Winners Named In Election

AWS To Revamp Its Point System

Steps for a revamp of the point system for women students are being taken by the Association of Women Students, said Lois Cone, president.

A point committee composed of Alice Elk, Kathryn Witty, and Cherylne Roberts will make recommendations for changes or revisions at the first meeting in March, Miss Cone explained. Their suggestions will be based on the opinions submitted by the presidents of campus organizations with women membership.

Women students received varying numbers of points depending upon the offices they held and their campus activities. At present, a woman cannot hold over 110 points per year, or 55 points per semester. Purposes of a point system, as outlined by Miss Cone, are to relieve women of too much responsibility and to give others opportunities to take part in more campus activities.

A proposal to amend the constitution of the association in order to add the office of reporter will be voted on by the group at a regular meeting, Monday, she added.

MARSHALL GETTYS

Gettys, Gillespie, Trice, To Occupy Council Positions

By CHARLES H. SCHAFER
Toreador Copy Editor

Marshall Gettys, Bill Gillespie, and Roy Trice won seats on the Student Council in the election run-off held Thursday, Margaret Clark, chairman of the Student Council election committee, said Thursday night.

Gettys, new engineering representative to the council, edged out Edward D. Campbell, senior from Center, by a vote of 150 to 136. Gettys is a junior from Amarillo.

In the business administration division, Bill Gillespie, junior from Lubbock, received a plurality of votes over Bill McCasland, junior from Lamesa. Gillespie polled 75 and McCasland 48.

Roy Trice, junior from Mount Pleasant, swung the votes in the division of arts and sciences by defeating Levora Manning, sophomore from Amarillo, 143 to 94.

The new engineering representative, Marshall Gettys, is also president of the Double T association and has served as secretary of the organization. Last semester he was named to Who's Who in American colleges and universities. He has a Varsity letter in football and is a member of All-College Recognition service.

Bill Gillespie, business administration representative, is president of Centaur social club.

The three new members will take their oath of office at the next meeting of the Student Council at 7:30 p. m. Monday in Ad-220.

Twelve candidates originally took out petitions to fill the three vacancies which existed in the council, but this field was narrowed to six after the special election of last Monday. No candidate in any division won a majority of votes and this necessitated the run-off election Thursday.

Candidates who sought election from the division of arts and sciences were Joan Booth, Levora Manning, Constance Thomas, and Roy Trice. In the race for engineering representative were Marshall Gettys, Richard Gibson and Edward D. Campbell. Business administration candidates were Bill McCasland, Bill Gillespie, Guin E. Byers, Earl Lockhart and Margaret Klaus.

Only 948 students voted in the run-off election Thursday. A total of 286 votes were cast in the engineering division, which, as it did last Monday, led the three divisions in the number of votes cast. Arts and sciences was next with a total of 239 votes cast. Votes in the business administration division totaled 123. In Monday's election, 812 students voted.

This election brings the Tech Student Council up to its normal strength, and unless unforeseen circumstances occur, it will remain during the rest of this semester, Miss Clark said.

There will be no more campus-wide elections until the general elections in April, concluded Miss Clark.

TEACHING SCHOOL

Mary Dean Griffin, B. A. in journalism in January '49, is teaching school in Brownfield.

President Asks Funds To Bring Outstanding Teachers To Tech

Recommendation that a special wage fund be earmarked to permit Tech's employing "at least half a dozen distinguished professors" was forwarded by Pres. D. M. Wiggins at a legislative committee hearing on the college's $5,017,512-05 budget in Austin Wednesday.

During the presentation of Tech's request for funds for the next biennium, Doctor Wiggins said that authorization is needed for hiring the professors at salaries approximating $10,000 each.

The president's recommendation overshadowed the routine budget hearing before the Sub-Committee on Education of the House Appropriations committee and the Senate Finance committee.

Attending the hearing with Doctor Wiggins were Mark McCee of Fort Worth and Charles W. Woodruff of Dallas, members of the Board of Directors; W. T. Gaston, business manager; and Frank Junell, assistant to the president.

In addition to the original budget of $4,676,703.36, a total of $340,808.70 was asked for campus repairs and improvements. This extra amount is over and above the $100,000 for that purpose included in the first biennial total.

For the 1949-1950 session, the sum of $168,870.50 is asked for the following items: a new six-inch gas main system on the campus, $18,000; a new water distribution system, $61,500; curbing sidewalks and a lighting system, $54,000; repairs and replacements to the Administration building, $33,370.50.

