Texas Delegates Take Dispute To Committee

Credentials Group Is Hearing Appeal

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—Chairman Ross Riskey of the credentials committee said today "there is talk of a compromise" of the Taft-Eisenhower dispute over 38 Texas delegates to the Republican convention. He made that comment to reporters during a committee recess of its hearings on the Republican National Committee's finding that gave 22 votes to Taft and 16 to Eisenhower.

By JACK BELL

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, July 9 (AP)—Rival Texas delegations this morning began laying their claims before the Republican National Credentials Committee in the bitter contest as to which group will get the bulk of the Lone Star State's 38 seats.

The way for the hearing of the Texas contest was cleared when the backers of Sen. Robert A. Taft yielded 13 contested Louisiana seats to the Eisenhower forces.

On one side was a Texas delegation headed by Henry Zweifel. It lined up with 30 for Taft, 4 for Eisenhower and 4 for MacArthur. The other delegation, led by Jack Porter and Alvin Lane, lists 33 for Eisenhower and 5 for Taft.

The national committee, which had first crack at the contests last week, followed a suggestion from Sen. Taft and split the Texas votes 22 for Taft and 16 for Eisenhower. This decision was carried on appeal.

Lesmar Cecil of Beaumont made the opening statement for the Porter faction.

"The real issue is the honor and integrity of the Republican Party," Cecil said. "If this committee recognizes the injustice done to Texas Republicans, the infamy of Mineral Wells will be wiped out and the party can go before the people in November with clean hands. We will show you the scheme that resulted in the disenfranchisement of thousands of Republicans."

Mineral Wells was the site of the party's Texas state convention in May.

Lane argued there were 964 delegates at Mineral Wells but 500 of them were arbitrarily disqualified by the "Zweifel-dominated state committee."

"Zweifel caused bogus contests to be called against 500 delegates," Lane said. "Every contested Eisenhower delegate was thrown out."

"Zweifel planned and perpetrated this plot. They admit they were outvoted at the precincts but they claim the delegates were overnight Republicans."

Lane said there is no registration law in Texas but that Zweifel's state executive committee had ordered his (Zweifel's) precinct chairman to "screen the voters."

Lane said there was no evidence at Mineral Wells that the voters had acted in bad faith. He stated most Republicans vote Democratic for state offices in Texas because Republicans cannot get elected to state offices there.

"That does not mean these Republicans are Truman Democrats," he said.

"How did the Zweifel group know they were Democrats?" Lane asked. "It was absurd to throw out 75,000 votes on trumped-up charges."

Lane concluded: "Everyone in Texas knows we voted more than 2 to 1 in favor of our favorite son, Ike Eisenhower."

Mrs. R. H. J. Osborne Jr., Porter-Eisenhower delegate from the Eighth District in Houston, said Zweifel had told her in advance that he intended to select "illegals."

More Housing Development Seen For City

Another new residential development loomed for Big Spring Tuesday as city commissioners passed second and third readings of ordinances annexing areas where additions are already proposed or under construction.

The new addition probably will require another expansion of the city limits which are being extended in two directions at present.

Latest proposed development is the College Park Addition, situated north of the Howard County Junior College campus and east of Birdwell Lane. Commissioners saw topographical map of the area Tuesday and were informed that H. S. Moss, owner of the land, plans to request annexation of some 50 or 60 acres.

The commission said it will be willing to annex the area, provided boundaries of land brought in conform to street lines.

Approved on second reading last night was ordinance to annex an area west of the city, extending from the present city limits to Harding Street in the Airport Addition on the west, State Road 700 on the south and a section line north of the rodeo grounds on the north. Passed on third reading was ordinance annexing an east extension of the Monticello Addition, site for part of a 300-unit defense rental housing development.

Commissioners accepted, subject to engineering approval, plat of Block 5, Mittel Acres Addition in South Big Spring. They advised Builder Omar Jones that water will be made available to Kennebec Heights when the city receives its supply from the Colorado River Municipal Water District, probably by Oct. 1.

Jones said he plans construction of 20 houses in the area, but decided to delay development for 30 days or until water is available. He plans to tap a 12-inch water main connecting reservoirs on scenic Mountain and in City Park.

His decision to delay the project came after commissioners explained it is their policy to deny water to new additions outside the city "until inside demands are satisfied."

The commission turned down requests from several individuals for permission to operate air conditioners without waterpumps. Ordinance prohibits use of conditioners without pumps at a water conservation measure. City Manager H. W. Whitney said the requests for permission to operate coolers without pumps resulted from "special cases"—persons who said they were unable to purchase pumps.

U. N. TROOPS LOSE KEY HILL TO COMMIES

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—United Nations troops lost a key hill today on the Korean Central Front to between 350 and 400 Chinese Reds in hand-to-hand fighting.

The hill, in the Pukhan River Valley, was captured by U. N. troops 24 hours before.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its planes destroyed 24 troop and supply bunkers today, damaged two others, destroyed eight enemy personnel shelters, eight buildings, two Red machine-gun positions and inflicted 15 troop casualties.

U. S. Thunderjets again bombed the big No. 2 power plant at Changlin Reservoir Tuesday after reconnaissance showed the Reds were trying to get the generators back in operation. The plant was one of 13 North Korean hydro-electric stations knocked out in heavy raids two weeks ago.

Polio Cases In Texas Surge To Total Of 1,309

By The Associated Press

Texas polio cases now are more than double those recorded at this time last year.

State Health Officer George W. Cox said Wednesday 163 cases reported last week brought the state's total to 1,309, compared with only 438 for the similar 1951 period.

Forty-three of the state's 254 counties reported new polio cases last week, Cox said. Harris County, with 52, and Dallas County, with 24, accounted for almost half the 163 cases added during the week.

Lavaca County reported 24 cases but this was a cumulative figure covering a longer period than last week. Grayson County reported five cases, first in 1952 for the Northeast Texas area.

Other incidence by counties last week: Tarrant, 13; Dawson and Martin, 6 each; Travis and Victoria, 4 each; Bowie, McLennan and Bexar, Calhoun, Hidalgo, Parker and San Patricio, 2 each; and Aransas, Brazoria, Castro, Coke, Edwards, Fort Bend, Gonzales, Gregg, Hamilton, Hardin, Hays, Hockley, Jefferson, Midland, Rusk, Smith, Stephens, Taylor, Upshur, Upton, Wichita, Wilbarger, Williams, Wood and Young, 1 each. The armed forces reported two cases not located by county.

Houston's city health department reported eight more polio cases Wednesday and 16 "possibles"—patients with polio symptoms not yet confirmed.

With only three days left for the big experiment at Houston, inoculation of children between the ages of 1 and 6 was being stepped up. Through Tuesday night 18,536 children had received the gamma globulin shots which may prevent paralysis. The goal of 35,000 is scheduled to be reached by Friday night.

Eleven Escape As B-36 Falls Near Gonzales

GONZALES, July 9 (AP)—An Air Force B-36 crashed in flames 10 miles southwest of here about 9 a.m. today. All 11 men aboard were reported to have bailed out safely.

The ship was from Randolph Field at San Antonio.

One of the crew, identified only as Air Crew Officer Frost, told William Shelton, who lives near the crash scene, the only injury was a sprained ankle received by one man.

The big plane plummeted to earth with its number four engine, the one on the far right, on fire. Gonzales is east of San Antonio in South Central Texas.

Another airplane happened to be flying right above the stricken Air Force plane when the men began hitting the silk.

Pilot Charles Baker said he was flying solo in his plane at about 13,000 feet when he saw the B-29 beneath him at 7,000 feet.

Baker, however, said he counted 12 men bail out of the B-29. But reports at Gonzales said there were only 11.

Baker said the plane crashed into a cornfield. He reported it did not explode but the crash impact scattered the big ship over 15 acres.

Baker circled the scene 10 minutes and then flew to San Antonio.

The sheriff's office at Gonzales said the crash impact was both felt and heard in the town.

The accident was similar to another shortly before midnight June 30 when a B-29 caught fire and crashed near Cheyenne, Okla. Eleven men parachuted to safety.

More Layoffs Looming As Strike Result

By GIB STALEY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Additional layoffs in the railroad industry loomed today as the result of the nation-wide strike of 600,000 CIO steelworkers.

Nearly 50,000 railroaders have been furloughed since the strike began June 2. They're part of the 422,405 workers in allied industries off the job because of "the steel strike."

The Pennsylvania Railroad, which laid off 10,000 men June 5, says it is being forced to furlough "several thousand" additional workers.

A spokesman declared, "The strike is having serious progressive effect on traffic... Now it is cutting off shipments from many concerns which depend on steel for their own production."

The same situation holds true on many other railroads throughout the country. Many are moving only passengers, mail, express and perishables as the production of durable goods is curtailed.

Meanwhile, representatives of the iron ore industry say they plan to ask the steelworkers if a plan can be worked out to move iron ore now stockpiled in the upper lakes region. All ore shipments, along with iron ore mining, have been suspended and industry officials are fearful an iron ore shortage next winter will cause steel plants to shut down.

