HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

These counties, among them Martin and Andrews, have been very materially injured because in much of their domain could not be taxed along with the privately owned lands.

Highways and other improvements built across these counties, and enhancing value of University lands, were not paid for at all by the University. The whole load had to be carried by other property owners.

And our county carries the heaviest load of all, with 25 per cent of its surface, non-tax bearing, amounting to 284,000 acres. It carries more than 28 per cent, or 114,590 acres unassessable. Martin county contains 14,000 acres of the unassessable land.

The resolution calling for submission to the people of the amendment was written and introduced in the legislature by E. M. McCall, who represents the county.

Every year in Howard and all West Texas counties the cattle state for that matter, furnish a valuable and important source of revenue.

On the 21st of this month, the highway department will have an opportunity to buy the road at one dollar per acre, and the state will have a road at one dollar per acre.

A road is a public utility, and it is the duty of the state to provide it. The highway department should be authorized to buy the road at one dollar per acre.

It is planned to hold the session at 7:30 p. m. at the courthouse.

FIRE DESTROYS NORTH WARD SCHOOL

One hundred Big Spring children were without a school today, fire having practically destroyed the North Ward building, 311 North Seary street, Sunday morning at 12:45.

The origin of the fire was unknown. It apparently started in the basement, in the center of the building, in the lower floor. Dense smoke hampered efforts of firemen in extinguishing the blaze.

Although the building was not totally destroyed, it was so badly damaged inside that it was believed it would be impossible to use it. No effort will be made to rebuild the structure as the new north ward school is nearing completion.

Light Vote Is Forecast For Tuesday Here

First District Clerk To Be Selected For County

Although some progress in the election of a district clerk for Howard county is being shown, a light vote is feared for the county Tuesday in the general election.

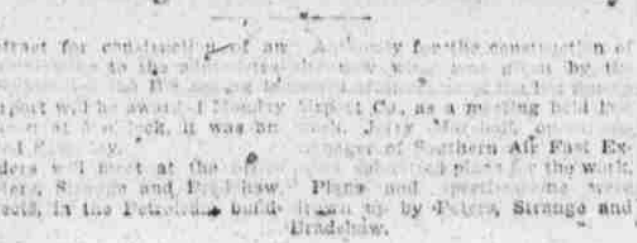

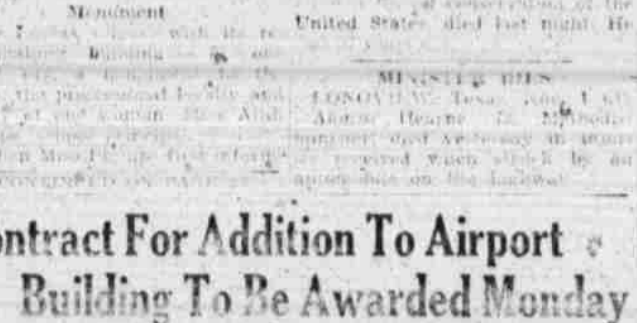

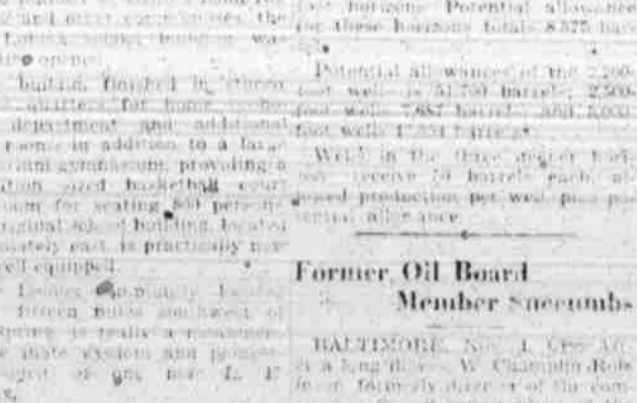

Several candidates have announced for the office. Among them are Miss Julia Boyer, R. F. "Cherry" Lawrence, O. Duberly, C. T. Tucker and W. A. Prescott.

Names of 39 candidates for state office, including full tickets of the democratic, republican and socialist parties, and three nominees of the communist party, appear on the general election ballot to be voted. The state ballot includes as district officers, congressmen, state senators, a half the district all state representatives, a member of each civil appeals court, an county officers.

Collins Bros., High School Jobs Cleared; Arrest At Crosbyton

With one man in jail at Crosbyton, and another held by Howard county officers, West Texas sheriffs and deputies Saturday had shattered what was described as one of the boldest rings of robbers found in this section in a number of years, and were clearing up 15 to 20 robberies and hi-jackings.

Two Big Spring robberies were solved by a statement made by a man giving the name of J. K. Burn, said to have escaped from state penitentiaries in Nebraska and Arkansas, a large part of the loot was recovered.

The Collins Bros. Drug Store, Seary Street, which lost approximately $2,000 in merchandise the night of Sept. 20, had recovered nearly all of it.

The statement made by Burn to Sheriff Elmer J. Reed of Crosbyton, told of a gang of five members having entered the store, disarming the proprietor, and according to the statement a Crane man paid them $200 for the loot, each receiving $50.

ed me of her desire to see a gymnasium built here I thought she was about 100 years ahead of the times," said Mr. Lomax Friday night. "I went to the county superintendent, Miss Cantrell, and in private conversation asked her what she thought of it. To my surprise she said she felt it was a splendid idea. The vision is now real."

Miss Pauline Cantrell, county superintendent of public instruction; Judge M. H. Morrison, Cecil C. Collins and Judge James T. Brooks spoke on Friday night's program. Both Judge Morrison and Judge Brooks are former county judges and as such were ex-officio superintendents of schools in this county. The officers, however, have since been separated.

Mr. Lomax was the first speaker. He related the history of the Lomax school in particular and some of the rural schools in Howard county generally.

When he came to the county 25 years ago settling north of Big Spring in the Moore community, there were three rural schools, each housed in a shack, he said. One was named "Hog Skin" and was aptly named, he added. He appealed to the county judge and a number of citizens succeeded in having the county re-districted. A one-teacher school was started in his community. It grew. The room was curtailed in half and another teacher added. Added school taxes were twice voted and, later, a bond issue was necessary.

Seven years ago, Mr. Lomax and his family moved to what is now known as the Lomax community buying raw land. At that time there was but one white child of school age in the county. The Lomax school, he said, was really but six years old. The first teacher was paid $50 or $75 monthly.

