

Senate Considers Ferguson's Request Natural Resources Commission Sought In House Bill

Appointment Of Three Men Is Objective

New Body Would Assume Oil And Gas Conservation Jurisdiction

AUSTIN (AP)—Establishment of a Natural Resources commission to take over the duties now exercised by the railroad commission in oil and gas conservation was introduced in the house Tuesday. The commission would be comprised of three members appointed by the governor for a six year term with headquarters in Austin.

AUSTIN (AP)—Governor Ferguson Tuesday appointed Nat W. Brooks, Tyler, as judge of the new district court for Smith and Upshur counties. The senate Monday refused to confirm J. W. Fitzgerald, Pecos—governor Sterling's appointee.

WASHINGTON

Japan— Our highest official circle has confidentially word that the Japs have big things in mind. Their War Office plan is supposed to provide for an invasion of China proper as soon as the seizure of Jehol is completed. That means plenty of trouble. Both President Hoover and State Secretary Stimson are upset about it. They laid their information before Governor Roosevelt when he was here. It was kept quiet because the tip is not exactly in printable official form.

The invasion of China will certainly call for action by the world powers. Our officials have been mum on the Jehol campaign. Confidentially they were willing to let the Japs take that province without further protest. But the moment they move below the Great Wall toward Peiping and Tientsin we shall have something to do. What that something will be has not been fully determined. The indications are that we will notify Great Britain and France of the situation and seek a coalition. There is very little likelihood that we can or will do anything important.

Stimson would like to declare a boycott. Mr. Hoover, the senate and probably Mr. Roosevelt would not care to go that far.

What we really hope is that the British will be stirred into action. Their holdings in China were then they endagered. They might offer leadership. They have been ducking it up to now.

If Britain cared to institute a boycott we might be persuaded to go along. The chances are, however, that all anyone will do about it is talk.

Debts—

That joint statement issued by the White House after the Hoover-Roosevelt conference was misleading. The background there was that the administration was trying again to prod Mr. Roosevelt into acting with it on war debts. Mr. Roosevelt would not act.

The statement was phrased to sound as if something had been accomplished. As a matter of fact nothing was. Mr. Roosevelt declined to alter his policy. He consented to let Stimson go ahead with preliminary discussions. He reserved to himself full leeway for action after March 4.

That story about the British offering us a lump sum settlement was planted by a cabinet officer. It was supposed to help push Mr. Roosevelt into doing something.

Those who should know what is going on say the British make no such offer. We would like to have them make an offer like that and maybe now that they have read about it in the papers, something will be cooked up. What most people would like to know is where Britain is going to get a lump sum.

Gold— The secret behind that agreement to talk world economic affairs over with Britain is that we want her back on the gold standard.

Smarting from an unexpected 41 to 39 defeat at the hands of the Roby Lions Saturday night in Roby the Big Spring cagers went through a long, hard workout Monday afternoon in preparation for their meeting with the Colorado Wolves this season in the Colorado gym this evening.

Two members of the regular line up, J. C. Morgan and Vandell Brown, are not expected to see service during the contest because of illness.

With Morgan, scoring ace, on the sidelines, Brown may juggle his lineup somewhat to see if a satisfactory combination can be discovered. Townsend and Harris are due to get the call at the forward berth but Cordell or Driver may be early relief. Reid will start at center with Dean held in reserve while Weldon Woods and Leo Hare are to be given another opportunity to display their skill at the guard positions.

Bills Regulating Fees To Officers Introduced

Charging Above Ten Per Cent Interest Would Be Felony

AUSTIN, (UP)—Nine emergency measures regulating and providing for checking up on payment of fee officers were introduced in the senate.

The measures, presented by the senate fee investigating committee which has spent two years studying the system, are designed to control the fee system until an amendment to the state constitution can be voted. Provision for such an amendment has been introduced in the senate.

The bills provide: Disallowing duplicates of officers' mileage when more than one witness can be served processes during the same trip; providing the state auditor shall thoroughly examine all state departments with regard to duplication of activities; allowing a county judge, justice of peace, sheriff or constable the same fee only for felony cases as in misdemeanor cases; providing district and county attorneys shall receive $5 for prosecution of felony cases, with only one fee although there be more than one defendant; and providing the county attorney shall attend terms of all courts in his county below the grade of felony courts.