With no sign of a settlement in the walkout there are these developments:

John Grajciar, director of United Steelworkers District No. 12 at Sharon, Pa., has asked Sharon Steel Corp., employing 7,000, to resume negotiations Friday. Sharon Steel already has rejected a union offer to settle the walkout on the same terms agreed to by Pittsburgh Steel, the first comparatively large company to sign a contract since the strike began.

The Pittsburgh Steel contract provides a modified union shop whereby employees must join the union but can withdraw between the 20th and 30th day of employment. About 35 smaller companies, employing approximately 50,000 men, have signed agreements containing some form of union shop. But the basic steel industry is objecting to any contract providing compulsory union membership.

Phillip Murray, president of both the CIO and the steelworkers, has asked Atty. Gen. McGranery to take "prompt and vigorous" action against six major steel companies he accused of violating anti-trust laws.

Hoover Makes Plea To Remove 'Curtain'

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

CHICAGO (AP)—Aging Herbert Hoover bid farewell to Republican convention delegates last night with a plea to rip away the Democrats' "plush curtain" at home and salvage "lost statesmanship" abroad.

Hoover, the only living ex-President and the last Republican to hold that office, attacked the Democratic administration with a vigor that belied his 77 years.

His calm statements at the outset and at the end of his speech—that he did not expect to address another GOP convention because of "the inexorable course of nature"—were met with roared "No's."

He mentioned neither of the top contenders for Republican presidential nomination. But his firmly-worded viewpoint on foreign policy hewed close to that of Ohio's Sen. Robert A. Taft and collided, roughly at points, with that of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"A phantom army" was the tag Hoover applied to the divisions a building in the Allied defense program launched under Eisenhower's leadership. Hoover called for a powerful Air Force to "restore the advantage of military initiative to us"—a frequent Taft thesis.

"I do not propose that we retreat into our shell like a turtle," Hoover said. "I do propose the deadly reprisal strategy of a rattlesnake."

He accused the Democrats, in office since Hoover's futile try for re-election in 1932, of corroding "the grandeur of the people... the drip, drip, drip from dishonor in high places."

"Behind this plush curtain of tax and spend," Hoover said, "three sinister spooks or ghosts are mixing poison for the American people.

"They are the shades of Mussolini, with his bureaucratic fascism; of Karl Marx, and his socialism; and of Lord Keynes, with his perpetual government spending, deficits and inflation."

The Democrats' domestic plan of these, plus "give-away programs" added to "the lost statesmanship" of dealing with communism—make freedom the dominant issue of the election, Hoover said.

"This election may well be the last chance for survival of freedom in America," he declared.

Hoover's appearance at the packed Convention Hall set off a tumultuous ovation. It far eclipsed in volume and length the one accorded the night before to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the convention's keynote speaker.

While the organ boomed and the crowd roared, Hoover stood smiling and shiny-eyed on the floodlighted rostrum. One delegation after another shot up its banners and marched through the aisles—the first such mass demonstration of the giant gathering.

Hoover's speech brought these vocal tributes:

"An outstanding speech by a great American," said Sen. William Knowland of California. "I think he raised some grave questions which are of concern to all our people."

Sen. William Jenner of Indiana said: "A great American spoke from his heart. The country will heed his words of wisdom or we are lost."

ANNUAL AUDIT IS MADE City's Assets Make A Gain Of Quarter Million In Year

Big Spring is a city worth $5,132,281.13, according to Neil G. Hilliard shows in his annual audit of the city's financial condition.

Total assets represent a gain of $250,676.36 over worth of the city a year ago.

Standing against assets, however, are liabilities amounting to $1,665,107.67.

Hilliard's audit is for the fiscal year ending last March 31. Report on the financial check was submitted to city commissioners Tuesday. Delay in completing the work, Hilliard said, was due to scarcity of stenographical assistance.

The certified public accountant took note of "remarkable acumen" displayed by City Manager H. W. Whitney and his staff in keeping the municipal records. He particularly complimented City Secretary C. R. McClenny who "shows marked ability and thorough knowledge of his work."

Hilliard also took cognizance of several items which he said tend to lead to inefficiency in the city's system of accounting.

He called particular attention to crowded conditions of the tax office, water and sewer billing departments, and the city secretary's office.

"You are going to have to make new provisions for housing your various accounting departments," Hilliard declared. "The confusion caused by desks being piled practically on top of each other is disturbing. In fact, the whole physical layout is anything but conducive to efficiency."

The accountant said the city's work orders "are handled through a laborious process," but he had no recommendations for improving the system. He urged more extensive use of machine bookkeeping in posting water and sewer accounts, pointing out that hand posting necessitates too many erasures, corrections and changes.

Criticized was the system of recording revenue at the municipal golf course.

"The intermingling of personal funds and city funds is wrong," he said.

Recommended was a different type of airport report so that balances may be carried forward. A different method of filing supporting invoices was suggested to facilitate the audit of disbursements.

Also, Hilliard noted that delinquent accounts at the airport fund should be given more "study and attention." He set up a reserve fund to offset delinquent accounts, pointing out, however, that "some of them will be collected."

As a whole, accounting records were found to be "well kept and in good shape and evidence lots of thought and planning."

"I particularly want to compliment the police department on its excellent set of records," Hilliard told the commission. "I also want to compliment the tax department on its efficient and businesslike method of handling the assessing and collecting of taxes."

First Year Of Parleys Ends

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The first year of Korean armistice negotiations ended today with the United Nations and Communist delegates meeting in secret for 26 minutes.

There was no announcement on whether progress had been made toward solving the prisoner exchange deadlock, key issue blocking a truce. It was the shortest of six secret meetings held since Friday.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, U. N. Command spokesman, said the session was businesslike but "there was no change in the attitude of either side."

Another executive session is scheduled for Panmunjom tomorrow at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Wednesday EST).

In Oslo, Norway, U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie expressed hope for an armistice "by the end of July or the beginning of August" because truce negotiators had shown "a certain positive willingness" to reach agreement.

Searchers Locate Wreckage Of Plane

ALBUQUERQUE, July 9 (AP)—Searchers today found the burned wreckage of a Navy amphibian plane in which six men died.

The two-engine JRF-5, based at Sanford, Fla., crashed night before last just across the top of the Sandia Mountains east of Albuquerque.

It was en route to Kirtland Air Force Base here from Wichita Falls, Tex.

Kirtland authorities said the Naval Air Station at Sanford will announce the names of the dead.

Taft Chafes Over Press Attention

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft chafed a bit today under the constant surveillance of newsmen.

"I think I'll get a red wig and whiskers so I can move around town by myself," he smilingly told a member of his entourage.

He showed obvious pleasure when, twice in two days, he evaded photographers and reporters at his hotel headquarters.

Yesterday he slipped away to visit Herbert Hoover. Monday he ducked out for a visit with Gov. Earl Warren of California.

School Transfers Come In Slowly

Transfers of students from one school district to another within the county are being made at a snail's pace, despite the fact that the deadline for such action is only 20 days removed.

The transfers are, of course, mandatory. They should be made at the county superintendent's office in the court house not later than Aug. 1.

Ordinarily, over 200 transfers are made annually. Those switching from some schools within the county to Big Spring High School, even if they are entering high school, must be transferred. It has been emphasized.

Border Patrolman Is Shot Prior To Crash

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 9 (AP)—The Corpus Christi Caller said today that a Border Patrolman was murdered and placed at the wheel of his car which crashed into another auto Sunday night.

The death of Edwin H. Wheeler, 43, chief of the patrol at Alice, was first believed caused by a highway accident.

The Caller story said: "All evidence indicates that whoever shot Wheeler, propped him in the front seat, got partially under the wheel, put the car in gear, jammed the accelerator down and then jumped out."

Wheeler's car roared onto the Nueces River bridge near Sandia, Tex., and crashed head-on into a car driven by Milton Mareth of Orange Grove, Tex.

Mareth received a crushed arm. Three others in Mareth's car were not seriously injured.

FBI agents, the Border Patrol and various Texas law agencies worked together today in attempting to track down the killer. Few details of the shooting and accident could be obtained from officers, the Caller said.

The only official announcement came from John W. Holland, San Antonio district director of the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization.

"A bullet definitely was found in Wheeler's head," Holland said. "It definitely was not a bullet from his service revolver. The FBI is in charge of the investigation, but the Houston office of the FBI has agreed to permit me to announce that Wheeler had a bullet in his head and that it apparently is a case of murder."

Dr. J. F. Pilcher, Corpus Christi, conducted an autopsy but refused to release the results.

Justice of the Peace C. D. Caffal of Matlis said he had not returned an inquest verdict.

Louisiana Vote Turned To Ike In Unity Trial

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—The credentials committee today voted to seat 13 Eisenhower delegates from Louisiana in the Republican convention—upsetting an earlier decision by the GOP National Committee which gave these seats to Taft backers.

