

SLAYER OF WOMAN KNOWN

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

MOST interesting items of the day, locally, are those in boxes on this page.

An iron foundry is being established here, with an initial force of ten men.

Coach Bill Stevens has summoned candidates for the 1930 Steer Round-Up for its first session of the training season.

A lot of difference in the two. Both both are interesting and important.

Every new industry, every additional payroll, however small or large, further strengthens Big Spring; making her less susceptible to droughts and periods of quiet in agriculture or other sources of income she possesses.

When some towns sink because they must rely on one source alone Big Spring can rock along at least, and, more often, keep stepping at a fairly lively clip.

Now, about football. There is no tonic so tonic, so nice to take for a whole community—than a real, genuine, amateur football spirit.

Wouldn't give a dime for all the professional athletic contests so long as we could see high school or college football. Rather see a bunch of kids playing football with half a team on a vacant lot than to watch anybody's Bears or Gladiators in a professional grid match.

When a town gets the real football spirit there is a lot more neighborliness. It's more pleasant to live among ourselves, if you get what we mean.

A town's football spirit, or a school's is tested when or before a team wins, and not by its fanfare and back patting of the players after a victory.

Big Spring can get a lot of kick out of football if she tries. Co-operate with the coach, first. If some of the boys get out of line, try to run the squad or break training, pour it on 'em. Don't sic 'em on.

We'd like to see some gigantic downtown community rallies like that before the games. Bring on the pigskin.

CONDITION OF CEMETERY IS CLUB TOPIC

Condition of the local cemetery was the chief topic at Thursday's luncheon of the Kiwanis club, when Hilo Hatch was in charge of the meeting.

The Jackson sisters and Mary Wade scored with the Kiwanians. The sisters are accomplished violinists and Miss Wade is a reader and pianist.

FERGUSON LEAD NOW IS 67,951

Error in Count Found; Total Vote Now Is 782,470

DALLAS, July 31 (AP)—Another count of the Texas Election Bureau announced today gave Miriam A. Ferguson a lead of 67,951 votes over Ross S. Sterling of Houston. 782,470 votes having been accounted for in Saturday's Democratic primary. Today's total was 2,000 votes less than yesterday's because the bureau detected an error in that report. Mrs. Ferguson and Sterling were to enter the runoff for the gubernatorial nomination.

Returns had been received from 252 counties, 178 complete. The standing: Ferguson 228,503; Sterling 160,532; Small 131,460; Tom Love 79,299; Jim Young 69,456; Mayfield 63,979; Miller 47,579; C. C. Moody 4,440; Frank Putnam 2,568; Paul Loven 2,542; C. E. Walker 2,092.

Former Gov. Pat M. Neff still lacked about 8,000 votes of having a majority over his three opponents for railroad commissioner. W. Gregory Hatcher was runnerup with 151,372. Neff's vote was 321,854.

The standing of other races were not altered by the latest returns. J. V. Allred and R. L. Bobbitt were to enter the runoff for attorney general. E. E. Witt of Waco and Sterling P. Strong of Dallas for lieutenant governor. J. E. Davis of Mesquite and Charles Lockhart of Austin for treasurer, and J. E. McDonald of Waxahachie and A. H. King of Throckmorton for commissioner of agriculture.

Too Many Nuisances At $200 Per Count

CHICAGO, July 31 (AP)—The charge against Joseph Heinrich, preferred by neighbors, is that he maintained a big crop of nuisances. The neighbors charged that on a 75-foot lot he had quartered 200 guinea pigs (last count), 30 rabbits, 30 chickens, 4 goats and ditto dogs. The total is 268 nuisances. The maximum fine for maintaining a nuisance is $200. Mr. Heinrich knows as well as anybody else that $200 multiplied by 268 nuisances is a lot of money.

BETHLEHEM STEEL

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—The quarterly report of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, published today, shows net earnings of $7,691,485 for the period ending June 30. This compared with $11,766,473 in the second quarter of 1929 and $10,077,496 in the first quarter of 1930.

Juarez Placed Under Martial Law; Mayor, Aides, Under Arrest

EL PASO, July 31 (AP)—Juarez, Mexico, across the border from here was under martial law today, the mayor, three aldermen and city secretary under arrest and a warrant out for a fourth alderman.

Mayor Gustavo Flores and Aldermen Jose Motta, Carlos Austin B. Gardea and Valentin Puentes and City Clerk Alejandro Fallinger were held prisoners in the mayor's office and a warrant awaited Patrocinio Candelario, the fourth alderman, who was reported out of the city.

Lieut. Col. Ignacio L. Campos, aide to General Francisco del Arco, commander of the Juarez garrison, was in charge of enforcing martial law. He was acting as provision chief of police and two squads of soldiers were on duty. The latest trouble was reported as an aftermath of the July 20 gubernatorial election, in connection with which Governor Romulo Escobar, of Chihuahua, has been making an investigation of charges that

POLITICAL LEADERS ALIGN FORCES FOR SECOND FIGHT TO ELECT STATE OFFICERS

Mike Hogg, Young Supporter, For Sterling; Parnell to Support Witt; Storey Criticizes Dan Moody

DALLAS, July 31 (AP)—As complete returns were awaited from Saturday's Democratic primary, political leaders were aligning themselves for the run-off August 23 and watched with interest statements of various leaders and candidates eliminated in the first primary, as to whom they would support.

Representative Mike Hogg of Houston, a leader for former Congressman Jim Young, gubernatorial candidate in the first primary.

TO ORGANIZE HERE Local supporters of Ross S. Sterling of Houston for governor issued a call Thursday for a meeting to be held in the district court room Monday evening at 8 o'clock, when a local Sterling-For-Governor club will be formed.

SWEETWATER, Tex. July 31 (AP)—A Sterling-For-Governor Club was being formed here today among voters who supported Clint C. Small of Wellington for the gubernatorial nomination in the first primary. W. R. Johnson, A. S. Manzey and John Hendrix were leading the movement. More than 100 names were enrolled in less than an hour.

