

Eisenhower Resignation Accepted; Quits June 1

Ike's Successor Not Yet Selected

WASHINGTON, April 11. (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower today received clearance to give up his European command June 1. This frees him to come home well in advance of the Republican national convention and campaign for the G. O. P. Presidential nomination.

The Republicans meet in Chicago July 7. The White House announced Eisenhower's release, effective June 1, by making public an exchange of letters between him and Secretary of Defense Lovett.

Eisenhower's letter, dated April 2, asked that Lovett "initiate appropriate action" for his release approximately June 1. Lovett's letter said that had been done.

In releasing these letters, Presidential Secretary Joseph Short told reporters there also had been an exchange of letters between President Truman and Eisenhower. He said the President's letter was in long-hand and added: "Both letters were personal and very cordial and will not be made public."

Short had no news as to Eisenhower's successor in the defense command. He said there would be no announcement about that today.

Eisenhower formally assumed the command in Europe on April 2, 1951—so his letter was dated exactly a year from the time he took on the task of building a defense wall against possible Communist aggression.

He told Lovett: "I consider that the specific purposes for which I was recalled have been largely accomplished."

Eisenhower, World War II leader and a five-star general, was on inactive duty and president of Columbia University when Truman asked him to take the European assignment.

While June 1 is the effective date of his release, some of his supporters anticipate he may be able to return to the United States somewhat earlier—provided his successor is ready to take over sooner.

Eisenhower asked for return to "inactive" status. This will restore him to the position he had before he took on the command and will maintain his military connections.

Ike To Visit Few Europe States Soon

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED POWERS IN EUROPE, April 11 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower will soon visit Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark and Norway, SHIAPE officers said today.

It is believed this trip will be the first leg of a farewell tour of the capitals of the United States' European allies.

This belief is based on the assumption that Eisenhower will soon resign his command and return to the U. S., where he is a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Brussels newspapers reported Eisenhower would journey there next Wednesday. SHIAPE would not confirm the date, but said Brussels would be the first stop on the projected trip.

Way Clear For Phone Industry To Halt Strike

DETROIT, April 11. (AP) — Michigan's strike of 18,000 telephone workers was settled today, apparently opening the way to peace nationally in the telephone industry.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company and the CIO Communications Workers of America jointly announced the settlement.

Full details were not revealed immediately, but the basis for agreement was reported by the union as a 12.7-cent hourly wage increase.

Any settlement in Michigan, key state in negotiations, was expected to form the pattern for agreements generally.

A union spokesman said the company's last general increase offered $4 to $7 a week would stand, with adjustments.

Upwards of 260,000 telephone workers across the nation have been idled in the strike. The majority of these are non-strikers who stayed off the job in respect of strikers' picket lines. Bell system employees have been on strike since Monday in Michigan, New Jersey, Northern California and Ohio in wage disputes. At the time time the union's members have been on strike against Western Electric Company in 43 states.

The combination of the two walk-outs resulted in widespread idleness.

Michigan's striking switchboard operators and maintenance men are expected to return to work "no later than tomorrow," a union spokesman said. It was not clear at the moment whether this meant they would cross Western Electric picket lines around telephone exchanges.

Western Electric Aide Sees A Long Strike

Presumably the wage agreement reported this meant the communications tieup would spread in the state today.

Long distance service was hit yesterday in Durham, Greensboro and Salisbury, N.C., with only death messages and emergency calls accepted. Ten downstate Illinois cities also were cut to emergency long distance service yesterday when the CWA set up picket lines.

The union is demanding a 19 to 23 cent hourly raise and has turned down a company offer estimated at 12 1/2 cents an hour. CWA members now make an average of $1.53 hourly.

As intensified picketing led to scattered instances of violence, the company obtained temporary injunctions in some states to restrain picket lines. The union ordered all pickets removed in at least one state—but announced plans to extend their lines in others today.

Southern Bell secured orders forbidding picketing throughout Florida, North Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi and portions of Tennessee and Louisiana.

In Georgia, local CWA President W. H. Camp at Atlanta last night ordered removal of all picket lines in the state. He gave no explanation for the action, which he said might be taken in other Southern states on an individual city basis.

However, in Illinois pickets were ordered up at Chicago exchanges today. Picket lines also were extended in Northern California and in Oklahoma, Southwestern Bell employees joined Western Electric pickets in eight cities. Union heads Picketing of telephone exchanges by striking Western Electric workers, members of the Communications Workers of America (CWA), melted away in some places and spread to others. Picket lines remained up in the larger cities.

Terms which Lone Star Steel workers voted agreement to end the strike included a nine-cent per hour wage boost retroactive to March 7, an 18-month contract, a clause which may be reopened after nine months by either party to direct discussion on seniority, six paid holidays per year with double time for holiday work, and a shift differential hike from 4 and 6 cents to 5 and 9 cents hourly. Average wages had been about $1.35 hourly.

T. O. A. Knight of Denver, president of CIO's oil workers international, said the plight of 125,000 workers is wearing thin and that they would strike if pending issues are not settled.

Knight issued his angry statement when oil industry representatives failed to show up for a Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) hearing in St. Louis. The hearing was adjourned and the dispute referred to WSB in Washington.

In Dallas, R. W. Staley, international representative for CWA, said, "It looks like this thing is snowballing."

Technically, Bell telephone operators are not on strike. They are honoring picket lines put up by their fellow unionists who normally work for Western Electric. Both companies are subsidiaries of American Telephone & Telegraph Company.

Govt. May Deal With CIO Alone

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Floundering negotiations for a settlement of the steel labor dispute led to reports today that the administration may go ahead and make its own wage deal with CIO President Philip Murray.

Any such move is certain to provoke another quick court attack from the steel industry.

At the moment the industry is under government operation, there is no steel strike, the steel companies are managing their own plants and finances under nominal federal rule, and the vital defense metal is flowing.

How long this "status quo" will remain is anyone's guess.

The steel industry already has lost two attempts for fast court review of the legality of President Truman's seizure order and attorneys are rushing new moves. But for the moment it seemed the government was firmly in control. It was plain, however, the Truman administration recognized it had a bear by the tail and wanted to get loose as soon as possible. This could only be accomplished by a settlement of the basic differences between the industry and Murray, head of the steelworkers union.

Otherwise, without government intervention, Murray's industry-wide strike threat was sure to materialize.

Wage talks between the industry and Murray under supervision of acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman appeared to be getting nowhere. A prominent union official said privately: "We're still on dead center." This was taken to mean there had been no progress since industry-union talks collapsed before Tuesday night's seizure.

A great deal depended upon how each side felt about the seizure's legality. The industry, feeling the government's taking over of its plants and mills was illegal, could wait it out until a court test. The government, depending upon how solid it felt legally, could wait or deal with Murray.

Murray stuck steadfastly to the Wage Stabilization Board's suggested settlement terms of 17 1/2 cents an hour increase in pay, plus the union shop and other concessions.

Some steel companies reportedly were willing to grant some form of union shop, or compulsory union membership arrangement, but one or two firms balked at this.

An indication of how hopeless the industry felt about the situation was seen in the moves of Benjamin Fairless, president of U.S. Steel, the largest producer. He discussed prices with Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall, talked with Steelman, then told reporters disconsolately he was going back to Pittsburgh.

However, industry negotiators said they would attend renewed government peace talks with the union today.

The industry has said publicly it needs $12-a-ton price boosts—steel now averages $10 a ton—if

PRECINCT CONVENTIONS 10 Important Steps To Take To Get Political Influence

By ROY GRIMES

AUSTIN, (AP)—Nothing is ever absolutely sure in politics and in organizing a precinct convention, overconfidence can be just as deadly as giving up too easily.

Perhaps there never before has been as much precinct activity among both Democrats and Republicans as in this presidential election year.

Both Democratic and Republican control must start with the precinct conventions May 3 to control the party county conventions May 27, looking finally toward the national nominating conventions in Chicago in July.

You may be sure none of these 10 steps we've been talking about are being overlooked by any of these factions.

1. Define your objectives. Get together with a few friends and make up your mind just how you feel and just what you want to do.

Keep the program simple and broad—not too many people are likely to agree with you politically in minute detail but it might surprise you to learn how many agree with you generally.

2. Analyze the situation with your same group of friends like this: A. Evaluate your precinct. What is the feeling and sentiment in general over the precinct? If possible, get the vote on a key race or issue in the last election which would indicate your precinct's probable reaction to the present issue.

B. Get the name of your precinct chairman from your county chairman and determine his leanings.

C. Count the votes the precinct will have in the county convention. This will be one vote for each 25 east for the Democratic candidate for governor or the Republican candidate for president in the last general election. Your county clerk has this information.

3. Locate the people who are on your side. Get a complete list of qualified voters in the precinct from the county tax collector. If the 1952 poll tax list isn't available in larger cities, use the 1951 list. Make inquiries and have your friends circulate and find the people who feel as you do. Call all these you can in another meeting.

4. Arouse their interest. You must get this group sold on what you want to do to the extent that they will really work at it. If you have contacted a county-wide group working in the same direction, have a well-known speaker give the pep talk.

5. Study the list of qualified voters and select those who are known to be or should be on your side.

B. Make a card file of their names.

C. Break down the precinct geographically, block by block.

D. Set up a schedule for visiting or telephoning all voters in the precinct, except those definitely known to be unfriendly, to ascertain their attitudes.

E. Be sure to add the names of new-found supporters to your files.

F. Set up a follow-up plan which might include letters or special visits to the doubtful voters and post card reminders to friendly voters.

Without fail, a telephone committee should work the day before and the day of the convention.

Costumed Pickets

Garbed in prison stripes and carrying paper "chains," a group of pickets appeared at Ohio Bell installation in Cleveland. An officer of the CIO Communications Workers aid the group wanted to live on the picket line and "protest being chained to their jobs at low wages. Rejection Of Russian Demand For Big Power Meet Is Seen

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomats predicted today the Western powers very probably will reject Russia's new demand for a four-power conference on unifying Germany.

Soviet insistence that any German peace treaty must give a unified Germany her own, independent army, navy and air force was seen as a major obstacle to an East-West agreement.

Russia also stood by her original suggestion that the Big Four, not the United Nations, should decide whether all-German elections are feasible.

Officials here, in predicting rejection of the latest Russian moves, emphasized, however, that the final decision will be reached in talks just starting between representatives of the American, British, French and German governments.

The United States favors turning down the latest Russian proposal, but it wants full Allied agreement.

It particularly wants understanding and support in Germany. A flat rejection poses a touchy problem. It would have to be phrased in such a way as to convince Western Europe that the Russian bid for German unity is merely a phony but dangerous propaganda move, and that the West also wants a unified Germany, but under a system that will safeguard her from Communism.

Top authorities here view the latest series of Russian moves, first set off by a March 10 Soviet proposal, as merely a maneuver to disrupt the Western defense buildup.

The March 10 note dramatically reversed Russia's postwar stand against a rearmmed Germany. It proposed a unified Germany with her own armed forces—but without the right to join any alliance against a World War II enemy. It suggested the U. S., England, France and Russia hold a conference to work out a treaty along these lines.

The proposal was immediately viewed in some circles as a propaganda move because unification is the overriding political issue throughout Germany and any step toward a settlement arouses enormous European interest.

On March 25 the Western powers, in a carefully-weighed, carefully-worded answer, did not turn down the idea of a unified Germany. But they rejected the Russian idea of a national German armed force, and a ban on any alliance between Germany and other Europeans.

