EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer questions that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Ozone Park, L. I.
I am eighteen and my conduct has caused my mother great anxiety. I am beginning to realize this. She is a saint and I have been a devil. Should I leave home and so relieve her of the burden of my presence? My father is dead and I turn to you for advice.
I am not impressed by your desire to quit. Your mother is more likely to worry about you when you are out of her sight than when you are at home. Stay there and play the man. Tell her frankly how deeply you regret your folly and wickedness. Ask her to receive you to her heart again, and the probability is you will discover you have never been absent from it. Such a mother as yours will answer your plea before you have finished it; and for every step you take toward restoration she will take two. The aged father ran to greet the prodigal son. Think of an old man's withered limbs and faint energy. Then visualize him as a loving father. Once you have resumed full filial relations, resolve that as far as in your life you will provide for your father's home. This is the path of honor and of safety. Whatever temptations may surround it, your domestic surroundings will aid you to overcome them. So from now on home and mother for you, my boy! And God give you grace to eliminate both with true devotion.

Rocheater, N. Y.
How would you suggest we should train our young son aright? He is all we have or likely to have, and we don't want him to miss his way in life. We are of the Christian faith.
Tell him that he is God's child, that Christ in his pattern in everything, and that every human being belongs, as he does, to the same Father. At the proper stage of his adolescence see to it that he knows for what his body exists, and that it must be kept fit, clean and wholesome. Enlist him in the Boy Scouts as soon as he is old enough to join that excellent organization. Encourage him to reverence womanhood and to cultivate fine friendships with both sexes of his own age. He should clearly understand that because a life stains his soul it is an abomination to the Lord. Do not compel him to love all the things you love, or follow all your thinking on religious lines. It is best to so live the life of a believer that your child shall be drawn to sacred realities by the force of parental example.

Never allow him to shun the task that has to be done. He will soon learn that joyous play is half created by hard work. With your aid and by heaven's grace he should develop into a gentleman who lives to serve, to give, and not simply to be mindful of others, especially of the needy, and never guilty of prejudice or conceit, nor congenial to the perils of vulgarity, and in the Books of Job and Daniel.

But it is Christ's transcendent glory that He brought life and immortality to life in His Gospel. St. Paul powerfully expounded this transcendent truth. It was the soul of the first Easter message, and its light and gladness have since girdled the globe with hope and aspiration.
Moreover, by its emphasis upon the union of all believing souls with their victorious and risen Lord, Christianity produced a new order of human beings. They reiterated the priceless values of the individual revealed in Christ's teaching and proclaimed His salvation open to men of every color and condition.
You will recall that members of your race were the restless advocates of the New Testament Faith. Think of the Apostles, of Apollonius, Barnabas, Aquilla and Priscilla, and of the loss Christianity sustains when it failed to recruit kindred spirits in all Israel.

Many liberal Jews today hold Jesus in the highest respect, and not a few of your contemporaries have written admirable books extolling His originality, courage and devotion. Montefiori, Klausner and Ismael Abrahams, to name no others, have made their works essential for the scholars of my faith.
Let us treasure the mutual benefits Judaism and Christianity can impart by a generous and close cooperation in every good work which is possible to our joint action, and by so doing hasten the day when all men shall know the Lord.

This Woman In 4 Weeks Lost 19 Pounds of Fat

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Billings, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.
"I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana newspaper and decided to try Kruschen Salts."
"I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce."
"I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give 'Kruschen Salts' a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 255 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 230 pounds. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity."
"I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends. In fact, have a number of them talking Kruschen Salts."
"May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince any one."
A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at Collins Bros. Drugs, or any drug store in America.—adv.

Labor Council Asks Stores Not Open Sundays

Echoes of the state "blue sky" law were heard at the regular session of the city commission held Tuesday night, when V. R. Smith, city manager, read a letter addressed to the body from the Central Labor Council.

The letter, signed by J. M. Newton, president, and A. A. Denn, secretary, urged the body to do something to force stores to remain closed Sunday morning.

"It is generally known," the letter said, "that some of the stores open on Sunday morning, despite the fact it is possible for shoppers to obtain a sufficient supply of commodities Saturday and Sunday night."

The letter asked the body to enforce the ordinance requiring stores to remain closed all day. Smithman was instructed by the commissioners to answer the letter, pointing out the law is a state statute to be enforced by either county or city authorities if a charge is preferred.

