Nomination approved

WASHINGTON — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved the nomination of Sargent Shriver as ambassador to France Thursday after he pledged he will not be influenced by foreign policy positions taken by his brother-in-law, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

Shriver was less specific when asked if either he or his wife, Eunice Kennedy Shriver, would actively support Kennedy's bid for the presidency. But he said he understands State Department regulations bar political activity by an ambassador and his immediate family.

Sen. Kari E. Mundt, R-S.D., asked: "If your wife suggests that you come out and help her brother, what are you going to do then?"

"That's an iffy question," Shriver replied. "It depends on what happens—what she feels, what the department feels, what I think."

Czechs elect liberal

PRAGUE — Czechoslovakia's Parliament elected as its president Thursday a liberal accused by East Germany of playing into the hands of the West.

His choice, opposed by orthodox Communists, illuminated a developing second-stage struggle for power in the country.

National Assembly conservatives were able to muster 68 opposition votes against 188 for Josef Smrkovsky after his nomination by the Communist party presidium for leadership of the revitalized National Assembly.

The vote came as district and regional party conferences were called for this weekend. They are being asked in effect whether the Stalinist old guard, led by the ousted president and party chief, Antonin Novotny should be allowed to hold its seats in the powerful party Central Committee or face immediate removal.

The old guard could block the reforms of free speech, travel, association and voting recommended by the new leadership.

Death brings appeal

BERLIN — The second death from Germany's wild Easter weekend of student disturbances brought an appeal for calm Thursday from West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt, whose 19-year-old son was among 600 protesters arrested during the wave of violence.

Brandt, participating in the Baden-Wuerttemberg election campaign, said the deaths underscored the necessity for moderation and self-discipline.

Ruediger Schreck, 21, a student who told police he "just wanted to see for once what a demonstration was like," became the riot's second fatality Wednesday night, succumbing to a skull fracture.

Klaus Frings, a staff photographer covering the riots for The Associated Press, died earlier Wednesday of a head injury he received in the Munich disturbance in which Schreck was fatally injured.

Campaign outlined

ATLANTA, Ga. — A summer Poor People's Campaign in Washington was outlined Thursday as a four-part program of pressure to get congressional action against poverty.

Leaders said it would be conducted just as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had planned it.

Announced at a news conference, the campaign will start April 29 with some talks in Washington and will culminate with what was described as a crusade of hundreds of thousands of demonstrators.

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, successor to King as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the first efforts to get congressional action on jobs or money for the poor will come from 100 leaders who will meet with government figures in Washington.

That being unsuccessful, the first marchers will leave May 2 from Memphis where King was killed two weeks ago.

Manhunt pressed

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — The FBI pressed one of the most massive manhunts in its history Thursday for shadowy Eric Starvo Galt, charged in the sniper slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

But little more was known publicly about the alleged assassin of the civil rights leader than when his name first arose a week ago. It was learned, however, that a man registered as Eric S. Galt in a Memphis motel a day before King was killed.

Police agencies continued their "no comment" handling of queries — including questions about a newspaper report that the search had spread outside the country, to Mexico or Cuba. And they were silent on any details at all about a man with whom Galt may have conspired in the slaying.

A murder warrant was issued here Wednesday night for the 36-year-old Galt, five hours after the FBI charged him with conspiracy to violate the civil rights of King.

Discount rate hiked

WASHINGTON — The Federal Reserve Board Thursday approved another increase in its discount rate, to 5½ per cent, in a strong tightening of credit throughout the economy.

The action applies to the New York, Philadelphia and Minneapolis Federal Reserve Banks and is effective today.

It was the second increase in the discount rate in little more than a month.

The board raised the rate from 4½ to 5 per cent in mid-March in an attempt to stem the gold crisis which reached its climax in that month.

The board said it took the new action to restrain intensifying inflationary pressure and to strengthen the position of the dollar at home and abroad.

At the same time, the board adopted a new schedule of interest rates banks can pay on large denomination certificates of deposit.

