Big Spring Aviation Future Said Bright

Strange as it may seem, it is easier to get a pilot's license for a private plane (after all requirements have been met) than it is to secure an automobile operator's license if you live in Big Spring. Chief reason for this is that Big Spring has become prominent in aviation circles, and like many other cities and towns in the United States, it boasts flying schools which are bent on spreading aviation interest among the citizenship. And according to some men associated with the operation of these schools, they haven't started to scratch the surface yet.

Flying schools of consequence have a CAA examiner on the staff, and both the U&S and the Big Spring Flying Service schools have them. CAA examiners are authorized to issue private pilot licenses on the spot when students qualify.

Each of the two schools has around 24 students enrolled in flight training, a considerable portion under the GI bill of rights educational plan. In this connection, both are approved by the Veterans Administration.

Let there be misunderstanding on the point, the time for qualifying is not an overnight proposition. Length of training depends, but in many cases it stretches over a nine-weeks period.

At the U&S port on the Gall road, G. W. Elbert is in charge of the student pilot program for John Underwood, who with Garland Sanders, opened the private airport four years ago. Elbert is a CAA examiner and also has authority to issue radio operators and certificates for pilots. The program, which started in September, is staggered so that there are usually two or three students graduating each week. To date, 20 have been licensed.

The Big Spring Flying Service, at the Muni airport, opened in October under direction of Bill Roden, and it also provides a mechanical department approved for on-the-job training. Roden has a staff member qualified as a CAA examiner, also a member authorized to re-license planes, and at present has plans for setting up a CAA mechanic's school.

Already several persons in this immediate area own their planes, but operators believe this is but a mere starter for what lies ahead. They point to trends elsewhere, and then to the extraordinary facilities available here. Put these two together, they say, and it adds up to a bright civilian aviation future for Big Spring.

Drouth, Frost Cut Grain Crops

Although drouth and frost cut grain yields well below normal here last year, the amount left in the county compares favorably with better years.

E. T. Tucker, a major grain buyer on the local market, said that the bulk of grain stayed in the county this year. Even in the case where it sold, comparatively little of it moved out of the immediate area. Tucker holds around 500 tons in storage.

There may be some movement in a month or so, depending upon the market, which is fluctuating but fairly static.

Next trading in grains may begin in June, provided conditions for small grains continue favorable. The county has an abnormally large amount of acreage to wheat, rye, barley, Speltz, etc., possibly 15,000 acres. For the most part it is being used for winter pasture, but if it has a chance for production, cattle will be removed in plenty of time.

Many maize fields are being grazed since yield was insufficiently heavy to warrant combining.

Whitney Says Weather Holds Up Surfacing

H. W. Whitney, acting city manager, gave his assurance Saturday that new paving which was put down last fall will be finished with a satisfactory surface as soon as weather permits.

There have been some expressions of dissatisfaction over the topping on new paving projects, Whitney said, and apparently some people believed that the work was completed. However, it was impossible to put the finishing coat of fine gravel on the new asphalt because of cold weather, the city manager pointed out.

"We put the asphalt down in 40 degree weather, and it hardened before the gravel could penetrate," Whitney explained. "Ordinarily an outside temperature of 60 degrees or above is needed to handle the asphalt successfully. Consequently, the surface now is number one gravel, but the fine gravel will be applied when warmer weather arrives and it can work into the asphalt properly."

Whitney said base work on the new paving is in excellent condition. However, he plans to guard against starting future projects during seasons when it will be necessary to apply asphalt during the fall and winter.

Local Citizens Strike Healthy Blow At Polio With Many Dimes

The March of Dimes campaign took on a healthier color Saturday after a fair day for jars downtown and news that three theatres had started collections for the infantile paralysis fight.

Biggest single blow was delivered when the three R&R Theatres launched a three-day collection in behalf of the polio fund. Friday Boy Scouts took up $177 in the three shows and figures were not available on the Saturday run. The collection continues through Monday.

Members of the Sub-Deb club operated the two glass jars downtown Saturday, and although there was no way of telling, estimates were that they secured well over $50 for the fund. The B&PW will operate the containers Monday.

Carl Blomfield, chairman of the Howard County Infantile Paralysis chapter, urged people of Big Spring and Howard county to open their hearts and pocketbooks during this, the last week, of the drive for funds. Money which comes in by Friday is the chapter's only source of revenue for helping victims of poliomyelitis.

Dr. F. E. Sadler, director of the Midland-Ector-Howard Health unit, pointed out that gifts to the March of Dimes did a great work by making certain that no sufferer from polio shall go without the best medical and nursing care, regardless of circumstances.

Allowing for old cases to apply for treatment or appliances.

Aiding equipment purchases for special hospitals where polio patients are accepted.

Making it possible for a big program of research to be pushed in an effort to learning cause, prevention and cure for the malady just as has been done for diphtheria, smallpox, typhoid fever, etc.

He pointed out that infantile paralysis is no respecter of persons, attacking rich and poor alike, and that 95 per cent of those attacked are children.

House Authority Plans Return Of Emergency Units

The Federal Public Housing Authority is negotiating the return of property leased to the federal government for emergency housing development to private owners.

In Big Spring there are 18 owners who leased property to the FPFA for development into a total of 44 living units.

The FPFA policy is to return these properties to the owners before expiration of the leases, under terms that protect the government's financial interest. Also, property owners must agree to purchase the unexpired portion of the lease and agree that veterans will be given preference in filling vacancies as they occur. Rights of present occupants under OPA regulations must be respected.

Several of those contacted in Big Spring, however, have not elected to terminate the lease, preferring for the FPFA to continue under the terms of the contract. All income, after payment of operating costs, rent to lessors, taxes, mortgage payments, etc., is turned over to the government during the life of the lease.

On an average, FPFA reports the program resulted in development of six living units where one existed and at less cost than it would have taken for new construction. So far 17 per cent of the leases have been terminated although 75 per cent have been negotiated. The program resulted in leasing of 8,816 properties and conversion into 49,613 dwelling units.

Gravel On Move From Big Spring

Movement of gravel from Big Spring is setting a pattern for the year.

By the end of the month, approximately 200 cars of material will have been shipped from here, according to estimates from Otis Graf, Sr., head of the West Texas Sand & Gravel Co.

Based on current trends, January shapes up as one of the three peak months of operation for the plant. Bulk of the material is being shipped east for state highway jobs in the Abilene area.

Response already has been most gratifying to the publishers of The Herald, who regard the volume as an important library addition for those who are interested in the administration of Texas through the years.

The volumes have been numbered, so that each may be rated as one of an initial printing as the Bolton work gains in value and prestige through the years.

Open Season On Tests In Big Spring Schools

It's beginning to be open season on tests in the Big Spring school system. This, of course, is not in the conventional sense, for the "test season" now at hand is not the sort calculated to throw high school students into various stages of cold sweat. In fact, these tests are just that and not examinations and have no immediate bearing on whether a youngster passes his course.

They may be classed broadly under the "IQ" and "aptitude" categories. The IQ test, reduced to everyday terms, is designed to give a key to the knowledge level of the student. Thus, the finger may be more accurately placed on pupils who may be blessed with brilliance beyond their years, who are good students but have to dig hard and deep, and those who are a little slower to grasp.

These tests have been administered already in the high school along with some aptitude tests, which reveal special interest or talents a student may have in particular fields.

These, especially when correlated with the IQ results, will be helpful in vocational guidance. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, feels: Zaida Brown is in charge of tabulating and plotting results so that teachers and supervisors may talk with greater understanding to students about possible vocations.

The next step, said Blankenship, is to administer these tests in the eighth grade so that results will be available before the pupils ever enter upon their high school careers.

Nor will the test program stop with the upper brackets. Before the spring is out, certain standardized and approved tests will be given in all elementary grades. Not only will the results be helpful to teachers in making a division of their classes for most effective instruction, but they also offer a comparative check between students on regular and double-day sessions. Thus far, there appears to be little difference in the latter instance.

Another possibility is that results in the Big Spring system may be checked against state and national averages. Last year, Big Spring schools showed a greater percentage in average and above-average groups than the standard figures for the nation.

Giesecke Tells Of New Projects For Legionnaires

The American Legion in Texas plans to sponsor a number of new activities and increase participation in others already underway during the coming year, Bertram E. Giesecke, state commander, told members of the Big Spring post at a banquet Friday night in the Settles hotel.

Among the major objections, Giesecke listed increased activity in the Legion's National Junior Baseball program, Legion sponsorship of citizenship training in high schools, and sponsoring state oratorical contests.

Giesecke also told of the Legion's part in helping with the burial of veterans who were killed or died overseas.

He urged all veterans who were discharged prior to July 1, 1946, to pay poll taxes this year and maintain interest in public affairs.

Giesecke was introduced by Paul Bowman, third division commander. Harold P. Steck, commander of the local post, presided and during the banquet he presented Giesecke with a new Stetson hat and photos of the mass initiation ceremonies conducted here in November. The hat was a gift from the Big Spring post, and the photos showed 200 new members being inducted into the local organization simultaneously.

A musical program was furnished by Hoyle Nix and his West Texas Cowboys, and vocal selections were presented by Mrs. Wanda McElhannon, accompanied by Helen Duley.

'Divorce' Plans Of Boy, Nine, Are Frustrated

RENO, Nev., Jan. 25. (AP) — Nine-year-old Melvin Rogers Lewis, Jr., has gone home to Oakland, Calif., frustrated in his plans to get a Nevada "divorce" from his parents.

"I'm mad at my folks because they won't take me anywhere and my hobby is traveling," Melvin told reporters after a bus driver had turned him over to police here yesterday.

"I came here to divorce my parents. When I get the divorce, I plan to go on to Chicago and live with my aunt."

Didn't he expect some trouble finding his aunt in the big city? "Aw, Chicago's not such a big town — no bigger'n San Jose (a California city of 12,000). I've been to San Jose, but this is the farthest I've gotten yet."

Melvin was wrong about that, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin R. Lewis, said in Oakland. This bus trip was his 15th unauthorized jaunt in two years. His others have included visits to Los Angeles and Portland.

Our truck will be in Big Spring each Wednesday. Leave calls at Barrow Fur Co.

