Losing—
One should never bet on Supreme Court results. But some New Dealers wise in the law are down-hearted as they await the court's decision on the NRA and Frazier-Lemke farm bill. Several intra-court gestures meaningless to outsiders forebode 5-4 decisions against these industrial and agricultural experiments.

Two jurists who have taken no part in writing or delivering recent opinions are Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Brandeis—two New Deal "liberals." Their failure to participate actively indicates that they are working on other important cases which require all their time and thought.

Legal speculation may be all wrong in this instance. But the time for summer recess is near and a minority opinion can be written only after the majority decision has been prepared and submitted to dissenters. So court lawyers figure that Justices Hughes and Brandeis are engaged in setting forth the objections of the liberal minority in these two appeals. Inside tipoffs like this are borne out nine times out of ten. This may be the tenth time, but the jurists' behavior has been decidedly bearish.

Price Fixing To Be Barred

Green Says Nation-Wide Strikes Will Result If NRA Not Continued

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt and congressional leaders agreed tentatively Friday on twenty-one and one-half months extension of NRA and giving the recovery agency jurisdiction over interstate commerce.

Price fixing will be barred. They reached an understanding at the White House conference even as William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was insisting before House Ways and Means Committee upon two-year extension and describing as "short-sighted, reactionary and anti-social" those who opposed that.

Green said nationwide strikes will result if NRA is not continued at least two years.

7th Grade Rural Students Stage Exercises Here

Every day, George Gentry, high school principal, told members of the seventh grade rural school graduating class, can be made a promotion day.

Constant, constructive work toward a definite goal will do much toward progressive improvement, he said. So every day can be turned, by one's own initiative and power, into a promotion day.

A representative crowd of rural school children and patrons witnessed the exercises held from the municipal auditorium.

Miss Anne Martin, county superintendent, presented members of the graduating class, with their diplomas. She issued more than eighty in all. Previously sixteen Elbow students had been granted diplomas.

The crowd was somewhat smaller than in past years, principally because farmers were kept to their fields planting.

At noon the group repaired to the city park where they participated in a picnic luncheon, one of the outstanding features of the annual rally day.

Two hours later they were to be back at the auditorium again for the final portion of rally day, a program by students of the various schools.

The afternoon program was to include choral singing by all schools, a reading by Gerald Marie Buchanan of Morgan, rhythm band selection by Cauldie school, song by Aileen and William Tate of Vincent, pantomime by the Richard school, harmonica band from Highway school, song by Lloyd Bowen and Harvert Keene of Vealmore, piano solo by Jane Hurley of Chalk, one act play by Soash school, music by the Moore string band, and a choral offering by Elbow school.

Diplomas were presented this year to these students of the following rural schools:

R-Bar—Eloise Musgrove, Winnie Dell Robinson, Leo Reeves, Cleo Reeves, Buren Wolf, Loraine Wolf, Everett Wilkinson.

Vincent—Helen Lucille Robertson, George Pruitt, Linnie Fayette Tate, Estell Hodges.

Morris—Barbara Anderson.

Witness To Murder Takes Stand Today

Testifies Stafford Said 'Here's My Badge' As He Scuffled With Sheriff

LUBBOCK, (AP)—Narcotic Agent, Spencer Stafford was displaying federal badge in his hand when he was shot to death by Sheriff W. F. Cato at Post February 15.

Mrs. Eva Michelle, government informer who witnessed the killing, quoted Stafford as saying "Here's my badge," as he scuffled with the sheriff immediately before the shooting. She testified she had been a narcotic addict and had purchased narcotics from Dr. V. A. Hartman, Post physician, and Dr. L. W. Kitchin, veterinarian in front of whose hospital the shooting occurred.

Doctors and Tom Morgan, farmer deputized by Cato, are co-defendants in the murder trial. February 7 was unfolded in federal court in the murder trial of Garza County Sheriff W. F. Cato and three other Post residents Thursday.

Three Other Defendants—D. L. Lowery, who said he had been a narcotic addict for 17 years and a government informer for three, testified that Sheriff Cato shot Stafford shortly after another federal agent, V. C. McCullough had shouted: "Don't shoot—that man is a federal agent."

Stafford was slain while he and McCullough were investigating alleged trafficking in narcotics at Post.

Dr. L. W. Kitchin, veterinarian in front of whose office the shooting occurred; Tom Morgan, a deputized farmer, and Dr. V. A. Hartman, physician, also are charged with murder in connection with the homicide.

