Stokely loses passport

NEW YORK—Black Power militant Stokely Carmichael flew home from a five-month trip abroad Monday, and immediately had his American passport taken away from him.

Carmichael had visited Communist Cuba and North Vietnam and in Hanoi had expressed "warm support for the struggle against the common enemy."

U.S. ATTY. Joseph P. Hoey of Brooklyn said Carmichael's passport was seized by a U.S. marshal executing a federal search warrant at Kennedy Airport. Hoey said Carmichael's passport was issued with the provision that he not go to either Cuba or North Vietnam.

About 100 Carmichael admirers greeted him upon his arrival at Kennedy, shouting "Mau, Mau Mau, Mau!" Carmichael waved and smiled at them.

U.S. answers charge

WASHINGTON—The State Department retorted sharply Monday to a Soviet warning against extending the war into Cambodia.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the cause of peace would be "better served if those who expressed concern would use their influence in bringing the conflict to the negotiating table."

Moscow charged through its official news agency Tass that the U.S. military command had called for a blockade of the Cambodian coast or an invasion of Cambodia and neighboring Laos.

TASS CHARGED that American authorities "are by all indications preparing to spread the fire of that war to other countries of southeast Asia."

The State Department spokesman said the United States has said many times it seeks no wider war. An American offer, to provide material and financial support to the International Control Commission to permit a closer watch on the Cambodian-Vietnam border is still outstanding, he said.

"It remains the policy of the United States to respect Cambodian integrity and independence of both Cambodia and Laos," he added.

Russian buildup observed

BRUSSELS, Belgium—Secretary-General Manlio Brosio of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization warned Monday Russia's military power is building up substantially with "new mobile forces" able to strike anywhere in the world.

On the eve of three-day talks among defense and foreign ministers of the 15-nation alliance, Brosio in particular called attention to the growing Soviet naval presence in the Mediterranean—which is part of the area NATO nations are pledged to defend.

BROSIO WAS addressing newsmen and in the general context of East-West relations he noted:

—The Soviet Union's military budget for 1968 is the biggest on record.

—There "is evidence of new mobile forces" being developed capable of making their presence felt "anywhere in the world." These are understood to include aircraft carriers, submarines, airplanes and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Robbs in seclusion

CRUZ BAY, V.I.—The Robbs spent the first day of their Virgin Islands honeymoon in the seclusion of Caneel Bay Plantation Monday—behind a cordon of Secret Service agencies and police who kept the curious away.

The exclusive plantation, which consists of guest cottages along white-sand beaches, is on the northwest coast of St. John Island—a 15 minute boat ride from St. Thomas, the main island of the U.S. group.

REPORTERS SEEKING information about newlyweds Lynda Bird and Charles Robb were told by officials all queries were being referred to the White House in Washington.

The President's daughter and her Marine captain husband arrived in secrecy Sunday, a day after their White House wedding, on flights from Baltimore via San Juan and St. Thomas. They came to St. John by boat.

Nixon trails LBJ

WASHINGTON—Richard M. Nixon is now running decisively as the favorite for the presidential nomination among Republicans but again has slipped behind President Johnson among the voters of all parties, the Harris poll said Monday.

The latest survey by Louis Harris, copyrighted by the Washington Post, found Johnson ahead of Nixon 47 per cent to 44 per cent. This is a decided shift from early November when Nixon led Johnson for the first time by 48 to 41 per cent.

Quake takes toll

BOMBAY, India—An earthquake struck southwest India Monday, shattering the mountain town of Koyanagar and killing at least 100 persons, most of them women and children, officials reported.

Another 1,300 were injured in Koyanagar and 5,000 were left homeless. A massive transport fleet began bringing out the injured and homeless from the town in the picturesque Ghats Mountains 150 miles south-east of Bombay.

THE TOWN OF 10,000 persons was near the epicenter of the quake, which hit before dawn as most residents were asleep. Reports from the scene said hardly a house was undamaged.

The quake rocked a wide area, including Bombay, where hundreds of thousands poured from their homes in panic.

In defense plants

High court strikes work discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday struck down a section of the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950 that made it a crime for members of "Communist-action" organizations to work in a "defense facility".

Chief Justice Earl Warren said, in the 6-2 decision, the provision unconstitutionally abridges the right of association protected by the First Amendment.

THE SECTION struck down makes defense-plant work a crime for any member of an organization that has been ordered to register as a Communist-action group.

