Alumni Group Make Changes For Program

Dean Gordon Arranges
Convocation At Gym
November 11

AS the program for the Texas Tech Decennial celebration, November 9-11, becomes more definite, various changes have been made in the procedure by heads of the Ex-Students and Alumni association.

The arrangements committee met Sunday afternoon in the home of Dr. Bradford Knapp, college president, with Mart G. Pederson, chairman, presiding. Mrs. Wilbur Pearson was appointed chairman of the banquet committee, composed of Misses Geraldine Clewell and Dorothy Rylander and Messrs. Culliver Hill and James Toothaker. The affair is to be Monday noon, November 11.

Gordon is chairman. Dean James A. Gordon is chairman of a committee to arrange for a convocation Monday morning, November 11, at 8:30 o'clock. Dr. Knapp said. Dean Margaret W. Weeks of the division of home economics and Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the government department, are other members of the committee.

Invitations are to be mailed to presidents of all Texas colleges and universities and to alumni. Dr. Knapp stated. Governors James V. Alfred and Clyde Tingley of Texas and New Mexico, respectively, are expected to answer invitations soon.

The committee decided Sunday afternoon to omit the German dance, scheduled for Monday morning. There will be dances Saturday and Monday evenings, Pederson said.

Last week, the association appointed three campus men for the purpose of obtaining cooperation from the 54 campus and social clubs of the campus. Leon Ince, president of the student body, Marcus "Hop" Halsey, president of (See ALUMNI GROUP, page 4)

Graduate Hurt In Auto Wreck

Redmon Leaves Lubbock
Sanitarium Monday;
Condition Better

Among seven persons who nearly escaped critical injuries and death in a head-on automobile collision in 2300 block of Broadway Sunday night was Edward Redmon, graduate of the geology department last year.

The former '28 student, who has employment in Hobbs, New Mexico, received injuries consisting of laceration on the left forehead and body bruises.

Following the wreck Redmon was rushed to the Lubbock sanitarium for treatment. He was removed to the home of Dixie Anderson Monday afternoon. Doctors report his condition as "very satisfactory."

A 1935 Ford coupe, driven eastward by Redmon, collided with an automobile travelling in the opposite direction when he was forced to drive around a car in the middle of the street.

WIND thru the SALLYPORT

SALLY sure enjoyed rush week. The DANCES were swell and SALLY can't decide which CLUB was the best HOST. It is a GREAT improvement over OPEN HOUSES of former years. The FISH girls and boys are GOING to find it HARD to settle DOWN and STUDY.

The CENTAUR BARN dance was SWELL. The GALS sure looked CUTE. "SHORTY" SLOAN gave VENT to her IRE at the LOS CAM dance. HOP HALSEY finally CONDESCENDED to attend a CAM hop. CRYSTELLE SCUDDER, who keep HAPPY waiting. He may not be as GOOD-NATURED as SAM. SEBASTIAN (Sweet Pea) SALLY. AHS gets more FAN mail than Gable since he became affiliated with PEN PALS.

Students To Elect Queen For Annual Aggie Show

Manning And Staff Make Preparation For Show
On Tech Gridiron Latter Part Of October

A TECH GIRL, soon to be selected by popular vote of the student body, will reign supreme over the campus for one day. She is to be chosen queen of La Remuda, a celebration sponsored by the agriculture division October 25 on Matador field. Plans for other features of La Remuda are being worked out by Manager John Manning and his assistants.

Candidates for queen have not yet been announced, but any girl student may run for the honor. However, there are two restrictive positions which must be met by the candidates.

"She must be able to ride and should look graceful in cowboy chaps," Manning stated. The queen will be honored throughout the celebration. Riding on a float pulled by six percheron horses, she will head a parade through the business section immediately preceding the performance at Tech field.

King Hobert, majestic stallion of the Aggie school, will reign over the parade of livestock. There will be a donkey polo game between divisions of the school.

Definite plans and a schedule of events will be announced soon. Tickets are already on sale by Aggie students.

Slack In Social Affairs Follows Rush Season

Sock And Buskin
Club Gives Tests
To Try-Out Group

The Sock and Buskin try-out committee met 52 applicants for membership Monday afternoon and instructed them in the new method of trying out for the club. Rather than the individual dramatic tests given formerly, applicants will apply for an assignment of research work at the speech office between 1 and 3 p. m. today. The finished work must be handed in at the final test on Wednesday, October 9, at 4 p. m. in room 220. New members are on probation for one semester.

The try-out committee consists of Mary Scott, Jane Woodruff, La Vada Baze, Jean McGee, Emma Smith, Clay Thompson, and Newton Smith, the new president.

