HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

There is no brighter star in Big Spring's crown than her school system. That her people are interested in it, and realize the fundamental necessity of improving it is attested by the heavy majority given a school bond issue not so long ago.

Three additional elementary school buildings now are being built. They will to a great degree relieve congestion in the system.

Tomorrow morning seventy teachers, well-trained and anxious to do all in their power to guide their pupils rightly will report with approximately 2,000 pupils for another year's work.

School days are happy days to the boy or girl who enters wholeheartedly into all of school's tasks and activities. So superior to the advantages offered but a few decades ago are those of today that children may consider themselves blest.

The teacher's responsibility is not the only one that must be properly discharged if the boys and girls of the community are to receive maximum benefit from school attendance. The parents and guardians of those youngsters must cooperate with teachers to complete a successful arrangement for all concerned.

Not so many years ago when we went to public elementary school, if we were disciplined at school we could expect some more of the same stuff when we got home. Oftentimes much harm is done a child because a loving parent, overlooking the fact that his or her offspring is human just as every other person, assumes a hostile attitude toward a teacher who in the discharge of her duties finds it necessary for the child's good to administer discipline in one form or another, although corporal punishment, a medieval tool or a medieval system, is happily about to be completely discarded in the schools.

We always did think and we've heard some mighty good school men say that in most every case the teacher who finds it necessary to resort to corporal punishment in so doing admits her own inability to cope properly with the situation confronting her.

Present-day public school life projects itself into many more realms of thought and activity than in the days when dad and mother were children. This change is in line with changes in American life. If a child is to be fortified to live in his own day he must necessarily be made ready for a more complex existence. But, after all, the simpler and the deeper the instruction and the lessons therefrom, the steadier will be the child's feet as he trods through life.

Giant Rays 18 Feet Wide Shows Up In Gulf Waters

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The largest sport in this section is harpooning giant rays which have been found in large numbers near the mouth of the Rio Grande. Schools of the fish, seen here for the first time in years, have appeared suddenly. A boat containing five fishermen recently was towed by a giant ray five miles out in the gulf. The fish had harpooned and the rope became tangled in the propeller and could not be cut. Other fish seldom caught near here which have been hooked this summer include the dolphin and the blue fish.

LUBBOCK ASKS HEARING ON T & P N

LUBBOCK, Sept. 1.—An interstate commerce commission hearing in connection with a proposal by the Texas and Pacific Northern railway to construct a 333 mile line from Big Spring north into the Panhandle is expected within the next 90 days by officials of the railroad, it was reported here Tuesday.

An invitation to hold the hearing here has been extended the interstate commerce commission by the Lubbock chamber of commerce, officials of the latter organization said.

Completion of the preliminary survey, which must be placed before the regulatory body, likely will require about six weeks, it has been said, and will precede the setting of the application for hearing. It was also revealed that the question of when the petition can be reached on the docket of the commission also must be taken into consideration, but officials are of the opinion that the hearing will probably be set for November.

The proposed new construction, for which application was filed Monday, would have as its northern terminus, Vega, in Oldham county, and would include extensions from Dimmitt to Amarillo and from the southeastern portion of Terry county to Lubbock. The two spurs would be 55 miles and 46 miles, respectively.

The new road would intersect the Santa Fe at five points in the 12 counties it would traverse, and the two lines would be parallel from Canyon to Amarillo.

The above map of the West Texas area originally prescribed as being that in which emergency drought relief, as necessary has been reduced by three counties, as a result of unofficial announcements of representatives of those counties on the state drought relief committee at its session of Friday in Wichita Falls. Conditions, though stringent, are not acute in Howard, Dawson and Lynn counties, the committee was told, according to E. Reagan, the Howard county member, who returned from Wichita Falls late Saturday. He told the committee crop conditions in this county are far from the desolate condition in many counties and that the problem for local farmers is not the drought so much as low prices for farm products.

The body of J. Daniels Houston, youthful clerk of the Texas & Pacific Railway, who was instantly killed Saturday night when he was thrown from his automobile as it turned over on the Big Spring-San Angelo Highway, was sent to Jacksonville, Fla., Sunday night.

