

Jack Smith To Speak At Citizenship Meet

Jack Y. Smith of Big Spring, personnel director and safety engineer of Cosden Oil Corporation, has been added to the list of speakers for the Amarillo Citizenship

Conference for high school seniors. The conference will be held in the City Auditorium in Amarillo Wednesday, April 2. His career with the Cosden organization began in 1931 when he began traveling from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene to Big Spring to play on Cosden's basketball and baseball teams. He went to Big Spring in 1933 and became a leader in the Cosden tank car department. He was made personnel manager and safety engineer in 1943.

Checkup Due On Secret Reports Of Soviet Power

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Preparedness Subcommittee plans to look at secret intelligence reports on Russian air power while reviewing the state of America's security.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said today unusual precautions will be thrown around the hearings, scheduled to open next Monday. However, while some witnesses will be heard behind closed doors, he said others will testify in public.

The inquiry is one of a series planned by the subcommittee, which often has been sharply critical of the Pentagon and civilian defense agencies on grounds they have been slow and wasteful in erecting defenses against possible Communist attack.

Announced goals of the study are to determine how the U. S. compares with Russia in quantity and quality of war planes, and how the coming months and years may change the picture. Johnson's group has questioned whether defense planners were justified in postponing until 1953 and 1954 production goals which earlier had been set for 1952 and 1953.

The aircraft study, Johnson said, will be followed by surveys of U.S. production of tanks, electronics devices and other materiel.

32 Texas Defense Facilities Granted U. S. Tax Write-Offs

DALLAS, March 25 (AP)—The National Production Authority announced today rapid five-year tax write-offs have been granted for 32 Texas defense facilities.

They are designed to encourage construction or expansion of defense facilities by permitting builders to depreciate them, for tax purposes, in a much shorter period than the law otherwise allows.

Don't Call Him General; Buck Or Pete Is Better

By TIM PARKER
 WITH AGGRESSOR FORCES IN EXERCISE LONG HORN, March 25 (U.S. Herald)—"Don't call me general, call me Buck or Pete. You want to get me captured?"

The thin line of men in strange green uniforms you have never seen before walked cautiously toward the village of Kemper. They were several miles inside "U. S." territory.

"General, I mean, er... Buck," said the sergeant, "they claim they've blown up this bridge, but the umpire hasn't ruled on it yet. We had men here, but they claim they blew it up."

"Don't call me general," said Brig. Gen. Joseph P. Cleland, 50 of Omaha, Neb. The white-mustached general is assistant commander of the 82nd Airborne Division—the aggressor forces in exercise Long Horn which began today.

Exercise Long Horn is the biggest joint Army-Air Force maneuver in U. S. history. About 115,000 men are involved.

But it's hard to get grown men, many of whom have seen real war, to take with full seriousness the mock war which began at 12:01 a. m. (CST) today.

In a few minutes the general's enlisted aide, Sgt. 1-c Carl Larimore, Alvarado, was calling his boss "general" again.

"Everyone in this division is a volunteer," said Col. Ted Sanford of Palo Alto, Calif., commander of the 45th Brigade. "That includes our doctors, dentists, even our mechanics, and we're all jumpers."

Col. Sanford's outfit is actually the 504th Airborne Infantry Regiment, but each unit among the aggressors bears a fictitious name.

Among prisoners taken as the invaders moved through the night were three men in a jeep. They turned out to be M-Sgt. Edwin M. Meredith, Augusta, Ga.; Cpl. Richard Doll, Lebanon, Pa., and Cpl. Travis A. Tarrant, Oak Ridge, Tenn. They were highly indignant.

"We were just coming back from Lamprosas, where we picked up Cpl. Tarrant who is getting back from emergency leave," explained Cpl. Doll. "Those were our orders."

Nevertheless the men were closely searched and a number of maps taken.

One stubborn U. S. Jeep driver stormed down the highway through aggressor road blocks completely ignoring fire (blank) from men trying to block the way.

"Aw, that ain't fair," came a Brooklynese protest from the darkness. "He oughtn't to have done that. That just ain't fair."

NECESSARY TO EQUIP 50 EUROPEAN DIVISIONS

Army Units, Including National Guard, Must Turn In Equipment For Pact Units

By C. YATES MCDANIEL
 WASHINGTON (U.S. Herald)—Army units in this country—including the National Guard and the reserves—must turn in thousands of tanks and other vehicles to meet U. S. priority shipments to the Allied build-up overseas.

The Army disclosed the equipment levy after Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday that priorities drawn up at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters already are guiding the allocation of equipment by the U. S. military services.

The Army is carrying the burden imposed by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization decision to equip 50 combat-ready divisions in Western Europe by the end of this year.

The turn-in order applies to all Army units in this country, the Army said. An official source said the brunt of the levy will be borne by the reserves and the Guard.

The Marine Corps, which uses much the same heavy equipment as the Army, also will contribute military vehicles.

Neither the Navy nor the Air Force is expected to have to take any equipment from their active or reserve units.

In a statement replying to questions on the subject, the Army said the levy was ordered to speed the delivery on equipment "to our own forces overseas as well as those of our allies."

Officials interpreted this to mean that the bulk of the equipment taken from units at home would go to the allies. A small portion is known to have been earmarked to replace tanks and vehicles worn out by American combat use in Korea and training in Europe.

The Army's official reply to questions was made available only after it had been revised by the Defense Department. The final version said the delivery schedule called for priority shipment to forces already engaged in hostilities, "as in Korea and Indochina, or who are most likely to be engaged in the event of aggression elsewhere."

The Army plans to substitute older, World War II type equipment as soon as possible so that most reserve and National Guard units will be equipped for summer field training.

$25 Million Total Arkansas Damage

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (U.S. Herald)—Arkansas totaled up a 25-million-dollar damage bill from Black Friday's vicious tornadoes as the living began the task of rebuilding.

Gov. Sid McMath said last night that the damage estimate was derived from a survey of the state.

Arkansas was the hardest hit of six southern states struck by tornadoes, storms and flood last week end. There were 235 deaths and 1,100 injured in the six states.

In Arkansas alone, 129 persons were killed, 711 injured and 1,361 homes destroyed or damaged.

Relief operations, directed by Red Cross and Salvation Army workers, rapidly brought a semblance of order.

Arkansas cities that escaped damage sent truckloads of clothing, food and furniture to the destitute communities and thousands of dollars. The citizenry of Warren in Southeast Arkansas—hit by a death-dealing tornado in 1949—sent the cash contributions made to all their churches Sunday.

The Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation declared Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Missouri and Mississippi as disaster areas, opening the way for government loans to the storm victims.

Consumer credit restrictions also were lifted for all Arkansas persons in the affected areas by the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

At Judsonia—the White County, Ark., community that caught the full force of the raging storm—11 of 24 victims were buried in a mass funeral.

Pinay Pushes His Budget In France

PARIS (U.S. Herald)—French Premier Antoine Pinay today pushed an economized budget which levies no new taxes into the tax-conscious National Assembly.

Pinay proposed economies on almost all government spending except the four-billion-dollar arms program. The cuts would save 110 billion francs (320 million dollars). He estimated increasing yields from existing taxes would add about 60 billion francs (175 million dollars) to previous estimates of government income.

These two factors, Pinay said, would balance the budget without new taxes.

The Cabinet approved the balanced record-high budget of 3,780 billion francs ($10,825,000,000), as well as a Pinay proposal to cancel billions of francs in virtually uncollectable back taxes.

U.S. Worker Seen Digging Govt. Grave

LOS ANGELES (U.S. Herald)—The American workers will be the grave diggers of the United States' capitalist government, a defendant in the California Communist conspiracy trial has been quoted as saying.

Mrs. Loreta Starvus Stack, one of 15 defendants, made this remark in a speech accepting election to the state board of the Communist party in 1945, government witness Stephen Werch testified yesterday.