The decision was unanimous, 59 to 0, as Taft men on the dispute-settling committee joined the Eisenhower men in what apparently was an effort to bring some show of harmony to the strife-torn GOP convention.

The net result was to give Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower 11 additional convention votes.

The GOP National Committee had temporarily seated 11 pro-Eisenhower delegates and two pro-Taft delegates out of the 13 contested seats in the state's 15-man delegation.

The credentials committee's decision would mean seating 13 Eisenhower delegates, and two Taft delegates.

The motion to seat the 13 Eisenhower delegates was made by Eugene Worrell of Virginia, an avowed Taft supporter.

One of those seconding the motion was Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, who is one of Sen. Robert A. Taft's lieutenants in the fight for the presidential nomination.

The Eisenhower group from Louisiana is headed by John Minor Wisdom, New Orleans attorney.

The GOP National Committee previously had voted to seat pro-Taft delegates from the state headed by John E. Jackson.

Louisiana has 15 seats in the convention, but the Eisenhower forces concede that two of the seats are pro-Taft. So only 13 of the 15 were contested.

Worrell voted with the Taft forces yesterday when the committee approved a solid pro-Taft delegation from Georgia.

Glasscock Wildcat Looms As Wichita-Albany Discovery

Seaboard Oil and T&P Coal and Oil Co. 1 S. J. Bishop, 14 miles southeast of Garden City, boomed Wednesday as a discovery in the Wichita-Albany lime.

In five hours of swabbing it made 55 barrels of oil and then kicked off to flow 154 barrels of oil in 20 hours. The flow was natural. Nearest production is in the Harrell (Clear Fork) field about eight miles to the northeast in extreme western Sterling County. It is five miles south of one of the Clear Fork wells on Plymouth's Currie lease and is 12 miles south of the Shell No. 1 Clark, the lone producer in the Garden City pool and the first commercial on completion in the Permian Basin area from the Mississippian. This venture also is 15 miles east and slightly north of nearest Spraberry pay in the Drifter field.

Martin County had one abandonment in the Devonian. Another well showed some new oil, along with a slight amount of salt water, in the Spraberry.

Northwest Mitchell had only mud to show on a drillstem test in a Pennsylvanian section.

Glasscock gained an Ellenburger location in a deepening operation in the Tex Harvey pool. Another location was spotted in southwest Pennsylvanian pool.

T&P, drilled ahead at 7,883 in lime and shale. This exploration is a mile and a quarter northeast of the Vealmoor pool.

Correct location on Standard of Texas No. 6-E-14 Griffin is 660 from the north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 35-25, H&TC, and not from the north and west lines of the section as reported erroneously Tuesday.

Dawson

El Tee No. 1-95 Classen, C SE SW 35-24, T&P, drilled to 6,947 in lime and shale.

Cities Service No. 14 Dupree, C NE SW 37-24, EL&RR, in the Welch pool, drilled past 11,637 in Hme.

El Tee No. 1 Lindsey will be a location 2,390 from the south and 660 from the east lines of section 108-M, EL&RR, on a 40 acre lease 18 miles northwest of Lamesa. Projected depth is 9,000. This location was formerly staked by James H. Snowden, et al as the No. 1-108 Williams and was drilled to 4,995 and abandoned in 1948.

Borden

James H. Snowden No. 1 J. M. Higginsbotham, C SE NW 24-32-3n. Murph Thorne knows paint. (Adv.)

Glasscock

Seaboard Oil of Delaware and T&P Coal and Oil Co. No. 1 S. J. Bishop, 660 from the north and east lines of section 31-32-5a, T&P, swabbed 5 hours and recovered 55 barrels of oil. Then the well kicked off and in 20 hours it made 154 barrels of oil with no appreciable amount of water from open hole 6,131-6,211. The first 18 hours of the 20-hour period was through a 1-in. opening on the tubing, and the last two hours were through 2-4/8 chok. The flow was natural. Operator is still flowing to test. Some geologists say the pay is from the Wichita-Albany section, a new zone for Glasscock County pay.

Hubbard S. Russell, et al No. 4-20-B Wraga-Hendrickson filed an amended application in the Tex Harvey field to deepen from 7,165 feet to a possible depth of 13,000 to seek the Ellenburger. Location of this deep prospector is 2,029.7 from the east lines and 1,991.7 from the north lines of section 20-35-2a, T&P, on an elevation of 2,587.7.

Phillips No. 1-C McDowell, a 2,700-foot prospector C SW NE 31-32-2a, T&P, four miles southwest of Lees, was rigging up.

American Republics No. 1 Buckner Orphans Home, C SW SW 17-35-3a, T&P, was cleaning out drilling fluid from perforations 7,870-8,040 opposite the Dean Sand. Some new oil was being recovered along with some gas, but no gauges had been reported.

Lynn

Shell No. 1 Southland Royalty drilled to 10,367 in lime, shale and chert.

Deep Rock No. 1 Rackler, 18 miles northeast of Tahoka, progressed below 6,836 in lime.

Martin

Argo No. 1 Brown, 660 from the north and west lines of section 15-36-2n, T&P, abandoned Wednesday for a second time. Previously plugged at 10,806, the test was drilled on down in search of the Ellenburger. However, it had a cavity at 11,855 in a lime section below the Devonian. A drillstem test was taken in an unidentified lime from 11,814-11,835 with the tool open one hour and 35 minutes. There was a slight blow for 22 minutes and it drilled. Recovery was 540 feet of salty sulphur cut mud, 11,345 salty sulphur cut water with no shows of oil or gas. Operator set bridging plug at 11,800 and will pour cement plug.

Phillips 1-C Schar, C SW SW 32-4 LaSalle CSL, plugged back to 8,617 and prepared to swab. It has been testing above 8,800 where it had small amount of oil and water from the lowest Spraberry.

Plymouth No. 1 Morris, C NW SW 7-35-1a, T&P, a mile and a half northeast of Stanton, was shut in overnight. Then it opened up and flowed 17 barrels of oil in one hour through open 2-in. tubing, and then died. Flowing pressure was 475-0. Then operator swabbed 58 barrels of oil in 11 hours with a shakeout of 10 per cent salt water. Swabbing continued with some of the oil recovered being new and some old. There are still 75 barrels of lead oil to recover before operator can tell how much new oil actually is being made.

Standoff No. 1 Cowden, C SE SW 30-40-1n, T&P, drilled below 12,310 in lime and chert.

Standoff No. 1 Flynn, C SW SW 12-34-8, Hartley CSL, was past 9,926 in lime and shale.

DeKalb No. 1 Knox, C NW NE 23-34-8, Hartley CSL, 11 miles north of Tazewell, progressed to 11,431.

Mitchell

Hunt No. 1 Hodnett, C SE NE 89-97, H&TC, was at 7,473 in lime and shale. A core was taken from 7,346-7,394 with recovery of 49 feet of lime. A drillstem test was run from 7,339-7,385 with the tool open two hours. Recovery was 180 feet of drilling mud. All pressures were zero.

Scurry

American Trading No. 1-A Howell, an outpost in the Hermelagh Ellenburger field, swabbed 12 hours and recovered 50 barrels of oil and drilling mud. Operator is making an effort to clean out this well and to complete in the Ellenburger.

Russians Attack Witches, Quacks

MOSCOW (U)—Pravda demanded a crackdown today on witches, quacks and soothsayers.

The Communist party newspaper described how an old woman, named Felix Stefanovich, had enriched herself by casting spells, warding off spells, "healing" all diseases, telling fortunes with cards or coffee grounds, whispering incantations and sprinkling with holy water.

The woman, who lived in the small village of Nikolay, 10 miles northeast of Moscow, finally was brought to court for illegal practice of medicine and deceiving innocent people, and "received her just deserts," Pravda declared.

But other such so-called "harmful activities" in other districts of the Moscow region, the newspaper said. It called on local officials to act more vigorously in such cases.

Texas Professor To Head Engineers

AUSTIN, Texas, July 8.—A University of Texas professor has received one of engineering's highest honors — the presidency of the American Society for Engineering Education.

As head of the society, Dean W. R. Woolrich of the University's College of Engineering follows a long list of this nation's most distinguished educators, including Dr. Karl T. Compton, Massachusetts Institute of Technology president and a leading developer of atomic physics; President H. T. Field of New York University; and President Robert E. Doherty of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Dean Woolrich is the first Southwestern ever elected to the office. In fact, he is the third man from the South ever named to the high post in the society's 59-year history.

It will direct what often is called the most complete and effective education-improvement organization of any profession. The society has 17 professional divisions active in 21 sections of this country.

The Marines do it more glamorously says a publicity handout, to wit:

Frontline Marines named hills Ruth Roman, Marjorie Main or Elizabeth Taylor.

Patrol leaders then radio back such interesting messages as "We're at the foot of Susan Hayward," or "Investigating the contours of Marilyn Monroe."

