Aggie Class To Tour Western States In July

Dr. Ellsworth To Sponsor 6,700 Mile Trip This Summer

STUDENTS of agricultural economics 361x will leave July 19 on a six weeks tour of 12 western states, according to Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the department of agricultural economics. The purpose of the trip is to bring students in contact with the business aspects of agricultural institutions, including farms, ranches, experimental stations and market organizations.

The cost, $175 per person, includes transportation and living expenses. A bus has been chartered. The 6,700-mile trip consists of a survey of parts of Mexico, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado and Texas.

This is an annual course begun by the department of agricultural economics several years ago. It is gaining favor in colleges throughout the country.

The Agricultural travel course in 1933 covered 15 states of the Mississippi Valley. Students visited experiment stations, state educational institutions, large farms and markets in each state.

IRC Names Heads For Year; Eubank Is New President

Paul Eubank, junior government major, was elected president of the International Relations club at its regular meeting Monday night.

Other officers elected for the coming year were: Leon Crutcher, vice-president; Nina Ruth Short, secretary; and H. C. Pender, of the government department, sponsor. These officers will assume office at the last meeting of the year, Hubert Allenworth, Tech government graduate, who has spent 10 months in Europe and a month in Germany, spoke to the club on "Hitlerism." Allenworth stated that the "Youth of Germany is one hundred per cent for Hitler."

In a statement to The Toreador Tuesday afternoon, James Howell, Eubank's opponent, said that the election was unconstitutional, however the result has not been contested.

"The election was constitutional," Jimmy Cammill, IRC president said, "and another will not be held. The results will stand as they are."

Book Reviews To Be Printed

English Students Of Dr. Cunningham Prepare Literary Articles

Students of critical writing, Journalism 431x, taught by Dr. A. B. Cunningham, associate professor of English, are publishing "The Literary Review," a comprehensive review of the major fiction and non-fiction books of the last six months.

E. D. Fyke is editor-in-chief; Ruth Hurme, fiction editor; Jim Allen Hart, non-fiction editor. To Print Reviews

The publication will consist of two long fiction reviews: "So Red the Rose," Stark Young, reviewed by Miss Hurme, and "The Folks," Ruth Suckow, reviewed by Doris Mullins; and two long non-fiction works: "City Editor," Stanley Walker, reviewed by Don Miller, and "Skin Deep," reviewed by Dorothy Vandagriff.

An article on the life and works of the late Edwin Arlington Robinson is being prepared by Miss Mullins. Dr. Cunningham is reviewing significant magazine articles. There will be six short reviews each of fiction and non-fiction works.

The exact date of publication has not been determined. Approximately 1,200 copies will be printed.

Tech Freshman First To Win Scholarship Award

A Tech freshman, Luther Malcolm, of Brownfield, is the first Texan to win a college scholarship under a plan recently inaugurated by Montgomery Ward.

Malcolm, who sells goods through the mail order house of that company, has received the money as a sort of premium open to students. The money must be applied on a college education, he said. He began his college work at Texas Tech this semester on the scholarship he won recently.

Engineers Are At Convention

Professor C. V. Bullen, Eleven Students Go To Oklahoma Gathering

Eleven electrical engineering students and Prof. C. V. Bullen, head of the department of electrical engineering, are attending the South West district meeting and Student Branch convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at Oklahoma City, April 24 and 25.

Mayo To Read Paper
Eric Mayo, senior engineering student, will read a paper on "A Photo Cell Sweep Circuit for the Cathode-Ray Oscilloscope."

Student delegates will make an inspection trip which will be chosen from the following four possibilities: a trip through the Oklahoma City oil field; Oklahoma City Gas and Electric company; The Southwestern Bell Telephone company, a broadcasting studio, etc.; the University of Oklahoma.

13 Schools Represented

Other colleges and universities sending representatives are Oklahoma university, Kansas State college, Oklahoma A. and M. S. M. U. Texas A. and M., Rola School of Mines, Kansas university, Texas university, University of New Mexico, Rice Institute, Missouri university and Washington university.

Tech delegates are Fred Fairly, P. J. Minter, Marion Royalty, Woodrow Waggoner, Lowell Abbot, Eric Mayo, Thomas Young, T. A. Ford, Fred Litton, Mark Townsend, John L. King and Prof. C. V. Bullen. They will return Saturday.

Summer Session Bulletins Printed

Twenty-eight thousand bulletins, announcing courses to be offered in Tech's summer school, have been printed and will be mailed out soon.

The summer session will be divided into two terms, the first from June 10 to July 19 and the second from July 22 to August 29.

Courses will be offered in each of the four divisions of the college. The division of arts and sciences is offering 132 courses; the division of agriculture, 18; the division of engineering, 22; the division of home economics, 14.

Benefit Bridge Party To Be Given By Forum

A benefit bridge party will be sponsored by the Forum, women's honorary organization, May 3, from 3 to 5 o'clock in the lounge of the woman's dormitory. Tickets, which are 25 cents, may be obtained from members of the Forum. Groups may reserve tables. Both contract and auction bridge will be played.

Prizes are to be donated by Hemphill-Wells and Craig-Ghoshen's. Refreshments will be served.

Pauline Yeager is business manager.

VISITS STATION

C. Luker, associate professor of agricultural education, with a group of vocational agriculture teachers and farmers from the North and South Plains, went to Dalhart Saturday to visit the Soil Erosion Service Station.

Dr. J. O. Ellsworth of Tech was the principal speaker at a banquet of the Future Farmers of America in Littlefield. The program was in charge of R. L. Burdette, a Texas Tech graduate.

Textile Honorary Group Sponsors Show During Week Of May 6-11

TWO HUNDRED invitations to enter the Cotton Carnival May 8 have been sent out by Phi Psi, sponsors of the show. The textile honorary fraternity will hold the affair at the Palace theatre in observance of National Cotton Week, May 6-11. Invitations will hold the affair at the Palace theatre in observance of National Cotton Week, May 6-11. Invitations will hold the affair at the Palace theatre in observance of National Cotton Week, May 6-11.

Two Performances
There will be two performances of the carnival show. King Denzil Probasco III, Phi Psi president, will rule over the matinee showing scheduled for 3 o'clock and the night presentation. Regular admission prices to the Palace will be charged for the carnival.

Proceeds derived from the carnival are to be used by the graduating textile seniors for an industrial and inspection tour. Leading factories in the country are to be visited to make contacts that will help in securing employment.

Cotton Dresses On Parade
All types of cotton dress, and only cotton, will be modeled. Sports attire including riding apparel, bathing suits, tennis frocks, beach pajamas and afternoon, street, evening and house frocks are to be shown by models.

The Cotton Textile Institute is spending $2,000,000 for national advertising. The Phi Psi in southern colleges are cooperating with the institute in putting on Cotton Week throughout the South.

Bradley's Band To Play
Ned Bradley's band will furnish music for the program arranged by Mrs. George Langford and Miss Zella Reigel, contractors to the physical education department. M. E. Heard, assistant professor of textile engineering, is to do the announcing.