Werch also identified four other defendants as active in Los Angeles County party affairs: Dorothy Healey, Rose Chernin Kusnitz, Ben Dobbs and William Schneiderman.

Schneiderman, state party chairman, declared in 1946 that in case of a U. S. Russia war, there was "question whether the United States would get allies for aid," the witness said.

Miss Healey urged mass demonstrations at the Los Angeles City Hall to push various Communist Campaigns, said Werch, an undercover man for the FBI from 1944 on.

Appeals For More Border Patrolmen

WASHINGTON, March 25 (U.S. Herald)—The Immigration Service commissioner told Congress yesterday it is impossible to cover the Mexican border right without additional manpower and asked for more personnel.

Commissioner A. R. Mackey told the House Appropriations Committee the flow of illegal aliens from Mexico is a threat to national security.

He said the Immigration Service has an average of 715 officers on the Mexican border, providing 24-hour coverage by 73 two-man teams to patrol 2,000 miles of border.

The service asked about $1 million more for border patrol personnel during the 12 months beginning July 1.

Tribute to a neighbor

We'd like you to meet a neighbor on whom both of us depend.

He's the man who operates the service station in your neighborhood.

You depend on him to take care of your car, to supply you with products of high quality at reasonable prices. You expect, and get, from him more free service than from any other merchant with whom you do business; whatever you spend, he cheerfully cleans your windshield, checks your oil and tires, furnishes you with free battery water, and renders special services as you need them.

The oil companies depend on him as the independent merchant who distributes their products. He demands, and receives, continuously improved products with which to compete with his business rivals. He insists on reasonable prices that will move his merchandise in volume. His progressive attitude is one of the chief reasons why the oil industry has supplied you with better products at about the same prices over a long period of years.

It's a pleasure to pay this tribute to a neighbor, to thank him publicly for being such a friendly, dependable contact between the oil industry and its millions of customers. He is not on our payroll, but we couldn't do business without him.

Jerusalem has been destroyed many times and a dozen times before history was recorded. Abraham sought a city that was eternal. He found none save in the realm of the spirit of faith. "I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down." — II Kings 21:13.

O'Mahoney Amendment Can Only Delay Until The People Forget

After finishing the Japanese peace treaty, which was ratified last Thursday, the Senate's next order of business is SJR 30, better known as the O'Mahoney proposal on the production of oil in the marginal seas off the U.S. coast. The O'Mahoney resolution adds up to a delaying maneuver, to postpone final and definitive action on tidelands until public interest wanes, and by default the federal government can gradually take over what for more than 100 years in the case of Texas, has been an ironclad case of state ownership. His resolution would provide for an "interim" arrangement for a period of five years, during which the federal bureaucracy (Interior) would enjoy sole right to issue leases for oil development. During this five-year period the affected states would receive 37.5 per cent of all revenues derived from the marginal seas—marginal seas meaning from low-water mark to the three-mile limit. The remaining profits would be put in escrow, for later determination by Congress as to its disposition. The opposition led by Senator Connally will insist on adoption of the House-passed bill which would give the states undivided ownership of the land under the marginal seas, plus 37.5 per cent of mineral royalties from submerged land beyond the marginal seas. There is a bit of irony in a "state's rights" amendment which Senator O'Mahoney will offer to his own bill. This is designed to quiet the fears of all states that the federal government will eventually grab for mineral rights beneath all navigable waters within state boundaries. The O'Mahoney amendment renounces "any and all federal claims" to all such inland waterways. The irony is that the Article of Annexation specifically acknowledged Texas' rights to all lands under the marginal sea for a distance of 10.5 miles, so what would be a mere promise of respect for state rights to inland navigable waters amount to?

Bravery Is Non-Partisan, And Its Symbols Should Be So Classed

Mrs. Lee Becker is a Gold Star Mother living in Kalamazoo, Mich. Recently in accepting a medal awarded her only son who lost his life in Korea. Mrs. Becker criticized mothers who had returned their soldier sons' medals to President Truman. In accepting the medal she said: "I don't condone war. Nobody has more reason to hate war. But I can't stand to see people ridicule awards won by braver men." Of scores of letters and phone calls received by Mrs. Becker, slight commended her for every one who reacted unfavorably. One critical letter accused her of trading her son for a piece of metal. We can understand how a grief-stricken parent can feel bitterness over the loss of a son, but it seems to us rejecting any honors earned by him in the discharge of his soldierly duties is a poor way to express a personal grudge. Such recognitions of merit or valor are given to the men who earned them. They are given not by the President, who merely passes them along, but by the man's military superiors, duly authenticated by his comrades who witnessed the act of heroism. They are an expression of a grateful people's appreciation for service rendered without regard to political factionalism, either by the person to whom the award was intended, or by his superiors and comrades who sought thus to honor his memory. Mrs. Becker seems to think that rejection by the living of honors conferred upon the dead, accompanied by a fanfare of publicity, is in extremely bad taste, the net effect of which is to bring ridicule upon the ancient and honorable custom of recognizing and rewarding the brave. There is no partisanship in bravery. There is a universal democracy in death. Men who have made the supreme sacrifice are due a grateful nation's recognition and appreciation.

Taft's Leader In Wisconsin Is Worried About State's Primary

WASHINGTON. — Tom Coleman, the machinery manufacturer who has guided the destinies of the Republican party in Wisconsin for the past nine years, was walking on clouds up until two weeks ago. But the lines on Tom's mouth denote doubt and discouragement today. Tom is the top leader of the Taft and McCarthy forces in the Badger state, and the reason for his glumness is New Hampshire, Minnesota and New Jersey. Actually Eisenhower isn't running in Wisconsin. Not only is his name not on the ticket, but it can't be written in, as in Minnesota. Nevertheless, Tom is worried. The reason is that Governor Warren of California is on the ticket, and if Warren should poll a big vote against Taft—even though Warren doesn't win—it will look bad for Tom's candidate. Furthermore, the governor of California has made quite a favorable impression in the Badger state. The old La Follette Progressives are flocking to him. So are the Eisenhower Republicans. That's what especially worries the Taft backers. They know that the strategy of the friends will be to put as many votes as possible behind Governor Warren. They also know that if Taft can't poll an impressive victory in a state where he has Joe McCarthy, Chairman Tom Coleman and the state's Republican machine behind him, then the jig is about up at the Chicago convention.

Reading a batch of Messages to Moscow written by the school children of the United States, you can't help being impressed at the way the youngsters of today are thinking about foreign affairs and the problems of their nation. I well remember that I was of high school age when the Archduke Franz Ferdinand was murdered at Sarajevo in 1914, thereby touching off World War I. But the youngsters of my day had little realization of what was happening. Nor did they understand the events which followed. There was no interest, even in the

Even After Campaigns It's Doubtful People Will Have Clear Policy Views

WASHINGTON (AP)—Before the presidential campaign is over both sides will have flooded the American people with a river of words on foreign policy. The Republicans will represent the Truman policy as no policy at all or as a hasty patchwork to meet unexpected situations. The Democrats, of course, will defend it as thorough and thought-out. When the campaign subsides it's doubtful the people, drenched in the claims and counter claims, will have a much clearer picture of American foreign policy than they have now. A historian, examining this period a hundred years from now, may decide that what passed for a policy was truly a patchwork or that it was a good policy, indeed, but not well understood by all the people. If it's the latter, he may conclude the critics of the policy were far more active and effective in criticizing it than the Truman administration, including the State Department, was in defending and explaining it. Perhaps it is only a coincidence that at this moment the State Department has produced an 80-page document, called "Our Foreign Policy, 1952," to explain and justify American actions abroad under the Truman administration. It is not a brand new notion. The State Department says Truman himself first suggested such a document in 1949 and one similar to the 80-pager just was published by the department in 1950. There were 200,000 copies of the first one. The government printer will turn out 300,000 copies of the new one. For 25 cents they can be obtained from the Department or the Superintendent of Documents in Washington, D. C. Groups and organizations interested in foreign affairs, and in keeping abreast of them, will buy some of these but since there are only 300,000 copies, most of the 150 million Americans will never see them. The very fact that the President and Secretary of State Acheson thought it worth while, or perhaps necessary, to produce the explanation at all raises a question. Why haven't the President and Acheson been far more active, particularly on the radio and TV, in explaining to the people the foreign policy of the administration? Perhaps the fact that the President recently permitted a book about him—conversations and diaries and views on men and events—to be published is an admission he has not done enough to communicate with the people. Acheson certainly has been urged by some of his advisers, who watched the critics belittle him and his work, to go to the people on TV and present a case for himself and the foreign policy. Instead—and in spite of the fact that he won friends with his TV performance at the Japanese Peace Treaty signing in San Francisco—Acheson seems to have withdrawn into himself. Maybe the endless criticism has had that effect on him, since he is a sensitive man. But even his news conferences have become dull.