Every student interested in dramatics whether in the liberal arts school or not, is welcome to try out for membership. Make application by leaving a written statement in the speech office today.

Committee To Consider
Artist Course Survey

Results of a canvass held for the purpose of learning the programs students desire on the Tech Artist course this year will be considered at a meeting of the committee tomorrow afternoon.

The artist course committee consists of six faculty members and six students. Numbers to be considered include prominent politicians, musicians, adventurers, and actors. Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, noted antarctic explorer, is scheduled to appear here in February.

Graduate Receives
Position In China

Ogdon King, who received his B. S. degree from the agricultural division in 1929, has accepted a position in Nanking, China. The former Tech student will be professor of agricultural economics in the college there.

Before assuming his new duties, King journeyed up the Yangtze river to Hankow, "the Chicago of China." After spending six weeks in the city, he returned to Nanking by way of Peiping.

Fifteen Students Enroll
At Tech Through Help
From Vocational Fund

Fifteen Tech students with physical defects that prevent their working for college expenses are attending Tech through the Vocational Rehabilitation fund which pays their tuition. This fund consists of $50,000, supplied by the state and national governments.

Mr. J. J. Brown of Austin is state director of this student aid.

Dean Of Women Speaks
At Dormitory Tomorrow

Mrs. Mary W. Doak, dean of women will speak to dormitory girls at a house meeting tomorrow night in the lounge. She is to discuss and explain dormitory rules.

Ferr Hudson, chairman of the social committee, has arranged a short program.

Newly elected councilors in the girls' dormitory are: Dorothy Nabors, Margaret Anderson, Juanita Jo Beasley, Georgia Mae Smith, Hazel Pollard, Virginia Will, Helen Lehberg, Marie Zimmerman, Mary Frances Self, Pauline Hooser, Louise Hall, Aura Ely and Crystelle Scudder.

After Approval By Dean,
Clubs Are To Send Rushes Bids

Students turn their thoughts to this week following the whirl of activities held during rush season which ended Sunday. Regular functions are the only activities found on the college calendar.

This evening at 7 o'clock the social clubs meet in regular sessions in rooms assigned of the Administration building. The Double T club meets at 7:30 o'clock in the gymnasium with J. V. Beauchamp, president, presiding.

Bids to rushes will be formally extended tomorrow after approval from the dean's office. Pledging can begin as the clubs desire, but initiation ceremonies will be held at the beginning of the spring semester, Dean Mary W. Doak said.

For the purpose of raising money for the Home Economics Student Loan fund, the Home Economics club is sponsoring a benefit bridge party from 5 until 9 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Both auction and contract bridge games will be in progress, club officials said. Tickets, which are 35 cents, can be purchased from any club member.

Residents of the men's dormitory are to be hosts Saturday evening with a dance in the dining hall from 9 until 12 o'clock. Preston Connerly, president, announced.

Charles Cosgrove, chairman of the dormitory entertainment committee, is in charge of the bids. Ned Bradley's orchestra will furnish music.

Elizabeth Stokes, Bob Wright, and Ed Parsons compose a committee in charge of a dance to be given by the Episcopal student group at Seaman hall Saturday evening from 9 until 12 o'clock. J. H. Smith is president of this group and Miss Stokes is social director.

Miss Lorene Childers, Sanderson, and Miss Elizabeth Dryden, Best, Ko Shari alumni, returned for the annual club Indian dinner given in (See REGULAR CLUB, page 4)

Eight Girls Secure NYA
Employment In Library

Eight girls are now employed in the library under the National Youth Administration. Miss Elizabeth Howard West, librarian, announced.

Those employed are Lenora Jackson, Elizabeth Stokes, Novelle Bussey, Lois Bledsoe, Mary Perkins, Mozelle Norris, Birdie Elye Parratin, and Elizabeth Harper.

Student From Brazil Attending Tech Plans Return To Native Land As An Interpreter; Speaks Four Languages

"I was very much surprised when I came to Tech. Having lived all my life in a country where nature is at its best, I expected to see the same here. At home, mountains, trees, and flowers are everywhere. I miss them and also the sea in which I swam every day."

The speaker was Maria Alejandrina Hevia, a freshman from Brazil. Allie first came to the United States in 1925, and is now living with her foster grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Kerchner, at 108 Fifteenth street. She holds a National Youth Administration job, having employment in the office of Dr. W. B. Gates, assistant dean of arts and sciences and professor of English.

Hobbies Listed
Swimming, horseback riding, and dancing are her favorite sports. She speaks four languages fluently, and intends to

La Ventana Receives High Rating Award

Edited By Howard Reed,
1935 Yearbook Places
In First Class

FIRST CLASS honors were awarded the 1935 La Ventana by the National Scholastic Press Association sponsored by the University of Minnesota. Howard Reed was editor of the Tech annual.

