AWS Luncheons To Be Weekly

Women living off the campus who did not receive invitations to the Association of Women Students' first luncheon are asked to attend these functions, Miss June Hanson, assistant to the dean of women and coordinator of campus activities for women students, said today. She explained that through error some women did not receive letters and felt that they were not eligible to attend the luncheon meetings.

Tech Dairy Team Returns From East

Four members of Tech's dairy products judging team returned to Lubbock Sunday night after an extended trip through the east to Atlantic City, N. J., where they competed in the Collegiate Students' International judging contest, Dr. J. J. Willingham, head of the department of dairy manufacturing, announced.

Museum Gets Funds For Building Work

Faculty salaries were increased last Monday as a result of action of the Tech Board of Directors in their regular monthly meeting Saturday in the president's office. The salary increase, averaging six per cent for 325 faculty members, came as a result of a study of the salary recommendations by President D. M. Wiggins.

Basis for the salary schedule is as follows: instructors (nine months) $2,600 to $3,300; assistant professors (nine months) $3,400 to $3,900; associate professors (nine months) $4,400 to $4,600; professors (nine months) $4,900 to $5,200; department heads (nine months) $5,300 to $5,600; deans (twelve months) $5,600 to $8,500.

Tech Boasts Oil Wells On Campus; Not One, But Two Are Brought In

Two new oil wells have just been brought in on the Tech campus. Both wells are producing from the Ellenberg lime formation at 9,000 feet. One of the wells is a gas producer, a well that brings the oil to the top of the ground under its own power. The other well is a pumper, an oil well that has to have a pump to bring the oil out of the ground.

oil that may be produced a day by the Texas Railroad commission. However, the possibilities of a good production is very likely, according to the man from the commission.

Nominees Should File Petitions With 100 Names

Tech's Sun Carnival Princess will be selected by the Student Council at a regular meeting next Monday night, Clint Formby, president has announced.

Women students who desire to be nominees for Sun Carnival Princess must file a petition with a minimum of 100 names at the Student Council office, Ad-323 not later than 5 p.m. Monday Nov. 8, stated the president. These girls will then appear before the Student Council that night and from the group of nominees the Council will choose a princess to represent Tech at the Sun Carnival, Formby said.

The Student Council will select rather than hold a campus-wide election because the Tech choice must be made known to the Sun Carnival authorities as soon as possible. Formby stated. Nominees must have a "C" average for the semester before and an overall "C" average. The Student Council will select the princess by a majority vote of the members of the Council who are present that night. One hundred names are being required on the petitions by authority of Section 302, Article III, of the Constitution of the Student Association of Texas Tech, said Formby.

The requirements this year are similar to those adopted for the past 18 Sun Carnivals. The princess should be at least 17 years of age on the coming January, and single. The maximum age is 21. The Sun Carnival will house the princess in one of the leading El Paso hotels at the expense of the carnival. She will be expected to attend the official functions of the Sun Carnival, of course, without expense to her. Chaperones and escorts will be supplied by the Sun Carnival. Each princess is expected to furnish her own wardrobe, transportation to and from El Paso, all incidental expenses and her meals will be taken care of furnished in connection with some official Sun Carnival event. Hotel accommodations for the father and mother of the princess will be reserved by the Sun Carnival upon sufficient notice, but at the princess's expense. The float for the princess to ride on in the parade will be provided by an El Paso sponsor.

The Sun Carnival celebration begins this year with the Coronation of the Sun Queen on Tuesday, Dec. 28, followed by a unique and spectacular pageant presented before the queen and her court. The third event of this evening's entertainment will be the coronation ball with dancing to a big name band. Wednesday evening is reserved for the El Paso Symphony Concert. Saturday, Jan. 1, the first day of the festival, holds the two major attractions for the Sun Carnival crowd—the "Pageant of States" parade to be held in the See SUN PRINCESS Page 4

Taking Inventory . . .