F. J. Gibson, 407 West Fifth street, who was riding with Houston but escaped uninjured, accompanied the body.

Houston was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Houston of Jacksonville, formerly of Big Spring.

A few months ago the elder Houston was a Texas & Pacific Railway dispatcher.

Farmers Paid Less For 1930 Grain Crop

LAMPASAS, Tex., Sept. 1 (AP)—Farmers of Lampasas county received $125,000 for their small grain crops, about 15 per cent less than was received last year, according to a report made by the county agricultural agent. Although there was a 12 per cent increase in the acreage, about 30 per cent of the total planted was frozen out during the severe freezes of last winter.

The county produced 175 cars of oats, worth approximately $90,000. The average yield was 25 bushels to the acre. About half the oat crop was held by farmers for better prices, home consumption and feed purposes.

The wheat crop aggregated only about 25 cars, several thousand bushels under last year's mark. Maize, the grain sorghums and barley shipments will not total more than 30 cars.

Singing Convention Convenes In Lamesa

LAMESA, Sept. 1.—Over 1,000 South Plains people gathered in Lamesa Sunday morning for Dawson county's fifth annual singing convention in the high school auditorium promptly at ten o'clock. Talented singers of four counties surrounding Lamesa took part in the day's program which was featured by a basket lunch at noon.

ONIONS SHIPPED

SAN SABA, Tex., Sept. 1 (AP)—Between 90,000 and 100,000 pounds of white Bermuda onions have been stored in a warehouse here within the past week. A major portion of the crop was produced on the irrigated onion farm of J. M. Gage, east of here.

New Klondyke School Erection Is Started

LAMESA, Sept. 1 (AP)—Erection of the Klondyke school at a cost of $15,585 was begun last week, according to W. T. Webb, superintendent of Dawson county schools. The new school will have six rooms and an auditorium. Three hundred pupils can be housed in the large structure which will be completed December 1. J. G. Biffle of Lubbock gas awarded the contract and the erection is under the supervision of Harvey Allen, local architect.

Expenses Filed By Aspirants To Office

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 1 (AP)—Expense accounts of Ross S. Sterling, who won the Democratic nomination for governor and his opponent, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, were filed today with the secretary of state.

Sterling reported personal expenses of $1,194 and campaign contributions of $99. His campaign manager, William Strauss, filed an account of $6,906 spent, making a total of $8,100.

Mrs. Ferguson's affidavit showed expenditures totaling $3,112 and campaign contributions of $1,857. Both reports were complete for both primaries.

Sterling's report included an explanatory note saying that because of "certain typographical errors and certain omissions inadvertently made, in good faith, it is now my desire to correct errors and omissions to the end that this final statement shall be a complete report."

"I have not violated either in law or in spirit any provisions of the law governing campaign expenditures," he added.

Sterling P. Strong, who lost the race for lieutenant governor to Edgar A. Witt, filed a report showing expenses of $716.

Cuyler Likely To Beat His Base Theft Record

CHICAGO (AP)—Riki Cuyler, baseball's most notorious base robber, threatens to beat his National league record of 43 stolen sacks. It was set last year.

Lightning speed, a shrewd knowledge of every pitcher's movements and ability to make an inside or outside sock are Cuyler's stock in trade. Bating ahead of Hack Wilson also has its advantages. This year Cuyler deliberately beat a pitch out.

Cuyler has averaged 35 stolen bases a season.

No Hits In 9 Innings, But Hurler Barely Wins

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Buck Greene, pitching for Macon, Ga., of the Sally league, didn't allow a hit for nine innings in a recent tilt with Charlotte, but almost lost his game at the start through his own slips.

Buck finally finished with a 3 to 2 victory in ten innings and without a no-hit game. Catcher Luebke of Charlotte banded a single in the tenth.

Greene started the first inning by hitting a batsman in the foot, giving a walk and muffed a throw when he covered first base on a ball hit to the first baseman. That allowed Charlotte two runs, but Buck settled down and went nine innings without issuing a hit.

Macon won when Shortstop Mann homered in the tenth.

Texas Drouth Causes Crops Deterioration

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 1 (AP)—The severe drought over a large area of the Eleventh Federal Reserve Bank district has caused a rapid deterioration in growing crops and has intensified the slackness in business and industry, according to a resume of conditions in the district made by the federal reserve bank here.

