

Ex-Studes Swamp Campus Homecoming Day

Raiders Line Sights On Marquette Eleven

Tech Field To Be Scene Of Homecoming Finale

Climaxing the fourteenth annual homecoming celebration at Texas Tech, the Red Raiders will meet the Hilltoppers of Marquette university in gridiron battle at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on Tech field.

The Raiders, experiencing their worst season in almost a decade, wouldn't ordinarily be rated much of a chance against the Avalanche, but observers are inclined to believe that homecoming spirit has pervaded the squad to such an extent they will play one of their best games this afternoon.

A crowd that will in all probability exceed twelve thousand will see the game. A special train from Amarillo will bring ex-students and fans from the Panhandle. Other large delegations are expected from Hobbs, N. M., Big Spring and other points over the state.

The Marquettes will be closing their season, and attempting to bring their year's record up to fifty-fifty. So far this season they have won three, lost four. Victories over Iowa State, Arizona and Minnesota State are on the black ink side of their ledger, and losses to Wisconsin, Kansas State, Southern Methodist and Duquesne mar the record.

Memorial Fund Reaches $842.50

Money To Go To Women Graduates And Alumni

Governing board of the Paul Whitfield Horn Memorial Fund met Tuesday afternoon with chairman, Mrs. Mary W. Doak, dean of women, presiding.

The fund, begun last spring by the Quarterly club, faculty women's organization, Las Leales, campus service club, and the Tech Council of Graduate Women, is available to women graduates of Tech who wish to do graduate work. According to Flossie Burkholder, treasurer, $842.50 has been pledged, of which $273.50 has been contributed in cash. The governing board is composed of representative from the three sponsoring groups.

"Organizing the fund on a five-year plan, we hope to have approximately $10,000 in the fund by the end of the fifth year," said Mrs. Doak.

New Evidence To Be Given In "Rat" Snyder Trial Monday

Burro, Pledges Vie For Honors

The "Pecos county jack rabbit" and three pledges of Sigma Gamma Epsilon will lead the homecoming parade to the fairgrounds Saturday morning. The pledges, Willard McSpadden, Lee Perry and Guy Hudspeh will wear their big hats, bandanas, beards and dungarees to harmonize with the minging equipment tied to the burro, called "Silver."

Informal initiation into this honorary geology fraternity began last Tuesday night and will last until next Tuesday when they will be formally initiated. Grade average and hour requirements in geology are instrumental in the election of pledges. They have taken time about herding the animal this week and state that it will be returned next Tuesday to the owner from whom they borrowed (?) it.

Sophs To Select HP Queen Monday

Sophomores will meet for the third time this semester at 7:15 o'clock Monday night, in Room C101. Plans will be consummated for the selling of Hodge-Podge tickets. Miscellaneous business will be taken care of.

Hodge-Podge queen will be elected at this meeting. The students will vote by secret ballot, and the result will not be disclosed until Saturday, Nov. 25. President Johnny Phillips stressed the fact that a large number of sophomores is needed at this meeting in order to stimulate interest in the Hodge-Podge.

Prickett Leads Completed List Of 16 Beauties

Impartial Off-Campus Judges Will Select The Eight Prettiest

Sixteen girls pulled ahead in the second and last election held by students in the selection of beauties for La Ventana pages. The polls closed at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Only six of the girls had a clear lead in the first count. Ballots for the remaining girls had to be checked and recounted to determine the final outcome.

Eight girls will be chosen from the 16 elected in Thursday's poll to be official Tech beauties in the college yearbook. Final choices will be made by personal selection or from photographs submitted to impartial judge or judges. These judges will be from other sections of the country and will See BEAUTIES, page 6

Boys Have Boarder In Room; Find It Is Just A Bull Snake

Anyone finding a lost snake on the campus please return the reptile to Porter Montgomery and Joe Ben Wheat.

Somewhere in a typically over-loaded students' room hides a 2-foot snake—in someone's boot, maybe, in the laundry, or perhaps in the bed.

Montgomery and Wheat brought the snake in with several others and a few water dogs from the archaeological project sponsored by Tech and WPA.

The boys have been bringing them in to Dr. R. A. Studhalter, head of the department of biology. One of the snakes escaped and is now at large in their rooming house at 2117-Sixteenth street.

AN EDITORIAL

We Don't Want Them!

Thursday night some student or students with a distorted sense of humor set fire to the pile of material that had been gathered for the traditional bonfire which was to be a part of homecoming celebration.

The wood, cardboard and paper that burned in a few minutes Thursday night represented a lot of work and effort on the part of a number of students. College and city trucks had been borrowed for the collection and expenses incurred by the college to make the bonfire possible.

And we are naive enough to think that there are students on the campus who looked forward to and appreciated the annual bonfire and will be disappointed if there isn't one.

College and student officials took time and trouble to plan out a program in connection with homecoming day, only to have part of that program destroyed.

