Big Spring Plays Host To West Texas Neighbors

Widely-Advertised Program Supported By 80 Merchants To Begin Thursday Morning

Program To Be Climaxed Saturday With Street Dance Following Appearance Of Governor, Attorney General, Rail Commissioners

Big Spring Thursday will begin a three-day session of playing host to the people of this section of West Texas with a full program of amusement and entertainment marking the Carnival of Values, which has been more widely publicized than any public function arranged here in many years.

More than eighty merchants, who will offer special values Thursday, Friday and Saturday, have joined in financial support of the affair, which is being staged at surprisingly low cost to all.

Tens of thousands pieces of literature have been placed in town and country homes in a dozen surrounding counties and two special good will tours were made by motor-cars headed by the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps.

Two Kinds Of Babies Appear For Carnival

Rescue Baby Show, Bathing Girl Revue Attract Many Entrants

Two kinds of babies, infants and bathing beauties, will compete in contests here Thursday as part of the opening day of the Carnival of Values, the program released by C. T. Watson, manager of the chamber of commerce, shows.

Twenty-one additional entries in the better baby contest ran the total to sixty-nine and gave the largest field ever entered in a similar contest. The committee in charge composed of Mrs. W. D. McDonald, Mrs. Garland Woodward, and Mrs. Louis Paine will be assisted by Misses E. E. Fahrkamp, R. Richardson, Vista Levrett, expected more entries before the deadline at ten o'clock Thursday.

Wednesday's entries were Anna Miles Smith, Imogene Thomas, J. E. Nutt, Jr., Margaret Francis Payne, Jimmie Carroll White, Peggy Jane Stringfellow, Wancelle Harris, Nell Everett Lindsey, Joan Lewis Pickle, Don Lewis Etter, Francis Irene Malone, Billie Joy Angel, Yolanda Mariello, Hettie Hugh Charles Miller, Billie Brown Lee, Mary Florine Harris, Harriet Ann Lunsberg, Katherine Rose George, Jack Dunn, Jr., Ben Ames Beadle, and Carl Richard Wicke.

Grand prize of a 11x16 photograph will be given the winner on all three classes. First place winners in other classes will be given smaller sized portraits. Second and third prizes in each of three divisions will be awarded. Souvenirs from the chamber of commerce to every baby entered will be given, Mrs. McDonald, chairman, said.

A program has been planned to follow the judging of the babies. Nancy Davis will play a piano solo and Jeanette Pickle will read. Brook Ambassador will furnish music. The contest will be held on the mezzanine floor of the Settles hotel, beginning at 10:30 a. m. Mrs. P. W. Malone, J. H. Dillard and Charles K. Bivings as judges. Strict medical standards will form the basis of decisions.

The other baby show, one of an entirely different color and age, will be staged in the Settles hotel lobby Thursday evening during the intermission of the dance. Fifteen bathing beauties representing nine West Texas cities will appear. The winner of the affair will be given a trip to Mineral Wells, expenses paid and entered in the West Texas bathing beauty contest. Chaperone or escort of the winner will also have expenses paid to Mineral Wells.

Those entered are Mamie Mayer Coahoma; Margaret Jenkins, Colcord; Anna Bell Johnson, Midland; Iona Garrett, McCamey; Bernice Gaines, Coleman; Postelle O'Neal, Seagraves; Fay Green, Melba Wilson and Vera Bernum, Stanton; Vaughn Kelly and Lella Ruth Bates, Odessa; Lela Latham, Paulina Hubbard, and Mrs. Lee Levering, Big Spring; Minnie Boatz and Jennette Pitcher, San Angelo.

SENORA CALLES PROGRESSES BOSTON (AP)—It was reported Senora Calles was making "slow steady progress" Wednesday, almost a week after an operation for tumor on the brain. Her condition still is grave, but the fact that she has lost no ground, is considered a good omen.

Ernest Cox On Tour Of West Texas

Former Legion Commander Is Candidate For Congressman-at-Large

AUSTIN—Ernest C. Orr Cox, candidate for congressman-at-large, Place No. 1, is campaigning the whole of West Texas this week from Austin to El Paso and Amarillo to Wichita Falls. He is travelling in his well-known black and white car driving from Austin to Pecos, by way of Sweetwater and Big Spring, where he will speak at 10 a. m. Thursday. From Pecos he goes to El Paso by train, and returning from there continues by car to Lubbock and North Panhandle. Mr. Cox states that he has found a little confusion in the minds of some of the voters about the congressman-at-large race. The change made by the state democratic committee in the usual method has caused a great amount of discussion and uncertainty among some of the voters of Texas. A ballot wrongly scratched may be cast aside and not counted at all. For this reason, Mr. Cox states he hopes the voters will carefully inform themselves on the method of using the ticket.

Following the 1920 census the congressmen were re-apportioned among the various states on the new basis of population. This state gained three additional congressmen, but the state legislature failed to redistrict Texas to absorb them. This made it necessary for the three new congressmen to be elected by the whole state rather than any section. Then instead of letting the three highest men in the race have places, the state democratic committee decided to make three separate places out of it. Now a voter is to vote for but one man, and one man only, in each place—one man in Place 1, one man in Place 2, and one man in Place 3. No matter, if he prefers two men in Place 1, and none in one of the other places, if he does not scratch (Continued On Page Eight)

COMMITTEE WRANGLES HALT WORK

Committee Votes 35 To 17 To Commit Party To Outright Repeal

CHICAGO (AP).—The democratic platform committee Wednesday afternoon voted 35 to 17 to commit the party in favor of prohibition repeal.

CHICAGO (AP)—While delegates to the Democratic national convention paraded times after a brief, presyncretic session Wednesday the full platform committee bore down heavily upon the draft brought in by a sub-committee.

Disputes raged upon prohibition, the tariff, silver and other subjects, that must be ironed out or left for final decision upon the floor before the committee presents its report to the convention.

First argument arose over whether the tariff declaration should contain assertions that such levies be "for revenue only." Senator Hull, a proponent of that doctrine, had his proposal adopted by the full committee.

The committee also accepted the sub-committee's proposal on silver, pledging the party in favor of an international monetary conference to "rehabilitate silver."

The bitterest contest raged around the committee's declaration on prohibition.

CHICAGO (AP)—Waiting on the platform committee, the Democratic national convention convened nearly an hour late, and recessed immediately.

The tangle over the prohibition plank threw the platform builders behind schedule, postponing until late afternoon the promised floor fight between advocates of repeal and submission to the states.

