Prairie View A&M ex-students

Expelled students to talk

A press conference will be held at 1:30 p.m. today in the Mesa Room of the University Center with two expelled students from Prairie View A&M. The students will discuss "The Due Process of Disciplinary Misbehavior on University Campuses" to highlight the conclusion of Student Government Week.

Quincy Brooks and Leonard Baker are two of over 100 students expelled from Prairie View A&M for participating in campus riots. Their visit is in accordance with Student Government Week activities that include discussions on all areas of campus life by various leaders on campus.

The three-day conference is designed to increase student involvement in government affairs, and it is hoped that through the speakers students can gain an insight as to how the various services on campus effect student government.

Tuesdays action featured a discussion of drug clinic services at Tech; a panel discussion on how to make the student government more effective; and Mike Anderson, former Student Association president, speaking on the student's role in state and national government.

Also, Rick Hurst, Student Association attorney general, presented discussion on academic recruiting; Polly Kin-nibrough, A&S senator, spoke about the American Civil Liberties Union; and Jim Davis, editor of The University Daily told how The University Daily can and does effect student government.

Today's activities start at 10:30 a.m. with representatives from the Freshman Council discussing freshman hours. At 11:30 a.m., Jim Lynch, president of Men's Residence Council will discuss dorm problems.

Dennis Graham, Student Association vice-president will present the structure and purpose of the Student Senate at 12:30 p.m.

Ellen McDaniel, A&S senator will speak on academics at 1:30 p.m., and a

Vietnam involvement to continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday the United States will keep air and naval power in Southeast Asia, under the long-range Nixon doctrine, after American ground troops were withdrawn.

Asked what Vietnamization and the Nixon doctrine envision in U.S. air support after the U.S. troop pullout, Laird told a news conference:

"I would envision that the United States presence as far as Asia is concerned, as "I would envision that the United States presence as far as Asia is concerned, as far as naval forces are concerned, as far as air forces are concerned, that this would be part of the realistic deterrent which we will maintain in Asia...

"To say that we would not have a presence in Asia under this realistic deterrent strategy ... would be very misleading."

Thus Laird was more explicit than previously on intentions to maintain such power in Asia beyond the Indochina war.

At the same time, he repeated his forecast that the United States will complete the shifting of combat responsibilities in Vietnam from American troops to the South Vietnamese army this summer.

However, he said, as he has before, combat forces will remain in Vietnam to protect what he called "the American presence," meaning air and logistics elements supporting the South Vietnamese.

By air and naval forces

Once again, Laird predicted that the controversial South Vietnamese ground incursion into Laos will prove to have been a success, when an analysis is made in September and October whether the enemy is hurting for supplies.

Laird said current attacks launched by the North Vietnamese in the northern and central region of South Vietnam are being carried out by North Vietnamese troops which were not involved in battling South Vietnamese invaders in Laos.

And the North Vietnamese, he said, are using ammunition supplies which they already had available before the South Vietnamese interrupted the southward flow of material in February and March.

In general Laird indicated a belief that the North Vietnamese can mount localized attacks but that "the capability for sustained attacks in that area is not great."

On other subjects:

-Laird said there is evidence that the Russians have "gone forward with sophisticated weapons shipments and the establishment of a naval base in the Mediterranean area." This was the first official confirmation of reports that the Russians have been building a base for their Navy in Egypt.

-The defense secretary said, in talking about cost increases in weaponry, that inflation has accounted for more than a 50 per cent boost.

-He said "I don't believe its appropriate for me to comment" on aspects of the trial of First Lt. William L. Calley Jr., convicted of murder in the My Lai Massacre case.

Special Olympics planned for Lubbock's retarded

Saturday mentally retarded children from the Lubbock area will be given the opportunity to compete in athletics. The occasion is the 1971 regional South Plains Special Olympics from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Tech track.

Over 200 entries are expected from a 100 mile radius of Lubbock. Entries must have been eligible for, participated in or have graduated from special education classes, programs, special schools for the mentally retarded, or have been classified as mentally subfunctional.

The track meet will consist mainly of running events but there will also be a softball throw and a high jump event.

Winners of the meet, sponsored by the Lubbock State School, will go on to further competition at the state meet in Abilene. Winners there will go to the national meet.

The Special Olympics as a nationwide activity is sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., Foundation.