The beginning of the Lomax school was related. Judge Debenport, still the county judge and then ex-officio county superintendent, called Mr. Lomax and asked him "how about having a school in your community this year?" It was agreed that an old school building located on the highway near Merets would be moved to Lomax. Inspection of it disclosed, however, that it was unfit for use. A meeting of all property owners in the Lomax district was called. They agreed to loan the school district money on the basis of $100 for each section of land. With this fund the first school building, a modern structure, was erected in two weeks after the mass meeting the school was ready to open.

Present Teachers

After two or three years the present teachers, Miss Phillips and Miss Twila Lomax, daughter of L. E. Lomax, took charge. This year a third teacher, Miss McGinnis, who made a very appropriate talk Friday evening, has been added. Changes were inaugurated last Monday.

Miss Cantrell

Miss Cantrell, who is credited with having made valuable assistance in the campaign that resulted in erection of the new building, declared that completion of the structure made one realize more fully what determination and untiring effort would do. She credited Misses Phillips and Lomax with making a vision grow into reality. The building, she declared, would long be an incentive to children of the district to attend school at home and, additionally, to derive greater benefit from school.

Judge Morrison, who spoke recently when Lomax's neighbor district, Elbow, opened a new building, declared he was "lifted off his feet" when he entered Elbow's splendid structure. "This evening when I arrived here I was absolutely astounded at the size and splendid arrangement of this building."

"Influences have sprung up of late that came me to be sorrowful," he declared. "It seems there is a tendency to do away with community centers, to move schools and churches to the cities and towns. The people you destroy community centers, you undermine government in this country."

"He declared the home community and, as the center of the future, the school were necessary to successful government."

surrender, but instead suddenly fired at the guards wounding keeper Howard Marquard. Marquard returned the fire in spite of his wound and shot Gordon through the head, killing him.

Firing General

The firing became general and Herbert Davis, 25, dropped with a slight wound in the head. Tear gas bombs quickly overcame Ed. Ryan, 28, the third convict. William Lapere, 26, escaped temporarily in the confusion. The two convicts and the wounded keeper were taken to the prison hospital where physicians said they would recover.

A hasty check of the occupied cells was made to determine the number of convicts who joined in the break. One of the guards who engaged in the encounter in the yard told Warden Lewis E. Lawes he had recognized Joseph Pfohl among the prisoners. But Pfohl, serving 20 years for the slaying of Bill Brennan, heavyweight pugilist, was found securely locked in his cell.

Federal Convicts Give Up After Nine Days Hiding In Mud Hole

LEAYENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 1 (AP)—After nine days of hiding in a mud hole, two federal prisoners who have evaded their capture for weeks and months in a prison in Leavenworth, Kan., gave up their hiding place today.

The two prisoners, Stanley Brown, sentenced from Fargo, N. D., for holding up a post office, and Harry Sullivan, sentenced at San Francisco for postal robbery, surrendered themselves this night.

Thomas B. White, warden, said the prisoners had cut their way out of cell-house nine days ago and hid in the mud hole with their backs to the wall. Sullivan had been hiding within the walls of the prison for weeks.

TRINIDAD, N. J., Nov. 1 (AP)—A Communist candidate of $13,391 was defeated today by Dwight Brown, sentenced from Fargo, N. D., for holding up a post office, and Harry Sullivan, sentenced at San Francisco for postal robbery, surrendered themselves this night.

Clara Bow At Ritz Theatre In "Her Wedding Night"

Three Great Fun Men Play With Red Head

Play Written By Avery Hopwood Admirable For "It" Girl

Clara Bow, all dressed up in a colorful new wardrobe right from Paris, plays her first straight farce role in her latest "IT" hit, "Her Wedding Night," the Ritz theatre feature today, Monday and Tuesday of the week. Ralph Forbes, Charlie Ruggles and Skeets Gallagher are in the cast to push the laughter to the limit. It's the Red-Head's debut in the field of non-dramatic picture playing.

Avery Hopwood, the king of romantic farce, author of "Fair and Warner," "The Gold Diggers," "The Girl in the Limousine," "Ladies Night," "The Demi-Virgin," "The Best People" and "Little Bluebird," a great array of Broadway stage hits, wrote "Her Wedding Night" in this laugh-and-love story. Clara can be herself. She is cast as a red-haired movie star nudly seeking seclusion from a host of suitors.

"Not a moment of dramatic action," says Frank Tuttle, "It's all for laughs and laughs for all." Tuttle, who directed "Sweetie," "True to the Navy," "Love Among the Millionaires," as well as "Her Wedding Night" knows his laughs, and he knows Clara Bow.

The story opens in Paris with Clara preparing for her flight into the south of France. On the train she is mistaken for an eloping bride, married to Skeets Gallagher in spite of herself, and, as Gallagher is traveling under an assumed name, Clara really becomes the wife of a man she has never even met. Skeets Gallagher, in Charlie Ruggles' comical impersonation, is a "white-haired" guy who supported "Onkie's" gaily humor in "Fast Company" and "The Social Lion," and played with the "IT" girl in "Love Among the Millionaires."

Foreign Legion Play Has Great Cast

The picture is from "Numbered Men," a stirring audible screen play coming Friday and Saturday to the Ritz. Noah Berry, Myrna Loy and Warner Baxter, who plays the leading male role, are shown.

John Barrymore Plays Title Role At Ritz In 'Moby Dick'

Filming a storm at sea offers obstacles enough but when it comes to recording one on the Vitaphone aboard a pitching sailing vessel such an enterprise is necessary in the making of "Moby Dick," the Warner Brothers picture starring John Barrymore and coming to the Ritz Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. It tests the courage of cameraman and crew.

The god ship "Mary Ann," converted into an 1810 whaler for the occasion, cruised about the Pacific for some days before the storm. The weather man had promised a period over the calm Pacific. In the story the typhoon behind which the fabled white whale was said to travel, occurs in the China Sea, but as that is a part of the Pacific and all the Pacific looks alike in a storm, the scene was filmed off the California coast.

Almost every member of the cast and picture crew had a touch of sea-sickness before those sequences were complete. The little whaler was handled roughly by a sudden ocean and at times cameras and casts were in danger of being washed away. Deep in the cabin of the ship was buried the recording apparatus, catching each swishing wave and each sound of the wind through the rigging.

The authenticity of this recording is worth the trouble of getting it. It adds a realism so effective in the final scenes that "Moby Dick" has become the most dramatically thrilling sea picture ever made. The story of the madman's apparently hopeless chase of "Moby Dick" about the world, told so effectively in Herman Melville's novel by the same name, has been brought to the Vitaphone screen with all the adventure and romance intact.

Mr. Barrymore chose Joan Bennett for the leading role opposite him in this picture and Lloyd Hughes, Noble Johnson, Jack Curtis, Walter Long and William Whaling are characters in the cast. Lloyd Bacon directed.