Home Figures Register Gain In Big Spring

Building figures registered a substantial gain as other activity declined during the past week. Several new residential projects were listed during the week, which, coupled with a few repairs and additions to business property, accounted for a total of $25,435 in building permits for the week. The January total still is far behind the 1946 record, however, with only $35,230 tabulated since the first of the year.

Reports indicated a renewal of real estate activity, despite a decline in warranty deeds. Apparently, a recent dip in prices has levelled at stable figures and purchaser interest is reviving. Prices declined an estimated 10 percent, after reaching a peak, but there were no trends toward further decreases. Warranty deeds filed in the county clerk's office during the week indicated few completed transactions, however, with a total of only $10,000. The new total for the year is $106,243. Seven new automobiles and one new truck were registered in the county tax assessor-collector's office.

Big Spring's livestock market felt the impact of sectional declines, but still managed to attract buyers and produce good prices in comparison to other points. Receipts also were light, with only about 600 head of cattle and calves moving during the week.

Underwriters Set To Expand Area

The Big Spring Association of Life Underwriters made plans Saturday to expand its organization to include the entire Permian Basin area and arrangements were made to hold a meeting in Odessa on Feb. 8.

H. L. Skinner, manager of the Southwestern Life Insurance company's offices in Abilene, was guest speaker at the Saturday meeting here. Representatives were present from Odessa, Midland and Colorado City, all of which are expected to have delegations at the Odessa meeting. Other cities which probably will be included in the expanded organization include Wink, Kermit, Monahans and Pecos.

C. E. Higginbotham is president and Robert E. Lee is secretary of the local Underwriters group.

HCJC Classes In Teaching Set

Two classes, primarily for teachers, are in prospect at the Howard County Junior College, and both may start this week.

The first, tentatively scheduled to begin Thursday at 7 p. m., will be on government and is designed to meet the needs of teachers who need the course for their teaching certification. Lawrence J. Wells is due to be the instructor for the course.

E. C. Dodd, president of the HCJC, said that arrangements may be completed by Saturday with a senior institution for a seminar course in elementary school education so that teachers could get graduate credit for work, which will be done largely in their classrooms.

Hearing Slated On Car Permit

A public hearing on an application for a taxicab permit, filed by Mrs. Eva Henderson, will be conducted Tuesday at the regular meeting of the Big Spring city commission, city officials said Saturday.

First of a series of ordinances required to set up the proposed paving program also may be submitted to the city fathers at the Tuesday session, H. W. Whitney, acting city manager, said. A total of nine ordinances must be passed to put the program into operation, and officials are hoping that the first will be ready for the coming session.

'Big Push' For Baseball Park Will Be Launched Wednesday

The Big Spring baseball park committee and their lieutenants will gather in Room 2 of the Settles hotel at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening to cement final plans for the "big push" for a $15,000 building fund, which is expected to begin Wednesday morning.

"The success of this campaign will determine whether or not we build a stadium in Big Spring," Cliff Wiley, chairman of the committee, said Saturday. "We are more interested in assuring ourselves of that, than we are in professional baseball at the present time. All that will come later, if and when we meet with success in the campaign."

Wiley expressed belief that the money could be raised in a matter of four or five days.

Designated teams, consisting of the directors and volunteer workers, will descend upon the town, hitting the business houses first and then concentrating on individual donations. The proposed objective will pay for the park and lights. Wiley said he believed business would donate $9,500 or more toward the total.

No estimate has been made by directors of the money taken in to date but it is believed it runs into four figures. Among donations already accepted are from L. S. McDowell, Jr., $100; Manhattan Club, $200; M. Sanders, $100; Big Spring Motor, $100; Packing House Market, $50; and Big Spring Motor, $100.

PACIFIC COAST conference football play will be weaker in the future unless the league relaxes its rules on proselytizing playdays, says Lon Stiner (above) Oregon State coach.

Herd Tries To Get Back On Win Track Tuesday

Birds Tomahawk Big Springers Friday, 51-26

ABILENE, Jan. 25. — Abilene's Eagles tumbled the Big Spring Steers from the 3AA basketball league lead by thumping them, 51-26, with remarkable ease here Friday night.

Playing undoubtedly their finest game of the season, the War Birds never gave the visitors a look-in. They limited the Longhorns to a single field goal in the first half. The Big Springers tallied five of their eight two-pointers after the Abilene regulars had gone to the bench.

Duane Hendley's 12 points were tops for the homelings while Delmar Turner pieced together three field tosses and a gratis pitch to set the pace for the visitors.

The Abilene Bees also succeeded in handling the Big Spring reserves their first defeat of the season, winding up on the long end of a 34-15 tally.

Jackie Barron was the only invader to dent the Eagle hoop more than once. He had two field goals and an Annie Oakley.

The seven-under-par figure, compiled through a 33-31 equalled the competitive course record. It took the 135-pound Hersey, Pa., shotmaker far out in front in the pace for first money of the $10,000 Linds Derby.

Hogan's par-shattering display gave him a five-stroke advantage over his closest rival, US Open Champion Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago and Smiling Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Texas, each 136.

Hogan, incidentally, used a brassie off the tee throughout. He broke the driver he had used since 1933 two days ago.

Mangrum, tournament co-favorite with Hogan, had slipped into the early lead with a solid 67 for the day. Demaret, one of the strong contenders, started on even terms with a first-round 67 but found occasional trouble today, such as a trap on the 18th and a putt that hung on the lip at the last cup. Nevertheless his 69 put him in a tie for second place.

Dark-horse George Schouf of San Bruno, Calif., winner of the recent Richmond, Calif., $10,000 open, had a second-round blow-up to take a 75 for a total 143. His long shots were off line and his putting eye dim.

Rankin Leading Scorer To Date

Their perfect 3AA league record spoiled by a torrid Abilene club that couldn't miss Friday night, the Big Spring basketball Steers make two road appearances this week in attempts to insure their place among the top four teams in the standings.

Such a finish would qualify them for the district tournament, which will be unrehearsed next month. The Bovines invade San Angelo Tuesday night for a bout with John Kilek's Bobcats. The two quintets split even in practice games early in the season.

Friday, the Longhorns take on Sweetwater at Sweetwater, and will be favored to wrap that one up. The locals play a return game with Abilene here Feb. 14. They make their next home appearance against Lamesa a week from Tuesday.

Capt. Horace Rankin is setting the scoring pace in the games played to date with 65 field goals and 14 gratis pitches, good for 144 points. Eddie Houser is breathing on "The Boss" neck however, with 141.

The Big Springers have made good on less than half their free try offerings having hit the target only 77 times in 176 tries.

Jim Bill Little is pacing the reserve scorers in their games with 71 points. Marv Wright has 48 points, Jackie Barron 37.

The records: (A GAMES ONLY) Horace Rankin 65 14 164 144; Eddie Houser 57 12 141 141; Delmas Turner 45 11 108 108; Bobo Hardy 42 9 84 84; Harold Berry 34 11 68 68; Ike Robb 34 4 68 68; Marv Wright 37 8 74 74; Jack Barron 37 8 74 74; B. B. Lee 1 0 2 2; Jim B. Little 1 0 2 2; El Cypert 1 0 2 2.

San Antonio Park Trouble Clearing

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 25. (AP)—Prospects for the continuation of San Antonio in Texas League baseball took a brighter turn today when it was announced that the St. Louis Browns, owner of the local franchise, have taken an option on 15 acres here as a site for a new playing field.

The Browns had threatened, for want of a playing field, to take the franchise to some other city after the San Antonio Transit Company bought the Texas League site at Tech Field.

Charles Dewitt, Browns road secretary, said if the new location meets with the approval of Richard Muckerman, president of the Browns, work of transferring the stands and other material from Tech Field to the new site will begin without delay.

The Shaker First

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 25. (AP)—Glen Riddle Farms' The Shaker won the $10,000 added Palm Beach Handicap at Hialeah today. The four-year-old brown gelding was ridden by Job Jessop and paid $11.20, $5 and $3.40.

Hogan Fires 64 To Grab Lead At Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 25. (AP)—Little Bennie Hogan, national PGA title holder, and defending champion here, tossed a stunning challenge to a star-loaded field in the Phoenix 72-hole open golf tournament today when he racked up a 64 and a half-way total of 131 to take full command.

The seven-under-par figure, compiled through a 33-31 equalled the competitive course record. It took the 135-pound Hersey, Pa., shotmaker far out in front in the pace for first money of the $10,000 Linds Derby.

Hogan's par-shattering display gave him a five-stroke advantage over his closest rival, US Open Champion Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago and Smiling Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Texas, each 136.

Dark-horse George Schouf of San Bruno, Calif., winner of the recent Richmond, Calif., $10,000 open, had a second-round blow-up to take a 75 for a total 143. His long shots were off line and his putting eye dim.

FORMER YANKEE Buddy Haggitt (above) takes over as manager of the Norfolk Tars of the Piedmont baseball league the coming season. He returned to the game last year after three years in the Navy. Here he's sporting a thumb he broke in the 1942 World Series.

GOLF BRIEFS

Keith's 83 Low Score In Muni Ringer Tourney

Jack Keith's 83 is setting the pace in the ladder tournament now underway at the Muni golf course, according to Pro Foy Fanning. A total of 27 linksmen are entered in the course's ringer meeting, which is being run in conjunction with the ladder play, and Fanning said the scores of the first 18 holes the niblick wielders shoot in the ringer would count in the ladder tournament.

Records released recently showed a total of 13,787 rounds of golf were played over the Muni course during 1946.

The tours ran from nine to 36 holes. Golfers did not have to register if they elected to negotiate the course after completing their first round of play.

A total of 20,000 swimming fees were also collected by the city during the year, it was disclosed.

Annual membership fees for the Muni course are now being sold for $20. A man and wife can purchase green rights for $30 yearly, Fanning said.

Efforts are being made to form a West Texas high school golf league. Fanning received some literature on the subject from Gene Mitchell, Angelo, pro this week. It is possible the prepsters may get to play in a Junior tournament sometime this summer.

Gem To Replace Midland On Bill

STERLING CITY, Jan. 25. — Sterling fans will be treated to some fancy basketball here Thursday night when two of San Angelo's best independent teams invade the Eagle gymnasium to do battle with strong opposition.

The feature contest will pit the Abilene Christian college reserves against the Ellis Parts team of the Concho city. The preliminary debate finds the Sterling Independents in action against the Gem Jewelers.