They asked how the Soviets proposed to unify Germany and set up a government, and in turn proposed that the Russians let a United Nations commission look into the possibility of holding free elections in Eastern Germany.

There was speculation—and real apprehension—that the Soviets

Easter Sunrise Service Here Planned At Drive-In Theatre

One year ago on Easter morning, with members of his party gathered around, Dr. P. D. O'Brien stood before the tomb of Jesus of Nazareth.

To be at this sacred spot was a mountain peak in a ministry devoted to preaching of the risen Lord.

Sunday morning, Dr. O'Brien will tell those who turn out for the 6:30 a.m. Easter Sunrise Service of the emotions which swept over him as he viewed "the place where the Lord lay."

The services, established by the Big Spring Pastors Association, will be held at the Jet Drive-In Theatre.

Lloyd Thompson, minister of the First Christian Church and president of the Big Spring Pastors' Association, sponsor of the affair, will preside.

Following the call to worship, a male quartet from the high school will sing a hymn.

Chaplain William R. Rushaupt, assigned to the Big Spring Air Base, will give the invocation.

The scripture reading will be by the Rev. Cecil Rhodes, pastor of the West Side Baptist Church, and the Rev. Alisie H. Carleton, First Methodist minister, will lead in the morning prayer.

Another hymn by the quartet and the traditional offering will precede the sermon.

LATE BULLETINS

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—A Pan-American Airways plane with 69 persons aboard crashed into the San Juan, Puerto Rico, harbor today and sank.

Pan American said the plane, tourist flight 826A, carried 58 adult passengers, six infants and a crew of five.

There was no immediate information as to survivors.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 11 (AP)—Loyal army troops and rebels still battled for possession of La Paz today, the third day of a revolution which erupted at dawn Wednesday.

(This dispatch, filed at 12:57 p.m. Bolivian time, was the first from La Paz since communications were blacked out Wednesday night).

SEUL (AP)—American Sabre jets, on the prowl for Red jets, couldn't find any this morning so they shot up a Communist supply train instead.

The Fifth Air Force said 34 Sabres crossed a long train shortly after it crossed over from the Manchurian border. The airplanes swept down and worked the train over. They reported they destroyed the locomotive and crippled 17 box cars.

Ground haze covered most North Korean targets later in the day and other jets concentrated on Red front line positions.

Infantry action Friday morning was limited to several small and abortive Red attacks on the Central Front and a pre-dawn U.N. sortie on a Red hill in the west.

American warships pounded the eastern end of the 155-mile battle-front around the clock.

The Navy reported a Red shore gun took a solitary pot shot at the battleship Iowa Thursday. The shell splashed into the water close by the big warship.

The Iowa's 16 inch shells wrecked 12 Communist bunkers, burying several of them under landslides.

The Iowa hammered North Korean lines with 80 tons of shells and then, under cover of darkness, moved in close to shore with the destroyer Mackenzie and kept up the bombardment through the night with five-inch guns.

Communist shore guns fired on two other American warships Thursday. The destroyer Silverstein zig-zagged along the east coast off Hungnam in a running battle with Red artillery. Thirty rounds were fired at the destroyer and she replied with an equal number. No hits were reported.

Off the west coast the destroyer Chevalier duelled with Red batteries.

Miller Is Re-Elected School Board Head

Marvin Miller was re-elected president of the Big Spring School Board at the regular meeting Thursday evening.

Now serving out a term as head of the trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District, Miller had proposed Dewey Martin, vice president, as the new president. Martin, however, said his affairs must keep him out of town much during the summer.

Organization of the board came after John L. Dibrell Jr. with 491, and Martin, with 402, were declared winners on the basis of the official canvass. Other officers elected were Dr. J. E. Hogan, vice president; and Dan Conley, secretary.

A resolution of appreciation for his services was adopted and ordered forwarded to Justin Holmes, retiring board member.

Two bills, policies, were adopted by the board during the meeting.

One pertained to sale of tickets for any school connected affair. There must be a ticket taker as well as a ticket seller, the board ruled. This applies to class and club functions as well as to out-of-school affairs.

The other policy, set temporarily pending a more thorough study, fixed charges for school facilities. These included $30 for use of the high school cafeteria; $25 for the junior high cafeteria; $30 for the senior high auditorium; $25 for the junior high auditorium; $30 for the senior high gymnasium; $25 for the junior high gymnasium; $10

News Blackout Seen As Proof Of Bolivia War

BUENOS AIRES, April 11 (AP)—Victor Paz Estenssoro, exiled leader of the Bolivian National Revolutionary Party (MNR), today interpreted the blackout of news from Bolivia as evidence that a violent civil war is in progress.

Both Paz Estenssoro and the Bolivian embassy lacked any direct word from La Paz, which has been cut off from the rest of the world for more than 30 hours.

Rumors about reports indicated the military government of Gen. Hugo Ballivan was defeating the rebel forces supported by the MNR. The Bolivian embassy got word that 200 persons have been killed in fighting still going on yesterday. This information originated with the Chilean ambassador in La Paz and was relayed by way of Santiago.

"The fight may last long if the army persists in trying to stamp out the will of the people," Paz Estenssoro said. The revolution broke out at dawn Wednesday and the rebels announced they are in control of the government. Paz Estenssoro had planned to leave for La Paz. Later reports said the rebels were being defeated. Airlines were not booking any flights for La Paz.

In Santiago, the newspaper La Nacion, which often reflects government opinion, said the revolt could be attributed to economic misery caused in part by United States refusal to pay an equitable price for tin. Bolivia ranks third in world tin production and tin is its chief source of revenue.

Because of failure to reach an agreement with the RFC on tin prices, Bolivia has shipped no tin to the U. S. since early last year.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, told Russians that "U. S. monopolists" were to blame for the revolt. Tass said the monopolists had failed to impose their price for tin on Bolivia.

The rebels had announced they had taken over the government without bloodshed.

GRIPPING TALE NOT TRUE ONE

NAPLES, April 11 (AP)—A spy-rocket flared through Italian papers today—the gripping tale of a full set of allied defense plans, stolen a month ago and finally found buried near the Yugoslav border after the arrest of a man who had fought with a part-Communist guerrilla band. But...

Atlantic pact authorities said the stolen maps and orders were only for a practice exercise held last month and "had no strategic or defense value."

And the street cleaner arrested for lifting them—no mats hari—said all he wanted was the briefcase around them. He wanted to sell it.

Edgar Phillips Fills Vacancy On JC Board

One new member joined the Howard County Junior College board and another was appointed to fill a vacancy Thursday night.

Edgar Phillips, prominent Howard County farmer who lives six miles north of Big Spring was appointed to finish out the unexpired term of R. T. Piner, whose resignation was accepted several weeks ago. Phillips' appointment was approved unanimously.

John A. Coffey was seated for the first time as a member of the board. He was elected to a six-year term at the election last Saturday, leading the field of four candidates on the ballot.

Dr. P. W. Malone, board president, who was re-elected last Saturday, began his second term. Dr. Malone has been a member of the board since the college district was formed.

The board then voted to delay reorganization for this year until the next meeting, when Phillips will formally begin his duties as a trustee.

A request by the East Fourth Street Baptist Church for use of college facilities to hold church services was denied. Board members said they were in sympathy with the plans of the church, but at least two other religious bodies had made similar requests and the college was unable to provide space for them all.

Therefore the board had established a policy of refusing all such requests, except in cases of emergency.

Many Jobs Are Still Open At Local Air Base

Many job openings, particularly in the skilled trades field, are still on the critical recruiting list at Big Spring Air Force Base, T. L. Cristoffer, secretary of the Board of Civil Service Examiners said today.

Firefighters trained in battling aircraft blazes, familiar with the hazards inherent in the storage and transfer of high octane gasoline, and schooled in the use of modern fire suppression equipment, top the list of demanded skills, Cristoffer advised.

Immediate appointments will also be made in the aircraft maintenance field to the following positions: painter, doper, instrument mechanic, engine mechanic, welder, radio mechanic, and sheet-metal worker.

Other positions for which an adequate labor supply does not exist include: air condition and refrigeration mechanic, aqua fuel system operator, aircraft materials dispatcher, general machinist, operating engineer, and packers and craters.

Plumbers, painters, and electric linemen are also in short supply, as are clerks-typists.

Cristoffer urged interested persons to file Civil Service forms SF-57 and 5001 ABC with the Civilian Personnel Office at Big Spring Air Force Base. These forms are available at the base, or at any first or second class Postoffice.

TEN STATIONS IN CITY Car Inspection Must Be Doubled In State

The rate of inspection for motor vehicles will have to be doubled to get in under the Sept. 7 deadline, John A. Marion, department of public safety inspector, said here Thursday.

Marion is assigned to the motor vehicle inspection division and operates out of San Antonio.

There are 10 stations in Big Spring and one each in Coahoma and Garden City. Others may be licensed by making application to the Department of Public Safety and upon approval by Marion, on behalf of the department.

On a statewide basis, Marion said that only 50,000 cars per week were passing through 2,700 stations. This is only half the number which must be served if all are to be inspected by Sept. 7, the latest date permissible for cars that continue to be operated. The law provides a fine not to exceed $200 for anyone operating a vehicle after Sept. 7 when the vehicle has not been inspected and approved.

Marion thought only about 10 per cent of the cars in Howard County so far have been inspected.

Inspection stations approved here are Big Spring Motor Company, Eaker-Neel Motor Company, Lone Star Chevrolet Company, McEwen Motor Company, Truman Jones Motor Company, Shroyer Motor Company, S. & S. Wheel

RECORD FOR BREVITY

Truce Talkers Hold 90-Second Meeting

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Truce negotiators set a new record for brevity today, disposing of their day's work in 90 seconds.

It was the sixth successive day like that, leading an Allied spokesman to suggest Communists may be waiting for instructions from higher up. The spokesman, Lt. Col. Howard S. Lewis, added:

"It's going to be a hot summer and a cold winter if they're going to try to outwit us."

Each day this week a negotiating subcommittee has gone through the formality of meeting, saying a few words and adjourning. Six sessions have taken a total of 32 minutes.

Today's ultra-streamlined meeting followed the usual pattern. Business Maj. Gen. Hsieh Fang delivered a 60-second oration. Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison replied with two words and it was all over.

The substance of Hsieh's 60 words was that the Reds have the correct way to settle the troubles and if the U.N. Command didn't have any new ideas let's recess until Saturday. Harrison agreed to the recess.

The Communist way to fix things is to name Soviet Russia as a "neutral nation" to help police a truce and approve reconstruction of Communist airfields. The U.N. Command opposes both.

Staff officers working on the other armistice problem—how to exchange prisoners—are in recess, but the Canadian government had a word to say about it yesterday.

In Ottawa, a Canadian official said his government has pointed out to Washington that the U.N. Command prisoner demands in Korea are not in accord with the Geneva Convention. The convention provides prisoners of war are to be returned to their homelands. It makes no provision, said the U.N. Command is asking that prisoners don't have to go home if they don't want to.

The convention has not been ratified. The spokesman in Ottawa said Canada had not recommended a change in U.N. policy but merely pointed out the situation.

Pioneer Requests Two Certificates

Pioneer Air Lines has filed an application with the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington requesting a permanent certificate, or for a further temporary extension of authority to operate its route in New Mexico, according to an announcement by Gen. Robert J. Smith, company president.

The application, which requested two routings and the certification of Albuquerque and Santa Fe as co-terminals, urged immediate hearing by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Pioneer has been operating in New Mexico since May 1, 1948, and its present certificate expires on September 30, 1952, Gen. Smith pointed out.