Special invitations to be printed on broadcloth with a design of Uncle Sam sitting on a bale of cotton, will be sent throughout the state urging attendance at the carnival.

Annual Ready For Printers

Book Will Have Seven Main Divisions In Magazine Style

All of the lay-outs and dummies of the main divisions of La Ventana, totaling 308 pages, have been sent to the printers, Economy Advertising company, Iowa City, Iowa, according to Editor Howard Reed. The humor section is the only division that has not been completed.

Everett Fairchild, art editor, has sketched the seven main divisions, and the 14 subdivisions have been illustrated by soap caricatures of a typical student through his college career, which is the main theme of the annual.

More annuals have been sold this year than ever before. Approximately 1200 annuals will be sent back about May 20.

The lay-outs in the book are modern magazine style. All work on mounting, art, cover design and lay-outs have been done by students.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the humor section is asked to turn in copy to La Ventana immediately.

KNAPP IN WASHINGTON
President Bradford Knapp left Sunday night for Washington, D. C., where he is attending to business concerned with the proposed P. W. A. loan for a college stadium. Dr. Knapp will return the first of the week.

Stock Phrases Of Professors Are Bared In Interview With Students

NOT all professors teach their classes in just the same way, use the same notes, and deliver the same lectures year after year, but nearly every faculty member has some stock phrase which has become peculiar to him through long usage.

Interviews with students on the campus are responsible for the following list of favorite remarks of Tech professors:

T. C. Root: Have I told you the one about—?

Dr. A. L. Carter: Yes—Well, suppose we have that. This is just unhappy.

Favorite Is Wrestling
"Dr. S. E. McKay: You goin' to the wrestlin' match?"
F. C. Cook: Now in old French manuscripts.

Botany Garden Is Started On Campus Plot

Directors Give Plot Of Ground Behind Science Building To Club

SHRUBS, flowers, trees and grasses found in West Texas are to be planted in a botanical garden, which is being started this week by the Tech Botany club in a plot, approximately 150 by 300 feet, back of the chemistry building. This plot of ground was recently granted to the club by the Tech board of directors.

Work has been started on the wind break, which is to be tamarix. Students who are members of the club are doing the planting and propagating. Elizabeth Montfort, senior botany student, drew the landscape design for the garden.

Plains Garden Proposed
Vegetation found in the canyons and plains of West Texas will be called a Plains garden, in which vegetation found on the Plains and other similar places will be planted. A special part of the botanical garden behind the chemistry building will be set aside to propagate plants brought from the mountains and other places. These plants will eventually be used in the Plains garden.

A naturalistic pool, surrounded by a rock garden, will be in the center of the garden. Aquatic plants and native rocks will be used. Cat tails, duck weeds, sedge bushes, and bullrushes will be planted in the pool. Forms of cacti will be used in the rock garden.

Shrubs Will Be Used
Shrubs to be used will include desert willows, mesquites, thorn shrubs, and wild grape vines. Trees and flowers to be used are West Texas native willows, junipers (red cedars), and cotton woods. Flowers will include wild larkspur, pentstemon, evening primroses and others. The lawn grass will be Buffalo grass. Yuccas, cat claws and prickly pears also will be included. A prairie dog owl "town," which has occupied the plot for some time, will be left unmolested, Miss Montfort said.

Eason Chosen Head Of Club

Capa Y Espada Elects New Officers; Annual Banquet To Be May 2

Allie Eason, junior Spanish major of Rotan, was elected president of Capa Y Espada, Tech foreign language club, for the ensuing year at a regular meeting Tuesday night.

Other officers named were Sybil Poteet, Ralls, vice-president; Elizabeth Stokes, Bonham, secretary; and Milburn Aldridge, Trenton, treasurer.

Saavedra Chosen
Four students and one high school pupil gave discussions pertaining to the life and works of Don Miguel de Cervantes Saavedra, author of "Don Quixote." Rava Newsum discussed his early works, Beatrice Glidwell reviewed "Don Quixote," Evelyn Beard discussed his later works, and Sybil Poteet gave a review of the new biography on Cervantes, "A Man Called Cervantes," Elmyra Cowan of Lubbock high school, who won first place at the district interscholastic Spanish contest, gave extracts from "Don Quixote."

The annual Spanish banquet will be held May 2 at the F. R. Friend residence on Broadway. Tickets may be secured from Mrs. W. B. Gates in the Spanish office.

Outgoing officers are Lloyd Glover, president; Elizabeth Stokes, vice-president; Allie Eason, secretary; and Donley Watkins, treasurer.

Freshmen Win In Drawing Contest

Four freshmen engineering drawing students won first places in the annual lettering contest in the engineering division. The students are divided into four groups and each group has a first and second place. Students winning first places were: John R. Pierce, Clyde Pierce, Henry Meredith and Lorraine Siles. Second place winners were: John R. Ragland, Lewis Ritchey, Homer E. Henzler and James J. Litton.

First place winners will receive certificates for proficiency in lettering and the winning cards will be placed under pictures in room E263 to serve as explanations for pictures of early inventions: Archimedes and his spiral pump, Patrick Bell and the reaper, Hero and his steam turbine and Hargraves and the spinning jenny.

Plains Dancers To Give Two Program Dances
The Plains Dancers will sponsor two program dances open to all college students, provided they come with dates. Admission will be 25 cents a couple and no stage will be admitted. The dances will be May 4 from 9 to 12 o'clock and May 18 from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Students who are members of the Plains Dancers club this semester will be required to present their tickets.

There will be no dance April 26, it has been announced.

Heads Society

Dean C. V. Adams, above, of the division of engineering, was elected president of the Texas section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education which was held on the campus last Friday and Saturday. W. E. Street, professor in the engineering drawing department, was the outgoing secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Vaughn Named Alpha Chi Head

Annual Banquet Will Be Given In Girls' Dorm Friday, May 3

Voyle Vaughn of Lubbock was elected president of Alpha Chi for 1935-36 at the scholarship meeting Thursday afternoon. Alpha Chi is a national honorary scholastic society which includes the upper ten per cent of the junior and senior classes.

Other officers elected were: Hermona Shadle of Aspermont, vice-president; Pauline Bue of Stamford, secretary; and Casey Kunkel of Lubbock, treasurer. These new officers will be installed at the annual banquet and will assume office next September.

Superintendent K. E. Oberholzer of Lubbock High school will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet to be held next Friday, May 3, in the girls' dormitory. Shingles and key permits will be handed out to all new members at the banquet.

The committee appointed by the president to prepare the program were: Arthur Atkinson, Paul Hall and M. K. Foster.

Outgoing officers are Lloyd Glover, president; Madeline Hughes, vice-president; Gertrude Samson, secretary; and Leon Ince, treasurer.

Clements Attends Registrars' Meet

W. P. Clement, registrar, attended the annual meeting of the National Association of Collegiate Registrars held in Raleigh, North Carolina, on April 16, 17 and 18.