It was originally planned to have a Midland team play the Independents but the Midland management notified local officials they would not be able to make the trip.

The ACC's and Ellis Parts have played once already and will meet again in Angelo Wednesday night. In their initial collision, the Wildcats closed fast to win, 59-49, after Angelo had led all the way. In the final four minutes of play, ACC scored 24 points, Ellis Parts 18.

All proceeds from the double bill will go to the National Infantile Paralysis fund. Gate fees will run from 25 to 50 cents. The preliminary game starts at 7:30 p. m.

Bucs Get Bithorn

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates took another step today in the development of what they hope will be a pennant contending club this year when they purchased Hiram Gabriel (Hi) Bithorn, 200-pound right-handed pitcher, from the Chicago Cubs for the waiver price of $10,000.

Both Americans Lose In Aussie Net Meet

SYDNEY, Jan. 25. (AP)—Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla., was beaten in the semi-finals of the Australian tennis tournament today by John Bromwich but not before the American argued with a linesman and invited a spectator to come down out of the stands.

Tom Brown of San Francisco, lost to Denny Pails in the other bracket, thus assuring an Australian final.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 25. (AP) All the talk going around about high pressure athletics isn't registering at the US Naval academy. The new skipper is emphatic Middle football teams will not become enmeshed in "the big time."

Champ Will Hit Only High Spots On Fight Tour

NEW YORK, Jan. 2. (AP)—Prof. Billy McCarney, who has been around the fight game long enough not to be surprised at anything, practically has to throw out an anchor these days to keep his eyebrows from popping clear off his head.

The occasion for the eyebrow acrobatics is Joe Louis' forthcoming South American tour and the way the money offers have been pouring has McCarney humming "South America, we'll take it away." This whirl of the Bomber's, which McCarney is handling, will have nine or ten stops and 21,000 air miles. It starts Feb. 9, winds up March 15 and when it's all over Louis will net a neat, but not gaudy $250,000 for himself, the Professor says.

Old Louis Angel Firpo got into the thing today with a bid to stage the Buenos Aires exhibition Feb. 23. Billy cabled the ex-wild man of the pampas that if he'd operate as promoter and referee, the promotion probably would be the biggest thing to hit South America since the Congo line.

McCarney has been able to accept only those nine or ten dates—turning down bids from such places as Bogota, Baranquilla, Cali, Montevideo and Guatemala City.

Four of the stops have been definitely shown. These are the opening show Feb. 9, at San Salvador; Feb. 12, at Panama City; Feb. 15 at Lima and on or about March 1 at Port Au Spain, Trinidad.

Bovine Thinly Clads Report

Some 50 men have reported to Catch Herschel "Mule" Stockton at Steer stadium for high school track and field workouts. Prospects for the coming season took a blow when Gerald Harris, star sprinter, decided to graduate. However, most of the other hopefuls, including Donald Webb, miler, Ernie Ache, century dash star, and James Abbe, quarter-miler, were on hand. The workouts will continue as frequently as the weather permits. If the squad reaches top condition, Stockton is planning on taking several boys to the Border Olympics at Laredo, the Southwestern Fat Stock show meet at Fort Worth and other meets in this section.

AT BSAC MONDAY Detton Returning To Face Martin

Back to the Big Spring Athletic club's pits Monday night goes popular Dory Detton of Amarillo, committed to square away with Wayne Martin in the top event of Pat O'Dowdy wrestling show. Detton bowed out here several weeks ago, after losing to Pittsburgh Al Getz, the encouraging cheers of the spectators, ringing in his ears. He is being brought back by popular demand. Monday's setto promises to be the slickest thing seen around here since the Martin-Polito Condova imbroglio and may eclipse even that one for thrills. The principals rely strictly on science to get them over the hump. Each is fast and ready. If they go the limit, it will surprise no one. Martin had his hand raised in victory last week when his foe, Gorilla Pogi, elected to beat a tattoo on Referee Olon Boynton's chin. Boynton's physical makeup isn't granite but his disposition was that night. He waved El Toro De Pampas to the shadows and pointed to Martin's corner. The break served to protect the Tulsa's victory skin. Previously, he had taken Condova and Bobby Burns over the hurdles. The evening's debate dispatches Johnny Carlin, the Boston heavy, against Pogi and the fans may be content to leave the chips fall where they may. Neither gladiator has tried to shed any friendship here. Carlin made a pretense of keeping inside the foul line against Burns several weeks ago but he proved to be playing 'possum. Against Ace Abbott the next time out, the Yankee stamped

Sterling Trims Kats, 32 To 22

STERLING CITY, Jan. 25. — George Tillerson's Sterling City Eagles edged nearer the 21B basketball league lead by thumping the Garden City Bearkats here Friday night, 32-22. Jackie Tweedie set the victory pattern for the winners with 12 points while Harry Calverly had 11 for the losers. The flock had a comfortable 14-5 advantage at half-time. Coast Player Wants Job With B'Spring Baseball Brigade

Ivory has come knocking at the door of the Big Spring baseball club, which cannot become a reality until a park is built. Lou Baker, one of the directors of the financing drive now in progress here, received a letter Saturday from an experienced ball player who wanted to sign on here. He is John B. Norris, 28-year-old infielder of LaJolla, Calif., who expressed a desire to move here because he thought the climate might help his wife's health. Too, the missus had relations in these parts, he wrote. Norris played in the Piedmont league last year and before that was active in Hawaiian circuits.

Legion Beaten By Angeloans

Pete Farquhar's American Legion basketball team dropped an action packed argument to the Gem Jewellers of San Angelo here Saturday night, 46-42. The Legionnaires led at the first quarter, 14-12, and after three periods of play, 36-34, but in the end did not have the reserve strength to remain in front. Two of the Big Spring regulars were missing.

Tom Davis, who accumulated 21 points when the Legionnaires were thrashing Stanton, 42-37 last week, crammed in 20 points against the Jewellers.

Strikes, Spares

By J. BOYLE
 Luke LeBlou was handed a check for $250 Friday from the Cosden Oil company... It represented expense money for the refinery team Luke will take to the ABC tournament in Los Angeles soon... Part of the cash will go for uniforms... Profits from exhibition games played along the way will help defray the expenses.

We regret to lose one of the most active women bowlers in the community, Miss Julia Cochran, who is moving away... The lady keepers of the circuit gave her a handkerchief shower Friday night... Mrs. Nellie Mathis posted a disastrous score of 116 but she blamed it all on the sad movie at a local theater... J. D. Robertson must have seen the same picture for he came up with a weak 133 Saturday afternoon... His ally, by insisting he and Dick Goodson were scrapping it out just for the privilege of paying the tax... C. J. Staples and David Hale were showing to advantage in a doubles match Friday night... The tune sung by their opponents was "Who Let Them In"... No more 132's for C. J.

Arizona Judge Named Softball Commissioner

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 25. (P) — Justice Arthur T. LaPrade of the Arizona Supreme Court has accepted the job as high commissioner of the National Softball Congress. It was announced today. The position carries no salary.

Announcement was made by Tick Stroebel, Chicago, president of the Congress, and Larry Walker, Phoenix, executive secretary.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

No official word has yet come from Howard County Junior college as to their future athletic plans but some of the boys out that way are campaigning for organization of a football team... Story is that the top officials are not too sold on giving sports major emphasis... Their argument is that football can't pay its way and the institution can't afford to dip into its reserves for equipment and other expenses... Junior colleges have organized what gives promise of being a strong conference in South Texas... JayCee football competition was conducted quite haphazardly last fall but gives promise of improving by next season... Incidentally, our co-worker, Wacil McNair—a Hardin-Simmons alumnus—says his idea of a good college conference would be HSU, Texas Tech, Oklahoma A&M, Tulsa, Colorado and Denver... He opines such a lineup would pay the freight... All are members of other leagues at the present time but have given indications they are dissatisfied with their alignments... Abilene high school has but three track and field lettermen returning to action this spring but the Eagles apparently will be top-drawer again... Duane Hendley, weightman and pole vaulter, Roy Fish, quarter-miler, and Mack Trickey, sprinter, are the Flock's monogram winners due back... Joe West, Abilene mentor, has already launched workouts... The Chicago Cubs used 826 dozen baseballs in 1946.

Sweetwater Planning Golf Tourney

Architect Olen Puckett says his plans for the Big Spring baseball park are nearly finished and can be seen at his office in the Petroleum building... Sweetwater baseball officials are counting on conducting a baseball school there the later part of March, or immediately before the Longhorn league club begins spring drills... Joe Langston, who is preparing to field a team here, would like staging a clinic for the youngsters in this area but will hold off until 1948... If the teachers can come up with just one hot prospect after such a course, they consider their time well spent... Ed Bahr, who got his start in professional baseball in Big Spring, is a Pittsburgh holdout... He insists his earned run average, best of the team, should influence a boost in salary.

Local Fisticufflers Due To Enter Abilene Gloves Show This Week

Trophies for the Big Spring Golden Gloves boxing tournament, which will be staged in the high school gymnasium Feb. 6-7-8, have arrived and are on display in the Hester's Sporting Goods store. The Gloves committee is having to purchase new equipment this year, the gloves and allied gear used in the 1946 show having long since disappeared. Workouts of local fighters are continuing nightly at the Dora Roberts citadel on West Fourth street. Trainer George Clutchey is making plans to take several boys of high school age to the Abilene GG show next weekend. Fisticufflers of that category are not eligible to compete in the state meeting, but are privileged to take part in as many sectional meets as they desire. The tournament's chairman, Obie Bristow, and Lou Baker made a trip to Foran the latter part of the week to check up on the deluge of entries originating in that community. They were informed that some prankster had forwarded the nominations but that four or five of the section's youngsters were preparing to enter.

Yearlings Play Sterling Monday

Jim McWhorter's Junior high school basketball Yearlings make their season's debut at Steer gymnasium Monday night in an 8 o'clock contest with the Sterling City B team. Sterling's Junior high quintet and McWhorter's reserves will play a preliminary contest at 7 o'clock. The Yearlings have been working out for the past several weeks.

Frank Kimbrough To West Texas

CANYON, Jan. 25. (P) — Frank Kimbrough, who last month resigned as head football coach at Baylor university, today had been named coach at West Texas State college. Announcement of Kimbrough's signing of a one-year contract was made last night by J. A. Hill, president of the college.