Such a prank is not funny, rather it shows a lack of good sportsmanship, intelligence and consideration of others.

Tech is a democratic school and there is no place on the campus for persons who show such a marked lack of the traits just mentioned.

You, Mister Fire-setter, are not wanted on this campus.

Judges For Big Show Are Chosen

Six senior judges to represent Tech at the International Livestock exposition in Chicago Dec. 2 were chosen after final workouts Thursday afternoon.

Members of the team are Wade Davis, Hale Center; Jack Hancock, Tahoka; Walton Henderson, Floydada; A. C. Sears, Merkel; Stewart Sewell, Jacksboro; and John Amos Wright, Breckenridge. All the members of this team with the exception of Hancock were on the team that competed at the American Royal in Kansas City Oct. 14, winning twelfth place in a field of seventeen.

The team, with coach Ray C. Mowery, will leave Lubbock by car Nov. 25 and will work out at several places enroute. Practice judging on Herefords will be held at the Harper and Turner ranch at Sulphur, Okla.

At Oklahoma A&M and the University of Missouri all classes of livestock will be judged, horses will be judged at Smith's farm at Stanley, Kan., practice will be held on hogs at the Columbian Stock farms of Grandview, Mo., and further practice will be held at the Sni-A-Bar Shorthorn Farm at Grain Valley, Mo.

Last year Tech's team placed tenth in the International among 27 teams. The bronze bull, trophy of first place winner, was brought home by the Tech team of 1934.

LIBRARY GETS TABLES

The Library has received several tables made by NYA boys under the direction of Ralph W. Douglas. The boys are taught manual training and to make furniture from material furnished from various sources.

Frosh Trample NM Fish, 39-0; Austin Stars

Game at a glance:

Tech	Cubs
12 First downs	9
27 Yards gained rushing	138
171 Yards gained passing	38
5 for 161 Punts	8 for 246
12 Passes attempted	11
7 Completed	3
2 Intercepted	0

Texas Tech's footballers, exhibiting amazing power and passing ability, shoved the New Mexico Cubs all over Tech field yesterday afternoon, and came out with a 39 to 0 victory.

The previously unbeaten Cubs never threatened the Tech goal, while the Picadors slammed through the Cub line consistently, scoring in every period.

Wild Walter Webster and Don Austin led the parade, with able assistance from Pete Wilhoite, Vinson Smith, Lloyd Gilmore, Howard Swan, Thayne Amonett, Ed Harris and Joe Bob Foster.

A long pass, Wilhoite to Amonett, brought a first down on the NM 15 and set up the first score. Austin carried it over twice from there, the first one being called back for the only penalty of the game. Foster rushed in to kick the point.

Wild Walter cut loose then, and on three tries carried the ball from the NM 40 to the 5. Austin going over. Foster kicked the point.

With substitutes in the game the second quarter, the scoring parade marched on. Eldon Hill passed to Ed Harris for the first one in that period, and Lloyd Gilmore went over for the second after intercepting a pass and carrying it back to the 1-yard line.

Amonett got in some nice playing in the third, and went over for the fifth counter after passing to Wilhoite to get in scoring position. Another pass, this time from Gilmore to Harris counted the final touchdown.

Parade Starts At 11 a. m., Technicolors To Be Made

Want High Marks? Take Your Tests During Hurricane

If you want to get highest marks in a college examination, take it during a hurricane. That seems to be the conclusion reached by Dr. Harry N. Glick, at Massachusetts State college, who announced that freshmen who took national intelligence tests during the September hurricanes ranked higher than any freshman class in the history of the college and five points higher than a similar group who took tests three days later. Tech students might substitute sandstorms for hurricanes and get the same results.

Dutch Picnic To Be Staged In Stadium For Alumni

All you ex-Techsters put on your Sunday bonnets and hats and wear your best smile. Who knows? You might be included in those 2,000 feet of colored films that will be taken of the parade, the round-up at noon, the Tech-Marquette football game, and other important activities of today.

Air Corps Exams Begin Tomorrow

Student To Be Given Training At Randolph

Physical examinations for prospective applicants for army air corps training at Randolph Field will begin Sunday afternoon and continue through Tuesday in the military science building, according to a report released by Lieutenant G. P. Overing Thursday evening.

Three army air corps officers stationed at Barksdale Field, La., will arrive in Lubbock this afternoon to act as the examining board for flying cadet candidates. Lt. Col. Armin F. Herold, Captain Burt Held and Lt. A. C. Agan comprise the board. These officers are flying a regular army plane.

All male students interested in applying for admission into the army air corps should report for their physical examinations at the military science building between 2-5 p. m. Sunday afternoon, or on Monday and Tuesday between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Applicants for appointments must submit the following documents to the examining board: Three letters of recommendation; If exemption from the mental examination is claimed, an official transcript of college record (grades and credits) signed by the registrar, if the applicant has completed one-half or more of the credits required for a four year college degree; duly authenticated copy of municipal or other official record of birth. Applicants under 21 years must have the consent of their parents or guardian.