The purpose of the Olympics, said Jerry Wells, chairman of the publicity committee for the Lubbock event, is to give the mentally retarded children a chance to compete in athletics. "Research has shown that mentally retarded children are more cooperative and more receptive to teaching if they compete actively in athletics."

Ticket contributions of 50 cents are on sale at various shopping centers around the city and will be sold today through Friday in the University Center by members of Alpha Delta Sigma and Gamma Alpha Chi.

Money from tickets and donations will be used to send the winners to the state meet, with the balance to provide special recreational facilities and equipment at the Lubbock State School.

Donations can be sent in care of Volunteer Council for Lubbock State School, P.O. Box 5396, Lubbock, Texas, 79417.

Wells said they don't want people to just donate money but to come out and support the children. "It is important for people to support and cheer these children on. It will help them."

Tech advertising classes under the guidance of Dr. Seymour Rosenblatt have done much of the work involved in organizing the Olympics. The classes have done the publicity work, ticket sales and work in the meet itself.

The classes have gotten radio and television stations to make public service announcements on the Olympics. Tech coaches Jim Carlen and Gerald Myers and Lubbock Mayor Jim Granberry speak during the announcements.

The classes also had advertising put on 18 city buses and 26 Dr. Pepper trucks, along with messages on billboards and marquee throughout the city.

Fraternal and sororities at Tech helped raise over $500 in ticket sales last Saturday at shopping centers.

Wells said there was an urgent need for volunteers to help with 120 children from the school who will be spectators. The group would like to have a one-for-one supervision. Anyone who would like to help should contact Dr. Rosenblatt at 742-7120 for information.

Physical education majors from Tech will help run the track meet, acting as timers, starters and judges.

Hemphill-Wells department store had donated 200 shirts stenciled with Lubbock State School for the meet.

Profits from concession stands will go to the school.

State Department men on campus

A $1200 government grant will bring four State Department speakers to the Tech campus today.

The speakers are sponsored by ICASALS, Delta Phi Epsilon and Omega Delta Kappa. Tech is the only university to have the speakers for two consecutive years.

Visitors greeted in polite match

PEKING (AP) — Visiting U.S. table tennis players met a Chinese team Tuesday before 18,000 cheering enthusiasts, in a match that could be described as an exquisite display of Chinese tact and politeness to guests.

The Chinese regard themselves — and are regarded widely — as among the world's best table tennis players.

They could have fielded powerful players and humiliated their American guests. They didn't.

It turned out that the Chinese men won only by a score of 5 to 3 and the scrappy U.S. women's team bowed to the Chinese women 5 to 4.

"They played us in what they had billed as a friendly match, and I believe their selection of players and the match they played were unquestionably friendly, since they provided entertainment for thousands of people rather than trying to destroy us with a quick victory," said Graham B. Steenhoven, 59, of Detroit, president of the U.S. Table Tennis Association.

Committee fills vacant post

The Student Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday night settled the last vestiges of the controversial 1971 student senate elections by selecting Mrs. C. C. Candy Hall to fill the twice contested A&S seat.

After a 45 minute interview with Mrs. Hall and Miss Nancy Bowen, Senate Chairman Barry Brooks announced the committee selection.

The senate seat was first contested because of a mistake on the ballot.

The results of the run-off elections were then contested on grounds of illegal campaign methods by the winner, Fields.

Applications are now being accepted by the Judiciary Committee for a second vacant A&S seat. This is the seat vacated by Dennis Graham upon his election as vice president.

Sgt. receives ovation; Holt family gets funds

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Air Force Sgt. Robert L. Jones got a standing ovation Tuesday from the Texas Senate and a handshake from Gov. Preston Smith for his efforts in raising $30,000 to help a brother and sister in Austin.

Jones flew to Austin Monday night to present Gary Holt, 20, and his sister, Paula, 17, the funds he collected from servicemen at Phan Rang Air Base and other areas of Vietnam.

The Holts suffer from a kidney disease, acute familial nephritis, a hereditary ailment that requires frequent expensive treatments with an artificial kidney machine. They hope some day to have kidney transplants.

"On behalf of the Senate and the whole state we all congratulate you on your very unselfish act and your leadership," said Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes when Jones was presented to the Senate. "It makes us all feel very proud to be a part of a country that produces young men like you."