Gold Coin Sale Is Interrupted

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 25. (P) — Then Bank of Mexico's interruption in the sale of gold coins abroad is interpreted by bankers here as evidence that Mexico has made a lot of money out of the world's liking for "hard" money. News from New York that the bank had "temporarily" ceased selling coins was accepted here as meaning simply that the Mexican mint couldn't keep pace with the market for coins. Bankers assumed sales of coins abroad would be resumed soon. The Bank of Mexico statement of Nov. 30 included the legal 25 per cent gold reserve against circulation as 698,000,000 pesos ($139,800,000). The law requires publication of that figure but experts say there is a large amount of gold in the item "securities" listed as 1,632,000,000 pesos ($326,400,000) but the exact amount never is announced.

Shipments Down

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (P) — The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research today reported Texas livestock shipments began leveling off last month after heavy runs to market immediately after the removal of OPA price controls. LINAM KAYOES GARCIA, DALLAS, Jan. 25. (P) — Bert Linam, 146, smashed out a technical knockout over Gilbert Garcia, 143, here Friday night in the eighth round of the ten round main event bout. It was Linam's nineteenth win in 20 starts. The loss stopped Garcia's winning streak at 19.

McQuinn To Get Trial With NY

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (P) — George McQuinn, a Philadelphia A's castoff who labored in Lou Gehrig's shadow on Yankee farm clubs in the 1933-37 era, finally gets a chance to play first base for the New York club... but it's probably 10 years too late.

Released by Connie Mack to whom he had been traded after an aching back had reduced his efficiency with the St. Louis Browns, McQuinn today was notified by Manager Bucky Harris that he was getting a trial with the Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 28. Back in the days when Gehrig was winning home run titles and knocking in 150 runs a season, McQuinn was playing the fanciest first base in the International League for Newark and Toronto, often looking across the river and wondering if the "Iron Horse" ever was going to run down. During a short trial with Cincinnati in 1936 he had failed to justify the Reds meeting a good-sized conditional price tag and he was turned back to the Yanks and more time in Newark and Toronto. In 1937, two years before Gehrig finally stepped down, McQuinn was drafted for $7,500 by the St. Louis Browns. In eight years with the Browns, McQuinn was rated with the best fielders in the American League and he compiled a .281 lifetime batting average for the major leagues. Never much of a home run threat with the Yankees farms and thus, counted out of the stadium picture, he blossomed out at a long distance hitter who hit 108 homers during his St. Louis stay.

When the Browns sent him to the A's for Dick Siebert in October of 1945, McQuinn announced he was retiring from baseball but he was rethinking and reported to Mack at West Palm Beach, Fla., last spring. However he flopped with Philadelphia and hit only .225, drawing an unconditional release a few days ago.

Emergency Funds Sought For Six Junior Colleges

AUSTIN, Jan. 25. (AP)—Legislation seeking an emergency appropriation of $32,500 for six public junior colleges is ready for presentation in the House of Representatives, Rep. George Nokes of Corsicana reported today.

The money is sought for support, maintenance, operation and improvement of junior colleges established after the 49th legislature had already made the biennial appropriation for junior colleges in 1945.

These schools, which would share the $32,500 on a pro rata basis, are the junior colleges of Navarro county, Corsicana; Henderson county, Athens; Howard county, Big Spring; Southwest Texas joint county, Uvalde; Wharton county, Wharton; and Odessa.

E. C. Dodd, president of the Howard County Junior College is a member of the committee which is pressing for the legislation and was the individual who called the first meeting. Recently he was in Austin working with the committee in seeking to get the measure introduced.

Joe Black, a former resident of Big Spring, recently moved from Odessa to Midland. He was a visitor here for a brief time Thursday.

The union set the back pay figure at $32,000,000 and said the agreement additionally will mean wages raises totalling $17,000,000 for many of about 175,000 workers in the corporation's five principal steel producing subsidiaries.

Vets Not Affected By Proclamation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—The Veterans Administration ruled today that President Truman's proclamation ending hostilities Dec. 31 affects navy midshipmen and army and coast guard cadets, but almost no veterans.

Sam Rayburn To Be Honored

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—Many Washington officials will join with Texans Jan. 31 in paying tribute to House Minority Leader Sam Rayburn of Bonham.

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Fred Vinson is to make the principal address at a banquet arranged in Rayburn's honor by the Texas State Society.

Ralph D. Pittman, former Wichita Falls attorney, president of the society, says the dinner is "just to show a good Texan we're still behind him to a man even though he isn't still speaker and boss of the House."

Attorney General Tom Clark, who practiced law in Dallas before coming to Washington, will preside at the banquet.

Several Stock Exhibits Planned

Howard county 4-H club members already have completed arrangements for entering livestock in several other state and area shows this spring. County Agent Durward Lewter said Friday as he prepared to depart for the Houston stock show with a group of club members.

Howard county club members have listed 31 entries for the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock show in Fort Worth and 19 for San Angelo's annual show, Lewter said. They also have made definite plans for participating in the Abilene show this year, but exact number of probable entries has not yet been determined.

GETS TEN YEARS—Attired in a flowered cotton print dress, instead of the usual red-tint cowboots and slacks, Mrs. Evelyn Cornish Globaker, former University of Oklahoma co-ed, waits removal at the county jail in Mobile, Ala., to the Alabama state prison for women. She was sentenced to ten years for holding up a Mobile restaurant. (AP wirephoto).

THE WEEK

dividual . . . a memorial that will continue to bless.

Designation of the 12 miles in Howard county on the Lenorah-Andrews highway closes the last gap on the road, but it does not mean the entire project is accomplished. Prospects are that the Andrews-Lenorah section will be built this year. Survey is needed before Howard county can get its section. There is a similar stretch in Martin county which will be needed to connect the link.

Plans are being shaped for the which starts here Feb. 10. From annual 4-H club livestock show, all indications, the quality of animals will be as good and perhaps even better than last year, when the best class of calves in a local show was exhibited to record crowds.

So far, we have made a good start toward a good fire and traffic record. At the end of the week, there had been no traffic fatalities in Big Spring or Howard county. Fire losses had been held to a bare minimum. But in both cases, utmost care is needed to keep either from breaking out in a destructive wave.

Every Effect Has A Cause and Every Cause Has Effects

EFFECT:

Your lack of Health or Dis-ease is simply an effect. The signs by which you can tell when something is wrong with your body.

Health is the proper function of the Law of Supply and Demand.

Dis-ease is an improper function of the Law of Supply and Demand; it is either too Much, or too Little.

The results of too Much or too Little are the Signs or Effects.

The Sign you see will depend upon your progress along the Path of Dis-ease.

CAUSE:

Move the first finger of your right hand. Did you move the finger, or did the finger move you? Did the Whole move the Part, or the Part move the Whole?

If it were not for a nerve connection from the Brain to the Finger you could not move it.

So it is with the organs of the body. Without a Nerve connection with the Brain, they cannot function.

Interfere with that Nerve connection, and you have an Effect. A Sign of Dis-ease.

CHIROPRACTIC removes the CAUSE

Health and Dis-ease travel the same path, but, in different directions.

Attorney General Clark Calls For Fight To Reduce Nation's Juvenile Delinquency

By ATTY. GEN. TOM C. CLARK
Written For The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. — National Youth Week (Jan. 26 to Feb. 1) should remind us all that the future of America as well as the future of the world is in the hands of youth.

Never before in the history of our nation has it been more important that America produce citizens who are mentally, morally and building our country's future. We should be concerned about the growth of every American boy and girl, since no single individual is unimportant to the Nation's welfare.

Because the Department of Justice has immediate responsibility for those juveniles who come into conflict with federal laws, the Department for more than a year has been carrying on a campaign against the rising tide of juvenile delinquency.

The campaign culminated in the National Conference on Prevention and Control of Juvenile Delinquency held in Washington last November. Approximately 1,000 experts dealt with all phases of the juvenile problem.

As the campaign has progressed and as the conference reported its findings, I have become convinced that the delinquency problem requires a broad and long range approach.

Attempting to lead youths into rich and purposeful living after they are already in trouble is not an easy task. It is not only difficult, but more costly and often too late. In some respects it is like providing safeguards at a railroad crossing after lives have been lost through tragic accidents. Planning only for those now in difficulty, therefore, is too narrow and restricted an activity. Since delinquency is the symptom rather than the problem itself, it is of primary importance that every community in America endeavor to safeguard all youth and provide better environment and opportunity for normal growth and development.

If every community strengthened the traditional institutions of American community life — the home, the church, the school, and related activities — that are essential to the happy wholesome growth of all children, and erected safeguards against local influences that endanger the health and welfare of every child, then a long step would have been taken in the prevention and control of delinquency.

The many cases of boys and girls in trouble whose difficulties are traceable to home factors should cause all of us to realize that a "good" home is a necessary part in the lives of children, and a basic unit in society.

This theme ran throughout the deliberations of the Panel on Home Responsibility of the recent conference.

Normal home and family life lies at the very foundation of effective American citizenship. It is the corner-stone of character growth. In the home, ethical values are learned and standards of conduct are molded. Out of the joys and problems of family living, come lessons of life that will help the youth of today build a better America tomorrow.

In this age of discoveries and advances, scientific and social, some parents fail to realize that they are still the most important influence in the lives of their children. Through them children should experience affection, security and guidance, indispensable elements in child growth.

Being a parent does not give one all wisdom for dealing with children. All of us who are parents can testify to that. Parents need help. The problems of family life — home making, and child rearing constitute a major community responsibility.

By this I do not mean that the community should prescribe a pattern of family living. There is no one set of values to which all families can subscribe. Besides such a pattern would be contrary to the American tradition.

I do believe, however, that everything possible should be done to prevent the alarming number of family break-downs that are taking place today. Through parent education, family counseling service, forums, classes, institutes, and in other ways, the church, the school, the social agencies, and other forces in the community can strengthen the home to the end that parents may better discharge their responsibilities in preparing youth for meeting the serious problems of tomorrow.

The church, because of its unique position in the community, can stress the worth and importance of every single individual as a part of the good society. It can interpret the Golden Rule and help to relieve group tensions that threaten, and could even destroy, our democracy.

Church leaders can consistently hold up before their members the highest ideals of individual and family living. The efforts of the church are needed now as never before to assist in preventing break-downs in family life. The stresses and strains on home solidarity that have grown out of the war make it imperative that the church offer the spiritual counsel and other guidance that will contribute to the conservation of the American family.

