Sicilian defies code

ALCAMO, Italy - Defying an ancient Sicilian code that doomed her to spinsterhood, 20-year-old Franca Viola stood at the altar of a small church here Wednesday and married the man of her choice.

The marriage, in the face of threats against her life, made her a living symbol of a new era for Sicilian womanhood. The nation praised her; its president honored her.

Two years ago Franca was abducted from her home by a rich man's son she had spurned, He raped her while holding her prisoner for several days, Since the Middle Ages Sicilian women have been dishonored by seduction unless they marry their seducer,

But Franca refused to marry the man and all Sicily predicted a life of disgrace and spinsterhood for her. She stunned this island and won the applause of the rest of Italy when she stood in court and told her abductor, Filippo Melodia: "I do not love you, I will not marry you.'

He is serving an 11-year prison term. If she agreed to marry him, the charges would have been dropped,

Nixon uses phone

NEW YORK - President-elect Richard M. Nixon is choosing a cabinet by long-distance telephone and staff reports, and he may name some of its members without interviewing them in person,

The result is an absence of the kind of name-by-name speculation produced by noteworthy callers during the formative periods of past administrations,

Nixon men maintain that, except for Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California, no one has received a firm offer of cabinet appointment, Finch has, is expected to accept, and likely will become secretary of health, education and welfare.

The process of appointing cabinet appointees is expect ed to begin next Monday.

"He is not making a lot of direct contacts himself," one Nixon adviser said of the president-elect's search for cabinet members.

Instead, Nixon works through his staff, notably John N. Mitchell, so far untitled, but a top adviser, and H. R. Haldeman, who has emerged as the key assistant to the president-elect.

LSD yields mutations

DETROIT - Mutations - some of them fatal - have occurred in offspring of male fruit flies which were fed the so - called "mind expanding" chemical LSD, a Wayne state University researcher reports,

"There is an extremely good chance that LSD is having the same effect on humans," said Dr. Edwin G. Vann a genticist who is an assistant professor of biology at Wayne,

Vann said that in the fatal mutations, a combination of two identical lethal genes in the mating process resulted in death of the offspring,

Such genes can be transmitted through generation after generation indefinitely, Vann said,

Vann said he has tested some 22,000 fruit flies over a year of experimentation. He said fruit flies have the basic genetic mechanisms as humans.

America lagging

WASHINGTON - The House Armed Services Committee issued Wednesday a report by a private group that says the world balance of strategic naval power is changing to the advantage of the Soviet Union.

The report was prepared for the committee by the American Security Council, an unofficial organization composed largely of retired generals and admirals, including Gen, Curtis E. LeMay.

The committee said it did not vouch for the accuracy of statements in the council's report and pointed out it was based on unclassified information,

"For the first time in history the Soviet Union is developing an offensive maritime strategy and is seeking supremacy at sea," the report said,

Warren stays on

NEW YORK - Richard M. Nixon announced Wednesday that Chief Justice Earl Warren has agreed to the president-elect's request to preside over the Supreme Court through the end of its current term next June.

Nixon said he will choose a successor to the retiring, 77-year-old chief justice to take office after the completion of the term

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's spokesman, relayed this to newsmen and said that by Warren's choice his retirement from the court will be effective at the pleasure of the president,

The president-elect and the chief justice- who have disagreed on court decisions regarding the rights of criminal suspects- talked for about 15 minutes.

Warren submitted his retirement to President Johnson some five months ago.

'Critical margin' discussed

COLLEGE STATION, Tex, - America will remain in the "critical margin" if the world is to make its way throught the transition from narrow nationalism to inter- day. national partnership and stable peace, special presidential assistant Walt W. Rostow declared Wednesday. Rostow was keynote speaker for Texas A&M University's 14th Student Conference on National Affairs which has drawn 150 delegates from 60 colleges and universities in the United States, Mexico and Canada. The students are discussing "limits and responsibilities of U.S.