Clement, enroute to North Carolina, attended the meeting of the Texas Association of Colleges in Dallas, April 11 and 12.

Only three registrars from Texas attended the convention in North Carolina, Clement said.

The next meeting, scheduled for April 14, 15 and 16 of next year, will be held in Detroit, Michigan.

Owen And Harris Made Assistants

Truett Owen and Marlon Harris, Matador grid standouts, were named assistants to Bert Huffman upon the appointment last week of the Lubbock High assistant coach as head football mentor at Electra.

Owen has been a powerhouse in the Scarlet and Black forward wall since Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith took over the reins here in 1930. The 205-pound lineman played tackle until an operation forced him from competition during the '33 season. Upon his return to the ranks the following year, he was shifted to guard where he continued to give the opposition plenty of trouble. Owen comes from Sherman.

Harris, whose home is Sallisaw, Oklahoma, was one of the hardest running backs in the Matador secondary the past campaign. He was a leading scorer on the squad and is a pre-med major with good grades.

Owen leaves Monday to join Huffman in spring training sessions at Electra. He will return to Lubbock after a week's absence.

Wool garments made in Miss Mabel Erwin's clothing classes were modeled in a style show at the last meeting of the Home Economics club Tuesday afternoon in the home economics building.

Twelve Tech Delegates Leave Sunday To Attend Santa Fe Science Meeting

Physics Show To Be Held May 17, 18

Details are being completed for a physics show to be held in the physics laboratories in the chemistry building May 17 and 18. The show is sponsored by the Physics club, J. J. Caldwell, president of the club, is general manager of the show. The club plans to make the show an annual affair.

The first show of this kind held here was presented by physics students in 1927. Many exhibits will be presented for the first time this year, most notable among these will be a number of demonstrations in connection with the cathode-ray oscillograph.

Dr. Stainbrook Is Named To Lead Field Conference

In recognition of the fact that he is an authority on the Devonian Paleontology of Iowa, Dr. M. A. Stainbrook, associate professor of geology, Texas Tech, has been appointed state leader for the Devonian of Iowa for the ninth annual Field Conference of the Kansas Geological Society in co-operation with the State Geological Survey of Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

This conference will be held from August 25 to September 1, 1935. The itinerary will begin at Iowa City, Iowa and end at Duluth, Minnesota.

The various state leaders will prepare maps, road logs, etc., of the territory to which they have been assigned, together with a comprehensive text summing up the present knowledge of the geology of the phase assigned to them. These articles will later be published by the society and will constitute valuable contributions to the science.

Home Ec Club To Install Officers

New officers of the Home Economics club, named at an election Monday and Tuesday, will be installed at the third annual formal banquet of the club in the ballroom of the Hilton hotel Thursday from 6:30 to 9 o'clock.

The new officers are: Pauline Hooser, president; Gertrude Samson, vice-president; Jean Bain, secretary; and Ellen Booker, treasurer. They defeated Margaret Anderson, Sarah Louise Cook, Kathryn Sheats, and Sallie Jane Clay for the respective offices.

Retiring officers are: Helen Frances Eiland, president; Gladys Palmer, vice-president; and Agnes Abernathy, secretary-treasurer.

Quimby Talks To Science Club On Plant Breeding

J. R. Quimby, of the Chillicothe Experiment station, spoke on "Phases of Plant Breeding" Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Tech Science club in the home economics building. This was an exchange lecture.

This club, made up of the faculty members of the division of science and associated departments, is headed by R. C. Goodwin, head of the chemistry department.

American Association To Convene In State Capital Monday

TWELVE delegates will represent Tech at the fifteenth annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science to be held in Santa Fe, N. M., April 25 to May 2.

Six professors will read papers. Dr. R. A. Studhalter, head of the department of biology, will present two papers: "Geographic Affinities of the Trees of Texas," and "Sporophyte Independence in the Liverwort, Reilia americana." Dr. and Mrs. Studhalter will present, "Juvenile Thallus of the South African Liverwort, Reilia capensis."

Papers To Be Read
Other papers include: "Urinary Excretion of Citric Acid; III. Diurnal and Nocturnal Output," by Dr. Cecilia Schuck, acting head of the foods department of the home economics division; "A description of a Mutant White Cynomys Ludovicianus (Ord.)," by Dr. Beale League, professor of biology; "An Expansion Of An In-Dimensional Detritum," and "Universal Quadratic Zero Forums in Four Variables," by Dr. Fred W. Sparks, mathematics professor; "Sajina Lakes and Deposits of West Texas," and "Individual Unknowns In Volumetric Analysis," by Dr. W. M. Craig, professor of chemistry; "Transforms of Fuchsin Transformations," by Dr. P. K. Rees, mathematics instructor.

Other Tech delegates include E. L. Reed, professor of botany; C. E. Russell, head professor of plant industry; R. C. Goodwin, head of the chemistry department; Dr. LeRoy T. Patton, head of the department of geology; Dr. W. C. Holden, professor of history and director of archeological research; Miss Elizabeth Montfort, senior botany student.

Scientists from New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Sonora and Chihuahua, Old Mexico, will attend the convention. Several other organizations will meet jointly with the association: Ecological Society of America, New Mexico Association for the Advancement of Science, New Mexico Game Protective association, New Mexico (Continued on page six)

Dairy Men Go On State Tour

Senior Aggie Students Are To Visit Large Creameries

Five senior dairy students in dairy manufacturing 421, creamery management, accompanied by Prof. K. M. Renner, head of the department of dairy management, are visiting the larger creamery organizations of the state. They left Tuesday.

The trip, an annual affair, is conducted on class room instruction basis. The students are seeking first hand information regarding the various methods of management used by different types of milk, butter, cheese, ice cream, condensed milk and powdered milk plants.

Towns being visited are Abilene, Tuesday morning; Austin, Tuesday afternoon; San Antonio, Wednesday morning; Schulenburg, Wednesday morning; Houston, Thursday morning and afternoon; College Station, Thursday night or Friday morning; Dallas, Friday afternoon; Fort Worth, Saturday.

Walter Labay, Granger; Claude Brown, St. Joe; Guy Bratcher, Lubbock; Joe Liles, Dublin; Melvin Davis, Lubbock, are making the trip. They will return Sunday.

May 1 Is Deadline For Senior Orders

Orders must be placed for senior invitations by May 1. They may be ordered through the Varsity bookstore on College avenue.

The theme of the four divisions of the college, arts and sciences, agriculture, engineering and home economics, will be carried out by silhouettes inside the folders.

The invitations were designed by Winston Reeves and Horace Benson.

Senior rings may be ordered at the Tech bookstore on the campus. The applique ring with silver and gold content, sells at $11 for the girls' ring, and $14 for the boys'. Prices of other styles of the ring may be obtained at the bookstore.

Thoughts For Potential Bachelors

WELL, seniors, you are on the home stretch at last. With mid-semester examinations behind you and spring in the offing, your thoughts unconsciously turn to caps, gowns and sheepskins.