Warren said the court recognizes that Congress can prescribe penalties for spies and saboteurs, that sensitive defense industries can be put off limits and that the government can bar access to secret defense information.

But the 1950 section, he said, "quite literally establishes guilt by association alone, without any need to establish that an individual's association poses the threat feared by the government in proscribing it. The inhibiting effect on the exercise of First Amendment rights is clear."

THE RULING, which drew a dissent from Justices Byron R. White and John M. Harlan, is another in a series of court decisions severely limiting the scope of the 1950 law.

Last spring the U.S. Circuit Court here threw out the conviction of the party itself for failing to register.

However, still alive is a provision requiring registration of Communist-front organization with the Subversive Activities Control Board and Monday in a separate action, the court refused to interfere with a registration move aimed at the W.E. Dubois Clubs of America.

THE HIGH court also:

—Agreed to decide if a "freedom-of-choice" plan is a constitutional means of achieving school desegregation.

—Turned down an appeal by J.P. Stevens & Co., Inc., from an order by the National Labor Relations Board that it stop unfair labor practices and reinstate 71 employees who were fired, the board said, because of their union activities.

A lack of any solid evidence kept Lubbock police baffled late Monday night in the investigation into the week-old murder of a Tech custodian.

Det. Capt. Bill Cox, who is heading the investigation into the brutal slaying of Mrs. Richard O. Morgan, said his department is hampered by "no tangible evidence."

"Time has a way of working against the police," Cox said. "The longer time lapse the harder it is to prove up a case. The trail gets colder as we go along."

In a regular news conference Monday morning, Cox gave no indication that the case had taken any new twists during the weekend.

In a statement Monday afternoon, Cox said that the results of the autopsy performed on Mrs. Morgan were complete. Details of the autopsy were not made public except for statement verifying that Mrs. Morgan had not been raped.

Indication was given that further details of the pathologist's report would be made public this morning.

Police were still awaiting a report from the FBI laboratory in Washington, D.C. Local officials had sent fingerprints, along with fingernail scrapings taken from the victim, hair found on her hands, and the victim's clothing for analyzing.

In a briefing to Tech Board of Directors Saturday, Dist. Atty. Alton Griffin said, "We recognize the possibility that the crime will never be solved."

At the morning briefing of newsmen, the first since Friday, Cox added that he "can't see any resemblance" to the slaying of the Baylor University coed. "However, we can't afford to overlook anything."

The nude and mutilated body of 19-year-old Jill Brown, a Baylor freshman, was found near Lake Waco. She was last seen alive at a Waco shopping center after having lunch with her father.

Miss Brown's throat had been cut and instruments had been used to slash her body.

Lubbock police have enlisted the help of area and state law enforcement officers in investigating the crime that stunned the Tech campus.

Mrs. Morgan, a 54-year-old cleaning woman, was found partially decapitated in a third floor biology research lab in the Science Building.

Police said there was an apparent attempt to remove Mrs. Morgan's head by using a scalpel and a bone saw. The body was discovered by co-workers when Mrs. Morgan failed to show up at the regular 8 p.m. supper break.

Student Affairs Code approved

By DAVID SNYDER Editor-in-chief

The Board of Directors Saturday approved a revised, liberalized Code of Student Affairs for the university, ending more than 14 months of work on the basic document of students' rights.

The Code establishes an appellate system for disciplinary proceedings, leaves liquor regulations to state law except for on campus and provides protection against "duplication" of civil punishment by the university.

The Code, which was passed on a one-year provisional basis, becomes effective Jan. 29, the first day of the second semester.

The board also heard a 30-minute briefing by Det. Capt. Bill Cox and District Atty. Alton Griffin on the Dec. 4 murder of a woman custodian on campus.

In other major business, the board: —Authorized the spending of $130,000 for additional campus lighting.

WILL PUBLISH TEXTS

Complete texts of Code of Student Affairs, Faculty Council charter and reports of Deans Tinsley and Thomas will be published.

walks and retaining walls. The lighting will receive priority, apparently as a result of the murder, President Grover Murray said.

—Named the northeast corner of 19th Street and College Avenue as the site for the new Law School building, resolving a disagreement among board members concerning the location of the building.

—Approved a charter for a Faculty Council to be composed of the entire fulltime faculty of the university. It will deal with "all matters of academic regulations," and will act mainly in a recommendatory capacity.