'Sip In Safety' Is Advice Trellis Mae Gave Wilbur

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—It was the evening of Wilbur Peeble's annual reunion with his old college chums, a stag affair. "I hope you won't be lonely," he said glibly to his wife, Trellis Mae. "I may be a little late." His wife looked at him in cold silence and held out a small bundle. "What's this?" said Wilbur, surprised. "It's your new drinking costume," replied Trellis Mae. "I made it for you myself, dear." "What in the world do I need with a drinking costume?" demanded her husband. "I got the idea from a newspaper article," purred Trellis Mae. "It told about a millionaire sportsman who took his drinks so seriously that he dressed for it like a Viking—in a horned helmet and a suit of chain mail." "What has that got to do with me?" he wanted to know. "Well, every time you come home from one of your college reunions you have a black eye, your clothes are mussed or torn or your shoes are scuffed," said Trellis Mae. "So I invented a safety drinking uniform for you." Her husband mutely unwrapped the package. Out came his high school football helmet, a suit of green coveralls, some heavy winter overalls and a pair of heavy leather gloves. Across the front of the helmet was a sign: "Sip In Safety." "I'm not going to take along this junk," Wilbur said flatly. "You are going to take it!" said Trellis Mae firmly. "And you're going to promise me you won't take a single drink without first putting it on over your regular clothes—or you're not leaving this house!" After half an hour of stirring debate, Wilbur stomped out the door—carrying the package under his arm. At 3:30 a.m., Trellis Mae was awakened by a pounding on her door. She opened it and saw a policeman holding the sagging form of her husband. Wilbur was wearing his overalls and coveralls and his football helmet. "Does this thing belong to you, ma'am?" asked the policeman. "Yes, I'm afraid so," sighed Trellis Mae. "Do you want me to sign for him, officer?" "No, just take him off my hands," said the cop. "He said he lived here, but I thought he was a prowler from Mars or something." Wilbur climbed with tired gratitude into bed. Trellis Mae lay wide-eyed and sleepless. "Well," she finally demanded. "I sure took a kidding from the boys when I first unwrapped the bundle," said Wilbur. "But after a couple of drinks they all wanted to wear the costume, too. I had an awful time getting it back from them when the party broke up." "It-in-a-m-m-m," said his wife. "I made such a hit with the boys, they formed a new drinking society," said Wilbur. "They told me to ask you to design another uniform for us—one not quite so heavy." "And what is the name of your new society, may I ask?" said Trellis Mae icily. "The Safety Sippers Club," answered Wilbur drowsily. "Our motto is, 'What You Sip Safely Can't Hurt You.'"

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP
Death came on this day in 1950 to Frank Buck, Texan whose big game hunting expeditions brought him world-wide fame. Born in Gainesville in 1884, Buck began his outdoor life early. He tried cowboying and, hobnobbing, and then in 1911 made his first expedition to South America. On later trips he visited Siam, Africa, Borneo, Malaya, India, New Guinea and Burma. In his thirty-eight years of hunting, Buck estimated that he brought back 100,000 birds, 65 tigers, more than fifty elephants and scores of pythons. According to the hunter's autobiography, "All in a Lifetime," he made his first big animal catch in true Texas fashion, lassoing a 25-foot python and using a tree for a snub. Animal dealer and zoo owner, Buck also wrote several books about his experiences on which were based a number of feature movies. One of these, "Bring 'Em Back Alive," produced in the early 1930s, gave him the nickname which stuck with him for the rest of his life. Two days after Buck's death in Houston, the director of the Forest Park Zoo in Fort Worth announced that a tiger most would be built there as a memorial to the hunter, who had always displayed a special interest in the striped cat.

State-Wide Meet On Crime Slated

Attorney General Price Daniel announced today a second annual State-wide conference on organized crime to be attended by the State's 315 prosecuting attorneys and other law enforcement officers. Daniel said he has invited every county attorney and district attorney in Texas to attend the meeting in Dallas April 16, 17, and 18. The first State-wide conference of prosecuting attorneys at Austin last year was attended by most of the State's prosecuting attorneys, and has been credited with helping to bring about new legislation and better enforcement of laws against organized gambling in Texas, Daniel said. The Kefauver Senate Crime Committee gave special praise to the 1951 conference in its final report. This year's conference in Dallas is jointly sponsored by the Attorney General and the Southwestern Legal Foundation at Southern Methodist University as a part of the annual Lawyers Week. Col. Robert G. Storey, president of the Southwestern Legal Foundation, and other business and professional leaders will join in the conference, discussing means to combat immorality in government, Daniel stated.

Sometimes We Can Be Just A Bit Too Hasty In Our Condemnations

There are times when it is neither sound nor sane to say of a "quitter" that he quit because he didn't have the courage to fight on, that he didn't have the guts to keep going. There are times when such condemnation comes too hastily, from too little real understanding. But this is the story of a "quitter," the story of a horse, a Thoroughbred named Humorist, who was better known to the English racing crowd as "The Quitter" until they learned the truth, that their condemnation had come too hastily, that they had spoken not from knowledge, but from their lack of it. Humorist was splendidly bred. A chestnut in color, he was a magnificently proportioned horse. He had intelligence and a wonderful disposition. As a youngster he convinced the men who worked with him that with his other appealing qualities, his easy-going manner and beautiful action, that he was a natural. The morning of the day of his first race he was as handsome a horse as a man ever saw in a stall, but that afternoon at saddling time he looked thin and weary and worn, and hardly at all resembled the Humorist of a few hours before. He was worried that afternoon, he was sweating and nervous. And this condition became the usual thing, race day after race day. Every care and attention was bestowed upon him, every kindness and consideration shown him, because in his morning magnificence and in his breeding it had been written that he should be a great winner. And time after time, in race after race, he did almost become a great winner. Away well from the barrier, in contest after contest, he would take the lead, and then again time after time, just before the wire was reached he would falter, give up the race, and drop back to finish in second or third or fourth place, and the people who went to the races called him "The Quitter." They said he didn't have the courage to fight on, that he didn't have the guts to keep going. But there was a great Irish jockey, Steve Donoghue, who liked the colt. Steve didn't know what ailed the handsome chestnut, but there was one thing of which the Irishman alone was sure—he was sure that Humorist didn't lack courage, it was bound to be something else. Donoghue took the colt in charge and worked with him and brought him up to the very finest condition. Humorist was pointed for one of the richest purses. That afternoon when it was time for the saddle he was sleek and spirited and wanted to play. Proudly he pranced to the post. This race was for a mile and a half. Few besides Steve Donoghue believed he had a chance to win. Hadn't he failed plenty of times before at shorter distances? And wasn't this race over Eglant's toughest uphill course, a course that had broken the heart of many a stouter horse? That race has been written into turf history as one of England's, as one of the world's greatest. Never did Thoroughbred horses fight such a battle—and Humorist, under the steady, loving hands of that Irish jockey, Steve Donoghue, had won it by a neck. Those who had called him "The Quitter" bowed their heads in shame. But this grand three-year-old colt had paid a terrific price to justify the Irishman's confidence in him. Not so long afterward a stableboy discovered a thin stream of blood oozing from under the door of Humorist's stall. They found the Derby winner dead. The owner ordered a post-mortem to determine the cause of the death, and it was learned that Humorist had been a victim of tuberculosis, that he had died from a hemorrhage of the lungs. Doubtless there had been times when he had suffered great pain as he approached the wire, and in fighting that pain he had shown more courage than any other horse in one of those races. But this isn't the end of the story of the post-mortem, because it brought to light the most amazing thing of all—Humorist had only one lung, and tuberculosis had eaten most of this one lung away on that day when Humorist met the best horses that England and Ireland and the Continent could offer, and had vanquished them all in that running of the famous Epsom Derby. By no standard should Humorist ever have been called a quitter. This was one of those times when too many people spoke too hastily, and then became ashamed. FRANKLIN REYNOLDS