Upon the church rests a responsibility to join with other forces in the community to fight for the control or elimination of harmful influences that make wholesome family life difficult to maintain. Indeed, the church should play an increasingly important part in controlling the forces in our society that cause break-down in individual, family and community life.

The schools, concerned with the growth and development of all children, have as their chief aim the building of good citizens.

The teachers take charge of our children at an early and impressionable age, and help to direct their lives through most of their childhood and adolescence. During school days character is shaped.

Since the schools play such a vital part in the lives of our future citizens, they should receive the unqualified support of every community.

Every community should have a properly equipped school plant available for use by the community during daytime and evening hours, 365 days in the year.

A summer school program, which includes a variety of recreational activities, is especially desirable since much of delinquency among youth has its inception during the long vacation period. Properly qualified teachers, who understand youthful behavior, should staff our schools. This means the payment of adequate salaries to teachers, for starvation salaries inevitably force good teachers into other channels of employment.

A sufficient number of teachers should be employed to reduce the class size and enable each pupil to receive the necessary individual attention. Part of the results of overcrowded classes and overworked teachers is a contribution to our delinquency problems and to poor and irresponsible citizenship.

Wholesome recreation is needed by all youth. It cuts across so many activities of people and involves so much of our cultural, moral, social, and physical welfare that it is one of the effective instruments in both the prevention and treatment of juvenile delinquency.

Since recreation is such a positive force in the lives of all, and particularly of youth, every community, large and small, urban and rural, should provide adequate recreation resources. If this is done important steps will have been taken for the conservation and development of all youth as well as for the prevention and control of delinquency.

A National Conference of Sports-writers held in the Department of Justice in December recognized the value of play, particularly in the field of sports, as one method of preventing delinquency, and urged that efforts be made to enlist millions of American youth into the realm of sports.

Participation in competitive games gives an opportunity for youth to learn some vital lessons in citizenship, to grow in mutual respect and understanding, since youth in play erases the artificial barriers that often separate adults. They acquire self-control; develop co-operative attitudes; and learn the principles of honesty, fair play, and good sportsmanship.

The game of life should be played intelligently, squarely and in co-operative and sportsmanlike manner. If the ideal of good citizenship is to be realized, the game can never be played selfishly and alone. Team work among citizens is vitally essential in the building of the community, the State, and the nation.

The Panel on Community Co-ordination of the recent national conference emphasized that it is the community in which planning and action must finally take place.

The Department of Justice, for example, can carry out its responsibility with regard to those juveniles who violate Federal law only as the local communities succeed in meeting their responsibilities for dealing with youth.

Many services, general and specific, both for all children and for those who have already become delinquent, or who are in danger of becoming so, are essential to cope with the rising tide of delinquency, which is a serious threat to the welfare of our country.

This is not a task for the juvenile court, the law enforcement agencies, and related activities alone. It is a responsibility of all agencies and individuals who are concerned directly or indirectly with the prevention and control of juvenile delinquency. The home, the church, the school, the various social agencies must get together and pull together in this common task of saving our youth.

Each community in America should survey its problem, take stock of its resources, and chart a course of action that will not only deal with its particular delinquency problem, but meet the needs of all its boys and girls.

Miss Johnson, T. D. Weaver Married In Formal Rites Saturday Evening

Before an altar lighted with scores of cathedral tapers, Jean Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Lilly Mae Johnson of Forsan, was wed to T. D. Weaver Saturday evening at eight o'clock in a formal ceremony in the First Christian church here.

The double ring ceremony was read by Dr. P. D. O'Brien at the altar which featured a background arrangement of six tall, graduated candelabra holding the white candles. Another graduated candelabrum was set on either side of the altar as were baskets of white gladioli.

The junior bridesmaid, Harolaine West of Forsan, lit the candles. She was attired in a formal frock of white net with gold sequin trim, and had a corsage of red carnations designed to extend over the shoulder, with cascades of ribbon showering down the arm. Church pews were marked with bows of maline.

Mrs. M. E. Perry, pianist, played the Wagner and Mendelssohn wedding marches, and accompanied Mrs. W. L. Johnson, sister-in-law of the bride, as she sang "Because" and "I Love Thee." Mrs. Johnson was attired in a frock of white jersey with gold metal trim, and Mrs. Perry was dressed in a white gown with sequin trim.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Byron Lillie of Fort Worth, the bride wore a gown of traditional white duchess satin, fashioned with deep sweetheart neckline, bordered with a band of seed pearls, with matching embroidery on the sleeves which extended to points over the hands. The basque bodice dipped to points in both the front and back, and the full, gathered skirt swept into a cathedral trail. The full length veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls, with clusters of fresh orange blossoms at either side.

For something old she wore a bracelet belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Daisy Cook of Fort Worth; something borrowed was a dinner ring belonging to Mrs. Irma Balch; something new was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a nosegay of gardenias, white gladioli and shattered carnations set in a ruffle of maline with showers of bridal maline falling from the arrangement.

All attendants wore identical frocks of white net designed with a drop-shoulder effect on the basque rhinestone sprinkled bodice, onto which was gathered a bouffant net skirt. All wore shoulder length headresses of white net. Each carried a nosegay bouquet showered with a satin ribbon in shades matching those of the flowers. The matron of honor, Mrs. James L. Johnson Jr. of Austin, sister-in-law of the bride, carried a bouquet formed of blue cornflowers; the maid of honor, Barbara Baker of McAllen, the bride's cousin, carried lavender gladioli; and the bridesmaids, Peggy Harris of Amarillo and Carolyn Smith, had nosegays of peardy gladioli.

Best man was Burrell Cramer of Coahoma, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and ushers were Bill Johnson and James L. Johnson, the bride's brothers, Dale Puckett and Bill Inkman.

The bride's mother was attired in a navy blue frock, with which she wore long white gloves and a chartreuse flower hat.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal couple was honored with a reception in the Settles hotel. Guests were received by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. J. W. Brock, mother of the bridegroom, the wedding couple and the bride's attendants, Mrs. James Johnson, Miss Baker, Miss Harris and Miss Smith.

The bride's table was laid with a white cloth and the centerpiece held the bouquets of the bride and her attendants. Mrs. James H. Craig of Eunice, N.M., served the white three-tiered wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Dorothy Dean Sain presided at the punch service, and Mrs. H. M. Hall registered the guests.

For the short wedding trip the bride selected to travel in a suit of white wine wool gabardine, designed with full, three-quarter length sleeves and a high neckline made with a rolled collar effect. The long jacket featured fullness in the back. With it she wore a brown straw off-the-face hat with feather trim, brown lizard accessories and an aqua blouse. She had a corsage of gardenias.

The bride was graduated from Forsan high school and later attended Southern Methodist university in Dallas. Weaver is the son of Mrs. J. W. Brock of San Antonio and attended Forsan high school. He was graduated from San Angelo high school, after which he served for five years duty in the Pacific.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Johnson of Santa Maria, Calif., aunt and uncle of the bride; Mrs. Herman F. Baker of McAllen, the bride's aunt; Mr. and Mrs. Byron Little, Alton Lillie and Mr. and Mrs. Dudley D. Hanford of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Walters of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Harris of Amarillo; Mrs. J. W. Brock of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bussey of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gardner of Abilene; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold House of Kermitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver will have home in Forsan on their return.

A dinner was held in the Settles following rehearsal Friday evening.

Double Ring Service Read In Colorado

COLORADO CITY, Jan. 24.—A marriage which joined two pioneer Colorado City families took place here Friday afternoon at four o'clock when Mary Irene Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Price, became the bride of Thomas Weldon Womack in a ceremony performed at the First Baptist church. The bridegroom is the grandson of the late George Womack, well-known rancher from the Cuthbert area, and is the son of Mrs. B. W. Womack. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Whipkey of Colorado City. Mr. Whipkey was for many years co-publisher of the Colorado Record.

The couple repeated vows before a flower decked altar with the pastor, Rev. R. Y. Bradford, officiating for the double ring service. The church was decorated with Southern smilax which covered the choir rail and a lattice background for the altar. Urns of white gladioli were used at each side of the lattice and white satin streamers and flowers marked the family pew.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Margaret model suit of smoke gray wool gabardine made with a fishtail peppum and balloon sleeves worn bracelet length. Her blouse was of pale blue embroidered in silver metal thread and trimmed with a neckline bow of the material. She wore a peaked turban of gray and black felt and other accessories in black. She carried a colonial bouquet of gardenias and violets. Her sister, Mrs. Earl Neal of Lubbock, attended her as matron of honor. Mrs. Neal wore a dressmaker suit of aqua flannel trimmed with silver buttons. Her blouse was pale pink, her hat, black felt with grey plumes. She wore black accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and violets.

Joann Womack, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid, and wore a dressmaker suit of white gabardine. Her nosegay was of carnations and violets. Junior groomsmen were Bob Price, brother of the bride, Edwin Pickens attended the groom as best man. Wedding music was given by Mrs. Claude Hooks, organist, who played the traditional wedding marches. Mrs. Hooks also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Oren B. Trulock, who sang "Because."

Ushers were Earl Neal, Joe Robertson, cousin of the bride from Lubbock; Charles Nuckolls, Arlene Morris, Truett Hamrick, and Robert Stall. The mother of the bride wore a two-piece dress of black crepe trimmed with brilliant buttons; a fuschia feather hat; and a shoulder corsage of white. The bridegroom's mother also wore black with a corsage of white flowers.

A reception for the wedding party and guests was held at the Price home.

Following their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Womack will be at home, 2112 Fifth St., Lubbock, where he is a student in Texas Technological college. He served with the 90th Division and was stationed in the European theater during the late war. He is a 1939 graduate of high school in Colorado City and until his military service was employed in the City National Bank here.

The bride was graduated with the class of '42, Colorado City, and received her degree in music from Hardin-Simmons University in 1946. While a student there she held membership in Beta Mu Kappa, was president of Alpha Chi, a member of the Student council, and was included in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Until her recent resignation she was teacher of music in Colorado City Junior high school and organist of the First Baptist church.

The girls like suits for school, wear their dresses to their knees and save their best duds for Sunday. Their hair-dos are simple and they love harlequin glasses in pastel shades.