One part of the application asked for a renewal beyond the terminal point Lubbock, to the co-terminals of Albuquerque and Santa Fe via Clovis, Tucumcari and Las Vegas. Service is not presently provided Las Vegas because of airport conditions. The other part asked for a routing from Lubbock to the co-terminals Santa Fe and Albuquerque via Clovis.

Authorization for co-terminal operations would permit Pioneer's flights to land in either city first, dependent upon public convenience and the schedules operated.

Kefauver Heads East-In Drive For Demo Bid

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver heads east today in his campaign for the Democratic nomination as President, after getting an Oregon reception of somewhat less fervor than expected.

A banquet arranged for his first visit to Oregon drew 67 persons. More had been expected at the 82-30 affair. In fact, Kefauver declined to sit at the long speaker's table because of the sparse crowd. He moved to a smaller table, and the long speaker's table remained empty.

At night he made his first speech in the State, and drew 700 to an auditorium that can hold 1,100.

Kefauver supporters said they were not entirely disappointed, since he was making only a one-day stopover here, mostly to set up arrangements for a longer campaign visit just before the Oregon primary May 16.

In that primary he will face Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois on the Democratic ballot. Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court also has been entered, but he has protested strongly and has bought space in the state-printed voters' pamphlet to ask Democrats not to vote for him.

Ike To Win In N. J., But Sizeable Taft Vote Seen

(Editor's note: New Jersey is the next big political battleground with a presidential preference primary Tuesday, April 18. In an effort to determine the sentiment of voters, The Associated Press made a survey of newspapers in all of the state's 21 counties. It is reported below.)

By PETER MACDONALD
NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will win New Jersey's preferential primary Tuesday—in the opinion of New Jersey newspapers—but Sen. Robert A. Taft, who tried to withdraw from the election, will poll a sizable vote nevertheless.

Harold E. Stassen, third entrant on the Republican presidential popularity ballot, will trail badly, believe the editors canvassed by The Associated Press.

In a nutshell, the newspaper reports, based on soundings among voters in their own counties, forecast:

Eisenhower will receive about 56 per cent of the vote; Taft, whose name remains on the ballot despite his attempted withdrawal, will get about 34 per cent; Stassen, 9 per cent, and write-ins for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Gov. Earl Warren of California, and others, 1 per cent.

These figures are based on percentage estimates made by newspaper editors and political writers in 17 of New Jersey's 21 counties. Newspapers in the four counties which did not provide percentages all predicted an Eisenhower win in their areas.

Newspapers in seven counties did not estimate Stassen's vote, saying he was not considered a serious contender.

The survey covered 21 daily and seven weekly newspapers which circulate in all sections of the state.

A county-by-county breakdown showed newspapermen in 19 counties forecast an Eisenhower victory, ranging from a tight squeeze to a landslide. It was predicted two counties would be in the Taft column by narrow margins.

Sen. Estes Kefauver is the lone candidate on the Democratic ballot. No survey was made of sentiment among registered Democrats. Voters are not permitted to cross party lines in primaries in New Jersey.

Some editors, although looking for an Eisenhower victory in the GOP poll, tempered their forecasts. They mentioned these factors which, they said, could upset pre-election predictions:

1. Reports of an undercover campaign for Taft since he tried to withdraw from the race on March 20, shuttering his headquarters, dissolving his organization and canceling scheduled appearances in the state.
2. Talk that splinters of the state

GOP organization, whose leaders favor Eisenhower, actually are Taft supporters and may swing voters their way.

3. Rumors to voter resentment against Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll whose endorsement of Eisenhower precipitated Taft's action two days after the Minnesota primary. The Ohio senator said Driscoll "broke his word" to remain neutral, and as a result a fair contest in the primary was impossible. Driscoll denied Taft's charges.

Greatest Missouri River Flood Heads South After S. D. Havoc

PIERRE, S. D. (AP)—History's greatest Missouri River flood swept toward downstream communities today after dropping here slightly overnight from its record crest of just over 25 feet.

Army engineers' gauges showed a 24.75 foot reading at midnight (CST). But with upriver tributaries still pouring in huge quantities of water, they refused to say the crest has passed. Flood stage here is 15 feet.

The big muddy river, normally a thousand feet wide, spread over five miles to engulf all but three blocks of nearby Fort Pierre and 30 blocks of this South Dakota capital.

The Red Cross declared 12 Nebraska and Iowa counties disaster areas as the revoltingly torrent swirled southward. In South Dakota, 13 counties fought the raging river and its tributaries. Floods also were reported in North Dakota, Minnesota and Montana.

Damages from the overflows mounted into the millions of dollars.

At South Sioux City, Neb., the flood pushed through a dike yesterday to drive out 250 families. The Red Cross also reported that Sioux City, Ia., readied plans to care for one thousand families expected to be driven out when the crest hits there about Monday.

The downstream cities of Omaha, Neb., and Council Bluffs, Ia., girded against a predicted crest of 28.5 feet, some six feet above that which brought havoc in the last great flood of 1943.

If the forecast holds true, Missouri water will climb two feet higher there than the protecting dikes erected after that most recent disaster.

The Red Cross had mobile power er units and canteens en route to all threatened areas. One such unit was in service at Ft. Pierre after the water knocked out the main power plant.

Volunteers, laboring through the night, kept the Pierre plant in operation by plugging leaks in the sandbag dikes.

More than 1,600 residents of Pierre and Ft. Pierre (combined population 8,400) who have been driven from their homes are being cared for by emergency facilities.

Water purification plans were rushed in late yesterday as the murky flood swept into the last of four wells supplying Pierre.

Insurance men today gave unofficial estimates of one million dollars damage to the two cities, with business places—80 per cent of them inundated—suffering heaviest loss.

The Minnesota River, at flood stage along its 100-mile course from New Ulm to Minneapolis, drove out scores of farm families last night. Crews at Mankato, where the river caused a disastrous flood last spring, labored to bolster protective dikes.

A score of families were driven from homes in Minneapolis and St. Paul when the Mississippi started to rise. It is expected to hit 18.5 feet, 30 inches over the flood stage, this week end.

In Montana, the Milk River went up 18 inches at Malta last night but was reported dropping in the northern part of the state after drying 3,000 persons from their homes and causing an estimated two million dollars property damage.

At Fargo, N. D., the Red River hit a 24.5 level, 7 1/2 feet above flood stage, despite temperatures that slowed the melting of snow. Weather forecasters predicted a 34 foot crest and serious flooding within the next week there and at Moorhead, Minn., across the river.

Community's First Service Station Oddly Equipped

GARDEN CITY, (Sp) — Mrs. Cora Hanson can remember when the equipment of her late husband's service station consisted of barrels of gasoline and five-gallon cans with which to transfer it to automobiles.

Mrs. Hanson, who celebrated her 81st birthday recently with a dinner at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Bill Clements, west of Garden City, recalls that her husband, Will Hanson, built the first service station in that community.

Born and reared in Marcellon, Wis., she went to Garden City in 1893 as a bride. At that time most of the town was on a hill about a mile northeast of the present site. The Courthouse was then being constructed and the jail served not only as a courthouse but as the church. A Rev. Black, believed to be Methodist, although little thought was given to denomination, was coming over each Sunday from Sterling City to preach.

"I thought the people here were the funniest things and their speech and dress seemed so queer," she recalls, "but to tell the truth, I know from the way they acted they thought the same of me."

Mrs. Hanson has five children, 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Attending the dinner were the following sons and daughters and their families: Mr. and Mrs. Will Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bigby, a daughter, of Dryden; Mrs. Audie McDaniel, another daughter, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hanson, Bruce Hanson, Richard and Norman McDaniel, Mrs. Della Dam, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clements and children.

New Aids Make Work Easy For Amateur Paper Hanger

By ELIZABETH HILLYER
Amateurs who hang wallpaper say it isn't as difficult as they thought it would be. And two new do-it-yourself helps make the job an easier success — the new papers which come with their margins ready-trimmed, and the new plastic pastes that won't stain and wipe off easily even after they are dry.

Take the measurements of the walls of the room, and of windows and doors, too, to the wallpaper dealer who will estimate the paper needed. Prepare walls by filling in cracks and holes with patching plaster, and by sanding rough spots (sketch 1) and the seams of old paper. Sizing should be applied to painted surfaces, plaster and wall-board and to walls from which calamine, whitewash or old paper has been removed.

Use a plumb line to start the first strip of paper straight. Chalk the line, thumb tack it to the ceiling molding and roll it down to the baseboard. This is the easiest way to determine strip lengths and helps to match the pattern at the seams as you go along. Allow extra paper at both ends of the strip. Both measure and paste one strip at a time. Apply paste evenly over a section of the strip, then fold the paper over (sketch 4). Paste and fold over as many times as necessary.

Start the paper in the center of a large wall area or at a door or window frame, but when it is started at a frame edge to be trimmed off (5) because frame edges are seldom perfectly straight. This overlap and extra paper at both the top and the bottom of the strip are necessary to avoid being caught short because of irregularities of woodwork. Use a dry brush to push the paper into woodwork edges, fold overlaps back and trim them off with a trimmer or razor blade. Remember, too, to turn a corner with a strip of paper rather than to try to make seams meet there.

To make a professional wire seam, lap the paper a mere wire width. Use the dry brush again to pat the edge of the paper down as it overlaps the strip on the wall. Finish the seam (6) with a seam roller to squeeze out extra paste and use both hands, one with a damp cloth following the one with the roller. The few tools needed are inexpensive and can be had along or in kits at any wallpaper store.

3 Soloists Are Featured At Concert

Evelyn Wilson, Angela Fausel and Nancy Conway were featured as soloists Thursday evening at the annual Easter concert presented by the choral departments of the Big Spring Junior and Senior High Schools in the auditorium of the new high school building.

The eighth grade girls choir presented the cantata, "Our Living Lord," under the direction of Mrs. Alice Willoughby. Sacred and secular numbers by the A Cappella Choir and the Debutantes, girls choir, were directed by Harry Lee Plumblay.

The departments are making plans to present "H. M. S. Pinareta," the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, before the close of the school term.

High Glamour Fashion Is A House Frock

Glamour has invaded the home in new spring homemaker frocks that sing with imaginative fabric, color and style excitement, so that this season, the lady of the house need never feel improperly dressed when unexpected callers interrupt her Spring cleaning.

The "textured" look, so important in dress and coat fabrics, now appears in the at-home dress, giving these utility frocks a high fashion look. Surface interest is achieved with clipped raised patterns and "tapestry" plaids that look and feel like expensive hand-embroidery. Stripes also achieves the dimensional look, appearing sometimes in a satiny-foam-in-narrow and wide widths.

A whole artist's palette of color tints these new fabrics in vibrant jewel tones, exotic subtle hues, unusual combinations of tone-on-tone, and gleaming metallic gold against color. Luscious amethyst, tawny tangerine, soft jade green and many other shades do much to beautify the spring indoor frock.

These fabrics and shadings are combined in styles that have swirling skirts, dropped shoulders and smart mandarin or roll collars. Some of the classic coat-and-slip front styles have taken on free action gussets, placed to give maximum comfort to the busy homemaker in her many daily activities.

A Bible Thought For Today—

It is God in man that makes him divine, magnificent. Christ was the first born of many brethren. We too can magnify the divine presence. "Have I been so long time with you, and dost thou not know me, Philip?" — John 18:9.