Can you imagine a wheel that turn very long without some greasing? Or a person who fails to get the proper vitamins in his diet not getting ill? Well, it's the same way with all phases of living. Without enough of one thing, and too much of another we may become ill, both physically and mentally. College students have a tendency to leave out religious growth, with the result that they don't function smoothly, just as the wheel cannot function without grease.

Of course, you may be an atheist. If you are, don't read any further; this is not intended for you. But if you are a student who professes some faith, it's high time to take an inventory of your religious life.

It's the easiest thing to do when you first come to college not to go to church. The churches in Lubbock are foreign to you. You feel that you need to sleep on Sunday, or perhaps you need to study. Or your roommate doesn't go and you just don't want to go by yourself.

This is really not the core of the thing. It is merely a surface excuse for prevailing indifference. You somewhere get the idea that you have had all the religious training that you need. And besides it isn't important that you go to church all the time.

You may also have the idea that orthodoxy doesn't appeal to you—at least you are not especially interested in your own particular denomination. You may feel that you have a sincere reason for your protest against going because you think it would be hypocritical. At any rate, you just don't go.

It is very possible that the churches have failed you. But coming a little closer to home—in all honesty to yourself, have you done anything except gripe toward improving them? All that you get out of anything, whether job, religion, or education, is what you put into it.

There are any number of organizations on the campus which are glad to aid you in doing the thing you think is right for you. If you don't like the particular church with which you are affiliated, go to another. It won't be long before you have found one which has a minister who speaks intelligently about your own problems, and a group of students with whom you will feel at home.

Religious Emphasis Week is held each year to bring a very important part of your life into focus. It is to make you a more rounded personality with a fine sense of values which make for the best possible living.

We dare you to go to just one of the services being held on the campus this week. Then go home; take an inventory of your values and standards of living.

Remember, the world is depending upon the educated graduates of American colleges to solve its problems. Do the world and yourself the justice of at least giving religion a chance to grease your wheels.

Potpourri

By FRANKLIN GRANT

Dear Pot,
To the men that we've loved
And the men that we've missed
With heartfelt apologies
To all that we've missed.
Three slimes from Women's Dorm III

The following was sent in by an ex making reservations for Homecoming:

"I am going to need a place to stay during Homecoming and I was wondering if you can help me find a hotel or tourist court reservation for Sat., Oct. 30. There will be two single girls and myself—a man. I would appreciate it if you could help or recommend a place that we could stay."
—G.D.B.

Dear Pot,
Just a card to let you know that there are male poets on the campus too. No reflection on the excellent faculty but how do you like this?

There was an ex-student from Tech
Who had a pain in the neck
He came far to college
Banged his head on some knowledge
And graduated a physical wreck.
—G.D.B.

Dear Pot,
The files around the Library are so numerous that whether a person be in class or in the men's room, he can't sit in peace.
—W.J.M.

P.S. Can't something be done about this?

Dear Pot,
As advice to those who are contemplating either going steady or marriage, I offer this:
"All's fair in love and war
And all's war in love affairs."
—Nature Girl

Dear Pot,
Mary had a little lamb
Some salad and desert,
And then she gave the wrong address,
The dirty little flirt.
—RAB

Dear Pot,
It's ten past eight—you're nearly late,
But all you can do is groan:
It's good old Joe, the Romeo
Of the drugstore telephone!

In Martin's Drug you'll find the mug,
Or at Pinson's Number Two:
With the big, red book and a guileless look
He's there ahead of you.

He jiggles the hook in spite of your look
And the curse you put on his soul—
He wraps himself round the phone on the shelf
And almost swallows it whole.

It seems his honey has been acting funny
For two whole days in a row—
And Joe-Joe is calling to charge her with stalling
To tell her she's losing her Joe.

They say that in class he's a perfect ass,
He rates with the dumber-and-dumber—
But at least the math should be down his path,
The way he worked with numbers—

For breaking the worst to Minnie, the first,
Doesn't take him away from the line—
He goes through the same with Mabel and May,
Till twenty-five after nine!