Scores of cities hit

Texas employes join national phone strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thousands of telephone company employes walked off their jobs in scores of Texas cities Thursday in sympathy with a nationwide strike by installers at Western Electric Co.

The strike against Western Electric, a subsidiary of the Bell Telephone Co., began at 2 p.m.

Some 500 Western Electric installers at Dallas were directly involved in the walkout.

Spokesmen for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., which serves most of Texas, said the strike was expected to have "little effect" on service.

But some long distance operators became difficult to raise minutes after the strike began.

AS MANY AS 4,500 employes in Dallas may have walked off their jobs, according to a spokesman for the striking union, the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO.

Operators left their posts in most major Texas cities and supervisory personnel filled as many seats as they could.

There was little immediate effect on direct-dialing long distance calls in Texas because most of the equipment involved is computerized, automatic gear.

Pickets went up at five of the telephone company's 23 buildings in San Antonio and 600 employes — including 350 operators — walked off their jobs. A telephone company spokesman said 1,100 finished their work day.

PICKETS SHOWED UP at many telephone company offices. Lines were manned by CWA members striking against Western Electric.

"We are honoring the Western Electric picket line," said Mrs. Nellie Sharp, strike coordinator for the Harlingen area, where 90 Southwestern Bell workers walked out.

Sixty long distance operators left their boards at Austin and 40 supervisors took their places. In all, 180 Austin employes walked out shortly after the strike began.

Texas workers walked off the job as part of a strike force estimated at 165,000 telephone employes across the nation.

INFORMAL WAGE TALKS between the union and the Bell Telephone System broke off and the union spokesman described negotiations as in a state of collapse.

The strike is not expected to cause much interruption of telephone service at first because of the highly automated nation-wide network of telephone equipment.

The union said there would be breakdowns in equipment for lack of repair if the strike lasted very long.

"We will maintain service and it will be good service," said H. I. Romnes, chairman of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent firm of the Bell System.

THE UNION REVISED downward its earlier estimate that nearly 200,000 workers would be involved at the start.

The strike would involve 23,000 telephone installers around the nation who work for the Western Electric Co., a Bell subsidiary; 2,000 at the Western Electric manufacturing plant in Buffalo, N.Y., and about 40,000 Bell operators, clerks, repairmen, test men, linemen and other workers in 14 states and the District of Columbia.

Wallace last hope, campaigner asserts

Dr. Henry Buchalew, national campaign director for presidential candidate George C. Wallace of Alabama, told a group of Lubbockites Thursday night that electing Wallace president of the United States was the last great chance to save America.

Buchalew spoke at a political rally for Wallace at the 25th Street Baptist Church. About 125 persons attended.

He said, "Have you ever seen a country drift so swiftly toward total destruction before?"

"It's time to quit coddling the rioters and looters in this country, it's time to quit fighting a non-win war, foreign aid with no strings attached," he said.

Buchalew said Wallace had pledged to do this.

HE SAID WALLACE would back up local law enforcement officers with federal troops in their efforts to restore peace in riot stricken areas. "Gov. Wallace has said he would place troops every 30 yards with 2-foot bayonets if need be to stop these senseless riots."

"The police commissioner in Detroit said rioters and looters there were not interested in civil rights, but when Wallace said this several years ago he was labeled a racist," Buchalew said.

Buchalew said Wallace had not said why we are in Vietnam or whether we should be there, but Wallace did think that as long as we are in Vietnam we are committed to every American there as long as they are there.

"WALLACE HAS SAID if he were president he would instruct his attorney general to bring charges of treason against anyone who burned his draft card or advocated victory for the Viet Cong," Buchalew said.

According to Buchalew, Wallace had also said he would cut off foreign aid to any U.S. allies who would not help in the fight against communism in Southeast Asia.

"We helped them when they needed our help. Now they should help us," he said.

Buchalew said Wallace would let the Joints Chiefs of Staff take over and run the war.

Fifth member of family dies

DEL RIO (AP) — A 2½-year-old girl shot between the eyes by the killer of four members of her family from Villa de Fuente, Mexico, died Thursday night in a Sonora hospital.