Mackaill Opens Queen Week With 'The Office Wife'

The story of "The Office Wife," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone picture coming to the Queen Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, is one that should interest every wife and every husband. It is a vital drama that might confront any man and any woman.

Lawrence Fellows, president of a publishing firm, believes that every wife is jealous of her husband's secretary, and every secretary jealous of the wife he marries—and finds out later that every wife is not jealous of her husband's secretary. While he is heroically attached to his secretary, Anne Lagdock, his wife, Linda, begins a flirtation with a young man of her acquaintance. Fellows does not know that his wife is falling in love with Jameson and he does not know that Miss Murdock is falling in love with him. He only knows that he needs her—and when he goes away, he finds he has to send for her.

This intricate problem is finally worked out with Linda's asking for a divorce, and Fellows' awakening to the fact that Anne loves him, and that he loves her.

Dorothy Mackaill, who was such a sensation in "The Captive Woman," "The Barker," and "Strictly Modern," plays the role of Anne Murdock-Lewis Stone, famous for "Wonder of Women," "The Trial of Mary Bagan," "Madame X," "A Woman of Affairs," and innumerable others, plays the role of the unsuspecting husband. Others in the cast include Hobart Bosworth, Blanche Frederici, John Bondell, Natalie Moorhead, Brooks Benedict, Dale Fuller and Walter Merrill. Lloyd Bacon directed "The Office Wife."

Baxter Takes Great Role In Ritz Feature

Story of Foreign Legion Divulges New Pages Of History

Picturesquely clad soldiers marching across the sand dunes of the Sahara—this is the mental image most persons have of the Foreign Legion. Few ever think of the famous French organization as having fought on this continent, yet some of the fiercest battles have been waged within a few hundred miles of the American border.

Organized by Louis Philippe of France almost 100 years ago (Jan. 5, 1831, to be exact), the "Legion Etrangere" was modeled after the old Roman legions and various mercenary troops used in Europe at an earlier period.

Four years after its organization the legion was "rented" by Isabella of Spain, and fought in the Bourbon-Carlist struggle. The Crimea in '54 and Italy in '59 both saw the organization in action and shortly afterward Maximilian took the legion with him in his ill-fated effort to conquer Mexico. After Maximilian's death they returned to Africa, only to be called out again for service in the Franco-Prussian war in '70. In '92 they fought in Dahomey and six years later in Madagascar, with other units helping to keep peace in Indo-China.

During the World War the legion made a glorious record, and since that time has taken an active part in the pacifying of Morocco under its noted leader, Marchal Lyautey. From the soldier's standpoint, the legion is an ideal organization. There are no embarrassing questions asked of its applicants—a man gives whatever name and nationality he pleases, and as a consequence it offers a haven to political refugees and others with even shadier pasts.

After serving his five-year enlistment, the soldier is automatically given French citizenship if he wishes it, and many a man without a country has thus found one. The percentage of "foreigners" is very large. Germans who, before the World War, composed approximately a fifth of its personnel, now number nearly half of its soldiers. Aside from its splendid war record and its unique composition, its greatest feature is the unusual development of esprit de corps among its personnel.

Naturally with the advent of talking pictures, the life of the legion becomes more vivid than in the silent era. The real thing comes to the speaking screen in "Renegades," Warner Baxter's latest featured vehicle for Fox Movietone, which will make its debut before the Ritz Theatre public next Friday and Saturday.

Andre Armandy, author of "Les Renegades," wrote a graphic and realistic novel of legion life, and in its film form this story gives perhaps a truer portrait of a Legionnaire's existence than any previous picture offering. A former legion officer, Louis Van Den Esker, served Director Victor Fleming as technical adviser in making the production, thus assuring a comprehensive accurate depiction.

Great Comedians Visit Queen In 'Oh Sailor Behave'

"Oh Sailor Behave!" Warner Bros. special Vitaphone production of Elmer Rice's comedy hit, has been adapted to the screen by Joseph Jackson and will open at the Queen theatre next Friday and Saturday.

Olson and Johnson, known as America's funniest clowns, make their screen debut in this film complicating the plot in their inimitable fashion and providing side splitting situations. For fifteen years these sterling comedians have been entertaining vaudeville and musical comedy audiences with their crazy antics and satirical patter. Now, for the first time, they bring their talents to the talking screen in "Oh Sailor Behave!"

Irene Delroy, recognized in New York as the best comedy ingenue on the stage, also makes her screen debut in this picture. She plays opposite Charles King, who was featured on the New York stage in "Hit the Deck" and "Present Arms."

Others in the all-star cast include Lunt Luntz, the little Viennese beauty, Noah Berry, Lowell Sherman, Vivien Oakland, Charles Judels and Lawrence Grant.

"Oh Sailor Behave!" is a colorful and romantic story of Italy, bursting with comedy, which takes for its background the city of Naples. Al Duin and Joe Burke, the team that composed "Painting the Clouds with Sunshine," and Tip-toe Through the Tulips," wrote the original songs and lyrics. Archie Mayo directed.

'Numbered Men' Is 'Inside' Story Of Prison Life

An "inside" story of prison life in both possible meanings of the phrase forms the basis for First National's talkie drama coming to the Queen theatre Wednesday and Thursday, "Numbered Men."

In this picture, for the first time, camera and Vitaphone explore the real truth behind prison outbreaks, politics and abuses. The "honos system" is also dealt with. Director Mervyn Le Roy spent several months inspecting San Quentin, Folsom and other famous prisons before filming this version of Dwight Taylor's startling stage play.

Conrad Nagel, Bernice Claire and Raymond Hackett are featured in the picture. A fine supporting cast is headed by Ralph Ince, Tully Marshall, Maurice Black, William Holden and George Cooper.

"Numbered Men" is primarily a tensely dramatic and human love story with a tremendous emotional punch for its denouement, and the realistic prison life is merely its background.

City Judge Warns Driving Over Fire Hose Will Bring Penalty; One Man Fined

A warning by City Judge Tracy Smith that motorists caught driving over a fire hose would be fined when brought before him, was issued Saturday following payment of a fine by one man.

The man was assessed a fine of $15 for driving over a hose at a fire Saturday morning.

A fine, ranging from $1 to $200 may be assessed, Judge Smith declared.

GAS PRICE CUT

HOUSTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Humble Oil and Refining Company announced a reduction of one cent a gallon in the retail price of gasoline here and at some 50 other Texas points. The Gulf Refining Company followed suit and other major marketers were expected to do so either today or tomorrow.

The cut made the posted price 18 cents at Houston stations. Recent decreases in crude oil prices were believed to have brought about the reductions.