I place my curse (in hysterical verse)
On him and his ancestree:
Oh dear old Joe, the Romeo
Of the Student Directoree!

See you next week and how about more contributions?
—Pot

El Toro Grande

By ORLIN BREWER

We have just finished what we consider to be a very successful homecoming. No one seems to be around to pat the responsible persons on the back, so El Toro will take the task on itself. Whether an individual spent hours working on a float or simply said hello to every ex he met, he deserves credit for the success of the day. The alumni staff here on the campus turned in a first rate performance and deserves special commendation.

On thing you can't deny: Tech has a fighting ball club. If we give it as much support as each player gave Tech on the field Saturday, student enthusiasm for the team is bound to hit a new high.

Support of the team is to be expected. But of necessity, once in a while, the Raider fan finds himself backing a loser. A football team can't win every game.

On the other hand, we have a team here on the campus that presents a different aspect altogether. This team, never outplayed in the Southwest conference, is always a winner in this part of the nation. We're speaking, of course, of the Tech band.

Prof. D. O. Wiley, dean of Texas band directors, always manages to inspire his charges so that they, working together, produce an organization of which no university in the country could be ashamed.

Everyone recognizes the value of a fighting football team in promoting and selling the college to the public. Too few, however, bother to notice the band when it accomplished the very same end. Concerts of the Matador band throughout the state last spring did just that. Personally we'd like to see the tour an annual affair. We know the concerts create a tremendous amount of good will for Tech.

A shameful situation, in which many high school teachers received more pay than the average Tech instructor, has finally been remedied. The board of directors is to be congratulated for its action; Doctor Wiggins, for his recommendations.

We're not saying that teachers at Tech are getting as much as their position in life and their influence on the Tech student demands they should, but conditions have been bettered a great deal.

Don't know where we got the ridiculous idea, but it has always seemed to us that the teacher's place on the financial ladder should be such that the profession could command the na-

IN THE MOURNING MAIL

Oct. 31, 1948

Dear Editor:
"The students of Texas Tech are neglecting of fundamental right as citizens of the United States—the right to vote."
How many times has that statement appeared in an article or editorial in the Toreador? After every student election. "The time to learn the workings of the American system of representative government is while still in school."

I am a registered voter in New Mexico—a state that makes no provision for an absentee ballot. I requested an excused absence for Nov. 2, in order that I might go home to vote in the national elections. The answer was "No!"

I repeat, "The time to learn the workings of the American system of representative government is while still in school."

Sincerely,
W. Dean Powell

tion's best minds. Of course higher pay won't noticeably improve the teaching of those already in the profession. It might, however, move some of the least qualified back to the farm as competition becomes a little stiffer.

Perhaps this modern day society has done away with the great teachers of old. We don't know. But we'd like to see the return of the teacher who believes in man and in God. We'd like figuratively speaking, to be able "to sit at the feet" of a man we could admire and respect, and learn both of life and the intricacies of modern society. We'd like the return of the teacher, worthy of the name, who could fill his lectures with human values; who could instill in the student a respect for the opinions and ideals of his fellow man.

Of course it's too much to ask in a day in which living is too fast for every individual to sit and ponder life's consequences or develop his own philosophy. Yet Tech has a few teachers, some young, some old, who approach the ideal. They can be numbered on the fingers of one hand any day, however.

Each of these teachers has convinced himself that what he has to say is important. By the simple accomplishment of being interested in his subject and in his student, he has taken his teaching from the realm of the dull and drab and transplanted it into the field of excitement and adventure. If you have not found it so, you have not lived. Or perhaps your teachers have always mumbled their phrases and figured the family budget while interpreting a paragraph from a french grammar or a line from Browning or Shakespeare.

JOE MEADOR will be the man of the hour next issue. Joe, who is always sounding off with some big promotional idea, will get a chance to make something besides noise through a loud speaker when he writes this column Saturday.

Problem: To hold down costs, and speed the extension of telephone service.