After four years, or perhaps five, the end is actually in view. But this end is, in reality, only the beginning. You'll realize when you descend from the platform, diploma clutched tightly in your hand, that only your four-years' apprenticeship is completed.

There'll be many busy weeks for you until that eventful day in June. Then, with your work behind you, you'll have a full week of celebration before you walk up and receive that little paper you've worked so long for.

You'll listen rather reflectively while a baccalaureate speaker gives you eleventh-hour advice. You'll hear again what you've heard in chapel for four years. Yes, you'll be reminded that since you are educated, you will be expected to take an active part in the scheme of things. You'll be urged, too, to establish "contacts" with life. You'll wonder what the speaker means, but you'll give his words only a passing thought, because when you give your attention again, the speaker will be talking about a well-rounded life.

When it's all over you'll realize that, like hundreds of thousands of fellow Bachelors throughout the country, you are ready to face a world that is none too eager to welcome you.—T. C. U. Skiff.

Bearding The Lion

IN the course of the past 50 years I have talked with Presidents of the United States, Senators, Justices of the Supreme Court, members of the House of Representatives, governors, mayors, bankers, editors, college presidents (including Charles W. Elliot), leading men of science, Nobel Prize winners in science and letters, and I have never found one single person who for talents and character commands the respect of the American people, who has not agreed with me that William Randolph Hearst has pandered to depraved tastes and has been an enemy of everything that is noblest and best in the American tradition. Alfred Smith—a true friend of public education—added to this many deserved laurels when before a cheering multitude in New York he defied Mr. Hearst. The answer of the people of New York was final and conclusive.

"There is not a cesspool of vice and crime which Hearst has not raked and exploited for money-making purposes. No person with intellectual honesty or moral integrity will touch him with a ten-foot pole for any purpose or to gain any end. Unless those who represent American scholarship, science, and the right of a free people to discuss public questions, freely, stand together against insidious influences he will assassinate them individually by every method known to his yellow press. Only cowards can be intimidated by Hearst."

We could add little to these words spoken recently by Charles A. Beard at the annual convention banquet of the Social Frontier in Atlantic City. It piles upon Mr. Hearst that justified and bitter invective which the American college press feels is his due; it leaves no possible room for commendation; it is as damning an accusation as man can speak.—The Daily Princetonian.

The man of well-tempered character is unacquainted with laziness, or, at any rate, if he feels the approach of lassitude he never abandons himself to it.—Doumer.

Slide Rule civilization has given us organization and distribution of our various forms of wealth.—Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur.

Sometimes when I am low in the mind I think I'll end it all, by getting married.—Tallulah Bankhead.

Certainly We Have Religion

FOR many years now the question, "What is the college student's conception of religion?" has been the subject matter of dissertations by thousands of theologians, educators and church laymen. For years they have argued the age-old issue of the college students' beliefs and disbeliefs. Some of these religious commentators cry out to the world that "Our college students today have no religion; they lack any knowledge of the correct teachings of Jesus; they ridicule and deride the story of the flood, Jonah and the whale, and the Virgin Mary's conception of Christ."

These and innumerable accusations of a similar nature are heard every day from rostrums, pulpits and other platforms. Some raise their voices a little higher to say the professor of psychology and the professor of science are largely responsible.

But the time has come when these persons, who have passed such scathing judgments on our religious concepts, must listen. College students are at last defending themselves. They are ready to answer these challenging statements.

The attitude that the present student does possess is one of tolerance, and respect of the right to do one's own thinking. We note in an editorial clipped from the Reserve Weekly, publication from Western Reserve college, that "There is a precise and swelling rebellion against the dogmatic religion which will listen to no reasoning against a forced literal translation of Biblical writings and against compelled outward ceremony." The writer's statements are indicative of the thoughts of many students. He also observes, as many do, that "We all possess the same enthusiasm for thinking out one's own religious problems" and "that the best religion is the right action always."

Student indifference, which the commentators say is prevalent toward religion, has come about because of refusal to accept certain narrow conceptions that have been presented for centuries. We see things from a broader, more perspective viewpoint than our older friends do. Our interpretations of the Bible and its truths are, of course, founded on our knowledge, as well as the knowledge and experiences of others. The difference between our conceptions and the conceptions of those we have mentioned is one dealing with broad and narrow-mindedness.

It is true that some of the things we learn in science tend to make us wonder about the literal validity of the Scriptures. But because these studies do stimulate thought in other directions, we are more able to understand the power and supremacy of our God as he reveals himself to us in all these discoveries and facts that we learn from the study of psychology and science.

"God is to be searched out, rather than formulated; He is to be experienced rather than defined." So says the student editor of The Stylus of Sioux Falls college. He says, "One's personal experience with self, with fellowmen and with nature, are essential to a proper appreciation of the symbolical designations for God contained in the Scriptures."

There have been and always will be agnostics, doubting Thomases and even atheists among us. But to say that all college students fall into these three classes it to be ignorant of the interpretations and conceptions of today's youth that are as sound, logical and attainable as those which have been forced upon us for decades and decades.—T. C. U. Skiff.

Somewhat Literary

ART POETIQUE

(Dedicated to, and obviously imitated from, Mr. Ogden Nash)

IT'S time again to write my weekly verse,
And I can't think of anything worse
Than the customary poetic topics,
Such as spring and love and the lure of the tropics.

Or writing a sedately rhythmic song
About developments in public affairs, such as Huey Long.

It's hard to invoke poetic sentiment or laughter
When you're writing not for fun but because you
haughtier,
And harder still to keep to the measure you've begun—

But all poets must do it, save only one.
I think that, instead of my customary poem,
I'll write about this poet. By now you know'em.
I refer to the resourceful Mr. Nash.

Who turns rhyme and reason into hash,
But whose productions are widely printed,
And who receives praise unstinted—
And deservedly, I wot.

Although prosodic scruples are something he hasn't got,
For no other can rhyme a quip as Ogden Nash can.

On any theme, from lofty love to lowly ashcan.
And it must be a whimsical sensation
To measure lines by whimsical inclination,
With one line containing fifty or sixty or maybe a hundred words, and running over half the printed leaf.

And the next quite brief,
But not only is his rhythm abnormal,
His rhyming also is informal.

In fact, at the ends of lines, he lugs to position
What no other poet would put into juxtaposition.

How wonderful it must be to have no concern
As to whether two words rhyme worth a darn!
In short, my envy of Ogden Nash is hereby conceded;

I wish I had thought of his ideas before he did!

It used to be easier to make a college address when the world was more traditional and habitual.—Newton D. Baker.

Many prize liberty. Few allow it.—George

CAMPUS ECHOES

By JIM LINDSEY

EVIDENTLY "El Cuspidor" was enjoyed by the staff of the Prairie, West Texas State Teachers student publication. Here's what Whitman Fish has to say in his exchange column: "Quite a number of papers this week, sent out an April Fool edition. Of all though, the Texas Tech presentation gets the prize poetry. Their 'El Cuspidor' wins by several lengths, and it's a dandy, doctor, really a dandy. If anyone wishes to see it, kindly drop by the office and your request will be granted." Thanks, Whitman, for the nice remarks.