"Our task," noted President John's adviser, "has been to use our margin of influence to encourage abroad what we always set as our target at home: the effective organization of diffuse centers of power and authority."

He emphasized such a world cannot be created by the United States acting alone.

He also protested thrusts by U.S. troops into the supposedly neutral demilitarized zone dividing North and South Vietnam, The U.S. Command in Saigon said Marines went into the southern half of the zone to drive out invading North Vietnamese.

Vance countered with complaints of his own during the three-hour talk. He blamed the North Vietnamese for shooting at U.S. reconnaissance planes and for themselves sallying into the DMZ.

The United States and North Vietnam have been holding ambassadorial meetings in Paris since May, Now they will be joined by a South Vietnamese delegation and one from the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

President Nguyen Van Thieu told newsmen in Saigon that South Vietnam's delegation would be in Paris by this weekend, ready to deal with the procedural questions before the opening of peace talks.

Saigon has yet to announce who will be members of its delegation. It is expected to be headed by Ambassador Pham Dang Lam, chief of South Vietnam's observer mission in Paris, under the supervision of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, Ky will not be a member, however, Super-Mysteres are supersonnic turbojets of French make.

Targets were in the Irbid sector, which is centered about 20 miles east of the Jordan River, and the city of Al Marfaq, the site of an air base, 30 miles farther east.

The raid, launched in a heavy rain at noon, was the third such Israeli aerial incursion this week in a tit for tat exchange that is stirring major nations to consider further pressure for a settlement of the Middle East crisis.

Le Theule told newsmen Foreign Minister Michel Debre had advised President Charles de Gaulle and his Cabinet that tensions are mounting in the Middle East and the big powers should "live up to their responsibilities, that is, take the initiative."

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) - Anew ficially rescheduled the launching of its era in astronomy could dawn Saturday Orbiting Astronomical Observatory (OAO) 2 for Saturday at 3:40 a,m, EST, The 4,400-pound payload has been grounded for nearly a month by a series of problems with guidance devices aboard its Atlas-Cenatur booster

Meanwhile, NASA moved ahead with plans to launch a European research satellite stop another rocket at 1:55 p.m. EST Thursday, That craft, called HEOS for Highly Eccentric Orbit Satellite, is to fly on a lofty earth orbital mission to study this planet's magnetic field and radiation in deep space,

Packing a bundle of 11 telescopes, OAO 2 will be able to give scientists their first opportunity to study thousands of stars above earth's atmosphere and possibly lead to new stellar discoveries.

"From a scientific standpoint, the atmosphere might as well be a brick wall," explained Dr. Charles A. Lundquist, assistant director for science from the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory which directed development of one of OAO's two previous experi-

OAO's telescopes will search for "young" stars, most of which are between 10,000 to 100,000 years old. This type star emits light in ultraviolet frequencies which is filtered out by the atmosphere and thus cannot be seen by ground-based astronomical instruments such as the 200 inch optical telescope at Mt, Polomar, Calif.

By studying ultraviolet light, OAO scientists expect to learn many new chemical and physical characteristics of stellar bodies and come up with better clues on how the universe evolved.

"The theory is to put stars of different ages in some order to deduce the evolution of stars and the universe." said Dr. James E. Kupperman Jr., OAO project scientist at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center.

In operation, OAO's two main experiments will function one at a time. The Smithsonian probe, which consists of four telescopes, peers out the top of the spacecraft to scan large portions of the sky, perhaps looking at more than 700 stars each day.

A second experiment, developed by the University of Wisconsin, consists of seven telescopes which will focus on individual stars to observe chemical composition and pressure and density of each stellar structure, If OAO 2 operates for six months, Wisconsin scientists predict they will study more than 1,000 stars in detail.

Optical sightings made by the experiments will be converted into numerical data aboard OAO 2, then radioed to earth tracking stations.