The highest possible honors, All-American rating, were given to only two school yearbooks. The Howitzer of the U. S. Military Academy and the Lucky Bag, U. S. Naval Academy publication, Texas State college of Women's yearbook, The Dandelion, was the only other college annual in Texas to receive the high rating of La Ventana.

Divisions Named
About 1500 yearbooks from all over the United States were entered for ranking this year. Each book, according to the enrollment of the school which it represents, is placed in one of four divisions. The divisions are as follows: for schools with enrollment of 500 or less, from 500 to 999, from 1,000 to 2,499, and those with enrollments of 2,500 or over. La Ventana was placed in the third division.

Each division is divided into five grades: All-American, superior ranking; first class, excellent; second class, good; third class, fair; and fourth class, below average. To obtain All-American rating, a yearbook must receive a grade of at least 775 out of a possible 1,000. La Ventana received a grade of 740.

Winners Listed
Other colleges and universities to receive first class recognition were: Oregon State college, Georgia Tech, Creighton university, Brigham Young university, Utah State Agricultural college, Florida State college for Women, Oberlin college, Tulane university, Ohio Wesleyan university, Lewis Institute, University of Arkansas, Clemson A. and M. college, and Georgetown university.

Fred Neer, member of the editorial staff of the Wisconsin Packer for three years and present editor of Collegiate Digest, was the judge of the 1935 yearbooks. Prof. Kenneth E. Olson, head of the department of journalism at Rutgers university, judged the 1934 books.

In judging the yearbooks, every phase of publishing a collegiate annual (See COLLEGE ANNUAL, page 4)

Dr. Jackson Teaches Six Weeks Offering For Rural Teachers

A special course has been arranged by the education department for teachers whose schools have been dismissed for harvest season. Entitled "Technique of Curriculum Construction," the course is to be completed in six weeks. The class meets one and one-half hours each day.

Dr. D. D. Jackson, associate professor of education, will teach the special course. Full time students may enroll in the class.

return to her native country as an interpreter after finishing college.

"I admire the American people very much," says Miss Hevia. "They are all so friendly. Customs are very different here from those in Argentina. At home there are no public schools, and the government is just now becoming modernized. Brazil is progressing rapidly and is patterning after the United States," she added.

Miss Hevia spent her childhood in a convent and later attended private schools in Rio de Janeiro. After attending Edinburg high school in South Texas where she learned the English language, the attractive brunette returned to Rio de Janeiro and lived until 1934. She then came back to the United States and graduated from the local high school this last year. Her major at Tech is languages.

Coaches Team

Ray C. Mowery, acting head of the animal husbandry department, coached the Tech senior livestock judging team into first place at the International Livestock Exposition last year.

Aggies Enter National Meet

Livestock Judging Team
Leaves Tuesday For American Royal

Tech's champion livestock judging team leaves Tuesday morning for Kansas City to participate in the American Royal judging contest. Prof. Ray C. Mowery, acting head of the animal husbandry department and team coach, announced this morning. Colleges and universities of the nation are to take part in the contest, October 19.

Last year Tech won second in the annual affair. Only Texas A. and M. placed ahead of the local team. Mowery's judges annexed first place in collegiate judging at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago the past year.

Candidates Named
Prof. Mowery has not named team members that will make the trip, but will go as an early date. Senior boys eligible are: Barlan Black, Seagraves; Ray Dunlap, Spur; Arvie Elliott, Lubbock; Fred Elliott, Lubbock; Fern Harris, Southland; J. P. Henry, Sterling City; Cleveland Littlepage, Tahoka; John Manning, Fort Worth; Douglas Marshall, Graham; Howard Preston, Sudan and Willie Rogers, Lubbock.

The itinerant inquires visits at the following farms: Oscar Winchester, sheep breeder, Waukomis, Oklahoma; H. G. Eshelman, percheron breeder, Sedgwick, Kansas; J. G. Robinson, percheron breeder, Towanda, Kansas; Robert H. Hazlett, hereford breeder, Eldorado, Kansas and Hans Regler, short-horn breeder, Whitewater, Kansas.

On October 18, the team will visit the animal husbandry department of the Kansas State Agricultural college at Manhattan, Kansas. They go from there to Kansas City where the contest will be held on October 19.

"The opportunity to visit such outstanding livestock breeding farms has been a big factor in the success of Tech teams of recent years," Prof. Mowery stated.

Dr. Evans Selects Student Workers

Larry Messersmith, senior liberal arts student, has been appointed student assistant in the department of education. His selection was announced this week.

Announcement of students receiving employment in the department office through NYA has been made. Students working in this unit are: Roger Orr, Betty Blizzell, Annie Letha Hamilton, Alene Selser, and Ruby Farley. These students will do general clerical and research work for the education instructors.