Issued a statement warning the "common people" against "Fergusonism" and announcing his support of Ross S. Sterling in the gubernatorial race against Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Jim Ferguson spent yesterday with friends here and said he would open his wife's campaign at Cooper, Delta county, probably next Wednesday.

Sterling's advisers planned to meet here Monday to formulate plans for his campaign. Texas election bureau figures continued to give Mrs. Ferguson a substantial lead over Sterling in computations on the first primary vote.

J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls, trailing candidate in the race for lieutenant governor, sent a telegram to State Senator Edgar Witt of Waco, leading candidate, assuring him of his support and declaring Witt's "experience qualifies you for the position." H. L. Darwin, another losing candidate, already has endorsed Senator Witt.

Martin Dies, Jr., nominated for congressional representative from the 2nd district, received congratulations from Congressman John C. Box, whom he defeated.

James V. Allred of Wichita Falls, leading candidate for attorney general in the first primary, issued a statement crediting "loyal friends in every section of Texas who worked unceasingly in my behalf."

Cecil Storey of Vernon, eliminated candidate in the attorney general's race, issued a statement denouncing Governor Dan Moody for what Storey termed his "butting into" the campaign in behalf of Robert Lee Bobbitt, Moody's appointee. Storey withheld support from either Bobbitt or Allred.

Robert Burns of Seminole retained a good lead in the crowded democratic field for the lieutenant governor nomination, and W. B. McAlester of McAlester again neared James Berry of Stillwater in the important sprint for second place, insuring a berth in the runoff primary of August 12.

MAYFIELD TO OPPOSE STERLING

Eliminated Candidate Charges "Buying" Of Office

AUSTIN, July 31 (AP)—Earle B. Mayfield, defeated candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, announced here today his opposition to Ross S. Sterling of Houston in the Democratic runoff.

Mayfield declared that "to the point of almost physical exhaustion I fought from every stump in the state the unholy influence of money brought by Sterling and his associates into the campaign and I cannot now, by my ballot endorse the bold, brazen and defiant attempt to buy the governor's office."

He declared he believed it his duty to "again warn Democrats of the state, of the end of trouble that awaits our party should Sterling be successful in the run-off campaign." By this he referred to his charges that Sterling had violated election laws in connection with having the name of his manager certified to the secretary of state.

He predicted that in the event of Sterling's nomination, "The Republicans will have no difficulty in preventing his name from being printed on the ballot."

Adams for Sterling

DALLAS, July 31 (AP)—Jed C. Adams, democratic national committeeman from Texas, today announced he would support Ross Sterling of Houston in the August 23 runoff primary with Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for the gubernatorial nomination. Adams was a partisan of Jim Young in the first primary.

He said regardless of who gets the nomination, Sterling or Mrs. Ferguson, he would support the party nominee in November.

Heat Wave Relief Temporary—Browne

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Henry Jarvin Browne, whose long-range weather forecasts have brought him into conflict with the weather bureau from time to time, today said the present break in the heat was only temporary and there would be no definite end to the wave until after Labor Day.

Months ago, Browne said, he was convinced a sun spot cycle, coupled with a lunar cycle, had destined that the summer of 1930 be hot and dry. He said a perusal of weather records, dating back through the centuries, had convinced him unusually hot and dry summers came every 56 years. Similar conditions to those of this summer prevailed in 1874 and in 1818, Browne said.

The forecaster said the moon had traveled so far north it had pulled the water of the Atlantic westward, dragging with them the heat of the gulf stream under which the Mississippi valley has sweltered.

Similar conditions, the said, prevailed in 1874 and in 1818 when records kept in the middle west showed the Great Lakes had receded greatly. Moon and sun conditions then were much the same as this summer.

GARAGE FIRE EXTINGUISHED

A burning garage behind the residence at 800 Main street belonging to Harvey Rix was extinguished quickly today by the fire department. The fire was caused by burning trash. The trash had been burned in the wooden structure in a large metal can. This container had been knocked over by someone removing his car from the garage. It had not been replaced and the fire had ignited litter on the floor of the building and later the walls.

State Proration Plans To Be Perfected

AUSTIN, July 31 (AP)—Ironing out rough spots in the plan for statewide oil proration submitted by a committee of operators was the task before the state railroad commission today.

After one of the most largely attended proration hearings here in years, the commission had voluminous data on the need for restricted production in the state, as a means of physical and economic conservation of natural resources.

The commission, while not committing itself, seemed agreed that some sort of plan should be adopted, and it was generally agreed that the special committee plan would be adopted as soon as problems relating to individual fields are solved in an equitable manner.

Placing the state under proration will also involve enforcement of the pipe line common purchaser law, whereby pipe line commons are required to purchase ratably from all producers in a field.

Since the basis of restriction, a daily production of 737,000 barrels, is based on the total nominations for purchase in the state, the pipe line law was regarded as the basis of the proration scheme. The production would be 125,000 barrels under the present output.

Keating Tells How To Control Melon Lice, Troublesome Here

Every year considerable damage is done to the watermelon, cantaloupe and cucumber crops of Howard county by various insects. The most common, and the one most difficult to control, unless taken in time, is the melon louse, declares Fred Keating, superintendent of the U. S. government experiment farm.

This insect confines its work to the under side of the leaves where it sucks the juices until the leaves wilt, curl up, and finally die. When the lice become very thick, the vines become coated with a thin, sticky coating commonly known as honey dew. When this condition exists, the injury has developed to such an extent that plants rarely recover even though the lice are controlled.

Because of this fact, careful watch should be kept on the vines. When the lice are first discovered, measures to control them should be applied.

TEXAS MAY GET RELIEF FROM HEAT

High Temperatures Are Reported From Many Cities

DALLAS, July 31 (AP)—The prognosticator for the United States weather bureau here today sent a message of optimism to perspiring Texans. He said that all signs indicated much cooler weather tomorrow, promising a maximum of from 82 to 90 in this section and added a prediction that the minimum tonight would be as low as 74.