Solution: High-strength wire whose use allows the span between poles to be increased from 150 feet to more than 300. One pole now does the work of two.

The problem, of course, is a continuing one for telephone people. High-strength wire with required electrical qualities is only one of many things they have developed to help solve the problem in these days of high construction costs.

In total, their developments are the reason why telephone service here is the best in the world—the reason why a telephone call costs only a few pennies.

Red Raiders Dumped 14-7 Before Homecoming Crowd

By JERRY HALL
Toreador Sports Writer

The Rice Owls edged by the Red Raiders of Texas Tech by a 14-7 score before a capacity Homecoming crowd of 19,000 in Jones Stadium Saturday in a hard fought battle that saw both teams threaten several times. It was the last game that Tech has with South-west conference teams for this year, and the throng of ex-Tech fans and Raider partisans that were on hand for the 19th homecoming game were treated to a good football game all the way. The Raiders proved to be tough opponents and they most certainly did no harm to their prestige by losing.

The Owls struck fast for their two tallies, one through the air and the other on the ground. Early in the first quarter Bobby Lantrip, 190 pound fullback for the Owls, took a handoff from Tobin Rote on the Tech three and crashed over his own right tackle for the first score. Froggy Williams added the point after with a perfect boot through the uprights. Just before the end of the first half of play Rice capitalized on a pass interference penalty and gained a first and goal to go on the Tech nine yard line. Two plays were run and Rice was offside but on the third play Tobin Rote tossed to all conference end Froggy Williams in the end zone for the TD. Williams' kick was again good and the score was 14-0 as the half ended a few plays later.

Tech's lone score came seconds deep in the fourth quarter when Earl Jackson, 185 pound fullback, took a handoff and circled his own right end on a trap play and ran 81 yards for the touchdown. Charley Reynolds kicked the point and the score was 14-7.

On the initial kickoff Texas Tech won the toss and chose to receive and defend the north goal. S. J. Roberts' long kick got away from Walter Maloney and Rice recovered. The Raider forward wall rose gallantly to the occasion and the Owls were unable to gain and the ball went over on downs to Tech on its own 30 yard line. Tech could not gain either and Zac Henderson got away a booming punt that traveled well into Rice territory. Then just before the end of the first period Lantrip went over the double stripe after passes from Rote to Williams and Lanza had carried the ball to the Tech three. After the score both teams were forced to exchange kicks and then Williams got in the clear to snare Rote's pass for the second Rice counter.

After the half Charley Reynolds took the kickoff on his own five and brought the fans to their feet with a brilliant 52 yard runback to the Rice 42. It was a beautiful run and Reynolds just narrowly missed going all the way. The seemingly rejuvenated Raiders went on the march and looked like a new team in the third and fourth quarters. Good gains by Bud Conley, Zac Henderson, Glen Lewis and Earl Jackson were ripped off and the Owls had their hands full trying to stop them. A beautiful quick kick off the toe to Huey Keeney, Rice kicking star, hurt the Raiders in the third period. It went for 80 yards. Glen Lewis then picked up 33 yards and a first down on the Rice 43. Henderson traveled through center for a 23 yard pickup and another first on the Rice 25. The ball went over on downs however and the third quarter ended after Keeney's kick was returned by Tim Hatch to the Tech 45. The final period opened with Henderson going again, this time to the Owl's 40. From there Earl Jackson went on to score. The rest of the period rocked along with Tech's Henderson and Rice's Keeney exchanging punts and the game ended with Rice in possession of the ball on the Tech 14.

The lighter Tech line tore through the big Owls time after time to drop the ball carrier for a loss. The whole team played inspired ball but they just couldn't overcome the 14 point advantage the Owls had. In the center of the line Bobby Williams, Dan Pursel, Marshall Gettys and John Andrews all stood out. The two starting ends, Bill Kelley and Luke Thompson, also did a good job of rushing the Rice passer.