At 12:46 Chairman Walsh began pounding for order. After the invocation the chairman announced that the platform committee would not be ready to report until 2 p. m. and suggested a recess. Delegates in the half-filled stadium applauded a succession of professional entertainers.

Meanwhile reports from the room in which the platform committee was wrestling with its problems, indicated it had approved a plank committing the party to a "competitive tariff" based on the doctrine "for revenue only" after a sharp dispute. This declaration was more drastic against the Republican tariff policy than the 1928 stand of the Democrats. The proposal was sponsored by Senator Hull of Tennessee, one of the Roosevelt leaders.

William Neblett, spokesman for William Gibbs McAdoo, told a "peg" meeting that "chances for John Garner never were so bright as they are this morning." Other Texas and California speakers urged unwavering loyalty to the Garner cause.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wrangling five hours over the next Democratic campaign document, the resolutions committee Wednesday afternoon adopted a prohibition plank committing the party in favor of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and immediate modification of the Volstead act.

The declaration was put into the Democratic platform by the resolutions committee after a majority report of a sub-committee for submission of a plank which did not commit the party to repeal, was rejected 35 to 18.

Surprised advocates of submission to the states were undecided momentarily whether to carry their cause to the convention floor, but it was predicted they would make a minority report tonight.

First paragraph of the plank says "we favor repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment." The prohibition dispute was reached after the committee waded through extended disputes on silver and tariff declarations the party would take to the people in the coming elections. The committee worked throughout the day while the convention waited, awaiting the report. The prohibition plank was adopted 35 to 17.

Today's interrupted session means that most of the nominating speeches for president will at least be delayed until tomorrow and that no while the convention holds late Thursday afternoon at the earliest.

Miss Joe Nell Day of Coahoma is visiting with her cousin, Wansell Woodall. She will be here for some time, her friends report.

Derailment Of Locomotive At Scene Of Washout Again Ties Up Traffic On Texas & Pacific; Roads Damaged

Five hours after one of the most severe washouts in recent history of the road had been repaired sufficiently to allow passenger trains to pass, traffic again was tied up on the Texas & Pacific at a point three miles east of Sweetwater when locomotive of a freight train, one of the 600 type, was derailed while crossing the place about 6 a. m. Wednesday, according to reports reaching here.

Division Superintendent A. E. Piatole, who has been at the scene of the trouble since a high fill was washed from under the track by flood waters about 4 a. m. Tuesday, ordered a wrecker from Big Spring and a large force was working feverishly to re-rail the locomotive.

Rainfall, estimated at ten inches or more, which fell in the vicinity Monday night and Tuesday morning caused much damage not only to highways and railroads, but also to crops.

The Santa Fe tracks were washed out near Sweetwater. Several hundred yards of surfacing on Highway 70 south of Sweetwater was torn off and thrown into a ditch but traffic was not stopped. Approaches to a new bridge on the highway between Sweetwater and Roby also were washed away.

ABILENE (AP)—Flood waters of the Clear Fork of the Brazos, fed by heavy rains along the headwaters in Nolan and Fisher counties, had Wednesday inundated 1,000 acres of farm lands in the river bottoms north of Abilene.

The town of Hawley, 15 miles north of here, was marooned as the river expanded to a width of a mile, causing suspension of highway traffic. Corn damage was reported heavy. A motor boat was patrolling the area to make needed rescues.

Earthquakes In Mexico Continue

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Colima dispatches Wednesday said further earthquakes and loud subterranean roars in the vicinity of the Colima volcano frightened inhabitants, who were moving out of the danger zone.

Tidal waves continue to sweep Coahuila, increasing destruction caused by last week's tidal wave, which wrecked the city.

Garner Is In Friends' Hand He Declares

Carter Quotes Speaker At California-Texas Meeting

CHICAGO (AP)—Amos G. Carter of Fort Worth told a meeting of Texas and California delegates that he talked with John Garner at the capital Wednesday by telephone and that the speaker told him he was in the hands of his friends.

"Anyone who says he has made a trade is telling a falsehood. I am authorized by Mr. Garner to make that language just as emphatic as the occasion seems to warrant," said Carter.

He quoted Garner as saying "I can do anything with me except get me in jail."

Rumors had been current here that Rooseveltites had broached the suggestion he accept the vice-presidential nomination in return for support of Roosevelt for the presidential nomination.

Plane To Rush Roosevelt To Chicago If He Is Nominated

ALBANY (AP)—A large plane was chartered and held in the vicinity of Albany to fly Governor Roosevelt to the Chicago convention in the event he is nominated for president.

The ship was described as able to land the governor in Chicago in not longer than nine hours. Questioned earlier about the report, Roosevelt only laughed.

The Keynote Speech

Senator Barkley did not fail to observe the rules of etiquette long since established for keynote addresses. The rules require that the orator should pretend to believe that the opposing party is without a redeeming virtue and that his own party is superb, superior and sublime. It is the rule also that the orator must never use one adjective if he can think of three adjectives or make any statement except in superlative terms. A keynote speaker must never say that two and two make four. He must always say that the great patriotic double-sejager when conjoined by the Democratic party or the Republican party with the noble patriotic double integer is a quadruple blessing or curse to all the people of this broad and fertile and smiling land. It is essential to the actual that the orator should behave as no man would ever behave if he were trying to persuade a company of reasonable men; at least every sixth paragraph he must work himself into a frenzy where a stranger not knowing the artificiality of his efforts would naturally wonder whether it was safe to let him go home alone.

Yet through the rumble of the historic one could hear a few notes in Senator Barkley's speech which differentiate the Democratic crisis to argue with great effect that although the Republicans pledged their allegiance to the maintenance of the gold standard, it is only along the lines of this Democratic policy that the gold standard can again be made workable in the modern world.

With equal directness Senator Barkley dealt with prohibition by proposing that the Democratic party return to the Jeffersonian tradition. He declared without wessel words of any kind that the convention should recommend a Congress repealing the Eighteenth Amendment and submitting it to conventions elected by the people of the states. It is impossible to deal more simply or more straightforwardly with the issue, and this statement should please everyone who has been wondering whether political parties would ever again be intellectually candid on controversial issues.