Steel Production Must Go On As Test Made Of Seizure's Legality

The President may be entirely wrong in his seizure of the steel mills to avert a steel strike. But the mills cannot help their case, and in fact might prejudice it in the public mind, by persisting in a lockout pending a legal test of the presidential action.

Whatever the arguments may be against the summary taking of an industry by the government—and there are many valid ones—the fact is that we cannot afford to have steel production stopped at this time. Our defense effort depends upon the free flow of steel from the mills, and so do many other allied trades such as the petroleum industry so vital to this area and to the nation. And if these things are constricted and brought to a standstill, how much more will the domestic functions dependent upon steel be bound to stop?

It would seem that a wiser and more balanced course of action for the President would have been to invoke the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. While he has scored this legislation—which is anathema to labor—on several occasions, he also has made use of it before. That would have prolonged the period of negotiation and thus held out the hope that while men talk there is always a possibility of agreement.

The seizure action, coupled with a blistering attack on the steel companies, threw the weight of the government on the side of labor in the controversy and destroyed the ideal of objectivity. Meanwhile, the workers have accepted the decree and will return to work under same conditions and same pay. A power which can appropriate an industry, however, could also make adjustments in pay. The inherent danger is twofold: 1) To the theory of private property and private business, and 2) to freedom of the working man. Established as an absolute power, arbitrary seizure by government could easily mean operation by government, and thus workers ultimately would find themselves employed by an employer who would brook no strike and who wrote all the rules.

Meantime, steel production must go on until the Courts and Congress come to grips with this test of the legality of the President's action.

Tornado Warnings Are Alerts And Not Reports, So Take It Easy

In pursuance with its new policy of warning the public of conditions conducive to tornadoes, the Weather Bureau on Tuesday alerted most of Oklahoma and parts of Arkansas to beware. In consequence, tens of thousands of Oklahomans in particular went to their storm cellars for the night, or stationed a sentinel to give the alarm in case a tornado showed up.

Well, sir, the bureau's warning was justified in the case of Oklahoma, at least. Many "funnels" were sighted over Eastern and Central Western Oklahoma during Tuesday night, but fortunately none of them made contact with the earth.

In time, this new policy may save many lives, though the false alarms will probably outnumber the hits. The USWB adopted the policy of tornado warnings from the Air Weather Service, which bosses the weather for the Air Force and the Army. AWS had been sending tornado warnings in its more than 300 weather stations located at military installations, and the news sometimes leaked out from there to the general public. USWB then decided to issue its own to minimize wild rumors based on unauthorized and sometimes inaccurate "leaks."

The people who take tornadoes most seriously are those who have been through them, or witnessed their destructive effects from a distance. You'll find more stormcellars in the vicinity of your tornadoes have struck than you'll find anywhere else. Those folks know what a tornado can do.

Don't get panicky when the bureau sounds a warning. These are cited as possibilities. The odds are all in favor of their not happening—at least not to you.

Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

Ex-BIR Aide Dan Bolich Pleaded Poverty Before Congress Probe

WASHINGTON.—Dan Bolich, the No. 2 tax collector who bought $31 shirts and developed a special taste for $3.50 monogrammed handkerchiefs, pleaded poverty when he testified secretly before congressional investigators.

Later, when Bolich was called to a public session of the King tax fraud subcommittee, he refused to answer on the ground of self-incrimination. But before he knew that committee-probers had the goods on him, he testified freely in private. This column has now obtained a copy of the secret cross-examination.

Two and a half years ago, this columnist, attempting to expose scandals in Internal Revenue, pointed to Bolich (Dec. 17, 1948) as an acquaintance of Gambler Frankie Costello and told how Bolich had killed prosecution of the biggest tax-fraud case against Los Angeles gamblers—the Guaranty Finance Co. Another column told how Bolich mysteriously intervened to prevent prosecution in a $6,000,000 tax case against Mid-Continent Petroleum.

This was the deputy commissioner of Internal Revenue, later revealed to have spent in five years $63,000 more than his government salary.

of his children and a $50 election-bet pool that he won. In 1946, he claimed his only outside income came from his children's miscellaneous earnings. In 1948, he bet $750 on President Truman's election at 10-to-1 odds and collected $7,500, he explained. His 1949 outside income included his children's earnings and a $300 television set won by his youngest son, Joseph, in a church raffle.

The investigators later pieced together enough old bills and receipts to show that Bolich spent at least $63,000 more than he reported on his income-tax returns during the same five years. Yet Bolich was then No. 2 man in charge of enforcing the tax laws.

The investigators also inquired about the notorious $250,000 Patullo Modes case. Bolich refused to comment on the case in public session, but admitted to investigators that he had ruled against criminal prosecution.

"My best recollection of that particular case is my connection with it as assistant commissioner," recalled Bolich. "That has to do with the attorneys for the taxpayer, Mr. Saver and Mrs. Quinn, coming into my office in Washington and presenting the case from their point of view and from what I still think may be the facts; as a result of which I advised them to offer to cooperate fully. . . . And that I would suggest to the New York office that it be given nonprosecution consideration. And that I did."

"Before you gave Mr. Saver and Mr. Quinn the assurance about no prosecution did you check the case with the people in New York?" fired Lemay.

"I checked with Mr. Baradel, and he said that he could rule that technically it was not a voluntary disclosure," admitted the ex-assistant commissioner. In other words, Bolich overruled the New York office, which had claimed there had been no voluntary disclosure in the Patullo Modes case, hence criminal prosecution should have been pressed.

"Is there any other case than Patullo Modes in which you have made a ruling of no prosecution?" asked another investigator, Stanley Surrey.

"The answer is yes; that on at least two other occasions I have interceded on behalf of counsel with the field officers to see whether or not it couldn't be arranged to make the disclosure and to offer the complete cooperation of the taxpayer, with the understanding that it would be given nonprosecution consideration," Bolich testified.

He described one case as the Goering Products case, didn't identify the other, and wasn't pressed for details by the investigators.

Chief Counsel Adrian De Wind finally asked him: "Would you please state the circumstances surrounding your resignation as assistant commissioner?"

"I communicated with (then) Commissioner Schoeneman and told him I was not going to be able to go the limit in what was turning out to be pretty fast baseball, due to my health, and I would appreciate it if he would select somebody else for the post and give me a quieter assignment," explained Bolich.

"That is the whole story," declared Wind.

"That is the whole story," declared Bolich.

The investigators, however, later found it was only a small fraction of the story.

Grilled secretly under oath, however, he talked freely but mentioned no monogrammed shirts or handkerchiefs.

"I am really behind the eight ball financially," he pleaded. "There is no doubt but that living in Washington I over-extended myself financially, and the net result of it is that I am quite inclined to question as to whether it was worth even the inconvenience as well as the financial loss."

Bolich also explained his friendship with the mysterious Carl Routzahn, 73-year-old Mansfield, Ohio, merchant, who paid Bolich $400 a month—totaling over $30,000.

"He (Routzahn) was a very old and dear friend of the family's and my particular benefactor," the big tax collector told the investigators. "Mr. and Mrs. Routzahn had no children. And after her death, Mr. Routzahn made an arrangement with Mrs. Bolich and I that he would have a home with us for life and could have use of all of the facilities that are ours. . . . The commitment was made, not in writing, but morally binding and forever will be, that Mr. Routzahn will have a home with us, which he does have."

But, in public session, he refused to talk about his elderly friend and financial angel.

"Have you any other indebtedness?" demanded Agent George Lemay, after Bolich said he owed Routzahn $12,000 to $15,000.

"Only to Mr. Routzahn," replied Bolich.

But a few minutes later, he claimed: "As it is, I am very substantially in debt."

"I would like to say right at this moment," blurted Bolich, "that Mrs. Bolich and I have never entertained, and we have never gone anywhere. We have never been to Florida. We have never been to California. We have never been on an ocean voyage. I think we have been to Atlantic City maybe three times in 20 years, and our whole life has been devoted to just one thing, raising this family and educating them and trying to keep our head above water."

Bolich's income-tax returns while he worked for the Internal Revenue Bureau listed only his government salary, plus $750 in 1945, $350 in 1946, $7,850 in 1948, and $600 in 1949. He explained the outside income during 1945 was the petty earnings

Russians Acting In Desperation Via Plan To Allow United Germany Rearm

WASHINGTON.—The Soviet leadership has been credited with far-sighted planning. But in a situation it didn't plan and can't control it gets reckless to the point of disaster.

This seems to be the long-range policy: Everywhere let the local Communist party, directed and helped by Moscow, try to wreck from within, thus saving Russia the expense of a shooting war.

But the Communists made an historic miscalculation in helping Hitler come to power. And their later non-aggression pact with him and their recent proposal to let a united Germany re-arm were acts of desperation.

In the early 1930s the Communists in Germany considered the Social Democrats a worse danger than Hitler. They helped him take control, thinking he wouldn't last long and then they'd move in.

Konrad Heiden in his book, "Der Fuehrer," shows this was the Moscow plan by quoting from a note by Stalin: "It is more advantageous for us that the Fascists (in Germany) should strike first; that will rally the whole working class to the Communists."

Hitler crossed them up. He not only stayed and rallied the Germans to him but practically wiped out the Communists. In 1939 he was itching for war but found himself sandwiched between Russia in the East, and the Democracies in the West, both of whom he wanted to attack but not both at once.

If he moved against one, the other might jump him from the rear. Stalin rescued him from this. This was quite different from letting Germany re-arm, for the troops it produced would not be part of a German army but part of the Western European army.

It was obvious to the Russians that if they could keep the Germans out of the Western army they could well near wreck it. So they tried. They suggested Germany be allowed to unite and re-arm. This was bait for all Germans to split them from the West.

A united Germany, given permission to rearm, would be unpredictable and probably uncontrollable. In the end the rearmament might turn on Russia again. So the Russian proposal becomes an act of desperation to wreck the Western plans which Moscow hadn't anticipated. This is Russian gambling, not planning.

They had taken control of Eastern Germany after the war, thus splitting the country in two. The Kremlin men must have thought the West would never let the Germans have guns again. And, so long as Germany remained divided and unarmed, Russia could feel fairly safe. In the meantime it could exploit the East-out Communists.

But the rearming Allies, tired of Russian obstruction, first let the Western Germans have their own government and then took the next step: They invited West Germany to provide troops for the Atlantic Pact army.

This was quite different from

He's Successful; Believes Fems Sell Better Than Men

CINCINNATI, April 11.—Illustrated with pictures and fabric samples of 300 different dresses ranging from $2.98 to $15.98. The dress patterns are kept in current styles—he has his own staff of de-chandising principle has made him a millionaire and "king of the lady drummers."

He bosses an army of more than 50,000 women salesmen—mostly housewives—who sell 2,000,000 dresses a year for his Fashion Frocks, Inc., a concern that grosses about $18,000,000 annually.

Meyers, now 52, is a tall, lean, friendly former star football player for the University of Cincinnati. After working in his father's small dress manufacturing firm, he decided to start one of his own in a gamble of a pet theory of merchandising he had developed.

"I had the idea that since all women are interested in style the best way to sell one housewife was through another housewife," he said.

So he launched in 1925—amid considerable laughter in the trade—what has now become the largest direct-selling dress making company in the world. Today Meyers figures he employs more salespeople than any American firm other than General Motors and the Woolworth Chain. And they are all women.

"We've had some men salesmen in the past," he acknowledged wryly. "But they weren't satisfactory. A woman will outsell them every time—at least in the field of style."

