Tech mailman retires after 31 years

Most people can't meet a person once and remember their name, or where they're from.

Not so with William Dudley Johns, an employe of Tech for 31 years who retired Friday. Serving as postman on campus since 1946, he was known for his remarkable ability to meet a person once and then never forget their name.

Johns first began work at Tech in 1941 as an employe in Drane Hall. From 1943 until 1946, when he became Tech's postman, he served in the army. Until 1965 he was the only person delivering mail to the entire campus. That year another man was hired. Since then Johns had delivered mail to the area from the Chemistry Building north.

Dr. Grover Murray, Tech president, said that "Dudley knew more people at Tech, and who have graduated from Tech than anyone else, and probably more than anyone else ever could know."

Dr. Murray has written Johns a letter stating, "None of us is indespensible, but there are some whose absense leaves a real gap." Dr. Murray said that Johns was one of the latter.

"Dudley was a friend to everybody. His retirement is a great loss to Tech," said M.A. Winegar, Supervisor of Stenographic Bureau and Mail Services.

Fredric J. Wehmeyer, Associate Vice-President for Administrative Services, said that one of Johns favorite sayings was, "There are two things I keep a secret, my age and my salary. One is too much and one is too little."

Johns, who had the 1956 La Ventana dedicated to him, was born in Atlanta, Tex. He is married, but has no children.

Winegar said that at Christmas Johns mailbox always overflowed with cards from all over the nation. "I guess people always remembered him because he never forgot them," said Winegar.

Wehmeyer said that Johns would often read the paper and find articles about new professors coming to Tech. He would remember them by their picture in the newspaper. Then, when he ran into the newcomer on campus Johns would really shock him by knowing who he was and welcoming him to the campus, while the professor had no idea who Johns was.

Johns had been on vacation last week. His retirement which as rather sudden, was brought about by illness in his wife's family They have already moved to New Boston, Texas.

Winegar said that as far as he knew, Johns did not plan to get a job there. "He's got plenty to do. He said that fishing will take plenty of his time and he will be busy enough with that," said Winegar.

More Pentagon Papers released

WASHINGTON (AP) - Previously undisclosed portions of the so-called Pentagon Papers show at least 12 separate channels were open involving North Vietnam and the United States in an effort to end the Indochina war dating back to June 1964, according to The Washington Post.

In today's editions, the Post reports the contacts involved Henry A. Kissinger in 1967 as well as officials and important private citizens of several governments including France, Canada and Poland.

The Post account is based on what it described as four diplomatic volumes of a Defense Department history of the war obtained from syndicated columnist Jack Anderson.

Post reporter Murray Marder said the diplomatic portions, which were not included in previous unauthorized versions of the Pentagon Papers, indicated the critical question of who shall rule in South Vietnam was the "gut issue" that plagued all of the peace contacts before the Nixon administration as it does now. Kissinger, a Harvard professor and consultant to the State Department in 1967 and now President Nixon's national security adviser, became involved though contacts with two Frenchmen,

Science foundation official to be special consultant

BY GAIL ROBERTSON UD Staff Writer

Dr. Louis Levin, longtime official of the National Science Foundation (NSF), will assume duties in the fall as a university professor and special consultant for academic evaluation and planning for the Tech Complex.

Dr. Levin will be a professor under a new catagory of professorship without any specific teaching duties, Tech president Dr. Grover Murray explained. He will lecture in different classes when asked by the regular professor, but will have no regular classes of his own.

As consultant for academic evaluation and planning he will evaluate various programs at Tech and give suggestions to Dr. Murray for improvement. "Sometimes it's hard to look at yourself and give an honest evaluation of how you compare to others. Dr. Levin will be viewing Tech as an outsider and will be able to give a more objective appraisal than could anyone associated with the school," Murray said.

"His evaluations will be in terms of total programs, not individuals. He has been associated with many universities in the nation, and this background should be very helpful," Murray continued.

Dr. Levin has served NSF as assistant director for institutional programs and as head of the office of Program Herbert Marcovich and Raymond

Prior to joining NSF in 1952, Dr. Levin headed the Department of Navy's biochemistry branch in the Office of Naval Research (ONR) in Washington, D.C. He had previously headed the scientific division in ONR's New York

Dr. Levi's experience also includes four years as dean of science and associate dean of faculty at Brandeis University in Massachusettes, two years as assistant professor of anatomy at the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, and one year as assistant director of hematology laboratories at Michael Reese Hospital Research Institute.

Since receiving his doctoral degree in biochemistry at St. Louis University in 1934. Dr. Levin has authored or coauthored more than 50 articles for professional journals. He holds membership in numerous professional and honor societies and has served on various intragovernmental committees, panels and task forces.

According to the Post, this contact opened in early June 1967 during a meeting in Paris between Kissinger and Marcovich. The Frenchman brought in Aubrac who was a personal friend of North Vietnamese leader Ho Chi Minh.

The two Frenchmen traveled to Hanoi July 24, 1967, carrying instructions from Kissinger. They met with Premier Pham Van Dong in what became known as the Pennsylvania Channel.

Kissinger's 1967 role as well as the outlines provided by the Post account of the newest portions of the Pentagon papers discloses nothing that was not already known publicly. However the account does provide generally greater detail than released previously.

The Pennsylvania Channel stretched throughout the summer and into the midfall of 1967 with the main questions dealing with the U.S. bombing of North Vietmnam, Hanoi's military activity in the South and the two sides' positions on establishing some sort of peace negotiations.