The boys go in for bow ties, like their blue jeans and boots now and then, and prefer their girls on the sweet, good-natured side. Their chief interest is sports, an education and a profession in a field not too crowded by hopefuls.

In case you're wondering how good or bad they are, drop in at the county courthouse and take a look at the juvenile records. Statistics there indicate there are fewer juvenile delinquents than in former years. Peak years were from 1939 to 1941.

WHAT GIVES 'ROUND TOWN'

By LEATHICE ROSS

Scores of college students are home for a few days between semesters. They've been coming in daily since Monday and will be traveling back and forth the greater part of next week.

Have run into Billy Coleman and Jimmy Shaffer, A. M.; Robert and Creed Coffee, George O'Brien, Ollie Claude McDaniel, Texas Tech; Helon Blount, Shirley Fisherman, John McIntosh, Texas U. Caught a glimpse of Ardis McCasland, TU crossing the street and of Castle Campbell, ACC, getting out of a car... Home for good this semester is Hugh Cochran, who since his marriage to Tommie Staton last week, has indicated transfer from Sul Ross to HCJC... McMurry, Abilene, has lost Dewey Stevenson to the local college. Steve, well-known in athletic circles, played basketball with the Jayhawks Thursday evening.

Among couples at the Jayhawk-Wayland game that evening were Shirley Griffin, Pete Cook; Gloria Griffin, Jimmy Talbot, Mildred Houchin (visiting from Ackerly); Troy Brown, Colleen Davidson, Mickey Butts, Wilma Jo Taylor, John Rudeseal... Eddie Anderson tells us that he expects to leave Big Spring soon for his former home in Illinois... James Brooks, formerly a student at Tech, has enrolled at HCJC.

Sight of the week: Duke Neel taking his razor to school, explaining that he simply didn't have time to shave at home in the mornings... Maryanna Whitaker, novel vocalist, sang at the Kiwanis club's regular meeting Thursday. Lex James furnished piano accompaniment... A local clothing firm is sponsoring a dance Friday night for students and guests of HCJC.

The affair will be held at the country club and there is no admission charge.

Of those coming out for declamation in the high school interscholastic league contest, Betty Sue Sweeney and Billie Jo Watkins have thus far been selected to compete. Other try-outs will be heard Monday. Reba Roberts is leading in extemporaneous contests... Plans are shaping up for an all-student radio program from BSHS. Scripts will be written, directed and produced by the students themselves. The program will be ready for production some time in February... Patty McCormick has won this month's Mizell award for meritorious accomplishments in the high school music department. The prize was an album of Chopin's most noted compositions.

Betty Underwood and Donald Webb were easily elected senior favorites from the high school class in voting Thursday. Donald, you recall, is also student president and editor of the annual. B. B. Lees and Lillian Tamsitt are junior class winners. Lillian was favorite of the sophomore class in '46. Freshman and sophomore nominations were changed somewhat and the final tabulation has been withheld until Monday... An original short story by Alvin Heslep, freshman student at HCJC, will be adapted for presentation over KBST by the college radio speech class.

"Heritage of Wimpole Street" has been selected for high school one-act play entry in the district interscholastic meet, which is annually held in Midland in March. The play deals with the son of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning, both English poets, whose marriage led to Elizabeth's being cut off from her family. When their son, Robert, suddenly appears to visit his grandfather many years later there is a great play of emotions as the older man gradually comes to like his grandson. George Oldham has been cast as the stern, unsympathetic Edward Barrett; Beverly Stulting as the giddy older daughter, Henrietta; Rozalind Beale, as the sweet, younger sister, Arabella. Wayne Horne was borrowed from the eighth grade to portray young Robert Browning. The maid, Jane, is played by Jeanette Kinman. The play will be shown to the public some time next month, along with several other one-act plays in a full evening's entertainment.

Charles Davies, Robbie Potts, Erma Lee Gideon, Janice Yates, and Carolyn Cantrell are among those who have joined the YMCA theatre group. This organization is working toward a permanent actors' guild locally to present popular Broadway plays in Big Spring... Janet Robb and Martha Frazer are in Strawn this weekend. Martha lived in Strawn prior to coming here.

Big Spring Film Star Climbs Ladder To Fame

Jean Porter, who has come a long way since the days when she sang and danced as a member of the "Mickey Mouse" club here nearly 15 years ago, has been assigned the top feminine lead in a new musical to be released by Columbia.

It was in the kiddies' club, which met each Saturday morning at the Ritz theatre, that Jean got her start in the entertainment field. After a showing of short subjects, youngsters buckled down to a variety of hoofing, crooning and acting.

To Jean this was a wonderful experience, but it did not satisfy her appetite for show business. She participated in grade-school dramatics, performed before service clubs and other groups, and finally made her way to California to study music and dramatics with her eye on the movies.

She gets back here occasionally to visit with her father, Harry C. Porter, chief clerk for the Texas & Pacific freight division of office here.

Hollywood hasn't been altogether a bowl of cherries for Miss Porter, for she came up the hard way. First she labored through juvenile bit parts. Then came better assignments, some leads in short subjects and B productions. But all the while she was coming up the ladder.

Her newest lead is in the Sam Katzman production, tentatively titled "Broadway Baby." Only recently she completed her feminine lead in "Betty Co-Ed," another Katzman production released by Columbia. Many remember her work in the "Youngest Profession."

She doesn't forget Big Spring, remembering many who helped her to get started on the way to stardom. It was in the Bob Reigel dance school here that she learned the basic routines which helped her later in Hollywood.

Miss Porter takes time out from her acting chores to follow her hobby of aviation. She has been granted a pilot's license and has

TRY THIS AMAZING HOME RECIPE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Right in Your Own Home, You Can Lose Pounds of Excess Weight Without Starvation Diet or Strenuous Exercise

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all, and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drug-gist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barconrate (formerly called Barcon Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grape-fruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Perhaps you are overweight due to over indulgence in food or the wrong kind of food. With the Barconrate home recipe method, you do not have to starve yourself or go hungry. Just follow the simple instructions given on the label and you should get satisfactory results quickly. The very first pint you make up should show results. Why not slim down your figure without a lot of fuss and bother? Try the Barconrate way. Wear your streamlined frocks and slacks gracefully. Remember, if the very first bottle of Barconrate doesn't show you the sensible way to lose weight, your money will be re-fund-ed.

Hedy Lamarr Seen In 'Strange Woman' At The Ritz Theatre

The beautiful Hedy Lamarr has joined the ranks of top-flight film stars who have taken a flyer in film producing, and she has chosen for her first effort in this line the controversial Ben Ames Williams novel, "The Strange Woman." The picture is at the Ritz theatre today and Monday.

Miss Lamarr chose for herself the major role of Jenny Hager, around which character the dramatic theme of the story revolves. Jenny Hager is no ordinary woman. She burns with a fire and intensity that cannot be subdued by man or circumstances. She is sometimes cruel, calculating and ruthless, and at other times tender, sweet and utterly enchanting. A strange mixture, but one that an ambitious actress can definitely play right up to the hilt. And that is just what Hedy Lamarr does. Those who have caught a preview of the film are generous with their praise, this time not alone for her great beauty, STRONG DRAMA—Hedy Lamarr and George Sanders are pictured here in a dramatic scene from the turbulent love story, "The Strange Woman," which is at the Ritz theatre today and Monday.

WINNING WAYS—Paulette Goddard, who appears in the title role of "Kitty," showing at the State theatre today and Monday, apparently has won over Ray Milland in this scene from the lavish picture. Milland is only one of Kitty's many suitors.

FRONTIER STUFF—Linda Darnell gives Henry Fonda a deflating look as rugged Victor Mature looks on in this scene from "My Darling Clementine," a western melodrama combining action and romance. The picture is at the Lyric today and Monday.

Fonda, Darnell, Mature In Lyric Western Drama

Marking the first post-war picture effort of three outstanding Hollywood players, "My Darling Clementine," is booked at the Lyric theatre for showings today and Monday.

The Twentieth Century-Fox film stars Henry Fonda, Linda Darnell and Victor Mature. Fonda did wartime duty with the Navy, Mature saw service in the Coast Guard, and Tim Holt, who has a featured role, served four years in the Army Air Forces.

"My Darling Clementine" is one of those stirring western melodramas, and these stars see gun-shooting reminiscent of their combat days.

The battle to bring law and order to Tombstone, Ariz., is supplemented with a stormy romance between Mature and Miss Darnell, and a more leisurely courtship of Cathy Downs by Fonda.

One of the highlights of the film produced by Samuel G. Engel is the Tombstone, Arizona, setting as it was in 1881, right out of the Monument Valley desert. For months before the film's player came to the picturesque Arizona Navajo country where the picture was filmed, the transportation and construction departments of Twentieth Century-Fox fought and won a many-sided battle against elemental odds and postwar construction problems that threatened to stop production.

'Greatest Story Ever Told' Is New Program On KBST

Bridging the gulf on centuries between Biblical times and today, "The Greatest Story Ever Told" will have its American Broadcasting Company premiere today at 5:30 p.m. KBST will carry the program.

THEATRE GUILD

Burgess Meredith and Marsha Hunt will play the starring roles in The Theatre Guild on the Air presentation of Sidney Kingsley's Pulitzer prize-winning drama of the medical profession, "Men In White," over KBST tonight at 9 o'clock.

"Men In White," tells the story of an interne in a hospital who must choose between a career as a surgeon or marriage and a comfortable practice. The death of a young nurse brings him a closer appreciation of humanity's needs and eventually he decides on a further study of surgery.

"COUNTERSPY"

Instead of tracking down a criminal, as is his custom, David Harding — Counterspy sets out to prove a convicted embezzler innocent during his KBST crime-busting broadcast on today, at 4:30 p.m.

Harding, played by Don McLaughlin, is impressed by the embezzler's loud and long protestations of innocence and, in a half-hour punctuated by thrills and excitement, sifts the evidence and gets on the trail of the stolen money.

'Outlaw' Booked At State, Texan For Feb. 7th

Most publicized movie production of the past several years—Howard Hughes' "The Outlaw"—has been booked for Big Spring screenings.

The story based on the saga of Billy the Kid will open at the State theatre on Friday, February 7, for a full week's run, and will open on the same day at the Texan for a three-day presentation.

Special arrangements for the first-time showing here have just been completed by the State-Texan management.