Walker Appoints Press
Association Committees

The Press club held a short business meeting Monday night with 21 members present. Pauline Coe read the minutes of the last meeting and Burnice Walker appointed the following committees: program committee chairman, Jim Lindsey; assistants, Forrest Weimhold and Emma Jean Douglas; social committee chairman, Lella Mae Zorn; assistants, Lillian Parrish, and J. H. Nail.

Dean Margaret Weeks and Miss Vivian Johnson are to attend a home economics meeting at the University of Texas in Austin tomorrow and Friday.

Yell Leaders Arrange Big Program For Pep Meeting On Tech Field Tonight

Women's Council
Sponsors Library

Six books have been loaned from the lending library for women students which was established at the end of last year by the women's social club council of the college. The books in the library were donated by members of the social organizations in order to provide books for those girls who were unable to buy them.

At present there are approximately 70 books in the small room adjoining the office of Mrs. Mary W. Doak, dean of women. The library contains books used in every department and two dictionaries.

"This is the first movement of this kind ever started at the institution," Mrs. Doak, who is in charge of the library stated. "It can be made successful only through the cooperation of the student body. Those who have books which are not in use could benefit some girl student by bringing them to the library," Mrs. Doak added.

Girls eligible to use these books should go to Mrs. Doak's office and make application. A fee of ten cents a semester is charged for each book.

Y Organizations Plan Year's Work At Joint Meeting

The Y associations held a joint meeting Monday night and outlined the year's work. George Townsend, treasurer of the YMCA last year, introduced Dr. A. J. Bahm, faculty sponsor.

Dr. Bahm defined the Y as a student religious social organization. Membership is confined to students and the elected sponsor. The purpose is to attain an appreciation of religion as a broad, inter-denominational or non-denominational fellowship in which all may join. It aims to stimulate friendships and foster social activities for all college students, Dr. Bahm pointed out.

The group voted to combine the YW and YM under one group of officers. Officers were elected for the full school year.

George Townsend defeated Pauline Hooser and was re-elected president. La Vada Baze is first vice-president and chairman of the program committee. Paton Price was named second vice-president and chairman of the publicity committee. Josephine Powell fills the office and secretary-treasurer and chairman of the finance and membership committees during the year. Pauline Hooser is Y representative to AWS.

A regular meeting time has not been set, but the group will gather at Seaman Hall Sunday at 4 o'clock.

Dairy Club Hears Aggie Professors

Members of the dairy club met in the pavilion Monday night to hear talks by two new professors in the agriculture division, Dr. Arthur Young and H. P. Clay. Refreshments were served to the members, and a meeting date was determined.

Dr. Young, assistant professor of plant industry, spoke on "Adjusting Oneself to Changes Rising in Our Profession." Mr. Clay, assistant professor of agricultural engineering, spoke on recent changes in dairy farming.

Officers of the club are Ray Karr, president; Uel Beel, vice-president; Curtis Schamberg, secretary-treasurer; and James Hill, reporter. The club will meet on the first and third Monday nights of each month.

English Professor Talks To Church Auxiliary

Dr. A. E. Cunningham, associate professor of English, reviewed Ellen Gasgow's novel, "Vien of Iron," at the First Presbyterian Church Monday night.

The review was the first of a series that is being sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the church. Tickets may be purchased from members of the organization.

Reviews to be made include: "Paths of Glory," by Humphrey Cobb, James G. Allen; Mary, Queen of Scotland, by Stefan Zweig; Mrs. A. L. Strout and "All Things Are Possible," by Lewis Browne, Dr. J. M. Lewis.

Orville Smith, who received his degree in journalism from Tech last summer, is attending law school at the University of Texas this year.

Cawthon Plans Parade
Of Raiders Before
Chicago Trip

THE largest pep rally of the year is to be staged on Matador Field tonight to give the Red Raiders a sendoff on their elongated trip to play DePaul university on Soldiers Field Saturday afternoon.

The Matadors accompanied by Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith and Ed Klein, student manager, are to leave by special pullman at 5:30 o'clock in the morning.

Under the direction of Morris Burchfield and his two freshman assistants, Snead Parker and Edgar Thompson, the most energetic rally of years has been worked out to stimulate pep and to give the Matadors a rousing sendoff tonight. The rally is scheduled to begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Program Is Secret
A program has been arranged but is to be kept secret until the rally begins. Students are asked to clip the pep songs and yells from page four of this issue of The Treador and bring them to the rally.

As a special feature of the program, Coach Cawthon has announced that he will send the Red Raiders on the field in a dress rehearsal before the student body and the town people. Plays and formations will be explained from the field through a public address system. Players are to be introduced one by one as they run onto the field from the dressing room under the stadium.