—Authorized proceeding with construction of an entrance marker which will include a base and large circular granite seal of the university. This first phase of the marker construction, to be located at the Broadway entrance to campus, is priced at $20,000.

—Authorized a study into parking conditions at Tech football games which would be aimed toward eliminating early parking and "giving everyone an equal chance."

—Heard comprehensive reports from Dean Willa Vaughn Tinsley of the School of Home Economics and Dean Gerald Thomas of the School of Agriculture concerning the status and progress of the two schools.

In passing the Code of Student Affairs, director Fladger Tannery of Dallas, chairman of the Academic Affairs Committee, said the board "hopes this will insure due processes" for students. He asked that the administration report back on the effectiveness of the Code to the board at its December, 1968 meeting.

The Code establishes a seven-member Student Appeals Board empowered to review decisions concerning both probation and suspension involving both individuals and organizations. It stipulates that charges against students must be in writing, that the accuser must be identified, that the burden of proof rests with the administration and that the student must be informed of his right to appeal.

The university formerly had no codified procedural safeguards in disciplinary cases, nor any system of appeals except directly to the president.

The alcoholic beverage rule replaces a regulation which prohibited "consumption of alcoholic beverages...in student residences, both on-campus dormitories and off-campus housing.... The College does not permit student organizations to serve alcoholic beverages at student functions or meetings held either on or off campus."

The Code begins with a statement of students' rights, including freedom of speech, peaceful assembly, right of petition and being free from restriction of off-campus political activity.

Griffin told the Board that "nothing concrete had been worked out" concerning the murder of Mrs. Sarah Alice Morgan. "It may take days and days or months and months, and we recognize the possibility that the crime will never be solved. This type of crime is baffling," he said.

The Board also accepted a $25,000 gift from the Junior League of Lubbock to be used to draw matching funds for a comprehensive rehabilitation center on campus. Director Retha Martin of Lubbock said the proposed center would provide services for mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed and physically handicapped persons, and also would be utilized as a research facility.

A committee to plan the center's location and facilities may be appointed at the next Board meeting, Vice President for Development Bill Parsley said Monday.

Quilliam added to law faculty

State Rep. Reed Quilliam Jr., a Lubbock lawyer, will join the Texas Tech law faculty in January of 1969.

He will become the second Lubbock legislator to retire from the legislature to join the Tech staff. The appointment was made at Saturday's Board of Directors meeting.

Quilliam is a graduate of the University of Texas with a B.A. in government in 1949, a B.B.A. in 1951, and a L.L.B. in 1953. He has been practicing law in Lubbock for 12 years and has served in the Legislature for four terms.

As an assistant professor of finance, Quilliam taught in Tech's School of Business in 1955-56. This spring and fall he will be doing graduate work at Harvard before returning to Tech.

"I am delighted to have the opportunity to join the Law School faculty," Quilliam said.

Name-change survey drawing to continue

The second and final drawing of individual's names to be polled in the name-change issue will take place at 3 p.m. today by the Name Survey Committee.

The poll will be conducted at the Ecumenical Campus Ministries Building, 2412 13th St.

As before, observers will choose numbers from a table of random numbers and then these will be pulled from the files. The person counting the file cards will be doing so from the back so he will not know whose name is on the card he is drawing.

The names will be placed on a list along with names drawn Dec. 5 which neutral observers will sign. The survey committee will then be held responsible for all the names on the list.

The list can be doublechecked when the survey is returned to assure that all the names have been accounted for.

There will be a different table of random numbers for each group polled—students, faculty and exes—and a different survey will be run on each one. Each of the completed surveys will be turned over to the Tech Board of Directors.

The Name Survey committee is composed primarily of persons who were on the Faculty Advisory-Student Government Committee that drafted a proposal for a poll with the Ex-Students Association.

The exes rejected the proposal.

News media, neutrals and leaders of the students, faculty and exes will be observers at the drawings as well as at the public opening and tabulation of the results Jan. 9.

In past polls, Texas State University, or some variation thereof, has been the favorite.

In 1962 Texas State University received a plurality, while in 1963, out of the more than 6,000 students who participated, 65 per cent favored Texas State or some variation.

The Name Survey Committee has taken precautions to assure the scientific objectivity of the poll by enlisting the help of Dr. Walter J. Cartwright, who is familiar with scientific sampling and polling techniques.