Leticia Arellano ended her two-day fight for life shortly after Texas Rangers launched a nationwide manhunt for an unidentified sandy-haired man in western garb who they believe to be the killer.

The little girl had been shot from inches away. Sutton County Sheriff Herman Moore said it appeared a .22 caliber weapon, probably a pistol, had been used.

Only one child remained alive of the six members of the Arellano family, who set out from Mexico Tuesday for San Angelo.

Seyle, Reese named

The Student Publications Committee Thursday named Bill Seyle editor and Jerry Reese advertising manager for next year's University Daily.

Seyle, a Houston junior, has worked for the UD this year as copy editor and news editor. His column, "Comment," also has appeared periodically in the UD.

Seyle is a journalism major. He is a member of Kappa Tau Alpha, journalism honorary; Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity; and Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity.

He succeeds David Snyder, who has been UD editor for the last two years.

Also applying for the editorship was Jean Fannin, Big Spring junior and UD copy editor.

"I have enjoyed my association with The University Daily this year and I look forward to the challenge of the editorship," Seyle said.

"As a campus newspaper, the UD should represent and appeal to all of the students. With 18,000 students at Tech, this is hard to do, but I hope to continue and improve the UD's image as a student newspaper next year."

Reese, Midland senior, was elected to continue as advertising manager, a post he has held since February.

Choice '68 is first

Collegiate primary slated Wednesday

Tech students will voice their opinions Wednesday in the first collegiate presidential primary every conducted at the national level.

The election, termed Choice '68, is sponsored nationally by Time magazine and the Univac Division of Sperry-Rand Corp. Local sponsor is Tech's Student Senate.

Choice '68 will be conducted at 1,500 colleges and universities in the United States, and a turnout of more than two million students is expected. This represents 75 per cent of the total national college enrollment.

POLLING PLACES will be located at the Agriculture, Tech Union, Business Administration, Chemical and Mechanical Engineering and the Administration buildings. Polls will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

All students, including graduate students, are eligible to vote.

The voting cards which will be used were printed in advance, and as a result will carry the names of President Johnson and Martin Luther King Jr. Special instructions will be available at the polling places to explain how to vote for a candidate whose name does not appear on the card.

When the election is concluded, voting cards will be sent to Los Angeles where they will be tabulated by Univac computers.

RESULTS ARE EXPECTED to be announced about May 1. Tech will release the result of the election here to coincide with Time's national results figures. National publicity is expected.

In addition to presidential preferences, students will vote on problems confronting the United States in both North and South Vietnam and the "urban crisis" here at home.

Roger Settler, president of the University Young Republicans, said Thursday his organization will coordinate a campaign in connection with the Choice '68 election. The program will be launched at 8 p.m. Monday with a "strategy meeting" in the Blue Room of the Tech Union.

David Sanders, president of the Student Action Organization, said the election issue will be brought up at the organization's next meeting but did not know if it would take an active part in campaigning.

Murray to address Monterrey conclave

Tech President Dr. Grover E. Murray will speak Monday at the opening session of an ICASALS symposium in Monterrey, Mexico.

A four-day international symposium on increasing food production in arid lands at the Monterrey Institute of Technology and Advanced Studies will draw upon the knowledge of agricultural and scientific leaders of the United States and Latin America. It will be followed by a field trip next Friday to areas of northern Mexico.

This is the second symposium sponsored by ICASALS. Other sponsoring agencies are Monterrey Institute of Technology, the Mexican Institute of Arid Zones, the U.S. Agency for International Development and the University of Nuevo Leon.

MURRAY WILL SPEAK on "The University's Role in Increasing Food Production" at the opening session.

Others participating from Tech include interim Executive Vice President Gerald W. Thomas, one of the symposium's program chairmen; ICASALS director Dr. Thaddeus W. Box; Vice President for Academic Affairs Dr. S.M. Kennedy; Dr. Dan Wells, director of the water resources center; Dr. Mina Lamb, chairman of the department of food and nutrition; Dr. Milton Peoples, professor of dairy industry; Dr. Dale Furr, superintendent of the research farm; and Dr. Martin Gonzales, consulting professor of the School of Agriculture.