The effectiveness of the keynote speech was about exhausted after Senator Barkley had dealt with the tariff and prohibition. On the need for banking reform he was not only vague but timid; on the subject of economy he was bold in words but feeble in substance, omitting all mention of the plain fact that substantial economies in the Federal Government can now be had only by reducing subsidies and grants to veterans and to other special interests; on the subject of the farmers he was to my mind at least quite unclear. When all this has been said it is nevertheless something, it is more than the ordinary, to find a party willing to declare itself as plainly on two issues that are vital and a controversial as prohibition and the tariff.

Railroad Shop Removal To Be Fought By State

AUSTIN, (UP)—Elbert Hooper, assistant attorney general, promised a delegation from Anderson county that the state will move at once to intervene in the alleged removal of International-Great Northern railroad shops from Palestine. Hooper is preparing a motion, to be filed in federal district court here, to dissolve an injunction restraining the attorney general's office from interfering in the shop-removal contest.

His announcement was made after conferring with Anderson county Judge H. J. Kennedy, County Commissioner W. B. James, George Schmidt, Jr., and George Schmidt, Sr., Palestine.

The state had withheld action pending a report recently filed by W. A. Weeks, auditor of the State Railroad Commission. Contents of the report, not made public, will be the basis for Hooper's motion. Anderson county officials have complained the I-G. N. has violated court orders enjoining removal of the railroad headquarters from Palestine. Much of the repair work on locomotives and cars is now done in San Antonio, and general offices are maintained in Houston contrary to agreements, Judge Kennedy charged.

Mother And Daughter Must Be Tried Again

BROWNWOOD (UP)—Eva Nell Melchinger, 17, and her mother, Mrs. Willie Melchinger, will be tried again in the fall on charges of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Joe Melchinger, their father and husband. District court jurors failed to agree after long deliberation following trial of the two here last week.

Bride Of Eight Hours Dies In 36 Story Fall

CHICAGO (UP)—Mrs. Eugenia Slaperas, 23, leaped or fell to death from the 36th floor of the Morrison Hotel eight hours after she had been married. Her husband, Peter, 31, said she committed suicide. According to police, Slaperas told them he was married at 6:30 p. m.

Yesterday and registered at the hotel saying that his wife seemed melancholy and that despite his attempts to cheer her, she finally stripped off all her rings, threw them in a corner of their room on the 36th floor and jumped out of the window. Her body struck a fire escape on its way down and landed on the roof above the mezzanine floor of the hotel.

SAN FRANCISCO—The major

The advance conformed roughly

The crude price increase effective raised 75 cents oil to $1 a barrel

Gribble And Marrow Share Honors In Pitcher's Box

BEAUMONT — The Exporters dropped the final game of the first half Tuesday afternoon when the Cats had a big sixth inning in which they scored all their runs for a 5-4 victory.

Pitching honors were about even between Paul Gribble and Buck Marrow, each suffering a streak of wildness, though keeping the basehits fairly well in check. Marrow walked two and hit another in his bad inning and Gribble walked a pair and hit another in the fifth, when Beaumont scored three runs. John Pasek hit his first homer of the season in the sixth.

The Exporters scored three runs in a weird fifth inning. Marrow led off with a fluke double when Dalrymple got the blind staggers going after his fly in short right. Clifton walked. Holley, attempting a sacrifice, forced Marrow at third. Hughes walked and Fox was hit on the shin by a pitched ball, forcing in Clifton. Greenberg lined a single to left, scoring Holley. Easterling sent an easy fly to center which Loopp camped under, then dropped. Hughes scored, but Greenberg held first and Fox held second, setting the safe for a double play. Loopp to Dalrymple to Knott.

The Cats came back with five in the sixth. Loopp beat out a bunt and Hooks singled to right. Nash grounded out to third, both runners advancing. Knothe walked and so did Dalrymple, forcing in Loopp. Warren was hit by a pitch, forcing Hooks across. Gribble looked at a third strike and Pasek threw low to first to pick Warren off. Knothe scored on the error. Scarritt drove the first pitch through the box for a single, scoring Dalrymple and Warren. Engle grounded out to first, Greenberg making a great stop.

Pasek hit a home run in the home half, his first of the season, making the score 5 to 4.

the Galveston Buccaneers evened the count with Longview here Monday night by winning, 3 to 2. Ed Carroll, ace of the Buc staff was hard hit, but tightened in the pinches to protect the narrow lead gained in the fourth inning.

HOUSTON—The Dallas Steers gathered only six hits off George Payne's offerings here Monday night, but four went for extra bases and Hap More's charges romped away with a 3 to 1 victory. The game was a tight hurling duel between John Whitehead, Dallas rookie and the venerable Payne, with the former pitching shutout ball until the ninth.

Vines Only U.S. Hope At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England—America's hopes for victory in the men's singles of the classic Wimbledon tennis tourney Wednesday morning rested solely on the slim shoulders of her national champion, Ellsworth Vines, Jr.

The Californian marched into the semi-final rounds yesterday. Vines opened the day auspiciously with a straight set victory over Enrique Maier, Spanish champion, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

Three American mixed doubles combinations were eliminated. Mrs. Anna Harper, San Francisco, teaming with the Englishman, Ian Collins, got past her morning match, with Miss V. H. Montgomery and G. R. Sherwell of England, 7-5, 6-3, only to lose to Jacques Brugnon and Mme. Rene Mathieu, the French pair, in the fourth round, 6-3, 6-2.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crawford of Australia, defeated Wilmer Allison and Helen Jacobs, 6-0, 6-4, and another youthful American pair, Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., and Sarah Palfrey, Boston, lost to E. D. Andrews of New Zealand and Kathleen Stammers of England 6-4

Walks Lead To Sen. Loss

NEW YORK—The Yankees again displayed their ability to make the most of their chances Tuesday and defeated the Washington Senators 5 to 2, in the series opener although they were on the short end of the little hitting Al Thomas and Johnny Allen allowed.

Thomas gave only four hits, but he allowed seven walks, some of them very costly ones and two of the Yankee's blows were home runs. Allen limited the Senators to six safeties and did a good job of scattering them.

The first Yankee hit was Joe Sewell's home run into the right field bleachers in the third inning. It came just after Earle Combs had walked. In the fourth, Lazzeri, Larry and Ellen, drew successive passes after two were out and Combs followed up this "break" by lining a single to right and driving in two counters.

The final Yankee counter came from Lazzeri's homer in the sixth. Buddy Myer, who made half the Washington hits, drove in the Senators' first run in the sixth with a triple after Joe Judge had walked. Allen escaped further trouble until the ninth when Myer and Manush opened with singles and Washington filled the bases when Lazzeri hesitated too long about scattering them.

the play on Cronin's grounder. West's fly brought in Myer with the second Washington run.

