

Hay Fever starts Friday at Center

By CASEY CHARNESS
Feature Writer

The madcap weekend antics of a Bohemian family will be on display starting Friday at Lubbock Theater Center when director G. W. Bailey opens a five-performance run of Noel Coward's "Hay Fever."

A cast of nine enacts the sophisticated comedy that deals with the inhosptable eccentricities of an English family.

The critic on the London "Times," on June 9, 1925, wrote of that play was "as usual, Mr. Coward's fun. All the better fun, be it added, for being punctuated with Mr. Coward's wit."

more on the comedy values of situation rather than of actual lines."

THOUGH THE ACTION of "Hay Fever" seems easy, on first glance, to perform, since it requires only one set, Coward calls it one of the most difficult plays to perform he had yet encountered.

This was because of the great technique demanded from each performer; its effectiveness depends on each actor's ability to convey both thought and situation.

In the last two generations, the comedy has undergone a critical catharsis from being seen as a sophisticated comedy to being regarded as a classic in the theater.

Two 8:15 p.m. performances are scheduled for this weekend, on Friday and Saturday, and a 2:30 p.m. matinee has been set for Sunday.

Performances will also be presented March 7-8 at the Theater Center, 2508 Ave. P.

Student rates for tickets are available, and further information may be obtained by calling SH4-3681.

Group gives money for center at Tech

THE IDEA FOR "Hay Fever" came to Coward in the autumn of 1924, after his return from America, while he was standing in his garden.

"The idea came to me suddenly," he writes, "and finished it in about three days, a feat which later on seemed to excite gossip-writers."

He continues, "However, when I had finished it, and had it neatly typed and bound up, I read it through and was rather unimpressed with it. This was an odd sensation for me, as in those days I was always enchanted with everything I wrote."

"I think the reason for this was that I was going through a stage as a writer; my dialogue was becoming more natural and less elaborate, and I was beginning to concentrate $400 awarded

Tech students

Three Texas schools, Tech, Texas A&M and Prairie View A&M, will each receive $1,200 as part of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing (3M) Company's aid-to-education program.

At Tech, the 3M scholarship is distributed in $400 — $500 amounts each year for juniors or seniors majoring in any branch of engineering.

This year, three $400 scholarships will be awarded. The recipients are James D. Durham, Brownfield senior; Arnold P. Acker, Dimmit senior; and Arthur K. Jones, Baird senior.

For the past three years, 3M Company has included Tech in their roll of 350 colleges and universities receiving scholarships, fellowships and grants-in-aid.

The Lubbock Junior League Feb. 21 presented a $15,000 installment on their $25,000 pledge toward the $80,000 needed for a Comprehensive Rehabilitation Center to be located on Tech campus.

Mrs. Joe Horkey, a member of Junior League, presented the money to William Evans, chairman of the board of the Tech Foundation. The remainder of the pledge will be available to Tech during the next fiscal year.

The additional funds necessary for the completion of the center will come from a $15,000 pledge by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and a grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to match the local funds.

Attending the ceremonies Feb. 21 in the Tech Union were Dr. William I. Ickes and Dr. Beatrix Cobb, members of the Tech faculty who serve as coordinators for the Center.

The Center is planned to be a training and research facility in addition to offering services to the disabled.

According to Evans, the Tech Board of Directors selected a corner for the Center on Tech campus at a planned crossing at Indiana and 19th Streets.

The initial phase will contain approximately 4,000 square feet, including a pre-school nursery for the deaf, facilities for speech and hearing services, a vocational counseling area and medical examination rooms as well as services for individuals being fitted with and learning to use artificial limbs.

"Research into the rehabilitation of afflicted people also will be conducted along with the training of graduate students," Mrs. Horkey said.

The Center is expected to draw on the Tech faculty and the local medical community in addition to its own staff for assistance.