Via the St. Edwards Echo we learn of a novel collection being started at Texas State College for Women at Denton. When the boy friend at home neglects to write, or begins going with someone else, his watchful maiden a way at school adds his photo to the roguish gallery of ex-sweethearts. The collection to date fills an entire room.

The University of Paris is offering something new in the way of courses. It is a study in "Appreciation of Rare Wines and Liquors." The sixth semester course is "Men are just as dumb as women," asserts Art Director George Opydyke at Purdue university.

Reporters at Columbia university by questioning people on the street discovered that five out of six persons think college students are loafers. The sixth spoke Chinese.

When a student drops a course, that's not news. When a professor drops a course, that is usually news. A professor at Oklahoma A. and M. last week announced that he would discontinue one of his courses. The only explanation he would give was, "The class is lousy." —Utah Chronicle.

If the research now being carried on by a professor at Johns Hopkins university (Baltimore, Md.) is successful, automobile radios will no longer fade out at certain localities.

RECALLING THE PAST

By E. D. FYKE

EIGHT YEARS AGO—

Tech is to have a paid Y. M. C. A. secretary on the campus with the opening of school next fall.

The Dereszke singers and Will Rogers entertained a large audience at the High school auditorium last night.

The Tech musicians were a great hit over the radio. The band and the Toreador received many telegrams of appreciation from all parts of the nation. The program was given over the Star-Telegram station, WBAP.

About 15 geology students, accompanied by Dr. Leroy T. Patton, will leave June 8 for central and western parts of New Mexico where they will make first hand studies in structural geology.

Tech students, it is time that you voted for the most valuable man on the Matador squad. Anderson Bros. are giving a trophy to the best man on the team.

The fame of Tech and its president, Dr. Paul W. Horn, dressed in a cotton suit manufactured in the textile department, was spread over the nation. Newspapers all over the country published the picture together with a write-up.

With the entire student body, faculty and Lubbock citizens in convocation at 11 Monday, Lubbock will be host to a legislative group, who are here to determine the college's appropriation for next year.

girs appreciate parlor dates." Sybil Poteet: "If I had any assurance the boy isn't a sponger I don't mind a Dutch date."

Charlotte Ratliff: "They are all right, if and when and where and who and why and how, etc., etc."

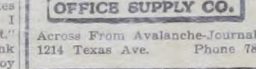

Robert Strickland: "I think they should be in vogue and someday will."

Russell Wilkinson: "It sounds good to me; it sounds like a new deal."

Jack Nowlins: "It might be embarrassing the first week, but I think it is a good idea."

Matadors Battle Sul Ross Lobos On Local Gridiron Tonight

Spring Exhibition Game Starts At Eight O'Clock Under Tech Field Lights

Coach Cawthon To Use Veterans Part Of Time As Entire Squad Parades Against Graves' Team

TEXAS TECH'S only spring exhibition football game tonight with the Sul Ross Lobos gives fans a preview of the 1935 grid machine but to Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith it will afford an opportunity to study the positions that are causing the mentors no little worry.

Not only will the contest be a preview, but there's to be a final showing, too. A full team of 1934 regulars are ready and Cawthon announces that the bunch are to play part of the game. Those who make their last stand for the Scarlet and Black tonight are Captain "Moon" Martin, Larry Priddy, Woodrow Wilson, "Josh" Owen, G. B. Morris, Eraxton Gilmore, Adrian Clark, Gwynn Dowell, "Esar" Curfman, Marion Harris, Ed McKeever and D. M. McElroy. They have been assisting the coaches with training and running signals together this week.

Squad On Parade

Along with his host of stars, a number of sophomores and juniors are scheduled to face the Teachers. The Tech mentors plan to parade the entire squad in the only skirmish of the training season.

Coach B. C. Graves brings an experienced and heavy squad to the Hub City Thursday to tangle with the Matadors. A forward wall averaging 186-pounds per man and a shifty secondary of 170-pounds to the player starts tonight. Most of the starters have a year of varsity competition behind them.

Bo Williams, graduate manager of athletics states that student activity tickets will be honored. Tickets are on sale at J. and J. Sportings Goods company downtown and may be obtained there until noon today for 50 cents. At the field tonight the admission is 75 cents.

al at the theatre they found a huge man blocking the pathway. His only weapon was a blackjack two feet long, but the students quickly disbanded when Jack Torrance stepped forward to stop their rush.

Back to the stadium! Upon entering the gate our attention was again focussed on Torrance as he amused a group of admirers. He attempted to clear the beam at four feet. He made it all right but fell upon the cane and rolled into the sawdust pit as the observers laughed.

In his cocky manner (he realizes his importance and stunts like a turkey gobbler) he picked up the shot and tossed it about 50 feet with very little effort after this incident.

LOOKING in the direction where the weight stirred up a cloud of dust we noticed a thin-clad coming down the cinder path. His smoothness and evenness of stride "pelled" Hardin. A smile covered his face as he broke the tape in front of Coach Moore who complimented the spikester after giving the "thumbs" Hardin time.

HIS Majesty, King Football, ruler of all Tech sports, again ascends his throne tonight. Coaches Cawthon and Smith send their potential '35 grid machine against the Sul Ross Lobos. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock under the arcs of Matador field.

Along with the many attractions that have been secured for the summer coaching school, Peter Willis has run into a hree-ring circus in Bernie Moore, Louisiana State football and track coach, and his va famous bulls of the cinder path, Glenn Slats' Hardin and Jack Torrance.

Jack Torrance in the "Empire of the Kingfish" we saw the track stars perform and each is a one-man show within himself. Hardin holds the world's record in the 400-meter hurdles of 5:4 while the "Bayou Behemoth" threw the 16-pound weight 57 feet, 1 5-32 inches for a similar record.

AFTER viewing Huey Long in all his glory, we decided to see the other celebrities that the campus had to offer. So off we strolled to the stadium. However, we had seen the "Man Mountain" the night previous.

Here's how it happened. Downtown we observed a number of L. S. U. cadets forming to "crash" a show. Being a stranger in those parts and possessing a rather inquisitive instinct, we followed the group. Much to their disappointment—and ours—upon their arriv-

Golfers Face Mustangs At Country Club

Langston's Team Is Host To Southern Methodist Saturday Afternoon

Although ineligibility has played havoc with their chances, Coach Lonnie Langston pits his Texas Tech golfers against Southern Methodist university Saturday on the Country Club course. The single matches in the first intercollegiate meet for the Techsters start at 9 o'clock.

Want Large Gallery "We are especially anxious to secure a large gallery for the first meet," Coach Langston stated. There will be no charges for the matches.

The Tech team has been practicing on the Country Club links this week in an effort to sharpen their irons before taking on the Mustangs.

With scholastic standing keeping some of the topnotchers from competing as well as freshmen not being allowed to play, Coach Langston is undecided about the team to represent Tech. The local entry will consist of four players selected from the following: Captain Al Ray Cooper, the only carry over from last year's squad, Jack Quinlan, Maurice Huggitt, Robert Hale, John Bell and Glenn Stephenson. Cooper was named captain by Langston this week.