Chairman Dale Zinn of the department of animal husbandry is coauthor of a paper to be delivered by Furr.

Aggie batsmen invade Red Raiderland

BASEBALL CHATTER — Starting pitchers for today's doubleheader with Texas A&M gather around Jerry Haggard, Tech's leading hitter, in Thursday's Aggie series tune-up.

By DAVE AMMONS
Sports Staff

Pitchers Buddy Hampton and Gary Washington are slated for duty on the Tech firing line today as the Red Raiders meet the Texas Aggies in a double-header beginning at 1 p.m. on the Tech diamond.

Still pursuing an elusive second Southwest Conference victory, the Raiders stand alone in the loop cellar. They have defeated the Aggies only twice in nine outings in a rivalry dating back to 1929.

A team with better than average speed, Texas A&M boasts a two-year All-SWC selection and two junior college All-Americans. The All-SWC player is catcher Joe Staples from Houston Bellaire. A draft choice of the Cleveland Indians, Staples refused a pro bonus offer in order to remain eligible to play for the Aggies this season.

FIRST BASEMAN Eddie Vaughn from Odessa Junior College and third sacker Terry Daley, a product of Blinn Junior College, are highly touted athletes expected to play a large role in A&M's performances this season. They join 10 returning lettermen from last year's fourth place team.

The iron-man of the Aggie pitching staff last season, Rocky Joe Thompson compiled a 4-4 conference mark in 70 and two-thirds innings. The 190 pound senior was an All-state pitcher at Lufkin High School and will likely see action in the three-game series with Tech.

Another pitcher with an impressive high school record is Dave Benesh, a sophomore from Houston. An All-stater two years on St. Thomas High state champion team, Benesh pitched two perfect games and accumulated a 32 game winning streak. Also to his credit is a two-hit shutout in a Colt League World Championship game.

TECH'S HAMPTON will attempt to silence the A&M bats in today's nine inning contest, with Washington receiving Coach Kal Segrist's nod in the seven inning affair. Segrist commended Hampton for his performance in Tech's 2-0 win over Pan American last week in what the Raider mentor called possibly their best pitched game all season.

"We're usually pretty consistent defensively," said Segrist, "but we haven't been able to put it all together." When the Raider pitchers were at their best, the hitters weren't, and vice versa.

Catchers Max Martin and Larry Gregory will likely divide today's backstop chores and Don Champion, Jerry Haggard, Jim Montgomery and Bobby Kuehle are expected to comprise the Tech infield. John McIntyre will be switched to left field, while Lee Watts will move to center and Don McKee will start in right.

Santiago's two-hitter shuts out White Sox

BOSTON (AP)— Jose Santiago pitched a two-hitter and scored the first run of the game on a balk by Gary Peters Thursday as the Boston Red Sox defeated the wireless Chicago White Sox 3-0.

It was the sixth straight loss and second shutout in a row for the White Sox.

Andrews' single and was waved home when Peters broke his motion while pitching to Carl Yastrzemski for a balk.

THE RED SOX PICKED up their final two runs in the eighth on doubles by Andrews and Joe Foy, a hit batsman, a wild pitch, an intentional walk and George Scott's sacrifice fly. Yastrzemski fell to the ground, clutching his left arm after being hit by a Peters pitch in the eighth. He was replaced by Jose Tartabull after reaching second on a wild pitch. Yast's injury was described as not serious.

SANTIAGO HELD the White Sox hitless for five innings before pinch-hitter Wayne Causey broke the spell with a line single to center leading off the sixth. Boston scored its first run in the third inning when Santiago walked, went to third on Mike

"DO YOU FEEL WE HAD A BAD FOOTBALL team this past year?" Phil asked.

"I feel that we lost some games we had no business losing," was the reply.

"Do you feel like we were losers?" came the next question. "We finished second in the conference, and, if it weren't for three seconds against Texas A&M, we would have won it all. Looking at it this way we weren't losers. But we lost games we had no business losing. Mississippi State won only one game all season — it was against Tech. Then we went to Fort Worth and lost to TCU and we had a far better team than what we put on the field against them. Its games like these that made us look like losers."