Sports Grapevine

By THE SPORTS STAFF

The Sports editor has just threatened to change us over to society and put Glenna on this business of picking winners. After the mess we got into with our predictions last time he may be justified in doing so. We can't even allude like Jim did with his upsides. In fact our 40 per cent makes us the goat of the whole staff. Its fun to try and it's a good thing that we didn't bet any money on the darn things so we are not hurt so bad. They came out about like Hundred Proof said they would. Tulsa failed to get in the win column when they tied Wichita 14-14. Lost that. Texas Mines and Hardin-Simmons battled to a 27-27 deadlock also and another loss for us. Baylor beat TCU in the final minutes of play and we missed that one. Columbia was beaten by Cornell. We chose Columbia. The score was 20-13. Tulane beat Mississippi State 9-0 and we lost again. Arkansas romped to an easy 28-6 victory over the winless Aggies and we got this one right. Georgia 35 Alabama 0. Another wrong guess. SMU had a field day at Austin and we predicted that Northwestern took Ohio State into camp to almost clinch a Rose Bowl bid by a score of 21-7. We had that on wrong also. Ole Miss beat LSU 49-19. Missed that one too. North Carolina took Tennessee after a hard struggle 14-7. A right one for a change. California downed Southern Cal to gain the priority on the host spot in the big bowl. Michigan beat the Illini by a close score of 28-20. Got that one right as well as the preceding game. Notre Dame sunk Navy 41-7 and we had that one right. And last but not least Rice edged Tech in a 14-7 thriller for our last wrong guess. Well, that winds it up. Its not hard to see why yours truly stays broke so much of the time is it?

—Jerry Henderson

much the team's fault as Hawkins'. We will go on record right now and say that Hawkins has one of the fightingest hearts that we've ever known of any player and has the strongest will to win of anyone we've ever known. (If you wish to question our authority, we managed the team last year and know him.) If the so-called fans would know how it felt to be booed when coming off the field, they might get easier. Too, if they had any football sense at all they would know better than to boo a guy that is playing his heart out for Tech. Ernest Hawkins is one of the best ball handlers in the Border conference and should be treated as such. To have him booed every time he comes on the field and to have another field general cheered does not help the morale of anybody. All the Raiders are working together to win, even if the fans are not.

Intramural Teams Continue Play In Touch Football

Los Cams, men's social club, defeated a strong College Club football team 12-0 in a Social club touch football league game Sunday afternoon.

Warren Lacy plunged over from the one yard line for the first score and then passed to Rich Springston for the other. Warren Lacy was outstanding for Los Cams, while Roy Butler was outstanding for College Club.

In other intramural touch football games in the Dorm league, Reckless "4" won over East West Hall by forfeit, 2-0. Doak Hall "Green Wave" won over Sneed "Bobcats" by a score of 13-6. Hal McEady made one of the New Mexico Military Institute.

Raider Of The Week

The sports staff picks as its selection as Raider of the Week, Bobby Williams. Bobby, center from Phillips, was a tower of strength on defense against the Rice Owls, especially in the first half when the Owls were going all out to try and sew up the ball game. In choosing Williams as Raider of the Week we want to point out that Bobby, in our estimation has been doing exceptional work all year at center, and his linebacking post.

Contrary to what we have done before, we wish to also commend the playing of another Raider in addition to our selected Raider of the Week. Zac Henderson, halfback for Tech, exhibited some of the finest punting we have seen in a long time. In addition to Zac's punting, the crowd was brought to its feet several times by his elusive ball carrying. Henderson's running was of the explosive type, that reminds us of such great climax runners as Jack Crain, former Texas great, and George Walmsley, ex-Rice back.