His formula is this: he advertises for women who want to earn money to help themselves or their families. He sends them a kit book

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

An old Texas fort came back into the news on this day in 1861 when Federal troops evacuated Fort McIntosh in Laredo.

The history of the fort dates back to 1845, when the Federal government established a string of camps from the Red River to the Rio Grande for protection against the Indians. Known first as Camp Crawford, the Laredo fort originally occupied a bluff overlooking "Indian Crossing." At this limestone ledge just below the muddy waters of the Rio Grande Indians crossed cattle and horses into Mexico—frequently animals stolen from settlers in Texas. Ruins of the star-shaped earthwork of Camp Crawford still stand on the high bluff.

The name of the fort was changed to Fort McIntosh ten months after its establishment. During the Civil War Texas State troops and Confederate soldiers maintained a garrison there and in 1863 repulsed an attack by Federal troops from Fort Brown. U. S. forces reoccupied the post when the war was over.

Present-day Fort McIntosh, adjacent to the site of the old post, contains buildings representative of every period of its expansion—stone, brick, adobe and frame. Two of them date back to the beginning of the new fort in 1868.

Mexico Holy Week Death Toll At 53

MEXICO CITY.—Mexico's Holy Week toll of traffic accident dead stood at 53 persons today, with another 70 seriously injured.

In one of the worst crashes reported so far, brakes failed on a bus loaded with holiday-bound government employees and it left the highway, crashed and burned within sight of the Pacific resort harbor of Acapulco. Twenty-two persons were killed and 10 seriously burned.

In another major accident, a truckload of farmers and their families on a religious pilgrimage in Vera Cruz State overturned three days ago, killing 22 and injuring 18.

Holy Week is the year's big travel season for Mexican families. Thousands have been leaving the capital since last week and for extended holidays.

Around The Rim—The Herald Staff

The Situation Is Not Quite As Simple As It Seems On Surface

If you are one who thinks government regulations and controls over citizens, business and industry of this country, have reached the "tail wags dog" stage, you can find support without exhaustive search in most business publications.

A recent issue of the Wall Street Journal described the "red tape" which a large store in Chicago waded through in doing a favor for a customer. The problem involved a rush order for a wedding dress. The garment was finished to specifications overnight, and the task of actual production was surprisingly simple. But the problem didn't end there. It required three of the stores top executives and a lawyer to determine how much the firm could charge for the dress and how much it could pay the seamstress for working overtime.

That, of course, is only one instance. In the same issue of the same publication, government agencies were prominent as references in something over half of the news matter published.

In fact, the reference usually came in the first sentence, and almost always before the end of the first paragraph of each article.

Here's a sample:

"The OPS put into effect yesterday a 20 per cent rollback of raw wool prices and wool futures ceilings."

"Installment credit controls were lifted by the Federal Reserve Board from all articles costing less than $100."

"The NPA lifted its ban on steel shipments from mills to manufacturers of automobiles and other consumer goods. Warehouses, however, are still prohibited from selling steel to any firms except those classed as essential."

"The House passed a stopgap bill extending Truman's wartime powers to July 1."

Administration officials told Congress this fall would be the earliest time that they could consider lifting a government order increasing the lead content of commercial aviation gasoline."

Maybe you would regard this as the climax:

"The Treasury was disappointed in its March tax collections."

GOP Seen Facing Tougher Test With Truman Out Of The Race

(One of a series of reports by the Gallup Poll on the national political situation today.)

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—The President's decision not to run again raises the question: With Truman out, have the chances of the G. O. P. improved or decreased?

Survey evidence up to the present would indicate that the President's withdrawal makes the 1952 race look tougher for the Republicans, not easier. There are two reasons for this:

1.—Mr. Truman's personal popularity, even with voters in his own party, had declined so much in recent months that when he was matched against various G. O. P. contenders in Institute "trial heats" he was beaten by every one of these Republicans.

Specifically, he was beaten by Eisenhower, by Taft, by Stassen and by Warren.

No such easy victories were scored, however, by the Republicans against other Democratic candidate possibilities whose strength were tested, specifically Kefauver and Chief Justice Vinson.

2.—Truman's bowing out definitely lessens Republican chances of cracking the Solid South. Surveys show that he was one of the weakest candidates the Democratic party could have put up in the South.

In fact, Southern Democratic county chairmen, when polled in a special Institute survey last autumn, voted heavily against him for renomination and predicted that if Truman were the candidate the political revolt in the South would lead to the formation of a third party there as in 1948.

In Institute trial heats throughout the South Truman fared badly against such Republicans as Eisenhower and Taft.

Odors, Colors Draw Insects

What would spring be without flowers! We look about us in April or May, and see many kinds of blossoms.

People exclaim over the beauty of such blooming trees as the cherry, but it is well to remember that trees, in general, have flowers. In many cases the flowers are of modest kind, rather hard to see, but they are needed for a special purpose.

We are likely to suppose that Nature provides pretty flowers to please us by their odor or beauty, but that is hardly the truth. Insects play an important part in the story of many trees and other plants. Odors attract insects, and so do the colors of the petals.

The deeper a person goes into the study of plants, the more he learns about the differences in the ways of flowers in "going to seed." It may be stated, however, that there are two main kinds of flowers—those with pistils and those with anthers. Please notice that the word "pistils" which I have used is spelled without an "o".

The anthers of flowers produce pollen. The pistils have, at their base, tiny objects which are called eggs for want of a better name.

A single tree may have both of the main kinds of flowers. This is true, for example in the oak and hickory families.

It is different with many other trees, as the poplar. One poplar has flowers with anthers only. On another poplar we find that all the flowers have pistils, none of them anthers.

In one way or another, pollen must be transferred from anther flowers to pistil flowers. Honeybees, bumblebees, butterflies and some other insects play parts in moving the pollen. So does the wind.

Some plants have flowers which combine the anthers and pistils. Among these none are more interesting than the lady's slippers or coccasin flowers.

A lady's slipper has an opening which is easy for a bumblebee to enter. Going inside, the big bee obtains nectar. Its body is sure to touch a pistil, inside the flower, and bits of pollen may be scraped off by the pistil. When the bumblebee leaves the flower, it finds another opening best for the purpose. Near that opening is an anther; the bee touches it and gets a new supply of pollen to take to another lady's slipper.

Thomas and the Risen Lord (Easter)
HE DOUBTED, WAS CONVINCED, AND WORSHIPPED HIS LORD
Scripture—John 11:14-16; 14:1-6; 20:24-29.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THOMAS, the devoted apostle of Jesus, was one who must be shown. To this day we call a person who will not believe a thing unless his own eyes have seen it, or he receives absolute proof, a "Doubting Thomas."
Jesus had received word that Lazarus, brother of Mary and Martha of Bethany, was very ill. The Lord was in Perea, on the far side of the river Jordan. For two days He lingered, and from His words, his companions thought Lazarus was merely sleeping.
So, according to St. John, Jesus spoke plainly to them, saying that Lazarus was dead, and further, that "I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, to the intent ye may believe; nevertheless let us go unto them."
Now the Jews of Judaea had threatened to stone Jesus if He returned to Jerusalem, and as Bethany was just over the slope of the Mount of Olives, they would all be in danger of death if they went thither. Thomas was willing to risk death with his Master, so he said, "Let us also go, that we may die with Him."

They went, as you know, and Lazarus was brought to life again, which was what Jesus intended them to see that their belief in Him might be intensified.
It is thought that the second episode in our lesson took place in the upper room in Jerusalem on Thursday of Holy Week. Jesus, aware that His life on earth was drawing to a close, told His disciples, "Let not your hearts be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in Me."
In My Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.
"And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto Myself; that where I am, there ye may be also."
"And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know."
This statement of his beloved master was not clear to Thomas, and he wanted it clarified.
"Lord," he said, "we know not whither Thou goest; and how can we know the way?"
Jesus answered, "I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by Me."

Food Selling Rules Will Be Explained Here

A meeting important to all operators of restaurants and other eating and drinking establishments, including drug stores with soda fountains, has been announced by J. H. Greene, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

It will be held at 2:30 p. m., April 21st, in the Chamber of Commerce conference room (Room 2) at the Settles Hotel, and is being jointly sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Office of Price Stabilization.

The purpose of this meeting, Greene said, is to give these business people an opportunity to have Alton Taylor, restaurant pricing specialist with the OPS, to explain to them the requirements of the new Ceiling Price Regulation 134. These became effective Monday and prices must be posted not later than April 25th by the places affected.

This regulation freezes restaurant prices at the level shown on menus or charged during the week of February 3-9, this year. The new regulation specifically applies to restaurants, European-plan hotels (including room service), taverns, cafes, cafeterias, soda fountains, catering establishments, field kitchens, lunch wagons and delicatessens.

Dining cars, boarding houses and American-plan hotels will continue under CPR 11. However, sales of food or beverages by these hotels and boarding houses, where a separate charge is made, will be covered by the new regulation. Institutions, hospitals and colleges are excluded.

The OPS specialist will come prepared to answer any question or make any explanation, Greene stated, in urging that all operators of such businesses attend the meeting.

Pre-Fab Bunker Newest Thing In Frontline Homes

WITH U. S. THIRD DIVISION, Korea (U. S. Even in the Korean mud, home is what you make it. And the U. S. Seventh Infantry Regiment has come up with something new in battle line housing—a prefabricated bunker.
Bunkers are reinforced holes in the ground which give the foot soldiers a maximum of cover—in other words a roof over their heads.
The Seventh's assembly line is just behind the front. Two platoons cut the lumber to specifications set by the forward soldiers.
The bunker kits are delivered complete. The assembly line even sends along a representative to explain how it's put together.
All the infantrymen have to do is have a proper size hole dug.
The frontline soldiers usually cut their own machinegun slots to fit their particular field of fire. Other openings are made beforehand.
Maj. Walter M. Turner of Sanford, Fla., First Battalion commander, thought of the prefab bunkers. The job was turned over to Lt. Henry D. Hoyle of West Kingston, R. I., and Sgt. John M. Pierre of West Springfield, Mass.
The only problem facing the regiment now is how it will salvage the bunkers to the extent of a move to another sector.
At present the assembly line is not worried about this. Every effort is being made to supply each position with the finest in battlefield housing.

Sen. Taft Gains Six Kentucky Delegates.

By S. V. STILES
LOUISVILLE, Ky. —Sen. Robert A. Taft won six GOP National Convention delegate votes in Kentucky yesterday, and his forces predicted he would grab off eight more today.

Kentucky Republicans will send 20 delegates to their National Convention in Chicago July 7. Sixteen of the delegates are being chosen in district conventions and four will be named in the state convention here Saturday.

The six delegates already pledged to support the Ohio senator for President as long as he has a chance were chosen in the fourth congressional district convention at Bardonia, N. Y., last night.

The state convention, in which Taft leaders say they will have more than 1,400 of the 1,705 delegates, will elect four delegates from the state at-large.

The Taft forces in Kentucky, with E. R. Denney of Mt. Vernon as chairman and including such men as former Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson and former Gov. Simeon Willis, made their fight strictly for instructed delegates to the national convention. Eisenhower backers, headed by former State Rep. Charles F. Trivette of Virgie, and including Congressman Thurston Ballard of Lexington and Republican State Chairman James Park of Lexington, have been fighting for an unrestricted delegation. They contend it would be to the interest of Kentucky Republicans to be able to vote as they see fit at the national convention.

Edward C. Black, third district leader supporting Taft, said yesterday's results "were just what could be expected."
Dawson said "the results in the fourth, fifth and sixth districts fully confirm my judgment, repeatedly expressed, and that Taft would get 19 of the 20 delegates from Kentucky."