Junell said yesterday that work on the Administration building would consist of painting all outside windows and doors, excavating under the first floor of the west end of the structure to obtain possible classroom or storage space, and repairing and replacing plumbing, plastering and all stonework with the stonework also slated for cleaning.

A total of $173,938.20 is requested for 1950-1951 to be spent as follows: repairs and replacements to the Engineering building, $7,015; repairs and replacements to the Textile building, $6,890.20; paving campus streets, $40,000; furniture and equipment for the museum, $12,000; furniture and equipment for the library, $52,638; repairs, replacements and improvements to the power house facilities, $54,500.

Junell said that funds for work on the Engineering building would be used for painting and caulking doors and windows; repairing the plastering, wiring and plumbing; and replacing the roof, tile and stonework.

He listed renovation and improvement work to the Textile building as recaulking and painting of all doors and windows, repairs to stone trim, replacement of the roof, and repair and replacement of the plumbing.

For each of the two years, $1,838,351 is asked for salaries; $100,000 for the summer session, $200,000 for maintenance and equipment and $50,000 for research.

Total amount of money asked for has been upped at least 17 per cent over the request for the last biennium in order to meet the same percentage increase in the cost of living.

Amarilloans Place Tech In Spotlight Through Fair Yearbook's Dedication

Oil Company To Interview ME, CE And PE Graduates

L. B. Redmond, industrial relations representative, will interview June graduates interested in positions with Magnolia Oil company on Wednesday. Mrs. Jean Jenkins, secretary to the placement service, said.

There are openings for a lubrication engineer who must have a degree in mechanical engineering, must be from 25 to 29 years of age, and must have had some experience working in a plant where much machinery is operated. Also there is an opening for a junior gas engineer with a degree in degree in mechanical engineering. This engineer must be from 20 to 25 years of age and needs no experience.

Redmond will also interview graduating students with master's and doctor's degree in the following departments: bacteriology, chemistry, chemical engineering, civil engineering, mechanical engineering, geology and physics. Students qualified may schedule appointments in Ad-205.

Texas Tech will be in the spotlight twice during the Amarillo stock show beginning Monday and continuing through Friday.

The 258-page annual publication of the show is dedicated to the college. On pages two and three is the dedication with a large picture of the Administration building.

Noting that Tech has a statewide influence and that it offers broad training in technological and scientific fields, the annual pays tribute to the work of the agriculture division and the value of its teaching.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, is to address a meeting of the Panhandle Livestock association at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Herring hotel. He is also to attend a noon luncheon of the association.

The tri-state stock exhibition includes entries from the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and eastern New Mexico.

Vets Should Check With VA On Leave

Veterans who are going to interrupt their training at the end of the semester and do not wish to receive pay accrued by a 15 day leave, should file such request in Ad-110 during March. H. A. Anderson, veterans coordinator, said today. If such request is not made, the veteran automatically receives pay for the 15 day period.

The veteran should keep in mind that the leave period for which he is paid when he is not in training, counts against his eligibility time the same as if he were in school during that period, Anderson said.

Three Male Leads Needed For '49 Tech Varsity Show

Three male leads are still needed in the Varsity show, Bill Farsley, director, has announced. Any interested students are invited to contact Farsley and try out for the parts.

The male leads had all been cast, but a low grade point average forced three of the leads to drop from the show.

Tech Movie Shown To Plainview Group

"Futures Unlimited," movie of the academic and social life at Texas Tech, was shown privately to executives of the Southwestern Public Service company in Plainview Wednesday night. Oscar Allen, president of the Tech chamber of commerce, has announced.

The movie was shown to the group in hopes that they might buy it. If the company buys a copy of the film it will be shown to Southwestern Public Service company employees.

Two additional copies of the film have been ordered, said Allen, and they are expected to arrive in a few weeks.

They will be shown to interested groups as soon as possible after they have arrived.

Many schools and civic clubs have inquired about the film and seem highly interested in it, Allen said.

The film had its world premiere Jan. 10, in Lubbock Senior high school auditorium.

Freshman Week To Begin At Baptist Student Center

Freshmen week will be held at the Baptist Student center beginning tomorrow and lasting through March 5. Miss Ardelle Hallock, director of the center, said. Executive council offices will be taken over by freshmen and they will conduct the business of the center.

Other activities for the center include a box supper at 7 p.m. Friday, at the student center.