PHILADELPHIA (Monday)—The Philadelphia Athletics made a clean sweep of the three-game series here with the Boston Red Sox Monday by putting on a two-run rally in the eighth inning to win, 5 to 4.

Miller's slide into second that upset Olsen and caused him to make a wild throw with one out and the bases filled allowed the two runs to count in the eighth. Krause, 19-year-old righthander, went the distance for the A's in his first start of the season. He held the Sox to seven hits, one of which was a homer by Johnson.

Good News From 1931

MOST OF THE reports of things that have happened during the past year make rather dismal reading. But we needn't get the idea that all of the records were worse than those of the year preceding. For instance: the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People reports that during 1931 there were 14 lynchings in the United States—which compares with 25 in 1930.

This is good news, especially when it is remembered that a bad depression year usually intensifies class and racial antagonism and makes lynchings more likely rather than less. To make a reduction of nearly 50 per cent in the number of lynchings during a year like 1931 is a real achievement.

What's Wrong With The World?

COLONEL HUGH L. Cooper, president of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, suggests the calling of a world conference "to find out what's wrong with the world."

"It is difficult," he says, "for me to see how a disarmament conference for limitation of land and naval forces, sitting by one lakeside, another conference on reparations, sitting somewhere else; and a conference on world banking, another on the gold standard and another on tariffs—all at different times and places—can produce a lasting remedy for a very sick world. We all know that these problems are so interdependent that they can not possibly be solved sensibly."

There is sound sense in the idea that all our problems tie in together and that one can not be solved unless the others are considered with it.

But would a world conference really do the job? Try to imagine the thing and you get a picture of a lot of delegates struggling with a lot of words and getting hopelessly tangled in the mesh of their own ideas. The world does not appraise the conference idea these days quite as highly as once it did.

"Light One for ME"

It's pretty hard to be around a Chesterfield and not want one. That tempting aroma tells you the truth. It says... "Here's a milder cigarette. Here's one that tastes better."

Sure... there's a good reason. Several, in fact. Chesterfields contain the finest tobaccos grown.

These tobaccos are not only blended, they're cross-blended in Chesterfield's own special way.

In fact, there isn't any way for a cigarette to be purer, milder or better tasting.

No wonder so many millions of smokers say "THEY SATISFY."

Uvalde Folk Quit Business To Listen In

Boyhood Friends Of Garner At Clarksville Keep Close Tab

UVALDE (UP)—Speaker John Garner's townspeople abandoned all business to listen by radio to the proceedings of the democratic national convention at Chicago.

One of the most interested listeners was Genevieve Garner, the speaker's 10-year-old granddaughter and the only daughter of the speaker's son Tully. She displayed keen interest in the proceedings which many elevate her grandfather to the highest office in the land.

The little brown-eyed girl is the congressman's constant companion when he is at home here between sessions.

Another interested listener who hopes for Garner's nomination was H. R. Hornby, publisher of the Uvalde Leader-News, the weekly paper here.

Hornby is credited with being the first to suggest Speaker Garner was presidential timber.

Hornby was named presidential elector for the 15th district at the Houston state convention. If his hero is nominated Hornby will cast the district's electoral vote.

Hornby has been a supporter of Garner since the latter's first race for congress 30 years ago.

national figure. CLARKSVILLE (UP)—Boyhood friends and relatives of Speaker John Garner gathered around radio sets here and at Detroit as the democratic national convention opened at Chicago.

Mrs. Sarah Garner, the speaker's 83-year-old mother, has been ill in bed for several weeks at the old Garner home in Detroit but other members of the family relayed news to her.

Particularly interested in the proceedings were the speaker's two brothers, Jesse L. and Jolly Garner, and two sisters, Mrs. John L. Wright and Mrs. Maude Blair, who still live in the neighborhood, which the congressman left 40 years ago.

Mrs. Wright, the wife of a merchant, lives across the street from the old Garner home and the homes of the two brothers are only a few blocks away. Mrs. Blair lives in the old home with her mother.

Widow Of Wilson, Wife Of Murray, Popular Figures

BY MAXINE DAVIS United Press Correspondent CHICAGO (UP)—Two royal members of America's vanishing aristocracy came to sit around the council fires of the democratic convention. They are Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, descendant of Chief Powhatan, and Mrs. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, a princess of the Chickasaw tribe.

No gathering of the tribes is complete without the party's dowager express. But this is Mrs. Murray's debut into national politics.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, tall, serene, smilingly silent on candidates and controversies, arrived at the Blackstone Hotel. She was accompanied by Mrs. Cary Grayson, wife of the late president's physician and friend, her brother, John Bolling, and unable to leave her bed. She has lived in the old Garner home for 50 years.

Bernard M. Baruch, and her niece, Mrs. Mary Moebling of Chicago. She greeted friends with her grave smile as she descended from her motor car, wearing a navy blue polka dot dress, with a clever white jabot, and one of the broad brimmed hats she usually wears.

Never Misses Mrs. Wilson never misses the meetings of the democrats. Never by word or look has she tried to influence one of them, or even to hint at the opinions she quietly and definitely possesses.

Mrs. Murray, tall, almost gaunt, with Indian aquiline of profile and Indian dignity of carriage, is not the dowdy country woman one might expect. She has not the chic of the city boulevards. But her dark blue knitted suit would never have been selected by a woman with a mother-hubbard mind.

"Do I want my husband to be president?" she repeated. "Of course I do. Because I know his old heart. He wants to do the best thing for the United States. He's the people's best bet and—I want him to win whatever he goes into." Mrs. Murray is here, like Mrs. Al Smith, "To help her husband and to meet the people."

"Will you join in the parade if he is nominated?" she was asked. "No," she responded, twisting her old-fashioned ring with its tiny diamond glistening in it. Then her intelligent blue eyes looked straight through her with gold spectacles as she added heartily, "if they have a parade, I hope it will be a big one. And that I can stand in a quiet corner and watch."

First Convention Not only has Mrs. "Alfalfa Bill" never attended a convention before, but she has never taken any part in politics.

"When I was a girl," her pleasant southern voice continued, "I lived in Indian territory, where the residents had no vote. Then I married and my family took all my time. You know, don't you, that I have four strapping boys and one daughter. And a grandson."