After passing the examination, applicants are put on a waiting list for appointment as flying cadets. Upon appointment they are enlisted as flying cadets for three years and are sent at government expense to one of the civilian schools giving flying training.

Are there any of your old pals or ex-classmates you would like to locate during Homecoming? An information bureau will be open today from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. It will be conducted in the east rotunda of the Administration building by the Tech Council of Women Graduates. All ex-students and alumni are urged to come by and register, giving information as to present address and occupation.

Students, members of the faculty, and officers of the Alumni association will all join in showing ex-students a rousing good time at the greatest of all homecoming days.

All members of the Texas Tech Alumni association can save 50 cents on tickets to the Tech-Marquette game if they buy them from the Alumnae office. This See HOME COMING, page 6

Baptist Students Hold Celebration

Tech BSU Gets First Bible Chair Building

Not only will students be celebrating annual homecoming activities on the campus today, but the Baptist Student Union will be holding its 14th annual celebration also.

A float in the homecoming parade will welcome all former members of the campus. An enlarged copy of the BSU publication, the BSU Buzzer, will be in the float. Open house tonight at the activities center of the First Baptist church will be in honor of visitors.

The Baptist Student Union, a national organization of Baptist students, was organized on Tech campus by the first boy to enroll in college, Irwin W. Coleman. During the first year the organization attended the state convention at Abilene in Model T Fords. A group of 25 attended their first BSU convention that year.

He Brandishes A Ripsaw And Mayhem Is In His Heart!

What, ho! Call out the guard! At any moment, Tech students may expect to hear a blood-curdling scream for aid emitting from the little red-roofed building that nestles between the work shed and the bookstore. Only this morning, a horrible murder was averted by the swift action and clear thinking of one of the students whose duties it is to watch over the little grounds that make the grounds a juvenile paradise.

The reporter who happens to be a rather nervous man, due to shell-shock suffered in the Boer war, was shaken to his very soul at the sight that greeted his blood-shot eyes only this morning.

Rounding the corner of the building at something over thirty miles per hour, came a fair-haired lass of some six years or less—hotly pursued by a fiend of five, brandishing a ripsaw in his hand, and screaming a song of hate to the world in general and women in particular.

As the reporter leaped to cover under an empty beer can, the would-be assassin buried his hands in the dainty curls, took a firm grip on his weapon, and sought to drive home the telling blow.

While women screamed, and a strong man stood paralyzed with fear, the intrepid student nurse suddenly appeared from nowhere, leaped upon the would-be killer, and wrested the gleaming blade from his hands.

"Coolly, and with a look of 'all right, but I'll get her next time,'" the young man strolled away, and returned to his blocks, from which the trouble emanated.

Nervously the reporter lit a pipe, with hands that trembled. With an ashen face and shaken soul he turned away from the scene, a sadder and wiser man with much more respect for the valor of those unsung heroines of the home economics school whose courage is always greatest in the very face of death.

Do Your Part Today!

Hundreds of feet today and tonight will tread familiar ground. The former students of Tech are back, showing excessive school spirit in keeping with the third largest institution in this state.

The alumnae must be made to enjoy their sojourn here on the campus of their alma mater. The fact that they returned shows that they value this school above all others in the state.

Some of those fellows once occupied the positions now held by Tech's most outstanding students. Once they, too, had the responsibility that you have.

The student duty is obvious: To show ex-students the highest respect, to expound the democratic spirit that prevails on the campus; to try to make homecoming a gala affair for exes; and lastly, to strive to send our former students away in such a mood that they will wield potent influence in sending us more and more students and thus will make Tech a greater institution than ever before.

Keep The Library Open!

The need of keeping the Library open on Sundays becomes more acute daily. Four thousand students are finding it more and more difficult to obtain material and do research work in the limited time of 78 hours a week that the Library is kept open.

In many cases he has only a few hours daily that he may study in the Library. Then, nine times out of ten, he will not be able to obtain the desired book for research or study because it will probably already be taken.

Seldom can a school of any importance be found that does not keep its library open at least part of Sundays. A system might easily be worked out whereby this hindrance could be overcome.

Contact has been made with utility officials who say that the amount of electricity used by the Library is negligible as compared with other buildings on the campus. Therefore, the objection of being too expensive does not have basis.

Pro-Nazi Accuses "Patriot" Of Inaccuracy

Dear Editor: Yes, I do remember Flanders field. But it does not take the touching poetic efforts of the "patriot" to sharpen my memory.