Yesterday was a scorcher in widely scattered parts of Texas, a few favored spots where rain fell reporting relief from sizzling temperatures of the week. Mount Pleasant reported a maximum of 110 degrees yesterday and 108 were registered at Henrietta, Greenville, Seymour, Quanah and Kaufman. These sweltered with 106; Albany, Dublin, Memphis, Paris and Weatherford. The 104 class included Fort Worth, Childress, Corsicana, Graham, Mexia, Sherman, Temple and Waxahachie. Dallas reported 103.

Nacogdoches today reported "a heavy rain" in that section. Other stations reporting light rainfall to the Dallas bureau were Abilene, Amarillo, Albany, Brownwood, Childress, Crosbyton, Graham, Lufkin, Plainview, San Angelo and Snyder. Gainesville reported rain there aiding late cotton and corn.

VALLEY VIEW, Tex. July 31 (AP)—A heavy rain and hail storm accompanied by a strong wind damaged crops, demolished a number of outhouses and blew down trees here yesterday. Several farm houses were partially unroofed. A bolt of lightning struck the barn of C. L. Miller and it was destroyed together with a quantity of feed stuff. No one was injured.

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. July 31 (AP)—A tornado struck Diboll, 32 miles south of here, last night and many houses were reported damaged. The mill property of the Southern Pine lumber company was damaged, the box plant having been demolished. No one was hurt.

sects do not eat the vines but merely suck the juices from the leaves. It is useless to try to control them by the use of any arsenic poison. A substance must be used that kills when it touches the lice. One of the most effective methods known is the nicotine dust known as Black Leaf 40. This is made by mixing hydrated lime with nicotine of Black Leaf 40 liquid at the rate of 19 pounds of lime to 1 pound of nicotine.

May Use Machine

The Big Spring Experiment farm has a machine for mixing this dust and will prepare it for any farmer who cares to use it. Any information regarding the preparation and use of the nicotine dust may be obtained by calling at the station.

Although the vines have been fairly free from lice damage thus far this season, it is probable that these insects will show up in large numbers if damp weather should occur.

MEXICAN TIGERS WALLOP BARBER CREW 3 TO 1

THE WATER BUCKS

WE HAVE at hand, resting serenely on the Society editor's desk, the resignation of one J. E. Kuykendall, member of the board of governors of the City League. With Mr. Kuykendall please drop by our sanctum and explain, in certain portions of the thesis, the reasons for his resignation. He declares, and underlines the word, that his association has been very PROFITABLE. That is against the rules. Either that or there is something rotten in the woodpile. We've been to nearly every meeting of the board and we haven't seen any dividends, profits or monetary gain. We know the minute that Kuykendall joined that Bonehead Club, he would start writing resignations like that. Kuykendall's resignation leaves but one of the original board members, George O'Brien, who gives away free sody to the boys when they congregate at his grocery emporium south of the city.

Our substitute, the roving correspondent, who assumed our duties at Dusty D yesterday whilst we attended to other affairs, reports with much glee and gusto that the Mexican Tigers came over the viaduct and knocked the formidable Barbers for a couple of bleachers. Seems this little fellow Lopez with the crow-hop delivery, didn't like Barbers to begin with. We rather imagine the defeat of the Barbers by the Mex didn't harm the feelings of one Spikelet Henninger and his red capped cohorts to any great extent. Had not Spike turned philanthropist in the seventh inning of Tuesday's game when he rushed Steelman in the fray, he would be resting on his crown today. As it is he holds a lead of a game, but the board of governors are likely to reduce that aforementioned lead when they congregate tonight to act on a protest filed by Johnny Moore, who espied Steelman and craved to know how come.

It's just like we were saying by those Tigers. Give 'em a lead on a nice hot day when they are feeling pert, and they are hard, mighty hard to stop. Which goes for a couple of more teams in the league at the present time. Coahoma, in our estimation, is one of the most dangerous aggregations in the loop to the championship hopes of any and all. Even the Bankers have shifted about and bolstered their stock, and diversified their tactics until they are apt to jump up at any time and crack someone over the dome with a big stick in the form of a defeat.

Ho, ho, Wesley D. Hodges, the aspiring young man that saunters around the derricks and tanks near the Breckenridge American, has added a wife to his troubles. Some fellows never know when they are well off. Take Hodges, for instance. He was a right nice boy, as far as boys go, even though he did shoot off on many a detour in the realm of sports. Then he goes and gets in hot water just like Prexy Anderson did. Even Anderson married his present and future. It used to be that all one had to do to get in touch with Anderson was to shout "Prexy" in the telephone box. Now the Abilene operator informs curtly that she "has no Prexy Anderson, but we do have a Harold L. Penalties. And more of 'em."

The pre-season argument that has started over Grimes, the great bulk of the Concho, is getting in full swing. In our opinion, since the San Angelo scribbler has asked for it, is that old Leatherneck will be just a little more bald, and will slay a few more of the lads over that should, by accident, stalk into his wake.

Looks like the miniature golf tournament is in full swing. Doc Barcus, so they say, and we didn't look to see if they had their fingers crossed, almost set a new course record or something over there the other night, but took a five on No. 18. As bad as we are, which is terrible, we have yet to take a five on No. 18. Our tee shot usually gallops from the mat, goes in an eastern direction to the red dot, and then careens up the hill, through the slatted barrier, and in the cup. We usually finish like that. We can understand some things, but not anyone taking a five on No. 18.

Batting averages will be out Sunday. Please have alibi ready when called for.

DALLASITE HOMERS TO WIN GAME

Willingham Hits One Beyond Arc Lights

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Lil Stoner is not, any more like the most effective pitcher in the Texas League on his seasons record, but when the stocky Fort Worth righthander happens to be on his feet it is just too bad for the opposition.