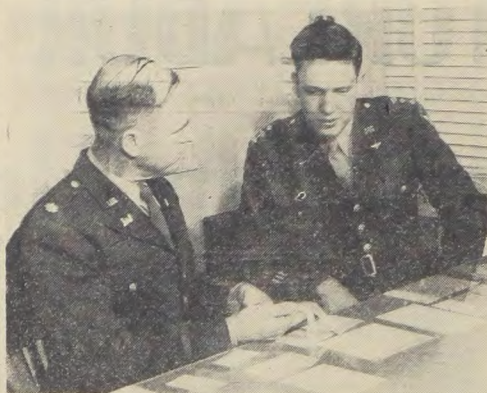

Mrs. James Wray, director of the Baptist Student union at the University of Houston, will conduct classes in a BSU methods study course from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday at the student center, Miss Hallock said.

Seismograph Records Shock

Dr. Leroy T. Patton, geology professor, reported that a slight shock was picked up on the seismograph at 9:39 a.m. Wednesday. The shock came from Tepic, on the west coast of Mexico, 1,860 kilometers south of Lubbock.

Durward Payne, former Tech student is working with the Texas Electric Service company in Big Springs.

James "Bud" Conley, Tech letterman, was married to Miss Marrian Meacham, former Tech student, January 27 in Childress. The couple are making their home in Lubbock.

After his graduation in June, Taylor is considering a twenty-one month tour of active duty with the Army Air Corps. (Photo by Wendt).

Contests Added To League

Five journalism contests are being added for the first time to the Regional Interscholastic League Meet which will be held here April 23. Sam Lefeste, director general of Region one and assistant professor in marketing and secretarial administration, has announced. Journalism subjects which are to be contested are news writing, editorial writing, feature writing, copywriting, and headline writing, Lefeste said. There will be no district meet for the journalism section, but contestants will communicate here first.

Among the other events of the day will be athletic contests in track, tennis, and golf, and literary competition including number sense, slide rule, declamation, extemporaneous speech, one-act plays, typing, shorthand, and other subjects.

Approximately 800 students will be on the campus to participate in Class AA, A, and B events. The regional winners will go to the state meet held May 6-7 in Austin.

Plant Industry Department To Have Annual Seed Meet

There will be a meeting of the Texas Certified Seed Growers March 5, in Aggie auditorium Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department, said Thursday.

Seed growers from the northwest part of Texas and parts of New Mexico will be present at the meeting. Speakers from Texas A. & M. Austin, Lubbock, and Amarillo are expected to be present. Doctor Young is to plan the program and preside.

The meeting is sponsored by the plant industry department and has had annual meetings for the past eight years. Last year about 175 seed growers registered at the meeting.

Wynelle Alsbaugh, who did not attend school last semester, has returned to Tech.

Design Problems Of Tech Students Win Mention In National Competition

Phi Psi To Offer Fabrics For Sale

Chambray, gingham, and other regular spring fabrics have been ordered and will be offered for sale by Phi Psi, national honorary textile professional fraternity, Bill Harvey, president of the organization said Thursday. The material should arrive next week and will be placed on sale in the west hallway of the textile building. Many colors and patterns will be included in the shipment. The prices will range from 79 to 89 cents a yard.

Some of the fabrics will be shown in the engineering show, Harvey said.

Tickets For Spanish Movie Will Be On Sale Monday

Tickets to the Spanish movie, "Enamorada," will be on sale Monday in a booth on the first floor of the Ad building. Mrs. Dorothy Golden, secretary in the foreign language office, announced Thursday.

Sigma Delta Pi, national Spanish honorary fraternity, is the sponsor of the movie to be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, in the Llanos theatre.

The movie which was made in Mexico stars Pedro Armendariz, who played a captain in the American film, "The Fugitive," and Maria Felix. Admission will be 30 cents.

Remodeling Is Being Done In Chemistry Basement

The basement of the Chemistry building is getting its face lifted after 21 years of hard use.

The maintenance department has started plastering and painting the walls. Work has been received from the Hunter-Hayes Elevator company by R. C. Goodwin, dean of arts and sciences, that the elevator shaft must be cleaned out not later than March 7, and installation will begin March 15.

Classes will not be interrupted because of the work.

Architectural design problems which won mentions in the Tile Council of America contest held under the auspices of the Beaux-Arts institute are on display in the engineering building.