In the following paragraphs I shall, for the edification of the writer of last edition's onerous letter, proceed to tear down his arguments and statements one by one. This will not be a difficult task, for it is obvious from his feeble and childish attempts at presentation that his background is somewhat flimsy.

doubtedly meaning well, his style is more suitable for the field of pulp. Paragraphs one and two of "Patriot Answers Nazi" tell us of American soldiers crushed under the relentless heel of the German army, and that 280,000 casualties were suffered by our troops.

past, this being proved, says he, by my faulty presentation of history. This is either a bizarre case of immature judgment, or is an undisguised LIE. I challenge this loquacious person to unearth just one fact in either one of my letters that is not backed up by cold, hard history.

days until he becomes accustomed to the work and the arrangement of the Library files and stocks, and he could easily take care of it for five hours on Sundays, from one to six o'clock in the afternoon.

Because of overcrowded conditions in the classroom, the student often must do more home work than is ordinarily required. The Library is the only building on the campus not overcrowded.

Let us reiterate: We need the Library open on Sundays!

Let's Set Those Clocks . . .

We estimate that, of the 50 or 60 clocks in the main buildings on the campus, not more than two are exactly together in time.

A student arrives at one class late (by the clock in that room), leaves early (by the clock in that room), gets to a second class early (by another clock), leaves late (by the same clock), and arrives late to a third class (by the clock in that room), leaves early (by the same clock), only to get to lunch 10 minutes late and in such a confused state of mind that he literally does not 'know if he is coming or going'.

Faculty members go through much the same ritual each day. Consequently, many of them do not check rolls until well into the hour.

The most simple way of having all classes start and dismiss at the same time is to have a central time system controlled by one clock and with connections with all other clocks or with a bell system controlled by the central clock.

Installation of such a time system, however, would be expensive and we offer two other plans that would help the clock situation to some extent. We suggest that hands be put on all clocks, that all clocks be regulated, and that they have an inexpensive guard placed over them for protection against erasers.

More effective but also more expensive would be centralizing the clocks in each particular building . . . that is, controlling all clocks in that building by a central time piece. This would obviously not eliminate the discrepancy of time in the various buildings, but is at least a step in the right direction.

We hope the day when 9 o'clock is 9 o'clock on the campus is not far in the future.

Poetry Portrays

HOMECOMING Homecoming day is now near In flights of fancy I can hear The burping rebel yells so queer; The falling tinkle of a tear Of old grads crying in their beer. Won't that be fun? Drunken freshmen Stumbling 'round Can't hit their hat With the ground Dates done made That can't be found. Won't that be fun? Old Taylor vies with John Paul Jones While bar-lies buzz around like drones On charity binges; Ringing phones Call banks of hair, and rags and bones To battle in alcoholic tones. Won't that be fun? Old man remorse Will soon come in Even your hat hurts, Chaotic din Fervades your head and soul Why did I sin? It ain't no fun . . .

You Haven't Got A Chance, Lady In The Mail Pouch

Editor, The Toreador Dear Sir:

It is with some bitterness and a shade of rancor in my soul that I take my pen in hand and seat myself before the open window to personally take arms against the recent spurious and vindictive attack upon the chivalrous, polished southern men of honor who constitute the major portion of the student body of this institution.

For example, let us take that rather vapid paragraph which deals ironically with the problem of which member of the couple is to defray the expenses of the evening's entertainment.

