Frances Farenthold -- the choice for Texas governor

"To make a crooked stick straight, we bend it the contrary way." Montaigne

The University Daily will support Mrs. Frances Farenthold for the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas.

Ms. Farenthold, is the one candidate in the governor's race that can bring the needed reform to Texas government. She alone, among the candidates, is the best hope for returning integrity to Austin. She can straighten that crooked stick that controls Austin now.

MS. FARENTHOLD has the legal mind to serve in government. In fact, she is the only lawyer in the race and is a member of the Texas and American Bar Associations. A graduate of Vassar and the University of Texas Law School, she has a brilliant, educated mind and she knows what is wrong with our state government. She had been pushing reform long before it became a political issue.

She can stand on her past record as a politician "for the people." She was a member of the Texas Dirty Thirty, who turned out to be the White Knights of Texas government. The Dirty Thirty are representatives who can truthfully say "I told you so" after their accusations were reinforced by the Abilene convictions.

Ms. Farenthold's past record can't be matched by the other three candidates as far as the belief of the people are concerned.

SHE WAS ONE of only 12 House members to vote against the 1969 controversial banking bills that created the Sharpstown stock scandal. She was the primary pusher behind the ousting of Texas' corrupt former Land Commissioner, Jerry Sadler. She opposed the redistricting bill of Speaker Gus Mutscher that was eventually declared unconstitutional by the courts.

This past year Ms. Farenthold also voted against a raise in tuition for Texas colleges and universities. In 1969 she sponsored a bill that would put a student on all boards of regents in Texas. She has continually sponsored or supported bills to provide stricter enforcement against pollution of Texas lakes and rivers; she supported the lowering of the voting age to 18; and she has supported measures to revise and liberalize Texas' drug and marijuana laws. All of these come before she decided to run for governor.

LET'S SEE any of the other three candidates match that record. All of them have more total years in Texas government than she has—but she has done the best job.

Dolph Briscoe is playing it a little too loose. He will not answer any questions directly, nor face head-on any issues that do not seem politically expedient. He is planning on winning on name identification and a clean record.

He has been quoted as against the liberalizing of first-offense marijuana users. However, this week on the Tech campus to a young voter audience, he avoided his earlier stand—saying only that the Texas' drug laws need to be revised. He needs to take one stand and stick to it, no matter who the audience.

Briscoe jokes about wading into Austin in his boots and cleaning up the mess. That is about as controversial as he has gotten.

Briscoe has the money to run and to advertise, that's why he is running. He will not come on strong on any major issues. He talks of reform only now, since he is running for office. He never peeped up last year when reformers really needed him.

A VOTE FOR Gov. Preston Smith or Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes means an endorsement of the mess in Austin this past year. Smith has been linked to the stock scandal with his $62,000 quick-profit and Barnes has, at the very least, been tainted with the SEC case.

Barnes preaches reform, but in his 12 years in Texas government has accomplished very little. However, he has proposed and pushed various consumer taxes and is presently proposing to tax groceries. Not once, however, has Barnes really backed a corporate tax on big business and corporations.

Smith and Barnes both talk of reform and revision of Texas law. However, what has either done so far? Both have been in top positions in the state. Smith served six-year terms as legislator, senator, lieutenant governor and now a four-year term as governor. Barnes has been legislator, held the powerful position as Speaker of the House, and now lieutenant governor. If both are so strong about helping Texas government, then why haven't they already done it—no one can say that they haven't had plenty of time and opportunity.

WHAT HAVE THEY done in the areas of Texas' extremely bad insurance rates? What have they done about giving 18-21-year-olds full legal rights or voting rights (voting rights were given by the national government). Only recently, when it became politically expedient, did Smith appoint students to Board of Regents. Barnes made a statement on the Tech campus that he really didn't see how such appointments would help.

Let these two candidates stand on their records. Look at the past of these two men and you will get a good picture of what to expect if you give them a future chance.

TEXAS REALLY needs Frances Farenthold. The best way we can sum this up is to quote an Austin conservation lobbyist who said this about the Texas Legislature voting record of the lady candidate:

"She has voted perfectly for the laborer, for the consumer, for the environment and for the people. It's a strange, strange quality for someone who wants to be our governor."

—Unquote, and Amen.

On prison life

Parolees present drama

"The Cage," a hard-hitting drama about life in a prison cell, will be performed at 8:15 p.m. Monday in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium under auspices of the Tech University Artists Series.

Tickets are $3 for general admission and $1.50 for Tech personnel and may be obtained at the University Center or at the door. Tech students with validated IDs will be admitted free.