The commission refused to take a hand in the matter.

Walker Equipped By Experience For Land Commissioned

J. H. WALKER

But one man, according to the history of Texas, has worked his way through every desk from the bottom to the top of a major state department. That one man is J. H. Walker, who one year ago became commissioner of the land office by appointment, succeeding the lamented J. T. Robinson, under whom he served as chief clerk for twenty years.

J. H. Walker is a native of Johnson county but his legal home is Hill county. He entered the land office thirty-one years ago, but the last four years of Governor Sayers' administration he was chief clerk of the comptroller's office, and during Governor Lanham's administration he was assistant financial agent of the state penitentiaries.

His service in the land office covers twenty-five years. For some years Mr. Walker lived in the Abilene country and has first-hand knowledge of the conditions in the West, as well as all other parts of the state.

He became Commissioner with an experience unparalleled in the history of this state, and with an un-

City To Drill Two More Wells

Two more wells will be drilled on the city water reservation, City Manager V. R. Smithman announced Wednesday morning.

Smithman was authorized to have the wells drilled immediately. The water question was one of the chief topics up for discussion at the meeting last night.

Smithman asked for permission to purchase a master-meter, in order to compare the amount of water pumped into the city mains with that being consumed and paid for.

He pointed out to the commission the meter gives an accurate check of all water going into the mains. With this information it would be possible to learn what amount of water is being paid for and how much is being lost by leaks.

At the present time there is no way of making an accurate comparison. The purchase of the meter is included in the water bonds recently passed. The matter of purchasing the meter was deferred.

Ordinance May Enforce Proper House Numbers

Because Big Spring residents failed to join in a campaign conducted by the city to have residences correctly numbered, an ordinance declaring an emergency and creating a penalty will probably be the outgrowth.

Several weeks ago the city sent members of the engineering department to every house. On those where no number or the incorrect number was found, a card giving the correct number was left. On houses where the number was correct, no card was left.

At the regular meeting of the City Commission Tuesday night, an ordinance adopted by Midland to obtain correct numbering of residences was read and tabled.

City Manager Smithman explained the cards had been placed in the homes and had been disregarded. He said he had hoped the ordinance would not be necessary, but it seemed it would be inasmuch as the camps had not resulted in any great increase in number of houses.

The ordinance was tabled but will probably be taken up at the next regular meeting. The ordinance would require all houses to be numbered and correctly.

Hutchins Declares Argotane Built Him Up Amazingly

"I WOULDN'T BE DOING RIGHT IF I DIDN'T RECOMMEND ARGOTANE TO EVERYBODY," HE SAYS.

"Argotane has done me a world of good and I'm feeling just fine," said C. H. Hutchins who farms and lives on the highway one and one-half miles west of Sweetwater.

"I suffered from gall bladder trouble and had a case of stomach trouble and was troubled this way for six or seven years," he continued, "and I suffered with pains; at times it would be in my left side and then in my right side and occasionally I would have sharp pains in my chest and back. Food would sour on my stomach causing a little gas to form and making me feel miserable. My entire system seemed to be getting in a general run-down condition and I was just going down hill day by day, so it looked like there wasn't anything for me in life but misery, and I guess I would have been in that fix yet if it hadn't been for this Argotane.

"I read about Argotane doing so much good here in Sweetwater, and people were always talking about it so I got a bottle and honestly it's hard to believe what a change it has made in me. My indigestion pains began to grow less and less as I kept on taking it and now I am entirely and my whole system seems to be in fine shape. My appetite is very good now and everything seems to agree with me perfectly. Argotane has taken care of my gall bladder trouble for it does not trouble me as it did and those sharp pains through my sides, chest and back have disappeared.

"Argotane was just the thing I needed for it has done the work when all others failed and I am glad to recommend it to everyone who has a run-down system like I had."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at the Collins Bros. Drug Co.—adv.

and after his Dallas address in the afternoon, to journey to Sherman for a rally at night.

Thomas B. Love planned to speak at Longview at 2:30 p. m. and Texarkana at 8 p. m.; James E. Ferguson, for his wife's candidacy, at Granbury at 2 p. m. and at Fort Worth, 8 p. m.; Jim Young, at Arlington at 2:30 p. m. and Hillsboro, 8 p. m.