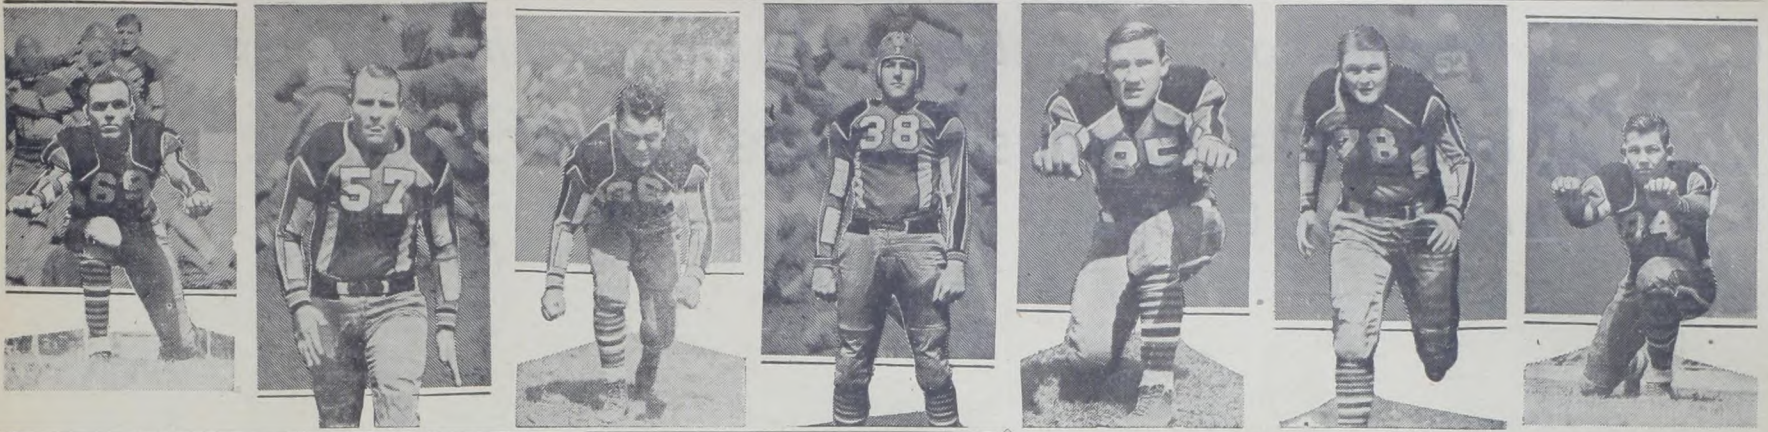

this or any other country, they have neither right nor reason to object to the accompanying responsibilities that accompany this license.

And as to the problem of what this reporter so vulgarly terms "necking"—it seems to me that there is no fairer, more invigorating or refreshing sight in a world gone mad with hate than the sight of two young people lost happily in the pure and blissful dreams of love.

And so, gentlemen of the press, See MAIL, Page 6

Picking The Best

TRENDS AND TOPICS

By JOE PIERCE
Toreador Sports Editor

It's Homecoming time again, the fourteenth annual celebration.

It all started yesterday afternoon with a game between Berl Huffman's Fish and the New Mexico Slimes, continues this morning with various activities over the campus, this afternoon there's a football game between the Raiders and Paddy Driscoll's Golden Avalanche from Marquette university, and winds up tonight with the annual Homecoming dance at the gymnasium.

Homecoming time invariably brings thoughts of Tech's past to present students. Just as inevitably, when we think of Tech's past we begin to swell up with pride over the growth of Tech in the fourteen short years since 1925.

In fourteen years Tech has become the third largest school in Texas, the second largest coeducational school in the state. It now has something like 3900 students, which is probably more than any other school its age in the country.

We Think of Yesterday's Heroes

If one is at all interested in athletics, homecoming brings thoughts of yesterday's heroes of the gridiron and of the growth from the junior college class of football team to one of the countries greatest. Of course, we don't claim this year's team is one of the nation's finest, but last year's squad was, and there will be other years to come.

In another column on this page you will find some of the names of those stars of yesterday, along with their present standing in the world. Quite a lot of them have gone into the coaching profession, over 150 to be exact. That in itself is a fine tribute to the coaching genius of Pete Cawthon.

The other day we asked Cawthon to pick an all-time all-star team of Techsians. He refused, saying that he could not do so because he would be doing an injustice to those left off.

We Pick Four Big Names

At the risk of doing the same injustice to hundreds of fine players, we're going to name four players who seem to us to be the four outstanding men of Tech's football history. Of course, during the earlier years of Tech's gridiron activities our knowledge of the players was gained strictly from reading about them. But here they are:

Ransom Walker, Mule Dowell, Red Ramsey and Elmer Tarbox.

Walker we pick because he was one of the finest backfield men ever to grace a gridiron, an inspiration to his teammates, and an all-round good athlete. Playing before the Cawthon era, in the days when Tech's teams were just a little out of the junior college class, he made all Tech opponents sit up and take notice. Against Southern Methodist one season, when the Southwest conference teams were still scheduling Tech for a "breather," he scored two touchdowns before the surprised spectators could train their eyes on the field.

Dowell Comes Back

Dowell was chosen because he came to Tech at a time when the football fortunes were just beginning to climb and started on the team for three years which it took greater steps toward the top than at any other three-year period in the life of the school. A fine, powerful runner, he proved his prowess in the pro leagues after leaving Tech and is now athletic director for his alma mater.

Ramsey is probably the finest lineman ever to play for Tech. A rough-and-tough end, he could break up interference, catch passes, go down under punts, do all the other things any good and is supposed to do, and besides provided the inspirational spark that was needed to turn defeat into victory. He is now playing professional football with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Tarbox Leads in Classroom

Tarbox, who finished his gridiron career last year as a member of the unbeaten 1938 squad, was probably the best liked of all Tech football players. A grand player who has never pulled a cleat until he came to college, he was also a leader in the classroom and in social activities. He is still making his home in Lubbock.

There are our choices for the four outstanding players of Tech's gridiron history. There'll be plenty who will disagree with those choices, and justly too. Dozens of other boys could be named who might have been just as good. But the same can be said of any All-American team of all-anything team. It's lots of fun to pick them anyway.

Whatley Elected President Of Llano Estacado Chapter

Miss Frances Whatley, associate professor of Spanish at Tech, was elected president of the Llano Estacado, chapter of the American Association of Spanish Teachers in West Texas, at the fall meeting in Plainview recently.