The play, written, produced and performed by San Quentin parolees, is hailed by critics as a "frank and devastating comment" on prison conditions in the United States. The play relates the story of Jive, a new prisoner who is thrown into a cell with a psychotic killer called Hatchet, a strong and elemental Black known as Doc and a crippled homosexual named All.

As the cellmates seek to indoctrinate the newcomer with their own twisted view of life, their actions become a parody of religion and justice that is also an indictment of society calculated to raise questions in the minds of the viewers.

To answer these questions, the actors will conduct an informal discussion with the audience and a guest panel after the performance.

'Starving artists' to sell wares; proceeds will fund scholarships

A starving artists sale will be held today and Saturday. The sale will be at the University Center today from 9 to 5 and in the foyer of the Art Building from 9 to 5:30 Saturday.

Tech students are the artists and they will be selling their work that they have done over the semester.

Categories will consist of silk screen prints, litho prints, etching, jewelry, sculpture, drawings, paintings and pottery.

Fifteen per cent of the proceeds will go for an art scholarship and the rest will go to the artists.

The student chapter of the National Art Education Association is sponsoring the sale.

The artists registered Thursday from all types of art classes on campus and their classifications are freshmen to graduate students.

New dean appointed for Home Economics

Dr. Sitton, a native Texan, received her bachelor's degree at North Texas, her master's at Southwest Texas and her Doctorate in education at Tech.

Prior to joining the faculty of Tech, she taught in secondary schools in the state and served as supervising teacher for home economics student teachers from the University of Texas at Austin and Southwest Texas State University.

"Dr. Sitton has made many significant contributions to home economics education here and throughout the state," said Dr. Donald S. Longworth, interim dean of home economics.

Your University Center

by Jan Cook

In a last attempt to get every student on campus "enthused" about an activity, the University Center Committees have pooled their efforts and planned a "Mini-Woodstock," scheduled to last all day Sunday.

The atmosphere will be carnival-like, but the main objective is a day of relaxation and fun accompanied by good entertainment. Game booths will be set up where a variety of prizes can be won, and refreshments will be available for those planning to make a day of it.

The Student Entertainment Committee is sponsoring the music for the afternoon. Beginning at 2 p.m., "Rocxgardin", a band from Odessa currently appearing at Eli's Club, will play. At 3:20 p.m., "Kenny and Donna", a country-western duo, will perform. From 4:40 p.m.-5:40, a folk trio of Tech students, "Cousin Leroy's Cat-Daddy Band", will be entertaining. "Calico", (formerly "Contraband"), from Austin, will play the last outdoor set until 7 p.m. At 7, "Fox" will provide music for a free dance in the UC Ballroom.

"Mini-Woodstock" will begin at 2 p.m. in the area behind the University Center.

It costs nothing to listen. Events scheduled for the week of April 14-21 are:

Standard Oil to give awards of $1,000 to 3 Tech teachers

Three distinguished teaching awards of $1,000 each will be granted to full-time members of the faculty (including department chairmen) at Tech by the Standard Oil (Indiana) Foundation, Inc. for the sixth year.

The criteria for selection of the awardees center around teaching excellence, primarily in undergraduate courses. Such indices of excellence as intellectual impact on students and colleagues, Scholarship, concern for individuals, professional integrity, innovations in teaching and evidences of previous recognition for teaching (including promotions) will be considered in making the awards.

Full-time faculty members or full-time undergraduate and graduate students may make nominations for the awards. The nominator should address a letter to the Office of the Vice President of Academic Affairs providing the extent of his personal knowledge of the nominee. The deadline for receiving such letters is May 1, 1972.

The selection committee, composed of faculty and students, will report during the summer.

Students leaving Tech in spring may qualify for deposit refunds

Students who are leaving Tech can get back a maximum of $47 in deposits from the university if they qualify.

Those students who live in the dormitories on campus are eligible for a $40 deposit refund if they are not returning this summer or next fall, said Bill Haynes, manager of Residence Halls Operations. This refund need not be applied for either to the cashier's office or the Auxiliary and Agency Accounting office (room 162 of the Administration Building) and fill out a form requesting a refund. The refund will be mailed to the student from 60 to 90 days after application for the refund. If the student has no library fines or damages to pay, the full $7 is refunded. However, library fines (for late or lost books), chemistry damages, or ROTC property not returned will result in the fine being deducted from the property deposit, Hambright said. If the student does not apply for his refund, after four years the money is placed in a scholarship account, said Hambright. Students are requested not to apply for this refund before May 1, he added.

After that, the student will not receive a refund, said Haynes.