'Privileges not rights' doctrine ends

Fourteen months have elapsed and the university finally has a new Code of Student Affairs. The new Code is a streamlined, updated revision of what had served Tech for 40 years and in all but a few instances is a recognition of student individuality and responsibility.

In many instances, the Code merely admits in writing what has been "policy" for many years, such as the new alcoholic beverage section which "allows" students to drink in off-campus residences. The old Code "prohibited" this.

Nevertheless, changes of this type show that Tech is catching up with most of the nation's other universities concerning its attitude toward control over students. The Code is clearly but cautiously a liberalization of administrative policy.

The disciplinary structure set up by the Code is an effective protection of students' rights insofar as probation and suspensions are concerned and should eliminate the fear (even though unjustified) of being "kicked out of school" for something like signing a letter to the editor which is critical of the administration. The overall atmosphere of the campus should be a more critical one.

The only disappointing aspect of the Code pertains to the composition of three powerful committees—the Code of Student Affairs, Committee on Student Organizations and Student Appeals Board. Student members represent the minority in all three, either in 4-3 or 5-3 ratios. It is almost inconsistent with the rest of the Code's recognition of student responsibility and freedom.

The next step would seem to be revision of several supplementary statements prepared by the student life office, including those on use of fraternity lodges, regulations for social functions and use of chaperons. Through omission, the Code has made several changes in the basis for these statements.

Unquestionably, the document is a step forward for the university.

Testimonies, survey knock women's rules

By WENDELL CALLAWAY
Editorial Staff

A Senate hearing prefaced by "an investigation to bring light to irregularities of women's rules" flared with controversy before an open gathering of nearly nobody. The Thursday night forum lacked only quantity, however, in a spontaneous round of questions, answers and testimony.

The hearing along with an opinion poll conducted in 12 women's dormitories furnished sufficient evidence for a unanimous vote by the Senate Public Relations Committee to introduce a bill for Senate debate. The bill attacks the nebulous nature of women's rules and seeks "guidelines to prevent arbitrary and inequitable enforcement of these rules."

Acting as a panel the committee called several "witnesses" whose positions associate them with many of the controversial rules concerning Tech coeds. Each witness answered questions from the panel and audience.

ALTHOUGH DISCUSSION covered a wide range, it centered around the perennial grievances—ODA's, room-check and dress regulations.

Citing a recent Association of Women's Students rejection of a revision in dress regulations, a dorm president on the Senate committee panel asked Suzie Crain, president of AWS, why there is not more coordination between AWS representatives and the residents they represent.

Miss Crain answered that residents often make no effort to make their positions known to their representatives.

Further criticism of the AWS decision was voiced by a legislator who stated that the girls on her wing were not aware that AWS was voting on the dress rule revision which would have allowed coeds to wear slacks to the evening meal. She said that communication is more of a problem than is lack of interest.

PAT RAMSEY, PRESIDENT of Women's Residence Council, was also questioned by the panel concerning the dress rule and room-check conducted in women's dorms. According to the survey 70 per cent of the freshmen but only 20 per cent of the upperclass women approve of room check.

Stating that the room-check assumed immaturity in the coed, Sen. Wesley Wallace quipped, "If they're pigs they should be able to live like pigs." Miss Ramsey stated that she would hate to live in a dorm without a room-check.

A freshman witness gave testimony concerning an ODA incident. She said a drunken blind date kissed her without her consent as she was signing in. She was subsequently given an ODA. When she argued concerning the circumstances further penalties were leveled.

LYNN BOURLAND, an office girl in Horn Hall, said there is contradiction in some of the rules. Using the ODA as an example she said some of the rules and punishments are not clearly defined. She answered a definite "yes" in response to the question, "Do you think this part of the country has much to do with the women's rules?"

Sen. Pete Kyle, chairman of the committee, said after the hearing, "With the results of the survey and the testimony from this hearing we think we have a strong case to present to the Senate."

Unawareness hinders representation

What is true representation? Do we the student Senators of Tech really represent the views and attitudes of the students? Or do we represent our own attitudes and views in student government activity? These questions are always present when a chosen official purports to represent his electorate. Whether in student government, city government, state government or federal government, a question always arises in the minds of the "represented body" concerning the weight of their views in changing and introducing new policy.