Gore Leads Visitors Captain Jackie Gore, football star, as well as outstanding golfer, leads his visiting stick wielders. The Mustangs are strong contenders for the Southwestern conference title, receiving their lone setback at the hands of the Texas Longhorns last week.

struction of the cinder path. The same type of instruction awaits those seeking education in other departments.

Dorm Teams Tie; Treenary Stars For First Floor

Larry Treenary's bat banged out a couple of timely hits Tuesday afternoon to bring the dormitory first floor nine from behind and tie the third floor entry, 5-5. The first floor gardener connected with Carpenter's speed ball sending it far into left field for a round trip in the third stanza, scoring Gill and Davis ahead of him. This knotted the count at 4-all.

Treenary Again

After this third stanza rally, the first floor pushed across a tally in the fifth to take the lead. But again Treenary's bat cracked to put the third floor back in the game. He singled, stole second and third bases and crossed the plate on a bingle.

Junior Prom Will Be Held Saturday Night In Gymnasium

Emma Smith To Be Crowned Queen By Class President

Five Girls Are In Queen's Court; Largent's Band Is To Furnish Music

At a modernistic altar featuring class colors and spring, Emma Smith of Childress will be crowned queen of the annual formal junior prom by Robert Harding, class president, Saturday evening at 9:45 o'clock in the gymnasium. Miss Smith, who was elected by popular vote in the junior class April 8, will be escorted by Mike Fowler.

This annual affair, given by members of the junior class, is in honor of seniors, who, with their dates will be guests.

Five Girls In Court
Members of the queen's court will be Geraldine Wicker of Slaton, escorted by Jack Nowlin; Pauline Yeager of Lubbock, escorted by Marcus Halsey; Evelyn Sloan of Crowell, escorted by Cecil Ayers; Genell Stovall of Floydada, escorted by Chesley Sullivan; Helen Eastwood of Lubbock, escorted by Jack Brown and Martha Jernigan of Childress, escorted by Jim Lindsey.

The girls will wear organdies and mousseline-de-soie of pastel shades. The boys will be dressed in brown and white flannel ensembles.

Pages in the court will be little Mary Louise Breedlove and Mary Frances Robertson, who also will tapdance in honor of the newly crowned queen.

After the coronation a grand march and dancing will follow. Music will be furnished by Logan Largent's orchestra of Plainview.

Nancy Faver and Lewis Walker will do a special ballroom dance number.

Guests Listed
Guests at the dance will be the two class faculty sponsors, Miss Ruth Pirtle and Ralph Martig, their dates, Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Knapp, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Gordon, Mrs. Mary W. Doak, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Leidigh and Miss Margaret W. Weeks.

Bids for the dance will be $1 for dates and $1.25 for stags. They may be obtained from Leonard Curfman, Evelyn Sloan, Dixie Anderson or Harding.

Travis Rash of Aspermont, visited his home last week-end.

New Officers Are Installed By DFD

New officers of the D. F. D. club were installed at last week's club meeting in the home of Josephine Powell. These officers will serve a year, beginning with the remainder of this school year.

Installation was held for the re-elected president and vice-president, Janet Hambricht and Lillian Parrish, respectively; Mildred Houston, business manager; Betsy Wilson, secretary; Maurine Alexander, rush captain; Laura Belle Underwood, parliamentarian and Linda Treadwell, reporter.

Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, sponsor, was present.

Dramatic Club Presents Play At Kiwanis Meet

Charles Maedgen and Eileen Grave Heineman, members of Sock and Buskin club, presented "The Power of Suggestion," by Stokes, before members of the Kiwanis club at their weekly noon luncheon meeting, Thursday, April 18, at the Lubbock hotel.

Programs are being presented each Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock in room 202 of the administration building by members of the speech department. Each senior speech major has charge of directing and presenting one program.

Methodist Group To Elect Officers Sunday Morning

Clay Thompson and Earl Glover of Raymondville are candidates for the office of presidency of the First Methodist Wesleyan Student association. Election will be in general assembly Sunday morning.

Other candidates and their offices, submitted by the nominating committees last Sunday, are as follows: Arthur Earl Gamble and Pauline Hawthorne for secretary, John Pierce and Douglas Adams for treasurer, Wilena Nelson and Margaret Hess for worship chairman, Elaine Caveneas and Lyle Donaldson for Epworth League chairman, Helen Lehmsberg and Mary Howell for recreation chairman, Dollie Clements and George Dupree for study chairman, Milton Adams and Marian Hurnance for publicity chairman.

Vote By Ballot
The candidate receiving the majority of votes will be president or chairman and the other will be vice-president or assistant chairman. Voting will be by ballot.

Members of the nominating committee consisted of the president, Claude Brown, E. F. Jackson, director of education at the church, Dollie Clements, Claude Francis, Lloyd Glover and Josephine Powell.

Out-going officers are Brown, president; T. H. Stewart, vice-president; Ruth McGee, secretary; Ralph Brock, treasurer; Paton Price, worship chairman; Lloyd Glover, League chairman; Josephine Powell, recreation chairman; Madeline Neves, publicity chairman.

Alfred Riley went to his home in Fort Worth last week-end.

E. B. Grimes former Tech student, now in University of Texas visited on the campus last week.

Dramatics Will Be Topic For Forum Discussion

"Dramatics" will be the subject for discussion at the meeting of the Fireside Forum in the lounge of the women's hall Sunday at 2 p. m.

The program committee is composed of Miss Ruth Pirtle, Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, Mrs. James G. Allen, Hermona Shadle and Sue Michie, members of the Forum.

Senior girls who are to be hostesses are: Murvel Rankin, Katherine Rose, Ruth Rutledge, Marjorie Scott, Gertrude Samson, Loraine Sears, Mary Lucy Shannon, Frances Snyder and Weta Spyles.

Plank Discusses Future Conditions At 'Y' Meet

"What Next?" was the subject of a discussion led by Professor E. H. Plank before members of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. at Seaman hall Sunday afternoon. He discussed the political lineup and social conditions of the future.

Eleven were present. The associations will sponsor one more Sunday afternoon meeting and one more dormitory mixer, it was announced.

Mildred Blanton went to her home in Claude last week-end.

Delegates Tell Of Journalism Meet

Three delegates to the Southwestern Journalism congress and Southwestern Students' Press club meeting at Baton Rouge were speakers at a meeting of the Texas Tech Press association Monday evening.

These were Cecil Horne, Lomer Nelson and Jim Lindsey. Each spoke on various phases of the trip in general.

The club will hold its annual spring dance at a date yet to be decided, the social committee announced. All members of the club are urged to pay their spring semester dues, which will serve as a ticket to the dance, which will be held at Seaman hall. Members of the committee are Ruth Hurnance, Pauline Coe and Josephine Powell.

Katherine Klett, formerly a Tech student now of the University of Texas, visited her parents here during the holidays.