Others from Tech attending the meeting were Dr. C. B. Qualla, B. G. Dryden and Prof. A. B. Strehl, who was president last year.

Miss Mary Magee of the Lubbock junior high school showed films of pictures taken by her and Dr. Qualla on their trip to Mexico this summer.

Spring Graduates Get Teaching Positions

According to information received by Mrs. Johnnie Langford, head of the department of women's physical education, a number of spring semester graduates who majored in physical education for women have secured teaching positions this year.

Listed in this regard are Gloriel Bowen, Junior High school in Lubbock; Lovise Beavers, Lamesa High school; Mattie Hodge, Electra High school; Sophie Alice Hardgrave, Le Fors, and Lillian Kelley, Quitaque.

Thomsen Left In Milwaukee

Duquesne, victor over Tech by 13 to 0 and winner from Marquette by 21 to 13. That would seem to give the Hilltoppers a one-touchdown edge.

The Milwaukee gang arrived in Lubbock yesterday morning, 2:30 strong, and raced through a workout on Tech field yesterday afternoon.

Starters for Tech are Bingham and Wheels, ends; Davis and Nabors, tackles; White and Waldrop, guards; Williams, center; Bain, Storrs, Hill and Calhoun in the backfield.

Hill earned a place in the starting backfield by magnificent work in the mud against Centenary, and will be in the safety position on defense, right half on offense. Wheels, one of the boys who was left at home on the Duquesne-Miami trip, played sixty full minutes of football against Centenary, of such calibre that he earned a post on the starting lineup. Remainder of the lineup is just the same as is has been for the last few games.

Right End Gil Thomsen, regarded as one of the better terminal men in the Middle West, was left at home because of a serious head injury. Remainder of the Marquette squad is in tip-top shape.

Bill Burke, another end, is game captain for the Tech fracas.

This is the first home game for Tech in four Saturdays, and next-to-last chance the home fans will get to see them this season.

Montana university invades Lubbock for a game with Tech next Saturday. The Raiders close out the records on the 1939 season against Loyola in New Orleans, Dec. 1.

Here's A New Game—It's Saying Gridster's Names

Missoula, Mont., Nov. 17—Forty-one years of Montana university gridiron captains—and each year the names are tougher to pronounce!

Back in the first decade of the century, such boys as Ward, Craig, Hartman and Morgan captained the Grizzlies, but long after the World War the names started getting tougher.

There were Scherck, Dahlberg, Silvernale and Tabaracci. And in recent years, there have been Popovich, Chinske, Vierkus and Lazetic. The 1939 squad hits a new high for tongue-twisting names, though. Just try pronouncing Omiecinski, Zajanc, Mufich, Shegina, Narbutas, Drahos, Hudacek, Naranche and Schuld.

Toreador Sports Staff
Before our dazed gaze heaving masses of green clad femininity set the vibrating gym floor squeaking like a monstrous un-oiled shoe. Scattered groups of boys smirked across the floor at the bounding girls who exhibited all the qualities of startled kangaroos.

A thought-provocate question separated itself from the ejaculations of the mob, floated up and penetrated our consciousness: "All right, what is a hop?"

Deathly silence fell, and someone ventured: "Well, a hop is a sort of a leap..." "No. That's a leap. And a leap is a leap." "Well, O.K." "A hop is kinda like a jump, isn't it? Like this?" (Demonstrates). "No. A jump is an entirely different matter." "It couldn't be something like a skip, then?" "Not only no, but huh-uh!" Complete frustration here.

Maybe It's A Dance

Hazy pictures befog our minds with this teaser. There are hops and hops, but this one was lacking in "spirit." No go, but it might be the "singular" thing that goes into beer. A procession of thoughts follow: A hop is a little jiggle on one foot. Better, a hop is what you do on one foot after a brick has fallen on the toe of the other. Could be, further, than a hop is what Scotch isn't complete without. This makes it Soda.

Our trend of thought is interrupted. No more is the hop to interest us. Up from the floor drifts: "A leap is a transfer of weight from one foot to the other, like in walking, except you go up in the air when you do it!" And this, mine frans, is thirty minutes in a fish gals' physical ed. class.

GROUP SEEKS CHARTER

Charter for a Texas Technological college foundation, a non-profit organization with nine directors, has been applied for to the secretary of state, according to President Clifford B. Jones. The foundation, if approved, will seek gifts for advancement of research and other literary and scientific undertakings; will aid and complement such work through and in cooperation with Texas Tech; and will seek, through gifts or otherwise, funds from private sources for construction and maintenance of new buildings and laboratories.

Huffman Trains Crack Cage Squad

Five Regulars From '38 Squad Basis For Hopes

Texas Tech fans, dispirited over the showing of the football team this year, are happy over the outlook for the cage squad. Already they are claiming one of the nation's best teams.

All five regulars from the top-flight team Berl Huffman turned out last year are back this year, ready for new court encounters.