Having hurled one no-run, no-hit game for the Cats already this year, the Panther star set out and gathered up to himself another modern league record last night when he held the San Antonio Indians to two hits and struck out 18 batters. The Tribesmen were helpless before Lil's fast ball, succumbing 5 to 1. Flippen, with two singles, was the only injun to hit safely.

Five In Row On two occasions Stoner whiffed five in a row and twice retired the side on strikeouts. Ballew, Joe Moore and Carson cut the air three times apiece, and Leslie, Dondoro and Sullivan each was victimized twice. Kott, Laveque and Schindler rounded out the Cat blazer's string.

A review of the records disclosed that Stoner's feat was the greatest the league had seen since 1909, when Mitchell fanned 19 for San Antonio. It has not been approached in recent years.

Another hero of the night was Hugh Willingham, the Dallas ball buster, who posted one far beyond a 13-inning battle at Waco. The Steer star's timely blow handed the Cubs their third setback in 25 engagements under the stars and kept them in a tie with Wichita Falls for the pennant. The score, 6 to 5.

Six pitchers participated in the lengthy fray, three for each side. By bunching their knocks off Shep Cannon in three frames, the Steers led 5 to 1 at the end of the sixth, but the Cubs rallied to send Meadows to the baths with a four-run spree in the eighth, tying the count. For the next four heats, in fact, until 11:30 p. m., they battled fruitfully. Then Willingham, first up for Dallas in the thirteenth, caught one of Branchau's slants on the nose. So home and to bed.

The Spudders were unable to take advantage of the Cubs' lapse dropping their inaugural at Houston, 12 to 5. While Rose and Payne held the leaders to eight hits, the Buffs fell on three Spud fliers, including Hal Witte, for 17 solid smacks. Watt Holm led the way with three singles and a double. Old Claude Robertson, recently acquired from Dallas to bolster a crippled catching staff, got two of three Spudders eight blows.

In the day's only sunlight tilt, the skidding Shreveport Sports lost their opener at Beaumont, 5 to 0, dropping into the second division. The Louisiana entry is having a disastrous road trip. Jimmy Walker gave another sterling exhibition for the Shippers, allowing only six hits, all singles.

Alvin Gardner Proves Diplomat As Head Man of Texas League

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, July 31.—(AP)—There can be no doubt that the Texas League made a very wise selection when Alvin Gardner of Wichita Falls was tendered the presidency upon the death of the veteran J. Doak Roberts last winter. In the last four months the former Spudder owner has proved himself thoroughly fitted for the job, and it would not be surprising to see him become a fixture, as was Roberts.

A born diplomat with a ready smile that has put him on friendly terms with every owner, manager and (not the least important) sports writer in the league, the new president has things rocking along as smoothly as in any year of the circuit's history. And it cannot be said he picked a "soft spot" in which to ease into the president's chair.

Needs Diplomat If there was ever a year when the league needed a diplomat at the helm, this has been the one. Introduction of night baseball brought up problems that no other prexy has faced. Predictions were rife that the nocturnal game would bring up a fine, large squabble between opponents and opponents of the artificial brand. There might have been one yet, for that matter, but so far President Gardner, easy in ground from city to city, has been able to convince the boys that they could do the most good by sitting tight and giving the floodlights a chance.

A threat from Fort Worth that the Panthers would refuse to play at night if they got up in the race failed to materialize, notwithstanding that the Cats have had almost no luck at all under the bulbs. And Col. Rube Stewart of the Exporters, openly rebellious as first, settled back and has said nothing for some time. Mr. Gardner, one may safely assume, did some of his best diplomating there.

The almost fierce manner in which Gardner has backed up his umpires came as something of a surprise to managers and players alike. Having been the owner of the Spuds in recent years, Gardner might reasonably have been expected to admit his arbiters were not infallible. Instead of that, he has equipped them with more power and backed them up like nobody's business. He has earned the reputation of being more fanatical about that line than was Roberts, which is to say plenty.

Fined Ten "Golly," said one manager recently. "You used to be able to at least kid old Doak about his pirates, but Alvin gets excited right now if you suggest they might have missed one."

Early in the season, before it became generally known that the new head believed in his arbiters so strongly, a player made the mistake of writing Gardner of his grievances against a certain bluecoat. He informed the league president that the umpire in question had given him a raw decision and was not, in fact, a very good umpire.

By return mail, the story goes, the letter came back from league headquarters. Attached was a little note informing the player that his literary effort would cost him $10. That was all.

Gardner sees in night baseball the salvation of the national game. He was against it at first, but changed his mind rapidly after looking over a few crowds at Waco and Houston.

SPORT SLANTS

Two of the factors that may put the Yankees back into at least a contending American league position are Vernon Gomez, slim 19-year-old southpaw rookie, and Big Charley Ruffing, giant right-hander, traded from the Red Sox.

If there has been anything the Yankees needed more than a slugging left-fielder it has been pitching.

Ruffing and Gomez can find plenty of work, so long as they are effective. Ruffing satisfied Manager Bob Shawkey in a winning debut before the Sunday critics and Gomez has turned in a number of fine performances that stamp him as the possible successor to Herb Pennock.

In any debate (if any is necessary) about how Bobby Jones does it, I have always recalled his locker-room advice: "Just hit the ball!"

That may be the main idea but it isn't quite enough. Jones being a salient topic of conversation on the return from the Battle of Interlachen, I asked for details from several professionals. "How does Bobby do it?" repeated Johnny Farrell. "I'll tell you the main reason: Because he has the margin of error reduced to a minimum. He makes fewer mistakes than any other golfer in the world. And when he does, he is very apt to make up for it with a marvelous recovery."

"Jones is as dangerous a man shooting from the rough as most of the others are firing from the fairway."

You may have heard suddenly about a youth named Charlie Lacey, the British boy, who came attaching through the dusk at Interlachen to the Bobby Jones at a 36-hole mark.