Liquor election awaits ruling on signatures

The outcome of the current attempt to call a wet-dry liquor election in justice precinct 6 is still up in the air pending a ruling by the Texas Attorney General over which general election to base the number of sigtures needed on petitions to call the election. County Attorney Tom Purdom last week asked the attorney general for the opinion after 3,577 signatures were approved on petitions turned into the county clerk's office Nov. 11.

It is Purdom's opinion that some 4,200 signatures are needed, based on the 1968 general election, since the petitions were turned in after election

However, backers of the petitions maintain only 3,329 signatures, based on the 1964 general election, are needed since the petitions were taken out from the clerk's office prior to this year's voting.

Kern Taylor, chairman of the opinion committee studying the question in the attorney general's office, said Monday the matter has been given high priority, and a reply should be returned to Purdom before the end of the week.

He said the committee felt the time implication of the matter warranted a speed-up in the normal opinion pro-

Dr. Alfonzo Zavaleta Cruzado, 34, says he may have cured his sister, Mrs. Elis Wenzell, of cancer of the uterus. The cancer apparently has disappeared, he said.

But he stressed that less than a month has passed since the experiment, and five years are required to think in terms of cure. Similar experiments to mobilize antibodies against cancers are being carried out in the United States and elsewhere- some with encouraging results. Dr. Zavaleta's experiment differs in He injected cancer cells into his leg. His system formed antibodies to des-

Pre-trial hearing given Lach today

A pre-trial hearing for Benjamin Lach is set for 10 a.m. today in 99th District Court in Lubbock with Judge Howard C. Davison presiding.

Lach is charged with the December 1967 slaying of Mrs. Sarah Alice Morgan, a Tech custodain, in the Biology Building.

Lach, who will be 24 Tuesday, is represented by Bill Gillespie and A.W. Salyars. Famed criminal trial lawyer, F. Lee Bailey will not represent Lach as previously thought, it was learned Bailey said that he could not "come to terms" with Lach's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lach of Mattapan, Mass.

Judge Davison said he anticipates a motion for a sanity hearing for the accused; and most likely will set the

Carol needs upgrading

The best of all events are often plagued with difficulties, but the Carol of Lights, sponsored by the Women's Residence Council, seems to have had more than its fair share, Admittedly the Carol of Lights is a laudable ambition and a worthy project of WRC, and for this they should be highly commended.

But poor planning, poor equipment, and yes, a poor and unappreciative audience greatly detracted from the beauty of what could otherwise have been an inspiring and wonderful event.

The campus organizations that devoted their time and effort to the Carol this year deserved to have their performances managed better. A beautiful Christmas anthem by the Tech Choir was garbled beyond recognition by a p.a. amplifier that sounded like it had epilepsy and psoriasis of the speakers, and some of the residence choirs could not be heard at all. The hapless girl emceeing the program fared little better.

Local businesses in Lubbock that contributed about $4,500 to the Carol of Lights cannot and: should not be expected to continue with their contributions toward a program totally unworthy of their support because of poor technical handling and equipment,

An expensive and inspiring program such as the Carol should be well planned and use good equipment, or should be discontinued altogether. No program at all is better than a poor program especailly when that poor program has the possibilities of being not just good, but great.

The University Daily suggests, that if the Carol is to be continued, the group responsible for technical direction of the program get together with Tech's famed electrical engineering department and set up a sound system that works. After all, our nationally-recognized reputation as a "technological college" is at stake.

In the past the only way a generation or group of people had of experiencing the realities of war was to become an actual part of the conflict. Each generation went out and experienced for itself what war was like. The descriptions of those who had taken part in such conflicts seemed like something out of a bad dream and it took actual confrontation with an enemy to bring home the harsh realities of war.

It is no wonder that this visual experience with human conflict--via television, radio, and magazines-is resulting in an everincreasing number of pacifists. When people are able to experience visually the cruelties and harshness of war, it is no wonder that they want no physical contact with it.