On the basis of the August 1 report of the department of agriculture the indicated production of major crops, cotton excepted, was smaller than a year ago, the review revealed. While the prospective yield of cotton was somewhat larger than the small 1929 crop, the survey continued, the lower level of prices prevailing for this commodity will offset the advantage of larger production.

The low indicated return from the cotton crop, the report said, together with the reduced income from other crops, will materially affect the purchasing power of the district. It added, there had been sufficient moisture to mature fair to good crops but conditions were becoming acute in those sections where the drought had been most severe.

Deterioration

The report also said that the protracted drought and the unusually high temperatures which prevailed over practically all of Texas had caused a sharp deterioration in range conditions. The condition of ranges on August 1 was estimated at 76 per cent of normal, which represented a 10 point decline during July in cattle ranges and 12 points in sheep and goat ranges. Livestock, however, was reported to have held up remarkably well in the face of adverse conditions.

The review further stated that "the demand for merchandise in both wholesale and retail channels continued at a low level during the month. The sales of department stores in the larger centers reflected a decline of 21 per cent from the previous month, due in part to seasonal influences, and was seven per cent lower than in the corresponding month a year ago.

"While sales in some lines of wholesale trade showed a seasonal improvement over June, the gain was less than usual and business was on a considerably smaller scale than in 1929. The low prospective returns from agriculture, added to the prevailing dullness of trade, has increased the cautious attitude of merchants with the result that they are limiting purchases to actual requirements.

State Lands Placed On Market By Walker

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 1 (AP)—Approximately 65,000 acres of public land was placed on the market Monday for sale Tuesday, J. H. Walker, commissioner of the general land office said today. Most of the land is of little value and is suitable only for grazing purposes, Walker said. Bids on the land will be received at the general land office.

The land is in class B, more than 100,000 acres of class A land having been withdrawn from the market last week by Commissioner Walker as a drought relief measure. Walker stated in taking the land from the market he did not deem it proper to forfeit the land since the crops of the farmers, in many instances, had been destroyed by the drought.

Average leasing prices of the land was expected to be between $2 and $25, with the majority going for around $5 and $10.

University Library Received Many Relics

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 31 (AP)—Relics dating back to the landing of the Pilgrims and including memorabilia of the war of 1812, the Mexican Revolution and the Civil War are on display in the archives of the University of Texas library. A Bible, bound in worn tan leather, which was brought from England on the Mayflower, is the oldest article exhibited.

Included in the display is a small red velvet case containing the photograph of Phoebe Folger, cousin of Benjamin Franklin and wife of John Deane of Assawamsett, Mass. She was the grandmother of Frederick and Emily Cushman, who presented the picture to the library.

The sword of Col. Edwin Waller Jr., in command of the Waller battalion of the Confederate Army, is also in the exhibition. It is the property of Edwin Waller III of San Marcos, grandson of Waller, who was the first mayor of Austin and a signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence.

Pioneer Scientist's Collection Received

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 1 (AP)—Papers and the plant collection of Gideon Lincoecum, one of the most interesting and unique characters among the early doctors and scientists of Texas have been presented to the University of Texas library by his grandsons, G. B. and F. L. Doran of Hempstead. They were obtained through the efforts of J. Everts Haley, collector in research in social science at the university.

The papers consist of letters and a diary of a trip made with J. B. Buckley, the first state geologist, through many Central Texas counties in 1866-67. The botanical collection consists of 312 rare specimens, many of them having medicinal value. Lincoecum's classification of the plants and the methods and processes used by the Indians to extract the medicine is included in the collection, which, librarians stated, is in a remarkable state of preservation.

Arrangements

In case the parents of a high school pupil wish him to stay in school the entire school day rather than be dismissed, whenever his last class ends, this will be done. In cases where school authorities feel it is to the interests of the pupil to stay there and study until the final period ends such recommendation will be made to the parents or guardian.

Seventy teachers will be on duty from the first day of this session and at least eight more will be employed when the three new buildings are opened.

Registration

Principal George Gentry has announced the following registration schedule for high school students: Tuesday, September 2, 9 a. m., Freshman "b" group (students beginning high school or with less than two credits).

