At times Yarish and John Fletcher, another convention candidate, were faced with opposition from persons in the crowd concerning the SDS and planks in the convention platform. Fletcher said without support the SDS couldn't function, and that not 200 "SDS types" are on the campus.

YARISH, A JUNIOR banking and finance major, said one of the main objectives is to get students organized into an effective force. At one point he invited any candidate for student office to speak to the crowd.

Tom Nelson, a campaign worker for senate candidates Steve Cook, Rene Brooks and Barbara Blankinship, said the convention candidates would try to govern through demands.

"You just can't deal with the administration in this way. You have to get experienced, responsible people in office who know proper channels, or you can't get anything done," Nelson said. He said he opposed the convention candidates not so much on their platform as on their qualifications for office.

THE ALL-SCHOOL Convention adopted a platform that all its candidates are pledged to implement.

Convention organizers call the platform an attempt to run on issues rather than on faces and personalities. The platform is divided into the broad areas of academics, residence halls and civil liberties.

UNDER ACADEMICS, the platform calls for:

- All elective courses to be taken on an optional pass-fail basis.
- Hours failed one's freshman year not to be counted into his accumulative grade point average.
- Student grade reports to be available only to the student and the head of his academic department.

UNDER RESIDENCE halls, the platform calls for:

- Weekly open houses.
- Discontinuation of semester evaluations of dorm residents.
- Women's Residence Council to be independent of the Association of Women Students.

- Free choice of residence for all students 21 years old or with 96 semester hours credit.

- Option of paying for rent and meals separately.

UNDER CIVIL liberties, the platform calls for:

- No arbitrary restrictions placed on any speaker at Tech by the Board of Directors.
- Allowing any student to address the Student Senate if a senator from his school will yield the floor to him.

- Publication of and immediate action on the results of the Women's Referendum Act of Spring, 1968.

- Majority student representation on disciplinary committees.

- Birth control information to be disseminated through the Student Health Center.

- Deletion from the registration process the filling out of incriminating or invasion of privacy cards.

- The right of peaceable assembly within the boundaries of Tech.

- Opposition to loyalty oaths for Tech employees.

THE PLATFORM also calls for immediate action on the name change and contends that all student organizations should be recognized by Tech at their request.

President thanks Homecoming help

I would like to express my appreciation to everyone at Texas Tech who worked so hard to make the 1968 Homecoming weekend one of the best on record.

Many of the ex-students and visitors on campus for the two days commented to me regarding the excellence of the celebration. From the bonfire to the parade to the dorm decorations to the many events for both students and ex-students, the weekend will long be remembered by those who attended.

Seeing old friends or revisiting one's alma mater is always enhanced by such a fine show as accompanied our Homecoming. I was very proud of the university and its students because it was obvious that much work had been put forth to make Homecoming truly meaningful.

Dr. Grover E. Murray
Tech President

Registers complaint

I would like to register a sincere complaint about an injustice which has been done to the student body of Tech. Monday night, an organized effort went into effect of attempting to smear the candidates of the All-School Convention by claiming that, and I quote, "... they're a group of long-haired, bearded, hippies who are controlled by the S.D.S., and are out to destroy the fraternities and sororities."

Sir, the ridiculousness of such a charge could be passed over lightly as an emotional outburst made in the heat of political campaigning if it were not for three very important points.

1) The All School Convention was formed by interested students desiring to involve students in the political spectrum of student life by means of the democratic process, which entailed that any organization, be it fraternal or not, would be able to participate, and this it fraternal or not, would be able to participate, and this charge which has been brought against it that its candidates are out to destroy the Greek world is not only completely falacious, but contrary to the democratic process which prevailed, and as for the charge of its being S.D.S. controlled—that is as truthful as saying that Dean Jones is a beatnik, for none of the people involved in the convention have ever been associated with the S.D.S.

2) What the people who initiated this smear campaign fail to realize, and, to me this is what is alarming, by attempting to discredit the ASC candidates, they spawn the very elements they seek to destroy, for if you take a person who has been aroused from political apathy and crush his ability to use the democratic system—you push him toward radicalism, for he feels that democracy is a farce.

3) I am sure that the fraternities and sororities have enough poise and self-confidence that they feel only embarrassment at this rude attempt to create paranoia within them, and will surely pay no heed to this smear tactic. Thus, Mr. Editor, I conclude my complaint about this injustice with an appeal for a calm, strong reaffirmation of the democratic process by dispelling the lie that has been propagated against the student body of Texas Tech.

Given red-carpet treatment

Lubbock welcomes Muskie

Warm, sunny weather blended perfectly with the occasion Tuesday as Lubbock rolled out the red carpet for Sen. Edmund Muskie (D-Maine).

Tall and smiling, the democratic vice presidential candidate made his way through a cordial throng of 300 to 500 supporters in front of Municipal Coliseum on his way inside to speak.

The coliseum greeting took place amidst a typical setting of traditional style. High school bandsters from Lubbock supplied the music. A donkey drawn wagon, compliments of Young Democrats for Humphrey-Muskie, supplied the political touch, and the South Plains College drill team outfitted in red, miniskirt outfits supplied the color.