Lowery stated that he and another informer, Eva Michelle, were waiting in an automobile in front of Dr. Kitchin's office when Sheriff Cato and Morgan arrived.

Tells of Threat—"Don't move or I'll let you have it," the informer quoted the sheriff as saying while brandishing a machine gun.

Lowery said the Michelle woman then advised Cato that they were in a government car and that two federal agents were in the office.

"I started yelling for Mac (McCullough)," the witness said, "Stafford came out and holloed: 'Hold on there; we're federal officers and that man is with us.' He brushed the machine gun aside."

Lowery and Cato shouted "to Morgan 'Kill him, Tom, kill him.'"

Cato Snatched Gun—"Morgan leveled his gun at Stafford but I grabbed his arm and told him that Stafford was an officer," Lowery testified. "Cato wrenched the machine gun away from Stafford and went around the car. Mac came out . . . Cato took a step and a half or two steps—that's when he shot."

They gain in volume because of the report that he suggested passage of the bonus over a presidential veto as a wise move. Although admittedly a smart suggestion, it placed the President in an embarrassing position. The strategy of personal reading of the bonus veto resulted.

Sidetracking Mr. Garner would not be easy and it is doubtful if the idea appeals to the President. "Jack" has been the most active and helpful No. 2 man in years. His political shrewdness has dissipated many a jam on Capitol Hill. He knows Congressional psychology from long service on the House side, and he has prevented enthusiastic New Dealers from leading the President astray many a time.

Eventually Mr. Garner's plan will undoubtedly prevail. Despite the anti-bonus demonstration by all hands the veterans will probably get their money—or its equivalent—before this session ends. Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate

In addition to the first rental check there will be another rental check in the fall with a parity payment near Christmas, said Griffin. Farmers were cheered apparently as much as surprised at the early receipt of the check. More than one said the check would enable them to bridge a gap and get started on their current crop production. The checks arrived at a time when many producers are needing seed badly. Work of taking applications for cotton tax exemption certificates under the Bankhead act was still underway at the county agent's office. In connection with this same work, Griffin disclosed that more than 500 persons had turned in old

Public Hearing Tonight 8 P. M. On City Budget

Public hearing of the proposed 1935 fiscal budget for the city of Big Spring will be held today 8 p. m. in the municipal court room. The budget provides for an increase over last year but also provides for additional services. Among them are uniformed policemen, motorcycle policemen, a revolving paving fund, and a fund for surface water supply research. There remained the possibility that provision might be made in the budget for a garbage disposal system. Commissioners were to confer with a group of citizens interested in installation of the service prior to the regular hearing. Representatives of more than 15 organizations and firms had signed a petition Friday morning asking that the city undertake a garbage disposal system at the earliest time. Signing of the petition followed a meeting of representatives of committees from several organizations Thursday afternoon. At that time City Manager E. V. Spence spoke in favor of an adequate disposal system for garbage but reminded that it should be desired by a large majority of the people. He pointed to expense to be entailed by addition of the service and said it might be at least three years before it could be self-liquidating. As in the past, a copy of the proposed budget will be read by City Manager E. V. Spence. Citizens attending may ask any questions and make any suggestions they see fit. The commission will give final consideration to the budget soon afterwards.

Excavation On Swimming Pool In Full Swing

Excavation work on the municipal swimming pool got into full swing Friday as Contractor A. E. Griffin sought to rush the project to completion as soon as possible. # After 30 Years of Hard Work..

-Politics wants to Smash it...

It hasn't been so long ago, even in the large cities and towns, when electric lights blinked and electric service was limited. Each isolated electric plant had its own rules for restricting the use of electricity. In some towns electric irons could be used only on one day a week. But that was the time before unified management under holding company development became an important factor in the electric industry. Now as you drive down the highways, you see long stretches of glistening wires, stretching from pole to pole, from steel tower to steel tower. To the village, the cross-roads and the farm, these transmission lines have brought 24-hour metropolitan electric service. Thousands of small communities and rural districts in the country today would have had to wait for years to obtain electric service were it not for the inter-connected transmission systems made possible by electric holding companies and unified management. It took the holding companies, working with and aiding the local electric companies, thirty years of hard work to do this job! Now federal politics would smash it all! This is the aim of the Wheeler-Rayburn Bill, now pending in Congress. It would abolish holding companies which have been such a large factor in the widespread use of electricity, in the lowering of electric rates and in making electricity the great service it is today. The Wheeler-Rayburn Bill completely ignores this fine record! The effect of this legislation would be even more far-reaching. This legislation would ultimately ruin the privately owned electric and gas companies with their local citizenship, local tax-paying, acceptance of local civic obligations and local control and regulation. In their place this legislation would substitute "remote control" by political commissions in Washington. If government can invade the field of one business, it can invade all. Whose might be next?