Bodies Of 11 Airmen Found In Colorado

GOLDEN, Colo., April 11 (U. S.)—Bodies of 11 men killed in the crash of a B-25 bomber near here Tuesday were taken down a mountain side on horseback today.
Sheriff Carl Enlow of Jefferson County, Colo., said 10 horses were used to wade through waist-deep snow to transport the bodies to a Denver mortuary.
Wreckage of the craft was found yesterday against the side of 9,763-foot Golden Peak, about 25 miles west of Denver.
Three air policemen stood guard at the scene of the disaster last night.

The plane, based at Randolph Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex., apparently smacked into the timbered peak going at full-throttle. Bodies were sent hurtling into spruce trees as the bomber exploded.

It was believed the plane passed over Lowry Air Force Base in Denver, its destination out of Kansas City, in cloudy weather and continued west on a radio beam signal for a landing, crashing into the mountain as it followed the signal.

Army Schools To Be Moved To Dallas Soon

DALLAS, April 11 (U. S.—The Army will transfer its personnel administration schools from San Antonio to Dallas as soon as space can be found here, a government official said yesterday.
Peter M. Tamburo, field representative for the office of the Secretary of the Army, said the 19 schools have been training civilians for jobs with the Army in 11-state areas.

Six Airmen Refuse To Fly At Randolph

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. April 11 (AP)—Six Air Force first lieutenants have refused to fly and one has been charged with disobeying a superior officer's orders, Randolph Air Force Base says.

Maj. Albert Hatcher, information officer for a crew-training unit, said no reason for their refusal to fly has been given. Hatcher said all the offenses occurred during the last ten days.

One of the lieutenants, Hatcher said is AWOL after being restricted to the base. He had been picked up in a San Antonio hotel while attempting to telephone President Truman and columnist Drew Pearson and Walter Winchell.

Hatcher said the officer left the base without permission the morning following the telephone incident.

Critique Slated By Long Horn Game Officers

FORT HOOD, April 11 (AP)—Top operation Long Horn officers, after watching their troops play at war for nearly three weeks, meet today to decide just what the large-scale maneuvers accomplished.

The final critique was scheduled for 10 a. m. (CST).

There, while the soldiers rest or get ready to return to their home bases, the top brass will decide how good—or bad, the mock war was.

The maneuvers ended Wednesday when the First Armored Division linked up with the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team and drove to the line where the exercise was originally set to end today.

Tired soldiers slept, took in movies, or just laid in the sun yesterday. The post exchange was packed.

Company clerks kept busy, whipping up final reports and taking care of all the details of moving the soldiers back to their bases.

The 31st Division is tentatively scheduled to be airlifted to its new station at Camp Atterbury, Ind., Sunday. The 82nd Airborne and the 47th Infantry Division are expected to begin moving next week.

Airline No. 1, Lester Foster, in section 28-11, SPR, 10 miles northwest of Water Valley, drilled to 1,150 and had a fishing job in the lime formation at that point.

You Can Never Tell Where The Cops Are

A young motorist learned last night that Big Spring police officers are always on duty and that you never know when you will run up on one.

This young fellow was breezing out East Third at "between 55 and 60" according to the officer, who happened to be alone there in his own car, and almost struck a pedestrian trying to get across the street in the heavy traffic. Then this lad did something which he now has financial reason to regret. Using the facility of a filling station he made a complete turn, still in sight of the officer, and came rolling back down the street straight to where Patrolman Jack Fillyaw was waiting.

A 19-year-old companion of the motorist told the court that at no time were they driving in excess of 35 miles an hour, but the defendant admitted he was going 40, and Fillyaw testified that at the time of the arrest the young fellow admitted a speed of 50 mph.

The 19-year-old witness said he had had "about a can and a half of beer" but that the boy driving had not had a drink. The officer said he could not smell liquor on the driver at the time of the arrest.

An older man also charged with reckless driving told City Judge W. E. Greenlee that "didn't remember anything about it" when the arrest card showed Patrolmen Steele and Hiltbrunner tried for five blocks on Gregg to stop him, but he was driving at an excessive rate of speed and on the wrong side of the street.

The driver admitted he had had something to drink. "You probably should have been charged with DWI," the court told him, "but the officers evidently didn't think you were that drunk."

This man drew the high fine of the morning—$50.

A Negro charged with displaying a weapon entered a plea of not guilty, demanded a jury trial and his case was continued until tomorrow morning.

A motorist charged with operating a car with a defective muffler was fined $5, and a man who admitted his guilt of creating a disturbance in a hotel was fined $25.

An oilfield worker who had never been in court before and who wanted to get back to his job admitted being intoxicated and was fined $10. A mother of two young children who was fined on a drunkenness charge recently was back in court this morning and another fine was imposed.

Forecasts called for increasing cloudiness today with the possibility of scattered showers increasing by tomorrow.

A Weather Bureau forecaster offered the opinion that Easter Sunday "probably would be fair...but there is always the possibility of an April shower."

Special Easter music will be provided at the Business Men's Bible Class meeting Sunday at the Settles Hotel.

Guest lecturer for the class will be R. L. Tollett, Cosden Petroleum Corporation president, Murph Thorpe, president, announced.

A choir from the Wesley Methodist Church will furnish the music, according to Joe Williamson. The class meets in the Settles ballroom at 9:15 a.m. and is non-denominational.

Patton had lived in San Francisco prior to coming to Colorado City in 1946. He had been in the oil business for 27 years.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. H. S. Patton of Carmel, California; his widow, Mrs. Fred T. Patton, two children, Mary Lou and Janet, all of Colorado City, and a brother, Henry S. Patton, Oakland California.

Memorial services for Patton will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday in Saints Episcopal Church in Colorado City, with the Reverend Robert Purrington, pastor, officiating.

The place of burial will be determined after the arrival of Doctor Henry Patton Friday morning from Oakland.

Doors to three of Big Spring's larger downtown business places were found open by night patrolmen on their rounds during the early morning hours.

Of these doors, according to the police records, was at a place that had been "tampered with" several times in the last few weeks.

"An unlocked door or window," police comment, "is an open invitation to burglars to enter and help themselves to whatever they want."

The police also point out that such a situation causes them a loss of time since in many instances they must wait until the proprietor comes down and locks up.

Police traffic reports list G. L. Bell Jr., 1100 N. Gregg, driver of a Yellow Cab, and Bertha Louise Schuber, 804 Rannels, operating a '46 Chevrolet, as the motorists involved in a traffic mishap at 4th and Rannels at 2:20 p.m. yesterday.

Sgt. Frank C. West, officer in charge of the recruiting station, was scheduled to be in San Antonio today and Saturday. He will return to the city Sunday, and the office will be reopened Monday morning.

The Fire Department was summoned to the Crawford Hotel about 9 o'clock last night, according to Chief H. V. Crocker, when a guest went to sleep while smoking a cigarette.

The damage was confined to the mattress and box springs, the chief said. The guest suffered burns to the extent that he required treatment by a physician.

W. H. Kirkpatrick, who was fined $20 on a drunkenness charge in the Corporation Court yesterday morning, was rearrested yesterday afternoon by Sgt. Aaron and Patrolman Kirby on request of the FBI and is being held for them.

Why Waste Sympathy On Durocher, Other National Managers Inquire

Even Dick Wakefield May Produce For The Giants

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports Writer

Seven National League managers were thinking that, well, maybe they could spare a little sympathy for Leo Durocher, the harassed manager of the champion New York Giants. He had lost Monte Irvin and Willie Mays, two-thirds of his regular outfield, and what manager can afford that sort of a blow?

But thinking it all over today, they went back to feeling sorry for themselves—all except Brooklyn's Chuck Dressen, who still thinks the Dodgers will win the pot.

Not only does Durocher have Bob Elliott to take Irvin's spot, but he has decided to give Dick Wakefield, who has played in just about all four corners of the country, a tryout. This will be the last one for the former University of Michigan bonus baby. He was turned down by several other major league teams.

The way Durocher has been waving his magic wand, it wouldn't be a surprise to see Wakefield come through. Although the Lip is counting on his newest acquisition for pinch-hitting chores at the moment, Dick could fill Mays' shoes if he looks good. He's been pounding the ball with authority and has banged out three hits in his four trips to the plate, including two in yesterday's 4-0 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

The Giants had been taking regular pastings from the Triole in their cross-country tour, and the New York win was only the third in 14 games between the two teams, hardly a record to bring joy to the front office of the defending champions.

But it was a noteworthy one at that for the Giants, Larry Jansen and Max Lanier, a couple of Durocher's top elbowmen, demonstrated midseason form in white-washing the hard-hitting Indians. Jansen went the first six innings and turned back the first 10 Indians to face him. Lanier finished up.

The Dodgers managed to pull one out of the fire, overcoming the Washington Senators, 4-3, after trailing, 2-0, after three innings. Starter Chris Van Cuyk was the winner. Bobo Newcom, at 43, starting his fifth term with the Nats, hurled the last three innings and sent nine Dodgers in a row back to the bench.

The Boston Brave's Warren Spahn gave up nine hits, but they were scattered enough to enable his team to decision the Boston Red Sox, 5-5, despite a one-on-home run by Junior Stephens.

In the only other game between major league clubs, the Philadelphia Phillies nipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-7, in a six-inning contest called to permit the teams to catch a train. Lucky for the Phils. The Cards scored twice in the seventh to go ahead, but the Phils couldn't get in their time at bat, so the score reverted to the end of the sixth.

Major league teams broke even in four games with minor league squads. The Philadelphia A's stopped Greensboro of the Carolina League, 9-6, and the Chicago White Sox had to go 10 innings before whipping the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association, 10-9.

The world champion New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers weren't so fortunate. The Yanks dropped a 6-2 verdict to the Baltimore Orioles of the International League and the Tigers were trimmed by the Chattanooga Lookouts of the Southern Association, 6-3.

APRIL SHOWERS BRING CHEER TO FISHERMEN

By L. A. WILKE
AUSTIN. — April showers in many parts of Texas this week were adding enthusiasm to fishermen who are hoping all lakes and streams will be filled before summer sets in. Then Sunday is Easter, and it nearly always rains on Easter.

Fishing over last week end was pretty hot over all of Texas, according to reports. Minnows and worms were still the best bet, although some good catches were reported on plugs, and particularly top water plugs. This is an indication bass now are really spawning.

What floods could do to this spawn is problematical, but water still is most important. And if the entire spawn is destroyed, the Game & Fish Commission still produces enough fish to replant in every stream of the state.

In the 1950-51 annual report just issued by the commission, it shows there were 15,105,949 fish produced by Texas hatcheries during that period for distribution in Texas waters. Bass transplanted amounted to 11,088,971. Bream came in for second place with 1,920,833, while there were 1,445,453 catfish produced.

Most of the bass came from the Cisco hatchery, which produced 2,766,875. Brownsville followed closely with 2,245,630. The San Angelo hatchery produced 389,000 bass; 14,635 bream; 175 crappie and 41,560 catfish. In all this hatchery produced 452,370 fish, which placed it 10th place in production. Ingram and Huntsville hatcheries produced fewer fish.

Another interesting feature of the report dealt with the percentage of fish other than game in lakes and streams.

For instance in Lake Caddo, a survey by Biologist Bob Kemp revealed 68 species of fish found in netting. The dominant catch was 57.4 per cent of the total was gizzard shad. Long nose gar represented 8.6 per cent; river carp suckers 7.4 per cent and crappie fourth with 3.1 per cent. Other species, including bass, amounted to only about 4 per cent.