Even if we were beaten in the homecoming game, all in all it was a good one, but the same old trouble that appears year after year at Tech appeared again. The quarterbacks in the stands were at it again. Any little thing that went wrong, they had their own special remedies for it. Especially their attitude toward Ernest Hawkins was disgusting. It should be known by now that quarterbacks at Tech or at any other school do very little calling of a game on their own part. Since the rule of unlimited substitution has come in, the coaches for the explosive part call the plays, important plays, especially. So why should Hawkins get cussed for something he couldn't help and something that the coaches couldn't help. Any play can not work if the line, the most important part of a football team, does not function properly. Tech has a good line, its true, but they were outweighed over 20 pounds per man. If play bogged down, it wasn't the fault of Hawkins and really not the fault of the line, they were simply outweighed. So why let Hawkins be the goat? It is as

Picadors Down WT Frosh 13-6 For Initial Win

Winning TD Scored Late In Contest

The Texas Tech "fish" had their first taste of victory when they took a 13-6 decision over the West Texas State freshmen at Canyon Friday night.

Tech drew first blood in the second quarter when Harold Haynes of Roscoe hit paydirt on a fourth down plunge. The score climaxed a 60-yard sustained drive. Tom Airhardt put the WTSTC "fish" back into the game by taking the following kickoff on his goal line and racing the length of the field to tie the score 6-6.

The first year men from Tech went ahead again in the fourth period with Bobby Close from Shamrock carrying off tackle for the marker. Jack Davis of Littlefield kicked the extra point to give the Raiders the edge of a 13-6 score.

The game was action-packed with both teams threatening on several occasions, but on statistics the Picadors held the edge, gaining a net 142 yards rushing and completing four of eight passes for 71 yards. The Buffs gained a net 101 yards rushing and completed two of eight passes for 24 yards. Each team intercepted one pass.

Each team punted six times, with Tech holding an average of 39 yards to the Buff's 36. Tech fumbled twice and recovered each time; WTSTC fumbled once and recovered. Tech drew three penalties for 25 yards; WTSTC drew one for 15 yards.

Rose Of Delta Sig Revealed At Annual Presentation Dance

Miss Joan Martin of Wichita Falls sophomore business administration student was presented as "Rose of Delta Sigma Pi" at a semi formal dance given by Beta Upsilon chapter of the men's international professional commerce and business administration fraternity Saturday night in the Hilton hotel ballroom.

Presentation procession included the four princesses and their escorts: Cathy Davis, Claude Helwig; Lura Webster, Billy Black; Wanda Chitwood, Lyndal Spike; Alura McManus and Tommy Spike, followed by Miss Martin escorted by Gene Bates. Newel Reed, president, gave the "Rose" a bouquet of American Beauty roses tied with purple and gold satin streamers. After the ceremony, all members and pledges sang the official club song, "Rose of Delta Sig" to Miss Martin.

Infantry Club Formed; Second Meet Tonight

The newly organized Tech Infantry Club, which is intended to promote fellowship and cooperation among ROTC Infantry students, is ready to begin work, Edd Sides, reporter, has announced. Membership is open to any ROTC Infantry student.

Officers elected to serve the club are Tommy Allen, president; Billy Jeff Puckett, vice-president; Norman DeBord, secretary and historian; Terry Hunn, treasurer; Milton C. Ray, sergeant at arms; Edd Sides, reporter.

RAIN CAUSES ACCIDENT

A truck accident at an Amarillo underpass Wednesday involved Clinton Ritter, senior aggie and president of Block and Bridle, and Billy Pete Hughes, former Tech-san. Neither of the men was hurt, but the truck was completely demolished.

Ritter and Hughes were returning from Los Alamos to Lubbock following heavy rains. Ritter, who was driving, saw too late that water 18 inches deep was standing on the highway beneath the railroad underpass.

When the vehicle struck the water, Ritter lost control of the truck and hit the side of the railway structure.

Wave scores on an end around and the other touchdown was made on a pass play from Bob Webster to Raymond Wilkinson. George Waters made the extra point on a center plunge. The Bobcats score was on a pass from Clarence Darter to Bob Haran.

The Rebels of Dorm III won on a forfeit from the Sand Eaters of Dorm III 2-0.