If a student is not returning to Tech (because of graduation, transfer or withdrawal) he may also apply for a refund of his $7 property deposit, according to Eldon Hambright of the Auxiliary and Agency Accounting office. After May 1, the student may apply either to the cashier's office or the Auxiliary and Agency Accounting office (room 162 of the Administration Building) and fill out a form requesting a refund. The refund will be mailed to the student from 60 to 90 days after application for the refund. If the student has no library fines or damages to pay, the full $7 is refunded. However, library fines (for late or lost books), chemistry damages, or ROTC property not returned will result in the fine being deducted from the property deposit, Hambright said.

If the student does not apply for his refund, after four years the money is placed in a scholarship account, said Hambright. Students are requested not to apply for this refund before May 1, he added.

Black history class views film

A film concerning the life history of a Negro man who is 131 years old stimulated discussion about black history and current problems at a Wednesday afternoon session of the African Cultural Insight program. Dr. Alwyn C. Barr of the Tech history department and Dr. Frederick Harper of Howard University in Washington D.C. were featured discussion leaders

The film entitled "A Man Named Charlie Smith" traced the history of the Negro man who was brought to the United States at age twelve and sold as a slave before the Civil War. It generally traced the political events of the nation from before the Civil War to the present, emphasizing black history.

The discussion following the film, which involved a small group of black and white students, touched upon a variety of topics including busing, the Tech situation of the black student on campus, other minorities and their similar problems, and the ethnic studies programs at Tech and other schools. Harper stressed that the responsibility is on students themselves to change the system until the faculty and administration realize the necessary changes needed.

Tech's track men will be hosting a triangular meet with Baylor and New Mexico State in a Southern-Missouri Valley Conference hook-up to be held on the Tech cinders. Field events begin at noon while the Starter's gun is scheduled to go off in the first race at 1 p.m.

Competition will be tough for the Raiders as the opposition brings some top-flight performers to the meet. Baylor's frosh sensation, Gary Kafer, is primed for his high jump specialty in which he is undefeated in outdoor competition this year. Kafer has twice scaled seven feet and is fresh off a first place win in the Texas Relays.

A battle also shapes up in the three-mile competition as Baylor's Pete Morales (with a 13:54.5 to his credit) faces a challenge from New Mexico State's Leon Garcia (14:12.7). Tech's main hope lies in the health of broad-jumper Ken Ford. Ford will have his work cut out for him as he faces Baylor's Danny Brabham (24-9 1/2). The Tech junior's high for the year is 24-4.

Tennis

Tech's tennis team will be trying for its third dual victory of the season in Southwest Conference competition as the Red netters host the University of Texas at 2 p.m. Saturday at the varsity courts. Tech is fresh off a 7-0 win over Texas Christian last weekend and boasts a 2-1 record for the conference going.

Junior Walter (Butch) Hammerick will be trying to keep his hot streak alive as he has posted wins over both Southern Methodist's and TCU's top seeds in the last two weeks.

Soccer

Tech's soccer team travels to Canyon to face West Texas State University at 2 p.m. Sunday. West Texas will have their sights on an upset of the 18-1-1 Raiders and on avenging a 7-0 loss earlier in the spring.

"We are going to use this game to get a line on some of our new players," said John Spiegelberg. "We have a lot of new players who have been working out with us and we want to see what they can do under a little bit of pressure. Also, we are going to experiment with our formations a little to see what is our strongest combination. In the all-star game we played with Paul and I at fullback. We may try this in the West Texas game or either both of us at halfback. We want to have something new to throw at Texas when we play them in the first round of the North Texas Tournament in two weeks."

Volleyball

Tech's Women's Physical Education Department and the Department of Women's Intramurals will be hosting a total of twelve schools in a volleyball tournament to be held in the women's gym beginning at 8 a.m. on Saturday. University Interscholastic League classifications A, AA, and AAA will be represented in the tourney.

For the first time in fifteen years Plains High School will not attend the tournament. Prior to this year Plains had won the Region I title for fifteen consecutive years and the state title for ten years.

Golf

Coach Danny Mason's defending SWC champion golfers will be visiting Houston this weekend to compete in the prestigious Houston All-America Tournament. The "apple-pie" look is back in vogue for the golfers as Houston golf coach Dave Williams has decreed that he wants "ear and necks showing" on all contestants. "This is an invitational, if someone doesn't want to comply with the rules they don't have to come."

Two-for-one sale

Tech ticket officials have announced that the purchase of a $1 adult ticket or a $.50 high-school-age-or-below ticket will entitle the purchaser to see both the Saturday baseball game and track meet.

Rangers will begin Saturday

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Rangers will gather for a workout at 10:30 Friday and leave at 7:30 p.m. for Anaheim and their season opener with the California Angels Saturday.