Gallup Poll

Ike Leads Kefauver In Southern Trial As Taft Behind 'Coonskin'

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director, American Institute of Public Opinion. PRINCETON, N. J.—Could Senator Kefauver carry the South if he ran for President against General Eisenhower? How would Kefauver do against Taft in the South? From present indications, Eisenhower would nose out the Tennessee Senator in the South, but Kefauver would run well ahead of Senator Taft, judging from surveys by the American Institute of Public Opinion. Shortly before the now historic New Hampshire primary, interviewers for the Institute personally questioned a cross-section of voters in the 13 Southern states on the following question: "Suppose Eisenhower is the Republican candidate for President and Kefauver the Democratic candidate, which party would you like to see win?" The same question was asked with Taft as the Republican candidate. Here is the vote for the South as a whole: SOUTHERN VOTERS Eisenhower 47% Kefauver 41% Undecided 12% 100% Kefauver 55% Taft 30% Undecided 15% 100% which General Ike and Senator Taft were matched against President Truman in the South. The results are as follows: SOUTHERN VOTERS Eisenhower 62% Truman 30% Undecided 8% 100% Taft 46% Truman 42% Undecided 12% 100% The states included in the survey were: Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Cross-section surveys, such as those conducted by the Institute, are not to be confused with ballot-in-the-paper or post-card polls, in which an attempt is made to see that each segment of the voting population is represented in its true proportions. A representative cross-section must include the correct ratios of young and old, rich and poor, city dwellers and country folk, grade school, high school and college educated, men and women, etc.

Hydra Can Grow Into Full Animals

The Greeks of long ago had a myth about a monster called the Hydra. The story-tellers said that this monster started out with seven heads, but when one head was cut off, two others took its place. At length the monster was slain by Hercules. When a certain small animal was named in later times, it was called the hydra, in memory of the old myth. Often found in ponds, this animal has a strange power—if it is cut into pieces, each piece usually grows into a complete animal. As I said yesterday, the hydra is without any head but nerve fibers spread through its body. Sometimes, in tests, a hydra has been cut into two pieces and before long two new hydrias have developed. In other tests, three or four pieces have become three or four new animals. The hydra is smaller than your little finger, but it is one of the most interesting animals to be found in water. It is fastened to some object most of its life, but it can break away and move to another resting place. Sometimes a hydra moves by turning somersaults. After resting upright on the bottom of a pond, it starts to bend over. Its tentacles reach downward, and the lower end of its body rises. For a moment, it stands on its head—or might stand on its head if it had a head. Actually it rests on its tentacles. Then the turn is completed, and the little animal rises to an upright position. Hydrias have been placed in tanks and watched. If a tank has one end in sunshine, and the other in shade, a hydra is likely to make its way to the sunny end. It makes a strange sight when it turns over and over again to get to the position it desires. A hydra is lazy, and usually stays where it is anchored. It then looks very much like a plant. Its thin body is like a stalk. From time to time, on the side of the "stalk," a bud may appear. Within a day or two, the bud grows into a branch, and tentacles appear at the end of the branch. Then the branch breaks off, and there is a new hydra. Some hydrias produce eggs. These may hatch in a week, but cold weather makes the time much longer. Some eggs go through an entire winter before hatching in the spring. For NATURE section of your scrap-book. Tomorrow: Water Fleas. New Fabrics Place Accent On Texture

The excitingly designed and textured fabrics that appear in new spring coats, suits and dresses will make them irresistible to own, whether the plan is to sew a new outfit or select one already made.

Two interesting and distinctly different "faces" appear in these fabrics: the icy-smooth crackling feel in new silks and taffeta shantung along with the sponge-like springy textured wools, both in the smooth-surfaced group.

For contrast, there are ribbed, slubbed and nubby effects. It's a textured look that can be seen in a wide variety of tweed-like, linen-type cottons, sculptured fleeces and wool and rayon boucles.

In some new fabrics, striking effects are achieved by combining the smooth and the textured, as in a light sheer wool with a dark boucle check.

All new spring fabrics have a wonderful lightness of weight, no matter how fluffed the texture. This can be seen in a chiffon weight wool coating, woven in a loose weave with a nubby curled wool, a pebble effect without excess bulk and even wooly poodle cloth that appears in a much lighter version this season.

Oversized patterns, "blown up" versions of basket weaves, homespun and herringbones, make truly dramatic new-season fashions.

Unusual textures combined with practicality are the combinations of man-made Orlon with shantung, Dynel with acetate and viscose and rayon and spun nylon, shot through with gilt metallic yarn.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Cafe Curtains Are Made According To Material

By ELIZABETH HILLERY

Mrs. L. D.'s letter asks a question that many others have asked, too. "Can you send me a pattern for cafe curtains?" she writes. "I'd like to make the kind that are shaped rather than straight at the top." The only pattern that will help you, Mrs. D., is one for scallops, and it must be made according to the width of the curtain. Begin by measuring the width between the sides of the window frame, which measurement will be the width of the rod. Slightly less than twice this width is the best width for the curtain, — it hangs best if it is no fuller. Hem the sides of the curtain, turn down a top hem on the right side, then divide the top into equal sections, about five inches wide. Make a scallop pattern like the one sketched, with the scallops 1 1/4 inches from the top and as wide as each division mark, and stitch on the pencil line. Cut out the scallops one-half inch above the stitching and slash edges. Now turn the scallop facing back on the wrong side, press the scallops carefully and finish the hem.

LONG HORN

was crushed like an eggshell when its chute failed to open. The 82nd, aggressor force in this giant mock war, threw a Sunday punch at the U. S. force—the 47th Infantry Division on the front, the 1st Infantry in the rear and the 1st Armored in reserve.

Until one minute after midnight this was strictly a paper operation, but when the cocky parachute infantrymen hit the lazy Llamas, you couldn't tell it from the real thing.

The operation is as real as theory can make it and you can get the scope by this comparison: There are six divisions of U. S. troops fighting in Korea.

There are four on the maneuvers here. Lt. Gen. William Hoge, Fourth Army commander, is acting as maneuver director. The U. S. Forces are under the command of Maj. Gen. Hubert Gay, who led the 1st Cavalry in the first bloody charge of Korea. Maj. Gen. Charles D. W. Canham commands the 82nd and all aggressor forces.

Backing up the ground troops in this maneuver, which lasts until April 11, are the Ninth and 18th Air Forces.

In theory, the "aggressors" have made their way in sledgehammer fashion from landings on the Gulf of Mexico. They engulfed the Southern portion of the U. S. and in Texas now hold a line generally here in Central Texas to Bryan to the Gulf.