The 125-piece Matador Band that accompanies the Red Raiders on their trip to the Pacific coast next week will be on hand tonight as a top number on the program.

"The purpose of this pep meeting is not just to give the Matadors a big sendoff on their trip to Chicago alone," Burchfield, head cheer leader said, "but it is to stimulate more pep and spirit among the students."

Pre-Law Elects New Officers

Organization Announces
Howell As Attorney
For Semester

The Pre-Law club elected three officers to fill vacancies at its first meeting of the session Monday night. The club completed plans for subsequent activities during the coming year.

The new officers elected are: John T. Howell, Lubbock, prosecuting attorney; Annie Letha Hamilton, Brownfield, reporter and Carlos Brummett, Lubbock, sheriff. Other officers were elected at the close of last year. J. H. Smith, Big Spring, is president of the organization.

Jackson Is Sponsor
Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the government department and sponsor of the club, will be in charge of the initiation service at the next regular meeting, October 21. It was announced that plans for this gathering had been completed.

The president of the club welcomed the new members and issued cards to those present. Additional cards may be obtained from any officer. Smith announced. Future activities of the club were discussed. Plans for participation in the Decennial celebration will be made public next week.

Economics Class To Visit Farms Near Shallowater

Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head professor of agricultural economics, takes his class in farm management to Shallowater tomorrow afternoon. The class which is composed of fifteen seniors will make an inventory of the Cowan and Burrows and Myrick farms, finding out the financial set-up and the crop system used on each.

Hitch-Hiking Remedy

THE townspeople of Lubbock have been very generous in giving rides to college students, and the student body of Tech is very appreciative of this kindness.

As in every college town, hitch-hiking is a very common practice. This fad is encouraged here at Tech by the facts that the average male student has but little money and the distance of the business section from the college is over one mile.

Hitch-hikers, not realizing the dangers created, stand in the streets at an unreasonable distance.

This problem could be taken care of by the passage of a traffic ordinance which would provide for reserved spaces for hitch-hikers. These reserved spaces could be designated by marking off lanes from the curb, say six feet wide and half a block long.

For students going to town, lanes could be reserved on the south side of Broadway at the corners of College Avenue and Avenue X, extending eastward toward town.

For students desiring rides from town to the college, a space could be reserved on the north side of Broadway, extending toward Tech at the corners of Avenue L or Avenue M and at Avenue Q.

Cars should be prohibited from parking in the reserved spaces. The lanes would then provide ample space for the hitch-hikers without their getting in the street far enough to be in the way of passing automobiles.

The Discipline Problem

"THAT will cost you 50 cents," said the check-in to the first girl to come into the dormitory late, and a new rule went into effect. This year each resident of the women's dormitory coming in after hours at night will be assessed a fine of one-half dollar unless she has a legitimate excuse.

So much dissatisfaction with the regulation has been expressed by the girls subject to it and so much indignation voiced by others on the campus that The Toreador sent a staff-member to investigate the situation.

"We shouldn't be fined and campused both," seemed to be the trend of opinion among the dorm residents. This complaint seemed fair enough.

But surely, she thought, the girls made the rule themselves. They have a self-governing association, do they not? An interview with someone in authority, however, revealed that the association does not make the dorm rules. Who does, then? Tactful probing disclosed that a rules committee, composed of several women faculty members and a representative from the dorm, preferably the president of the self-governing body, make the dormitory discipline rules.

WHY the self-governing body, then? It seems it is entrusted with a few minor administrative duties, such as maintenance of order in the halls. Does it have any legislative function at all? Oh, yes, its members may petition for a new rule or a change of ruling. Who considers the petition, says the final yes or no? The rules committee, in which the hundreds of dormitory girls have one vote.

Obviously, all this is hardly self-government. The rules which, fairly enough, were adopted before the dormitory opened last year, were at no time submitted to a vote of the self-governing association after its organization. And the right of petition, alone, would be held by none to be self-government.

But there is another side to the question. The administration feels that the girls are not ready for self-government. To them self-government is a sort of garment-gift from the authorities, which must hang in the closet until the young governing body-to-be reaches a sufficient stature to wear it well.

And perhaps they are right. The whole problem of censorship of the college woman's conduct is too complex and has been too long a serious problem to educators for The Toreador to come out arbitrarily and say, "This should be done," or "That should be done," or "Here the administration falls down," or "Just here it succeeds."

While the authorities no doubt realize that censorship often breeds new evils at the same time it fails to correct the old, they are naturally, and perhaps wisely, reluctant to abolish rules or make them noticeably lenient. "There is nothing like responsibility to make a conservative of a radical." Besides, the parents at home and those who want to see the college grow resist leniency.