"I SEE YOUR POINT, BUT YOU SEEMED to pick on us long after the season was over," said Tucker. "Why didn't you come out and say something then?" And I kind of take it personally because you tore down in one column what all the seniors on the team, and Coach King and all the other coaches took four years in building.

"I feel you had the right to say what you did and everyone is subject to his own opinion. But don't you think that the column hurt a whole lot more than it will ever help?" asked Tucker.

"I don't see how anything I said could help the school," I replied.

"IT LOOKS TO ME LIKE IT MAY HAVE HURT quite a bit. People develop a lot of their opinions based solely on what they read. And all the people that read your column are going to be impressed with what you say and they are going to feel that that's the way it really is here at Tech," said Tucker.

"Like I said earlier, I was trying to point out what I feel the general opinion is concerning Tech athletics."

"Well, did you take a poll or survey to find out if that was the true opinion," he asked?

With trio of local talent Hayloft runs sexy comedy

By CASEY CHARNES
Fine Arts Editor

The concept of the dinner theater was once virtually unknown in this part of the country. But it fulfills a part of culture by bringing top Broadway comedies together with a professional New York cast and rounding it all off with gourmet dining.

The elegant idea finds its Lubbock equivalent in the Hayloft Dinner Theater, currently featuring the play "Goodbye, Charlie," a sexy comedy by George Axelrod, author of "The Seven Year Itch."

A trio of fine actors direct from the New York stage are complemented by a trio of local talent in the play.

Tech law student Buford Terrell, Lubbock businessman Robert John Allen and Lou Keay, Field Representative for the West Texas Museum, are featured performers in "Charlie." Each has had considerable experience at the Lubbock Theater Centre, appearing there in such recent plays as "The Music Man," "The Time of Your Life" and "Who Was That Lady."

In the title role is Maggie Abaecherli as the feminine reincarnation of a heartless ladies' man. She has a hard time of it too, for in the first act she must be entirely masculine, but in the second, almost lady-like. The role is thus demanding, even for comedic froth like this, and Miss Abaecherli does remarkably well.

As Charlie's old roommate is Bill Haislip, who has recently appeared in the films "My House is Your House" and "The Lonesome Death of Hattie Carroll." Haislip has a lot going for him—most of all a sunny personality that enables him to make his somewhat idealistic character seem very believable.

Diane Racine gives a near-classic portrayal of the dumb, sexy, but thoroughly lovable third woman of the triangle, a role which she plays to the hilt of hilarious unsophistication.

Miss Racine was seen a few weeks ago in the television production of Cole Porter's "Kiss Me, Kate."

The next play at the Hayloft, starting the first week in May, is Noel Coward's exuberant "Private Lives," which Haislip describes as "the grandfather of all comedies." Sir Laurence Olivier, Gertrude Lawrence, Tallulah Bankhead and other great stars have acted in this comedy. Veteran Tech actor G.W. Bailey will direct the play.

Tech students and their dates are allowed a $1.50 discount per person Tuesday through Saturday. Admission for the general public is $6 Tuesday through Thursday, and $7.50 on weekends.

Buffalo Springfield share bill here with Beach Boys

The Buffalo Springfield, who will appear Monday with the Beach Boys at Municipal Coliseum, have the complete and ever-changing sound that has characterized the music of the Sixties.

The Springfield is a collaboration by five multi-talented musicians, a merger that has succeeded in sparking the imagination of fans and professional observers alike.

Meticulous planning, beginning with their very first Atco smash hit, "For What It's Worth," has culminated in world-wide recognition for the versatile performers.

A BUFFALO recording is most assuredly a Buffalo creation from every aspect. Each ingredient—music, lyrics, instrumentation, vocal, and production—is exclusively the output of the five performers.

As in the case of their changing sound, the Buffalo utilize a similar concept in their personal attire. Trendsetters wherever they appear, the group is quick to change styles once their wardrobes "discovered" by others. Each has his own look, his own distinctive personality, without the aid of superficial gimmicks.