Ridgway Taking Commander Post

WASHINGTON (U)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme commander of North American Treaty Organization forces in Europe, also took over today the new job of heading American armed forces in NATO territory.

President Truman yesterday gave him the additional title of "commander in chief, U. S. European Command," and "with it authority over all U. S. forces in the area."

Defense Department officials said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, first supreme Allied commander in Europe, and Ridgway, who succeeded him, had operational control in the past only in the event of emergencies.

The American troops, technically, had been under Gen. Thomas T. Handy, who now becomes deputy commander in chief of the unified American headquarters under Ridgway.

Roof Is Damaged In Tuesday Fire

Roof of the Big Spring Fuel Company 1800 W. 3rd, was slightly damaged by fire early Tuesday afternoon.

The blaze started from a stovepipe, firemen said.

Fire fighters were recalled to a scene of a fire extinguished at 603 E. 1st Sunday. A quantity of oil well fiber material ignited at 7:30 a.m. today, but caused no further damage. Sunday, 1,700 sacks of the material were damaged.

Students Killed As Planes In Collision

CALDWELL, July 9 (U)—Two students from Bryan Air Force Base died yesterday after their planes collided in the air about 10 miles south of here.

An instructor accompanying one of the students parachuted to safety.

Base officials withheld names of all involved until next of kin were notified.

Officials said both ships were on routine flights.

Two Englishmen Are Fined For Nothing

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (U)—Three Englishmen were fined $5 apiece for nothing yesterday.

That's just what they were in swimming — nothing!

Philip S. Carrington of London, spokesman for the trio, told Judge Robert A. Welsh that swimming in the nude "is not uncommon in certain parts of England."

The judge agreed it was a good answer but he fined the three for indecent exposure.

Man In lineup Gives Identification Help

NEW YORK (U)—Two holdup victims identified John V. Coston yesterday in a police lineup, but a third victim was not too sure.

So Coston helped him.

"Yeah, that's the guy all right," said Coston, slinging up pharmacist Mortimer Goldstein. "Only his hair was assed then and it's not now."

Coston, 29, was booked on assault and robbery charges.

Hine Is Named Club Secretary

ABILENE—George Hine Jr., athletic news director at Hardin-Simmons University for the past three years, has been named executive secretary of the Cowby Club.

Announcement was made by Harley Sadler, president of the organization, which exists for the betterment of the athletic program at H-SU.

A native of Lincoln, North Carolina, where he was sports editor of the Lincoln News, Hine holds the bachelor and the masters degree from Hardin-Simmons.

Sadler did not disclose the salary. Hine will continue to serve as director of the H-SU Athletic news bureau.

H is president of the Border Conference sports publicity men. A World War II veteran, Hine served in the combat engineers in both the ETO and the Pacific theatre of operations.

Fox Urges Step-Up In Control Of Flies

Big Springers should redouble their fly-control efforts as a result of the light rains here in the past week, Liga Fox, city-county sanitarian, says.

Fox reports that the city's fly population has increased slightly due to the showers last week and Tuesday. The infestation still is sporadic, however.

The sanitarian also says that many Big Springers are practicing a "false economy" in the use of insecticides. Solutions of toxic materials used in spraying fly breeding areas are too weak in some instances, according to the health officer.

He recommends solution of at least five per cent chlordane or 10 per cent DDT for insect spraying. Weaker insecticides fail to reduce the fly population, he says.

Wife Seeker Weds Strictly For Love

ST. LOUIS (U)—Edward Burdorf, 35, who a month ago was seeking a wife with $10,000, has married — "a girl as broke as I am."

The 226-pound railroad foreman eloped to Piggott, Ark., Saturday with Miss Betty McMahon, 21. Both are from St. Louis.

Burdorf explained that he had gone with Betty before, but they had broken off.

After his announcement that he wanted a wife with $10,000 to launch him in business, he got so many "nasty" letters, he said, that he decided he made a mistake.

Betty thought he had made a mistake, too, but they patched things up.

"It's best to marry for love," Burdorf added.

Demonstrator Is Injured In Riot

TOKYO (U)—A double-barreled Communist riot Tuesday in Maizuru, 249 miles southwest of Tokyo, brought death to one Korean demonstrator and injuries to 42 persons, including 36 police.

The newspaper Yomiuri reported today the rioters attacked police with fire bombs and bamboo. The police chief was stabbed with a spear.

In Nagoya Monday one person was reported killed and 63 were injured in a 3½-hour clash between police and about 1,000 rioting Communists.

Ancient Roman Theater Found

DAMASCUS, Syria (U)—An ancient Roman theater, parts of which are complete and in good condition, has been discovered in Palmyra. The Syrian antiquities department also announced the discovery of the tomb of an ancient Palmyrene family. The tomb contained statues of members of the family and other objects of archaeological importance.

School Board Sets Hearing On Budget

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District will combine their regular session and public hearing on the budget Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Only routine matters, other than the budget hearing, are on the agenda.

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, said that there likely would be four or five names to recommend for election as teachers. Several teachers have resigned or have moved from the city, he said. Included are Nancy Boswell, Lloyd F. Emerick, W. K. Patton, Marion Rutherford, Hazel Melton, Evelyn Hampton, Mrs. Elizabeth Matthews and Trinidad Cano. There may be other separations from the staff, but no definite word has been received, Blankenship declared.

Up for hearing at the hands of taxpayers will be the proposed budget for the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1, 1952 and ending Aug. 31, 1953. Total outlay of the budget is $989,792.

This includes the $42,820 in raises voted to teachers, supervisors and administrators at last month's special board meeting.

The current expenses are computed at $978,311 for the next fiscal year, the interest and sinking fund requirements at $69,419, which would give a budget of $967,730 without capital outlay of $22,062. This compares with a similar figure of $960,389 on the current budget. (Capital outlay is deleted for comparative purposes because last year capital outlay included a big building and expansion program which then was still in progress.)

The net difference (exclusive of capital outlay) would show the proposed budget to be up by $107,341. Of this amount $42,820 is in increase.

ed salaries. Around $67,000 more will be required in new salaries for the increase in staff from 209 to 225 persons. Since outside of salary requirements, the budget actually shows some decline.

State Puts Six More On Stand

HASKELL, July 9 (U)—The state will put at least six more witnesses on the stand today in pressing the murder case against Thomas Clifford Livesay.

Prosecution testimony started yesterday with 17 witnesses introduced. More damaging than the many words of testimony so far, however, was the statement entered in the record yesterday over heavy defense objection.

Livesay, 36, is charged with the death of a Bailey County reclus, 85-year-old Joshua Blocher. In the opening day of the 29th District Court trial, prosecuting attorney's brought in a statement Livesay signed and gave to Bailey County officers when he was arrested.

It told details of how Livesay and L. D. Stevens had beaten and left Blocher unconscious and had searched the wid man's one-room shack for money. Stevens, 51, is under a death sentence after a companion murder trial.

Blocher, who founded the Panchardo town of Progress, was found dead last August after he had apparently been beaten and robbed of 13 cents. His shack had been searched, but the attackers didn't find $10,000 the eccentric had buried under the floor.

RC Representative Assigned To AFB

Viola Johantgen has been assigned here as Red Cross representative at Webb Air Force Base.

Prior to her arrival here Monday, cases involving contact with Red Cross were handled through the Howard-Glasscock chapter with occasional field service from the Red Cross representative at Goodfellow Field.

A native of Indiana, Miss Johantgen came to Texas originally in 1942 as a civil service employe at Kelly Field. Later when Kelly Field was changed to SAAC, she was secretary to the commanding officer. Subsequently she held other posts there. In 1946 she entered Red Cross work and had a four-year tour of duty in Germany with headquarters at Frankfurt. After a 20-day leave in the United States, she was assigned to the Far Eastern Command. This gave her two years of duty in Osaka, Japan.

Daughter Is Born To Jack Nelsons

A daughter was born to Fireman and Mrs. Jack Nelson at the U.S. Naval Hospital at Corpus Christi on June 20. The baby weighed 8 1/2 pounds and 20 ounces. Nelson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Nelson, 902 Gregg, Big Spring. Mrs. Nelson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. McClure of Borger. The baby is the first child for Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, who reside at 1619 Brownlee, Corpus Christi.

Amputee Is Father

JOLIET, Ill. (U)—A quadruple amputee of the Korean War, Pvt. Hubert Reeves, 20, has become a father. A daughter was born prematurely to Mrs. Reeves, 19, the former Beverly Jean Hall, whom Reeves married Sept. 2.

Red Prisoner Is Killed By Police

TOKYO (U)—A Communist prisoner of war on Koje Island, Korea, was shot and killed by South Korean police yesterday. He refused to surrender with six other escapees. U. S. Army headquarters announced today.

The seven POWs were among 28 prisoners in the United Nations Koje POW camp who escaped from prison stockades between July 2 and 4, the Army said. Eleven had been apprehended earlier. Ten are at large.