The U.S. position in the words of the Pentagon Papers as carried by the Post was that "we would stop the bombing in return for some reciprocal act of military restraint by that we would not stop bombing simply in exchange for talks."

Marcovich and Aubrac made several trips between Paris and Hanoi carrying Vietnam, including the capital of Hanoi. Also during that time the Frenchmen offered to set up a meeting between Kissinger and Mai Van Bo, a North Vietnamese offical who was dealing with Marcovich and Aubrac.

However, the Post said Bo declined to meet Kissinger on grounds that Hanoi was reluctant to talk under duress with any officially connected American.

The Pennsylvania Channel came to an end in mid-October, 1967, when both Kissinger and Bo indicated neither side had anything new to say.

Construction begun on new commuter lot

BY HERB MEYER Staff Reporter

Construction began this week on a 10acre commuter parking lot which will replace the dirt lot presently in use west of the Business Administration Building (Flint Street). It is expected to be completed by August 4.

The new lot, designated C-4, will be bordered by Indiana Street on the west and 18th Street on the south. Hanford will be extended north from 18th to border the lot on the east, then will curve west toward Indiana to also be the northern boundary.

The Tech Regents allocated $100,000 for construction of the parking lot, according to Thomas Hanford, landscape architect in the University's ground maintenance planning section. He said an additional $25,000 was allocated for building of connecting streets.

Hanford said that Tech grounds maintenance and building maintenance personnel have completed burying water lines and electrical conduit in preparation for the contractor to begin work this week.

Hanford said 1200 parking spaces will be provided. The new lot will have 9-foot spaces instead of the standard 8.5 feet wide spaces in other campus lots.

Although electrical conduit is buried. the lot will not be lighted at first.

The new parking lot was designed somewhat differently than other Tech lots in that dirt islands spaced throughout the parking lot will retain trees already in the area and additional small islands will be provided for other landscaping.

The dirt lot west of Flint Street, presently designated C4, will be closed at the end of the 1972 second summer session. Hanford said that grounds maintenance personnel will till the dirt lot and plant grass after removing shingles strewn over part of the dirt lot. The shingles were dumped on the lot in an attempt by the Inter-Fraternity Council to improve it.

The Board of Regents hasn't acted on recommendations presented in late May for development of a 40-acre recreation area bordered by 18th street, Flint street, the parking lot adjacent to the physical plant buildings and the section of Hartford to be extended as part of the parking lots contruction, according to Hanford. He said the recreation area would possibly include lighted sports fields and tennis courts as well as a gymnasium.

Texas delegates are challenged

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - All 130 of Texas' delegates to the National Democratic Convention in Miami Beach July 10 are questioned by challenges filed before the convention's Credential's Committee now in session at Washington.

State Democratic Headquarters said Monday a total of 14 separate challenges have been filed against the Texas delegation or parts of it.

A group of black delegates, represented by Don Gladden, an American Civil Liberties Union lawyer in Fort Worth and a worker for Sen. George McGovern, alleges thaat the state's delegation does not accurately reflect the racial make up of Texas' population.

Variety of cases ruled on by Supreme Court

Martha Mitchell wants husband back

WASHINGTON (AP) - Convictions of white defendants are invalid if Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury, the Supreme Court has ruled 6 to 3. Over the years the court has struck down guilty judgments returned against black defendants by juries from which blacks were pointedly excluded. Today's ruling was the first ever involving a white defendant.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, in the main opinion, said "when a grand or petit jury has been selected on an impermissible basis, the existence of a constitutional violation does not depend on the circumstances of the person making the claim."

The jury case came from Georgia where Dean Rene Peters, was convicted of burglary in Muscogee County and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court has barred the splintering of school districts into smaller ones when the result is to perpetuate racial segregation. The 5 to 4 ruling, in a case from rural Virginia, gives federal judges broad supervisory powers over the drawing of school district boundaries.

Although Justice Potter Stewart's majority opinion did not deal directly with cases other than the two before the court he gave out broad hints that strong actions by judges to break down school segregation elsewhere could be upheld.

Particularly, Stewart emphasized in the school district decision that the test of whether school boundaries are legally drawn was "the effect"upon the dismantling of racially separate school

The Texas Legislature rejected in 1969 a bill that would have compelled fathers of illegitimate children to support them.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court has put off for another year a judgment on the anti-abortion laws of Texas and Georgia.

Evidently closely divided, the justices announced they would hear argument again next term on the question of whether it is unconstitutional for government to interfere with women's control over their own bodies.

At stake are the laws in these and other states that restrict physicians in performing therapeutic abortions.

The court also has on its docket cases testing abortion laws in Maryland, Illinois, North Carolina, Louisiana, New Jersey, Utah and Mississippi. They also remain undecided since they are intertwined with the Georgia and Texas

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Supreme Court has ruled unanimously that a statesupported college may not ban the radical students for a Democratic Society from its campus merely because it finds the SDS philosophy abhorrent.

The Court's decision, however, did not finally close out the dispute involving students and the administration of Connecticut State College.

The opinion, delivered by Justice Lewis L. Powell, Jr., left it for a lower court to determine whether the proposed SDS group is willing to abide by reasonable campus rules and regulations. The decision indicated that if the students in the organization pledge in advance to live up to the regulations, it can not be prohibited from engaging in political activities on the campus.