Bosox sign Yaz, pay highest ever

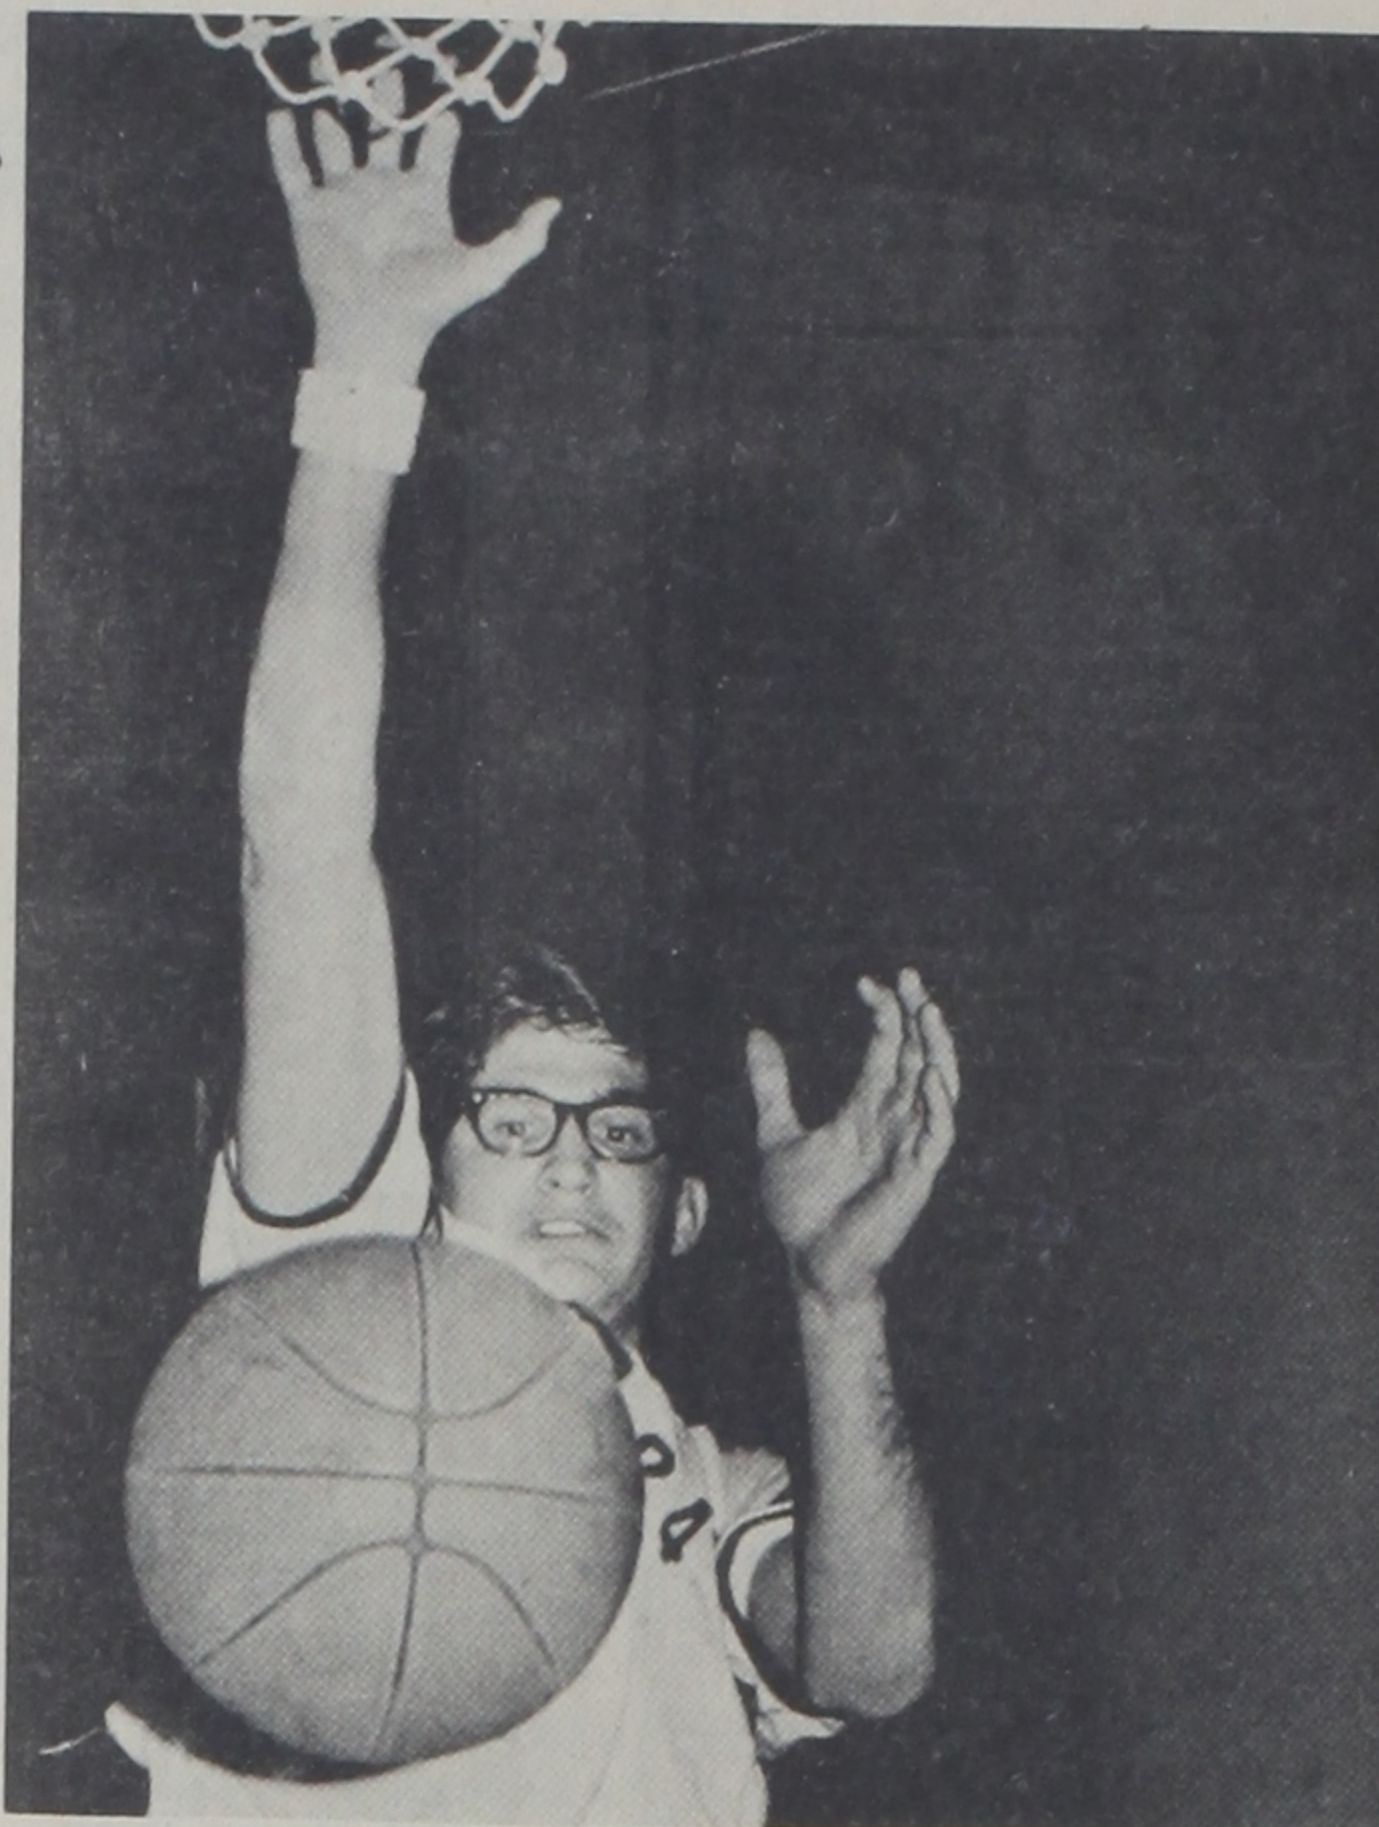

(AP)—The Boston Red Sox signed their big man—outfielder Carl Yastrzemski—Wednesday to a two-year contract for what they believe to be the highest salary in the American League.

That could put the American League's batting champion and only .300 hitter in the $125,000 class, although the Sox didn't say, according to custom, how much he will collect.

Yaz, who hit .301 last season after winning the AL's Triple Crown in 1967, was paid $100,000 last year while Frank Robinson, the 1966 Triple Crown champion for the Baltimore Orioles, was estimated to have made $115,000 in 1968.

"He is the best player in the American League and, as far as I know, this will make him the highest paid player in the American League," said Dick O'Connell, the club's general manager.

With the baseball pensions dispute settled, many of the name players and regulars quickly signed or agreed to terms and reported to the training camps.

Moonrakers cop win in playoffs

Intramural basketball teams were reduced by half last night as the college playoffs began.

SOUL added another victory to its winning streak by beating Phi Delt "D" by a score of 88-58. High point man was Lawrence Williams, scoring 22 points for SOUL. Buz Ziegler led the Phi Delt with 14 points.