Tech students whose designs won mentions in the contest are: Donald G. Bailey, Billy Dane Burns, Aubrey I. Ferguson, Richard H. Gibson, Talmage, DeWitt, Joseph A. Griffin, Charles H. Kelley, Robert Lee, George Lingo, Byron Martin, Howard Schmidt, J. F. Strickland, and M. A. Spurlin.

Out of the 327 designs submitted in the contest, there were 181 mentions, of which Tech won 13. According to Prof. W. L. Bradshaw this is a pretty good showing, considering the size of other architecture schools which entered the contest, and the fact that many of them are older schools such as Notre Dame, University of Illinois, and the University of Pennsylvania.

The designs, which are drawings of elementary schools and kindergarten, will be on display for the next week.

Animal Husbandry Profs On Plant Inspection Tour

Hubert L. Mathews and Kirk B. Turner professors of animal husbandry, left early yesterday morning with a group of Lubbock farmers and business men on an inspection tour of farms and packing plants of broiler chickens.

The Youngblood broiler plant in Waco will be one of the main points of interest, Mathews said. The group, which consists of 15 people, will travel first to Waco. After going through the plant, they plan to spend the night and leave this morning for Gonzales and Nixon to visit some of the large broiler farms in that section.

Purpose of the trip, as explained by Mathews, is to stimulate interest in the broiler business in this area and to study the methods of growing and dressing broilers. Ways in which the business is financed will also be studied, Mathews stated.

FRENCH FADS FAIL FRAIL FIGURES

Co-Eds Vote 'No' To Paris Clothing Styles

By DAINA McILROY
Toreador Staff Writer

What do you think of the practicality of French styles for co-eds on the campus?

Say you don't know what French styles are? Well, it's pretty hard to describe them verbally. They are better explained by actually viewing them. These masterpieces of French designers are distinguished from other styles by their low necklines, exaggerated midriffs, backless creations, and stressed strapless smartness. As for the French bathing suits, brief words would picture them—too brief.

If surveys are reliable, it is apparent that the majority of college coeds class Paris designs "faboo". Joan Hamilton, sophomore sociology major, voiced her opinion on the subject when she said, "I believe college coeds like Paris styles but I don't believe that they would accept them on the campus." When asked what she thought, Doris Lange, junior general business major, replied, "No, as to the styles. They are too extreme for co-eds. They are all right for some occasions. Regarding the bathing suits, I think we women ought to keep as much hidden as possible to fool these men."

Wanda Dickens, senior in commercial teaching field, said, "I don't like them. They reveal too much."

"I think there is a limit to everything," was the statement made by Jo Anne Thompson, freshman primary education major. Shirley Juergensen, freshman pre-med major, said, "I don't think they are very practical. There's not much to them but I guess they are O. K. Boys seem to like them."

Helen Brown, sophomore in speech department, was blunt in her remark, "I think they are stupid!"

Dana Lane, junior in clothing and textiles, replied "I like the patterns and pictures but don't like them made up. They show up too many figure irregularities!" Helen Strong, sophomore in home economics education, said "I like the idea of back emphasis and it is the only one that could be of use to college coeds. Definitely no on the bathing suits. A one-piece bathing suit is much more flattering than a two-piece, especially the diaper style."

Yvonne Cross, sophomore in primary education, stated, "I think French styles are ungodly. If they get any lower, what will the world come to? Why wear any clothes?"

Male opinions were questioned but replies were not printable. Form your own conclusions. It's quite a problem.

Mary Lou Moore Is "Miss Pledge"

Mary Lou Moore, representative of DFD social club, was elected "Miss Pledge of 1949" by rushees of College Club, men's social organization, Monday night at the Lubbock hotel.

Runner up was Mary Jo Phillips, also a DFD representative.

Each women's social club was represented by two pledges. Other girls competing for the honor were Les Grebe and Cecile Butler, Las Chaparritas; Marjorie Wilson and Patsy Exum, Souci; Wanda Mills and Eva Johnson, Las Vivarachas; and Jo Simmons and Patsy Shelton, Ko Shari.

Entertainment for the evening included hand balancing acrobatics by Jimmy Carter and Dinky Davis and vocal numbers by Guida Miller, Sharon Haney, Betty Wright and Mary Roe.

Bob Williams, college club member, acted as master of ceremonies. Other members of the club were also present.

Engineering, were the basis of the decorations.