Forsan Juniors, Seniors Bid Farewell

Mothers, fathers, sisters, brothers, sweethearts were in Forsan Thursday morning at 4:30 to bid the juniors and seniors farewell when the old bus pulled out for California. It is true that some tears were shed but not on the part of those leaving as a happier bunch could not be found. Their minds were filled with visions of bull lights, California, and the movie stars they expect to see. Each carried a big lunch in order to ward off the pork and bean diet as long as possible. Mr. Martin said "It's El Paso tonight or bust," so they will spend the first night in El Paso.

Those leaving on the bus were: Alda Alston, Marie Jones, Marie Sipes, Olive Blackwell, Elitha McCaa, Vivian Fern Caldwell, Maxine Thompson, Anita McDonald, Minnie Lee Campbell, Grace Tennison, Seymour Hallard, John Camp Adams, Bobby Asbury, James Madrigal, Rayford Liles, Earl Adkins, Clifton Ferguson, Bill Henry Campbell, Arnold Bradham, James Thompson, Garner Grimsitt, Leale Porter, Mr. N. Last year haste in its many forms was the direct cause of about 30,000 deaths, to say nothing of hundreds of thousands of injuries, and property damage running into the millions. At best, those hasty drivers might have saved a few seconds or a few minutes by being reckless—they might have reached some distant objective half an hour sooner than if they had driven carefully. What a price they and their innocent victims paid for that potential saving in time.

For every driver who is hasty because of a genuine need to get somewhere in a hurry, a hundred drivers are hasty for no sound reason at all—because they are congenitally careless, irresponsible or incompetent. How long are we going to permit these drivers to sacrifice thousands of lives a year on the altar of recklessness?

$200,000,000 FOR GRADE-CROSS-ING ELIMINATION

President Roosevelt has stated that he definitely favors gradecrossing elimination as part of the great emergency spending program.

The president, in making the announcement, alluded to the recent Maryland accident in which 14 children in a bus were killed when it was struck by a train, and said that such accidents are far too common. He then indicated that about $200,000,000 will be spent for crossing elimination before July 1, 1938, and stressed the need for speed in getting the crossing program underway. The proposed plan is to grant money to states which have facilities for performing grade-crossing work, and to have the Federal government do the job in states where such facilities do not now exist.

Grade-crossing elimination is one of the best possible fields for spending of emergency funds. It fits every purpose for which the expenditures are designed, in that it serves a definite public need, benefits every citizen, stimulates industry, and provides a maximum of employment, direct and indirect, for each dollar spent. Every heavy industry in the country will share in the purchasing power gradecrossing elimination will create—steel, cement, paint, etc. All other industries will likewise share, in that the money going to workmen will be spent for all manner of commodities and services. The cause of highway safety will be immeasurably advanced, and railroad service will be improved, as the existence of grade-crossings is a great barrier to increasing train speeds.

The $200,000,000 will not, of

DEATH IN CAR AS BRIDGE FALLS

Pounding waters cracked the bridge. Two other automobiles on the bridge backed off safely. (Associated Press Photo) passage, the defeat, or the amendment of the Eccles bill.

Hysteria is a state of mind to which men set up unusual defenses against imaginary dangers; those who think that they see a sinister purpose to inflate and imagine they could defeat it by not passing the Eccles bill have lost touch with reality.

An hysterical opposition does not, however, justify a fanatical support of the present bill. The crucial question is whether the proposed control of the money supply is properly arranged. That question is thrust into the front of the debate by Mr. Perkins' demonstration that the bill does not create new powers. It follows that Governor Eccles cannot say he must have this bill at once as it is written in order to meet an emergency that may be at hand. For the powers to meet the emergency already exist.
He has, therefore, to face the question whether the arrangement proposed in his bill is the wisest arrangement, not for a near emergency but for a long future. That is the real issue. The cry of emergency is as hysterically unreal from supporters of the bill as is the cry of inflation to carry deficits from opponents of the bill.

The controversy has reached a point where, the unreal issues having been disposed of, it is the turn of Governor Eccles to say where he stands on the proposals to divide the Federal Reserve Board from the executive branch of the government on the one hand and to make it more representative of the regional reserve banks on the other. These are the essential amendments desired by men who understand the bill, believe in its principles and its purposes, and wish to perfect it.