Did you get in on the moisture that fell this morning? No joke. We had precipitation, described by the Weather Bureau as a "trace of snow grains." It came in the early morning hours. Snow grains are miniature sleet or hail.

There are possibilities of showers this afternoon and tonight, the weatherman says, but beyond these there is no prospect of real rain in sight.

It will be a few degrees colder tonight, with a low of 40 degrees as compared with last night's low of 47, but tomorrow is predicted to be a couple of degrees warmer today.

Occasional blowing dust is expected this afternoon.

Mexico Riots Continuing

OAXACA, Mexico, March 25 (AP)—The city-wide shutdown of business and labor entered its fifth day today, grimly determined to oust the Oaxaca state governor. Townspeople and peons are feuding.

Business in this state capital of 40,000 closed down tightly Friday in protest against a new tax law. Seven persons have been killed. Almost none of the peons would be subject to such taxes.

A regiment of mechanized troops and 1,700 armed peasants brought in by Gov. Manuel Mayral Heredia sought to keep order today—the fifth day since rioting broke out in this city of 40,000.

The tax law was repealed after rioting began Friday—but repeal brought no quiet.

Machinists still clattered yesterday after city dwellers demanded the governor order the armed peasants out of town.

Grain Probe Seeks Influence Peddling

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators probed today for the behind-the-scenes story of an allegedly profitable grain storage deal, looking for any signs of influence peddling.

The Senate Agriculture Committee called Ardeis H. Myers, president of Midwest Storage and Realty Company, Kansas City, Mo. It wants to know how he and others leased government properties at Camp Crowder, Mo., for $1,000 a month and rented them back to the government for grain storage purposes for a reported 20 months' total of $382,201.

Sen. Alben of Vermont, ranking Republican on the committee, told a reporter:

"We're trying to find out how this deal happened to be engineered—how Mr. Myers and his associates came to get into it. We have been advised they had no prior experience in the grain storage business, and we will look into that, too."

"Among other things we want to determine whether influence peddling of any nature was involved."

Myers was scheduled as the lead-off witness for public hearings expected to run three days.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.) said eight witnesses, involved in the series of leases and contracts are expected to testify.

One of them is Harry Basley, who Sen. Kem (R-Mo.) said is a "leading Democrat in Southwest Missouri and a political and personal friend of Mr. Truman."

Kem told a reporter the testimony will disclose "some very peculiar circumstances" in the execution of the contract "of the surplus Army buildings at Camp Crowder."

The hearing results from charges made on the Senate floor by Sen. Williams (R-De.) that "the deals cost taxpayers thousands of dollars and netted big profits and salaries for the men who arranged them."

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, continuing a running feud with Williams over the Camp Crowder transactions, told the senator in a letter yesterday he was "utterly amazed" at Williams' charges that "fantastic" profits were made by private operators of the camp's storage facilities.

Brannan contended the Midwest Storage Company actually may realize only a little more than $42,000 for its entire operation. He said Williams had been "ignoring and 'distorting' facts in criticizing the department's storage of grain at the camp two years ago."

Chairman Ellender said committee investigators found that profits were not as large as Williams contends.

LEASE PLAN PENDING

Senate Debate On Tidelands Resumes

AP Special Washington Correspondent
 WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The Senate resumed its consideration of title to the submerged coastal oil lands today.

Advocates of state ownership of the off-shore property were prepared to argue for legislation which would surrender any federal claim.

Pending before the Senate is a resolution to provide for federal leasing of the oil and gas deposits. It would validate leases issued by the states before the Supreme Court decided the federal government has paramount rights to the submerged land.

Sen. Connally (D-Tex.), Senate sponsor of a House-passed "quit-claim" bill, was expected to propose that the Senate adopt the state ownership legislation as a substitute for the federal administration proposal.

The House-passed quit-claim bill would deed the states title to lands within the three-mile limit and give them 37 1/2 per cent of revenues from oil and gas developed on the continental shelf beyond the three-mile limit.

A group of 35 Senators is sponsoring a modified version, omitting any state claim to areas beyond state-fixed boundaries, usually three miles off-shore.

The Senate discussed the submerged lands question a week, then set it aside nearly two weeks ago for the Japanese Peace Treaty and other legislation.

Barkley Defends Our Korean Entry

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Vice President Alben Barkley said last night that the American people "face a fateful decision in this political year" and declared that the world must continue to organize for peace or civilization itself may be destroyed.

He spoke before 1,200 persons at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner launching the Democratic campaign in Wyoming.

"We are in Korea because we pledged our word in the United Nations to work for peace and oppose aggression—and we keep our word," he said.

Farm Pool Plan Meeting Opens In Paris Today

PARIS (AP)—Delegates from 18 nations gathered here today for their first conference on the proposed "Green Pool" of Western Europe's farm products.

As they met, American officials worried that the plan—French-proposed agricultural counterpart to the Schuman pool of coal and steel—might be used to shelter European farmers from the competition of others, "particularly Americans."

The 18 countries meeting here, who import about 30 per cent of what they eat from outside the area, spent more than five billion dollars of American aid funds for American farm products in 39 months.

The U. S. government already has endorsed the proposal, in principle, as a step toward breaking down trade barriers. The Americans just don't want to see any more barriers thrown up.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman has proposed that the West European nations create the single market for their farm produce—free of quota and tariff barriers.

prevent the starvation of 6,000 to 7,000 head of cattle. Snow was four feet deep on the levels with drifts as high as 10 feet. The Military Air Transport Service provided the planes, each capable of carrying about 100 bales of hay at a trip. Ranchers and cowboys aboard the plane directed operations. But the "haylift" wasn't marked down as a complete success the first few days because of adverse weather.

Maybe there are things worse than these dusts we've been having.

Riding THE GRUB LINE

County Agent Durward Lewter who has been out visiting cattle herds says lice are worse than he has ever seen them. He recommends immediate treatment, because, as he recalls feeding lice is a rather expensive and quite unprofitable program.

Lewter says he isn't sure just what is best, but he is willing to suggest BHC. Since he has available the very latest and most reliable information on how to get rid of lice, and give the cattle a better chance against the adverse weather conditions they face, it might be a good idea for cowmen to have a little powwow with him.

And don't conclude your cattle aren't lousy. Look them over again thoroughly.

Douglas Seeks US Power In Mid East

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Associate Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas believes the United States should concentrate on keeping Middle Eastern countries friendly to the West "instead of wasting our wealth in Asia."

Douglas, sometimes mentioned as a possible Democratic presidential candidate, told a Jewish charities appeal dinner last night.

"We are wasting our wealth in Asia. We are not doing any more there than just promoting communism. Why should we lose the Middle East by default to communism?"

He said, "Reactionary forces in Asia control the little people and the granaries which provide the daily bread for these peoples"

Kefauver Takes Favorite Role As Wisconsin Primary Nears

By JACK BELL
 MILWAUKEE, (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee today was in the position of being touted as a probable victor over President Truman in one primary and a possible loser to a presidential stand-in in another.

Kefauver, galloping across this wind-buffed state in an effort to corral its 28 Democratic presidential nominating votes, told this reporter he is having the "rare experience" of being listed as the favorite to defeat Truman in the April 1 Wisconsin primary.

At the same time, he conceded he has "a tough job" ahead in his attempt to best Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma in the Nebraska presidential primary on the same day.

Kerr is making a bid for the Midwestern support with the understanding he will withdraw if Truman decides to run again. Kefauver, who beat the President and won eight delegates in the New Hampshire primary, says he is in the race for the party nomination "to the finish."

Although the Republican battle between Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Gov. Earl Warren of California and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota was drawing top attention, Kefauver's one-man Democratic show was playing to large Wisconsin crowds.

He told a crowd estimated at nearly 1,000 persons at Racine last night that it would be against the law for him to say whom he would have in his cabinet, adding that "I have a long road to go before I can discuss that." This was in response to a question as to whether he would retain Secretary of State Acheson.