"The Outlaw" has gained notoriety largely because of releasing difficulties and numerous brushes with censorship boards over the nation. Its public showings have been limited.

Key figure in all the publicity is buxom Jane Russell, who has the feminine lead. The part of Billy the Kid is played by a Texan, Jack Beutel.

Plan Of Interest To All Residents

Friday evening the public will have the first of two opportunities to present its views on proposed plans for zoning the city. This hearing will be conducted by the city planning and zoning commission, which, on the basis of testimony at the hearing and its previous studies, makes a final recommendation to the city commission. The latter board then has the responsibility of conducting a final public hearing before either adopting or rejecting a zoning program.

There should be great interest in the problem, for zoning has been talked here as a desirable possibility for years. Now the first concrete steps are being taken in that direction.

There should be understanding on some fundamental points in advance of the two hearings. First of all, zoning does not and cannot control every detail of construction. It can control, with a certain degree of uniformity, occupancy and land use. In the second place, it does not affect existing structures and use, but it can control future development.

A thorough understanding of these points will eliminate controversy on the grounds that the program would put any individual or concern out of business in any given locality simply through adoption.

What it could accomplish is a more sensible grouping of residences, businesses and industries so that in the future our tendency to hodge-podge placement will be subject to control. It simply would be the means whereby those in residential areas would know that nothing but residences would be erected in the same area; that those in business areas would be assured a glue factory could not put in next door, etc.

Whether the proposals are sound, whether the boundaries are properly fixed, whether space clearances on lots in the various zones are ample or too stringent, and other things are fit subject for public discussion. Any property owner should be interested to the extent that he will familiarize himself with terms of the plan and offer any suggestions he might have at the two public hearings.

Your Feelings: Are You Happy?

By FRANK GRIMES
Herald Special Writer

Dr. George Gallup, who is forever prodding people about their opinions, recently departed from Rome quizzing to ask people if they were happy. Forty per cent thought they were happy. (Wrote the poet, Thomas Gray: "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise.") Forty per cent thought they were both happy and gloomy, while a diehard 10 per cent were quite sure they were gloomy all the time.

Appropriately enough, we get the word happy from hap, meaning chance, for surely happiness is largely a matter of luck—being born with a sunny disposition, being lucky enough to escape disappointment, or possessing enough courage to shrug it off. What is the substance of happiness? The dictionary describes it as "a state of well-being characterized by relative permanence, by dominantly agreeable emotion, ranging in value from mere content to positive felicity, and by a natural desire for its continuance."

Some people are just as determinedly happy as others are unhappy. Nothing dismays them. They parry a thrust of Fate with a laugh, and find something amusing in the most distressing situation. If they ever give way to the blues, as most people do on occasion, they take it in solitude, away from prying eyes. "That fellow hasn't a care in the world," people say of some good-natured person who always seems to be smiling and happy. This is a false surmise, of course. No mortal ever was able to maintain complete happiness in a troubled world indefinitely. Those who refuse to yield to gloom are the heroes of this world. They have the inner strength to stand up to trouble and smile in its face.

If happiness is contentment, then some of the gloomiest people on earth are the happiest: for are they not enjoying the emotional benediction that best suits their temperament? "Grandpa is enjoying poor health" is an old wisecrack, not as far-fetched as it sounds. So people enjoy the miseries, for they like to attract attention to themselves, and they are happiest when people commiserate with them.

Dr. Gallup found that the "happiest" people in the United States, percentage-wise, are inhabitants of the Rocky Mountain states. Pacific Coasters come next. Some Gloomy Gus is sure to impute this condition to the natural booster spirits of the people of those regions, for no Californian or Denverite would ever confess he felt poorly. They make a cult of feeling well, and when asked about their wellbeing they naturally would affirm their happiness. That's a pretty good attitude. If a man says he's happy, he's happy—even with tears streaming down his face.

The Gallupers found that single people are less happy than married ones, which seems to belie the old saw that misery loves company; for if single people were miserable enough they'd get married as an antidote.

Finally, the most depressed people are those holding routine jobs in factories, doing the same thing over and over again, day after day, year after year. Variety's the very spice of life, as William Cowper wrote.

One may cultivate a mood as one cultivates sweetpeas or smilax. As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he. It takes a lot more muscles to execute a frown than a smile. The cheerfulness vision vouchsafed mankind is the smile that plays on the face of an infant, or a white-haired old person. The one is not acquainted with the disappointments and antagonisms of this world, and the other has experienced them all and is no longer impressed by them.

The person who is fortified by an inward sense of the capacity to resist and overcome pain isn't likely to give way to gloom and forgoing. He knows he can lick anything that walks, having first licked the toughest foe on earth, his ego—himself. Whatever a man has inside him by way of happiness or gloom or cowardice or exaltation he put there himself. Not even the power of Almighty God can console the heart that refuses to be soled.

Two Views Of Labor Law Policy

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The thinking in Congress on what to do about labor unions comes down roughly to this:

1. Do something now.
2. Take time. Make a thorough study of relations between employers and workers. Then, with that knowledge, do something.

And what will Congress do? It seems certain to do something now. And maybe—but only maybe—it may set up a long-range study to do other things later.

He wants something done at this session of Congress to correct what he considers "abuses" by labor unions.

He has introduced bills which he himself calls "drastic." One would outlaw the closed shop. Another would outlaw industry-wide bargaining.

He's preparing another to overhaul the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

Senator Taft, Ohio Republican and chairman of the Labor Committee, looking at the Murray and Ball Schools, said that now: "Congress could pass what it thinks it can agree on. Then follow that with a long-range study of other problems."

Senator Murray, Montana Democrat, was spokesman for the "Don't rush too fast" school.

He went before the Senate's Labor Committee, the committee tee which will put into shape whatever labor bills the Senate votes on.

He said he has been about 30 years since any real study has been made of employer-employee relations by Congress.

And he said: Since passing any laws about unions—to curb them—is so important, a big study should be made first.

So he suggested Congress do what the President asked it to do: Set up a committee to make the study.

US Stands On Baruch Atom Plan

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Substituting For DeWitt MacKenzie

United Nations circles have been in a considerable flurry this week over suggestions that the United States might be about to change its stand on atomic control.

The new discussions have centered around the possibilities of a plan which would sidetrack the UN Security Council, with its veto, and leave punishment of violators to the action of individual nations, on the theory that violation would actually constitute a declaration of war and they would be forced to act anyway.

Such a system would, in effect, set up an autonomous body for atom control, although presumably its acts affecting the maintenance of peace would ultimately come before the council. But it would emphasize individual action as against the collective action of the Baruch plan, would abandon the attempt to array moral as well as legal authority against military use of atomic power and get back to what would closely approximate the old treaty system.

The idea apparently got around through misinterpretation of a speech by Chief U. S. Delegate Austin in which he discussed some of the factors considered during the evolution of the Baruch plan, and through random discussions at Lake Success regarding possible means of reconciling US and Russian views of retention of the Security Council veto over recommendations of the proposed atomic authority.

Investigation indicates that there is little to get excited about, and that the US is sticking by its guns for sure-fire control, operating under the United Nations, with no veto regarding punishment of violators.

The Russians are standing just as firmly for a treaty providing for a system of inspections, but with recommendations of the control authority as to any punishment of violators still subject to veto.

The Russians maintain that such a convention would provide an effective start for control, create confidence among people, and that after that details should be worked out.

But they still want the United States, presumably as evidence of good faith, to stop making atomic bombs and destroy any on hand to start the ball rolling.

Family Tradition Still Flourishes

NEW YORK. — A good many families have had continuing generations taking up the grease paint and following in the theatrical footsteps of their elders. The first to come to mind are of course the Barrymores for several generations, then Miss Margaret Webster, who trods the talented tradition of her titled mother, Dame May Whitty; Cornelia Otis Skinner, daughter of Otis Skinner; Eva Le Gallienne—and any sort of digging would turn up lots more.

But this little piece is concerned with the youngsters.

A picture of Otto Kruger and his daughter Ottile which arrived at my desk sent me off among the current dramas in search of new footprint-following. Pere et fille Kruger were pictured during a rehearsal of "Little A." in which they both appear. At almost the same time, I was being reminded over the telephone of the talents of Miss Lee Nugent, whose father, Elliott Nugent, co-produced a new play entitled "The Big Two"; Robert Montgomery of the films also shares the producing honors with Lee's perennially youthful pop.

Then as I perused a few recent programs, I noted the name of Dennis King, Jr., son of the fine actor, Junior, abandoned radio a while back when his irresponsible youth tossed inhibitions and a bag of water out of a window of a Buffalo radio station, drenching one of Buffalo's more prominent politicians, close friend of the station's owner. The victim stormed into the studio, demanded to know the owner of the splashy Norden bomb-sight aim. Upon Junior's immediate confession, he was fired.

Dennis now rapidly is becoming one of our better young character actors. He just finished a fine engagement in "The Playboy of the Western World," with Burgess Meredith.

Patricia Kirkland plays the autobiographical role in Ruth Gordon's "Years Ago," thereby carrying on the family tradition of her dad, Playwright Jack Kirkland ("Tobacco Road"), and her mother, Nancy Carroll, last generation's Lana Turner.

THE LITTLE SAVAGE

Hal Boyle's Notebook Great Gift Of Gusto

NEW YORK. (AP)—Two of the most interesting people in the world today are Bob Casey, one of those rare characters who become a legend in their own lifetime.

I say two people because if you only know Bob Casey, the writer, you've missed an equally great man—Bob Casey, giving with the voice.

They are wrapped up together in one wonderful barrel-bodied Irishman with the soul of a heprechaun who retired this week from the Chicago Daily News after thirty-seven golden years in the newspaper vineyard.

Great modern editors such as Carr Van Anda of the New York Times and Oliver K. Boward of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch are responsible for lifting the standards of journalism, but it is men like Bob Casey that give it a bright spirit and a soul.

Bob is an international jumping Jack who has filled in his spare time between newspaper chores by turning out more than a score of books. He absorbs Irish events and anecdotes by a kind of Irish osmosis, and digests them into fluid prose.

He leaves a lasting ripple wherever he goes, and when newsmen meet in Saigon or Cairo or Algiers or Paris, sooner or later the question comes up, "Where'd you see Bob Casey last?"