DWELLING DAMAGED
 The home of P. S. Wilkins, 1105 East Third street, was slightly damaged by fire early Saturday. TEXAS STEER CRUSH MUSTANGS

Texas University Smashes Favored Ponies As Shelley Et Al Take Over Conflict

Glittering Offense, Unbeatable Defense, Accurate Air Attack, Smothers Methodist Team

BY GAYLE TALBOT JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

MEMORIAL STADIUM, AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 1 (AP)—Unleashing as terrific an offense as the Southwest conference has seen in recent years and throwing up a defense their opponents could not fathom until the closing minutes of play, the powerful University of Texas Longhorns upset Southern Methodist University, 25 to 7 here today.

A crowd estimated at more than 20,000 saw the favored Mustangs crushed and hopelessly beaten almost from the start by an Orange machine that at times bordered on greatness. Led by Dexter Shelley, captain and halfback, the Longhorns pounded and passed the wily Methodists into what approached complete submission at times.

Today's defeat was the most decisive sustained by the Ponies since 1927, when they went down before the Texas Aggies, 29 to 13. It was the first victory scored by the Longhorns over the red and blue triesters since 1920. It was scored, moreover, over a Mustang eleven that had been mighty well thought of.

Beaten at their own passing game and their running attack squelched from the start, the Ponies never had a chance against the Steers' battering offense. Shelley, Roy Stafford, Perkins and Ekins carried the ball through and past Southern Methodist's shaky defense all afternoon and when their rushing attack was slowed up the Longhorns turned to the air to win almost as they pleased. What a team the state school had today.

The victory amounted almost to a personal triumph for Shelley, the beloved leader of the Longhorns. After having been only a very ordinary football player since mid-season of 1935, Shelley was transformed today into a star of the first magnitude, displaying all the ability that at one time ranked him as one of the conference's outstanding backs.

Two of the winners passed resulted from his accurate passes to Harrison Stafford, sophomore halfback, and he plunged for a 30-yard gain. A third in addition he carried the ball as an old and played a whole of a defensive game. Only Ernie Koy, his sophomore running mate, was able to match his brilliance today.

While the Longhorn offensive display directed by Shelley, Stafford, Posay Ekins, was sweeping the Mustang defense to the ground, the Longhorns' defense was equally effective. The Mustangs' offense was slowed up by the Longhorns' defense, which was able to stop them from doing any damage. The Longhorns' defense was able to stop them from doing any damage.

Take Charge—Texas took charge of the game almost from the start. The Longhorns' offense was able to stop them from doing any damage. The Longhorns' defense was able to stop them from doing any damage.

Standing on the goal line, Shelley whipped a pass to the line of scrimmage. He Stafford, who knocked off both Mason and Long and romped over the goal line. Elanton missed the point and the count remained 6 to 0 in favor of the second quarter when the Steers suddenly struck twice again. Again it was Shelley to Stafford, this time the Longhorn captain passing from the second mark and his receiver getting it on his fingertips just over the goal line. Thus the Steels followed almost immediately when Ekins sagged a wide heavy by Gilbert and ran 35 yards over the Methodist goal without being touched.

Block Punt—Peterson, Orange, who made the fourth and last touch on past mid-way of the third quarter, when he took the ball back to the line and kicked it back to the Longhorns. The Longhorns' defense was able to stop them from doing any damage. The Longhorns' defense was able to stop them from doing any damage.

Annual Jockey Club Races Start

Grid Results

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1 (AP)—Another chapter was begun in Texas horse racing history today. It was started at Arlington Downs before 10,908 fans gathered for the second annual renewal of racing in Texas by the Texas Jockey Club.

W. B. Waggoner, owner of Arlington Downs was one who watched the thoroughbreds flash across the finish line. Peering out of his box in the grandstand, Waggoner saw a member of his own Three-D stable flash across the wire the winner in the opening race of the day. Winning hand, 2-year-old filly, carried the red, white and blue colors across the tape in the opening event, a five furlong race for maiden 2-year-olds for a purse of $400.

Waggoner almost saw another member of his Three-D stable win the feature race of the day in a sensational finish. It was the fourth race on the program, a six furlong sprint for all ages with $600 as the purse. Double Heart, Old Kicker, winner several times here last year, won the race. The six-year-old bay gelding of O. L. Foster of Bridgeport, Texas, got away to a lead at the start and held this advantage through a driving finish.

Taking an early lead, Duke Pehl outclassed Golden Laura to win the third race $100 for three-year-olds and older at seven furlongs. Critic grabbed third money, a length and one-half behind Golden Laura. The six-year-old bay gelding of O. L. Foster of Bridgeport, Texas, got away to a lead at the start and held this advantage through a driving finish.

The last race of the day one mile and one sixteenth for three-year-olds and up brought another thrilling finish with El Monte beating Mascara, the favorite by a half length. Nelson took a lead going into the stretch to grab the second race of the day, a $500 event over six furlongs for three-year olds and older. Ole Minn Sunshine, took the lead from Eider and outgamed the leader for the victory.

Two of the winners passed resulted from his accurate passes to Harrison Stafford, sophomore halfback, and he plunged for a 30-yard gain. A third in addition he carried the ball as an old and played a whole of a defensive game. Only Ernie Koy, his sophomore running mate, was able to match his brilliance today.

Sewanee Loses 12-0 Battle To Owls

HOUSTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Using the old-time method of grabbing the ball and tearing out, Rice Institute's big young eleven thrashed the Sewanee Tigers 12 to 0 this afternoon.

Two of the Owls' choice backs, Wallace and Mueller, who did not start the game, got looks in the fourth period for touchdowns. Wallace squirming through eight yards to put it across and Mueller plunging eight yards to take his six points. The same back, Jamerson, missed both tries for goal.

Sewanee made a gallant attempt in the same quarter, losing a long and chance-taking passing attack, setting as close as the Rice 15-yard line, but drew a five-yard penalty for two incomplete passes and was forced to allow the visitors to die with the ball 29 yards from a score.

The first downs perhaps gave a fair representation of the comparative strength of Rice making 17 and Sewanee 8.

Wuescher, a 196-pound back for the Tennesseans, made the greatest showing among the visitors. He was the receiving ace in the Tigers' air offensive which netted them 112 yards from seven completed, and played an able defensive game. He did not start, but was rushed in when the going got thick.

Lubbock, Nov. 1 (AP)—Two aggressive high school football teams, Lubbock and Amarillo, met today in a thrilling game at Lubbock. The Mustangs' offense was able to stop them from doing any damage. The Longhorns' defense was able to stop them from doing any damage.