Lacey, who celebrated his debut in the American Open by being a one-day sensation and finishing seventh, has moved along at a fast pace since coming over from England two years ago.

He recalled, by the way, that once before he had achieved a surprise, similar to the one he caused at Interlachen, by coming in late in an English tournament with a 63 in the final round and the field, he is now the pro at Pine Valley, near Philadelphia, and he has shot that low layout in 68.

Like his fellow pros, Lacey bowed to King Bobby.

"To me the putting ability of Jones is most astonishing," said Lacey. "He is constantly shooting for birdies, going for the hole when a lot of players are content to play safe. Of course his fine approach shots contribute to this advantage, because Bobby is consistently near the hole than anyone else. Johnny Farrell is his only rival at long range putting."

What of Merion and the National Amateur, with its double-barreled hazard of 18 hole matches in the first two rounds? Will the jinx of Pebble Beach pursue the king? This seems to be the Jones Year, where the king can do no wrong. Yet the final shot for the quadruple crown of 1936 may turn out to be the hardest.

At Interlachen, Jones left his nearest amateur rivals, Johnny Goodman and George Von Elm, 14 strokes behind. These two have been the only players to beat Bobby in the last six years of play for the National Amateur title.

They will be at Merion for the next big joust, along with the trio who gave Jones such hard fights in match play at Hoylake—Cyril Tolley, George Vogt and Jimmy Johnston.

LOPEZ PUTS THE BOYS DOWN

Mexicans Again Kick Over a Strong Contingent

By CURTIS BISHOP

Barbers may come and Barbers may go... but Lopez pitches on forever. At least at the end of the seventh inning of yesterday's tilt between the front rank Barbers and the cellar contending Tigers the brown-skinned hurler was showing little signs of relenting, and the Tigers were leading 3 to 1.

In all Lopez allowed six hits, widely scattered ones at that, while his mates nicked Fryar and Payne for nine safeties that brought three tallies across the plate. Chavez, and Lopez himself played an important part in the slugging with two singles each while Brown was the only Barber to secure more than a single safely.

All three of the hurlers performed brilliantly. Not a man reached first for the Barbers until the third inning, when singles by Bass and C. Madison put the razor-wielders in a position to score. An unusual double play during which a ball bounced off of Hernandez's glove and was retrieved by J. Garcia in time to make the play cut short a Barber threat in the sixth. Brown's single and a base on balls was wasted in the fifth. In the seventh the tontorial artists scored when Brown singled, went to second on a fielder's choice and came home when Skipper Garcia tossed wild to his namesake at the hot corner.

Cruz led off for the Tigers with a bunt that Bass fielded perfectly, but the little third sacker's throw to first was wild and Cruz was safe. Hernandez sacrificed neatly but their efforts went for naught as C. Madison threw two successive men out at first.

In the second the Tigers tallied their initial score. Chavez, led off with a single and was joined on the paths by Fierro when Fryar could not locate the plate. Valdez flew out to center but Lopez pitched the first-run of the game across with a single to center that scored Chavez. Cruz popped out to end the inning.

Three singles by Kayo, J. Gatzela, and Chavez in succession were wasted in the third. In the fourth the Tigers scored two runs. Valdez walked, Lopez slammed out his second hit of the afternoon, Cruz singled to right, filling the bases, Hernandez forced Valdez at home, A. Garcia lifted a fly to L. Madison that allowed Lopez to cross the plate in safety, and Kayo singled to right center scoring Cruz. J. Garcia filed out to end the inning.

Briak fielding, especially by C. Madison of the Barbers and A. Garcia of the Tigers, featured the contest. Nesbitt snared a line drive off of Chavez's bat that seemed destined for a home run. Valdez was forced to reach skyward for L. Madison's fly in the first inning, and Bass stopped a liner that had already brought a look of exultation into Fierro's eyes.

Each side made one error.

Carnera to Fight Leon Chevalier

CHICAGO, July 31.—(AP)—The proposed "battle of vindication" between Primo Carnera and Leon Chevalier, has been approved and will be held August 14—provided Uncle Sam does not shoo Primo from his shores before that time.

The Illinois body did not, however, lift its suspension of Leon See, Carnera's head manager, and the latter will not be permitted to act in the negotiations for the bout.

HOME PASTEURIZATION
The experience of the last fifteen years has demonstrated that the only safe milk for both children and adults is pasteurized milk.
There is a so-called certified milk produced from certified cattle and under careful sanitary supervision, but this milk is so relatively expensive and at times so hard to get that it hardly enters the picture.
At times, however, it is difficult to procure pasteurized milk. This is particularly liable to be the case when the family is away in the country, or during hiking or camping tours. In such instances, instead of risking the use of raw milk,
all milk should be boiled or pasteurized. Of the two, boiling is simpler, but pasteurization more desirable.

Milk should not really be boiled but should only be brought to the boiling point. Boiling milk changes it appreciably. Its chemical constitution is altered. It acquires a caramel taste, due to the burning of a certain portion of the milk-sugar.
Its vitamin content is lowered.
Boiled milk has a cooked taste.
Some of these disadvantages can be decreased by boiling milk in a closed vessel.

Commercially pasteurized milk is milk which has been heated to a temperature of approximately 145 degrees Fahrenheit and kept at that level for approximately 30 minutes.
Home pasteurization may be carried out in the following manner:
Clean bottles are filled with milk.
Either raw or formula as the case may be, and are stopped with corks or stoppers. A pot large enough to hold the bottles is then filled with boiling water to a level reaching to, but not above, the tops of the bottles.

The bottles, previously warmed to avoid cracking, are then quickly immersed in the water and the pot covered. The milk is allowed to remain in the water for 25 minutes.
The bottled milk is then extracted, cooled, and placed on ice. Such pasteurization will keep the milk safe for twenty-four hours.