"Anyhow, I've always looked to my husband, and still do. He's just as much a wisecracker at home as he is in public. Except sometimes he has his thinking cap on, the way he does when he's working." Mrs. Murray rose to go to a tea party, with the added comment that it was amusing to her to be called an Indian princess when, she says, they didn't have such things anymore. She is one-eighth Indian, and very proud of her husband's being Scotch.

Kingfish Huey Long At Democratic Convention Tries To Treat The Ladies

By MAXINE DAVIS United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)—Huey Long is learning about the ladies from the Democrats.

The Kingfish set a lot of hearts a-flutter last night when he strolled for the first time into the headquarters of the woman's division of the national committee. His rusty red hair straggled down, his ice-cream suit wasn't quite in pres-tige still he was bright and merry and looking for company.

"Don't you girls want to have some meat with me?" silence. "Well some ham and eggs?" more of the same!

So Huey, still hungry, swung himself up on the desk and proceeded to clarify a few details. Stella Hamlin, the attractive woman he named committeewoman four years ago, and whom he has deposed here, passed the door, cool outwardly in powder blue.

"How did you feel about all those women voting against you in your contest?" he was asked. "That Stella there cost me those votes, about eight of them," he said. "She went around saying I wouldn't come before the sub-committee because it had too many skirts. It's a lie." "And he added right there, 'when I get back I'm going to settle a few things with her.'"

The Kingfish beamed, like a boy who had just broke a window hitting a home run. "Women are no judge of looks. They've passed me up all my life!" he accused.

On his way out he paused to look at a lost glove hanging to the bulletin board. "No woman'll claim that," he opined. "She'd have to admit she had dirty hands," and sauntered off.

Immediately afterward two of the senator's feminine appointees entered. One was the committeewoman who will displace Miss Hamlin, Mrs. Emilie Belvenne, and the only woman delegate from Louisiana, Mrs. Edward Pillsbury. Both are Buxom and were wearing identical gowns of pink chiffon, with white kid shoes.

Mrs. Pillsbury, who thinks Huey's "the master mind of America" is factory inspector in New Orleans. She is president of the woman's Choctaw Club, the old regular democratic organization, a close relative of Tammany wigwam. She fought against Long in his fight for senator and then moved into his camp immediately afterward.

She is a woman of ability, a leading clubwoman, active as president of the Louisiana federation of women's clubs and the league of women voters. She has made important reforms in child and women's labor laws, and was appointed by President Hoover as a member of his White House conference on child welfare.

"He's done more for our state than any four governors put together," she stated proudly of Long, "and when I told him what I thought of him, he answered me: 'You can describe me with one word: Kingfish.'"

NEW YORK (UP)—Newspaper advertising is helping many companies weather the business depression and boosting the business of some to new high records, according to a survey made public by American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Twenty-five companies that maintained or increased newspaper advertising in 1931 showed a drop of only 7 per cent in net income, as compared with the preceding year, while an equal number of concerns that cut down on their newspaper advertising suffered a 73 per cent decrease in net earnings, it was reported.

Through their ability to concentrate on profitable markets and enable companies to realize immediate sales, newspapers of the country "have not only retained, but increased their prestige as the leading national advertising medium," the report said.

"One automobile concern, increasing its newspaper budget 23 per cent, boosted its net earnings 40 per cent in 1931," it was reported. "Another manufacturer, in the highly competitive electric refrigerator market, spent $200,000 last year in newspaper space, and dollar sales for the year were 460 per cent of sales in 1930."

Citing the instance of four tobacco manufacturers who increased newspaper advertising in 1931, the report said three showed an increase in earnings and one a slight decline, while four companies in the same line who decreased their aggregate investment in newspaper space showed a 45 per cent decline in combined net earnings.

Sports Arenas Await Storm

Baseball, Tennis, Golf, Traphooting, Cycle Races On Program

The characteristic lull before the storm hung over Big Spring's athletic arena Wednesday as committee chairmen prepared for the onrush of athletic competition beginning tomorrow and lasting throughout Saturday, when the Carnival of Values will be brought to an end.

Baseball, tennis, and golf plans were complete as ten entries were recorded in each of the former sports and the crack foursome of Frank Rose of Lamesa, Charles Qualls of Post, Bob Scott of Colorado, and Shirley Robbins of Big Spring made ready for their exhibition tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The match will be played over eighteen holes, with Rose and Scott meeting Qualls and Robbins in an individual and best ball match.

Ten baseball teams, ranging from Col-Tex Refinery to a collection of Big Spring all-stars and rural communities like Hartwells and Lomax, stood ready for the first day of competition tomorrow. In the first match, at 10 a. m. Fairview will play Vealmore while Big Spring follows against Ackery at 2:30 p. m. At 5:30 p. m. the Foran Oilers clash with Hartwells.

The deadline for entries in the West Texas net tournament was moved up to 10 o'clock to allow a few late contestants to register. Ten teams from five cities, Big Spring, Wichita Falls, Abilene, Coahoma, and Breckenridge, were registered with tourney officials, and delegations from Sweetwater, Brady, Colorado, Midland and Roscoe were expected.

Three days of hectic competition are promised on the courts, with both city and individual championships to be decided. The defending champions, Thomas McCarty of Wichita Falls and Elmo Lowe and M. M. Ballard of Abilene, will be on hand for a second try at the titles captured last season.

Friday morning Lomax meets the winner of the Hartwells-Foran game, and at 2 p. m. the Big Spring motorcycle quintet of Howard Peters, Nuis Best, Cecil French, Cecil Thixton, and Lois Shortes will play an all-star group gathered from neighboring cities.

At night there will be exhibition and tournament roque games at the private court of Frank Eter, 2008 Johnson street. Entries are asked to register immediately. Col-Tex of Colorado and Coahoma side the field in the baseball carnival at 2:45 p. m. and at 2 1/2 highway meets the winner of the Fairview-Vealmore battle. Preceding the latter contest will be motorcycle races with several local and out of town riders taking part.

At 1:30 p. m. Saturday the traphooting competition will begin at the local Gun Club south of the city. Among the entries expected is Mose Newman, in 1928 winner of the Grand American Handicap prize.

Finals in the tennis tournament will be staged Saturday afternoon and trophies presented. Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. the championship baseball game will be played.

Wichita Doubles Team To Be Here

Tom McCarty, hard-hitting Wichita Falls star who won the West Texas singles championship on the local courts last year over Theo Ferguson of Midland, announced today via long distance telephone that he would be on hand for the Carnival of Values net exhibition here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Wichita Falls team of McCarty and Raymond McPhail, also seen here last year, will be favored to win the championship.