Sues Auto Magnate

Mrs. Violet A. Wall (above) of San Francisco, administratrix of the estate of Mrs. Carolyn Armstrong, has filed suit against John N. Willys, auto manufacturer, and his secretary, Charles B. Merz, for $1,000,000, charging they converted a brokerage account of Mrs. Armstrong for their own use.

Sen. Ernest Fellbaum, San Antonio, introduced another measure to regulate fees of county and precinct officers, limiting officers in counties under 75000 population to a maximum of $400 a year and in counties over 75000 to $500.

In order to speed up consideration of financial problems facing the state, Sen. W. K. Hopkins, Gonzales, introduced a resolution making it mandatory for the finance and appropriations committee to report out all appropriation bills by March 10. The resolution was tabled subject to call.

The senate adopted a joint resolution allowing election of a successor in congress to Daniel Garrett, deceased, on Jan. 28. No action was taken on election of a successor to John N. Garner.

In face of declarations that the action would be a slap at President Roosevelt, the house tabled a proposal to send a delegate to Washington to attend a legislative conference called by Roosevelt for February. "We have 21 representatives at Washington," was the argument against the proposal.

An effort by Rep. Bob Long to get the house to take up his resolution for an oil investigation at Austin today was lost when the house voted 60 to 54 to adjourn until tomorrow, when it can come up.

Rep. George Parkhouse, Dallas, announced he will offer a new sales tax bill, differing from the Duvall bill before the house Saturday. The Parkhouse bill will be modeled on the Mississippi statute and will prevent duplicated taxes, which Parkhouse says are in the Duvall bill.

Appropriation bills, suggested by Gov. Ferguson, were introduced by Chairman W. M. Harman of the appropriations committee.

Committee meetings were scheduled for both afternoon and night and a meeting of committee chairmen to arrange a schedule of non-confliction sessions. Public hearing notices will be issued on both the proposed liquor bills and the horse racing bill, House Leader John Mathis said.

Two bills changing the state tax on oil were offered in the house. One changes the present two per cent gross production tax to a flat tax of two cents a barrel. The other adopts a sliding scale beginning from one cent a barrel on oil produced from wells producing five barrels or less a day and running up to a tax of $1 a barrel on 1000 barrel wells.

Other bills filed in either house or senate include: A beauty shop bill creating a state examining and licensing board; an interest bill making it a felony to charge over ten per cent; a radio bill requiring special permit for shortwave sets; prohibiting foreclosure for five years on a loan on a homestead; providing for county purchasing agents; giving a single person whose parents are dead or divorced a homestead exemption; limiting the foreclosure judgment on real property to taking the property; requiring teachers in state supported schools and colleges to take a loyalty oath, and if foreign subjects, an oath to support the institutions and policies of the United States; requiring insurance companies to pay taxes on holdings of personal property; two bills reducing salaries of judges, one leaving pay to be fixed in the appropriation bill and the other fixing $6000; the supreme court and court of criminal appeals judges; requiring voters to sign ballots; and exempting chauffeurs' licenses where drivers' licenses are held.

Under one proposed bill, fishermen over 60 years, escape need of a license to fish.

Rep. W. E. Pope offered bills ordering roads connecting Corpus Christi with Elgin and Gonzales with Sonora and Rio Grande City.

H. T. Sullivan, of the Ford Motor company mechanical department, Detroit, Mich., is in the city, and is conducting a Ford clinic or service school at the Big Spring Motor company, for benefit of the various mechanics of this territory.

The first school was conducted Monday evening from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m., at which there were a score or more of Ford mechanics and shop foremen present.

Pharmacy Board Report Filed By Auditor Lynn; State Psychopathic Hospital Construction Criticised

AUSTIN (UP)—Moore Lynn, state auditor and efficiency expert, filed his final report on a survey and audit of the state board of pharmacy.

He reported that demand has been made for refund of $7,076 excess paid as per diem allowance, under misconstruction of the statute regarding board examinations. Members construed they could collect $5 per applicant examined regardless of the number of days spent in examination.

Lynn reported that advice is being waited from the attorney general on the propriety of the board's payment of $24,339 to the state pharmaceutical association for drug shows, conventions and printing an association magazine as authorized expenditures for "the advancement of science and the art of pharmacy."