Tuesday, 1 a. m., Freshman "A" group, all students with 2 to 4 credits.

Tuesday, 2 p. m., Sophomore "B" group, students with 4 to 6 credits.

Wednesday, 9 a. m., Sophomore "A" group, students with 6 to 10 credits.

Six-Year-Old Children Now Are Eligible

Faculty Meets Today; Principal Issues Schedule For Week

Two thousand Big Spring children are expected to be enrolled in the city schools before the end of this week. The session will open Tuesday morning.

Supt. W. C. Blankenship and George Gentry, high school principal, were busy with final arrangements for the opening and announcements and directions to pupils and teachers.

For the first time six-year-old children will come under the scope of public free education here and throughout the state.

Now Eligible

All children six years old or over before today, September 1, are now of school age, the limit having been lowered by law from seven to six years, effective today.

All these children, therefore, are expected to enroll in the schools this week.

Children of the first, second, third and fourth grades will report at 9 a. m. Tuesday to the regular ward buildings in which they were taught last session.

Three new grade buildings, in the north, east and west sections of the city, are being built and will be ready for occupancy in time for the beginning of the second semester of the session.

Supt. Blankenship announced a general meeting of the teachers of all buildings for 1:30 p. m. Monday in the high school auditorium.

Mr. Blankenship predicted enrollment during the first week this year would exceed that of last year, and that the total would reach 2,000. He said the senior high school building alone would be forced to accommodate 900 to 1,000 children.

New Organization

This year the senior high and junior high buildings, located adjacent to each other on the high school block, will be operated as a single unit. George Gentry, high school principal for the past two sessions and D. H. Reed, junior high building principal for the same period, will this year be principal and vice principal, respectively, of the unit housed in both buildings. Miss Lorena Huggins, for several years a member of the faculty, has been named attendance officer, a new and important post, to which will be delegated much of the detail connected with the principal's office.

Supt. Blankenship also announced that this session high school students will not be required to report at the school building after they register until their first recitation.

Throughout the session, he announced, high school pupils will not be required to stay in school until the final period ends but may go to their homes when their last recitation ends. This is being done to relieve congestion in the senior high building. Grade schools this year will "take up" at 8:15 a. m., after registration has been finished during this week. High school will open the first recitation period at 8:15 a. m.

In case the parents of a high school pupil wish him to stay in school the entire school day rather than be dismissed, whenever his last class ends, this will be done. In cases where school authorities feel it is to the interests of the pupil to stay there and study until the final period ends such recommendation will be made to the parents or guardian.

Seventy teachers will be on duty from the first day of this session and at least eight more will be employed when the three new buildings are opened.

Tuesday, 1 a. m., Freshman "A" group, all students with 2 to 4 credits.

Tuesday, 2 p. m., Sophomore "B" group, students with 4 to 6 credits.

Wednesday, 9 a. m., Sophomore "A" group, students with 6 to 10 credits.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Pittston, Pa. Is it correct that Buddhism teaches the ultimate annihilation of man's spiritual faculties?

The issue is not clear. According to Max Muller, Riba, Inada and other eminent authorities, "Nirvana" or the summit bonum of when St. Paul wrote "the things that vana" of Buddhism's disciples, not seen as eternal, he had at implies their final and complete escape from existence. As against Buddha had under the Bodhi Tree.

Brooklyn, N. Y. Do you really mean what you said in a recent address. That the world's affairs are too big for its leaders to handle? Isn't that a reflection on many fine and gifted men and women in public life?

The statement to which you refer does not express my personal opinion. I quoted it from an observer of men and events in order to re-echo it. Nevertheless, not a few

When we consider that there are light rays invisible to the human eye, and cosmic sounds inaudible to ears, and solar universes existing in a single electron, it may well be that through the fleshy existence which Buddhism deprecates and endeavors to obliterate, man approaches that infinite and enduring life which St. Paul appropriated by his faith in Christ.

authorities maintain that the world's present leadership is exercised by the wrong people and also hindered by every imperfect method. I am not thinking of the Soviets, who threaten to burn down the house in order to warm it. They must be left to the fruit of their own ways.