SWEETHEART APRON A man may work to earn money to get food for strength to work to earn money, but a woman must appear attractive to prepare the food, budget the money, and maintain the strength of the man who works to earn—etc! This may not be a sociological fundamental but it is a secret worth knowing. House frocks may be as dainty and becoming as dress-up gowns, and really a man is as apt to romance for a rose-sprigged apron as for a formal by moonlight.

The "Sweetheart Apron" is made of five heart shapes, counting the pockets, comes ready cut of soft, adorable pin kprint which is fast color of course, and another reason, you will keep that sweetheart disposition while wearing it, as it fits to perfection and can't slip off the shoulders! Size may be adjusted by the placing of the "straps" through which the strings tie at the back. Cut materials for the sweetheart apron which you may quickly hem or bind and sew together may be ordered as No. 404. You will want to make half a dozen like it.

GARNER HENCHMEN IN CHICAGO

State Senator Walter F. Woodue (left) of Texas, who is a leader in the campaign to nominate John N. Garner for President, is shown during a pre-convention conference with W. R. Montgomery, a Texas delegate, in the Garner headquarters in Chicago.

Carnival than had ever assembled in any town in Texas before. The list of speakers included the governor of the state and Tom Hunter; candidates for attorney general; many of the men and one of the women running for Congressman at large; and all the district and local candidates.

Carl Young opened the program by the singing of "Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "Little Red School House" with Miss Roberta Gay accompanying him at the piano. Mr. Robbins was the official announcer.

Victor Flewellen told the club of the trade trips and the territory the men covered. He outlined the list of towns covered, told of the literature distributed and the goodwill created and declared that a good crowd was likely to attend as a result of the trade trips.

C. T. Watson sketched the attractions of the Carnival of Values and asked the members to do everything possible to enjoy the Carnival and to make the visitors enjoy it.

Ways of assisting the visitors would be, he said, to inform one's self of the attractions and answer all questions asked; to offer to take visitors to the ball grounds and do everything that opportunity to further their good time. The idea of the Carnival he declared was to provide such good entertainment, that every visitor would want to come back again. The program had been planned with a variety of attractions as a result of different opinions, with plenty of music and with all sorts of speaking attractions. The success of it depended on the local people from now, he added, and their whole-hearted cooperation.

Tom Hunter Supporters Choose Robbins Chairman

An unusually enthusiastic group of Big Spring citizens gathered in the district courtroom Tuesday evening and for the purpose of perfecting a Tom Hunter-Joe Governor club. The meeting was called to order by B. E. Robbins, local independent oil operator and extensive real estate owner who has been actively supporting

Mr. Hunter since the day he announced as a candidate. Through his untiring efforts the club started with more than 150 members, composed principally of merchants, lawyers, oil men and farmers. After no little elaboration of the Wichita Falls man's qualifications the club was organized with B. F. Robbins, chairman, Joe Edwards, vice chairman, L. C. Harrison, treasurer and W. Dickson, secretary. The club expects to wage a vigorous fight in Mr. Hunter's behalf and take its tidings to every community in this section of West Texas with a view of placing him at the helm of Texas' business affairs. Firmly believing that Mr. Hunter should be the people's choice in the gubernatorial race and earnestly desiring to acquaint every voter with the able gentleman's qualifications, both as a citizen and

Thirty-one county candidates have expended $1,461.96 campaigning for their respective offices, first expense reports filed with the county clerk show. Two additional accounts must be filed with the clerk, one not less than eight days before, and a third not more than ten days following the democratic primary.

Amounts spent by candidates ranged from fourteen dollars to $109.50. However, there were only three candidates reporting less than twenty dollars expense. Only one of the 150 had listed assessments of the county democratic committee in order to have his name placed on the ticket.

The average expense per candidate totals $45.92. Despite seemingly hard times, an exceptionally large field has boasted the present average to the level of former years. Much of the money expended went for printing and newspaper publicity. Other outstanding items listed were ticket expense. Very little traveling expense was noted.

Only one candidate for a district office had reported. His account totaled $370.00, spent principally for newspaper publicity in every town in the district.

Law provides that county office seekers may spend as high as $300 on the primary campaign. Other

CHAPTER XXVIII

Dan and the girl in white were almost breathless. Cherry before they recognized her. Dan called out, "Hello, Cherry. Waiting long?"

"There was a bright circle of red in each of Cherry's cheeks. "Hello," she said evenly, determined to seem as casual as he had been. "I've been here a while. I really haven't noticed how long."

The other girl smiled. "I don't believe you remember me, Mrs. Phillips," he said. "I'm Connie Randolph. We met at the Casey's party—the night you were married."

"How do you do. Yes, of course I remember."

The slight note of frigidity was not to be missed. The other girl hesitated a moment. Then she said, "It's awfully nice to see you again. Well—I must hurry or I'll miss my bus."

She directed her smile at Dan, turned and was gone.

"Look here, Cherry, you might have been a little more cordial to old Connie."

"Old Connie! Is that what you call her? I don't think you need to give me lessons in etiquette, Dan. She didn't even know I was talking—looking at you all the time!"

"Cherry! For Lord sake!"

She must not let him see that her lips were trembling. She must not let the tears come. To steady herself Cherry turned away.

Dan's hand was on her arm. "Honestly, honey," he said in a softer tone. "I don't understand. Is anything wrong? You've been away so long and it's so good to see you—"

"You didn't seem to think much about me when that Connie was here!"

Dan's laugh was a short, derisive snort. "Don't tell me you're jealous, Cherry? Not of old Connie?"

"She whirled and stared at the brown eyes larger, more luminous. She forgot that her lips were trembling. She said, "I've been so lonely! I've counted on this meeting so. And then you came with that other girl, you were laughing as though you'd forgotten all about me—"

It was six o'clock of a June evening in the center of Wellington's business district. There were a score of pedestrians in sight. Nevertheless Dan Phillips put both arms around his wife.

"Cherry, he declared, "I swear if you look at me like that again I'll kiss you. I don't care if the entire population is glaring at us. I don't care if the mayor and the Chief of Police and the Editor of the News are all watching. I think I'll do it anyway."

But he didn't. The girl broke away from him abruptly.

"Dan Phillips, you're impossible! You're getting older every day."