THEIR INTERNAL manager has frequently been called upon to explain the origin of the group's name. "It's easy," he replied. "One day while they were rehearsing on a deserted road," he explained, "a steam roller passed by. A bright sign proudly proclaimed its manufacturer, Buffalo Springfield."

By the time late 1967 had rolled around, the Buffalo had become recognized on a global scale. Their hectic schedule included the filming of several television shows, and a dramatic debut on "Mannix."

Tickets for the concert, also featuring the Strawberry Alarm Clock, may be obtained at the Auditorium Box Office for $4.50, $4, $3.50, $3 and $2.50. The event is sponsored by Civic Lubbock, Inc.

Choir, soloists to sing today

The Tech Choir will give its annual Spring Concert at 8:15 p.m. today in Tech Ballroom.

Choir Director Gene Kenney will conduct the 47-member group in a program of compositions by Gabrieli, Bach, Brahms, Ives and Poulenc. Soloists will be Pablo Pedraza, tenor, junior music major from Lubbock and El Paso senior Bob Collett, baritone.

The program will be open to the public at no charge.

Tech Union looking for chairman Comparative literature symposium to start Monday

Tech Union is now accepting applications for chairman and assistant chairman of its six programming committees.

Positions are open for both chairman and assistant chairman of the Fine Arts Committee, Ideas and Issues Committee, Special Events Committee, Dance Committee, International Interest Committee, and Hospitality Committee. Anyone wishing to apply for these offices must have a 2.2 grade point average for his overall college work and a 2.0 gpa for the semester preceding his application and the semester in which he serves.

Applications may be picked up at the Tech Union Program Office and are due back today. Selections for various offices will be announced at the All-Union Banquet May 1.

CPA to give luncheon speech

Marvin Stone, president of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, will speak on "Where Will Our Profession Be Ten Years From Now?" at a luncheon meeting of Lubbock CPAs Monday.

The Lubbock Chapter of Certified Public Accountants will meet in the Coronado Room of the Tech Union. Stone will be guest of honor at a reception prior to the meeting.

A special presentation will be given to Tech graduate Rob Hill, the third son in his family to receive the CPA certificate after graduation from Tech.

The departments of English, classical and romance languages, and Germanic and Slavonic languages will sponsor a comparative literature symposium Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday in rooms 5 and 9 of the Foreign Languages and Mathematics Building.

Dr. Carl Hammer Jr., Dr. T. Earle Hamilton and Dr. Floyd E. Eddleman will be lecturing.

HAMILTON WILL LECTURE on "An Episode from Don Quixote" at 9:30 a.m. Monday. This lecture, presented on a national program of the Modern Language Association of America, deals with the "reflection of struggling humanity" in the mind of Don Quixote.

Hamilton, who specialized in the literature of Spain's Golden Age under Dr. Americo Castro, has published articles in different publications including "Hispania," "Hispanic Review" and "Western Review." He founded the Texas Foreign Language Association, of which he has served as president.

HAMILTON IS national president of Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish national honorary, and is listed in Who's Who in the South and Southwest, Who's Who in American Education and the Directory of American Scholars.

"The Brothers Karamazov English" will be the subject of Eddleman's lecture at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. Since its translation into English, Dostoevsky's novel has been greatly received in the Western World. Today his works are abundant in expensive editions and more critics are producing articles and books about Dostoevsky, his journalistic prose, his short stories, and his novels.

Eddleman, a student of Russian literature and a former student and professor at the University of Arkansas and the University of Colorado, came to Tech in 1958. He is now chairman of undergraduate studies in English and chairman of the comparative literature program in the department of English.

HAMMER WILL SPEAK on "The French Discovery of German Literature" at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday. His speech concerns the important movements in German literature since the late 1700s which have awakened interest in France.

German-French exchanges constitute a fertile area of comparative literature.

Hammer, Horn professor of German and chairman of the department of Germanic and Slavonic languages at Texas Tech, has studied in Catawba, Vanderbilt, the Universities of Illinois and North Carolina, Jena, Columbia, Princeton and Tuebingen. He taught at several universities before joining the Tech faculty in 1964.