Special guests who attended included Pres. and Mrs. D. M. Wiggins; Vice Pres. and Mrs. E. N. Jones, deans of the divisions; Dean of Men, James G. Allen, and Mrs. Allen; Dean of Women, Mrs. Margaret Walker; and Jay Flynn, military property custodian. Also present were ROTC faculty and Air Force personnel.

Student guests who were present were Billy Taylor, Dudley Repp, Howard Taylor, Morris McCutchan, Donald Cade and Sam Bates.

Capt. and Mrs. William C. Neubaer and Capt. and Mrs. Ray J. Yantis acted as chaperones.

Dance music was furnished by Burl Hubbard and his orchestra.

Aid To Foreign Students Should Not Be Delayed

With the announcement that the Board of Directors has approved the appropriation of $3,750 for scholarships for qualified citizens of Latin-American countries and the possessions of the United States, Tech has once again given evidence of its desire to help those of its students whose homes are outside this country.

Appointment of an emergency committee to study and bring recommendations relative to solving financial problems of Tech's foreign students emphasizes the great need for such aid.

Closing of money exchange between the United States and some foreign nations leaves some of those students confronted by financial problems which have no easy solution. They cannot always depend upon regular receipt of funds from their own countries. The amount of money which they may earn from employment is often limited. Through the work of the committee, steps may be taken for eliminating many of those monetary worries.

Added to their financial difficulties may be an inadequate or imperfect command of English—a lack which may be a restriction in classroom work. The scholarship provisions insure that recipients have enough familiarity with the language to permit successful pursuit of college courses.

The knowledge that foreign students are to be helped by this school merits our commendation. Whatever aid can be given them should not be delayed. They are, in their countries, ambassadors of good will for this nation and for Tech. The service which we can offer them is slight compared to the benefits which they render us abroad.

More References Needed

We have recently heard much student criticism leveled at the library. The chief criticism seems to be that the library doesn't subscribe to certain widely-read magazines. Checking with the library we found that Collier's, McCall's, Redbook, The Progressive Farmer, The Country Gentleman, Cosmopolitan, and Esquire, among others, are absent from the shelves.

This situation is not necessarily the fault of the library as magazines and periodicals are subscribed to upon the recommendation of department heads.

Students taking a magazine article writing course which is being offered at Tech this semester have found that the lack of these magazines in the library has entailed needless expense, time and work. Presumably writing articles with an eye to their being published, the students need the above mentioned magazines to study markets and the type of articles magazine publishers desire. They have either had to buy the magazines out of their meager allowances or comb the campus for them.

One student we know needed a copy of The Progressive Farmer which contained information required in one of his classes. After fruitlessly searching for a copy in the library, he finally found one in the reading room of the Agriculture building.

We know that the library, as well as every other department of the campus, is haunted by the spectre of insufficient funds, but we are not convinced that it does not have the money with which to buy nationally known magazines for the benefit of Tech students.

Perhaps the department heads need to take stock and find out just what magazines are needed by students under their supervision. In any event, the representative magazines of America deserve to be recognized by Texas Tech's library.

We act as though comfort and luxury were the chief requirements of life, when all we need to really make us happy is something to be enthusiastic about.—Charles Kingsley.

Letters To The Editor

Editor of the Toreador
Dear Editor:

In a past edition of the Toreador there appeared a picture entitled "first meeting of the Cosmopolitan club." This picture represents the greatest misrepresentation of fact that has ever been perpetrated on the Techsians. I should like to cite some of these facts.

In the first place, the picture was taken at a Rotary club banquet in honor of Tech foreign students at the Hilton hotel on Nov. 29. At that time the idea of the Cosmopolitan club had not even been conceived, and was not conceived by that group until some months later.

Secondly, several of those "foreign" students in the picture are more American than hot dogs and the "Star Spangled Banner," and have only visited in the "native" countries listed for them.

Thirdly, of the 20 students in the picture, many are not remotely connected with the "comic-politan" club and strongly resent the implication. Not even all of the officers are listed accurately.

Freedom of the press means freedom of the truth. No one objects to a slight exaggeration of the truth for publicity purposes, but there are limits to elasticity.

The Toreador is not to blame. The staff cannot be expected to investigate each article submitted for publication, but neither can the Toreador act as an agent for organizations attempting to obtain a permanent campus chapter. The sooner people are encouraged to respect truth in our newspaper, the more quickly may our harassed Toreador staff believe the material that is submitted to them.