Jerry Pinkston coached Phi Delt "D" and Maurice Williams coached the SOUL team.

Phi Delt "A" ran over Gordon "B" by a score of 76-50. Leading scorer for the Phi Delt was Joe Matulich with 14 points. Bob Tavernia led Gordon with 22 points.

BLUES "A" ran over the Carpenter "C" team 69-44, while the Moonrakers wallopped the Texans 96-51.

High point man for the 'Rakers was Billy Cunningham who canned 25 points. John Koone looped in 13 for the Texans.

Two teams representing the same groups as teams that played earlier were matched but the results were different. The Gordon "A" defeated the Phi Delt "B," 66-57. Van Vernon paced the winners with 21 points.

Maravich ails, Tigers struggle

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Pistol Pete Maravich, college basketball's leading scorer, is hobbling with a knee injury and Louisiana State is limping along with an 11-12 record.

The 6-foot-5 All-American has taken a great deal of punishment in the rugged Southeastern Conference.

BUT TIGER Coach Press Maravich, Pete's dad, makes no alibis for LSU's record.

"I've got to use my talent," Press says. "If you've got O. J. Simpson, you've got to run him 40 or 45 times a game. My talent now is Pete, it may be John Smith in the future. So I've got to build my offense around him."

In his father's mind, young Pete is "the greatest player I've seen. I don't care what anybody says. There's nobody in America who can touch him."

MARAVICH BROUGHT his team into the season with hopes of bettering LSU's 14-12 record of a year ago and possibly a post-season tournament bid.

But that is hardly the case. LSU is struggling to match its 1968 mark—and the Maraviches are not at all happy with the way things have turned out.

"Pete is sick about it," his father said. "He would trade all those points he has made for five or six more victories."

LAST YEAR the Tigers ran up a 7-2 record and captured the All-College Tournament with an upset over Duquesne. LSU was regarded as a Cinderella team. But when SEC play started, the Tigers went into a tailspin.

Why? The bread and butter of basketball—defense and rebounding—said Coach Maravich.

PETE, MEANTIME, kept up the fantastic scoring clip that he said before the season didn't concern him. He averaged a 44 per cent from the field, less than a percentage point higher than his present average.

Maravich is still smarting over allegations made in a poll of SEC officials that it was his "parental concern" for Pete that caused him to loose his cool during games.

"I'm no worse than anybody else in the league," he said. "I don't think our school is any worse than anybody else. Protecting Pete? That's a bunch of baloney. I've got movies to prove my point."

Oriole owner predicts future pension disputes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— A player-owner dispute over pension payments will take place every three years, Jerry Hoffberger, owner of the Baltimore Orioles, predicted Wednesday.

"I'm positive we'll have this thing every three years. You can bet your bottom dollar on that," said Hoffberger, also chairman of the five-man committee recently named to study the restructuring of baseball.

Hoffberger referred to the dispute that was settled Tuesday when the owners agreed to increase their contribution to the pension plan, made from television receipts, from $4.1 million in 1968 to $5.45 million annually for the next three years.

"It might even be more difficult next time," the Orioles' boss said. "Payments to the pension fund might have to be reduced next time if television doesn't want to pay as much for the broadcast rights."

National television paid baseball $12.3 million last year and the figure will be increased to $16.5 this year. Local television and radio paid an additional $19.5 million in 1968 and will pay $20.7 million in 1969.

"There is a possibility that the federal government might bar cigarette advertising on TV," Hoffberger speculated.

"That would take one very large customer out of the market. Would other customers want to pay more or less? Then the law of supply and demand begins to take effect."

Hoffberger added that he didn't believe the dispute, which seemed for a while as though it would precipitate a widespread player strike, would result in a lingering animosity between players and owners.

He said, however in referring to Marvin J. Miller, the players' negotiator, "If there is any animosity it would be with Mr. Miller. But that's no problem because he can't throw, field or pitch."

'Satchel' Paige earns pension

FLORIDA (AP)— Legendary LeRoy "Satchel" Paige has finally qualified for a baseball pension. The ancient pitcher, who allegedly was born in 1906, is eligible to draw benefits at age 63.

Paige became eligible for pension now because of a change in requirements that cut minimum length of big league service from five to four years.

The Atlanta Braves hired Paige as a pitcher last summer and then made him a coach so he could qualify for a pension. Under the former five-year minimum, he would have become eligible next Aug. 1.

The Braves now list Paige assistant trainer.