And yet, strict censorship of conduct is hardly compatible with the modern trend of education toward fostering independence in young men and women. The two are often, unhappily, pulling in opposite directions.

Almost everything that is great has been done by youth.—Disraeli.

TEN YEARS AGO—The recently organized Press club at the college will have the privilege of fostering a movement in the interest of the first yearbook of the institution. This was the decision given out by the faculty committee on student activities in a meeting October 9.

Definite plans of the campaign in behalf of the yearbook were not decided, but it was understood that the club was to select business managers and editorial staff. Also, the organization was to make plans for raising money to finance the cost of publishing the annual.

EIGHT YEARS AGO—Arno L. Pierce, general secretary of the Master Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers association, Manchester, England, accompanied by his son, Norman L., assistant secretary of the organization, were visitors on the campus. They came as guests of the college and visited the engineering and agricultural divisions.

Mr. Pierce who visited this section of the state on a similar mission two years ago, was much impressed with the Tech cotton mill.

According to a recent survey made on the University of Minnesota campus, college men spend $52.75 per month besides tuition fees, while women average $77.97. The survey showed that out-of-town men spend $21.87 a month for meals, $12.29 for clothes, and $9.89 for room rent. Girls living away from home pay an average of $19.78 for board and $12.56 for room rent. Co-eds spend little more money in beauty shops than men spend in barber shops, but boys spend several times as much of their allowance for tobacco and cigarettes as do the girls.

Matadors Leave Tomorrow For Engagement With DePaul

By BOB CANNON Sports Editor

It will be a sizzling affair that takes place on Soldiers Field in Chicago Saturday afternoon when the Red Raiders play DePaul. They have hit their stride, these Marauders of Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith, and this department will go so far as to say at this writing that they won't be defeated the rest of the season if they keep up the plugging that they did last Friday night against Wichita.

The Wichita outcome was convincing in two ways. One thing the Raiders have another powerful running attack that has plenty of stuff. With the power, speed and desire to win that is in the hearts of this aggregation, there isn't a team that they meet this year with the Indian sign over them. Against Hardin-Simmons (left—Daniel Baker out of the picture) they didn't come close in displaying an offense compared to that unraveled against Wichita spontaneously when Coach Cawthon would permit. And defense—it's there. But it won't come in handy until the last two or three games of the season even though you can rest assured that it will be plenty tough to crack when a powerful offense such as Wichita goes up against it.

Reserves Show Much Power

The reserve power continues to show itself when that need few yards or stubborn tightness in the line is wanted. But it isn't the question of how many men are on the roster, but what's in 'em. And believe you me, what ever that something is, they have it. It is a pity that the big boys who will witness the game Saturday at Chicago couldn't have seen the game Friday night. It was a peach in every detail, and that is the best way we can describe it.

Then there is the second reason for the Raiders' great showing—blocking. You've probably heard of some great mentors contention that good defenses are the best offenses. But with Tech both are combined this year, a great offense and an even greater defense. We heard master minds of this community the other night single out the Raider backfield as the strength of the team. Of course the offense with Eaze, Puckett and Winters furnish the power. Banuchamp, Fryd, Cannon, Duval, Neill, Barnett, Chernosky, Chapman and the rest of them furnishing the speed and Merrill's kicking, which has been a sensation so far this year, offers a great amount of backfield material. But you have to go back to the line to get the reason for their success; their blocking is something you read about in books. It's a great all around ball club without individual stars.

DePaul Has Strong Club

That trip north means a lot to Tech and Texas. Coach Jim Kelly of DePaul has a good ball club, in fact practically the same one he brought to the Southwest last year. And if you haven't forgotten, it was the climate more than anything else that caused the score to be so large. At the half the Raiders were hard pressed leading by one point, 13-12. But the atmosphere got the Demons in the last half and it was a slaughter. This year the Raiders face the same situation, and their reserve material will determine a lot how the score should finally end. We pick Tech, but it's gonna' be a tough one.

Jimmy Hitchcock, famous two-sport all-American athlete of Auburn, has been made assistant varsity backfield coach at his alma mater.

Coaches Take Three Teams To Windy City

Raiders Battle Demons On Soldiers Field In Chicago Saturday

THE baby college of the Southwest which is a monster in the minds of its football opponents makes its first appearance in the northern stadiums Saturday. Tech's Red Raiders leave for Chicago in the morning, 33 strong, to battle the powerful DePaul university Demons on Soldiers Field.