AUSTIN, (UP)—The plant of the state psychopathic hospital at Galveston is classed as a "horrible example of the penny-wise, pound-foolish policy of the state in designing and constructing its institutions" in a section of the joint legislative committee on efficiency and economy issued here.

"Whatever the purely architectural or other qualifications of the designer may have been, it is quite apparent that he was not competent to plan an institution of this character, and that either the specifications were defective or the inspection grossly neglected."

Help Children—Stop Suffering—

It is fortunate that no more time will be wasted in making a community wide effort to provide funds to care for the sick and helpless, the hungry and needy families of Big Spring.

Three to six families are applying for help each day that have never before asked help. One family added to the list Monday is typical of the majority.

The father had been out of work three months but he had saved a little. Now all his savings have been spent for food and fuel. There are three children. He had been suffering some time from a chronic ailment. Monday he had to go to a hospital, at the cost of the city and county.

The condition of the family was reported to Mrs. F. C. Scott, city-county welfare worker. She found the mother and children completely without food, although they had not asked her themselves for help.

Three hundred and fifty-five families have been helped with city and county funds in the last few months. The provisions made in the city and county budgets for charity have been exhausted, except that they will be able to pay Mrs. Scott's salary through the year, 1930 Prospects.

Thursday and Friday more than 1,500 individuals in Big Spring, who have jobs or incomes, will be asked to make cash donations to form a fund to take care of the direct charity problem this year.

All money raised in this campaign will be used for charity, since Mrs. Scott is paid by the city and county and she will be in charge of administration of charity under supervision of the city and county commissions.

There are nine elderly persons in town now who must be supported by charity funds. There are 15 widows with 50 children who are dependent upon the public.

There are scores of families without money in which illness, especially influenza, lately has occurred.

Emergency Federal relief funds cannot be used to help those who cannot work, or in emergencies where medicine, fuel, shelter, food or other things must be provided before the husband or brother or father can be given work through federal relief funds allotted to the county.

The only possible way to care for these people through 1933 is for all who are making wages or salary to give something in cash Thursday and Friday, and thus provide sufficient funds.

The needed amount can not be raised by donations from a few. A large number must give something—give according to your ability to give. You are the only one qualified to judge how much you are able to give. But, give all you can when asked to do so Thursday or Friday.

The women of the Methodist Church announce they will con- tinue to serve those good luncheons that members of the Business Men's Luncheon Club enjoyed for so long, at the church every Wed- nesday noon.

The luncheon will be thrown open to the public at the price of 40 cents a plate. An orchestra will provide the music, but there will be no program. The seating will be at small tables.

The women are selling tickets in advance and announce that they will also be able to take care of people at the last minute.

Conoco refining chemists have produced a new, improved motor fuel. No matter how different it is, we must call it g-a-s-o-l-i-n-e; for that is the name the public knows for every motor fuel. But this gasoline deserves a special name; one that suggests how "different" it is. How else may the public know?

Conoco (.....?) Gasoline! If you can give us the name we want, $5,000 in cash is yours. $5,000 more will be divided among those who suggest the best slogans to describe it. What we seek is to make motorists "understand."

To describe the "difference" you must know the difference. To know the difference you must feel it in your motor. "We picked Plymouth because it's so BIG in Size... and Value"

MAYBE you haven't got a big family like Harry D. Edwards, but you certainly want plenty of room in your car.

You'll find that people who want comfort... who want to relax... who want driving to be real fun... are picking Plymouth. Because it's a full-sized car... and because it's the only low-priced Six that is free of all vibration... the only one with Floating Power engine mountings!

What do people think of it? Ask Mr. Edwards. He's an engineer.

He says: "In my opinion, any car is behind-the-times without Floating Power! Or, for that matter, without Hydraulic Brakes or a safety-steel body!"

SPOTLIGHT

CHAPTER XIII

The part Mandrake offered Sheila was a job—but a disappointment as well. The new play, "When Light Are Low," contained a minor part in which there was an opportunity for specialty dances. There were a few lines, too. Sheila didn't mind learning lines but she did—strenuously—object to these.

"How can you look so innocent and say such things?" the juvenile asked her when, at the first rehearsal, Sheila stumbled through the part.

Sheila nodded and blushed. She was grateful for a friendly word because rehearsal, when parts are first assigned and possibly not permanent in the cold spot on earth. She had never seen this juvenile before. He was a young man with striking blond hair. His profile, however, was mainly clean-cut and his mouth rather sweetly wistful.