Platform Goes To Resolutions Group For Look

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
CHICAGO (U)—The GOP Convention Resolutions Committee met today behind locked and guarded doors to look over a proposed harmony platform.

Whether harmony would prevail remained a big question. Deep-seated disputes over foreign policy, national defense and civil rights continued to smolder.

Sen. Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, committee chairman, hoped the 82-man committee would quickly approve the bulky statement of policy and speed it to the convention, possibly by tonight.

To get the final draft in shape, however, he had to use vigorous methods last night.

A subcommittee on civil rights had wrangled for hours.

Millikin tried a favorite trick of compromisers. He put the warring factions into a locked room for two hours under orders to come to agreement.

L. S. Parsons of Virginia, who heads a group that wants to handle racial problems at a local or state level with no federal interference, said no compromise was reached.

The opposing group, led by Mrs. Mildred Younger of California, wants a federal commission with powers to hold public hearings and compel testimony on job discrimination and other issues. The proposed commission could not punish—other than through publicity.

Parsons said that was going too far. So Millikin put his own staff to the task of writing a compromise he hoped the full committee would accept without a public controversy.

The committee, running behind schedule started out with 106 delegate-members—two from each state and territory. Some delegations named only one platform member, however, and a Credentials Committee ruling that barred some contested delegates cut its total to 92.

John Foster Dulles, GOP elder statesman and one-time consultant to the Democratic administration on foreign affairs, has been working with the group. He has been shuttling between Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Ohio Sen. Robert Taft, top contenders for the presidential nomination.

Dulles told Republican senators last night he thought all GOP presidential aspirants could support the compromises.

"They contain a lot of unnecessary verbiage on the past but look ahead in the right direction," he said.

Eisenhower told visiting delegates much the same thing. He said the foreign plank seems to be "talking up the past, which I wouldn't want." But pledges for the future, he said, contain "all the essentials necessary to guide us from the standpoint of enlightened self-interest of the United States."

Of the defense plank's emphasis on air power, he said: "I'm not so certain I agree on that."

Taft and his experts reportedly okayed both planks, especially the air-power stress in the defense proposal. Taft repeatedly has called for more air strength as a defense must.

Today's session of the full platform committee was the first since it split into 11 subgroups to draft separate planks.

Millikin has kept a heavy curtain over all platform planks. Today's session was the first chance many of the plank-makers had to know just what was in the platform.

Everyone was expected to approve a bridling section on "communism and corruption" that takes heavy swats at the administration of President Truman.

Similar support was expected for a plank on "taxation and monetary policy" which holds out hope for lower taxes, a balanced budget and a sound dollar.

Difficulties over farm and labor planks appeared to have been successfully adjusted.

The labor and welfare section protests use of government seizure powers to settle union-management disputes. It urges some changes in the Taft-Hartley Act and raises questions about "socialized medicine" in Truman's compulsory health insurance proposals.

The farm plank, after several revisions, urges a just price in the market place for farmers, plus necessary government loans and price props. It calls for more power at local levels on farm programs.

Price and wage controls were expected to get a belting in a plan on "small business and economies."

Two Arrested In Riot

Master Strategists For Taft Hold Meet

By G. MILTON KELLY
CHICAGO (U)—A pre-dawn meeting of 40 master strategists for Sen. Robert A. Taft sparked his powerhouse drive today for the Republican presidential nomination on the first ballot.

One showdown with the forces of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will come on moves to seat a pre-Taft delegation from Georgia.

To most delegates it looked like a make-or-break test of strength between the two front runners. Taft's chief convention floor leader, Thomas E. Coleman, told reporters after the big closed door strategy meeting:

"If we win in the Georgia delegation vote, we'll nominate Taft without question. If we don't, it will reduce his first-ballot vote."

And Coleman said firmly he expects to win.

B. Carroll Reece, a former Republican national chairman among the Taft chiefs at the meeting, told newsmen:

"This is going to be a one-ballot convention. Whoever is nominated will win on the first ballot, and I think it's going to be Taft."

Taft's backers won a skirmish yesterday before the Credentials Committee, which they dominate. In six of eight contested delegate cases, the committee tentatively awarded 43 delegates to Taft and two to Eisenhower.

The committee's report to the convention on these — plus the as-yet-undecided Texas and Louisiana cases — is expected today to set off a bitter floor row. Georgia's 17 contested delegates were a prime stake.

Taft personally led his forces through another whirlwind day and night of driving for the needed nomination votes — at least 604 of the total 1,206 — before he went to bed just before the long midnight meeting started.

He dropped hints he expects some surprising shifts in 1½ delegations which voted heavily against him in Monday's first test on the delegate dispute issue. Among them he listed California.

Sen. William Knowland, who heads the California delegation, visited Taft at his hotel suite last night. They said afterward the talks were less significant than some observers seemed to believe.

TYLER, July 9 (U)—A two-hour attempt by 12 physicians failed to revive five-month-old Frederick Charles Lawrence after he died of suffocation from swallowing part of a toy telephone.

The infant was brought to the hospital yesterday by his mother, Mrs. William D. Lawrence Jr. The child had stopped breathing but the doctors operated and began massaging the heart. They gave up after two hours.

Members of the family said the baby may have fallen against the telephone receiver, jamming it about halfway down its throat.

Marriage Rate In Sharp Dip For '51

Hoover, Once Most Powerful Man In World, Stepping Down

By ED CREAOK
CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (U)—Let's leave politics out of this—if you can imagine such a thing at a national party convention.

The man who stood there, with the glare of the spotlights reflected in his tear-filled eyes, has been acclaimed and reviled, loved and hated.

He was perhaps the most powerful man in the world once. He was President of the United States.

But last night, a score of years out of office, he was an old man who knew that before many more years passed he was going to leave this world.

Herbert Hoover, 77, spoke calmly enough of the prospect.

"This is the fifth time," he said, "I have had the high honor of addressing the conventions of the Republican party."

"In the inexorable course of nature, this is likely to be the last time I shall attend your conventions."

There was a roar of "No" from the delegates, but Hoover hurried on—a man with things to say, a fight to carry on, while there was yet time.

He stood erect. His sparse hair was white. His voice, never dramatic, groped for a word now and then.

He had just a little trouble reading the words of his address, unrolling before him in big letters on a revolving paper roll.

Maybe it was the burning glare of the spotlights beating down from the balconies of the vast Convention Hall.

Or maybe it was a mist that sometimes clouded his eyes.

He spoke a second time of what must come, telling the intent delegates it was "my last address to you."

Then at the end of his speech, the only living ex-President said it again:

"This is most likely the last time I will have the honor of attending your conventions."

"No!" shouted the delegates again.

And this time Hoover's voice broke.

It wasn't steady as he finished, feeling for words, coping with the waves of applause that rilled up to the speaker's podium.

His lip trembled and, finally, he wept when GOP National Chairman Guy Gabrielson gave him a gold medal on behalf of the convention.

The delegates gave him more—a whistling, shouting, marching demonstration such as no other speaker at this 25th convention has received, not even Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

After the first few minutes, Hoover scarcely seemed to hear it.

No man could say to what recesses his mind had temporarily fled—to the past, or to the inescapable future.

IF YOU WANT BIGGER PAYLOADS, YOU WANT A DODGE

"We solved our hauling problems with Dodge 'Job-Rated' trucks"

as says BERNARD J. CARNEY, Manager, Weyerhaeuser & Denkmann Lumber Yard, Rock Island Lumber Co., Rock Island, Ill.

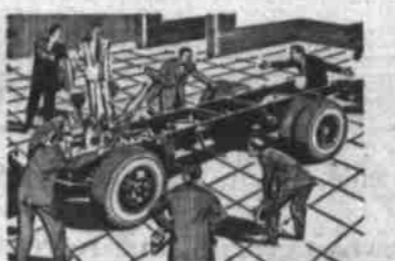

"Our business calls for trucks that can haul big loads day in and day out—and we like our trucks to last, too! That's why we prefer Dodge trucks that are 'Job-Rated' to fit our particular hauling job.

"We recently put in service two Dodge 'Job-Rated' 1½-ton models . . . and they sure haul big loads the way we want them to! For instance, the 170-inch wheelbase models allow for a 14-foot body, which is ideal for our business. And Dodge easy-handling advantages enable us to maneuver these trucks in the same space as some other trucks with 12-foot bodies."

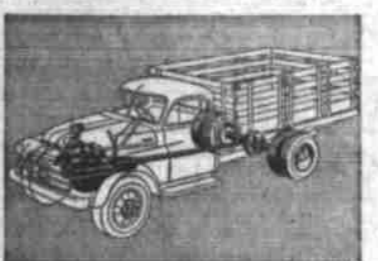

- For bigger payloads, choose from many Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks—½- through 4-ton.
- "Job-Rated" engineering makes it possible for you to haul more with the right Dodge truck for your needs.
- You haul more economically, because of advantages like lightweight aluminum-alloy pistons and others.
- For smoother power and extra load protection, 9700 Fluid Drive is available on ½-, ¾-, 1-ton and Route-Van models.
- Come in for a demonstration—and an extra good deal!