Two touchdowns in the third period came as the result of long passes from Alfalfa to Harrison. The goal line, one for 25 yards and the other for 43 yards. Then Baylor crashed through to block Buchanan's kick and Luther smacked over for another touchdown late in the period. Luther kicked goal for the only extra point the bears made.

Cy Leland Gets Away For 81-Yard Touchdown Run

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 1 (AP)—Texas Christian University showed it is ready to start its final drive for another Southwest conference championship today when it smashed Abilene Christian College 62 to 0 here.

The Frogs displayed great running power and an effective passing game as they rolled as they pleased over the Wildcats from West Texas.

Next week the Frogs meet Rice at Houston and then on successive Saturdays the University of Texas, Baylor and Southern Methodist University will be engaged. If the big white machine can show the class and skill it displayed today there is little reason to believe it will fail to win its second consecutive championship.

Cy Leland got under way against the Wildcats. He played only a little while but made two touchdowns in the first quarter, one on a 81-yard run.

Blair Spearman returned a kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown and Wolfwine passed impressively.

It was the first game of the season in which the Cats failed to score. They made only four first downs and came no nearer than 12 yards of the Frog's goal. Black, however, got away for one pretty 33-yard run and Phippen passed to Wortham for one 22-yard gain.

T. C. U. scored in every period. Five touchdowns were chased across in the first fifteen minutes. After that they continued—one in the second quarter, two in the third and one in the fourth. Only one of the nine attempts for extra point failed.

STEERS BOW TO BROWNWOOD LIONS

Dope Takes One On Chin As Overconfidence Gets Berth In Ranks Of The Longhorns

Lions Get Away With a 6 To 0 Affair As Three Ineligible Regulars Watch Game From Sidelines

The worm, so history points out, has a tendency to fly into reverse. Up to about 4 p. m. Friday afternoon the Brownwood Lions had not won a Class A game and had not scored on a Class A team. At that identical time, Big Spring was almost assured of a top berth in the second division when the season ends. A few minutes after Brownwood had defeated a Class A team, had scored on one, and Big Spring took the escalator trip on the downward trend. The score was 6 to 0, with Brownwood in possession of the six, and Big Spring holding the burlap.

It was the most miserable exhibition of football staged by the Steers this year. It is true the ranks of the Steers were depleted considerably by the absence of Brownie Hanzlaw at tackle, Captain Delbert Rogers and Nogie Munn at the backfield. But it is equally true that the same thing that ripped Napoleon's pants caught the Longhorns. Overconfidence, coupled with a fighting determination on the part of the Lions to come out of their season's slump hit the Steers and hit them hard. A fourth quarter drive by the Steers was doomed never to materialize, and the six-point margin established by the Brownwood contingent, early in the second quarter was lead enough to give the advanced dope a terrific shattering.

Outplayed in the first quarter, mainly because they had the wind against them, the Lions cantered forth in the early minutes of the second to make across the lone touchdown of the game and top the contest.

Standing on his 10-yard line, Harrison, Brownwood halfback, booted the ball 80 yards to Big Spring's 10-yard stripe. It was the jolt that started things. Kidwell was brought to earth on the return the Steer 11-yard line.

After gleaming five yards in an off tackle rush, Flowers passed, and Etter, Brownwood fullback intercepted on Big Spring's 31-yard line. Harrison got away around Big Spring's left end, and was brought down on the nine-yard line. Things began to get worse in a hurry. Etter gleamed two yards, a five-yard penalty against the Steers netted that much gain. McQueen hit the line for one-half of a yard, and B. Thomas went over the Steer left tackle for the counter. C. Thomas' attempt for the extra point from placement was low.

Although the Steer's offense became a bit more rugged as the half opened the last minutes of the third quarter saw the Lions on the verge of going into a huddle and singing "What a Day." A pass from Flowers to Schwartzbach, which McQueen intercepted, again brought the ball to a matter of one or two inches from the Steer goal line. McQueen intercepted the toss on his own 35-yard line.

Harrison passed to Galloway, right end, for 15 yards. Harrison passed to McQueen for 20 yards. Things passed to McQueen again for 12 yards. That placed the ball at an extremely critical stage as far as the Longhorns were concerned. To be specific it was on the Big Spring one-yard line. However, it was not to come to pass.

After Harrison had picked up two and one-half feet, a five-yard penalty for too much discussion in the huddle robbed the Lions of another touchdown. Harrison was thrown for a three-yard loss and a pair of passes were incomplete to halt the attack.

Twice in that fourth quarter the Steers heard opportunity rattling, but couldn't find the latch.

Steers Center

The fourth had hardly got underway before the Steers were resting on Brownwood's six-yard line. Phillips sent a deep punt into Brownwood territory. McQueen touched the ball on the 20-yard line, and Bill Flowers, driving through, recovered at it stopped rolling on the six-yard line. Four downs, three plays and two yards were lost, Flowers carrying each time. He passed over the goal line on the final down.

Not for long, however, were the Longhorns to wait. Bob Kidwell took Harrison's punt, a short one from the 15-yard line, on his 38-yard line and raced 20 yards, before downed on Brownwood's 18-yard line.

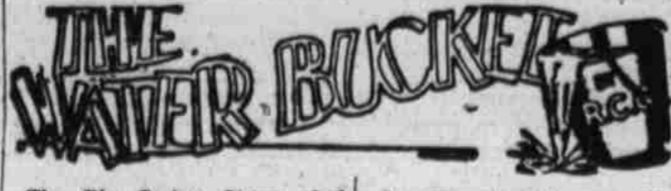

A pass, Flowers to Coats driven two yards, Flowers in two drives made slightly over eight yards resting on the 26-yard line. With the ball on the eight-yard line again, it looked like a sure bet. The drive went suddenly to reverse gear.

A second penalty from the point of the foul, was given for clipping. The ball was back on Brownwood's 25-yard line and the final threat had been checked. Phillips' punt over the 35-yard line marked the end of the drive.

Thomas Good

Although a 20-yard pass was completed via the interference route, to give Big Spring the ball on Brownwood's 29-yard line, time was short, and Big Spring hardly had time to get another five-yard penalty before it was over.

Centenary Bows To Rejuvenated Aggies

The Big Spring Steers clash with the Sweetwater Mustangs here November 11 in a dedicatory game for the new athletic field. Dallas Brownie Hanzlaw, Captain Delbert Rogers and Nogie Munn get eligible between now and then, and unless the remaining ones show a little more of the stuff they did at San Angelo and quit a bit less of the stuff they displayed Friday afternoon, the battling Bovines are due to take it on the bender and listen to the bells ring. As a matter of fact, they stand a good chance of doing it anyway. The Sweetwater team is a much better aggregation than the Brownwood contingent, yet the Brownwood team whipped the much better Steers—minus the trio mentioned above. It is true—and made them like it.