In the Independents league, Band won over APO by a 6-0 score. Jim Joe Rieger passed to Jerry Thrust on a hide-out play for the tally. The Pelicans won from the Wesley Wildcats by a score of 20-13. Touchdowns for the Pelicans were made by Rayburn Metcalf on a plunge over center, and on passes from Jack Alderson to Joe Scales and from Rayburn Metcalf to Joe Scales. Extra Points were made by Metcalf on an end run, and on a pass from Alderson to Phil Bennett.

Scores for the Wildcats were made by Jim Hoell on a run back of a kick off, and by J. B. Cooper on a run around left end. The extra point was made by J. B. Cooper on a run over the right side of the line.

Auction and Bingo At Rec Hall Friday

An auction and bingo party will highlight the Recreation hall's activities for Friday, Troy A. Enis, Recreation hall director, announced today.

Articles varying from jewelry to textbooks will be sold to the highest bidder at 3 p.m. Items for sale will be taken from the lost and found department in the registrar's office and will include articles not called for within 30 days, Enis said.

Money received from the sales will be added to the Recreation fund, he explained. Joe Meador, senior from Matador, will act as auctioneer.

A bingo party will be staged from 7.30 to 10 p.m. A Recreation hall ticket will be awarded to the student who fills his entire card, instead of the usual five numbers, on the last hand of the bingo contest, Enis stated.

ALPHA PSI ANNOUNCES OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

Officers and faculty members of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, for the year 1948-49 were announced Tuesday night, stated Miss Annah Joe Pendleton, faculty member of the fraternity and head of the speech department.

The officers are Terry Suits, cast director; Ruby Joyce Redus, stage manager; Alice Joy Barron, business manager; Billie Hutchings, honorable prompter; and John Lucien Upshaw, sponsor.

CASKEY GIVES TESTS

Tests showing developmental progress are being given to Tech nursery school students this semester by Owen L. Caskey, instructor in psychology. The tests, given to two students each Saturday night, will help teachers understand the child's various phases of development, says Miss Sannie Callan, head professor of child development.

Individual conferences between the child's parents and teachers precede and follow each test. Caskey also spends some time in the nursery school with the children in order to know them before the tests are given.

FFA WILL HOLD BANQUET

L. C. Dalton, New Mexico state supervisor of vocational agriculture, is to be main speaker at the FFA banquet at 7 p.m. Friday at the Hilton hotel.

Chapter officers are to have charge of the program which will include talks from Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president; Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president and W. L. Sangel, dean of the division of agriculture. Decorations will feature regular FFA colors, gold and blue.

SPEAKER AT PRE-MED

Dr. C. E. Payne of Littlefield, Texas, was principal speaker at the meeting of the Pre-Med club Tuesday night, Jimmy Nash, club reporter, has announced.

Topic of Dr. Payne's address was "The Country Doctor: His Works, Benefits and Opportunities."

Tech Exes Honored With Various Parties

By MARY McWILLIAMS

Gala festivities highlighted Homecoming welcoming parties given by campus clubs for returning exes last weekend.

Sans Souci association entertained out-of-town alumnae, active members, patronesses and their husbands or dates at a coffee Saturday morning in Hilton ballroom. Approximately two hundred called.

Mrs. Carden Green, Mrs. J. N. Michie, and Miss Jane Parsons, president of the active Sans Souci club, presided at the refreshment table which was centered with a Double T surrounded by yellow and white mums. "Welcome Sans Souci Exes" was lettered on the "T".

Miss Panze Butler and Mrs. Ernest St. Clair welcomed guests. An after-the-game tea was given by Las Chaparrillas in the Junior ballroom of Hotel Lubbock honoring out-of-town alumnae, active members and patronesses.

A gold football helmet filled with orchid mums centered the tea table. The decoration theme was repeated at various points in the ballroom and corsages of pom-pom mums tied with orchid and gold ribbons were presented as favors.

Special guests were Mrs. George Langford, Mrs. Mary W. Doak and Dean Margaret Walker.

DDF gave a breakfast for members, alumnae and pledges Saturday morning at Hector's Restaurant. Approximately one hundred and ten persons attended.