Better weight distribution. The short wheelbase design of Dodge trucks allows more weight to be carried on the front axle. Because the engine is located farther forward and the front axle is moved back, you can haul bigger payloads without overloading.

The right load-carrying units. The frame, axles, springs, and other units that carry the load are "Job-Rated" on Dodge trucks. Each is engineered to provide the strength and capacity needed to support your load. And all are "Job-Rated" to work together!

The right load-moving units. You get an engine that's "Job-Rated" with plenty of power to pull bigger loads at low cost. In fact, all load-moving units—such as clutch, transmission, rear axle—are engineered to move bigger loads.

Riding

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

Last Thursday we suggested that the farmers could go ahead and grease up their tractors and get ready to plant. We hope they got them greased in time.

While it is predicted July will probably be another hot, dry month, prospects for rain are now better than they have been in 50 years, and July rains over a 50-year period have averaged a little better than two inches. One of the wettest months Big Spring has ever known was a July—July of 1902 when the rainfall totaled 12.89 inches.

At least it is pleasant to be able to hopefully think that the drought has definitely been broken. Maybe it has been.

Corky Lawson, a Wichita Falls 4-H Club boy, lost his first calf last week in a fire that destroyed $5,000 worth of hay, another calf and farming equipment.

And the fire probably resulted from the nine-year-old boy's efforts to make his calf more comfortable. Not long ago the Wichita Daily Times carried a picture of this club calf enjoying the comfort of a big electric fan. The boy's father said the fire was probably caused by a short in the wiring of the fan. The blaze was first discovered by a neighbor, shortly after midnight.

E. L. Tiner of Big Spring, regional director of vocational agriculture in West Texas high schools, has been named as one of the directors of the 1933 San Angelo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo. The appointment has been announced by the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development.

Dates for the show have been set for March 5-8. Other directors from this part of West Texas are John Cox, Snyder; Fred Guitler Sr., and Charles C. Thompson, Colorado City; Worth Durham, Foster Price and Martin Reed, Sterling City.

The directors will meet in the Cactus Hotel Ballroom, San Angelo, at 2 p.m., July 15, to elect a chairman and to discuss initial plans for next year's show.

Toots Mansfield was barely edged out of top place in the calf roping finals at the West of the Pecos Rodeo at Pecos by Ray Wharton of Bandera whose average time was 36.7 seconds. Toots' average was 37.1.

Toots and Sonny Edwards tied for second in the team roping with Jim Brister and Dale Smith, both of Lordsburg, New Mexico, each team having a time of 43.5 seconds. The winning team in the event was a pair of Rankin loop tossers, Walton Poage and Harry Howard with a time of 43 seconds flat.

Record crowds attended the rodeo which was produced by Beutler Brothers of Elk City, Oklahoma, who will also produce the Big Spring rodeo August 6-9.

Rotary Hears From Members

Rotary Clubbers had an opportunity to learn more about 17 of their fellow club members during the luncheon program Tuesday.

The 17 were introduced by Program Chairman Dave Duzcan who also sketched briefly their backgrounds and activities. Each was given an opportunity to comment on his occupation, club activities, etc.

Presented were Dan Krausse, H. D. McElrath, H. C. McPherson, R. D. Mertz, Lee Milling, H. J. Morrison, W. S. Morrison, Chester O'Brien, Otto Peters, Shine Phillips, Lee Porter, Glen Pickett, Champ Rainwater, Shelby Read, Harvey Fryar, and Dr. Garland Lang. A new member introduced was Truman Jones.

Guests at the meeting were Warren Lane and Arthur Stallings of Big Spring, E. Kaucher of Amarillo, Ralph Carroll of Bismarck, N. Y., Cal Boykin of Midland, E. L. McCollum of Midland, and Ray McKee of Midland.

A. Swartz presided in the absence of Dr. G. F. Dillon, president. It was announced that the Big Spring Rotary Club will entertain Midland Rotarians at a barbecue as a consequence of losing a four-month attendance contest.

Richards Wins Renomination

COLUMBIA, S. C. — Rep. James P. Richards, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, was renominated by a wide margin in yesterday's South Carolina Democratic primary. The nomination equals election in this overwhelmingly Democratic state.

New Treatment For Burns Being Tested

By FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON — Three Detroit scientists today reported tests pointing to quick new methods of diagnosing and treating severe burns.

Dr. John J. Frendergast and two associates of the Chrysler Corp. medical department reported in the Archives of Surgery that the test of burn severity centers around the blood protein called gamma globulin.

They said there is a great increase of gamma globulin (G.G.) in the blood of seriously burned patients, a very slight increase in patients with minor burns. G.G. content can be determined by a new electrical test.

In the case of serious burns, they also found a decrease in the concentration of albumin—another blood protein—which suggested that improved treatment might call for transfusions of blood containing purified human serum albumin.

Gamma globulin first made major news as a measles preventative. More recently, there were indications it could help prevent infantile paralysis, and a major test of its possible effectiveness in polio cases is under way in Texas.

The Detroit researchers said their observations on G.G. as a possible index of burn severity were made during a special electrical analysis of the protein content of blood taken from victims of burns.

They said they believed theirs was the first systematic study of its kind employing an electric current in detecting the concentration of proteins in blood of burned patients.

The Guar planting was sponsored by the supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District in co-operation with the Soil Conservation Service.

Rains have also encouraged many others to plant Guar, and seed that was planted last Thursday was up to a good stand Monday. It is one of the fastest germinating of all crops.

J. W. Ringener, who farms two miles west of Knott, started planting Monday. He is putting about 20 acres of his sandler land to this crop for protection, fertilization and cash. Ringener inoculated all his seed in order to get the maximum soil-improving benefit from it.

Sonny Edwards is letting the drought worry along with itself. After feeding for quite a while he sold his cattle off the Bar near Odessa last fall, and is giving the grass a chance to make the most of whatever rains may fall on the ranch.

Having no livestock left, he concludes, is the cheapest and best way to get through a drought, and at the same time rebuild the grazing on the range for future cattle operations.

Three Claim Heart Victim

RICHMOND, Calif. — A 60-year-old woman died in a hospital Sunday of heart trouble. Shortly afterwards, Police Inspector Darrell Davis said, three men showed up and each said he was her husband. One of the three, Davis said, later committed suicide.

The officer said the woman was listed on the hospital's records as Dolly Clingenpeel, and her husband as James Clingenpeel, 63. After her death, Davis said, Clingenpeel arrived to claim the body, followed shortly by Thomas Powers, 60, a Stockton railroad engineer, and W. H. Grist of Oakland.

Davis said that although Grist arrived to claim the body as the woman's husband, he later said he had filed divorce proceedings in Martinez in 1923.

But Powers insisted the dead woman was still legally his wife. Davis said he went to Clingenpeel's home Monday to investigate and found the man's body on the floor of his garage. Davis termed Clingenpeel's death suicide from carbon monoxide gas.

Looking deeper into the tangle Davis said he found:

- 1. Born Ethel Hoyt, the woman married one Floyd Settle of New York in 1908. There was no record of a divorce.
- 2. In 1914, she married Powers. There was no record of a divorce.
- 3. In 1916, she married Grist. He filed for a divorce in 1923.
- 4. In 1923, she began living with Clingenpeel. There was no record of a marriage.

Woman Is Charged With Beating Boy

DALLAS, July 9 (U.S.)—Mrs. Elsie Lee Klein was charged with aggravated assault yesterday after her nine-year-old boy told officers she beat him with a heavy strap and board for not pulling weeds.

The wife of a sheetmetal worker was released on a habeas corpus writ bond after she and the boy's father both admitted she had beaten the boy.

Police said the boy came to them, covered with welts and bruises, and asked that he be placed in jail to escape beatings from his foster mother.

The boy was placed in a juvenile home after receiving treatment for his wounds.

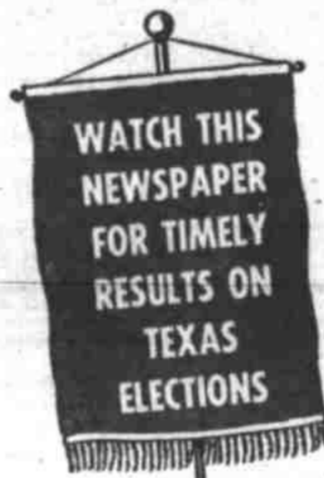

Loan To Australia

WASHINGTON — The World Bank announced yesterday a 20-year, 50-million-dollar loan to Australia to finance purchases of equipment needed to develop that country's mining, transportation, power and farm industries.

Behind your Election Headlines . . .

Back of your newspaper headlines on election day and the day following are thousands of workers. Only through their coordinated efforts do you get election results so quickly, so accurately.