In Lake Austin fresh water drum was predominant in the nettings, with a catch of 74 per cent. Nettings in Travis showed 27 per cent of the catch as white bass. Fish tagging also is under way in these two lakes.

The Game & Fish Commission in Texas is a big business. During the 1950-51 period the total cash disbursements amounted to $2,624,447.14. However, it carried over a cash balance of $875,000,929.46.

Greatest revenue of the department was from the sale of licenses, with $1,427,811.74 from that source. Sale of sand, gravel and shell amounted to $640,499.14 with federal aid of nearly $100,000. Thus the department is self sustaining. Now it is operated with a commission of nine men, from various parts of the state who set the policies, in accordance with laws passed by the legislature.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Baseball can be a discouraging game at times. Where the hitters prevail, the pitchers usually get 'down in the mouth.' If the hurriers exercise their intended mastery, then the batters assume a Friday face.

That Cuban hurler, Lindbergh Chappoten—mentioned here before—must have wondered if the whole thing were worth the try recently when his employers, the Shawnee Hawks of the Sooner State League announced he had been traded, Shawnee got in return 20 uniforms.

The San Francisco Seals had their troubles in Pacific Coast League play last year.

A Texan, Bill Reeder (from Tyler) got them off on the 'right foot' this year, however, by limiting Portland to one hit as the Seals won the opening day game, 2-0.

Fred Herrington, who played high school athletics here, is a candidate this season for the Alpine Junior Cowboys baseball team, Herbert Kokernot's club. Fred ordinarily plays first base but can patrol outer pastures.

Langford Sneed and Harold Phelan, who performed nobly for the Levelland basketball team against Big Spring last season, are headed for the University of Texas.

Both are stellar gridgers.

The Stuver, who used to play some fine football for Texas Tech, is patrolling center field for the Berger Gassefs of the WT-NM League. However, he'll go to a Class D league (probably the Sooner State) for further seasoning.

Pat Stasey, the Big Spring baseball boss, found no time to further his physical conditioning while in Cuba because he spent practically all his waking hours there arranging for visas for his players.

Incidentally, Pat's good right-hand man, Bertie Baez, is apartment hunting. He wants to bring his wife and baby daughter here from Cuba, if he can find a place for them.

Baez says he thinks Mike Fornielas will not only rate the Havana ball club this year but will probably be the best hurler the Cubans have. Says Mike is an even better hurler than he was here last year, if that is possible. Stasey goes even further in saying that Fornielas perhaps could earn his keep with the Washington Senators. He might, at that, considering the fact that Raul Sanchez is going so well with the Sens.

Don't cry over the fortunes of Teddy Williams, who is being recalled by the Marines. They say he'll be paid all that fabulous check ($100,000) by the Boston Red Sox, even though he goes into service May 2.

BRONCS ON ROAD

Ticket Drive Is Set For April 17

The ticket drive of the Big Spring Broncos, which is planned and will be staged by a group of local business men, will be conducted Thursday and Friday of next week, it has been announced.

At that time, fans will be offered blocs of ten ducats at a savings. The tickets, good for any game during the 1952 Longhorn League season, will sell for $7. Regular price for the pastebards would be $7.40.

The drive is being staged to insure the club a good start in the league race. Last year, the Broncos experienced rocky financial going in the early stages of the race because attendance did not pick up until well into June.

The Broncos are shooting for an overall attendance of 60,000 this year. Last year, the team drew 43,370 paid attendance and had trouble making ends meet.

Big Spring goes on the road for two games this weekend, meeting a vastly improved Sweetwater club in Sweetwater Saturday night on Sunday, the Cayuses show in Abilene.

The locals won't see action again here until next Thursday night, at which time they tangle with the powerful Brooke Medical Center of San Antonio. On Friday night, they tangle with Midland there and then host Abilene in their final exhibition game Saturday night.

Mays Must Go Into Service

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 11 (AP)—Willie Mays lost his last appeal to Alabama state selective service headquarters.

The young New York Giant centerfielder must report for induction into the armed forces May 17. State Selective Service Director James T. Johnson announced that ruling yesterday, after turning down Mays' request for deferment because of dependents. Mays' home is in Birmingham.

Mays, who will be 21 May 6, says he is the chief supporter of four of his nine brothers and sisters, an aunt who reared him, her daughter and two of the daughter's children. His stepfather is unemployed.

"He simply doesn't meet the requirements for a dependency deferment for reasons of hardship," Johnson said.

To be excused under the dependency requirements, Johnson said, a man must:

1. Be married with one child.
2. Be present in the home to look after the everyday needs of those claimed as dependents.

Sinton Lashes Aggies, 12-5

SINTON, April 11 (AP)—The Plymouth Oilers exploded in the sixth inning here last night to start a scoring spree that beat the Texas Aggies, 12-5.

Starter Ernie Johnson for the Aggies held the Oilers in check for five innings but blew sky high as the Plymouth team scored four runs in the big sixth.

Hurler Al Goodloe was greeted with a continuing barrage in the seventh and eighth innings that gave the Oilers their wide margin.

Yale Lary's three-run homer in the fifth had given the Aggies a four-run lead. Centerfielder Tex Farmer homered for the collegians in the ninth.

Heavy hitters for the Oilers included Shortstop Steve Rapach who had three for four including a double and a triple. Texas A&M 100 030 001—5 6 5 Plymouth 000 004 53X—12 9 2 Johnson, Goodloe (7) and Hamilton; Krause and Nordgren.

Brideweser Scraps For Regular Job

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—The latest of the candidates for the New York Yankee second base job is Jim Brideweser, Manager Casey Stengel said today.

But he said that he'd probably stick with his experienced infielders until Jerry Coleman enters the Marine Corps.

"If I decide who is going to play where when Coleman leaves," said Stengel.

Longhorns Hit Hard But Lose To Odessans

ODESSA — For the first time this season, the Big Spring High School Steers outfit an opposing team but all to no avail.

The Odessa Bronchos look advantage of ten bases on balls and three Big Spring misplays to defeat the Steers, 15-6, in a district game here Friday afternoon.

Big Spring nicked Joe Webster and Carl Schlemeyer for 11 assorted hits, including two each by Kenneth Fields, Bobby Hayworth and Raymond Gilstrap. Gene Gross did even better with the hickory for Big Spring, breaking loose with three blows.

Jim Payne hit a first inning home run for Odessa.

Frank Long held the Odessans fairly well in tow until the sixth, when the Bronchos broke loose for five runs.

Estimated 5,000 Votes Are Cast For Bat-Boys

The sports desk of the Daily Herald took on the appearance of a snowdrift today, the result of an overwhelming number of ballots cast in the Big Spring Bronchos 'bat-boy contest', which closed at midnight last night.

Winner of the balloting might be announced Sunday, but that is not assured. There is little telling how long it will take to count the votes. An estimated 5,000 votes were cast, most of them in the last three or four days of the contest.

Six boys are eligible for the title. They are Lewis Porter, George Peacock, Ben Richbourg, Kelsey Meek, LadeR Howell and Charles Saunders.

Monchak Has Rebuilding Job On Hands At Roswell

ROSWELL, (Sp) — With only three players, himself included, returning from last year's team, Roswell Rocket manager Al Monchak has had a major rebuilding job on his hands in Roswell's spring training camp in Pleasanton, Texas.

Lost from the 1951 edition of the Rockets are such outstanding performers as Dean Franks, Roswell's 30 game winner, Bobby West, rookie of the year who punched out a .359 average, and third baseman George (Gibby) Delles, the Rockets' fine third sacker who clubbed the ball at a .249 pace.

Though almost all of last year's team is gone, Monchak has come up with a good nucleus of proven veterans and a fine crop of rookies. His biggest problem at the present is a lack of limited service players. Only three are now in camp.

Along with Monchak, big Bill Cearley and Ray Hill, both outfielders, return this year. Cearley led the league in runs batted in last season and clouted the ball for a .356 average. Hill topped the circuit in triples and batted .310.

Monchak, Roswell's playing-manager second baseman, batted .311 last season.

Teaming up with him at shortstop is a little fireball named Hayden (Stubby) Greer, last year's manager of the Artesia Drillers. The veteran Greer, termed a "pro in every respect" by Monchak, has turned in consistent outstanding play at short in exhibition games this year and is hitting the ball well. Greer hit .331 last year.

Monchak has predicted that if he and Greer are "right" they will comprise the finest double play combination the Longhorn league has ever seen.

Three veteran pitchers head up Roswell's pitching staff. They include Robert Weaver, a righthander who won 18 for Erie, Pa. last year in a class C league, Jimmy McClure, a 13 game winner with San Angelo last year, and Ed Norton, just returned from service in Korea with the armed services. McClure is a southpaw and Norton is a right-hander.

The only limited service hurler now in camp is Jack Kirk, a left-hander who won eight and lost four with York, Pa., a last place club, in the class B Inter-State league last year.

And there are three fine rookie pitchers, one of whom may turn out to be the ace of the staff—Andres Alonzo.

Alonzo, a Panamanian, is making his debut in organized ball after 11 years of pitching in Central and South America in winter baseball against class AA and AAA American professionals. This 20-year-old righthander pitched and won a game in the Pan American World Series last winter.

The two other rookie hurlers who are looking up are Ronald Peterson, a righthander who Monchak says is the "classiest young rookie I have ever seen," and Robert Ward, a leftie.

Wayne Crawford, another limited service man who was a battery-mate of Kirk's last season, will probably handle the catching chores.

Other likely prospects on the Rocket roster include two big, fast, powerful rookies, Jimmy Davis and Lynn Gerber, at first base. Both are southpaws.

A rookie fielding marvel, Stewart (Whitey) Lehmann, has been very impressive in his performances in training games at second.

Two more rookies are in the battle for the third base spot. They are Dwight Cobb and Robert Stevens. Stevens has played three years of professional football.

Big Bill Jay and speed merchant Dan Morgan are the two rookies most likely to capture spots in the Rocket outfield.

They could have called it "Murder on State Street."

The House of Davids moved into town last night to do battle with the ambitious Big Spring Broncs and found themselves badly over-matched. The Cayuses prevailed, 20-2.

The Bearded Beauts from Benton Harbor, Mich., gave it the honest try but it was no use. After being contained for a couple of cantos, the homelings broke loose and began to rattle the boards. By the fifth inning, a body was taking his life in his hands to man defensive positions.

After seven innings of play, the arbiters elected to call it quits due to "cold weather." The skidding temperatures had cut the throng to about 500. It was just as well the men-in-blue felt merciful. The Davids were in over their heads and knew it.

Bertie Baez, Aramis Arencibia and Frank Fernandez combined to parcel out four hits to the guests. Baez looked particularly sharp in his three-inning stint. His No. 2 pitch crackled and popped.

Eight David boots helped to break the game wide open. The men in the whiskers couldn't seem to pick up a ball, especially in the latter stages of the contest.

The night's best lick occurred off the mace of Ricky Gonzales in the fourth round, raising little puffs of dust as it wanned a jig across the outfield dirt in its mad dash to the backstop. The speedy Gonzales had no trouble legging it all the way to third base.

The Davids halted proceedings momentarily in the fourth for their famed "pepper game." Manager George Anderson, an old hand at that sort of thing, was the start of the act.

FORESEES END OF BAN
DALLAS, April 11 (AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma University is confident the Big Seven Conference will drop its ban on post-season sports events.