After knocking over two warm-up teams by easy scores and brushing aside the powerhouse from Wichita, Kansas, the Wichita university Shockers, the maestros of Tech's football hopes, Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith, will place one of their strongest teams in the short history of the college on the field before the watchful eyes of the Chicago critics. Expecting a team versed in the Notre Dame style with every instrument of winning horsepower, the fans of that sector are not going to be disappointed when the Raiders make their big time debut.

All Steamed Up With their scoring machine all steamed up to near explosion, the Raiders are going after a victory in a large way. The Demons who have made such an impressive start in the mid-western football wars this fall are to be the victims of a big time craving that the lads from the edge of the Cap Rock possess.

The Chicago team won't see a bunch of sissies when the rowdy Southwesterners swarm from their special pullman car Saturday morning, but they'll see something that made them famous on the Pacific coast last fall in a colorful, yelling, and fightin' bunch of Matadors who have been taking the football bulls by the horns in these parts and giving them the works. That is the intention Saturday, and by wire and radio the fans over Texas will be listening attentively as the stampeding Raiders swarm over the Demons for their football ambitions.

Demons Lose In Chicago they have a team preparing to meet the Texas bull dodgers that is no slouch when it comes to giving the fans a gridiron treat. Two weeks ago they went over to Evanston from South Chicago and bugged Northwestern university all over Duche stadium for three quarters until misfortune beset them. It wasn't so easy for the new Wildcat coach, Lynn Waldorf, as was thought when the Catholic charges of Coach Jim Kelly sent a veteran Demon team on the field in hopes of knocking the props from under a Big Ten school that has had its ups and downs in the big circuit for the last few years. They nearly succeeded in the third quarter when Captain Ray Durkin of the Demons with line busting help from Fullback Julian Heim ripped their way through the Northwestern line down to the favorites, 20 yard line before a fumble cost them the ball. From then until the last eight minutes of play both teams waged a mid-field battle until another break favored Northwestern and they capitalized with a series of passes and line smashes.

But regardless of the fact that the men from Evanston were victorious, the Demons won a moral victory.

Since then they have advanced from a second ranking opponent to one of the most feared teams in that part of the country. The Demons are publicly after the Red Raiders from Texas who muscled them up terribly here last year.

Veteran Ball Club In their ranks they have a veteran ball club, and they play the Notre Dame system like it is supposed to be played. In comparison they made 8 first downs to Northwestern's 9 and gained 169 yards through the Wildcats line. So the Raiders have something to think about between now and Saturday afternoon.

Last year the Raiders cleaned their plow after the half, but it was a lively argument until the West Texas climate began to tell on the Northerners. It will be the same handicap that the Matadors (See RAIDERS LEAVE, page 4)

Leads Invasion

Captain Walker Nichols, scrapping midget guard, leads the Matadors north tomorrow. Tech's Red Raiders invade the lair of the DePaul Demons in Chicago for a game with the Catholics Saturday afternoon.

Missouri university won its first grid game in two years when it defeated little Williams Jewell college, 39 to 0. Don Faurot is their new coach.

Detroit Looms As Strong Foe

Scarlet And Black Plays Titans On Local Grid Thanksgiving Day

DETROIT, Oct. 9.—Two factors which have been taken with comparative lightness in pre-season discussion about the 1935 Detroit university football team, are likely to raise the team from a mediocrity to one of the foremost to bear the Titan colors. They are plenty of scintillating players who have proven themselves in the two games of the season with decisive scores over Haskell Institute and Central State; secondly, a better physical condition exists on the team than last year.

The squad is not bedecked with stars and lettermen. A glance at the roster finds three two year lettermen and five players who have earned one varsity letter. Consequently the squad does not have experience that usually goes a long way in winning ball games. But instead there are anxious to prove their worth, and have made a hit with Coach Charles E. Dorias so far.

McNutt Gone There won't be a Doug McNutt in the Titan backfield, but there will be two sophs who have the stuff that should capably fill the shoes of the outstanding star in Detroit's history. The yare Andy Farkas and Kinsey Jones, a mid-get quarterback. But in the secondary will be John Wieszorek, the giant fullback who gained national fame last year by cracking the strong Washington State line for six points that won the game.

Present lineups call for nine lettermen and two sophomores on the elevens.

Tech Wrestlers Start Work At Gymnasium

Intramural wrestling got underway Monday night when a large group of our mauders and body builders announced their readiness for the training period prior to the inter-division tournament to start soon.

After a few weeks of intensive study and workouts in the art of getting the Japanese toe split or the flying Nelson or something to that effect, the rough and tumble boys will pair off for the inter-collegiate championship. A champion of each weight will be determined.

All Schools Entered

Four squadmen and two lettermen are returning from last year's Matador team. Lettermen will assist in the instruction, May said, but will not be allowed to compete.