It was the good-fortune to talk with one of the Brownwood players before the game. We discussed the poor showing made so far by the team. It is made up mostly of green material and youngsters that are trying to get along.

"Aw, we feel sorry for Dutch," said the kid. "We don't know much and I guess we pull some bones all the time. We want to win just as badly as he wants to win. But we haven't been able to get going. Maybe we will this afternoon. We'll like the Steers for Dutch anyhow." Dutch, incidentally, is Dutch Woodward, the Lion mentor. They played football in that spirit. Maybe they weren't playing for Dutch at all. Maybe they weren't playing for themselves or the school or anything else, but the fact remains they were playing. Light, inexperienced, green stuff, young—yet something carried them on to a victory over superior eleven—even without the trio of first stringers.

Yet, we cannot help but believe the Steers could have overcome this brand of fighting, had Brownwood not been obsessed with that most dangerous element—too much cocky confidence in themselves and not enough respect for another aggregation. The Steers were doped to win. There was no other way to dope the affair. But that is dope. There was nothing in evidence to show that the Lions couldn't win. That is overconfidence. It was the latter that found its way into the portals of the Steer showers and lost them a ball game Friday afternoon on the town lot.

We have witnessed lots of high school football games, the majority of them in this district, and we have seen lots of home town aggregations bite the dust, but it has never fallen our lot to see a group of high school and small college players carry them as they plunge, as a bunch of the custard eaters and otherwise did Friday afternoon. Of course it is generally accepted that there is no spirit in the high school. In fact there is a bit of classroom, a tension that is apparent. Yet there is nothing that shows up one's overconfidence as much as to stand in the bleachers, section and back as the team goes under. One can't see what one desires, but it is a much better way of demonstrating it.

Bill Stevens, the Steer mentor, blamed the defeat on overconfidence and the absence of the three first string men. He added the game ended as he expected it to. He suffers from us there. It ended quite differently than expected it to. As a matter of fact, there was but one second string man on the team. That was the fourth backfield man—Eddie Maxwell and Red Coburn are behemoths enough to plug in Hanzlaw's shoes against Brownwood. Neel has been in every game in the backfield. The team that was on the field Friday afternoon, against Brownwood was a three touchdown better team, than the Lions.

We'll take this man Thomas for the line. The hefty Brownwood guard had the time of his life. He got in plenty of plays, mainly because the plays were directed toward him the majority of the time. Although the left side of the Lion line, had Thomas therein, and Thomas is a couple of linemen rolled in one, that side received the pounding. Needless to say, Thomas handled his position well and smeared them as often as they came his way.

Abilene too suffered from a superiority complex. The Pass and Mavericks, beaten but not bowed by any means, pulled the same thing Brownwood did and socked a 6-6 tie on the Eagles. It was the second tie for the Eagles and practically eliminated them from the 1934 chase. It left the second berth fairly safe for the Bulldogs.

We note with humorous interest the following glittering literary gem from the pen of one Mr. Charles Deere, residence Breckenridge.

Friend Mr. Campbell:

Texas League Solons Arrange 1931 Schedule, Breaking Old Fort Worth, Dallas Tradition

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1 (AP)—The 1931 Texas League race will open Wednesday, April 15, and close Sunday, Sept. 13, club owners agreed here today as their annual fall meeting opened.

The opening and closing is a week later than in 1930, and although there will be the same number of playing days, 152, there will be 160 games instead of 154, six double headers being scheduled in addition to the usual ones played on the Fourth of July and Labor Day.

The Fort Worth-Dallas opening combination which has endured for many years, will be broken next season. The magnates voted to instruct the schedule maker to arrange a card, whereby both the Cats and Steers will play at home April 15, having Wichita Falls and Shreveport as their opponents. After one or two games, the Spudgers and Sports will have their home openings with Fort Worth and Dallas as the visiting teams.

Waco probably will open in San Antonio and Beaumont in Houston. Nothing was done about pooling the receipts of the first games.

For a change, the northern teams will invade the southern end of the circuit before Houston, San Antonio, Waco and Beaumont come north.

Waco To Stay

The danger of Waco quitting the league faded in the meeting when President Charles Turner of the Cubs announced that at a gathering of the stockholders in Waco last night, it was voted to continue the operation of the team through the 1931 season.

Del Pratt, who has carried the club through year after year, declared he has not yet been reappointed manager but it was believed certain he will be back.

No regulations were made to govern night games. The executives were of the opinion they would be legislating in the dark and should wait until night play was out of the experimental stage.

"We will decide the questions as they arise," Gardner declared. Although some of the cities have not officially announced they will play at night, it was made clear at the meeting that light would be installed at all the parks by June 1. No date was set for the start of play at night but it probably will be about 30 days after the race opens. South state cities may be able to start earlier on account of warmer weather.

Club presidents, excepting Sol Dreyfus of Dallas and O. L. Beidenham of Shreveport, were present. Bob Taric, business manager of the Dallas Steers, said Dreyfus was too busy to attend the session while Beidenham was in College Station watching his son, a member of the Centenary College football team, play against Texas A. and M. The Sports were represented by Tom S. Hickman secretary of the club.

Visit Races

The meeting was adjourned during the afternoon.

ALABAMA GOES OVER KENT'KY

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 1 (AP)—Alabama battered another southern conference foe into oblivion here today, defeating the University of Kentucky, 19 to 0, and continuing the ragin' wash of the Crimson Tide toward another Dixie championship.

John Henry "Flash" Suther speared a 44-yard pass in the first period and stepped five more yards for the Tide's first touchdown.

"Shipwreck" Kelly, one of the great backs of the conference, could not get started because his cohorts couldn't keep the onrushing Tidesmen from his shoetops.

"We will decide the questions as they arise," Gardner declared. Although some of the cities have not officially announced they will play at night, it was made clear at the meeting that light would be installed at all the parks by June 1. No date was set for the start of play at night but it probably will be about 30 days after the race opens. South state cities may be able to start earlier on account of warmer weather.

Harry Stites Glitters At Quarter

96-Yard Dash By Murff Gives Gents Tally

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 1 (AP)—Featuring little Harry Stites, 137 pound quarterback, starting his first game, the rejuvenated Texas Aggie eleven bowled over Centenary Gentlemen, 7-6 in a brilliant game here today.