"Everybody's glad to be getting back to work," said Texas Gen. Mgr. Joe Burke. "We've been working at the wrong things. We're ready to play baseball."

Manager Ted Williams of the Rangers said, "I'm ready to get out of this cage and do some moving."

Nineteen Rangers are already on hand with six missing. The six include Hal King, Elliott Maddox, Mike Paul, Horacio Pina, Dick Panther and Toby Harrah.

Burke said he wasn't certain whether the strike delay in starting the season would hurt the young Ranger team.

"We're younger and I guess you could say we probably have stayed in real better shape than most clubs," Burke said. "We're anxious to play and see what we've got."

Dick Bosman remained as the opening day pitcher for the Rangers.

Burke said Texas' postponed opener in Arlington Stadium would be played Friday night April 21 against California.

Trainer Bill Ziegler and equipment manager Fred Baxter have the club packed ready for Friday's charter flight.

Texas to have Sports Hall of Fame near Dallas

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Sports Hall of Fame, a modern structure to enshrine the greats of a rich Texas sports heritage, will be built on an eight-acre site on the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike in Grand Prairie, it was announced Thursday.

Walter Robertson, executive sports editor of the Dallas Morning and chairman of the Texas Sports Hall of Fame Foundation, made the announcement Thursday in conjunction with Grand Prairie officials.

"After 20 years of hoping for a home to call our own, we now have one through the hard work and initiative of the people of Grand Prairie," Robertson said. "We've been up a lot of blind alleys but now we are on the threshold of realization of the shrine."

The city of Grand Prairie will donate the land to the Texas Sports Hall of Fame Foundation, which is governed by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Final architectural plans are expected to be completed this summer for the building which will cost an estimated $2 million. A study regarding financing of the building is expected to be completed soon. Funding likely will be a combination of state and private

Pro baseball strike over

NEW YORK (AP)—The baseball strike has ended, Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, announced Thursday.

The end to the strike came in its 13th day at an estimated cost of $5 million to the owners through postponements and the cancellation of one national television game-monies which may or may not be made up.

Miller made the announcement after one owner at a meeting in Chicago had told The Associated Press that the owners had proposed starting the season on Saturday, without any postponed games made up or any pay for the players for postponed games.

It was not immediately known if that was the proposal that brought the strike to an end.

Miller said the season will begin Saturday and that no games will be made up.

"This could have been settled last Sunday," Miller said.

"There never was a back-pay issue. It all came about because the owners wanted to reschedule all the games. The players never asked for back pay. There never was a back pay issue."

"Clearly the players have triumphed in something that few people thought they could or would do, Miller said. "They have stood together."

Astros meet Giants Saturday

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros announced Thursday the probable pitchers for a three-day opening season series starting Saturday against the San Francisco Giants in the Astrodome.

In Saturday night's opener, Don Wilson, 16-10 for the Astros last season, faces Juan Marichal, who had an 18-11 record last year.

A Sunday afternoon game pairs Larry Dierker of Houston against Sam McDowell, formerly of the Cleveland Indians of the American League.

The series ends Monday night with Houston's Dave Roberts, formerly of San Diego, facing John Cumberland.

It will be the third time for Houston to open its season against San Francisco. The Giants won 9-2 in Houston in 1963 and Houston won 8-5 in 1970 in San Francisco.

Lakers, Bucks tied

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Deadlocked in their National Basketball Association Western play-off championships, the Los Angeles Lakers return Friday night to the scene of previous frustration — the Milwaukee Arena.

The Lakers have played 10 times in Milwaukee since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar joined the Bucks and they've only won twice.

It was in Milwaukee last Jan. 9 that the Los Angeles record winning streak of 33 games came to an end, 120-104.

Now they return after edging the Bucks 135-134 on the Lakers' home court with help from a play tinged with controversy.

Ten-speed bike races set for Saturday by club

The Tech Bicycle Conspiracy is sponsoring the third 10-speed race in two years at Tech Terrace Sunday. The park will be blocked off for races beginning at 1 p.m.

The Conspiracy will accept individual entries the day of the race, preceding the event. Included in the day's racing is a tricycle race that pits Tech sororities against each other and fraternities racing against each other.

The tricycle race begins at 2:15 p.m. and teams will be composed of two riders. Each rider will make one 50-yard sprint along the length of the park.

The women's race will begin at 1:30 p.m. Girls will ride five laps around the park.

Men will race in two divisions, the 10-lap and 15-lap. This race begins at 3 p.m.

Trophies will be presented to winners of the women's and men's divisions and a special prize will be given to winners of the tricycle contest. Only Tech students may enter in the races.