First, this newspaper collects the returns locally. Then from here . . . as from every other county in Texas . . . long-distance telephone, telegraph, all available facilities, are used to speed county returns to a central location. There they are tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau and distributed by press wires to its newspaper and radio station members.

Result: You vote . . . and it's only a matter of hours before you know the unofficial outcome of the election.

This service costs many thousands of dollars each election. It is paid for entirely by the newspapers and radio stations that constitute the Texas Election Bureau.

Thus, this newspaper, a member of the Texas Election Bureau, provides you with statewide as well as local election results while the results are still news!

British Suggestion Gets Cool Reception

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (U)—The United States reportedly is cool to a British suggestion that a team of political advisers be named to assist Gen. Mark Clark, supreme United Nations commander in Korea.

The State Department is said to be against creating any formal new advisory group in the Far East theater at this time.

But top American officials told a reporter today they are considering closer liaison between Clark and the American ambassadors in Japan and Korea as a means of preventing military decisions that could result in world-wide repercussions.

Informed diplomatic officials said Britain's minister of state, Selwyn Lloyd, suggested the idea of a political guidance team when he talked with Secretary Acheson here several weeks ago.

Lloyd reportedly argued such a group, on which Britain would be represented, would make sure Clark and top American military leaders in Korea realized the full international implications of military decisions they might make.

A political guidance team, he felt, might have avoided the flare-up between Britain and the United States which resulted from American bombing of Communist power plants in North Korea without first notifying the British.

The State Department, it was learned, takes the view that adequate machinery already exists for providing Clark with all the political advice he needs. Clark is reportedly in close contact with Robert Murphy, American ambassador to Tokyo, Gen. James Van Fleet, military commander in Korea, is said to be in constant contact with John J. Muccio, American ambassador to Korea.

The problem as American officials see it is to make certain these contacts are used more frequently and efficiently.

American officials object to the idea of a political advisory team because in their view:

1. It might give the Communists a chance to point to the move as proof the United States has been ignoring its allies in the Korean fighting and forcing its decisions upon them.
2. The new group might prove too cumbersome and unwieldy, and perhaps slow down execution of quick military operations.

Buchanan Is Given Recess Appointment

WASHINGTON (U)—President Truman gave Thomas C. Buchanan a recess appointment yesterday—good until Congress reconvenes—as chairman of the Federal Power Commission.

Buchanan, a Beaver, Pa. lawyer, has been FPC chairman since 1948, but the Senate did not confirm his reappointment when Truman nominated him earlier this year.

The Senate Commerce Committee refused to act, and at the time, Chairman Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said it meant Buchanan was out of a job. Some members opposed him on grounds he was not qualified for the post.

Manville Obtains License For No. 9

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (U)—Playboy asbestos bar Tommy Manville, 38, has a license for his ninth marriage — to 29-year-old Anita Frances Roddy-Eden, who's never been married before. Manville and the dancer-writer obtained their license yesterday and plan to be married here tomorrow.

Convention Like A Festival To Visiting Newspaperman

By MARTHA COLE

CHICAGO, July 9 (U)—Just like a festival back home is the way a Japanese newspaperman described the Republican National Convention today.

And a newspaperman from the other side of the world, Arne Thoren of the Stockholm Express, said it was hard to believe "that out of this sometimes terrific chaos the best man for the Republican nomination will be chosen."

The two—Thoren and Takehiko Shinohara, of the newspaper Asahi in Tokyo—are among 20 foreign newsmen covering the convention.

Actually, 47 foreign newspapers and agencies are represented at the convention, but many of their correspondents are based in Washington and New York.

The foreign newsmen stick together in one section of the press tables on the convention floor and in a corner of the general press room in the basement of the convention headquarters hotel. English is their common language.

Fast Learning

Ojuka Julius from "Politika" in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, was taking notes in his native language.

"I think I miss the serious business here," he said of the convention, after turmoil.

"You learn fast, brother," a passing American newspaperman assured him.

"It's a wonderful mixture of show, religious meeting, patriotic speeches and political maneuvering," Thoren said. "We think we have a democracy in Sweden. We have, but it hasn't found this way of working—yet."

Thoren arrived last week from Korea, where he had been working for his paper.

MacArthur Tired

Shigehiko Morita from Chubu Nippon Shimbun, the central Japan daily at Nagoya, said all of the Japanese newsmen here were especially interested in the speech of Gen. Douglas MacArthur Monday night. The only comment Moritz had on MacArthur or his speech was "He looks tired."

Most of the correspondents for London papers are from Washington bureaus. However, Alistair Forbes of the London Sunday Dispatch, Malcolm Muggerridge of the London Daily Telegraph and John Gordon of the London Sunday Express came over from England.

Queen, Princess Guests At Ball

LONDON (U)—Queen Elizabeth danced until the early hours today at her first ball since the death of her father, the late King George VI.

The young Queen and her sister, Princess Margaret, were among the 400 guests at the ball given by the Marchioness of Londonderry and the Earl and Countess of Leicester to mark the coming out of their daughters, Lady Annabel Stewart, 18, and Lady Carey Coke, 17.

Bus, Truck Collide

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (U)—A passenger bus and a cattle truck collided near here yesterday in a blinding rainstorm, killing 10 persons and injuring six others.

HERE'S CONOCO'S "50,000 MILES—NO WEAR" SERVICE

At proper intervals, Your Conoco Mileage Merchant will:

- 1 Drain out grit and sludge, preferably while the engine is hot!
- 2 Recondition all air and oil filters!
- 3 Fill the crankcase with great Conoco Super Motor Oil!

Now Ted is ahead... thanks to one of the greatest services ever offered the motoring public—a service that helps engines last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil!

It's exactly the same service that kept test cars new in Conoco's spectacular "50,000 Miles—No Wear" road test!

In that famous 50,000-mile test, with 1,000-mile drains and proper filter service, test car engines showed no wear of any consequence; in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000.

Now you can get this same 1-2-3 "50,000 Miles—No Wear" Service, at your Conoco Mileage Merchant's today!

Souvenirs From Germany

Mrs. McMichael and Memrie look at the quaint old beer stein they sent Mrs. Winterrowd from Germany. On the table are some prized Hummel figures.

Army Wife, Daughter Plan Trip To Siam

From Germany more than half way around the world to Siam would be considered a long journey by many, but to Mrs. Fred T. McMichael and daughter, Memrie, 6, it's only a short hop. But the hop will reunite them with their husband and father, Master Sgt. McMichael, a veteran of 12 years in the Army, now with military missions in the adjutant's department of the American embassy in Bangkok. Between foreign tours, Mrs. McMichael is here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Winterrowd, 405 Runnels, to introduce them to Memrie, a vivacious little Rumanian girl orphaned by the war and adopted four years ago by the McMichaels. The young Army wife was a C-47 inspector in the Douglas aircraft plant in Long Beach, Calif., when the couple met and married during the war. During their two and a half years in Germany they were stationed at Herze Air Base near Nurnmberg and their travels took them to Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, France, Luxembourg and many parts of Germany, including Hitler's retreat at Berchtesgaden. They visited in Czechoslovakia only two weeks before the border was closed. In Bangkok, Memrie will attend a private school with other American, English and French children, as only Siamese is taught in the public school. Their walls and floors will be tile, and the kitchen, wash house and servants' quarters will be separated from the house. The family will have an amah, a housekeeper and a gardener. They will wear tropical clothes the year around and Memrie is looking forward to picking melons and bananas off the trees. She also is fascinated by the story her father wrote her that one can dig a hole and tropical fish will be found in the water that rises in the hole. During the rainy season from May to November, Mrs. McMichael will make her shopping tours by sampan, and one thing she will be watching out for is the method used by her laundress. She has spread the clothes on tables or been warned that the natives hand slabs of stone and scrub the clothes with a stiff brush. "Needless to say," Mrs. McMichael laughs, "clothes laundered in such a manner do not last very long." She admits she learned the hard way, having had a similar experience in Germany. The two travelers will fly to Tokyo and go from there to Manila, Saigon and thence to Bangkok, where the sergeant will be stationed for the next two years. Seasoned travelers, they nevertheless are looking forward to the trip and still more experiences in a strange land.

New Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

ROACHES and ants are the most difficult household pests to control, and they can be brought into the home at any time. Science has just come forth with a new discovery, a colorless coating that kills cockroaches and ants, and that stays effective for months. It is called Johnson's NO-ROACH. It's just as simple and easy to use as it looks. You paint the coating on surfaces frequented by roaches and ants, woodwork near the sink, baseboards, garbage pails, window and door sills. When these crawling pests come in contact with this invisible, odorless, stainless coating they slowly become paralyzed, turn over on their backs with legs waving in the air, and die. Then the coating stays effective for months to kill any strays that get into the home and that walk over it. Effective for Months Science has seen to it too, that this product contains no DDT, no sodium fluoride, and no phosphorus. Johnson's NO-ROACH is not a contaminating spray or a messy powder. It is colorless, and may be brushed just where you want it, without having to move all your dishes and pots and pans. Guard against crawling insects this modern NO-ROACH way. Prices are 8 cc. for 50c, pint for $1.60, and a quart for $2.98.