Jones and his wife, Norma, who lives in Turlock, Calif., were guests at a breakfast Tuesday given by the Austin Chamber of Commerce.

Tuesday night he was scheduled to have dinner with the Holt family. He will leave Austin for California Wednesday and the return trip to Vietnam.

In addition to the $30,000, Jones brought an abundance of paraphernalia to Gary and Paula, including one Australian bush hat, a Texas flag and a poster used in the money-raising campaign.

Jones also brought word that Gary had been made an honorary battalion commander at Phan Rang, that Paula had been named "Miss Phan Rang" and that both of them had been made permanent members of the 513th Engineer Battalion at Phan Rang. He also brought greetings from the Royal Australian Air Force.

A fund started at Tech has now netted approximately $1600 for the two Holts. Other colleges and universities are conducting similar campaigns hoping to lessen the burden on the family.

At the time the fund was begun nearly $20,000 was needed to pay medical expenses alone.

Donations are still being accepted in room 102 of the Journalism Building.

Letters to the editor

Haven't you learned yet?

In reply to Mr. Kerns' recent April 6, movie review of Zachariah, I was forced to come out of my shell of pacifism and make the first exception to my personal standing rule of never actively getting involved with the news media.

I will review Mr. Kerns' review beginning where he began; with the Firesign Theatre.

As he pointed out, the movie Zachariah was written by Firesign Theatre and Mr. Joe Massot. What he failed to recognize is the intense genius of the Firesign team. Their satire is all encompassing and at times deep enough and heavy enough to be brutal.

But not without due cause. Their wit is by far and away better developed and textured than that of Mr. Kerns. An example of this entertaining talent is shown in the scene in which Zachariah and Matthew ambush the Crackers, (Country Joe and the Fish) with the intention of joining the notorious band of singing outlaws.

that the dubbing engineer in the movie should be hanged.

Country Joe and the Fish, whom Kerns said were "simply tremendous" were in reality nothing more than an open slam to the "freak image". They were comical in the same way as the Three Stooges are comical, entertaining, but in a slap-stick sort of a way.

I wish

I am presently enrolled in a current events class which has offered outstanding speakers at each meeting.

The last two have been Negroes who've been truly outstanding people who've turned off the emotional questions and answered each rational question with scholarly, objective answers.

I only wish every one who has an interest in Black studies could have attended the rap sessions which followed the lectures.

Since Tech has no black professors, couldn't we get more visiting teachers from that group to convey their inspirations to Tech's students and faculty?

Engineer to speak

A Chicago engineer and political analyst, speaking Friday at Tech, will discuss "the only thing Americans have in common with one another at this time in history"—the right to vote.

RICHARD H. JACKSON

Richard H. Jackson, vice president of engineering for Gits Brothers Manufacturing Co. in Chicago, said his lecture will center around the potential impact of the 18-year-old's right to vote.

"Commonality" is the title of his lecture, one of a series on Contemporary Problems in American Society.

The lecture, which is free to the public, will take place at 7 p.m. Friday in Room 211 of the Electrical Engineering Building. The series is sponsored by the Graduate School and coordinated by the department of electrical engineering.

His major interest, Jackson said, is in helping to solve some of the nation's contemporary problems by motivating students "to want to take an active part in keeping our intended form of government in tact."

Jackson, an aeronautical engineer who helped design the Boeing 747 and the Sikorsky S61R helicopter, was a full partner and vice president of finance for Urban Data Services in Seattle, Wash., in 1968 when that firm was the political analyst for CBS in the Pacific Northwest.

The Movie Scene BY BILL KERNS

After all I've heard and read about THE NIGHT VISITOR I was disappointed to discover that the film is no better than those mysteries we used to watch on late-night television. Admittedly, the story is an intriguing one: a man is framed for a murder by his sister and her husband, the latter two having him committed to an insane asylum.

After two years have passed (and being perfectly sane all the while) he starts to escape from the asylum by night, revenge himself a few times over, and then return to his cell before morning. The perfect alibi. Max Von Sydow possesses the needed features, but it takes some time (practically the entire film length) to get used to seeing him running around in the snow in his underclothes.

This escape sequence is rather far-fetched, as is the "surprise" ending. And, even though Trevor Howard lends some maturity to the film through his small role as the police inspector, the acting altogether is not "bragging" material.