But H. G. Wells insists it is impossible to think of human society as secure and satisfactory until a single world commonwealth exists, controlling those moral, biological and economic forces which would otherwise lead to war. According to this bold and sincere author, that commonwealth will not need a monarch or a president. Government like scientific process, will be conducted by statement, criticism and publication.

So the old order of loyalties must ultimately disappear, according to this theory. Indeed, Mr. Wells seems to regard them as cancerous growths requiring drastic surgery. As he views the problem, not only politicians but economists are superfluous. Their literature "is ten thousand times as bulky, dreary and foolish as all the outpourings of the medieval schoolmen."

I think he damages his case by assumptions which suggest the vague and the impossible. Desirable progress is slow because man is inherently conservative. Its chief factor is right direction, not speed. Reforms which outpace the general mind frequently react to ward further abuses.

Lexington, Ky. Do you uphold vivisection? I am so opposed to it that I cannot understand how any minister can favor this cruel practice.

It is idle to deny that vivisection inflicts suffering upon animals. After admitting the legal safeguards and the fact that animals do not feel pain as keenly as human beings, the tortures thus imposed demand every human person's careful consideration.

No one supposes that scientific investigators are less merciful than the rest of us. On the contrary, their avowed object is the relief of human suffering and the reduction of preventable death. Nor can it be denied that they have rendered society great and lasting service through their experiments upon God's dumb creatures. I urge you to study the list of useful discoveries made and diseases conquered by the practice of vivisection. You will, I think, find it very impressive.

But you may object—that these benefits do not establish the morality of the practice and ask if equally good results could not be obtained by less repulsive means. I agree and often wonder whether or not certain physical advantages are not gained at the cost of greater values. Any wrongdoing toward the defenseless is a sin in the sight of God.

With these reservations I do not think that the sacrifice of the lower in behalf of the higher forms of life can be condemned out of hand. With the provision that we ought to make the fullest possible use of all aids to health before inflicting additional pain on animal life, it still remains true that we have to subject that life to our necessities, such as food and clothing. Can any one completely avoid doing this? And, after all, is not the welfare of the human race the prime factor in the problem you raise?

A bill providing a fund of not more than $2,000,000 to help farmers install electrical devices on their farms has been passed by the Ontario legislature.

Leo DeKorn of New York walked 57 miles while playing 200 holes of golf in 15 hours.

THE WATER BUCKETS

Here it is dove season and we guess the doves, despite their angelic complex, cuss the hunters as much as the hunters hurl vile words at the doves. Is it an arrangement out of the ordinary that dove season and bill collectors come on the first day of the month? It is still against the law, however, to mistake a bill collector for a dove and shoot his wings off. It's still manslaughter or something of the sort.

We have at hand an elongated resume of Cisco High school's history pounded out of the battered machine by none other than House the Great of the Ranger Times. Inasmuch as there was no letter attached we are still groping in the darkness, wondering whether House expects us to pay for the article, whether he sent it to us in good faith to place among the unpublished works of Boyce, whether he wants us to read it and grow wise, or whether he just had an extra stamp and let it fly our way. We presume it makes little difference. The thing is, about this time the historian of the district digs into his diary and informs what on Nov. 11 at 3:34 p. m., central standard time, 1914, Beau Brummel made five yards over the tackle, therefore winning the game for dear old Podunk. The Cisco of the present interests us a great deal more than the Cisco of the past. Besides we need all extra coin to get a pair of shoes for one of the Steers that has no more shoes than we have.

Mr. Francis Moore, an American pianist and a member of the faculty of the New York City University, New York, and the Settlement Mounts at Mineral Wells, across the country they will trek, from one end to the other, to battle the mason and white mountaineers. The game with the Exes won't prove anything. The game with Ruby won't show much. But the hobby with the Mountaineers should display plenty.

It will be well for Big Spring to remember that Mineral Wells of 1929 isn't the Water Hole of 1929. Last year Mineral Wells first in Class A. A group of boys that had been pampered and praised for two or three years were cocky. The coach couldn't handle them, so they went their way, had no principles of training at all, practiced when they wanted to, and played if it wasn't too hot. They couldn't stand criticism. How well we know it. As a result, the heavy youngsters found the tactics of Class A couldn't be compared with the makeshiftness of Class B. In other words they took their medicine. This year Red Moore, T. C. U. product, is making things take a different hue and shape. There won't be any of that loafing, that nonchalant mode of playing football on Moore's aggregation. It is a different group altogether.