Miller, at Hillsboro last night, said the labor vote which he would receive would "go a long way" toward putting him in the runoff in the governor's race. The lieutenant governor said he wanted the "seniority rule" applied in the selection of a governor, pointing out that he had been a state senator, a member of the house of representatives and lieutenant governor for six years in succession.

In Valley

Sterling spent yesterday in the Rio Grande Valley, speaking at Raymondville, Harlingen and Edinburg and going at night to Corpus Christi for an address there.

In his Corpus Christi speech, he denied charges he said other candidates had made that he owned oil or sulphur companies and said he had "had one-tenth of the money" they said he had, he would be satisfied. He defended his highway bonding plan, asserted he was a prohibitionist and declared he practiced what he preached.

Ferguson flayed the proposed highway bond issue in an address at Corsicana for his wife's candidacy. He said if the bond issue carried, ultimately it would cost $500,000,000.

Invading Houston, home city of Ross Sterling, Senator Clint Small of Wellington declared his travels during the campaign had convinced him the people did not desire to vote upon a state highway bond amendment.

Chain Stores

Mayfield championed the cause of the local dealer against chain stores of "foreign" ownership in an address at a watermelon feast at Ennis. He again assailed Sterling, charging he was spending money "lavishly" and predicting such a condition would "close the governor's office to all but the wealthy" if allowed to proceed.

Jim Young invaded Dallas, home city of Thomas B. Love, in an address at the state fair grounds denouncing Love as "a carpetbagger Democrat from Missouri" who would lead the Democratic party in Texas "into disintegration."

Mrs. L. C. Scott introduced Thomas B. Love at an old settlers' reunion at Sulphur Springs as "the next governor of Texas."

Love defended his prohibition record and his record during the war and asked the audience to be wary of "false charges" on the eve of the election. He promised, if elected, to enforce laws against gambling.

Paul Lovern of San Antonio, a candidate hitherto more or less non-committal in this campaign, addressed a gathering in Alamo Plaza at San Antonio, championing his contract for building roads with convict labor instead of with bonds, for building market plazas in every large agricultural center of Texas, and for increasing the pay of firemen and policemen from gasoline tax money.

Armed Posse Seeks Negro Slayer

MARSHALL, Texas, July 23 (AP)—An armed posse combed the countryside around Greenwood, La., east of here today in search of two negroes who shot and killed C. J. Mason, 40, Greenwood merchant and fled after robbing his wife.

The negroes shot Mason to death in his store when he refused to open his cash register for them. His wife, a witness to the slaying, was forced to give the negroes the contents of the register.

An armed posse was formed immediately and a search for the negroes began with the aid of peace officers from Shreveport.

Sheriff T. R. Hughes of Caddo parish at Shreveport said early today that from 500 to 600 men were engaged in the search.

"He said there was 'no telling what would happen if the negroes are caught.'" He said public excitement was aroused to such an extent that mob violence was feared.

Cromwell et al Have Producer in Menard

SAN ANGELO, July 23 (AP)—Making an estimated 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 cubic feet of sweet wet gas daily from a sand topped at 2,945 feet and barely entered, Carl G. Cromwell, James L. Duffy, R. A. Conkling and others No. 2 Eckardt today offered possibilities of becoming the first oil producer in Menard county. A six inch casing had been set and a test planned.

The well is 15 miles northwest of Menard and 41 miles southwest of San Angelo.

Uncle Sam—

the recall battle was "the sole reason for the shooting," W. Wright Gedge, secretary of the Michigan Broadcasting company, which operates station WMBC, said Buckley had told him of receiving threats for the last two weeks because of the part he was taking in the recall campaign. Disregarding the threats, Buckley made another speech in favor of the mayor's recall Monday night on the eve of the election.

In LaSalle

Buckley was shot in the LaSalle hotel, near the heart of the city. From a window in this hotel July 3 Buckley witnessed the shooting of two gangsters as they sat in a car parked at the Adelaide street entrance. This double killing ushered in the three weeks of gang warfare.

Mayor Bowles characterized Ed Buckley's slaying as "a terrible, terrible thing." He welcomed the assistance of state law enforcement agencies.

Part of the attack on the mayor by recall forces dealt with his alleged connections with gamblers. Buckley's radio speeches had been directed against downtown gambling resorts and other underworld activities long before the recall campaign was started.

Sterling—

They began some place and go no place in many instances. The anticipated annual revenue of the highway department is $32,000,000 of which $12,000,000 must be used to keep up roads that are worth nothing. All of the county seat towns ought to be connected by paved roads, every one of them.