Athletes who reported for the first workout were: Denner Roe, Alton Hankins, Allen Plummer, Red Murphy, Dusty Cook, H. A. Holcomb, Dysart Holcomb, Winston Walkins, Rex Michael, Bill Dooley, Gene Palmer, Art Gambill and Red Leslie.

Jakie May is coach of the wrestling aspirants.

Freshmen Meet Calves On Local Field Saturday

Huffman Tunes Picador Gridiron Machine For Teachers

The gangling Picadors of Coach Berl Huffman entertain the strong freshmen crop from West Texas State Teachers college on Matador field Saturday night.

Coach Huffman's team, jubilant about their impressive victory over the Wayland college Jackrabbits last Thursday night, have been doing some high powered offensive study since Monday afternoon. They are expected to give the Panhandle team an interesting afternoon. Local fandom will get its first look at the future Raiders, and they should be well satisfied if Huffman's youngsters battle the Calves like they did Wayland.

The freshmen have what it takes to win ball games. They boast a powerful line, that opens elephant holes for the fleet frosh backfielders to gallop through with ease. In Shorty Cook and Renner Roe, two mighty little, but pesky guards, and Leonard Latch and Red Murphy, two giants at tackles, the Picadors have four boys who can open holes. At one end is Howard Syden, who kicks 'em like a veteran and is a bang up all around player. On the other side of the line is Cecil Paddock who is no slouch himself in turning back plays directed at his terminal. The center is J. W. Little and he will be doing first string duties on the varsity end of these days.

Matadors Face Powerful Chicago foe Saturday; Catholics Ready

face Saturday, the change in atmosphere. And if it is cold, they'll need more than uniforms.

The Raiders leave in good shape and in high spirits. Their only casualty so far this year having been Sam Jones who is probably out for the rest of the season. Gene Barnett who was injured in the Daniel Baker scrape is rounding into shape but it is undecided as to whether or not he will make the trip.

The team is scheduled to work out on St. Louis university field Friday afternoon, and arrive in Chicago sometime Saturday morning. The squad will stay at the Stevens hotel.

The trip North is the first stop on their 5,000 miles jaunt that will be completed when they return home next week and make ready for their invasion of the Pacific coast the following Friday night.

John Mark Lowry, who received his B. S. in chemical engineering in August, is now employed in Houston by the State Highway department.

A Mexican stringed orchestra furnished music for the affair. Pottery, cacti and other decorations created the motif.

Los Camaradas club members were hosts with a semi-formal dance in the Hilton ballroom. Bill Stubbs of Corpus Christi, alumnus, attended.

Las Vivarachas club gave a breakfast for rushes Sunday morning in the F. R. Friend home. Autumn flowers fashioned in corsages were presented the guests as favors.

Las Chaps Have Dinner

Beginning at 3 o'clock, Las Chaparrillas club members entertained Sunday afternoon for rushes in Hotel Lubbock ballroom. At 5 o'clock men guests joined the group for dinner served at four-some tables, where games were played later.

An after dinner coffee for rushes was given by Sans Souci club at Tree Top Inn Sunday afternoon. Pink and green, club colors, dominated decorations.

Students Earn Expenses With College Farm Work

Several students in the division of agriculture are earning part of their college expenses on the college farm. Ten boys have been employed regularly since the beginning of school. A number of others are working in the field each day. The farm work is variable, including shocking feed, heading maize, pulling cotton and other regular farm labor.

As soon as the irrigation wells are completed, a number of boys will receive employment in raising winter irrigation products.

College Yearbook Ranks High Among Annuals Of Nation

The yearbook is closely studied. The judge first takes into consideration the theme, content, organization of material, art and color, originality, and general effect. After this, the layouts, cover, photography, engraving, typography, printing, paper stock, page make-up, financial status, organizations and activities, athletics, senior class organization, other classes, opening sections, view section, administration and faculty, and details such as identification of individuals and page numbers are graded. The total of these grades determine the class in which the book will be rated.

the Inter-club council, and Jim Lindsey, Toreador editor, were selected by Pederson, who stressed the importance of support from the entire student body.

Seek Club Support

"Especially does the association request that all social organizations make preparation now to entertain the visitors Sunday, the day set aside for this purpose," Pederson said.

Instead of Armistice Day, Saturday morning is the new time set for the parade in which clubs will enter floats. A silver "Victory" trophy, selected and given by the Student council last November to the Engineering society for the best float in the annual Homecoming parade, is to be the prize this year.

Two football games are highlights on the Decennial program. Saturday afternoon, Coach Bert Huffman sends his Picadors against Amarillo Junior college. The Badgers have been state junior college champions for two years.

On the following Monday, the Blue Brigade from Arizona university invades Matador Field for a Border conference contest with Tech's Red Raiders.