Henry Mancini's background score makes use of one sufficiently eerie theme, but this in itself is not enough to retain audience interest throughout the entire film. So when "The Night Visitor" comes to call, just bolt your door and go to sleep—and with any luck, he'll go home and put some clothes on.

A message to all you people with brand new color TVs: douse the lights and lock the door (or kindly call and give me your address)! Thursday night, absolutely everyone will be out looking for a comfortable place watch the Academy Awards the only program that everyone seems to disagree with, but absolutely nobody wants to miss. Set your dial on Channel 11 at 9 tomorrow evening and you'll be able to match wits with the academy in choosing the winners from the following categories.

BEST PICTURE: "Airport," "Five Easy Pieces," "Love Story," "MASH," and "Patton."

BEST ACTOR: Melvyn Douglas ("I Never Sang For My Father"), James Earl Jones ("The Great White Hope"), Jack Nicholson ("Five Easy Pieces"), Ryan O'Neal ("Love Story"), and George C. Scott ("Patton").

BEST ACTRESS: Jane Alexander ("The Great White Hope"), Glenda Jackson ("Women In Love"), Ali McGraw ("Love Story"), Sara Miles ("Ryan's Daughter"), and Carrie Snodgrass ("Diary Of A Mad Housewife").

BEST SUPPORTING ACTOR: Richard Castellano ("Lovers And Other Strangers"), Chief Dan George ("Little Big Man"), Gene Hackman ("I Never Sang For My Father"), John Marley ("Love Story"), and John Mills ("Ryan's Daughter").

BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS: Karen Black ("Five Easy Pieces"), Lee Grant ("The Landlord"), Helen Hayes ("Airport"), Sally Kellerman ("MASH"), and Maureen Stapleton ("Airport").

"They've done it again!" I can hear you from here—and I agree. Sure, the academy made some good choices, but they also missed the boat on more than one nomination. For instance, not even mentioned at all were "Catch-22," "Monte Walsh," or "Joe." Yet "Airport," probably the most overrated show of the year (successful, in my opinion, only because it was released at a time when the public was really starting to clamor for family entertainment), received no

Tech hosts experts today

The U.S. State Department's Bureau of Public Affairs will have a team of experts on the Tech campus today to aid Americans who want a better understanding of their nation's foreign policy.

Among the delegation will be Edward Abington, born in Lubbock and a former Tech student. He is now political officer for Lebanon and Jordan in the State Department's Bureau of Near Eastern and South Asian Affairs.

Members of the group will meet with government classes and with both undergraduate and graduate students.

The government department will host a coffee for the guests and faculty and students in government from 10:30 to 11 a.m.

The public is invited to meet less than 10 nominations...including one for best picture of the year! Let's face it: 1970 was not a vintage year for movies, but just offhand I can think of six films (The Great White Hope, "The Boys In The Band," "The Bird With The Crystal Plumage" and the three films I mentioned earlier) much more deserving than "Airport." Hell, I'd even give "Woodstock" a bid over "Airport."

As everyone probably knew by mid-summer, George C. Scott's portrayal of "Patton" won him a nomination. Scott has already stated that if he wins this year, he will not accept the Oscar (he pulled this stunt in 1961, but the academy doesn't seem to mind). I personally don't feel that he gave the best acting performance of the year.

As long as I'm griping, I don't understand O'Neal's nomination for "Love Story." Granted, he made the film successful, but he was nothing compared to Albert Finney in "Scrooge." The latter movie, I must admit, was terrible...but Finney was just tremendous. Peter ("Joe") Boyle was also disregarded by the voters. A travesty.

The "best actress" category had to be the hardest one to fill—but honestly, how could they choose Ali McGraw? She excels in "Love Story," only in parts, and this inconsistency should have dropped her from the members even voted. But then again, I wasn't exactly bowled over by Sara Miles in "Ryan's Daughter."

Little old Helen Hayes (who won an Academy Award back in 1931) hammed it up as a little old lady in "Airport." What do these people want to go along with their "brilliant" casting? Surely not an Oscar. Here I'm so upset that I won't even discuss my feelings on this and the fact that Mike ("Catch-22") Nichols was completely forgotten on the "best director" ballot.