Kefauver's campaigning in Wisconsin was on something of a hit-and-miss basis, so much so that he came off without a shaving brush Mrs. Kefauver brought one along when she joined the candidate today.

Mrs. Kefauver branches out with an air trip to Northern Wisconsin later in the day in an effort to cover territory her husband hasn't time to reach before he shoves off again to Nebraska for a tour there.

Gov. Warren is regarded as something of a threat in the Republican contest here because of aroused interest in his presidential bid.

The California governor will return to the state tomorrow.

In the meantime Taft and Stassen are carrying on their campaigns full blast.

Taft told an Oshkosh audience last night that the Truman administration's foreign policies had "built up Russia to where it is the greatest threat ever to face a republic."

Earlier in an interview he disputed points made recently by Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, a possible Democratic presidential candidate, in defending the Truman man decision to intervene militarily in Korea.

Taft said it was "perfect poppycock" to say, as Stevenson did, that intervention in Korea sparked the rapid buildup of defense in Europe. He said that in Korea the Communist forces in effect have "shot the policeman and got away with it."

Stassen, at Dodgeville, fired an attack on former Wisconsin Gov. Phil LaFollette, one of Warren's delegate candidates, asserting that LaFollette was attempting to use the presidential contest to ride back into political power in the state.

SAYS CHUCK DRESSEN

Dodgers Ready To Deal Misery To Durochermen

By JOE REICHLER
MIAMI, March 25 (AP)—"I hope the Giants holler at us when we play 'em. Oh, how I wish they'd ride us. That'll only get us madder."

"I hear the Giants have been jolting about an all winter. When ever somebody would mention the Dodgers, they'd laugh. I hope they do some laughing to our faces. We'll give 'em something to laugh about, all right."

These were the exact words uttered by Manager Chuck Dressen, whose Brooklyn team, as everybody knows but still can't understand, blew a 13-game lead to the Giants in the final six weeks of the season. While these remarks are ample proof the '51 debacle still rankles deep in the breast of Dressen and his Flatbushers, they also indicate the Brooks are determined to wipe out the disgrace.

"I'm just praying that they ride Branca the first time he pitches against 'em," Chuck said. "Rabbi is just itching to get another crack at 'em. I'd love to have Branca pitch to (Bobby) Thomson again. He'd pitch him the same way."

"Casey Stengel threw a left-hander against him in the World Series with the situation exactly the same. Remember? The Yankees led, 4-1, runners on second and third, Thomson up. What happened? The guy just poured fast balls right down his gut and got him. That's just what Branca threw him. But he got lucky and hit a home run to beat us out of the pennant."

"So now they ridicule us. Okay, I tucked up some of those clippings in the clubhouse. I had the boys read 'em. We'll be waiting for 'em."

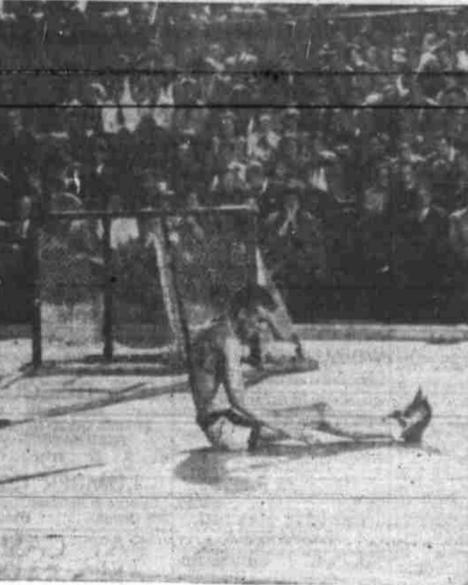

Dressen was bursting with optimism as he discussed his team's pennant chances. "Brooklyn will be a better club than last year once we get in shape," he said. "We opened camp set in every position. Actually, it is the same team as last year except that we got Andy Pafo right from the start."

"The pitching staff will be better despite the loss of Don Newcombe to the service. Clem Labine will take Newcombe's place. If he pitches like he did the last six weeks of the '51 season, he'll win 20."

"The Giants will be weaker because of the loss of Eddie Stanky and Willie Mays, but they are still the team to beat. They've got good pitching. If they had lost Sal Maglie like I lost Newcombe, they'd be in tough shape."

Dressen's starting staff will consist of Preacher Roe (22-3), Branca (12-12), Carl Erskine (16-12), Labine (5-1), Chris Van Cuyk (11-4 at Montreal) and John Rutherford (13-8 at St. Paul). Clyde King (14-7) will again head the relief brigade assisted by Johnny Schmitz, Clarence Podbielan and Rookie Ben Wade, (16-16 at Hollywood).

What Game Is This?

Bewildered Ernie Vandeweghe of the New York Knickerbocker basketball team surprisingly finds his game on ice in Madison Square Garden during the National Basketball Association playoff game with the Boston Celtics. The player, tied up with basketball action, flung himself off the wooden court (foreground) that was laid over, the Knicks won the game played on the slats, 101-87. The ice was prepared for a hockey game later in the day. (AP Wirephoto).

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Promoters of the Big Spring Relays must feel they're snake-bit. In the eight years the meet has been held, the weather has been fair but twice. Last Saturday, the lingering effects of a cold, windy snap that struck Friday made it a morning of agony for athletes, judges and spectators alike. The afternoon warmed up somewhat but overcoats still felt very comfy.

The carnival originally had been planned for April 5 but was moved back due to conflict with the district meet. There was talk of cancelling the show. Fortunately, the directors thought better of it. The meet is no good to drop, or even suspend, though it does seem to be cursed by the elements.

Henceforth, all prizes given in the Relays will be permanent. The ABClub, sponsor of the event, found it too hard to round up the three-year awards from year to year.

BASEBALL SEASON IS NEARLY WITH US

Baseball season is upon us. The Pacific Coast League season opens April 1, which is a week from today. Most of the major league teams which have been training in that area have already started East. The Chicago White Sox and the St. Louis Browns tangle in an exhibition at Alpine next Saturday.

COLISEUM WOULD HAVE SOME FINE TARGETS

There's talk of converting Memorial Coliseum in Los Angeles so that baseball can be played there. (The Coast league teams next year won't permit their parks to be used by major league clubs playing other big league outfits).

It would be quite easy to belt a home run in the Coliseum, if the ball were hit right down the line. Left field would be only 260 feet removed from home plate. (The foul run in the Polo Grounds at New York runs 280 feet and is considered very short).

Right field in the Los Angeles plant would extend 270 feet. Center field, of course, would need two fielders to patrol it. Left field here measures 322 feet down the line, center 380 feet and right 304 feet. Very few balls are ever hit over the right field barrier here because of prevailing winds.

Ty Cobb's remarks blasting baseball continue to be disputed by some of the fellows who have helped to write baseball history. Dizzy Dean looked over the opus and then is supposed to have said: "The old guy has heard them say he was the greatest ball player that ever lived and by now he's begun to believe it himself."

Stan (Bucky) Harris, the Washington skipper, let go point blank at Cobb after digesting Ty's remarks: "Why, Ty Cobb could not have carried the glove of Joe DiMaggio in center field. Cobb could not hit nor throw with the power of DiMaggio. Cobb was just a candy-armed outfielder and I can name you dozens whom a manager would rather have in there."

"Cobb was a great man offensively but defensively he was ordinary, and therefore not an all-around player." Here's Luke Sewell's comments on how tough Cobb was to handle: "I was a kid catcher with Cleveland and Cobb's first try for a stolen base was good. He kicked the ball out of the third baseman's hand. I caught him stealing the next seven times, and had no more trouble with him. All you had to do was to get set on the idea he was going to steal and he could be had."

Max Lanier Says Cardinals Will Be Tough To Handle

By ED CORRIGAN

Max Lanier, who toiled long and faithfully for the St. Louis Cardinals, looked over his old mates last week and predicted that with some pitching Eddie Stanky's men would be tough to beat.