An unresponsive and unyielding attitude to these sincere and constructive proposals would be costly and stupid. For it would convince many who now support the essentials of this bill and many whose co-operation will be needed to make the bill effective, that those who propose to control the money supply of the nation are, however good their intentions and their theoretical grasp of monetary policy, grievously and dangerously lacking in the wisdom needed to make democratic institutions work.

SIXTY-FOUR OUT OF ONE HUNDRED LEFT NOTHING

Even in normal times, 99 per cent of the American people are poor investors. A survey made of 20,000 persons, before the current depression, shows that only one out of one hundred accumulated as much as $100,000. Only one out of eleven left an estate which, if invested at the rate of 5 per cent, would produce an income of $50 a month or over, and nearly two-thirds of the men studied—84 out of each 100—left nothing.

This was in good times. In the words of Henry Behner of the New England Mutual Life Insurance company, "What a similar study would reveal today is unpleasant to contemplate."

Facts like these, which are gradually becoming known to the mass of men, are largely responsible for the changed investment attitude of wage-earners. More and more of us are starting investment pro-

BORGER, (UP)—Woodrow and Wilson Bennett, 17-year-old-twins, will be graduated with honors from the Borger high school this year after working their way almost entirely through the four-year course.

Both boys are members of the National Honor Society and are active in school affairs.

Outside the class room, the twins are hard at work on a paper route, as printer's devils and as part-time grocery clerks. They sometimes spend from 18 to 20 hours a day on their school and outside work. Both boys hope to continue their education by entering college in the fall.

A WORD
TO THE WIVES IS SUFFICIENT

The meals you serve help keep the family fit. In many homes, common constipation develops as a result of insufficient "bulk" in the menu. This can be overcome by a delicious cereal.

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" in convenient form. ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B and iron.

How much better it is to eat this gentle natural food than to risk taking patent medicines. Continued use does not lower its effectiveness.
Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved, see

THE PRICE OF HASTE.

"Haste," according to the Travelers Insurance company, "causes nine out of ten automobile accident deaths."

There are various forms of hasty driving—all of them reprehensible, all generally unnecessary. Exceeding the speed limit is the most common form—and is the most important single cause of fatal accidents. Reckless driving—such as cutting in and out of traffic, passing on hills and curves, etc.—is another form. So is driving on the wrong side of the road. So is un-ruling the right-of-way—which is an especially prolific source of accidents, serious and minor, in towns and cities.

TODAY and TOMORROW
By WALTER LIPPMANN
A PATH FOR REASON

The statement of Mr. James H.
Perkins on the Eccles banking bill should do much to clarify the issues of the controversy and to promote a sensible settlement. Mr.
Perkins has made a contribution to the argument which, if it is fully understood, cuts away the ground from under the irreconcilable opponents and the unyielding supporters of the bill. He has opened up a path for reasonable men.

Mr. Perkins' argument is that all "the vital points of Title II," that is to say all the powers to control the supply of money, already exist and are already in the hands of the Federal Reserve Board and the Administration. The Eccles bill does not create any new power over money. All its powers have either been assumed by the Federal Reserve Board, as in the case of the discount rate, or, as to reserve ratios and open market policy, have been granted under emergency legislation to the President, the Secretary of the Treasury, or the Reserve Board. What the Eccles bill does is not to create powers that do not now exist but to make permanent these emergency powers and to centralize them more precisely in the Federal Reserve Board.

This cuts both ways. It disposes completely of those who have been arguing that the Eccles bill is simply a furtive device to finance deficits. For if the Administration intends to rape the banks, it already has, on Mr. Perkins' showing, all the power it needs to commit the crime. On the other hand, it disposes no less completely of the contention that the bill cannot be carefully considered and amended because it is necessary to fix immediately the responsibility for controlling the potential credit expansion. Since, under existing laws the Administration and the Board have power to control the money market, the responsibility is already fixed upon them.

The irreconcilables on both sides are deluding the public and themselves as well with hysterical fantasies. The Herald Tribune objects to the term hysteria but I venture to repeat it. It is hysterical to say that the purpose of this bill is to permit Mr. Roosevelt to finance an interminable series of deficits. For Mr. Roosevelt knows quite as well as any one else what a catastrophe an interminable series of deficits would bring upon him, his party, and his country; if he did wish to commit this crime, he already has the power to commit it and this bill merely carries coals to Newcastle. Those who think that they are doing anything to stop a destructive inflation by not changing the present banking laws are optimists indeed. If Mr. Roosevelt were about to destroy the currency, he would not be stopped by the course, eliminate all grade crossings. But it marks a great step forward, and paves the way for additional work to be done by all units of government in the future.