Sheila shook her wise little head and told herself she hoped the girl wouldn't spoil him. But they would, of course. The first mistake was to bring him a load of mad notes.

"I hope they'll change those lines," Sheila told him nervously. "Why don't you ask them to be changed?" "Maybe they don't know you object."

He looked so innocent that Sheila decided he was not joking. She was sitting on a scenic rock, swinging her little feet in her tap shoes.

"I guess you are rather new to Broadway, aren't you?" she asked. The young man considered, head bent slightly to one side. "Aren't you?" he countered.

She laughed gaily. "That was the answer I deserved. And my answer to that is, 'Yes' and 'No.' I'm new to a part in a Broadway show but not new by any means to the ways of Broadway. Nor to tramping the streets looking for a job." She shuddered, half in earnest, half playfully. "Even in summer this street's the coldest in the world. Worn shoes, head aching from sleepless nights of worry—"

"That must be terrible," he said simply, as one speaking of something he would never personally encounter.

"You mean you don't know how hard it is to find a job?" It was Sheila's turn to stare.

"I mean just that. This job found me. I dare say I was lucky—if you look at it that way. Unlucky if you look at it another. If I don't go over big—that is, big enough to warrant staying here in New York—I've sort of spoiled my taste for the village. Don't you think?"

"It depends upon the village," he said.

"Well, I guess you'll tell me what you think of my picture now?" She told him bluntly. "I can't see anything in it but a cave-man and that's something he most certainly is not!"

Jim Blaine offered to drive Sheila home in his car. She wasn't certain this was a wise plan either for herself or him and finally he decided to go in the train with the rest of the company. The great night arrived at last. The show went off beautifully. Critics praised it abundantly.

"They noticed you. Did you see that?" Jim asked Sheila over the telephone next morning.

Sleepy-eyed, she laughed. "I haven't seen the papers." "And you're dying to know what they said about you but wouldn't ask for the world?" Jim went on.

"Well, here goes!" he read. "A certain little newcomer to the theatrical ranks—"

"Why, I've been dancing for years!" Sheila protested. "Jim continued.—"Sheila Shayne, handed the part of Sally in an urbane and delightful manner. Marion Randolph, who was adequate, had best look to her laurels!"

"Odequate—wow! Did they say anything about you?" "Plenty!" "Read it to me, will you?" "Meet me for breakfast and I'll let you read it for yourself."

They were very merry half an hour later in the hotel breakfast room. Then, at Jim's direction, the waiter brought the newspaper.

There was no doubt in his own mind, though, that he liked Sheila. He tried to find ways to save her money—inviting her to dinner or to lunch when rehearsals released them in time.

The fact that they received no salary during rehearsals surprised him. "I think I'll ask for a salary during rehearsals and offer to work free while the show runs," he said whimsically, and although she knew that there was no financial stress on his own part, Sheila laughed.

Then the rehearsals ran into seven weeks and there was a salary. Sheila replenished her wardrobe, exercised, waited. She was better perfect in her part. Even Mike grudgingly admitted her dances could not be improved.

One afternoon Mandrake dropped in and Sheila's offending lines were changed speedily. For this she was grateful.

The play was to open in two weeks in Atlantic City. Then it was a week. Then tomorrow. (This and scurry everywhere. Costumes completed and packed; by short-tempered wardrobe mistresses, scenery shipped, the arrangements for the company's transportation made final.)

CONVICT CHARGES CRUELTY HERE

Willis Crawford, escaped negro convict fighting extradition from Michigan to Georgia, said he was forced to eat and sleep in chains in the Bellewood convict camp in Fulton county, Georgia, before escaping last April. This picture shows a general view of the negro ward in the camp. (Associated Press Photo)

Schwarzenbach and Fred Martin were mid-term graduates from the local institution. J. C. Morgan, stellar forward, is not expected to be in the local lineup this evening against Colorado. Neither is Vandell Woods—Both are physically under the weather but are expected to be in shape for the Trans-Pecos tournament Friday and Saturday.

Collins' Team Goes In Lead

Baptists Beat Aces In Other Game Of City League Collins Bros. moved into the leadership of the city basketball league Monday by disregarding dops to defeat the strong Christians 17-14 in a closely contested game.

In a preceding game the Baptists had avenged themselves for a loss in the opening game by trouncing the Aces 43-14, or something to that effect.