Merle and Stella Green visited their home in Levelland last week-end.

Burgess Dixon visited relatives in Big Spring during the Easter holidays.

Home Ec-Aggie Party Is Postponed Indefinitely

The Home Economics club-Aggie club entertainment, scheduled for this evening, has been indefinitely postponed because of the conflicting Texas Tech-Sul Ross football game.

The arrangement committee, headed by Mary Elizabeth Stanford, will remain in charge, the girls' club president, Helen Frances Eiland, said. Other members of the committee are Evalene Hol-

Robert Overton, former Tech student, visited on the campus last week.

Martha Gholson, former student, visited her parents here during the holidays.

Burnice Walker visited his home in Littlefield over the week-end.

Reporter Sees Kingfish Long While Attending Journalism Congress

Thumbnail Sketches And Impressions Of Huey Are Given

WHILE attending the Southwest Journalism Congress in Baton Rouge, La., I saw the Kingfish. Wherever I went Huey was the chief topic of conversation just as he is the chief source of copy for the front page. Not even our whopping stories about West Texas sandstorms could edge out the Kingfish and his deeds. After all Huey is the Long and short of it in old Louisiana with emphasis on Long. The Mississippi may be that Father of Waters but Huey Long is the King of Louisiana.

Asks His Own Questions
I didn't interview the Kingfish but who can? Huey asks his own questions and answers them in his own fashion—in typical Long style. He looked just as I knew he would. He talked and acted just as I knew he would. There is only one Huey Long.

It was noon. Two thousand L. S. U. cadets were to pass in review on the parade grounds. Dignitaries and high officials of state, attended by the Diamond Jubilee celebration of Louisiana State university, were to sit in the reviewing stand. The Italian ambassador, Signor Rosse, arrived and was accorded a many-gun salute. Then the Kingfish "brezed in" unexpectedly. The band struck up "Every Man a King," which Huey wrote himself. Who was this Italian guy anyway to be accorded such honors. The King, nattily dressed and with a sailor straw perched jauntily upon his flaming red hair and escorted by four burly bodyguards, elbowed his way through the crowd and pushed to the front row of the reviewing stand. All the seats were occupied. A man stood up and gave Huey his seat. It was Governor Allen of Louisiana.

Kingfish Is Cocky
After the parade the senator was basted through a long lane of cheering people. Cameras were focused. Necks were craned. He acknowledged the applause by clapping his hands above his head in the manner of a prizefighter in the ring answering the cheers and jeers of the mob. Yes, the Kingfish is cocky.

That afternoon the 120-piece L. S. U. band gave a concert in the Greek theatre. The Dictator of the South sat among the band members and patted his foot as they blared "Tiger Rag." You can't accuse Huey of being a Scotchman. Whatever he does, he does on a lavish scale. A few months ago, he brought a famous jazz band leader, whom you've heard over the radio, from New Orleans to direct the University band. Yes, the Big Boy won't have anything but the best.

"Everything On Me"
After the concert Long wandered over to the Huey P. Long Field House, which he built, followed by an admiring and curious throng. "Everything is on me," shouted the Kingfish. Two plate glass windows were shattered in the scramble for cigars, cigarettes, candies, drinks, et cetera. Huey cheerfully paid the $160 bill and went on his way. This is his usual procedure, every time he visits the campus. I was informed. No wonder he is popular.

Highways, public buildings and bridges and Huey can't be spoken of apart in the Pelican state; they go together like graft and politicians. But that's all right too down there. You can't find anyone who won't give the Kingfish credit for everything he has done. A smart guy, they all say. He has to be to do the things he has done. But it is a different story on the L. S. U. campus. Even the freshmen aren't so sure that Uncle Huey P. is such a nice guy. Long owes much of his unpopularity on the University campus to his censorship of The Reveille, student newspaper, last fall. Most of the staff resigned, several enrolling in the University of Missouri. Grace Williamson, the present editor, resigned with

Nearly Fifty Instructors Attend Annual Meeting On Tech Campus

Dr. Fred W. Sparks, instructor of mathematics, was elected chairman of the Texas section of the Mathematical association of America in its annual meeting Saturday. Lester R. Ford, Rice Institute, was elected vice-chairman; and Nat Edmonson, Texas A. & M. college, permanent secretary. The office was made permanent by vote Saturday.

Nearly 50 instructors, from about 12 Texas colleges and universities attended meetings, which included papers and addresses by instructors.

About 150 persons attended a barbecue in the college pavilion at noon given by the Lubbock chamber of commerce for instructors attending the meeting and the Texas section meeting of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education.

Both meetings will be held at the same time next year at Texas A. & M. college.

rest but returned to accept the editorship.

Owens The President
But everything the University has it owes to Huey. He owns everything from the president to the football coach. The name should be changed to Huey P. Long university. A few years ago Long applied for an honorary degree at Tulane university, New Orleans, and was refused. "You can go straight to Hell," he was reported to have told officials. "I'll build a university of my own." And he did. He acquired a tract of land at Baton Rouge and moved the university to the new site. And a dream university began to take form. Eight new buildings are to be built this summer.

Last fall he sent the entire cadet corps and the band to Nashville for the Vanderbilt-Louisiana football game. Next fall he says he is going to send them to New York City.

The story is told that when "Hoey" decided to build a swimming pool at L. S. U., he secured the dimensions of the largest college swimming pool in the United States and built his one inch longer and one inch wider so it would be the biggest.

"L. S. U. is a school for everybody," declares the Kingfish. "I propose to do away with entrance examinations. Why, even I couldn't enter the university the way it is."

Vivacious Evelyn Oaks Comes Here With Noted Band

Vivacious, brunet Evelyn Oaks heard many a round of applause from back of the footlights in Public Theatres and a New Orleans' Hotel Roosevelt before she joined Herman Waldman and his orchestra as star vocalist.

Coming To Lubbock
Now she's coming to Lubbock and will appear at the Auditorium as Herman Waldman and his band of syncopators play there Tuesday night, April 30.

Applauded by Memphis throngs, she made her debut with Waldman's band at the grand opening of Hotel Peabody's new Moroccan Roof last spring. Since then she has steadily added to her laurels as her dancing and listening public has multiplied.

Other Features
Waldman comes directly to Lubbock after an extended engagement at the Cosmopolitan hotel in Denver. He has broadcasted over NBC while there. Before going to Denver, he completed engagements at the Rice hotel in Memphis, Tenn. and the Baker in Dallas.

Besides Miss Oaks, Waldman brings several other specialty artists. Gene Harvey, star vocalist and singer of romantic ballads, appears in many numbers alone. Rex Preis is featured on the trumpet. He is also a member of the Ramblers trio, which has charmed both dancing and listening audiences wherever Waldman and his band have appeared.

ways does what he promises to do. He hasn't failed them yet. No question about it, he controls the strings of Louisiana and the people are his puppets. He is the "All-Mighty."