A Rotary admirer

(Sir, "an exaggeration of truth" for any purpose is unheard of in good journalistic circles. The Toreador has not practiced such tactics during the past semester, nor will it do so in the future. We most certainly resent the blast leveled at the Toreador's news sources and charges that we act "as an agent" for any organization. We must and will, without reservation, accept responsibility either for the accuracy or inaccuracy of every story printed in this paper.—Ed.)

Our candidate for the meanest man on earth is the ventriloquist who throws his voice under the old maid's bed.

The man with a wonderful vocabulary is one who can describe a shapely girl without using his hands.

The owner of a big furniture store went to New York to buy some stock and he met a really beautiful girl in the hotel elevator. But she was French and they couldn't understand a word of each other's language.

So he took out a pencil and notebook and drew a sketch of a taxi. She nodded her head and laughed and they went for a ride in the park.

Then he drew a picture of a table in a restaurant with a question mark and she nodded, so they went to dinner.

After dinner he sketched two dancers and she was delighted. They went to a night club and danced and had a lovely evening.

At length she asked for the pencil and drew a picture of a four poster bed.

He was dumfounded. He's never been able to figure out how she knew he was in the furniture business.

El Toro Grande

Far be it from us to try to match the impertinent information put forth by El Toro Grande Brewer, but here goes . . .

We were very happy to see the respect shown to one of our basketball players at a recent basketball game. The fans were showing a little too much "Brooklyn Spirit" over a decision by one of the officials. When Don Grove raised the ham that dangles at the end of his arm, the fans responded immediately and the gym sounded like a morgue. We think that is the way it should be.

Don't forget that football spring training is just around the corner. There will be plenty of seats in the stands so let's go out and watch the practices. Remember seniors, we might not get to see the Red Raiders in action much next fall.

It is the duty of every senior to express his opinion on the gift we leave to the college. The committee—LaDot White, Edd C. McLeroy, Milton Butler, Lloyd Greenwood, and yours truly—is set up to look into all possibilities. If you have any suggestions, please contact one of us.

Have you ever stopped to visualize our campus 24 years from now? We are still a young college and young colleges are not supposed to have beautiful sodded campuses. Don't be too critical of our campus until you stop and think the situation over fully.

We can remember back in pre-war and early war days here at Tech, when cars were scarce and gas hard to get, how practically all dating was done on buses or on foot. Everybody did it. We wonder how many girls can truthfully say that they have never turned down a date because they knew they would have to go on a bus. And how many boys have wanted to have a date but have been afraid to ask for the same reason. It is not so bad, really, just better in a car.

Many students dislike Joe Kelly of the Avalanche-Journal. Several have written him letters telling him so. It seems that they usually forget to sign the letters though . . . We know Joe personally and find him a very likeable fellow. We all don't agree on everything, but he writes what he thinks. We really can't condemn a man for that. There is one thing we should all agree with him on, however: Lubbock needs a city coliseum.

Tech's Dorm Counselors Specially Trained

BY BOBBY STONE
Toreador Staff Writer

Beginning with the 1948 fall term a new system of counseling was started in three men's dormitories, Sneed hall, Men's Dorm III, and Men's Dorm IV. The three men, T. W. Charlwood in Sneed, Hilary Fry in III, and H. E. Mizell, in Dorm IV, received special training in this field at the University of Illinois and despite their degrees in educational subjects, plan to continue in their present occupation. This program will be continued and enlarged next year by placing counselors in West and Doak halls. James G. Allen, dean of men, said that applications were still being received from all over the country and that men being considered for the job will be interviewed this summer so the positions may be filled by next fall.

Allen said the men are being chosen on the basis of training, experience, and interest in the program. He stresses that the largest part of the college student's life is not spent in classes or labs, but in the dorm living with a group of people with the same interests. This living with other people and becoming well adapted takes a specially trained person just as does an academic course.

It was to fill this need of special guidance, Allen said, that the new program was begun. There is, of course, no set rule followed in any dorm and the method of application of the guidance may vary under different counselors. However, the main point is that along with other developments and improvements on the campus, comes the realization of the need for trained and experienced men for the specific job of counseling men students. Fry, a native of southern Oklahoma, received his B. S. from the University of Illinois under the Division of special services for war veterans. Previous to this he worked for three years as a news writer and news broadcaster at stations WBAP and KGKO in Fort Worth and served about three years in the navy. After his discharge he went to the university where he was manager of married vets housing while studying for his degree.