The acquisition of J. W. Forrester, former Colman forward, suddenly transformed the druggists into championship threats, and Leroy Merrick's crew may have a difficult task in front of them to repeat.

The situation is bad for Lex A. James and his Baptists, lilywhite amateurs. But then it always is, as the state intercollegiate league discovered long ago.

Tonight the Bovines will meet the Colorado Wolves in the Colorado gymnasium, and we dare say there will be no remarks in the dressing room before the game to the effect that stronger competition should be discovered for such a great Big Spring quintet.

The Her defeated the Cantrellmen in their last meeting 59 to 17. That game, however, was played on January 16th, B.C. (Before Cockiness.)

Abilene, Brownwood, Cisco, Coleman, Ballinger, San Angelo, Big Spring, Brady, McCamey and Menard are expected to have representatives in San Angelo Sunday for the discussion of plans for organizing a West Texas basketball league this summer.

The instigator of the idea, Bobby Stow, has already returned to Fort Worth and will not be on hand to inspire the delegates. Someone, we suggest, should be.

Incidentally this evening will mark the last public appearance of this department, and will be the "flims" of an irregular, uneventful, and very unromantic career as a sports chronicler that began very modestly six years ago, and which has never attained the spectacular in all that length of time.

We will wear a black tie in honor of the occasion, while we are advised that all flags in Colorado will hang at half-mast. Our informant adds that if we stay an hour longer in the city than absolutely necessary we'll be hanging there also.

Short Shavings: S.M.U. won 34 to 33 over Rice Monday night—but no one is satisfied about the score—Blondy Cross paid us a compliment recently in his column, as flowery that we are too modest to publish it—John Holbert, scrapping guard, will lead the 1933 Sweetwater Mustangs—It is said that Big Spring has grown as cocky in basketball as Sweetwater is in football—it is rumored that Midland will try to go back to class B circles next year—No outstanding threat for the state championship has appeared so far in the practice schedule—Bardwell, Plainview, and Big Spring are getting as much publicity as anyone—An A. & M. alumnus informs us that the recent discharge of two assistant coaches on the Aggie staff was not due to a desire to reduce expenses but to remove the last believers in D. X. Bible from the campus—Incidentally the Nebraska coach has forwarded his best scoring play in the practice season to George Zaratofsets, and it will be used by the Steers in 1933—it is a pass formation and was successful five times last year as employed by the Corn huskers against some of the strongest opposition in the country—Howard Whirligig (Continued from page 11) dard. Certain New York bankers are very much exercised about the effect of depreciated British currency on our trade. They have interested Treasury Secretary Mills in the matter and he is prompting Mr. Hoover.

The idea is that she might be persuaded to go back on gold in return for some war debt conciliation. That is what the boys at the top hope to arrange.

Cabinet—The recent Cabinet-guessing field day was inspired by a close political ally of the President-elect. He talked quite freely when Mr. Roosevelt was here. He did not pretend to speak with authority but was merely thinking out loud. His purpose was probably to float a few trial balloons for the President-elect to get the public reaction.

His suggestions were varied. There will be one progressive Republican in the cabinet if any can be persuaded to serve. It will not be Senator Norris or Senator Johnson but it might be Senator Cutting of New Mexico. Frank Polk might be a fair bet for Secretary of State. An effort might be made to get Owen Young back into the picture. Some certainly will be named for key positions whose names have not even been mentioned in public discussion.

LaFollette—The Roosevelt crowd is trying to find an official government position for the former Republican Governor of Wisconsin, Phillip LaFollette. They dusted off a cabinet chair for him unofficially but that idea is being dropped. It would entail LaFollette's withdrawal from the Republican party. He would not want to do that. Instead he will be named to some post he can accept as a Republican. It will be on the Tariff Commission, Federal Trade Commission or something like that.

Democrats—Mr. Roosevelt is obviously bent on perpetuating the split in the Republican party. The play that is being quietly made for the progressives appears to be only one step in a national political program along that line. The object is to amalgamate the west and South politically and let the East go swam in the ocean.

You will be able to see that thought behind several important Democratic announcements shortly

Milk

A senator emerged from a conference at a hotel here. Newsmen gathered around to question him. Someone put a glass of whiskey in his hand. Photographers jumped for their cameras and flashlights. It isn't every day you can get a picture of a senator like that. Kind newsmen closed in. They arranged themselves so the glass would not appear in the picture. It didn't.