Cochs Matty Bell's changed up lineup consisting of Stiteler, Hewitt, Floyd, Davis and Woodman, functioned almost perfectly behind a hard driving forward wall to carry the ball through the line and around end. Stiteler and Pete Hewitt, also a newcomer in Aggie lineup, accounted for large part of the A. & M. gains while Stiteler, passing to Tracy, McFadden and Hewitt, kept the Gents constantly on the alert for an aerial attack.

The Aggie touchdown came in opening minutes of the second quarter, when Stiteler unleashed a passing attack to Hewitt, Tracy and McFadden, which carried the ball down the field on consecutive plays from the A. & M. 36-yard line to the Gents' 5 yard stripe. Floyd went through line three yards and Stiteler on the first play of the second period went over for touchdown. Stiteler also kicked the extra point.

Texas Writer Dedicates 2nd Book To Women 'Wondering If They Married Wisely'

Donald Joseph Publishes "Long Bondage," Said To Be Inferior To His First Effort, "October's Child"

By Ona Reagan Parsons
"LONG BONDAGE"
By Donald Joseph
(Frederick A. Stokes and Co.—$2.75)
This book is dedicated to the women who have wondered if they have married wisely. It ought to have a wide circulation.

The author, we recall, published "October's Child" last fall and won all sorts of compliments from critics. Many said he had written the best novel so far published by a Texan.

Therefore his second book was destined to receive a more critical reading than the first. If he measures up to the standard of the first, it will be well; if he falls down one loses interest.

Probably there will be a difference of opinion, but this reviewer does not think that "Long Bondage" will add greatly to his laurels. It was a mistake not to have called the hero, Eugene Deering, of "October's Child" into prominence to let the second novel be a story of his readjustment to the world but had so thoroughly upset him a college. We feel sure that Donald Joseph could have done the very convincingly.

Story of the Book
"Long Bondage" is a story of an unhappy married woman, who one day before her wedding met the man she really loved. She carried on, however, and made the best success she could out of marriage. When her husband died she found the other man still unmarried and waiting for her.

It is the sort of thing that happens not infrequently in life but reads a little stilted in the pages of a book.

The author, having a sense of humor, is concerned with showing how noble this heroine really is in her unhappy relationship. He describes her as one of the favorite ones. When he gets through we wonder, she was noble, at least enough to create such a book on his part.

Texas Writer

Donald Joseph, young Texas writer, author of "October's Child," publishes new book, "Long Bondage." Mrs. Parsons reviews his latest effort today.

Prohibition Punches Are Big Hit; Book In 2nd Printing

By STE McNAMARA
WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Willebrandt Punch and Peabody Cocktails with more pretty color than a gin fizz but minus its kick are being served by women all over the country.

Mrs. James M. Doran's book, "Prohibition Punches" has come into its second edition.

The warrant of the commissioner of industrial alcohol will tell delegates to the national W.C.T.U. convention in Houston Nov. 14 of the success of the non-alcoholic cocktail.

Mrs. Doran, in her comfortable Georgetown home, is somewhat amused at her sudden fame as an author.

STYLE TALKS

Black and White Silver Linings Hats, Again The Curtain Rises
BY ADA E. LINGG

ALTHOUGH the style market is almost as unsteady as the stock market these days, so far as colors, materials and definitions are concerned, it is steadily rising in favor as the stock market is declining in quotations.

From out the mass of style data that reaches our cluttered desk each day we have culled the following:
Black and white continues to be excellent for street and afternoon wear—especially black with white hats and gloves or black hats with white trimming.

Bright dresses with dark (black) coats are coming to the fore—especially Ruby, emerald, green, intense blue and wine red are colors that brighten the dark street clothes that have been so predominant lately.

Hats are still well off the forecast and come in the more muted but still interesting tones than in anything else new. They are really becoming too popular for whenever a thing is copied in the cheaper models of mass material as the dress continues to be interesting. Really anything is good in hats, now just so it is becoming and following the trend in a general way.

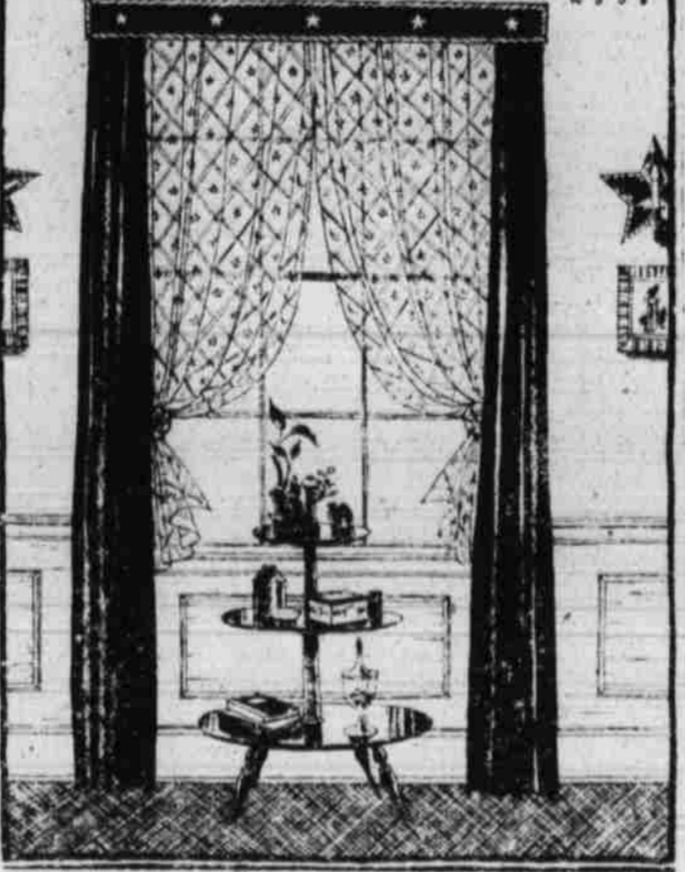

Evening clothes are quite sumptuous with lace brocade, cloth, silk, satin, tulle and lace prominent. The young girls, however, usually prefer frocks of flat crepe in becoming tones such as turquoise, green, black or cream.

A new color scheme is brown with white accessories. One Fifth Avenue shop, we understand, shows several windows with variations of this color scheme. A brown and white tweed coat with a white felt hat banded in brown was one. A brown woolen coat with revers of white carnage was another. This was topped with a brown felt hat banded in white carnage.

And for evening, too, they showed the same combination—long white velvet wraps trimmed with sable fur worn over frocks of brown lace or tulle.

The Fashion Play By Marshall Field
The curtain is going up on the most fascinating drama of the year. The scene—Paris. The characters—all star cast: Goug, Lanin, Chisel, Lefone. And the title of the piece—"Fashion for the Fall of 1930."