I met him first in a candlelit army tent in Normandy full of correspondents and brandy fumes. Bob was telling a story, standing there bare except for his trousers. As he reached the tagline, his big belly bulged with laughter and his gray-

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

Admirals Can Change Their Minds

WASHINGTON. — If Congress really wants to cut the budget, the boys on Capitol Hill might scrutinize certain naval operations going on almost under their noses in southern Maryland.

Directly south of Washington near Solomon's Island, Md., the navy operated an important wartime ordnance development center. About 19,000 men were stationed there during the war and some of the navy's most important guns were tested out near Solomon's Island.

Just half a mile on the other side of Solomon's, the navy also operated another important establishment—a mine test base.

Came the end of the war and last August, the navy decided to abandon the mine test base but continue the ordnance development center as a permanent operation. So it started to tear down buildings, clear land and to construct permanent officers' quarters for the ordnance center.

Then two months later the navy changed its mind. In October, it decided to reverse the process and make the mine test center permanent, abandoning the ordnance development center.

Accordingly, the navy signed a contract with the Burns Construction Company, which proceeded to move 25 quonset huts, previously erected at the ordnance development, over to the mines test base. The Burns Company also started construction of permanent new homes for navy personnel, poured cement foundations, laid floors, installed indirect heating systems, and erected steel framework for prefabrication.

THOSE CHANGEABLE ADMIRALS

In fact, the homes were about one-half completed, when suddenly the navy again changed its mind.

Having first decided to abandon the mines test case, then decided to make it permanent, the admirals have now decided once again to abandon the mine test base.

Meanwhile various expensive supplies badly needed for veterans housing, having already been ordered, are being delivered. If congressmen had journeyed south a few miles into Maryland recently, they might have seen truckloads of steel framework and insulation going down to Solomon's Island—despite the fact that all construction has been stopped. The navy forgot the slight detail of countermanding its orders in time to prevent delivery.

All of this is one reason why veterans housing is so scarce. The biggest builders in the United States are the army and navy. Both branches of the service decided to rush through a lot of construction immediately after the war while they thought Congress was in a generous mood.

THE NAVY'S TWO PETS

Here is the latest story going the rounds of the navy department. When you read the above account on the changeable admirals you can understand why the navy tells it with such glee.

A grammar school teacher was enrolling a new class, according to the navy, and was somewhat surprised to find two small boys who gave their names as "John L. Lewis Smith" and "Drew Pearson Smith."

A little perplexed at these unusual names, the teacher decided to call the mother of the two boys, and the following conversation took place:

"Mrs. Smith, I'm calling about your two little boys who enrolled with me at school today. I just want to make sure that I have their names right—'John L. Lewis Smith' and 'Drew Pearson Smith.' Is that correct?"

"Yes," replied Mrs. Smith. "That's what I named them. You may think they're peculiar names; so perhaps I should tell you that I'm not married and maybe you can think of some better names for those two little boys."

And that is the navy's story.

CAPITAL CHAFF

Georgia's Chip Robert called up Statesman Senator Barkley of Kentucky the other day to compliment him on his new moustache. "How do the ladies take it?" asked Chip. "Like a rabbit to a briar patch," replied Barkley.

Ex-Congressman Charlie Dewey of Chicago was attending a social function the other day and accidentally stepped on somebody's instep. Looking around apologetically he discovered the instep was that of the President of the United States. "Oh!" exclaimed Dewey, "I didn't know I was stepping on the President's." "Well, it hurts, even if it was the President," said Truman, with a rueful smile. . . . Political sleuths report that the railroad interests are lined up behind Taft for president with the oil interests behind Dewey. If so, it means Rockefeller (oil) vs. Morgan (railroads). . . . Advertising Copy Makes News

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Billy Ross, the showman, wrote such amusing copy in his advertisements that it wasn't long before he was signed up by a syndicate to write a column.

Something like that is happening in Pampa, says Editor J. L. Swindle of the Pampa News. A well-to-do real estate man named J. Wade Duncan pounds out such down-to-earth, chatty and downright amusing material for his ads that one of the first things readers do is turn to the classified page.

Here's a sample:

"I've had quite a few complaints from some of the new comers and out-of-town people at not being able to locate the Duncan Bldg. Well, that is something. When you come to town and get in the busiest part then you are in what is called the Duncan block.

"The Duncan Bldg. sets on the corner, and it is two-story affair right in the middle of the business district of Pampa. When you come up into this building you are on your own, as we start selling you something just as you hit the head of the stairs.

"You can buy real estate, get a divorce, insure yourself for life or fire, borrow money, pay bills, get an oil well drilled, sue anybody, sell anything, or fact you can do anything or have anything to pay for. Low Comedy Too High

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Groucho Marx has his own explanation for the lack of laughs on the screen today—good low comedy is too high for most film audiences.

The Grouch was doing a musical number for "Copacabana," in which he is brotherless and plays a clipped-moustache theatrical producer. In the picture he is trying to elude someone—disguised as Groucho Marx. After he finished imitating himself, he came over to deplore with me the paucity of humor in the movies.

"The way I figure it," he began, "is that it's safer not to make comedy. Picture audiences would rather cry. Yes, sir, they'd rather just sit there and weep into their popcorn. And that's good, too, because it softens up the popcorn so it doesn't make so much noise. Have you ever been to the movies and had people all around you eating popcorn?—It's frightening."

I hope the girls aren't offended, but Groucho thinks they interfere with the production of film comedies.

"I don't think women understand comedy, not to mention the fact that they don't understand men," he said, tossing off a Groucho-ism. "They're not quite

Brooklyn Eagle's Office Is Robbed

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP) — Two masked men entered the Brooklyn Eagle's business office, held up a girl cashier, and escaped with a weekly payroll of approximately $20,000 Friday. One man pulled a gun and held up the girl, who was the only occupant of the cashier's cage. The second man scrambled over the top of the cage, seized a canvas bag containing the payroll, and clambered back. They then ran to the street where two other men awaited them in a car and made a quick getaway.

THE TEXAS POLL—

Negroes Prefer Own University

AUSTIN, Jan. 25.—Most Negroes agree with the overwhelming sentiment of the white population in Texas that the Legislature should provide colored students with a first class university of their own instead of allowing them to enter the University of Texas.

Negroes vote 8 to 5 in favor of a separate university, as compared with a ratio of more than 25 to 1 among eligible white voters.

The Texas Poll put the question to a representative cross-section of adults in this form:

"Under a Supreme Court ruling, Texas is faced with the problem of either setting up a first class university for Negroes or allowing them to enter the University of Texas. What do you think ought to be done?"

Here are the results, broken down to show the opinions of the 86 per cent of the people who are white and the 14 per cent who are Negroes:

Set up Separate University	79%	8%
Allow Them in U. T.	18%	82%
Ignore Court Ruling	3%	10%
Don't Know	0%	0%

Allegiance to Southern traditions and fear of racial troubles are the main reasons why whites favor a separate university for Negroes. Negroes who prefer a university of their own say: (1) Negroes aren't interested in going to school with whites; (2) Negroes should be by themselves, anyway; (3) Negroes want good training and where they get it doesn't matter.

Whites and Negroes who think the University of Texas' doors should be opened to colored students maintain that the establishment of a separate university for Negroes would be too great a financial burden on the state.

Representative comments: White—"Too much money would be spent to benefit too few." Colored—"To have one university would be cheaper for the state."

Among the few who think Texas should ignore the Supreme Court's ruling, opinion seems to be that Negroes ought not to go to universities at all, or that there are not enough Negroes who want higher education for anyone to worry about.

In this survey, as in all scientific samplings by The Texas Poll, every person gave his opinion in strict confidence. To encourage Negro respondents to voice their opinions freely, the Poll uses trained colored interviewers to contact a cross-section of their race.

Economy Guns Sighted On Vet Appropriations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—House Republicans shifted their economy guns to the Veterans Administration today but promised no more than a near miss against the cash actually paid to former GI's. Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the Appropriations Committee told a reporter that the $7,000,000,000 budget for veterans can take a trimming. But he said the cuts will be made in the money spent to administer benefits for veterans and not in the benefits themselves.

That followed a statement by another top bracket Republican, Chairman Allen of the Rules Committee that:

"The policy of the Republican party will be to preserve appropriations benefitting veterans, although many bureaucratic functions of the New Deal will be eliminated."

"Here's the pitch," Taber amplified... "The veterans Administration is loaded up with a lot of people who aren't keeping busy. On top of that, they have been cutting a lot of capers."

"They have done all sorts of ridiculous things. They have paid ridiculously high prices, for instance, to doctors and dentists doing work for them under contract—sometimes double and treble the going prices for dental and medical services in the same town."

"That whole set-up requires attention and it's going to get it." Edward Lewis, director of the Public Relations for the Veterans Administration, said there would be no immediate VA comment on Taber's assertion.

Taber stressed that there is no intention of reducing the amount of money paid to any veterans on the rolls. In most cases, the payments are fixed by law.

Scurry County Trio Get Fines Totalling $800

Three men arrested in Scurry County the past week on charges of selling liquor in a dry area without licenses paid fines totaling $800 and costs in Scurry county court the past week.

John Trousdale, who found that a lawyer could do little in the way of convincing the court that he was innocent, was the hardest hit. He was found guilty on three counts and given fines totaling $400 and costs.

Clay Patterson entered pleas of guilty to two different charges and was fined $100 in each case.

Dennis C. Browning faced a single charge, decided not to fight it and was penalized $100 and costs while P. R. Riley threw himself on the mercy of the court in each of two charges filed against him and was fined $100 on each conviction.

Investigators under the supervision of the Texas Liquor Control board at Big Spring pressed the charges.

Robert Brococy, picked up in Mitchell county Wednesday on a charge of selling liquor in a dry area without a license and was fined $100 plus court expenses.

Meat Black Mart Operators Jailed

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP)—Two men, who US Attorney F. X. McGohey said were "probably the largest black market meat operators to flourish in New York between 1942 and 1945," were under federal conviction today on charges of fraud, conspiracy and use of counterfeit ration stamps.

Albert Merlis, 40, and Siegrid Hermann, 39, both of the Bronx, who operated meat companies here and at Chester, N.Y., were convicted yesterday of defrauding the government of $263,000 in subsidies, and use of forged and counterfeit meat ration checks worth 12,000,000 points.