Notes

The proposed world economic talks with Britain will not interfere with the proposals for a world economic conference. It probably will be held in Washington shortly after Mr. Roosevelt comes instead of in London as advertised. Louis Howe will live at the White House with Mr. Roosevelt. He will be the Warwick of the new administration. The senate quieting down as soon as Mr. Roosevelt came to town. The Glass Bill debate became so boring as not to be worth listening to. Mr. Hoover talked privately on the telephone several times with Mr. Roosevelt before the conference was held. There are five Washington detectives who sit in the gallery of the senate every day. They were ordered to do duty nearly a month ago after the man waved the gun in the House gallery. No detectives have been assigned to the House. The senate feels vulnerable.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

Confidential advices direct to the writer indicate that behind the renewed hostilities at Shanghai was Japan's fear of Russian benevolence towards China. With this moral support the Chinese could render Peiping impregnable if given sufficient time. Japan is determined to push the campaign as far as Peiping to put Marshall Chang Hsueh Liang out of business as a factor against Manchukuo.

Japanese-inspired "Communist" uprisings in Tientsin and Peiping can be expected at any time. Activities of Chinese in Japanese pay and of Korean colonists maintained by Japan will soon spread throughout Jehol.

Investment Trusts

There is hot argument in investment trust circles as to the legitimacy of loaning portfolio stocks to outside shorts for bear trading purposes. Several of the trusts refuse to countenance the practice, but there are two or three which showed an appreciable income from premium on this type of stock loan during the past year. Tricontinental was among the latter.

The year-end investment trust reports were sadder than Wall Street expected. Lehman Corporation was the only one of importance to show a gain in assets. The answer is that this company has no senior securities. Third National and Fourth National did fairly well but American International and Adams Express showed a much steeper drop during the year than the general market average. Non-trust circles are chuckling at this evidence of the supervisory judgment of trust managements.

Inaugural

Here are people at Democratic headquarters who are trying to figure how to keep General Douglas MacArthur out of the inaugural parade. Razzberries in memory of the bonus battle might mean an other wise perfect day. Protests at his appearance are beginning to flood the mail. They are trying to decide whether it would be possible to get him ordered to Manchuria or somewhere.

Long—Headquarters is also unofficially but deeply concerned with the problem of choking off Huey Long. Inside resentment is growing rapidly in high places and the betting is good that Huey's star will be in eclipse within six months.

On the other hand Long is regarded by many astute political minds as possessing unusual imagination, courage, and ability. It is not difficult to find in New York those, who having read Col. House's magazine article on a Dictator for America, comment that Huey is the stuff of which dictators are made.

Technical difficulties with the Fred F. French company have held things up but the story will break with a splash before long. Mortgage holding interests have brought all kinds of pressure to bear in an effort to get the R. F. C. to renege on the Bronx housing project. But the R. F. C. has stuck to its guns.

A bitter battle is brewing under cover on the subject of self-liquidating loans. Real estate and mortgage people are on one side and advocates of inflation via construction on the other. The Smith-Wagner influence gives the latter the whip hand.

Cabinet—There's a strong tip out that at least two Cabinet positions are now being offered. Heartbreakers for the losers will be news soon. Newton D. Baker is not likely to be placed at all in the new administration. He is believed to wish neither Cabinet post nor diplomatic appointment.

Former Governor O. Max Gardner of North Carolina, who has been regarded as a cabinet probability is not now rated as a possibility. Other southern candidates have edged him off the catwalk. It is a fair guess that Governor Byrd will not be one of the southerners chosen. He will probably

Enforcement -Not Repeal

The case for prohibition is well stated in a communication sent by the W. C. T. U. to the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, which had asked us why we don't join their repeal move; and also asked what the W. C. T. U. is fighting for. The W. C. T. U. letter was written by Mrs. D. L. Light Colvin, president of the W. C. T. U. of New York and sent to Mrs. John S. Sheppard, president of the New York state organization of the wet women.

In reply to the first of Mrs. Sheppard's questions, "For what are you fighting?" Mrs. Colvin said:

"To discourage the use of alcohol because it is a dangerous, habit-forming narcotic drug; and to oppose by every proper means the legal manufacture of and traffic in beverage alcohol."