Hollywood Sights
By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Seen and heard:
Maurice Chevalier, who could hire a dozen secretaries, has bought a portable typewriter—
with French
accent of course
—and is learning
the "touch system" in his spare
time.
At that, many
down-and-out actors
who never saw a typewriter
have been proficient at the system, in another form, for years.

Two stars' sisters are working in the same talkie—Renee Torres, sister of Raquel, and Josephine Velez, sister of Lupe—and every bit the madcap too.
Charles Judels, enacting the role of a Mexican general, has had to change his characterization entirely, necessitating numerous retakes.
Protests over the movie's burlesque-ness of Mexican officers has resulted in dignity replacing slapstickery in the portrayal.

Hiding 'Em
Lotti Loder, the foreign actress, contracted mumps after completing a talkie, and then was called to the set for retakes. An expert make-up man painted the swelling down—antiseptically for camera purposes at least.

Lotti, who is near-sighted, carries a dainty reading glass, and on his chain are suspended tiny mementoes presented her by a score or more of celebrated friends.
Gold, silver, marble dogs, birds,
cats, elephants, jingle tunelessly against other tokens ranging from a golden boxing glove in honor of Max Schmeling to a tiny fragment of a family heirloom.

Fainless
The "breakaway" furniture that is crashed to fragments in movie fighting and slapstick comedies is made of an imported South American wood so light that sometimes the "furniture" collapses before the script demands it to do so.

It's expensive, made in the studio carpentry shops, and duplicates have to be on hand in case of re-takes. It doesn't hurt to be "crowned" with a chair made of it.
Irene Delroy had the title role in "Nancy from Naples," but the comic team, Ole Olsen and Chick Johnson from Waukegan, stole the show so completely that after its world premiere the film will be re-christened "Oh Sailor, Behave," in their honor.

ATLANTA MAN KILLED

ATLANTA (INS)—A P. Groover,
a sixty-seven year old shoe repairman, was killed here recently in a freak accident.
He was sitting in front of his shop when an automobile crashed into his motor truck parked at the sidewalk. The force of the collision was so great that the truck was hurled across the sidewalk. It turned over and pinned Groover beneath it.

DAGGER

by Mary Dahlberg

SYNOPSIS: Dagger Marley, 16-year-old niece of a Texas rancher, rescues Blaine Howard, American free lance vagabond, from some Mexican insurgents. It develops that Howard was once a famous polo player, as was Dick Welling, English foreman on the ranch
of Dagger's uncle, Jim Marley, until he lost an arm. Howard's and Welling's paths have crossed before, but they seem unwilling to discuss the past. Howard lingers at the ranch and beats Dagger at polo, riding and gambling. His character wins him the respect of everyone, and Dagger falls in love with him, though he fails to suspect it until one evening when they are out riding after dark.

Chapter 5
DAGGER FINDS LOVE CRUEL
Afterward Howard asked himself many times how it had occurred. As he reached to steady her when her horse shied, she nestled instinctively into the crook of his elbow.

Then he was conscious of her face turned up to him, her eyes glowing, her lips parted exultantly. The soft pressure of her mouth brought him to his senses. He almost pushed her from him.
"Here, no philandering," he heard himself say dryly. "We ought to get home."

He drove in the spurs, and Dagger imitated him. He didn't look at her. She never spoke. When,
at last, he reined in his sweating mount, and stole a glance in her direction, her features were set in the mask she affected in games of chance.

"Sorry, Dagger," he exclaimed impulsively. "Shouldn't have done that. All my fault."
"It wasn't," she answered as curtly. "Why shouldn't you have?"
"Well, it's not the kind of thing I wanted you to."

"You're only a child, dear—"
"I made you do it."
"Nonsense! It was the stars, and I know you like me a little—"
"I like you a lot—a hell of a lot,"
she panted.

"You think you do," he said gently. "But you see, I'm ever so much older, and I have a wife, and I hate her, the pale thing!" Her vehemence startled him. "So do you, Blaine. You know you do."
"No, I don't hate her," he denied.
"I wonder sometimes if I didn't expect too much of her."

"You didn't. You wouldn't. Dagger choked down a sob. "You—you're too decent."
"Me decent?" He laughed savagely.
"And just stole a kiss from a girl of your age!"
She threw her arm back, and slapped him full across the face.
"You—you couldn't steal a kiss from me. You or any man! I kissed you because I wanted to—and I made you kiss me because I wanted you to. And I slapped you because I wanted to. And I'm going to ha-ha-hate you because I want to."

Dagger lay asleep, her brain
a seething furnace, her soul racked by tempests of rage—rage at Howard, rage at herself, rage at fate.
Was this what love brought in its train? Better hate! But slowly, as the hours passed, reason reasserted itself. It wasn't Howard's fault he was married. Nor that she loved him.
She wakened to a flood of sunshine across the floor and her uncle's drawling voice outside the window.
"Hey, few Juan, snake out that stuff to the car—and then yew tell Mr. Howard it's here."

Howard looked her on a step. "Then, and spoke to me last night. He was pretty well upset."
"Well, it was my fault, Dick. And I love him like—like hell!"
"Back up, dear," he said. "You mustn't take it so hard. We all of us have this experience."
"Why—why, Dick!" she exclaimed.

"I could have jumped into the Thames any night for a month once," he went on. "I've sat with a gun on my knee, and figured where to put the bullet. But that's funk-ing the fight, weighing on a bet.
D'you see?"

"I guess you're right," she answered meekly. "What should I do?"
"Go on as if nothing had happened. Instead of letting disappointment upset you, make it strengthen your character, stiffen your will."

"But what did you do, Dick? Tell me, please. I—I want to learn so!"
"Not easy," he said after a while,
and his voice was low, carefully controlled. "I grew up with a girl.
Her people had the place next to ours. Nobody ever said anything, but we—look it for granted. She had some money; I had practically none. Then I was dumped at that fence. When I was able to be about the mother sent for me. They had reversed. And of course, I'd be obliged to resign my commission.
She said we'd better forget marriage. It was lucky there hadn't been an announcement. She rather put it to me as a man of honor, d'you see, not to push ahead, and spoil her daughter's life. Afterward, I learned I was ditched to clear the way for the girl to marry money."