THE DEPARTMENTS of English, classical and romance languages, and Germanic and Slavonic languages offer programs in comparative literature at the master's and doctoral levels.

Broad comparative studies in various periods are offered in the literatures of different national cultures, and these are reinforced by specialized courses devoted to the world's greatest authors.

All lectures will last 40 minutes followed by a 10-minute discussion period during which coffee will be served.

Roger the Dodger shines in drills

By RODNEY KEMP
Assistant Sports Editor

"If there is one guy that can be singled out as doing it all, it would have to be Roger Freeman."

This is what Head Coach J T King had to say about the Dublin sprinter following Thursday's final preparation work for Saturday's third scrimmage of the spring practice session.

"He is running extremely well, doing the job as a blocker and catching the football better than ever," King said. Roger the Dodger, whom his teammates refer to as squeaky because of the high sound of his verbal utterances, has for the past two seasons shown spots of offensive brilliance and from the looks of his impressive performance so far this spring may be ready to put it all together during the 1968 Southwest Conference grid wars.

"I guess the best way to sum up what I think of Freeman's superb effort this spring," said King, "is that he shows a little more class every day."

As for the rest of the Red Raider squad who worked out in the rapidly dropping temperatures Thursday, Tech's mentor had particular praise for the passing game — both the throwing and receiving end. Joe Matulich and Tom Sawyer, the Tech quarterback tandem who will resume their gamely competition in Saturday's scrimmage with Matulich directing the number one unit and Sawyer in charge of the second bunch, were doing a good job in getting the ball to the receivers.

With their accurate deliveries and the deft hands of the backs, the tight ends and the wide receivers — namely David May, Bobby Allen, Bob Odom and Danny Hardaway — that portion of the afternoon workout could be conducted with a glass ball for the chances of it ever hitting the ground appear to be slim.

In the offensive line King brought up the names of Fred Perry and Don King as doing commendable jobs.

Thinclads head for Austin

Texas Tech tracksters will face their final Southwest Conference competition prior to the league meet May 4 Saturday when they travel to Austin for a quadrangular meet with SMU, Baylor and Texas.

April 27 the team will compete in the Colorado Relays in Boulder. That will be their last meet prior to the conference competition in Fort Worth.

Southwest Conference favorite Texas will be favored in Saturday's meet but the Longhorns may find tough competition from Tech's James Jones in the 220- and 100-yard dashes, Russell Durham in the javelin, and Ronnie Mercer in the shot put and discus.

Standing out of bounds

"No, I don't have any black and white proof to back up everything I said, I've been here at Tech for four years, just like you, and everything I said in the column was based on what I've heard people say over that period of time," I said.

"Do you think these people have the ability or knowledge of the workings of the athletic department to say what is good or what is bad," he asked?

"This is where different points of view arise," I said. "Now, ever since you have been at Tech, you have lived with athletes. You've eaten with them, roomed with them, and you have made them your friends. You're also closely associated with the athletic department since they are helping to pay for your schooling. And over there you make friends with the coaches and you work closely with them the biggest part of the year."

"I LIVED IN WELLS HALL FOR TWO years and over there there weren't any athletes. They were all spectators, just like the people that pay $25 a year for season tickets, and all they have to judge the team on is its winning or losing. And I found that most of them thought we were losers. Since becoming sports editor I have had faculty members and outside fans tell me they feel the same way."

"I can see what you were doing and why you said what you did," said Tucker. "We, the players and coaches, have some strong feelings about this football team and none of us feel like we were losers. I don't feel like a loser and I can bring you a lot of people that will say the same thing, I was proud to be on that team and I feel like everyone at Tech has the right to feel proud about it too."

"WELL, THERE WERE DISAPPOINTMENTS this year and a lot of people will hold that against the team," I said "But overall I think it was the best team Tech has had. I know it was the best since I've been here."

"I see things a lot clearer now and I want to thank you for your time," said Tucker.

"Anytime Phil. This is the only way we have of finding out a lot of things we need to know."