Tables were centered with an arrangement of fall flowers. The informal occasion was presided over by Mary Jane Hincey, club president, who gave a welcoming talk.

Approximately one hundred exes of the home economics division and their families were guests at a coffee given in HE-107 Saturday morning. Autumn flowers lent a decorative note throughout the room.

Mrs. Arch Lamb, Mrs. Earl Camp and Mrs. Billy M. Keith, all alumnae and professors of the division, presided at the coffee services.

A colorful arrangement of pumpkins, squash and gourds centered the table.

Exa Faye Hooten was in charge of arrangements, assisted by the following committee chairman: Sue Buckelew and Jean Potet, food; Joy Williams, invitations; and Doris Thurman, decorations. Committee chairman and Phi Upsilon Omicron fraternity members were hostesses for the occasion, assisted by junior and senior students of the division.

The Halloween theme was used at the breakfast given at Casa Linda Saturday morning for former residents of the campus house. Dorothy Pustejovsky was general chairman for the event which was attended by approximately one hundred and fifty exes and their families.

Open house for alumnae of Las Vivarachas club was held at the home of Mrs. Earl Hobbs at 3305 Twenty-Fourth street Saturday following the football game. Hostesses were members of the active club.

White booklets containing information about the college and activities of the club were presented as favors to the 80 persons attending.

A football surrounded by autumn leaves and yellow asters centered the tea table.

Silver Key club, at a dinner for their wives or dates at the Tech cafeteria Saturday night, was host to approximately three hundred persons. Officers of the active club were introduced and an informal program was presented.

A reception for exes of Los Camaradas club and their wives or dates was given by the active club Saturday night at MacKenzie State park Party House.

BLAZE EXTINGUISHED

A small blaze was quickly extinguished Monday in the Textile building, said L. E. Parsons, head of the textile engineering department.

Such minor accidents bring to mind the ever-present danger of fire in the building since it contains much inflammable material, he continued. To cope with fires, carbon dioxide extinguishers have been installed in strategic points throughout the building and smoking regulations are strongly enforced.

SHELL TO INTERVIEW GRADS

Representatives from Shell Oil company at Midland are to conduct interviews tomorrow with students graduating in January, Mrs. Jean Jenkins, secretary to the Placement committee, has announced.

The oil company is especially interested in students who will receive degrees in mathematics, physics, industrial engineering and accounting, said Mrs. Jenkins.

Students who desire to schedule interviews should make their appointments at the placement office as soon as possible.

Curious Bandsmen Of Tech Play With Professor's Little Tin Soldiers

By ALINE WHITBY

Toreador Staff Writer

Prof. Joe L. Haddon and members of the Texas Tech band are playing with little tin soldiers these days. But its nothing to be alarmed over, because there is a purpose.

Prof. Haddon borrowed the 120 little men from his son, and has been using them to work out band formations on a scale model of the football. Each figure is numbered to represent a band member and placed in the proper position. Each figure is then replaced by curious bandsmen and Prof. Haddon has the formation to build over again.

Drum major, J. R. McEntyre, seeing the figures for the first time, demanded that they be exchanged for new ones. It seems that every soldier is carefully stepping off on his right foot. "We have troubles enough without confusing the freshmen like this!" said McEntyre.

The problem now at hand is figuring out how to make a Mexican sombrero for the Tech-Texas Mines game Saturday. It seems that no sooner does Professor Haddon get the men set than another fault pops up with the curved lines.

"Who would have thought it could be so much trouble to get the Tech band to make curved lines?" marvelled "Slick" McClatchy, right guide for row 15. "My row should really shine this time."

To get the proper perspective of the formation as it will look from the stands, Professor Haddon mounts a chair outside the work room and peers critically through a slit in a piece of paper. "Well," said the professor after the third squint, "let's try another formation."

With the ready and able assistance of each member of the band, Professor Haddon expects to have the formation plans completed before Saturday noon. "I'm hoping that the students will get tired of playing with the soldiers and let me get down to work," sighed he.