"Oh! That's a low way to talk to me! That's a low way to talk to a man who's been married and has a child! You're getting old, Dan! You're getting old!"

Cherry looked at her and saw that she was indeed getting old. Her hair was turning gray, her eyes were sunken, her face was lined. She was getting old, and she was getting ugly. She was getting old, and she was getting ugly. She was getting old, and she was getting ugly.

"Why, Dan, you haven't been eating at home, have you?"

"No, but I drink the milk. See, Cherry, I'm glad you're back!"

Cherry tried to feel the pulse up a little. "I'm afraid I don't get rid of all the dirt. How's your mother today? Come on—what do you say we have dinner and you can tell me all about everything—"

"Oh, Martin!" she called. "I had no idea it was so late! If you'll wait just a few minutes I'll hurry!"

She darted back into the apartment, threw off the disreputable dress and dashed water on her face. Ten minutes later she came running down the stairs.

Martin, dignified as always, helped her into the car and closed the door after her.

Cherry enjoyed the drive. She found her mother sitting in the big chair before a window of her bedroom. A bowl of roses from her garden filled the room with their spicy perfume. There was sunshine outside but the bedroom was cool and lowered awnings kept out the glare of the sun.

Mrs. Dixon was smiling as Cherry entered. The nurse slipped away and left them together. They were talking of inconsequential subjects when, in the midst of a sentence, Mrs. Dixon's words broke off.

"Cherry!" she exclaimed. "Your hands—what on earth have you been doing with them?"

"The girl glanced down. Against the brown crepe of her frock her two hands glowed bright pink. They looked swollen and rough.

"Why—I—" Cherry began. "They do look badly, don't they? It—must have been something in the water."

She knew very well what had caused that redness—the compound she had put into the scrubbing water. Cherry laughed uneasily. "I'll have to get a lotion of some sort, I guess."

"There's one on my dressing table," Mrs. Dixon instructed her. "Put some on right away. I've always been proud of your hands, Cherry. You mustn't let anything spoil them."

The girl had found the sweet-smelling mixture and poured some of it into her palm. "Of course not," she said. "I'll remember."

stared and blue-eyed looked particularly attractive in a frock of blue organdie. Her leghorn hat had just enough of the Watteau shepherdess about it and just enough of the Parisian designer's touch to be both picturesque and chic.

Cherry was wearing a shantung sport dress. It was one from last summer and looked it but Cherry herself had not been conscious of this fact until she saw Gretchen. Mrs. Alden and her daughter excused themselves soon and Cherry saw them to the door.

When she returned Mrs. Dixon said, "Cherry, I want you to go to Madeline's tomorrow and pick out some new clothes. Charge them to my account. It will be all right."

"Oh, but I couldn't do that! I can't go to Madeline's! I'd never see her again."

"Then you'll have to manage without her knowing. I'm not going to have you practically in rags. You look a sight! Besides, you really need some dresses."

Cherry laughed. "I'm sure I don't know what for," she said. "We're not going anywhere. Dan's holding over his vacation until fall so we can save some money."

"But I want you to promise me you'll get those dresses."

Cherry couldn't very well refuse. There didn't seem to be any reason why she should. After all, why should Dan object if her mother wanted to buy her a few pretty dresses?

"I'll see," she said. "I can't go tomorrow but I'll see. That was a pretty thing Gretchen was wearing, wasn't it?"

It was two days later that Cherry's father stopped her as she was going through the hall.

"Come into the study a moment, will you?" he asked. "Your mother and I have a plan and I hope you'll agree with us."

Northern Ward Getting Wells

Production has been developed in two more Gulf Production Co. tests in northern Ward county.

Gulf No. 11 Hutchinson, which last mid-week had drilled to 2,585 feet in lime, showed gas from 2,390 to 2,500 feet, topped the pay at 2,650 and in drilling to 2,875 feet in sand flowed 45 barrels of oil the first 24 hours. The well drilled ahead. It is 2,567 feet from the north line and 990 feet from the east line of section 5, block F, G.M.B. & A. survey.

Gulf No. 21 O'Brien, cleaning out following a 340-quart shot from 2,595 to 2,760 feet, flowed 50 barrels of oil in 12 hours Monday. It was bottomed at 2,765 feet and had cleaned out to 2,680. Location is 2,557 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of section 16, block F, G.M.B. & A. survey.

E. E. (Buck) Sturm and Simms Oil Co.'s No. 2 Jones (J. H. Gill), which flowed 100 barrels of oil Monday and a like amount Tuesday, prepared to deepen from 2,500 feet in lime, after which it was to be tubed. It was making an estimated 300,000 cubic feet of gas daily. Pay was topped at 2,494 feet. The well is 1,650 feet from the northeast line and 330 feet from the southeast line of section 16, block 24, H. & T. Co. survey. It is an east offset to Sturm and Simms' No. 1 Jones, which in turn is offset by three producers.

HERE'S A FUNNY STORY. EMMA. LISTEN TO THIS—

A SCOTCHMAN WANDERED IN TO THE FINEST RESTAURANT IN LONDON. HE SELECTED A COMFORTABLE TABLE AND CALLED THE WAITER.

TO THE MENIAL HE SAID IN A COMMANDING VOICE: "A GLASS OF WATER!" THE WATER WAS BROUGHT AND SANDY TOOK A SANDWICH FROM HIS POCKET AND SETTLED BACK TO ENJOY HIMSELF.

THE WAITER DECIDED TO PROTEST, BUT CALLED THE MANAGER TO LEND HIM AUTHORITY. THE TWO APPROACHED THE TABLE. THE WAITER SAID: "THIS IS THE MANAGER, AND—" HE GOT NO FURTHER.

SANDY LOOKED UP AND SAID: "SO YOU'RE THE MANAGER? I WAS JUST ON THE POINT OF CALLING YOU. WHY ISN'T THE ORCHESTRA PLAYING?"

WELL, I THINK HE HAD A LOT OF NERVE, DON'T YOU?

A Silver Lining

by Welling

Dan Phillips put both arms around his wife.

"Cherry, he declared, "I swear if you look at me like that again I'll kiss you. I don't care if the entire population is glaring at us. I don't care if the mayor and the Chief of Police and the Editor of the News are all watching. I think I'll do it anyway."

PA'S SON-IN-LAW

Three days later Cherry noticed her mother again looking at her hands. "I can't remember," the girl thought. "I'll have to get rubber gloves and wear them."