Bacon BATS
By MARTHA LOGAN
We are going on a Bacon Bat today. Know what a "Bat" is not commonly used in this sense, but just for fun today I looked in the dictionary to see whether or not Mr. Webster had given it a boy of recognition when used in this manner. Sure enough he had "Bat" - a spree, and then in explanation - "U. S. slang." So, having the recognition if not the approval of a dignified usage as Neal Webster, we are going on a "bacon bat."

Chapter Seven MYSTERY DEEPENS

Alison abandoned the argument. She said defiantly, "I'm going to Warley now, to telephone." "I think not."

"No. No one. Except my father." He nodded. "You don't know anyone around about?"

"No. You see—" Breathlessly Alison plunged into her story. He listened until she had quite finished, watching her with a rather intent gaze.

"I see," he said at last. "Then you haven't a notion why your father called you to come?"

"Oh!" Alison stared at the dog which was leaping excitedly up on its master and spattering drops across the kitchen from its thrashing body and tail.

"Down, down, there! Meet Gaffe. We call him that because his manners are so bad."

CHAVEZ PRESENTS CREDENTIALS

Six senate liberals, in silent protest against his appointment, left the floor of the senate while Dennis Chavez of New Mexico, a Democrat, was sworn into office succeeding the late Senator Bronson Cutting. "But—" she began. "Not but." He was smiling. "There's no 'but' about it at all."

"I'm not going to leave you to sit up alone with that!" declared Alison.

He laughed softly. "My dear girl, I don't mind little Herbert!"

By way of answer he took her firmly by one elbow and led her towards the door.

"Oh, I'm used to it." He added rather quickly. "Let me see you get into that room and lock the door. By the way, is there a key?"

Vic's Angels Win Handily

Cordill Smashes Out Longest Home Run Of Season

By HANK HAERT
 The Flewellen Stationmen overwhelmed the Ford Motorists, 11-0, and Southern Ice met defeat at the hands of the Mellinger Angels, 16-4, in the Thursday night softball battles.

The Stationmen came through with rallies in the second and sixth inning to score eight of their eleven runs and did not allow the Johnsonmen to threaten throughout the game.

Lois Madison was the only Motorist to find Malone for more than one hit, coming through with a double and a single in three trips. The Flewellen pitcher limited the Johnson forces to seven hits.

Porch took bat honors for the winners with two bingles in three attempts. The Angels rattled out a total of 16 base hits off "Buff" Burris, including three home runs to smash the Ice men's defense in the second game.

Cordill, Townsend and Wilson hit for the circuit for the Angels. The home run by Cordill was made after an attempted shoestring catch by the Ice man right fielder and the ball rolled to the roque courts in deep center field.

Townsend and Wilson divided hitting honors along with Hart. Good Graves and "Bucket" Hare teamed up to set the Ice men down with five hits. The Southern Ice forces managed to tie the count in the second but the Angels started in earnest in the fourth stanza to rout the Ice men with five runs in the fourth, three in the fifth, two in the sixth, and four in the seventh.

'Somebody To See You!'

IF EVERYBODY with something to interest you should come and ring your bell, what a nuisance it would be! Think of the swarming, jostling crowd, the stamping of feet on your porch and carpets!

Every day we know of many callers who come to see you. They never jangle the bell—they don't take up your whole day trying to get your attention. Instead, they do it in a way that is most considerate of your privacy and your convenience. They advertise in your newspaper!

In this way you have only to listen to those you know at a glance have something that interests you. They make it short, too, so you can gather quickly just what you want to know. You can receive and hear them all without noise or confusion in a very few minutes.

In fairness to yourself look over all the advertisements. The smallest and the largest—you never can be sure which one will tell something you really want to know.

Ohio State, With Owens Up, "Long Shot" In Big Ten Meet

By WILLIAM WEEKES (Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, (AP)—Michigan's powerful squad will go to the post favored to win the Western conference track and field championship at Ann Arbor May 25, but for a good long shot he don't overlook Jesse Owens and Ohio State.

The Wolverines, winners of the indoor title, figure to score points in all but one—the shot put—of the 15 events. The sensational Owens, however, appears certain of providing Ohio State with a 20-point frame-work around which to build, and a little had luck for the Wolverines here or there might mean a first Big Ten title for the Buckeyes.