He might have had the right idea. The Cards have played 16 Grapefruit League games, and their pitching staff has permitted the opposition just 47 runs for an average of 2.94. Except for the opener, when the New York Yankees scored 11 runs, the pitchers have not allowed more than six runs in any one game.

Yesterday's 1-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Phils was the fourth shutout turned in by the Cards. Willard Schmidt, a youngster who has been outshining Vinegar Bend Mizell, combined with the veteran Cliff Chambers to hold the Phils to two hits.

Schmidt has hurled 20 innings this spring without yielding a run. The Phils only hit off him in his six-inning stint on the mound was a hunt by Forrest Burgess.

Stanky teamed with Red Schoendienst at the keystone for the first time this spring. He pushed Schoendienst, the regular second

Prospects Good For Babe-Billy Golf Exhibition

DENTON, March 25 (AP)—Prospects were bright today that Babe Didrickson Zaharias, the great woman golfer, will meet Billy Maxwell of North Texas State, the men's National Amateur champion in a match here.

Fred Corcoran, tournament director of the ladies PGA, said at Miami, Fla., that Mrs. Zaharias had agreed to the match and that it probably will be played in Denton.

Corcoran and Mrs. Zaharias, who is in Tampa, Fla., will meet in New Orleans tomorrow to discuss details of the match which would be for charity.

The match grew out of a statement by Corcoran that some of the top women golfers could defeat the top men amateurs and that Mrs. Zaharias could win the National Amateur.

Fred Cobb, coach of North Texas State's golf team, proposed that the match be played in Denton after Odessa had suggested the match there in July. Maxwell lives in Odessa.

"It'll be a great event for charity," Corcoran said. "All we've got to do now is arrange the date. It'll probably be a short time before the National Amateur in September."

Wayland Winner In Fem Tourney

WICHITA, Kan., March 25 (AP)—Iowa teams pulled the upsets yesterday in the National AAU Women's Basketball Tournament.

Iowa Wesleyan College, one of two regular college teams in the tournament, dumped the highly regarded Atlanta, Ga., Tomboys, 58-30. The Van Zees of Okaloosa, Okla., defeated Wichita First Baptist Church, 62-23, and the Davenport American Institute of Commerce upset St. Joseph, Mo., Goetz, 48-29.

Defending champion Hanes Hoisley, Winston-Salem, N. C., was idle while last year's runner-up, Wayland College, Plainville, Tex., walloped the Kiowa, Kan., Conoco, 50 to 14, in a first round tilt.

Other Monday scores: Jackson, Miss., Magnolia 64 vs Virginia Beach, Va., Demoneers 26; Columbus, O., Dickersons 38 Cabot, Ark., 33; Denver, Colo., Viners 29 Jacksonville, Fla., Pepsi-Cola 30, and the Kansas City, Kan., Dons 45 Omaha, Neb., Commercial Extension 29.

The tournament continues through Saturday.

Local Linksters In Odessa Meet

The Big Spring High School golf team, unbeaten in two starts to date against the toughest kind of competition, will compete in a one-day meet at Odessa this weekend.

The meeting is being held in conjunction with the West Texas Relays and is attracting the top school-boy teams in West Texas.

Hatton Looks Good At Keystone Sack

TAMPA, March 25 (AP)—Manager Luke Sewell believes he may have found the second baseman for his Reds — Grady Hatton, his third baseman.

Hatton has been a second in spring training. Sewell said, "Grady can't miss developing into the best all-around second baseman the Reds have had since Lonnie Frey. He looks like a natural at second."

Morrison Defeats Washington, 18-8

Kate Morrison's Fifth Graders belted Washington Place, 18-8, in a Grade School Softball League game played Monday afternoon.

Marin toiled on the mound for Kate Morrison and Corres caught while Moger and Fields served as the battery for Washington Place.

TOURNEY HAS RECORD GATE

The Big Spring Girls' Volley Ball Tournament, held recently, ran true to form in that it showed a profit.

In fact, the meeting played to record crowds and to a record gate.

The net return amounted to $828.23. The gross gate was $1,227.77 while expenses came to $399.54.

The tournament attracted 23 teams and extended over three days and nights.

Illinois, Kansas Favorites In Playoffs At Seattle

By JACK HEWINS SEATTLE (AP)—The tall men from the Illinois tall corn country and the Lovellette-led powerhouse from Kansas are rated as heavy favorites to survive tonight's semi-finals of the NCAA Basketball Championships.

But St. John's University's Redmen from Brooklyn, who twisted the tail of the Kentucky Wildcat in the regional playoffs, were quietly present and not conceding a thing. They'll tangle with the fighting Illinois in the opener.

Two hours later Santa Clara—even more the underdog than St. John's—will try to take the measure of the Kansas. Those Jayhawks measure pretty big, especially Center Clyde Lovellette. At 6 feet 9 he's the largest thing in or out of the tournament.

Coach Bobby Ferrick of the lightly regarded but frisky Santa Clara Broncos, had but this brief prediction for the press: "We'll show up."

Frank McGuire of St. John's was just as cautious. He said that before his team met Kentucky Saturday night in Raleigh, N. C., he "had a feeling something would happen."

Both Harry Gombes of Illinois and Dr. F. C. (Phog) Allen of Kansas were reluctant to say anything that might indicate they expected to trounce the darkhorse teams. Allen put it for both when he said, "I know we're meeting an inspired club. I hope we're ready."

He was careful Monday that no prying eyes should see just how ready his Jayhawks were. The team, which has won 28 and lost only two up to now, took a secret drill in the University of Washington pavilion. Allen stationed guards at all entrances.

The other teams also took short workouts—but with little secrecy—on the court which will rock tonight and Wednesday with the whoops of 11,200 fans. The big

Amateur Champ Won't Turn Pro

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—The king of the nation's amateur heavyweights, Norvel Lee, has boxing's gold at his finger tips but wants no part of it.

The young gladiator from Washington, D.C., winner of three straight inter-city Golden Gloves bouts and twice national AAU champion, said today he has no intention of turning professional. He wants to join the FBI.

Lee outpointed the highly rated western heavyweight—Ed Sanders of the San Diego Marine Base—last night at Madison Square Garden but failed to prevent Chicago from beating New York's team in the inter-city bouts, 9 to 7.

Chicago pulled off both a lot of science and a lot of powerful punching to beat the New Yorkers before a crowd of 11,384, breaking a four-year deadlock. The Westerners, who go to Europe April 15 for an international match, won four championship bouts and five of the eight in the alternate division.

Chicago winners in the championship division were James Hairston, 118, Ken Davis, 126; Isaac Vaughn, 135, and Carl Blair, 160.

New York's champions were Jackie Spurgeon, 118; Ernest Anthony, 147; Floyd Patterson, 175, and Lee.

Netters Planning Trip Next Month

The Big Spring YMCA Volley Ball Club, which competed in a tournament at Dallas last weekend, are planning more trips.

A mid-April expedition will take them to Wichita Falls for a game with that city's sextet. Other games will be booked with outside competition.

The Big Springers succeeded in winning two games in the Dallas meet last weekend. The Dallas Downtown YMCA won championship laurels.

Members of the local club included Bill Bell, Frank Hardesty, Wofford Hardy, R. H. Weaver, Dr. T. J. Williamson, Grover Cunningham, Pete Cook, Doc Hardy and Blondy Chrane.

STEERETTES SEEK 19TH VICTORY THIS EVENING

Ablene's lasses come to town this evening for a return volley ball game with the Big Spring Steerettes.

The scene of action will be the new high school gymnasium, the starting hour 8 p.m.

Big Spring will be seeking revenge for a defeat suffered in Abilene recently at the hands of the Eagles. The Steerettes are in better shape now than they were for that one and want this one desperately, since it is the last home game of the season.