Dean Adams Is Society Head

Fifth Annual Meeting Of SPEE Ends Saturday With Barbecue

Dean O. V. Adams, of the division of engineering, was elected president of the Texas section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education at the close of its fifth annual two-day meeting on the campus Saturday.

C. W. Crawford, Texas A. & M. college, was elected vice-president and chairman of the program committee and J. A. Orr, Texas A. & M. college, was elected secretary-treasurer. The section accepted an invitation to meet at Texas A. & M. college next year.

Ninety-Four Register
Ninety-four instructors and wives from eleven universities and colleges and from Lubbock and Amarillo high schools registered. The section resolved to invite the national society of SPEE to meet in Texas in 1936.

H. C. Spencer, Texas A. & M. college, was elected chairman of the program committee of the drawing division of the section and C. E. Rowe, University of Texas, was elected secretary. C. L. Svensen, Lubbock, and Keaton, East Texas State Teachers college, were also elected to the committee. Svensen was elected drawing division correspondent from Texas to send in material to the national SPEE journal.

New executive committeemen appointed were L. V. Uhrig, Rice; C. E. Rowe, University of Texas; and M. R. Rode, Texas A. & M.

Large Number Continue Cage Practice Daily

Candidates Display Vigor And Determination Of Winter Training

The reversal of time for practice sessions means nothing to the Tech sharpshooters as they continued their spring workouts under Coach Virgil Ballard and his graduate assistants. The sessions are gradually taking on the appearance of winter workouts as the candidates display the same determination and vigor that characterizes their winter labors.

Stars Assist
Former Matador stars are assisting the Tech mentor in the training work. Will Gilmore and Larry Fridy, co-captains of last year's squad, Lena Weaver and Alvin Crews, former co-captain, put the prospects through drills every afternoon.

Houston "Red" Wester has been issued equipment and plans to enter competition again next year. The carrot-topped excels failed to hit his stride the first part of last campaign and ineffectually kept the Plainview lad out the last half. With his experience, Wester is due to make the other pivot candidates hustle to hold the position.

Candidates Listed
Varsity lettermen and reserves working daily are: Hugh Snoggrass, Leroy Crews, Russell Wilkinson, Judge Garrett, Houston Wester, and Robert Hale.

Fish lettermen and reserves include: Maurice Winton, Billy Keiley, Richard Patterson, Robert Case, Lang Wagner, John Henderson and W. M. Jeggors.

Stock Phrases

Dr. A. J. Bahr: So what?
Dr. Robert Brittain: I mean to stay.
Dean J. M. Gordon: And so that's that.
Dr. R. G. Sidwell: I'll have to look that up.
Julien Paul Blitt: I'm coming to my point. You're scratching your head on the wrong side.
"Just Too Slow"
Miss Josephine Looney: Girls, the thing is, you're just too slow.
W. E. Street: This here line.
Dr. Albert Barnett: I don't want to get personal, but my little girl...
Miss A. A. True: Yes... Yes.
Mrs. Johnny Langford: Talk a little louder, please.
The stock phrase of the campus best may be worthy of mention. It is, as every girl knows, "You have a run in your stocking."

Youthful Life-Term Convict Known As "Old Grad"; May Get Diploma Yet

Lawrence, Kansas, April 25.—He's been known for some time at the University of Kansas as an "old grad," but he still wants his diploma and may get it.
He is Edgar C. Park, youthful Arizona life-term convict who may get a parole and matriculate at the university here.

Subscribed To Annual

For several years students at the university had noticed the interest Park took in campus affairs—sending for photographs of campus affairs—sending for photographs of campus events and subscribing regularly to the "Jayhawker," the college annual. He always had his mail addressed to "Box B, Florence, Arizona," so the students assumed he was an alumnus of the university gone to Arizona for his health.

Finally, this year, Miss Elizabeth Shearer, secretary of the Jayhawker, wrote him a letter asking him about himself. He revealed he was in the penitentiary, and instead of being an "old grad" was still in his early twenties.

Wanted To Play Football

He took a year off after high school to put on more weight so he could be a football player when he got to college, he said. He went to Arizona, got in bad when a filling station was held up and its attendant shot, and received the life sentence. He was only 17 then.

In his letter he said that he had a good chance for a parole and that if he got it he probably would come to the university and perhaps realize his ambition to play football.

Ruth and Ralph Douglas were in Sayre, Oklahoma, the past weekend where they attended a 5-year reunion of their high school graduating class.

Miss Elizabeth West, Tech librarian, is in Austin attending the sixth biennial meeting of the Texas Library association. She will appear on the program.

Helen Allen of Tahoka visited her parents there last week-end.

Delegates Go To Convention

Leidigh And Davis Go To National AWS Meet In Indiana

Katherine Leidigh and Emily Davis, the new and retiring presidents of AWS, are attending the National AWS convention at Bloomington, Indiana April 24 to 27. The theme of the convention is "Why College?"
The delegates planned to arrive in Bloomington April 23. They will return Sunday.

National conventions of the AWS are held every other year. Regional conventions are held in alternate years.

Four delegates from Tech attended the AWS regional convention at the University of Arizona in Tucson last year. They were Kathleen Jennings, Emily Davis, Katherine Leidigh and Sue Michie. In 1933 Kathleen Jennings attended the national AWS convention at Cornell university, Ithaca, New York.

Women of the college at a recent convocation voted to sign over part of their breakage deposits to pay expenses of the delegates to the convention this year.

Engineers' Work Shown At S.P.E.E. Convention

Freshmen engineering drawing work was on display from the following schools during the S. P. E. E. convention: El Paso School of Mines, Rice Institute, Texas A. & M., Texas university, and Texas Tech.

A part of the drawings entered in the national S. P. E. E. drawing contest last year at Cornell university in Ithica, N. Y., including the first, second and third place winners in the various groups, were also on display with Prof. C. C. Perryman in charge. These drawings will be here for several days and may be seen in the en-

Dr. E. L. Scott, one of the few men holding a Ph.D. degree in animal husbandry, visited Tech and inspected the agriculture department. Dr. Scott is associate professor of animal husbandry at Arizona university.

Varied Program

Lectures, business sessions, symposia, presentations of technical papers, luncheons and dinners will fill the program for the first three days. The fourth day will be devoted to field trips. One trip will be to Vandailier national monument, which is the same as Frijoles canyon, the home of the famous cliff dwellers.

This year's convention has the most extensive program scheduled during its 15 years of organization, according to Doctor Studhalter, member of the executive committee. Tech was host to last year's meet-ing.

"Sure, enjoy yourself," said Jim. "It's a ding good cigarette."

I was working way late at the office one night and ran out of cigarettes. When Jim the watchman came through I tackled him for a smoke.

"Sure," says Jim, and he handed over a pack of Chesterfields. "Go ahead, Mr. Kent, take three or four."

Jim said he'd smoked a lot of cigarettes in his time, but he'd put Chesterfield up in front of any of 'em when it came to taste.

... "and they ain't a bit strong either," is the way Jim put it.

That was the first Chesterfield I ever smoked. And I'm right there with him, too, when he says it's a ding good cigarette.