To the question: "If your aim is temperance, how can you believe, after the experience of the past 12 years, that this can be achieved under the Eighteenth Amendment?" Mrs. Colvin replied:

"You and your associates may think that we of the Women's Christian Temperance Union are women of one idea—prohibition. I hope you will believe me when I say that is not so—we have supported every idea which gave promise of limiting or preventing the legal manufacture and sale of the drug."

"We have tried moral suasion, going even to the extreme of visiting the saloons and pleading with the saloon keepers on our knees to cease this deadly traffic. We have supported high license and low license. We have tried local option, county option, state prohibition, and in the case of one state, government control. All were futile because the liquor traffic was corrupt, ruthless and law-breaking."

"We came to support national prohibition as the best method yet devised for controlling the liquor traffic. We recognize that the plan has not worked perfectly, and we say, in all kindness, that we are convinced that you and your associates, in constantly criticizing instead of supporting the law, have done much to make it ineffective."

"President Hoover was right when he said that the Eighteenth Amendment 'smashed the old regime like a stroke of lightning.' No other plan has ever done that, until some better and more constructive measure has been proposed and adopted by the government in power; we support the Eighteenth Amendment."

In proof that alcohol is a "dangerous, habit-forming drug," Mrs. Colvin wrote:

"Professor Yandel Henderson of Yale was called as an expert witness on the wet side at the recent hearings of the Collier Beer bill. The newspapers reported the favorable points he made about the

When Sinclair's Wide-Awake Representatives Met Here

A scene at a luncheon attended by sales leaders, agents, and salesman at the Crawford hotel here recently. Forty-one men from a wide section of Texas took part in an all-day conference on sales methods and problems. E. G. Hanbold, assistant manager of the Sinclair company and Jack Crumpley, special representative, of Fort Worth; R. A. Ross, lubricating engineer, of Abilene, and Ben LeFever, superintendent of American Maracalbo company with offices here were speakers. Those who attended were: E. G. proposed beer bill, but failed to print many really vital points of his arguments. I quote from Professor Henderson's testimony: 'I wish to testify as an expert on poisons and particularly on that class of poisons which includes alcohol. I have for many years made a special study of volatile poisons, and alcohol is a volatile poison. . . . In my opinion the saloon will certainly come back unless the Federal Government controls spirits somewhat along the lines that it now controls narcotics. . . . Spirits are as intoxicating as narcotics. . . . Alcohol drunkenness and morphine addiction are from the Federal and social standpoints equally great evils. They are the two most destructive drug habits of which we have any experience. . . . The cocktail habit is a form of drug addiction. Distilled spirits are narcotic drugs and their use should be controlled along somewhat the same lines as morphine and cocaine.'

"How can you disregard the evidence of the president's own Wick-ersham Commission as to the failure of prohibition?" was another of Mrs. Sheppard's questions. To this Mrs. Colvin replied:

"The Wickersham Commission was made up of nine members who were reputed to be wet, and two members who were reputed to be dry. Even with this uneven division of thought, they signed the following findings:

"a.—The commission is opposed to repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"b.—The commission is opposed to restoration in any manner of the legalized saloon.

"c.—The commission is opposed to the federal or state government as such going into the liquor business."

"Your question on forcing total abstinence on unwilling people reveals a common and utterly wrong conception of the purpose of any prohibitory law," Mrs. Colvin continued. "The purpose of law is not to force people to be good, but to prevent them from doing evil. The purpose of prohibition is not to force total abstinence, but to prevent the legal manufacture and sale of an intoxicant which the state and supreme courts have again and again declared to be against public health, public morals and public safety." Sport Slants

The attempt to deflate Didrikson since she turned professional is not confined altogether to her erstwhile comrades of the Amateur Athletic Union.

"Taking the results of our poll, hailing the Texas Babe, as a test, one Ryan of the Pacific Northwest inquires through L. H. Gregory of the Portland Oregonian just what it is that has made Didrikson so remarkable an athlete.

"What," he writes, "is so very thrilling about seeing even Babe tear down the track like a speed about equal to the average football player in his full football equipment? Or heaving a javelin or high jumping or taking the hurdles with performances which would give just fair competition to the average high school youth? If Babe would take up wrestling and boxing, she could probably win new championships—not many women go in for these sports, either."

"On the other hand there is this to be said for swimming, golf and tennis, as women's sports. First, women can do them well, giving men real competition; second, they can do them gracefully. Third, compared with track, the competitive field is tremendous.