Texas Cowboy Rides Hard In American Polo Trials

The fourth story of a series on candidates for America's "Big Four" international polo team to meet the British in the matches beginning September 6.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK (AP)—The spectacular entry of Herb W. Pennock, Williams into the battle this year for places on the American polo "Big Four" marks a salient step in the game's nationwide growth.

Eight years ago the Rube was a cow-puncher on a big ranch near Llano, Texas. The Lone Star state had bred many a good polo pony and Williams knew a good one when he saw it. But at that time he had no special ambition to take up the game.

This year the Texas has galloped to the vanguard in the big parade of polo on Long Island, along with Cecil Smith, another rider from the southwest.

Williams at 39, the oldest of the international squad, has attracted unusual attention by his daring, brilliant riding.

Ponies seem to know they have a master in the saddle when the Rube has the leg up.

Whether or not Williams makes the American team for the series with England, starting September 6, he will have played a prominent role in the campaign of preparation.

Primarily a defensive player, Rube consistently has spurred Capt. Tommy Hitchcock's varsity "Whites" by his spectacular work at No. 3 of polo ponies.

They first were given jobs at Williams finally was given a trial breaking in the mounts and (at No. 2 with the regulars, naturally into competition. Williams as this position has been the most difficult to fill. He made back, for the past two years. He has earned a two-goal increase, as well as when in the backfield, the basis of his performances in the test matches.

RUE WILLIAMS

The Steers make their initial public appearance Saturday when they battled the Exes of Big Spring high school. It is an old tradition, so they say, to play the Exes first. On the following Friday they play their first real game—Ruby at Big Spring. After that—just one week, to be exact, the Steers go up against their first 1930 Class A competition—the Mineral Wells Man-Mountain at Mineral Wells. Across the country they will trek, from one end to the other, to battle the mason and white mountaineers. The game with the Exes won't prove anything. The game with Ruby won't show much. But the hobby with the Mountaineers should display plenty.

It will be well for Big Spring to remember that Mineral Wells of 1929 isn't the Water Hole of 1929. Last year Mineral Wells first in Class A. A group of boys that had been pampered and praised for two or three years were cocky. The coach couldn't handle them, so they went their way, had no principles of training at all, practiced when they wanted to, and played if it wasn't too hot. They couldn't stand criticism. How well we know it. As a result, the heavy youngsters found the tactics of Class A couldn't be compared with the makeshiftness of Class B. In other words they took their medicine. This year Red Moore, T. C. U. product, is making things take a different hue and shape. There won't be any of that loafing, that nonchalant mode of playing football on Moore's aggregation. It is a different group altogether.

We find ourself today in a very embarrassing position. Weeks ago the business manager, one Mr. Robert Jacobs, lost his pocketbook. Not that it mattered from a monetary standpoint. The business manager's pocketbook, like our pocketbook, sees more empty days than full ones. But it was filled with little trinkets, pieces of string, identification cards, et cetera. Last night, much to our chagrin, not to mention discomfort, embarrassment, excitement and astonishment, the pocketbook was found in the inside pocket of our old tweed coat which we use on a rainy day, if any. Nope, we haven't used it much. After this when pocketbooks are placed in our tweed coats inside emporium, please see that at least enough for a small steak smothered in fried onions and a cup of coffee is left therein.

Supt. Blankenship stops at our desk long enough to inform there wouldn't be any night football here unless the moon acted white about it. What he means is that the night equipment won't be purchased and football will go on being a day-time pastime. They cost so much it would have been necessary to throw in the high school building as a first payment, and then try and pay for 'em.

Which, in our opinion, is just as well. We always contended that sleep is the best night game of all. It's one of our hobbies, as it were.