Too, Coach Arsh Phillips is back following a siege of the flu. Arsh was bed-ridden when the Steerettes went to Abilene and the club's morale suffered for it.

Tonight's game was originally booked for Friday night but was moved up due to conflicting programs at the school.

Probable starters for Big Spring tonight include Rose Rice, Elouise Carroll, Nell Glover, Mona Lee Walker, Charlene Wilson and Sue Dennis.

The locals' record shows 18 wins against three losses for the year. The reversals have been at the hands of Monahan, Lamesa and Abilene. The Steerettes have won tournament championships at Lamesa, Grandfalls and Sweetwater.

The Big Springers compete in the district tournament at Odessa on April 5.

Dusters Launch Baseball Work

VERNON — Baseball workouts began for the Vernon Dusters here Monday.

The Dusters have less than two weeks to work before their first exhibition game of the season, an April 5 outing with the House of David in Vernon. The Dusters meet the eBauts again on April 6.

The Vernon infield this year probably will be composed of John Reimold at first base, Armando Hernandez, second; Pompey Carreras, shortstop; and Leon English, third.

Reimold and English were with the Dusters last year while Hernandez and Carreras are up from Cuba.

AAU Fight Champs Named In Dallas

DALLAS, March 25 (AP)—Twenty champions were crowned last night in the finals of the Southwestern AAU Boxing Tournament with two Golden Gloves champions adding new crowns to their belts.

Warren Gregory and Butch Jones had triples for the winners. Doyle Cruise and Charles Engle were others who looked to advance for College Heights.

College Heights trailed, 1-0, until the seventh inning when it rallied for 13 runs.

Coahoma Plans Cage Tourney

A basketball tournament for independent teams of the Big Spring area will be held at Coahoma, starting Thursday night and continuing through Saturday.

Sponsors of the meet is the Coahoma Girls' Softball team. Net proceeds will go toward the purchase of uniforms for the team and other expenses.

Ten games are scheduled, with four set for Thursday, four Friday and two Saturday.

Pairings for the tournament will be announced shortly.

Leo Says Davey Williams Ready

PHOENIX, March 25 (AP)—Glant Manager Leo Durocher today issued his first public statement on who will play second base.

"Davey Williams will open and there's nobody even close to him," said the skipper.

Williams hasn't been hitting so far, and is not regarded as a top man at the plate, but this shortcoming apparently isn't bothering Durocher.

Snead Forfeits Golf Playoff

By F. T. MACFEELY JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Doug Ford's first big golf victory—the Jacksonville Open title—was assured when Sam Snead forfeited their 18-hole playoff.

Ford, 28-year-old Harrison, N. Y., professional, and Snead, 37-year-old Ryder Cup team and captain and PGA Tournament champion, tied for first place at 280 when the 72-hole tournament wound up yesterday.

A playoff was scheduled for this afternoon, but Snead announced he wanted to relinquish claim to the top $2,000 to Ford and take second money of $1,400.

Snead said he was reluctant to take the first-place tie on the strength of a ruling in his favor on an out-of-bounds shot in Saturday's second round of the tournament.

The veteran slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., said, "I don't want anybody to think I am taking advantage of the ruling," and insisted on forfeiting.

This victory was the biggest of career.

Dave Douglas, Newark, Del., pro, finished at 283 for third place and $1,000.

After winning four straight tournaments, Jack Burke, 28-year-old Texan, finished out of the money at 293. But he still held first place among money winners for this year with $8,720.

Falcon Power Dam Completion Sought

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The U. S. section of the International Boundary Commission working along the Rio Grande has asked Congress for $11,756,500 to bring near completion the Falcon Reservoir and Power Dam.

It also asked two million dollars to get started on the proposed Anzalduas Diversion Dam.

The testimony made public today showed some members of the House Appropriations Committee expressed doubt the Anzalduas Dam project has been legally ratified by Congress and that it is proper to build in the face of emergency shortages.

Both dams fit into a Lower Rio Grande flood control, irrigation and power generation project approved in general by Congress in 1932 and 1935. Mexico shares in the commission's work. William P. Hughes, budget and finance officer for the U. S. section of the commission, said congressmen "relations with the Mexican section... have remained in complete harmony and the constructive solution to many troublesome problems of the border area are being achieved."

He said it is expected the Falcon Dam will be completed by November, 1953. It is the largest and farthest south of a series of international dams along the Rio Grande authorized in a U. S.-Mexico Water Treaty of 1944. Work is now about 45 per cent complete. Hughes said.

Hughes also asked for $300,000 for survey work in the Big Bend area of Texas to locate the site of another proposed dam. He said surveys so far had narrowed probable sites to the area between Santa Helena Canyon and the mouth of the Pecos River.

The Anzalduas Diversion Dam would be on the Rio Grande near Reynosa-Hidalgo, Tex. Hughes said the dam would cost over five million dollars with the U. S. paying an estimated $3,472,000 including runways for excess water.

Farm Policies Change Debated By Government

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—Disappointing crop planting prospects have raised the question of whether the government should change some of its farm policies to encourage greater production and to conserve supplies.

An Agriculture Department survey last week indicated crop acreage will be smaller than last year, despite Secretary Brannan's call for larger plantings. Brannan said the survey points to a "serious" livestock feed situation which is likely to result in smaller supplies in meat, eggs and milk.

Farm circles have been debating possible steps to get a larger acreage. Concern over declining farm prices and labor shortages were said factors holding down planting plans.

Suggestions being discussed by farm leaders in and out of government include:

1. Higher farm price supports. Most items have government price aid supported at 90 per cent of parity. Brannan is opposed to higher supports. There is talk of possible congressional action boosting support rates.

2. Removal of ceilings or threats of ceilings from farm products. The American Farm Bureau Federation price controls are discouraging production.

3. Extending price supports to hogs. They have not been supported since 1950. Prices have dropped to 80 per cent of parity—a level at which many farmers say they cannot make ends meet. As a consequence, production prospects are down.

Those advocating hog supports point out hogs consume the bulk of the corn supplies. They say there is an incentive to grow corn only when hog prices are good.

Brannan refuses to support hogs because he dislikes the method available to him—government purchase and removal of pork supplies from the consumer market. He says it would result in losses and waste. He would support hogs if he could use production payments, but Congress has turned thumbs down on this.

4. Deferment of more farm youth from military service to ease the labor situation.

5. Reduction of exports of grain.

6. Halting sale of government-owned grain and holding it for possible future emergencies.

The latter action might well cause corn prices to go up considerably—a development which would be frowned upon by anti-inflation officials. As long as government grain is available, it exercises a stabilizing effect on prices.

Whether any policy changes will be made is uncertain. But to influence spring plantings, any made would have to be announced soon.

NEBRASKA VOTES SOUGHT BY TAFT AND IKE FORCES

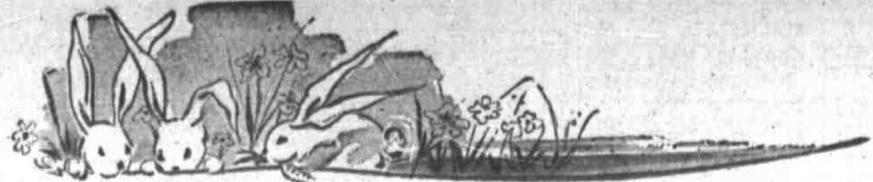

OMAHA (AP)—The Nebraska presidential primary election campaign was livelier than ever today with Republicans joining the Democrats in making a scrap of it.

Write-in drives from Sen. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Eisenhower put some heat into the GOP campaign.

Harold Stassen and Mrs. Mary Kenney of Lincoln, a MacArthur supporter, are the only formal Republican entries in the April 1 presidential primary. Stassen backers said he probably wouldn't visit the state.