Fry's main hobbies are vocal music and radio. This summer he plans to get his Master's in educational psychology at the University of Chicago.

Mizell, counselor in Men's Dorm IV, holds a B. S. in agricultural education from the University of Illinois, graduating from there in 1941. After spending four and one-half years in the army, working chiefly in electronics and radar, he received his discharge in '46 and returned to the university. While there he worked on the counseling program and studied for his master's degree which he received in June 1948.

Before coming to Tech last September, Mizell was with the undergraduate division of the university at Galesburg, Ill. as supervisor of temporary housing and head resident counselor. His hobbies are photography especially color slides, and traveling. As for future plans, he is chiefly interested in following student counseling programs as a lifetime career.

After serving in the navy from 1942 to 1945, Charlwood, counselor in Sneed hall, returned to the university to do graduate work. While there he was the head counselor in Men's residence halls and when the undergraduate division was established at Galesburg, he was transferred there as head resident counselor.

His chief hobby is photography. He was sponsor of a photography club in Galesburg as well as furnishing the illustrations for the student handbook there. Although he has done some teaching, he, too, plans to go on with counseling because he considers that and housing a much more interesting occupation.

Harlan Clark, former Tech student, is working with the Bell Telephone company in Dallas. Clark received a degree in accounting last semester.

Unintelligible Words Form Dorm Language

By RICKEY ARCHER
Toreador Staff Writer

A new manner of speaking, distinguishes the occupants of the annex of Women's dorm IV and their friends from the normal English-speaking campus group.

Their conversation might be classified as dorm dialect and is extremely hard for an outsider to understand. At certain romantic moments, unintelligible fragments of the annex language have been used with the result that boys are now requesting translations and dictionaries so they can tell where they stand.

Symptoms of the language are constant exclamations, it's and a's added to numerous words, completely new words, words given new meaning and unusual contractions. The resulting conglomeration is quite clear to those who use the dorm dialect and the explanation of the poor people who do not quite get the idea is that they just don't have enough imagination and their language is not nearly so advanced.

A few illustrations and attempted definitions are: acka, acka, acka, translated yak, yak, yak; piddle, anything unpleasant; mincy, applied only to girls who are acka, now a synonym for ooka; saddee, used in times of great sorrow, medium sorrow or great happiness; sweeta-boy, the greatest possible compliment (also used to describe goldfish and clothes); cuta, meaning cute, and varying in intensity; Fun-a-lookin' and fun-a-actin' are contractions of funny and other respective words. Fun-a-lookin' naturally applies to something that is fun-a-lookin' and fun-a-actin' applies to every occasion from "that certain feeling" to being deathly ill. Estaticly, derived from ecstasy, retains its original meaning.

One must put emotion into words to give them the proper meaning and it is positively unthinkable that one cannot comprehend when the girls put so much into their conversation.

To say the least, dorm dialect is original, interesting, confusing and highly individual.

Now that clear, concise definitions have been presented, boys should no longer need to ponder over whether they have been insulted or complimented.

Members of Tech faculty will participate in the annual convention of the West Texas Teachers association to be held in Lubbock March 17 and 18.

As many as 2,500 school teachers, principals and superintendents are expected to attend the meeting which is the largest annual educational convention to be held in this city. Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, Tech professor and president of the association, stated. The organization is composed of 27 counties. A meeting of the house of delegates of the association is planned for March 17. It will be followed by general sessions and special meetings in Senior High school auditorium and classrooms March 18.

One of the highlights of the convention will be a speech by Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, at the second general session, Doctor Jackson said. Other members of the faculty who will take part in programs of the section meetings are Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Texas Tech; Alan M. Gunn, associate professor of English; Dr. W. B. Gates, professor of English; Dr. Reginald Rushing, professor of accounting and finance; Robert Lockard, associate professor of architecture; Dr. R. E. Garlin, head of education and psychology department; Dr. R. A. Studhalter, professor of biology; Dr. Lewis B. Cooper, associate professor of education and psychology; J. H. Millikin, director of extension; James G. Allen, dean of men; and Jackson.

"Life and Conditions in Homelands of Representative Tech Students" will be the text of the speech given by Dean Allen at the social science section meeting in which foreign students of Tech will participate.

ORGANIZATIONS TO REPORT CHANGES TO DEAN'S OFFICE

All campus organizations are asked to report to the dean or women's office any changes of officers, membership, or meeting schedules for this semester, said Miss June Hanson, assistant to the dean of women.