There was another incident that disturbed Cherry. It was the second week after she had returned to the apartment and housework. She arrived at her parents' home late in the afternoon. Mrs. Dixon was in the living room with two guests, Mrs. Alden and her daughter, Gretchen.

Gretchen Alden, who was tall and slender, was looking at Cherry's hands. "They look so nice," she said. "I'll remember."

DIANA DANTE

Cherry looked at her and saw that she was indeed getting old. Her hair was turning gray, her eyes were sunken, her face was lined. She was getting old, and she was getting ugly. She was getting old, and she was getting ugly. She was getting old, and she was getting ugly.

"Why, Dan, you haven't been eating at home, have you?"

"No, but I drink the milk. See, Cherry, I'm glad you're back!"

Cherry tried to feel the pulse up a little. "I'm afraid I don't get rid of all the dirt. How's your mother today? Come on—what do you say we have dinner and you can tell me all about everything—"

SPORTS ON PARADE

Introducing more or less distinguished characters that will appear in Big Spring during the Carnival of Values athletic program:

CHARLES QUAILS of Post-1931 West Texas golfing champion, champion of the Big Spring Country Club invitational tournament,

FRANK ROSE of Lamesa—Considered one of the section's best younger golfers. Smiling, friendly, 25-year-old captain of the Lamesa team.

BOB SCOTT of Colorado—Rugged Mitchell county ranchman who shoots 'em off the tee box from the wrong side and does a good job of it.

M. M. BALLARD of Abilene—Grand old veteran of West Texas tennis play, holder of the West Texas doubles title with Elmo Lowe.

FLOYD ROSE of Ackerly—One time ace right hander for the Big Spring Cowboys in the old West Texas league—now an Ackerly farmer and manager of the Ackerly club.

ROY LAMB of Forsan—Stokey heavyweight who was a contemporary of Obie Bristow's at Oklahoma U. A great back in his day, now a pitcher, third-baseman or what-have-you for the Forsan Oilers.

Extra, extra! The Colorado linkmen turned back Lamesa 29 to 15 on Sunday afternoon to throw the Sand Belt race into an open affair once more.

All of which means that if Shirley Robbins, G. R. Porter and Jeff undertake any championship dreams they must make their bid for first place within the next two matches.

Add distinguished visitors and etc. Move Newman of Sweetwater whose rifles shoot a mile and then throw rocks at you.

Question: Did Midland win the championship of the West Texas League under John King? If so, can you give results of the playoff and whom they played in the titular series?

In 1929 Coleman won the first half of the West Texas League race and Midland the second. The series between the two clubs was tied at two games all and was never finished, as there was a contradiction over the site for the final game.

CHICAGO (UP)—Dignitaries who rated police escorts as they drove to the democratic national convention at the stadium were roughly booed by a crowd wearing communist insignia.

Communist Boo Dignitaries With Police Escorts A crowd of 500 communists and their sympathizers gathered three blocks from the stadium and spent the forenoon listening to negro and white speakers denounce capitalism.

Boosts Jim Reed

Former Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri a few months ago led the search for kidnapers of Nell Donnelly (above), wealthy Kansas City woman, and now she's boosting Reed for president as a Missouri delegate at the democratic convention.

Texas Topics

AUSTIN—The statement is being made as a claim that the oil industry in Texas is paying 56 per cent of all state taxes.

That will bear inquiry . . . The biggest tax in Texas, in volume of money, aside from the property ad valorem levy, is the one-cent per gallon tax on gasoline.

The oil producer pays a 2 per cent production tax, or about 1 3/4 cents per barrel. He pays a fraction of a cent per barrel for administration of the conservation laws.

The University of Texas has accumulated over $18,000,000 from oil, but not a cent of it from taxes. This fund is from royalties and bonuses on leases, acquired just as any other land-owner would profit from oil.

This year, it is said, the tendency of certain corporations to dictate the way in which employees shall vote, is much relaxed, from the conviction that you can't coerce Texas voters and from the discovery that such attempts in the past have done more harm than good for what they attempted.

The jury system in Texas is seriously undermined, in that no longer may one correctly claim that all stand equal before the law, subject to trial in the same way before the same kind of tribunal of his peers under the same terms of law.

If a person happens to be on the payroll of the federal government, it appears he is entitled to trial in federal court. Federal courts in many instances have a more direct path to substantial justice than the more cumbersome state courts and jury system; but there can be no assurance, with separate tribunals that both the man tried for a crime by a jury in a state court and the man tried for the same crime before a jury in a federal court would get the same degree of punishment on the same facts.

There ought to be only one court for any particular crime. The jury system in Texas is seriously undermined, in that no longer may one correctly claim that all stand equal before the law, subject to trial in the same way before the same kind of tribunal of his peers under the same terms of law.

Braves' Young Pitcher Takes Seventh In Ten Starts BOSTON—Young Bobby Brown pitched the Braves into a virtual second place tie with Chicago Tuesday when he turned back the hard-hitting Phillies, 5-2.

The pair of Philadelphia tallies were unshared, Art Whitney and Virgil Davis scoring on wild bases by Bill Akers and Art Shires in the fourth. The last of that inning, the Boston infielder made up for "boots" by providing the Braves with their winning drive.

Wally Berger drew a pass to open that frame and Shires followed with a single. Akers scored both with a long double. Brown then bopped out a single and scored Akers.

"Rabbit" Maranzillo had a sensational afternoon, scoring two runs, getting two hits and making four difficult assists. In the seventh, he stole home while Beryl and Davis conferred with most of the Philadelphia infielders near the pitcher's box.

getting two hits and making four difficult assists. In the seventh, he stole home while Beryl and Davis conferred with most of the Philadelphia infielders near the pitcher's box.

"Chuck" Klein and Don Hurst, biggest guns in the Philadelphia attack, were silenced by Brown. The former, however, slashed out two long flies to centerfield, Berger making both catches a few inches from the fence.

BROOKLYN—The Dodgers and the New York Giants split a double header Tuesday with Johnny Frederick figuring both as the "goal" and the "hero." The Giants won the opener, 7 to 3 and Brooklyn the second game 5 to 3.

With the score tied in the ninth inning of the first game, a walk and two singles off Van Munching loaded the bases and then Frederick muffed Terry's liner and let two runs score. Munge followed with another error for two more tallies.

CINCINNATI—"Pepper" Martin bobbed up again to haunt the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday, his triple in the fourth startling the Reds into muffs that gave the St. Louis Cardinals the game, 6 to 2.