Committee

"A state-wide committee of 15 including three representatives each of the Farm Bureau, the Federation of Women's clubs and the East, West and South Texas Chambers of Commerce—not representing political candidates or politicians—investigated experience of more than half of the 48 states which have voted state road bonds. This plan of financing roads is not new.

"It will be necessary to have a constitutional amendment. And let me tell you, whoever goes into the governor's office, is going to face this issue. One candidate said he favored refunding counties for bonds expended on state roads but without voting road bonds. He knows and you know that would be impossible.

Burdened

"Many counties of Texas are burdened to the limit with county or district road bond taxes. Under the plan favored by Mr. Sterling the bonds outstanding and the cash value of the roads would be refunded. We will still have to pay taxes on lands and homes to retire road bonds? No. We'll have to pay only the tax on gasoline. The present gas tax, just increased to four cents to overcome that old highway debt will enable us, after maintenance, to spend eighteen millions, not thirty millions for construction, this bond plan would allow us thirty millions and enable us to finish the whole job in 12

Death of Harmon Mourned by Many

CHICAGO, July 23 (AP)—The last resting place of P. T. (Paddy) Harmon, dreamer and builder of the world's greatest indoor sports arena, was "I hope you'll lay me out in the stadium—my stadium."

Just before he died yesterday from injuries suffered when his automobile overturned in a ditch, Harmon asked to go once more to the $7,000,000 West Side building—the highest material accomplishment of a career that started as a street lighter and included promotion of championship boxing matches, six day bicycle races and dances.

Arrangements for his funeral, however, were held up today, pending the result of serious injuries suffered by his wife Mrs. May Harmon, who with Dr. Thomas Brand, was in the automobile.

Thousands of youngsters and grownups who as youngsters, benefited by Harmon's Christmas charities during the last 20 years, today mourned his death, as did hundreds of others who were associated with him.

Settlement of Suits Clear Hidalgo Titles

EDINBURG, Texas, July 23 (AP)—Titles to practically all the land in Northern Hidalgo county, including the sites of several towns, have been cleared up by the settlement of two suits pending for 32 years.

Judge A. M. Kent of Brownsville entered the decree, Judge J. E. Lester having been disqualified.

Some 300,000 acres and at least 5,000 persons were involved.

The vast tract is the San Salvador Del Tule Grant, originally made by the king of Spain. The status of owners of thousands of farms and ranches was fixed in the decree. One suit, involving some 10,000 acres northwest of Mission, still must be settled.

F. L. Seabury and J. L. Kleiber of Brownsville worked to clear up the two big suits, after the death of James B. Well, who had given the matter much of his attention.

Thousands of persons had been willing to go ahead and develop land, taking a chance on the titles but there had been much litigation over title claims which now may be dispensed with.

glad if it after it goes into effect, and would not return to the old way of peddling ungraded milk.

"The trouble here," Smith said, "is that so many untrue things have been said that the farmer is unduly alarmed."

Smith declared J. M. Williams, sanitary inspector, is ready to point out the minimum requires in the ordinance and aid the farmer in every way possible to reduce the cost of improving conditions around his place. "The average farmer," Phillips said, "can't get enough to live on much less build a barn."

Five or Six Months

Smith went on to explain that the task of putting over the ordinance and getting it in working order is a task of five or six months. "We have 12 or more applications for permits," he declared, "and some are peeved because we won't give milk gradings. We refused. We have also refused to accept permit fees. It is not fair to the others to grade the ones having the improvements until all have had an opportunity. We have ordered new copies of the ordinance with such amendments as we feel are necessary. It will be re-adopted and published and plenty of copies printed for the farmers. We have the interest of the farmer at heart in this matter. We want to hurt the farmer the least and aid health in our city at the same time.

"If the big majority are forced out there won't be any interest at heart," Robinson declared.

Robinson also asked about the meat ordinance and was informed such an ordinance never had been discussed by the commissioners.

"Most of us," Robinson said, "have a few hogs and yearlings. If we are forced to bring the stock here to slaughter and then take them back home, and then return the meat here for marketing it will force us out. You know the butchers don't give us anything for our meat."

After Mayor Pickle had assured the farmers plenty of time remains to get the ordinance functioning, the committee left.

The revised ordinance will be read at a called meeting of the City Commission to be held Thursday night.