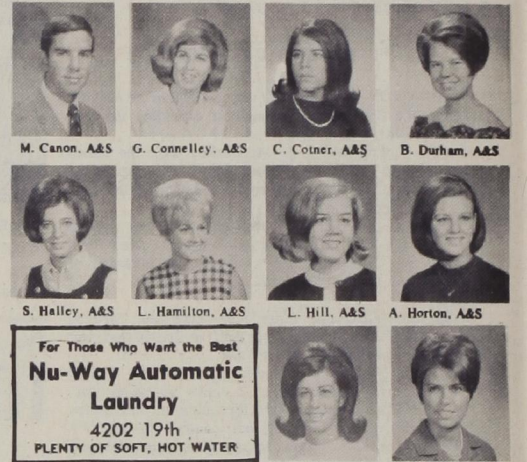

WHETHER OUR Senate at Tech is truly representing the student body is a pertinent topic worthy of some discussion. The students want good representation from their Senate and the Senate wants to represent them fairly, also. But, here again, we arrive at the inevitable question—i.e. how is this accomplished? Should the senators go into the dorms and apartment houses looking for suggestions and problems? Or should he generalize on what he thinks the students want and then take appropriate action to carry these generalizations out? This has been a focal point in student government relations since its origin. How can the student government bring itself closer to the student body and learn of their discontent, their suggestions and their problems? Could the difficulty lie in the general unawareness of the student body toward who their representatives really are? This, we believe, is one of the underlying factors in our problem.

THE PRESENT Senate has initiated a program wherein the students can become familiar with their school's representatives, and also where the senators can become familiar with various problems and trouble areas that the students themselves can see. Through meetings and "gripe sessions" with each other—such as those scheduled Wednesday—we as a student body and senate can work toward a more profitable goal of success. These grips sessions give both the student and the student representative a chance to realize the jurisdiction and limitations of the student government. Through these realizations of both parties involved, it is hoped that better communication will result between the student body and the student senate.

I won't go into business when I graduate because:

- a. I'd lose my individuality.
- b. It's graduate school for me.
- c. My mother wants me to be a doctor.

Can't argue with c), but before you check a) or b)—pencils up! There have been some changes. Drastic changes in the business scene. But changes in the vox populi attitude regarding business... especially on campus... just haven't kept pace.

Take the belabored point that business turns you into a jellyfish. The men who run most of the nation's successful firms didn't arrive by nepotism, by trusting an Ouija board, or by agreeing with their bosses. Along the way, a well-modulated "No" was said. And backed up with the savvy and guts today's business demands.

In short, individuality is highly prized in much of the business world—the successful much. Even when the business is big. Like Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System.

We provide communications equipment for our Bell System teammates, the Bell telephone companies. This takes a lot of thought, decisions, strong stands for our convictions, (and sometimes some mistakes... we're human, every 160,000 of us).

Individuality pays off. Not only in raises, but in personal reward as well. Like an engineer who knew deep down that there was a better way to make a certain wire connector—and did. Or a WE gal who streamlined time-consuming office procedures, and saved us some $63,000 a year.

Rewards and accolades. For saying "No." For thinking creatively and individually. For doing.

Not every hour is Fun Hour, but if you've got imagination and individuality—you've got it made. With a business like Western Electric. We'll even help you answer b) with our Tuition Refund program. Come on in and go for President!

The Coed Coed

Injured Tech seeks first win against Oklahoma

By BILL MOORE
Sports Editor

Injury plagued Texas Tech will try for its first win of the season again tonight as it hosts undefeated Oklahoma in an 8 p.m. meeting in Municipal Coliseum.

The Raiders have dropped their first four outings of the year, including a topsy-turvy 60-58 loss to New Mexico University Saturday night.

Three Raiders were hit by the injury bug prior to tonight's game, and two have been ruled out of tonight's game.

Taking seats along the sidelines will be sophomores Randy Sherrard, with a jammed thumb, and Steve Hardin, whose toe tissue loose in his hip joint in a fall during the Lobo game Saturday.

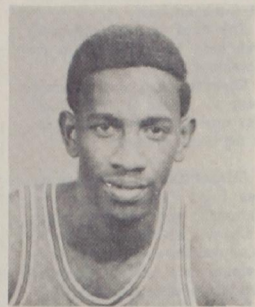

Also slowed by injuries but still slated for starting duty is Vernon Paul. The 6-7 senior has seven stitches over his left eye, from a cut suffered against New Mexico; a pulled groin muscle; a twisted knee and a sprained ankle.