Last year, playing in the Border conference, the Raiders were runners-up, second to New Mexico A & M. In four games with the Aggies, Tech won one, and all four were neck-and-neck battles.

Lose To Long Island

After the season was over, the Aggies played in the "world series" of basketball at Madison Square Garden, New York, losing to the crack Long Island quintet by five points.

Curly Risinger, Robert Percival, T. L. Gilley, Beauman Roper and Marshall Brown, last year's regulars, will probably make up the team this year. They have been working out a couple of hours every night since September.

A really high-class schedule has been lined up for the Raiders, including several teams from the Southwest conference. A number of Border conference teams are listed also.

"Welcome Neighbor"

The Why:

Because we feel like we will really be missing something if the old hands don't drop in to chew the fat with us. Because everybody is everybody else's friend, and we don't want to be left out. Because when you hear "Good Mornin' Neighbor" we want you to think of Hop Halsey's.

The When:

We try to be friendly all the time, but during Homecoming we feel like stretching the point a little, because after all it just comes once a year. So make a stop by your store part of your Homecoming plans. We will visit with or sell you all the Xmas merchandise you need.

The Where:

On the same old corner of course. In fact, if you can't find who you're looking for, chances are he's over here on the corner with a bunch of the boys. Here is where you get those famous steaks and sandwiches, also the Vitamin Ice Cream and thick Malts. Come in to see us...

Coach Cawthon Welcomes Ex-Lettermen To Homecoming Celebration Today

Dozens Of Former Raider Lettermen Come Back Today

Handsome Ransom, Louis Jones, Ed Smith Here

By WILLIAM AMO
Toreador Sports Staff

"Welcome home, ex-lettermen! Boy, we're sho' glad to have you'all back with us again. This place is yours for the weekend, so go out and have some fun. If there is anything we can do to make your brief stay enjoyable, just let us know and we'll do our best—even to trying to stop Marquette."

Thus spoke Coach Pete Cawthon in his gymnasium office Friday morning, cordially greeting the first arrivals of former Tech athletes.

Homecoming, with all of its fanfare, confetti, and gala attractions, is here once more and no one likes it better than the bustling Raider mentor. Coach Cawthon is right in his glory when homecoming hits the campus, renewing old acquaintances, swapping stories with some of his former players, and talking shop with his pupils of other years who are also in the coaching game. Incidentally, Cawthon has 150 proteges directing athletics in schools all over the country.

McKeever Can't Come

Let's delve into the lives of a few winners of the coveted Double-T and see how they are faring during these times of stress and strain. Some of the stars of bygone seasons are unable to attend today's celebration, but will be here in spirit. For instance, there is Ed McKeever, ex-Tech backfield great, and now backfield coach at Boston college.

Last year McKeever, starting his duties at the northern institution, missed homecoming for the first time in several years. However, a lengthy telegram from Ed was received by Coach Cawthon and his cohorts just before the tilt with Gonzaga. McKeever expressed his profound admiration for Texas Tech and wished the coaches and gridders all the success in the world. Today the faithful follower of TT will be scouting Holy Cross for Boston college, but his thoughts will be with the Raiders.

Phillbrick at Perryton

Six winners of the Standerfer-Cannon trophy for the athlete maintaining the highest scholastic average are slated to be on hand this weekend. George Phillbrick, 1939 cup winner, is assistant coach at Perryton High where his eleven is capturing the district title. A. B. (Red) Murphy, 1937 medalist, captained last year's Cotton Bowl team and would miss homecoming for a million. Murphy is directing sports at Memphis High.

Louis Jones and Ed Smith, award winners of 1938 and 1936 respectively, will arrive in town today. Jones is assistant coach to Winfred Baze, former Tech back and later a pro grinder, at Mt. Pleasant High in East Texas. Smith works for the Freeport Sulphur Co. in New Orleans.

Larry Priddy and Lacy Turner, first two cup recipients in 1933 and 1934, have gained state-wide recognition for their football teams at Sweetwater and Wink, respectively. Johnny Frim, heralded as the athlete holding the highest scholastic average in Tech history, at 92, is located in Montgomery, Ala., and writes that he'll be unable to attend.

Katrola Brings 39

Other ex-Techans in the coaching field who are likely to be on the campus today are Alvin Katrola, who is bringing 39 to his Kermit High players to the game; Raymond (Babe) Curfman, who is enjoying an undefeated campaign at Tulla High; Paul Morris of Sam Norwood High; Coleman Cowan of Idalou; Bill Holcomb of Port Neches; Harris Cheek of Shallowater; Harvey Dunn, assistant mentor at Hobbs, N.M.; Dennis McWilliams, line coach at Denton High; Adrian Clark, who is aiding Priddy at Sweetwater; and Truett Owens, line coach at Sherman High.