"And what did you do, then?" she prompted.
"Come away. Thought the best thing to do was to start fresh."
"It was." She jumped to her feet. "I'll start fresh, too. And sometime I'll make Blaine come to me. If it takes years, I will."

Dagger seeks to forget. Follow

Communist Counsel Admits Aim Is To Defeat Government

NEW YORK, July 31.—(AP)—Arthur Garfield Hays, counsel for the Revolutionary Age and the communist party U. S. A. (majority group) said in federal court today the aim of the party is to "eventually" overthrow the government of the United States. The leaders were not "foolish enough to believe the overthrow could be brought about except by force," he added.

Mr. Hays made his statement in arguing for an order restraining Postmaster Kiely from interfering with the transmission of mail by the revolutionary organ. He said,

When Bob Takes The Car

WHEN Bob is invited to a dance and commandeers the family car, it's all fine and good for Bob, but pretty tough on the family.

Dad lolls around smoking cigarettes. Mother says something about having promised to call on the Daltons before Mrs. Dalton's mother returns to Peoria. Betty Jane openly declares it is a downright shame that any young man should be spoiled and pampered the way Dad and Mother are spoiling and pampering Bob.

"Doesn't anybody else around count?" she demands, and neither Dad nor Mother attempts to answer.

Do you have a one-car problem? Are you harassed and inconvenienced by insufficient transportation for the increasing transportation demands of your family?

How easy to put an end to such worries! Pick out a sturdy used car from today's offerings in the classified columns of The Herald.

Two cars are a practical necessity for the average family with healthy, growing children. The children are entitled to their pleasure and the rest of the family, also has some rights.

An extra car selected from the used cars listed in The Herald's classified ad columns will give you new standing with your family. It will make for your own peace of mind. It will free you from self-imposed restrictions on your right to the freedom and satisfaction of adequate transportation.

Prices are the lowest they have ever been and are lower than they are likely ever to be again. Buy that "second car" now!

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

I have for five years been married to a man who divorced his week extravagant wife in order to marry me. When we married he promised to give up his drinking, gambling and wandering, and concentrate on his profession, in which he has achieved marked success.

He has reformed his entire course of conduct, come into the church and seen to it that his children have had a training which makes them independent, whereas before they were lazy and selfish. It has been five years of work, worry, understanding and affection for me, but what bothers me now is whether I should force him to return to his wife—a new man.

Since losing my mother I feel that the only things which count in this world, and bring us nearer to those who have passed on, are the things which give happiness to others no matter at what cost to ourselves. As my husband was married, though unhappily, when he met me, I feel I did a great wrong in allowing him to care for me. He loves me and depends on me absolutely. What shall I do? Kindly omit address.

You seem to have made a success of this "reform" marriage, which is all the more remarkable because such unions usually end in failure. But why do you suggest returning your husband to his former wife? If conscience upbraids you for marrying a divorced man, separation from him seems the one way out. Yet I seriously question its advisability.

Far be it from me to interfere with your sacrificial attitude. It is admirably expressed, and entirely true. Actions which "bring us nearer to the saints in light," no matter at what cost to ourselves, are stamped with imperishable values. But suppose it costs you more to fulfill your obligations to this man than to escape them. What then? You did not marry him for a period, but for a lifetime. If you attempt to divorce him, what grounds have you in the eyes of the law? Obviously you cannot obtain a divorce on the plea that your husband has abandoned drunkenness, gambling and philandering to concentrate on his profession and his home. He cannot lawfully return to his former wife without being legally divorced from you.

I advise you to endure the evils you know rather than fly to those you know not of. On the one hand you may regret encouraging your husband's first overtures, and wish you had not met him when he was so distracted and distressed. On the other hand, you have won his trust and affection, and by God's help plucked him out of a deep pit. Ever since he has taught him what a treasure a good wife is. Surely he does not want his former spouse, and she may not want him. If their reunion were possible, what if it should wreck their lives again? So stand in your lot to the end of your day.

Little Rock, Ark.
I am a married man, with three children, and we are all devoted to each other. I have poor health, and it takes every nickel of our income to keep my family in refined society. Not a penny is being laid up for a rainy day, except the insurance I carry, which would be sufficient to provide a little home in the event of my death.

To let my children go with the common class would be easy and I could put by something for the future. But to keep them where I have them puts us under a constant financial strain.

What should a man do under the circumstances? What do you mean by the "common class"? My experience of society convinces me that people are either real or pretentious, refined or vulgar, according to character, and not by reason of artificial social distinctions. It is highly probable that your children would be as well behaved, courteous and considerate on Third Avenue in New York as on Park Avenue. Well dressed humbugs are the bane of our citizenship, and its polite debauchees can be as dangerous to youth as an Indian cobra.

Apart from that contention, however, it is plain that you ought to make financial preparation for the future. Sacrifice your social ambitions, which do not seem to be ethical so much as fashionable. Avoid snobbishness and teach your children that

"The rank is but the guinea stamp The man's the gold for a' that!"

Covert refined association which do not depend on money, but on brains and conscience, and having cultured standards for their observance. These standards exist and there are ample means for their realization by you and your family. As it is, your intentions are good but your tactics are bad. Income should decide outlay, not "keeping up with the Joneses." You willingly sacrifice for your children, but your unselfishness is marred by your lack of money sense. Why not live today so that they will not starve tomorrow? Remember that those who sow extravagance reap poverty and disaster. Consult William Miesner on this issue. Do not trust, as he did, that "something will turn up." Turn it up yourself, and begin by setting aside a given sum each week and then forgetting it.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of parts. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why external remedies and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has such a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief even in chronic and stubborn cases, that Collins Bros. say try HEM-ROID at our expense. Your Pile suffering must end or money back.—adv.