"I think Vernon is about ready to play," said head basketball Coach Gene Gibson, recalling Paul's being named all-Southwest Conference last season after suffering numerous injuries and physical setbacks.

Aside from the physical handicaps, Gibson said his team was ready for today's game.

"The team has a real good mental attitude and they've been doing a lot of hard work. I think we'll be ready for them," he said.

Gibson also pointed out that the team's 0-4 record has yet to discourage himself or the Raiders.

DON SIDLE

"Like I said, the team has a real good mental attitude. Of course, it's disappointing to lose, but I can't find fault with any player on the team. As long as they continue to play I'll never apologize for any of them."

Gibson said that Oklahoma had a "real good basketball team and possibly the best individual player that will be here all year."

The individual player Gibson pointed out is 6-8 senior Don Sidle, who led the Big Eight Conference in scoring (24.9), field goal percentage (56.0), second in rebounding (10.6 per game) and set a new free throw attempt record of 113 in 14 games. Sidle also holds 31 individual Oklahoma school records.

In three games this season the sooner center is averaging 22.7 points a game and has hit on 20 of 28 attempts from the field for a 71.7 percentage. He has on 28 of 41 freethrow attempts for a 68.3 percentage.

Willie Rogers, 6-3, senior guard, is hitting a 13.0 clip to be the only other sooner averaging in the double figures.

Rounding out Oklahoma's leading scorers are Howard Johnson, 6-0, senior guard, 9.3; Garfield Heard, 6-6 sophomore forward, 8.7; Rick Kersey, 6-7, senior forward, 7.7; Landy Watson, 6-5 junior forward, and Joe Holladay 6-2, junior guard, are each averaging 6 points a game.

In their first three games of the season Oklahoma won wins over Centenary, 91-73; Texas Christian, 66-57; and Butler, 79-75.

As a team the Sooners are hitting at a 49.1 field goal percentage, 69.1 free throw percentage and are averaging 78.0 points a game.

Paul leads the Raiders statistical records averaging 14.5 points a game and grabbing down 42 rebounds.

Jerry Haggard, 5-10 senior guard, is hitting at a 12.5 average and Joe Dobbs, 6-5, junior forward, 10.0, round out the number of Raiders hitting in the double figures.

440-relay team ties for third

Texas Tech track team battled the inclimate weather and a case of bad luck to finish in a third place tie in the 440-relay event at the Houston Jaycee Federation Invitational relays Saturday.

Running in a continual rain with what Coach Vernon Hilliard termed, "a makeshift team that had not even worked out together," the Tech cindermen tied with Prairie View A&M at 42.0 good for third place in the 17 team meet.

Gary Golden, who last year led off the relay event, was out because of a football injury. He was to be replaced by Dile Holton who got sick Friday night and was ruled out by the doctor.

Art Carroll was called upon to replace Holton and "did a fine job," said Hilliard.

Tech finished second in their heat of the two-heat event behind Grambling which ran a 41.9. Since the finals were rained out Southern University was declared the winner with a 41.5 heat time. Grambling was second.

"The competition was keen and the condition of the athletes was exceptional for this early in the season," he said.

This can be attributed to the fact that 1968 is an Olympic year, he said.

High-scoring Pics meet NMJC tonight

Clay Van Loozen, Larry Wood and David Johnson lead the Texas Tech freshman basketball team tonight against New Mexico Junior College in the preliminary game to the Tech-Oklahoma varsity clash.

The three are the top scorers on the currently undefeated Picador team which has six men in the double figure column.

Van Loozen is leading the scoring with a 19.0 average. He is followed by Wood at 18.3 and Johnson at 12.7. Johnson is shooting at a 77.8 accuracy average also.

Steve Williams (12.0), Jerry Turner (10.3), and Pat McKean (10.0) round out the double figure scorers.

The team offensive average for the three games played is 99.7 with a 46.7 team shooting average. Defensively they are allowing 84.0 points to be scored against them.

The Pics beat West Texas State frosh, 94-65, McMurry frosh, 94-83 and the Brownfield Seed and Delinting team Saturday night, 111-104, for their three wins.

All freshman home games begin at 5:45 p.m.

Book Review

A KILLING FROST. By Sylvia Wilkinson. Houghton, Mifflin. $4.95.