G. B. Morris, assistant coach at Breckenridge where a state championship eleven is being groomed; Volney Hill and Park Robinson, coaches of the high-spirited Burk-burnett squad; Gene Barnett of Memphis High; Woodrow Wilson of Crosbyton High; Toby Greer, athletic instructor in Lovington, N.M.; High; and Milton Moffett, educational director at the CCC barracks in Carlsbad, N.M.

Handsome Ransom Here

Texas Tech's first football captain, Winfield Nicklaus, will be unable to attend this year's homecoming affair. Nicklaus led the local team in 1925 and is head coach at Oklahoma Baptist university, Shawnee. However, Ransom Walker, sometimes called Tech's greatest back, has planned to take in the celebration. Vaughn Corley, a teammate of Walker's just before Coach Cawthon's regime, recently sent his best regards from the University of Oregon, where he is line coach. Police Chief Lester Tribble of Sherman sent word at the last minute that he will try to make the Tech-Marquette grid battle. Herschel Tadlock of Texas City plans to be here today. Tadlock played end for the Raiders and still holds the college high jump record at 6 feet 3 inches. Others who are returning include Orville Brothers and Raymond Barton, coaches of Sulphur Springs high; Bill Williams, Ralls mentor; J. D. Walker, Malakoff coach; J. H. Dallas, Brownfield postmaster; and Will

More puffs per pack...and More Mildness, Coolness, and Flavor with Slower-Burning Camels

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give a smoking plus equal to 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

The costlier tobaccos are slower-burning...milder...cooler...mellower

MANY a smoker has switched to Camels because his value-sense applauded the thrift of getting more puffs per pack. But... that's only one small part of the story of slow burning. You get a lot more than savings! You get extra mildness! Common sense tells you that a fast, fiery, hot-burning cigarette will not smoke comfortably or yield a delicate taste and fragrance. And that slow-burning tobaccos naturally would be mild and mellow. You get extra coolness. You needn't be a scientist to know that the slower tobacco burns, the cooler the smoking. You get extra-fine flavor. Excess heat ruthlessly destroys the subtle elements of flavor and aroma. Slow-burning Camels tell their own taste-tale! So... for thrift and for a smoking thrill... light up a slow-burning Camel!

COED'S CORNER BELIEVES

No Matter Where You Go, Tech Is Good To Be From

By MARY BETH. "From" is not the important word in this column, but we Techsters emphasize where we come from because no matter where we go we're always from Tech.

Listen, coeds, if your one and only makes love like a veteran, look out. He's probably been through a dozen engagements.

Jack Wells asked Marjorie where Peggy was the other day. "She's over eating at the dorm," said Marjorie.

Men are a funny lot. If you say, "I never want to see you anymore," they turn off the lights.

Ever since the time Wally Simpson was "Gone with the Windsor" coeds have been interested in designers and such. Elsa Schiaparelli, who was born in Italy, had Egyptian forebearers.

Last year at a homecoming party in his honor one of the exes kept saying, "Aw, why doncha lemme alone? Nobody cares if I drink myself to death."

Hm-m-m, forgive me for being serious, but if you're worried over all these mid-semester exams just remember Dorothy Parker's words, "Guns aren't lawful, nooses give, and gas smells awful, so you might as well live."

I protest against this insidious propaganda, that is eating like a malignant cancer into the very vitals of our manhood's reputation for chivalry.

With apologies to you for my seeming bitterness, and a prayer that you will see fit to make this school safe for the gentlemen within its confines to enjoy life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Sincerely yours, J. G. WHALEDRIVER proximately $5,000 available in loans to those women graduates who earnestly want to pursue their work in Tech or in another school of higher learning.

We are trying to reach all women graduates of Tech and all alumni who were enrolled during Dr. W. Horn's administration to give them an opportunity to contribute to the memorial in which all of us are vitally interested.

Contributions and pledges may be given to Flossie Burkholder, assistant cashier at Tech, or taken to the office of Dean Mary W. Doak.

Attending the Tuesday meeting were Miss Margaret W. Weeks, Mrs. Juanita Price, Alice Lynn Street, Flossie Burkholder, Lorene Childers, Eleanor Jungman and Mrs. Doak, members of the governing board, and Mrs. Edna W. Buster, chairman of the finance committee.

Caught Leaving The Souci Tea

Tea-sippers Marjorie Boone, Marian Coffman, and Frances Taylor paused Sunday afternoon to have their photo snapped as they left the tea San Souci pledges gave for D.F.D., Las Chaparritas, Ko Shari, and Las Vivarachas pledges and special guests.

For the College Man:

Portraits in Character

Pop-Eye, Robert Taylor, or just plain old Joe College—they all represent American conceptions of manhood, and every man has his own idea of how he looks.

Last year Lubbock's Most Modern Studio of Photography brought to Texas Tech co-eds new styles in portraiture. (Remember the striking sophistication of such portraits as those of La Ventana Beauty Emmarie Gibbs and Cotton Green Opal Hill?)