"Patton" got 10 nominations; so did "Airport." But then again, last year "Anne Of The Thousand Days" won 12 nominations and what did it come away with? Maybe (I pray; I hope; I plead) lightning can strike twice...and close down any chances for "Airport" to receive any incoming votes.

My choices? Well, here's where I probably make some enemies. Out of the nominees that I've seen, I do not agree with most of the other critics I've read. My choice for best film is "Five Easy Pieces." Simply more to it than "Patton."

Jack Nicholson and Karen Black take by awards for best actor and best supporting actress, with Scott and Miss Grant being my respective second choices.

I can't see how they could award a finer performance by an actress than by giving it to Jane Alexander for "The Great White Hope." And I would personally give John Mills a slight nod over Richard Castellano for best supporting actor.

Bears' Brabham a one-man team

by Associated Press

Danny Brabham likes to run, jump and throw things and he doesn't like to sit around. Put that together and you have a one-man Baylor track team.

Brabham, a wiry 6-footer from Roswell, N.M., has carved a niche for himself as a long jumper with an all-American rating at the NCAA indoor meet and the longest outdoor leap of the season, 26 feet 2 inches.

LAST WEEKEND IN LUBBOCK, he jumped 26-7, but it may not be official because there was no wind gauge to determine if the leap was wind-aided. Brabham is shooting for 27 feet this week when he competes in the Kansas Relays.

Game called due to what?

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - It was a beautiful day for baseball with no trace of rain in sight.

But during the third inning of a high school game between the Edison Bears and the Fox Tech Buffaloes, the fields' automatic sprinklers came on and wouldn't shut off.

The game was postponed because of wet grounds.

But Brabham, only a sophomore, isn't satisfied to excel only in one event. He has to compete in six events to feel he's earning his scholarship.

"I competed in several events in high school because we didn't have enough people to go around," Brabham said. "I just don't like sitting in the stands watching everyone else competing. Besides, it's kind of fun going around and being able to do a little of everything."

BRABHAM ALSO COMPETES in the pole vault, where his best leap is 14-9; the high jump, 6 feet, 4 inches; javelin, 187 feet 4 inches; the mile relay, with a 48.5 best time; and has competed in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles several times.

But there is method in Brabham's hyper-activity. He's aiming for the 1976 Olympics as a decathlon performer.

"I'm hoping to make the Olympics in '72 in the long jump," he said. "Then, I hope to make it in the decathlon by 1976. That will give me time to improve in the events I'm not too good in right now."

Brabham finished second to Southern Cal's Henry Hines in the NCAA national indoor championship with a leap of 25-2 3/4.

Brabham credits competing in all the other events as helping with his steady improvement in the long jump.

"I KNOW running on the mile relay has helped my speed," he said. "Competing in all these events helps keep me strong and increases my endurance."

Brabham proved his point in Lubbock last weekend by turning in a 48.8 leg on Baylor's mile relay team after already competing in four other events.

Ump files suit

NEW YORK (AP) - "I'll keep trying until I'm 80," Bernice Gora, the Long Island housewife who is determined to be a professional umpire, vowed Monday after slapping organized baseball with a $25 million damage suit.

The suit was filed in New York State Supreme Court.

Football vets retain mastery over frosh

Raider veterans have retained their mastery over the talented new crop of sophomores-to-be in recent spring training workouts for next fall's football hopefuls.

Last year's stars, such as quarterback Charles Napper, running backs Doug McCutchen and Miles Langehenning, and receivers Johnny Odom and Robbie Best have managed to hold on to their jobs since spring work began.

The best of the youngsters, such as James Mosley, Jimmy Carmichael, Joe Barnes and Kenneth Wallace, have been making spirited bids to uproot the vets from their positions. Mosley and Barnes are working in the Raider backfield, while Carmichael is showing signs of prowess at quarterback and Wallace is coming on strong as a defensive cornerback.

The Raiders are now working out Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays only, with scrimmages each Saturday at 2 p.m. at Jones Stadium.

Jim Carlen is currently sticking with last year's plan of alternating halfbacks and right now the top four are Langehenning, McCutchen, Mosley and Barnes. However, the likes of Johnny Kleiner, Pat Rogers, Benny Akin and a host of others are right behind the first four.

The other positions are not so strong, but the only trouble spot appears to be the defensive line. Tim Schafner is looking good, according to Carlen, at one tackle spot and Mike Henthorne is currently working at the other tackle.