DECLARES RESULT WAS AMAZING

"My Troubles Are Gone Since Taking Orgatone," Suffered For 25 Years," Says Lubbock Man

It is not what the manufacturer claims for it, but the testimony of the multiplied thousands who have benefited by it that has made Argotone the most famous medicine of its kind today. C. A. Ashley, 1120 Avenue H, Lubbock, Texas, who is the owner of the Texas Camp Ground, in relating his experience said:

"For twenty five years I have had an awful lot of trouble with my stomach. Everything disagreed with me after meals and I would get that puffed up, bloated feeling and belch up my food sour and undigested. I got to the point where I was almost afraid to eat after meals. I was constipated and had terrible headaches and my sleep was very run down. I was losing weight and felt tired and worn out all the time. I was losing ground every day and felt that unless I got something to relieve me, my troubles would soon be serious. I tried a very bad case of kidney trouble and at times, I would have intense severe, throbbing pains in my back and sides and I would hurt me so certain if federal funds are available for relief work.

If necessary, Governor Moody stated he would go to Washington to intercede in behalf of Texas farmers who are facing ruin through crop losses.

Governor Moody said his "Buy a Bale of Cotton" movement was gaining impetus through the south and that he had received numerous letters and telegrams endorsing the movement. One of the telegrams was received from Forney, Texas, where the citizens have pledged themselves to buy 250 bales of cotton. Forty of the bales already have been purchased, the message said.

Commenting on the adverse sentiment which his plan was receiving in some quarters, Moody said the movement was not an effort to supersede the work of the cotton cooperatives but was simply an attempt to furnish relief to men who needed money immediately. He reiterated his former statements that a movement of this nature would facilitate the work of the farm board. Governor Moody said his movement did not indicate the south was in financial distress but that it was started as a means of giving the farmer a price for his product that was commensurate with the cost of production.

commercial failures in this district, after reaching a high point in June, showed a distinct betterment during the past month. Both the number of defaults and the amount of indebtedness involved were smaller than in either the previous month or the corresponding month last year.

"The valuation of building permits at principal cities in the district, which dropped to the lowest level in several years during June, showed a decided gain in July, the total being 128 per cent greater than in the previous month and 67 per cent larger than a year ago.

This gain, however, was due principally to the activity in one city.

"The operations of the district's lumber mills remained at practically the same level as in the previous month but were substantially smaller than a year ago.

"The financial situation reflected largely the effects of seasonal influences. The daily average of net demand and time deposits of member banks declined from $47,946,000 in June to $43,517,000 in July, and those for the latter month were $38,351,000 less than in the corresponding month of 1929.

"The borrowing of member banks at the federal reserve bank here rose from $9,554,395 on June 30 to $14,109,182 on August 15, but on the latter date they were $28,350,777 less than on the same date a year ago.

"The loans to reserve city banks have remained at a low level during the current season, whereas, a year ago they represented a very large percentage of the total. The loans to country banks have been running slightly lower than during the previous year."

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 1 (AP)—A request that relief workers be sent into Texas counties stricken by the drought will be made to the southwest headquarters of the American Red Cross at St. Louis as soon as a report of the meeting of the Texas drought committee, held yesterday in Wichita Falls, is received, Governor Dan Moody said.

The governor said he would ask W. H. Baxter, in charge of the St. Louis headquarters, to send his personal representative into the distressed area.

Governor Moody said he was working on plans to obtain further relief than could be given by the banks and various loan agencies and that he planned to confer with Secretary of Agriculture Arthur D. Hyde by telephone as soon as he could reach him in Chicago to ascertain if federal funds are available for relief work.

If necessary, Governor Moody stated he would go to Washington to intercede in behalf of Texas farmers who are facing ruin through crop losses.

Governor Moody said his "Buy a Bale of Cotton" movement was gaining impetus through the south and that he had received numerous letters and telegrams endorsing the movement. One of the telegrams was received from Forney, Texas, where the citizens have pledged themselves to buy 250 bales of cotton. Forty of the bales already have been purchased, the message said.

Commenting on the adverse sentiment which his plan was receiving in some quarters, Moody said the movement was not an effort to supersede the work of the cotton cooperatives but was simply an attempt to furnish relief to men who needed money immediately. He reiterated his former statements that a movement of this nature would facilitate the work of the farm board. Governor Moody said his movement did not indicate the south was in financial distress but that it was started as a means of giving the farmer a price for his product that was commensurate with the cost of production.