Principals In Trade? There's still talk of a trade between the St. Louis Cards and the Boston Braves. If it does come, it will probably see Red Schoendienst (left) of the Cards and Earl Torgeson (right) of the Braves exchanging uniforms.

Longhorns Go To Abilene

The second annual Abilene Invitational Track and Field Meet, which Big Spring High School has entered along with 23 other teams, was to get underway at 10 a.m. today and continue on into the night.

Stamford, Brady, Abilene, Weatherford, Trent and Wichita Falls are among the favorites in the meet. Wichita Falls is the defending champion.

Big Spring may pick up some points in the relays, the middle distance races and the weights.

Garvin Beauchamp of ACC is the starter of the meet.

The meet, which is being held today rather than Saturday due to the Easter holidays, serves as a warm-up for the Regional Meets, which take place next week.

Zaharias Leads Houston Meet

HOUSTON, April 11 (AP)—Mildred (Babe) Zaharias had a five-stroke lead today as a field of ace women golfers began the second leg of the $17,000 Weatheravane Cross Country Tournament.

Louise Suggs and Betty Jameson were tied for second at 150.

The Babe posted a par 72 in a practice round on the 6,700-yard, 18-hole Brae Burn Country Club Course Wednesday.

Sixteen top women professionals and 30 amateurs are entered in the 144-hole competition. The tourney began at the Normandy Isle course at Miami Beach. After 36 holes here, the tourney will be completed with matches at Seattle and New York.

The winner of the match here will get $3,000. The winner of the overall tourney will receive $5,000.

Ponies Winners In Track Meet

FORT WORTH, April 11 (AP)—Texas Christian and Baylor fell to Southern Methodist for the second consecutive time in a triangular track yesterday.

SMU swept both varsity and freshmen divisions.

The Mustang varsity scored 92.3 points to 45 for runner-up Baylor and 33.7 for TCU. The Methodists took the freshmen division with 83 points. Baylor had 35 and TCU 31.

High individual honors were shared by Mustang hurdler Val Joe Walker and sprinter Buddy Goode. Each had 11 1/2 points.

SMU won an earlier meet with the Frogs and Bears at Dallas.

Robinson Will Hit Third For Bums

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Jackie Robinson still is slated to be switched from fourth to third in the Brooklyn Dodgers' batting order.

Manager Charley Dressen said today.

The change has been delayed, Dressen explained, because Outfielder Duke Snider has been hitting well at the No. 3 position.

"But Robinson can do more things with the bat than Snider," said Dressen, "and could be more valuable hitting third."

Elliott Is Ready

KANSAS CITY, April 11 (AP)—Bob Elliott, the New York Giant's newest outfielder, was expected to make his debut today against the Cleveland Indians.

Manager Leo Durocher said he would send Elliott into action immediately in the cleanup spot in the batting order.

LITTLE SPORT

Snead Favorite At Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 11 (AP)—The $10,000 Greater Greensboro Open, final event of the winter golf tour, got under way today with the usual alignment—Sam Snead against the field.

One 18-hole round will be played daily through Easter Monday over the 6,800-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course, a par 71 layout, before tournament officials get around to handing out the $2,000 top money.

The field listed, in addition to Snead, six other players who finished in the top 10 in the recent masters.

Tommy Bolt, Durham, N. C.; Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y.; Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif.; Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y.; were on the "premises" ready to challenge Snead.

Ex-Big Springer To Toss Out-Ball

A former Big Spring woman, now a television star in Houston, will throw out the ceremonial first baseball to open the Texas League season at Houston Saturday night.

She is Joy Mladenska, formerly Joy Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Lane of Big Spring.

She was invited to make the first pitch by Al Hollingsworth, manager of the Houston Buffs. The Buffs host San Antonio.

It will be the first time in the history of the club that a woman has made the first throw.

Dual Meet Set

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 11 (AP)—A dual track meet between Texas A&M and the University of Texas is slated here tomorrow night.

The Aggies, undefeated in team competition for the last two years, are heavily favored to come through with a victory.

Hunters Convene

HOUSTON, April 11 (AP)—Migratory waterfowl hunters from the East Texas coastal area will meet here Tuesday night, April 15.

Purpose of the meeting is for sportsmen to form a solid front in requests for zoning and season for duck hunting.

BERRA SPELLS DIMAG

Key Men Hold Flag Secret

NEW YORK (AP)—Each of the six top ranking contenders for the major league pennant has at least one key player who can settle the flag races.

Last year the dopsters predicted that Bobby Thomson and Monte Irvin would have to have big years for the New York Giants to win the flag. Both athletes had great years and the Giants did go on to win.

Heading this year's key men are Thomson and Bob Elliott of the Giants, Clem Labine of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Bob Lemon and Luke Easter of the Cleveland Indians, Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees, Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies and Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Thomson, who last year struck perhaps the most significant home run in baseball history, carries the heaviest load. Bob must assume the lead role now that Monte Irvin is sidelined with a broken ankle. That role proved too much of a burden for Thomson in 1949 and 1950 when the Giants unloaded their big guns—Johnny Mize and Walker Cooper.

Elliott, acquired from the Boston Braves earlier this week, must fill Irvin's shoes until Monte returns to action. The 36-year-old slugger is counted on to drive in the runs and hit the long ball that made Irvin the most valuable Giant in 1951.

Lemon, who had a so-so 17-14 record last year after three straight 20-game winning seasons, must have a big year for Clevelbanking all his pennant hopes on the young southpaw, who sparked the Phils to their first flag in 35 years—with 12 victories in 1950.

Stanky, making his bow as a big league manager, is the key to the entire Cardinal infield. If Eddie can play 100 games at second base, it would enable him to use Red Schoendienst, one of the most versatile players in the game, at either first, short or the outfield, whichever is in need of a blood transfusion.

George McDonald, a blind bowler, rolled four games in the ABC singles at Los Angeles in 1937 without any mechanical assistance.

Y League Is Being Formed

All persons and organizations interested in softball competition this summer are asked to notify the YMCA promptly.

Grover C. Good, general secretary of the YMCA, urged that all who are interested in having a team call by the Y office and sign up.

"If they will sign up and pay entry fees before April 25," he said, "we can organize the leagues and make arrangements for the playing field, referees, etc. so that league play might begin by the end of the month."

He asked that everyone intending to have a softball team—whether for the industrial or church league—file an entry with the YMCA as soon as possible.

We can make the division into leagues when we know how many teams are really interested," he added.

The YMCA offices are open daily except Sunday from 8:30 a.m. until late in the evening.

Plan To Put More US Workers Under Civil Service Due Fight

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON, (AP)—A roaring Senate argument has been fired up by President Truman's plans to shift more than 21,000 federal jobholders from political patronage status to civil service. Unless either the House or Senate kills the surprise move within 90 days, it becomes law under terms of the Government Reorganization Act of 1949.

The battle is expected to be decided in the Senate where since 1789 most senators have had the privilege of confirming federal officials "appointed by the President by and with the consent of the Senate."

The surprise reorganization plans submitted yesterday would apply to a long list of favorite political plums, including 21,438 postmasters, 64 United States marshals, 51 collectors of customs and a large number of other customs officials.

Some Republicans charged Truman with foreseeing a Republican victory in the fall elections and moving to blanket thousands of Democratic officials under civil service protection.

A veteran Democrat, Sen. George of Georgia, promptly announced his opposition and added:

"If the Senate has any respect for its responsibilities in selecting and confirming honest and efficient officials, the move will be defeated."

Strong support for the reorganization came from three younger Democratic senators, Monroney of Oklahoma, Moody of Michigan and Humphrey of Minnesota.

They previously had introduced an even broader bill that would also put federal district attorneys under civil service.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), who often knows what the Senate will do, said:

"I'm fed up with political patronage and I have little or no faith in bureaucratic government, which is the child of civil service. So I guess I will vote with the President."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Committee on Government Operations, which will handle the plans before a Senate vote, opposed them, saying:

"I think it's a mistake to let policy-making officials be selected by the Civil Service Commission without Senate confirmation."

The President, in his message to Congress covering the plans, said it was too great a burden on the President and the Congress to pass on all these appointments and confirmations, adding:

"Relations between the President and the Congress ought not to be complicated by the need for coming to agreement on the selection of a host of field officials in positions where policy is not made."

He said the plan would apply gradually over the next few years as terms of present officials expire, or the offices become vacant.

Truman said the plans cannot "rightfully be opposed on the grounds that they help or harm any political group."

Republicans, who have not held the presidency since 1932, violently disagreed.

McCarthy Asks Senate To Probe Sen. Benton Now

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Two members of a Senate Rules Subcommittee said today Sen. McCarthy's requested investigation of Sen. Benton will be handled just exactly as its investigation of McCarthy demanded by Benton.

The Senate voted 60 to 0 yesterday for the subcommittee to continue its inquiry into Benton's demands for ousting McCarthy from the Senate—but only after arguing for hours over what the vote would mean.

Benton is a Connecticut Democrat, McCarthy a Wisconsin Republican, and both are up for reelection this year. For months they have been locked in bitter dispute over McCarthy's Communist-in-government charges.

McCarthy himself urged the Senate to instruct the Rules Subcommittee to go ahead with its probe of him, but he coupled this with a resolution calling for an investigation of Benton.

The resolution included a fresh blast of charges against Benton. Benton said he would "cooperate to the full" in any investigation the Rules Committee decides to make of him.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.), and Sen. Hendrickson (R-N.J.), both subcommittee members, said that as far as they were concerned, McCarthy would be given a chance to testify at a public hearing and the subcommittee staff would check into the charges. This was the procedure followed on Benton's resolution.

Hendrickson said he felt the Senate's unanimous vote on continuing the McCarthy inquiry was a vindication of the subcommittee, but this viewpoint was challenged in a stormy debate that preceded the roll call.

The members, seeking a vote of confidence, asked their colleagues to vote against a motion discharging the committee from further investigation.

House May Adopt Morris Technique

By HARRY P. SNYDER
WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators today considered borrowing Newbold Morris' questionnaire technique in their probe of the Justice Department.

Chairman Chelf (D-Ky) of a Judiciary Subcommittee told newsmen some thought would be given to adopting the questionnaire devised by the ex-corruption hunter.

It was this questionnaire—through which Morris proposed to find out all about government officials' outside income, their gambling activities if any, and how many fur coats their families had acquired—that helped get him fired with dazzling suddenness last week.

Members of Congress could use it with impunity, since it normally takes a lot of voters and a lot of doing to fire them.

Morris, appearing before the subcommittee at an open session yesterday, said he thought it was a good idea, that it might help the Chelf group get a line on Justice Department operations.

While Morris failed to furnish any "leads" for the House probes, Chelf and Rep. Keating (R-NY) said they had learned something from his story of events leading up to his break with J. Howard McGeath, who was the Attorney General until he fired Morris.

President Truman, whom Morris has pictured as the only top government official in sympathy with his corruption investigation, severed McGeath from the public payroll within four hours of the Morris hounding. The President, however, has shown no inclination to get Morris' job back for him.

Asked in a radio interview last night if "the President threw you overboard to escape a possible revolt in his own Cabinet, Morris replied:

"I think that is probably a fair supposition."

He said that when the President announced on March 29 he would not seek re-election "that meant the end of presidential discipline on which I banked. That was my one weapon—the presidential power of disciplining people who would not comply with my requests for documents and information."

The subcommittee also heard Deputy Atty Gen. A. Devitt Vanech in a closed-door session and Chelf said he will be recalled for further testimony after the House returns from its Easter recess, April 22.