The two chief figures of this novel are greatly different. One is a tough, primitive old North Carolina farm woman, Miss Liz. The other is 13-year-old Ramie, her orphaned granddaughter, a sensitive girl troubled by questions over her origin. It is Ramie who narrates the story.

Ramie, who lives with an aunt and uncle she dislikes, spends a Thanksgiving holiday with Miss Liz, comes back briefly to find her grandmother ill, and returns again at Christmas time to learn that she is near death.

All-School Rodeo scheduled Friday

The first annual All-School Rodeo will be held Friday at Aull's Sports Arena on the Tahoka highway. The events include bareback and bull riding, calf roping, ribbon roping, and steer wrestling. The girls will compete in goat tying and barrel racing. A special event for fraternities and men's dorms will be the gold rush. A steer is turned loose with a money sack tied around his neck. The first three-man team to get it will receive the money and the trophy.

A calf dressing contest is for sororities and girl's dorms. They will also have three on a team, and the first team to put shirt and trousers on the calf is the winner. The performance will begin at 7:30 p.m. and admissions will be 50 cents for children; $1 for Tech students with IDs; and $1.50 for all others. Awards for the rodeo winners will be presented at the annual Cowboy Christmas Ball in the Union Ballroom on December 16. Entries are due by Wednesday. The entry fee is $7 for the regular events and $5 per team for the special events. Those wishing to enter should contact Jo Ann Smith at 742-5744.

RALPH ROGERS — junior pre-med major from San Antonio, was named Texas Tech Most Handsome Man Friday night. The announcement was made at a dance sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism for women.

New parking area opened

A new parking area for off-campus students was opened this morning at the southwest corner of 15th and Flint. Tech traffic security chief Bill Daniels estimated that the new lot will provide an additional 400 to 500 new parking places for students. He also stressed that the new parking lot will not be open to off-campus freshmen. Other students using the lot must have valid off-campus parking stickers on their cars.

The new lot, located on part of the Tech farm across from the mum plot, is intended to help relieve the parking problems in the lots at the coliseum and at Hulen and Clement Halls. Chief Daniels said it will probably continue in use at least through the '68 spring semester.

STAMPS
Italy has issued a special set of four new stamps honoring its national parks. The 20-lire shows a mountain goat in Gran Paradiso Park, created 45 years ago in Italy's Alpine regions to conserve wildlife. The 40-lire depicts a grizzly bear in Abruzzo Park of southern Italy, a preserve originally reserved exclusively for bear hunting. The 90-lire features an antlered stag against the mountain peaks of Stelvio Park, created in 1934. The 170-lire illustrates one of the huge oak trees which characterize the Circeo Park in Lazio, located north of Rome and chartered in 1933.

Belew receives champion trophy

The Block and Bridle Club presented the grand champion showmanship trophy to Denny Belew at the 20th annual Little International.

The stock showmanship event was held last Saturday in the Livestock Pavilion. Reserve champion showman went to Janice Williams, who was named champion showman of the horse division.

CHAMPION SWINE showman was Fred Hefley and reserve showman was Freddie Shaw. Denny Belew was named champion showman in the sheep division and Sammy Sagebiel was the reserve champion.

showman and Sandy Mayfield was reserve. Carol Garner took reserve champion in the horse class.

THE TITLE of Miss Milk Maid was awarded to Peggy Thomas, daughter of Gerald Thomas, Dean of Agriculture. Representatives of the Entomology Club won the greased pig race.

Held in conjunction with the Little International is the Blue Ribbon Ham Sale, the Block and Bridle's only money raising project.

This year the grand champion ham was bought by Bozeman Auction Service for $260. Kenneth Bozeman also bought the reserve champion ham for $25.

MORRIS SPEAKS TO FLIGHT GROUP

Air Force Maj. Thomas E. Morris will discuss flight training in a 7:30 p.m. address today, in Social Science 217. His speech will coincide with Flight Emphasis Week. Morris will also relate his experiences while he was stationed in Vietnam as a pilot. Flight Emphasis is designed to stimulate interest in Tech men in becoming pilots through the Air Force ROTC two and four year programs. This program leads to a commission as a 2nd Lt. in the Air Force and immediate entry into pilot training after participating in the two year program during the junior and senior years.

An information booth manned by personnel from Tech's AFROTC detachment will be located in the Library foyer today through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The booth will provide information to young men who are interested in becoming Air Force pilots.