Americans Remain With Communists

PEIPING, July 31—(AP)—Naval radio messages sent to the American legation here today said the two Americans still in Changsha, the city over-run by communists, remained behind because they had conscientious objections against accepting protection from gunboats.

The two Americans are William Lingle of Salisbury, N. C., member of the Presbyterian mission, and Allen Cameron, Lawrence, Kan., of the Hunan Faith mission. Others of the American mission organization were evacuated by United States river gunboats.

Mrs. Leona Clark returned Thursday from Eastland where she has been the guest of relatives for the past two weeks.

Chinatown Guarded Following Slaying In Latest Outbreak

NEW YORK, July 31—(AP)—Police reserves patrolled Chinatown today after the killing of one Chinese and wounding of another in a signal outbreak of a new tong war. Seven Chinese were in jail.

Opening of hostilities between members of the On Leong Tong and the Tong On here was echoed in Boston where an On Leong partisan was killed.

The first shooting occurred last night when Nap Ling was killed at the door of a Mott street laundry in the heart of Chinatown.

Police were on their way to the scene of that attack when Soo Bock Ling was shot ten times at a bazaar a few doors away.

The shootings, police said, followed circulation of a report in Chinatown that Sam Wong, an On Leong member, had been indicted for the murder of Hung Wah Hong, president of the Tong On who was shot and killed while watching a performance in a Chinese theatre on July 9.

His death was traced by police to his activity in attempting to obtain the conviction of an On Leong Tong member who was arrested for stabbing a tong adherent.

Jorg Tuck was in jail today charged with homicide in the killing of Nap Ling. Loy Hong and Sing Say were held for the shooting of Soo Bock Ling.

Brooklyn police arrested four Chinese on charges of violating the anti-gun law when they found them carrying three pistols and seven bombs. The officers said the prisoners were members of the On Leong tong.

WAITER KILLED

BOSTON, July 31—(AP)—Death from hatchet and bullet wounds came last night to Leong Toon, 30, unemployed restaurant worker, outside his door in a dark place in Chinatown. He was a member of the On Leong tong. His body was found by the police "flying squad" sent into the district after work was received of a Chinese killing in New York.

SURVEY BODY URGES STATE INCOME TAX

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (INS)—A recommendation to the State Legislature of Indiana for adoption of the State income tax looms with the completion of public hearings here by the Indiana tax survey committee.

Because of the desire for relief from the property tax, nearly all elements in the State have united in support of the income levy.

Other proposals of a general sales tax and a special sales tax, with emphasis upon luxuries, however, have met with less favor.

The tax survey committee soon will draft proposals to be submitted to the next session of the Legislature, which begins in January.

were held prisoners.

"They called me to my office last night," Flores said. "They said they wanted me for a conference with Juan Salas Porras, a special representative of Governor Escobar. I came to my office and was told the conference was to be in regard to an investigation of alleged election irregularities. Porras did not show up and we were held prisoners all night."

General Arco said the investigation was strictly a state affair and that the federal government had nothing to do with it. He said martial law had been declared to preserve order during the investigation and soldiers ordered to suppress police until the investigation was completed.

No reasons were given for arresting the city officials, but it was generally believed action was an aftermath of the recently hotly-contested gubernatorial election in Chihuahua.

Governor Escobar had been investigating charges that followers of Manuel Prieto, defeated candidate for governor, and the city officials, through their police powers, controlled the voting in Juarez.

LIVESTOCK GLANDS USED FOR HUMAN MEDICINES

CHICAGO—(AP)—New value to farm livestock has been added by discoveries of medical science on the use of animal glands in combating human diseases.

In the laboratories of a single packing company here the glands from hundreds of thousands of cattle, hogs, and sheep are used each year to manufacture a constantly growing list of pharmaceuticals.

The industry has grown to be one of the important side activities of the packing business—to assist the doctor in prescribing for anæmia, diabetes, heart disease and dozens of other ailments.

The suprarenal gland, just above the kidneys of cattle, produces suprarenalin, used as a heart stimulant or to prevent bleeding in delicate operations.

From the pancreas is obtained insulin for halting diabetes. Sutures for sewing human flesh are made from the intestines of sheep.

Thromboplastin, from the brain tissues of cattle, is a powerful blood coagulant. From livers come extracts valuable in treating pernicious anæmia. Red bone marrow is used with preparations from animal spleens in treating secondary anæmia.

Boom Symptoms
Near Texarkana
After Producer

TEXARKANA, Ark., July 31—(AP)—All the symptoms of a boom developing were evident today about the discovery well brought in by Charles V. Lenz six miles east of here at the foot of the Red river levee.

A stream of humanity poured along the dusty highway yesterday, under a broiling sun which broke Texarkana heat records of 40 years and sent thermometers to 110 in the shade.

The trend in lease buying indicated a strong preference among many for acreage south of the discovery well. Opinions differed as to whether the Red river was a natural barrier for development eastward.

Lenz, who found oil in the eleventh shaft he had sunk during five years in the neighborhood of the "mounds," a significant geological phenomenon once thought the work of aborigines, announced he would drill four more wells within 30 days within a mile and a half radius of the first. No locations had been definitely fixed.

Lenz held more than 15,000 acres around his well but trading for blocks on the fringe was active.

Raid Fashionable
"Cozy" Dolan Club

CHICAGO, July 31—(AP)—The fashionable Club Huron, 16 E. Huron St., under management of John (Cozy) Dolan, former coach of the New York Giants, was raided by prohibition agents early today and several cases of liquor, wines and beer seized.

Dolan, who figured in the Philadelphia-New York baseball scandal of 1924, was arrested. A dozen well-dressed couples, as well as the club hostesses, were not detained. Four waiters and the bartender were taken with Dolan.

A card index bearing the names of the agents said of several hundred persons, was seized and the names will be investigated.