Shaking hands and moving quickly as he made his way inside, the tall, lanky statesman towered over fellow dignitaries including Texas Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Lubbock's congressional Rep. George Mahon, also a Democrat.

Onlookers wore "roaring twenties" hats adorned with "Vote Humphrey-Muskie" hat bands, and sported "Make Muskie" armbands. Some carried favorable signs, one of which showed obvious Tech flavor and read "Give 'em H--- Big Ed."

Inside, a crowd of more than 3,000 rose to its feet clapping after an introduction by Mahon.

Lubbock and area supporters as well as an almost equal number of Tech students made up the listening group. The audience yielded applause at several points during Muskie's speech, which for the most part featured comparisons of former Republican administrations with the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

After a 25-minute speech, Muskie made his second stop outside, where, still smiling, he spent more time than before the speech — almost 15 minutes — shaking hands with people in the crowd.

The speech was almost completely unmarred by disapproval save for a single "Yea Nixon" which came from one member of the crowd when Muskie mentioned the Republican Presidential hopeful's name.

Ponies monopoly broken by Gilbert

It took a record breaking performance by Texas' Chris Gilbert to pry away the Southern Methodist monopoly of the Southwest Conference football statistics that has placed a number of other standards in jeopardy.

In becoming the all-time SWC rushing leader with 2,729 yards to his credit, the Longhorn halfback vaulted into 18th place nationally among the all-time leading ball carriers.

MEANWHILE, SMU'S CHUCK HIXSON moved within 10 completions of equaling the SWC record of 174 fashioned by Baylor's Don Trull in 1963. Trull, Tom Wilson of Tech and Terry Southall of Baylor, the only SWC passers to surpass Hixson's present number.

Jerry Levias, Hixson's favorite target, is now within one TD pass of SWC career record of 20, set by Lawrence Elkins in 1963. Levias has 55 completions through only two under his school record of 57 in nine games last season.

Taking over second place in rushing behind Gilbert and ahead of SMU's Mike Richardson, leader for the previous three weeks, was sophomore Bill Burnett of Arkansas, who rushed for 185 yards against North Texas. Burnett shares the scoring lead with another sophomore, Texas' Steve Worster, at 48 points.

SATURDAY MARKED the third time in his career that Gilbert had exceeded the 200 mark in a single game.

Jim Livingston heads up the SMU ball hawks who have fifteen interceptions. He has seven to his credit in six games.

Other individual leaders (Mike Hall of TCU, Larry Alford of Tech, and Bubba Thornton of TCU and Richardson) maintained their leadership in their specialties but without significant gains. Levias and Gilbert gained on Richardson in tandem offense (rushing and receiving), but the Mustang senior still holds a big lead.

SMU AND TEXAS, heading for the big clash in Austin Saturday stand one-two in total offense, with the Mustangs making a run-away of the overhead game and Texas on the ground attack. Each ranks eighth in the others specialty.

Phi Delt leads SAE in touchfootball loop

With close to half of the Intramural Touchfootball season over, it looks as if the teams representing the Phi Delt and the SAE stand the best chance of advancing to the all-College playoffs.

The newly formed Cowboys look to be the class of the Independent league with four wins against no defeats. The Cowboys, built around former residents of Carpenter Hall, are led by quarterback-coach, Tyler Damron. Damron effectively used his receivers, Monty Montgomery and Larry Taylor to upset the always tough Moonrakers earlier in the season.

THE FRATERNITY "A" LEAGUE'S biggest game of the year will come this Sunday as the undefeated Phi Delt take on the once tied SAE's. The Phi Delt has been led by the pin-point passes of Johnny Ball and the consistent pass catching of Eddie Stiles. The Phi Delt athletic director Rob Michie feels that the defense has been instrumental in all the Phi Delt victories. "We've scored 80 points," said Michie, "but our defense has held the opposition to only two points. I feel we have the best two rushers in the league in Dana Weaver and Rod Hayes. Our coach, Chris Galanos, has done an outstanding job in putting this team in contention."

Both the Phi Delt and the SAE's are leading the Fraternity "B" league also; last week the Phi Delt downed the SAE's 10-0 to take undisputed lead of the race. The second place SAE's are led by quarterback Chuck Tait, whose passes to Ron Conley and Jimmy Kuehn have been a major factor in the team's success.

A three year program to build a good touch-football team for the Baptist Student Union has started to show dividends as the Baptists are perched on top of the Club League with three wins. Coach Cameron Byler said the club has, for the most part, been working together for three years, and that newcomers have added the speed needed to win. Steve Judy and Mike Bolen share the quarterbacking chores for BSU with everyone getting into the receiving act. Ron Maske handles the kicking chores for BSU.

THOMPSON "B" AND MURDOUGH "B" share the leadership of the Residence Hall "B" league, each has a 2-0-1 record. Murdough's quarterback is Dallas freshman Tom Bunch; his primary receiver is Ben Robinson, Darrell Gray and flanker Steve Ramsey.

Thompson "B," who won their league last year, tied Murdough earlier and boasts a defense that has only allowed one score this year. Coach Randy Morgan credits speed and spirit for the Thompson success. Bill Brant is the Thompson quarterback, his main receiver is David Pickett.