John B. King decorated for heroism in Vietnam

John B. King

Air Force First Lt. John B. King, son of Tech football coach and Mrs. J.T. King, has been decorated with the Silver Star at Tan Son Nhut, Vietnam, for heroism during air action in Southeast Asia.

Lt. King was commissioned in 1964 through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program at Texas Tech where he received his BBA degree in industrial management. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta.

The decoration was awarded by Gen. William W. Momyer, 7th Air Force commander.

His Silver Star is for "gallantry while flying his RF-4C Phantom on a reconnaissance mission over one of the most hazardous targets in North Vietnam."

"DESPITE mountainous terrain, adverse weather and enemy ground fire, he successfully photographed his assigned target," according to the official notice received at Air Force ROTC offices.

"His action contributed to the destruction of numerous enemy anti-aircraft sites," it said. Lt. King has flown more than 200 combat missions as a member of the 12th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron at Tan Son Nhut and is the holder of six awards of the Air Medal.

His wife, Marilyn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Betts of Austin.

J. L. McCarty to command Air Society

James L. McCarty will command Arnold Air Society for the 1968-69 school year.

Other officers appointed are David O. Henneke, executive officer; David B. Martin, operations officer; James D. Ward, comptroller; William J. Mundt, information officer; Gary D. Brackett, administrative officer and Emanuel M. Honig, chaplain.

Arnold Air Society is the national Air Force ROTC honorary and service fraternity, named after Gen. Hap Arnold.

Spring contestants here for regionals

The Region I University Interscholastic League spring contests will bring more than 2,000 AA, A and B high school contestants to Tech today and Saturday.

One-act play contests began yesterday with the Class B schools competing Thursday afternoon and night. Teams from Class A and AA schools present their plays today and Saturday.

Winners here will compete in state finals in Austin later. The west lobby of the Tech Union will be used for an information center. The snack bar and cafeteria in the Union will be open and rooms are available in Tech dormitories for visiting students and school sponsors.

Members of Tech student service organizations will serve as guides, gather results and post information on the progress of the contests. Representatives will be stationed in each of the contest areas.

Members of the Saddle Tramps will help gather information and set up equipment for the track and field events.

Past Humble chairman says oilmen face new challenge

Carl Ernest Reistle Jr. of Houston, past chairman of the board of Humble Oil & Refining Co., told oilmen attending a Texas Tech short course that the "development of competitive forms of energy will have a strong and continuing influence on the price of domestic oil and gas."

The Tech board member's address highlighted a luncheon session Thursday of the 15th Southwestern Petroleum Short Course.

It is the challenge of the competitive forms of energy, he said that "gives the engineers and production operating personnel of the petroleum industry an opportunity to use their skill and imagination to reduce production costs."

Reistle said the effective application of new technology and new tools is essential to meet this challenge.

Union, Art Dept. features ceramicist

The Tech Union Fine Arts Committee and the Department of Art will sponsor exhibitions by artist Paul Soldner starting today.

Soldner's first appearance is at 3 p.m. today for a throwing demonstration in the stock judging pavilion. He will demonstrate the uses of the Raku Kiln in the X-50 stockade at 10 a.m. Saturday.

A reception for Soldner and an exhibit of his works will be in the Library from 2-4:30 p.m. on Sunday. He will conduct a shop philosophy discussion starting at 8:30 a.m. Monday in X-50.

Paul Soldner ranks high among the leading American ceramicists, and has exhibited his work by invitation in international fairs in Brussels, Prague, Tokyo, and London, for a total of 79 invitational exhibitions.

He designs and builds his own kilns and manufactures a clay mixer, kick wheels, and electric potter wheels. He maintains his own studio in Aspen, Colorado, and experiments widely in the Oriental concepts of Raku stoneware.

Raku offers asymmetrical beauty in the accidental and spontaneous effects produced by radical methods of glazing and firing.

He holds a Master of Fine Arts degree from the Los Angeles County Art Institute, and has taught extensively in public schools.

Soldner's appearance here is scheduled as part of the month-long Tech Festival of Fine Arts.