"Funny no 'sport expert' ever considered this angle. 'Babe Didrikson is the greatest all around athlete her sex has ever known,' according to Mr. Gould—'double Olympic champion,' he reminds us. 'Not a word about our own northwest swimmer, Helene Madison, who not only was a double Olympic champion but also was one of a championship relay team in the same Olympics. And perhaps it is because Helen Wills has been so outstanding for so long and so shuns publicity or Virginia Van Wie fails to boast like a grade school bully that they are rated far below the Babe in the vote.'

Fences Being Moved Back On Highway Nine

Long stretches of fence are being moved back by the county on highway No. 9 to the south where right of way has been given. Commissioners are now to consider plans to convert present sharp turns into sweeping curves. Judge H. R. Debenport said Monday.

H. Gilliam of San Antonio will relieve L. E. Williams manager of the Union Bus Terminal, who left on a short visit Sunday.

'Blended' Tax System Idea Of Tom Hunter

Allocation Of Burden Of Intuition Wichita Falls Man Says

AUSTIN.—"No one tax will reach all alike; we must have a blended tax system to properly allocate the burden," declared Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls, who is in Austin attending the sessions of the State Legislature.

"If we are to have a sales tax, one third of it should be retained by the counties in order that the county and school real estate tax might be reduced. Governmental expenses must be reduced.

"One pipe-line company, in a depression year, showed a net earning of $30,157,842. It paid a 40 per cent dividend. It paid a total state tax that year of only $471,877.47. The total tax to the state was only 2.3 per cent of their net earnings, while the home-owner of Texas paid 100 per cent of the net return value of his home in taxes. A part of the 2.3 per cent was the 69 cents on the $100 valuation, state ad valorem tax. To pass the sales tax and abolish the state ad valorem tax and to quit at that would mean that their tax was reduced 25 per cent on the one hand and no increase by reason of the sales tax, because they are not buyers.

"The voting of the constitutional amendment, exempting a $3,000 valuation on a homestead was a great victory for the plain people. It contemplates the shifting of that part of their burden to the organized few of wealth that have heretofore evaded their just portion. Now the sales tax, and quit, and you will have this same burden back on this same crowd, increased because of the abolition of the state ad valorem.

"A graduated income tax, levied upon the extreme high bracket is the only tax that they can not pass on to the masses. I believe that in this hour of depression that every person, firm and corporation should come to the rescue of a bankrupting state with the same degree of patriotism that the boys manifested in their enlistment in the recent war; shoulder proportionately the load that we must carry in order to avert these impending dangers—even the big moneyed combines should pay proportionately. Let an income tax be levied upon all who are not buyers and payers under the sales tax. For example, tax all incomes in excess of one hundred thousand dollars. On the first million levy a five per cent tax; on the second million a 10 per cent tax; on the third, 15 per cent tax; on the fourth and fifth, a 25 per cent tax; and on all in excess of five million a 35 per cent tax.

"Let's not only require these big boys to pay in proportion to their ability to earn; but let's discourage these merging combines that have been so destructive to employment. We must not give back to them the great victory that we won at the polls without remuneration for it. Let's don't forget that 60 per cent of our wealth is controlled by one per cent of our people; that the 99 per cent owning the other 40 per cent of our wealth has heretofore been carrying the burden."

GIVE BABE HER DUE
I agree with the theory that the feminine track athlete's place is in the home or the tennis courts or perhaps, by now, the motion pictures, but Didrikson's all-around achievements scarcely can be belittled on that old-fashioned account.

Any girl who can capture a national track meet all by herself, winning six events, needs no rebuttal. The only reason she didn't win three Olympic crowns was because (1) she was abruptly ruled out for "diving" in the high jump and (2) she was barred from competing in more than three contests.

The Babe's basketball ability is celebrated in the Southwest and here, again, she is a star in the rougher sphere of sport. She has played football. Some of our better known sporting writers, who have played golf with Didrikson, say she could be a champion at that sport. She can throw a baseball further than most men. She might, with proper training, give the top flight of women tennis and swimming stars a brisk contest.

"What of it?" we may agree, but give the Babe her due; she is now doing only what Madison, Bausch, Holm, Tolan and most of our other Olympic or college athletic stars are doing to capitalize their name and fame.