New Lace Design

These trim glass curtains have the star pattern.

BY MARGERY TAYLOR
Interior Decoration Editor, McCall's Magazine
An idea which is well received with enthusiasm is that of curtains. Many other new glass curtains are colonial in spirit and all are in natural colors. They come in both plain and patterned treatments.

You will find little trace of the new curtains and none of the lace suggests things popular in 1929. Why? Because it is a better and broader idea.

For a class of lace, such as with a wide border, the lace variety must keep the quantity of the pattern simple and not too busy.

But simplicity is necessary so the lace border should not be a proper center for the new "children's" curtains.

These have been found, however, in some charming tapestry and needlepoint designs.

The "English" pattern is a delightful new point of the period, five again in a glass curtain pattern—substantially enough to use with curved-out and waist.

Women Of India Gaining Liberty Says Gandhi Aid

LONDON (AP)—Women are playing an increasingly important role in India affairs as far as the Nationalists are concerned, according to Dr. David Chowry Muthu, Gandhi's personal physician.

Only in comparatively modern times have Indian women been emancipated, he said.

"The women in ancient India enjoyed perfect freedom in every sphere—life, social, religious and political. They did live their lives in any way they chose. They were well versed in astronomy, mathematics, logic, literature and law and wrote books on these subjects."

Women of all ranks and grades have written poetical works and shown learning in Vedic lore. The daughters enjoy perfect freedom of thought and action, and were as intelligent as they were brave.

An inscription of Mihira Bhoja, a Hindu ruler of India, women who studied in the military profession, Vikramaditya. Mr. Muthu pointed his wives all Rajput princesses as Viceroy's of India. The ladies conducted affairs of state. They used to fight for their country when any need arose. In instances of their heroism are numbers of history.

The women in ordinary life were taught the art of house-keeping, child-rearing, domestic management and learned in their own way to conduct themselves. The housewife's chief care was how to bring up the children so to bear the responsibilities of Ayatn. Sometimes she was an intellectual and made noteworthy contributions to the cause of culture.

But after the Mohammedan conquest of India the custom of the Hindu women of wearing saris in a simple, dignified and dignified manner, the Hindu women retained much of their liberty.

The purdah was introduced by the Mohammedan conquerors. Hindu women who were placed wholesale in Moslem harems.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Rector of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity, in Dallas. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Question: I have been thinking a great deal lately about the future of our country. In case of future wars, how can we best protect our art galleries and museums which house some of our greatest treasures?

Answer: Mr. Nicholas R. Rosen has recently advocated the use of a special flag in public art treasures. He maintains that this international banner should be hoisted over the buildings where beauty and science have deposited their wealth. I agree and wish that Mr. Rosen's admirable plan could be adopted.

Question: But why worry about future wars? The most serious menace to our peace is unemployment. When that is solved, we will have no more wars.

Answer: Many sincere and thoughtful Christians cannot understand why we should be so concerned about the possibility of future wars. These are followed by some of the reasons why we should be so concerned about the possibility of future wars.

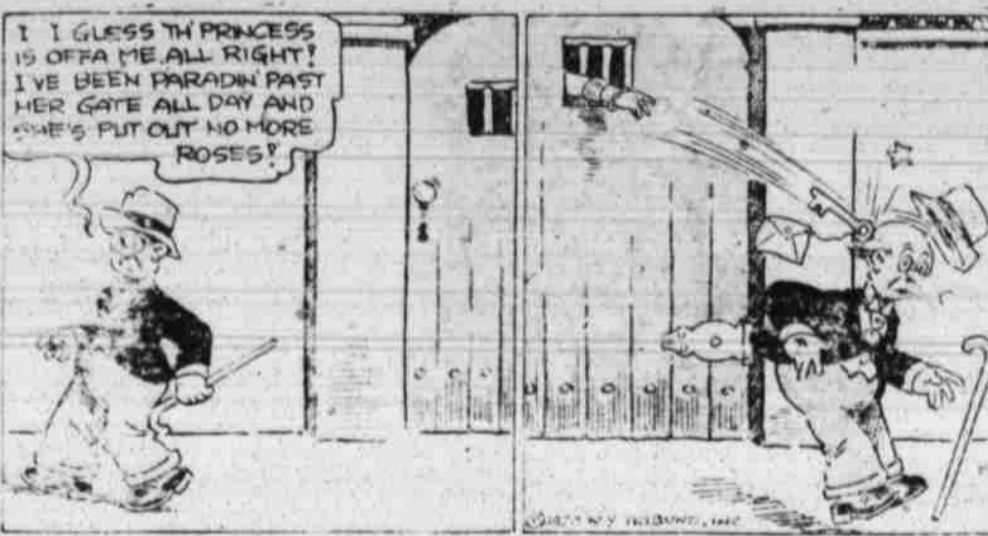

Question: Why is it that we are so concerned about the possibility of future wars?

Answer: Many sincere and thoughtful Christians cannot understand why we should be so concerned about the possibility of future wars.

lengths have settled down quietly at last. The smart street skirt reaches about to the middle of the calf, its exact length being entirely a matter of what is most becoming to the woman who wears it. Nothing is better for evening than the even-all-around skirt that just escapes the floor, although your evening skirt may stop short of the ankle for dancing, sweep the floor with medieval dignity, or trail in uneven points, very much as your own fancy dictates.

The Leading Fart has been allotted to sleeves, whether wide, puff, balloon or merely elaborately cuffed. Trimming is important, as well as the complicated shirring or pleating which often takes the place of embroidery. The little woven dress has an enthusiastic following. Capes have survived their summer debut, and muffs are preparing for a winter season.

Chanel is glorifying woolsens, her striped jersey knits for vests or blouses with suits of plain jersey knit are a success. The Chanel silhouette is flared for coats and dresses, the coats often having balloon sleeves or a top completely of fur to give the effect of a jacket.

Goupy has put on an outstanding good collection. You feel that you want every dress in it. You see pepiums on practically everything. Goupy has done very clever tricks with straps on very low cut evening dresses. So have other designers, especially Lanvin. The interesting thing that Lanvin achieves with evening necklines are equalled by her sleeves; one glove sleeve for evening, reaching from wrist to elbow and made of rows of black net, to match its dress, is going to be very famous.

Other Hits: Lelong concentrating on the three-quarter and the full lengths wrap for evening. Molyneux in a costume role taken from the stormy period of the 70s and the fall of the Second Empire. Ardane producing glamorous evening wraps in black velvet and ermine. Vionnet increasing her fame with highly successful coats, many of them wrapped around to the elbow and belted and black, trimmed with Persian lamb.