The negro star already has an American broad jump record of 26 feet, 1 3/4 inches. He is the stand-out in both dashes and the low hurdles. To go with him, Ohio State has highly possible first place winners in Don Renda in the mile, Charles Beetham in the half-mile, Mel Walker in the high jump, George Neal in the shot put, and John Wosonowitz in the pole vault.

Michigan's Ward Ailing, even without Willis Ward, has plenty of power. Should the tall negro be thoroughly recovered from a muscle injury, the Wolverines probably would have no trouble winning in spite of Owens and the other Buckeye stars. Ward is the pick of the league in the high hurdles and at his best would be certain of points in the broad jump, high jump and steeplechase.

Purdue's best bet is Ken Sandbach, high hurdler, while Bill Frelmuth, weight star, and Wayne Slocum, two miler, figure to get points for Minnesota. John Beal, hurdler, and Jay Berwanger in the shot, appear to be Chicago's only hopes.

Illinois is Defender

Illinois, surprise winner of the 1934 title, will rely on Bob Grievs for points in the dashes, Verne Van Meter in the javelin, Irv Seeley in the pole vault, and Bob Riegel in the high jump. Iowa has Mark Panther, the 1934 winner, back after javelin honors, a pair of the sprinters in Andy Dooley and Jimmy Owen, and Francis Cretzmyer, a capable hand in the hurdles, high jump and broad jump.

Karl Kleinschmidt, who won the indoor half mile, heads a force which probably will land Wisconsin high in the final standing. Christman and Rubow are strong possibilities in the shot and discus, and Kellner, Herb Stuewe and Bob Clarke rank among the better hurdlers. Northwestern should get points from Sonny Heg, quarter-miler, Jack Fleming, half-miler, Phil Doherty in the low hurdles, and Ed Horne in the javelin.

TWELVE POPULAR SENIORS TO APPEAR TONIGHT IN SENIOR PLAY AT CITY AUDITORIUM

Miss Dorothy Jordan Has Been Coaching Group For A Month; Admission Prices Low And Class Expects Good Crowd

BY ROBERT HAILEY

Culminating nearly four weeks of constant practice, the annual Senior play chosen for this year will be given tonight at 8 o'clock in the Municipal Auditorium. The title of this play is "Apple Blossom Time" by Hafer. Miss Dorothy Jordan is in charge of the play and it is under her direction that these weeks of practice have been under way.

The cast includes twelve of the most prominent seniors in the whole graduating class for this year. Several of these were in last year's production given by this class and all of the cast have done quite good work in connection with their individual roles.

Those in the cast are: Melvin Legge, Fern Smith, James Vines, Mary Pond, J. W. Jackson, Margaret Smith, J. E. Dillard, Agnes Buggy, Robert Hailey, Bobby Gordon, Jennie Faye Felton, and Julia Johnson.

"Apple Blossom Time" has been called good. Only those, however, who have seen it really know how good it is. A brief resume of it follows:

A young lady by the name of Betty Ann Stewart has come to live with the matronly caretaker of her uncle's estate. While staying there, Charlie Lawrence, a distant relative of her uncle, comes to hear her uncle's will probated. He meets an old friend who has just escaped the foils of matrimony by skipping out of his home town, and Charlie immediately provides for his friend's welfare by taking him into his relative's home as the guardian of Betty Ann. From there on a lively time is provided by Betty Ann and Bob Matthews as Donald Clark, Betty's guardian, until Betty Ann is able to find out the farce Bob is pulling. Then she gets to bossing him with the result that everything is turned topsy-turvy. At last Bob is able to clear all charges hanging over him and is able to make love to Betty without restraint—a very happy ending.

Interspersed in all of this is the mysterious death of Tad Forrest and the will he has left to be probated. But this is uncovered to everyone's satisfaction in the discovery of—well, there should be something for the audience to find out for themselves. Through out the entire play, comedy provided by the two Irish friends of Betty Ann who attended.

Constipation Relief

While its long record of usefulness runs back to 1840, Thedford's Black-Draught is right up to date. Modern medical opinion holds that the plant leaves which give Black-Draught most of its active principle are among the best laxatives in all the acceptable materials of medicine.

"When constipated, I feel dull and stupid," writes Mr. O. C. Green, of Andrews, N. C. "I have taken Black-Draught several years for constipation and find it gives me immediate relief."

Costs less than other laxatives.