Neal of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cagle of Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walton of Fort Worth and Bonnie Head of Las Vegas, N. M. The next hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Whatley and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Conway.

Wives' Club Has Election Of Officers

Mrs. Mary Jane Chaffin was elected president of the NCO Wives Club of the Webb Air Force Base when the group met Monday evening at the NCO Club. Other new officers are Mrs. Helen Johnson, vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Alford, secretary; Mrs. Trini Beth Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. Socorro Wilson, social chairman; Mrs. Katherine Shoemaker, welfare chairman; Mrs. LaVelle Palmore, reporter-historian; and Mrs. Jeannette McCarty, membership chairman. The group is planning a full program for the months ahead and foremost on the agenda is the opening of the NCO Wives nursery for the convenience of the NCO Club patrons. Immediately following the business session, games were played. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Helen Martin and Mrs. Palmore. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. McCarty and Mrs. Johnson.

Mrs. Overman Leads Study On Book

Mrs. D. W. Overman taught the first of three lessons on the book, "Pilgrimage to Spanish America" when the Hillcrest Baptist WMU met at the church Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Troy Harrell led the group in singing the opening hymn and Mrs. Virgil James was accompanist. Mrs. James presided and led the group in repeating the WMU watchword. Mrs. J. W. Arnett offered the opening prayer. The needs of the young people's organization were discussed and plans were made to supply the students with the materials needed. Members voted to have another study period on the mission book immediately following the next meeting. Mrs. Don Duke gave the benediction. Six attended.

New Area Created At Conference

During the meeting of the Methodist Church's South Central Jurisdictional Conference held recently in Wichita, Kan., a new episcopal area was created and Dr. H. Bascom Watts was elected and consecrated to the episcopacy. Representatives to the general and jurisdictional boards were selected and the program for the new quadrennium was outlined. Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Carleton, Dr. and Mrs. Orton Carter and the Rev. and Mrs. Orval Strong have returned home after attending the conference. The new bishop, Dr. Watts is a native of Yellville, Ark. He received his A. B. degree from Southwestern University in 1913 and the Doctor of Divinity degree in 1932. He was awarded the Bachelor of Divinity degree from Southern Methodist University, Dallas, in 1918 and serves on the board of trustees of that college.

Meeting, Party Planned By Kids Of Sunbeam Band

Plans for a business meeting and party to be held Monday morning at the church were made when the Sunbeam Band of the Hillcrest Baptist Mission met Monday at the church. Mrs. Don Duke, councillor, and Mrs. Al Hutchins, co-councillor were in charge of the session. The organization of the band was set up and plans for future meetings were made. Seven attended.

To North Carolina

Mrs. Neil Frazier and daughter, Mrs. David Barlow, and the latter's young son, who have been visiting here from New York with Mrs. Frazier, are leaving Saturday for Lenoir, N. C., to join Mr. Barlow, who will be attending furniture market there. They will be accompanied by James Bruce Frazier Jr.

DESIGNING WOMAN Sentimental Décoration Made From Old Jewelry

By ELIZABETH HILLIER
Somewhere put away and looked at seldom is grandmother's cameo and necklaces and bracelets in handsome old-fashioned designs. Give them a new setting on the wall where you can see them—there they are sweetly sentimental decoration and the kind no one else can have exactly like yours. Frame the jewelry, unmounted cameos and brooches in deep oval frames, necklaces and bracelets in rectangular moldings made to fit them. Play up time mellowed luster with backgrounds of velvet or velveteen in rich colors, cherry red, coral pink, turquoise, emerald or olive green. Frames themselves are most striking in black and gold, the wide ones black with perhaps an inner edge of gold, the narrow ones in either black or gold. Arrange jewelry treasure on a table top first to decide on a grouping of pictures. The grouping may be handsome like this, with brooches in oval frames on either side of a necklace with two bracelets below, in narrow rectangular frames.

Beta Sigma Phi Plan Bingo Party Saturday Evening

A program on table service and etiquette at formal and informal affairs was given by Margaret Roberts at the regular meeting of the Mu Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in the home of Mrs. Doris Patterson, 2209 Runnels. Final plans were made for the bingo party to be held Saturday in the home of Mrs. Norma Bush, 1305 Sycamore. All members of the Exemptor and Beta Omicron chapters and their guests are invited to attend. Pledge training was conducted by Betty Ray Clifton, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Bush and Lee Shreve.

Mrs. Duncan Gives Devotional At Meet

Mrs. Hugh Duncan gave the devotional when the Philathea Class of the First Methodist Church met Tuesday evening at the church for a covered dish supper and business meeting. Mrs. J. D. Jones presided. Those serving the meal were Mrs. J. A. McGee, Mrs. J. B. Knox, Mrs. Pat Patterson, Mrs. R. F. Dorsey, Mrs. Paul Darrow, Mrs. E. J. Cass and Mrs. Duncan. Cheese experts do not recommend wrapping natural yellow cheese in a vinegar-soaked cloth to prevent mold; if the vinegar is strong enough to be effective it may change the flavor of the cheese. If natural yellow cheese does mold, just cut away the molded portion with a sharp knife.

A candlelight installation service for new officers was conducted by Hazel Lamar, lodge deputy president, when members of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge met Tuesday evening at Carpenter's Hall. She was assisted by Maud Cole, deputy marshal; Grace Martin, deputy chaplain; Beatrice Bonner, deputy warden; Josephine Burns, deputy inside guardian; Vera Gross, deputy outside guardian; and Minnie Anderson, deputy musician. Installed were Mary Cole, noble grand; Othofay Nevins, vice grand; Ida Hughes, warden; Dorothy Henderson, conductress; Martha Brady, chaplain; Minnie Anderson, musician; Maud Cole, right support to the noble grand; Gertrude Wasson, left support to the noble grand; Beatrice Bonner, outside guardian; Beatrice Read, inside guardian; Quintie Floyd, right support to the vice grand; Maudie Lumpkin, left support to the vice grand; Jane Burnett, right support to the chaplain; Ruth Gilliam, left support to the chaplain; Dorothy Wise, right support to the past noble grand; Betty Fletcher, left support to the past noble grand. As Leta Metcalf, junior past noble grand, was escorted to her station by Maud Cole, Jane Burnett sang "As We Come to the End of the Way" accompanied by Minnie Anderson. Mrs. Cole presented Mrs. Metcalf with a gift from the officers and committees of the group. An initiation service will be held next Tuesday for Ruby Bell Billings, James J. Fitts, Minnie Lea Reeves and Jewell Reddell. It was announced that members of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will have a picnic Friday at 5:30 p.m. at the City Park for members, their families and friends. The women are being asked to bring well-filled baskets and the men will furnish the drinks and tea cream. The retiring noble grand presented the lodge with a cake in the form of a book decorated with pink and green, the lodge colors.

Daniel, White Propose Plank For GOP Use

By The Associated Press
The proposed platform of the National Republican Party got more than passing notice from Democrats seeking public office in Texas.

At least two staunch Democratic candidates want to have a hand in writing the platform.

Add a state ownership of tidelands plank, said state Attorney General Price Daniel, candidate for re-election.

With only three weeks before the Democratic primary, candidates tried to pull voters' attention from the hot GOP battle in Chicago. Most of them are in the midst of arduous and expensive campaigns back and forth across the state. They need to make every day count in scratching for votes.

To some extent their work was reflected in campaign expenses and contributions reported Tuesday to the secretary of state as of July 7.

Candidates for governor and the U. S. Senate alone reported expenditures of more than 100,000.

Daniel still leads candidates for all offices in the amount spent. His reports showed $62,071 spent with contributions of $66,514.

Congressman Lindley Beckworth, also a candidate for U. S. Senate, reported he spent $11,191 and received contributions of $6,851.

E. W. Kasper, third candidate for the Senate post being vacated by Sen. Tom Connally, reported expenses of $2,648 and no contributions.

In the governor's race, Gov. Shivers listed expenses of $11,278 and contributions of $6,474.

Ralph Yarborough, Shivers' principal opponent, has spent $33,340, with contributions of $33,338.

Mrs. Allen Traylor says she has spent $531 campaigning for the governor's job and has received a contribution of $11.

At Levelland Tuesday, Daniel advocated a strong plank for state ownership of tidelands in the platform of both Democratic and Republican parties. He predicted the tidelands fight will be a major issue in the next Congress.

He said the tidelands ownership question is a bi-partisan issue because "the Supreme Court's theory of paramount rights is a clear cut threat to ownership of public lands by all 48 states."

White called the proposed farm price policy of the Republican Party "a groundwork for a second great depression."

In a speech at College Station White said the GOP proposal to put farm support prices on a sliding scale basis instead of fixed by law places farmers at the mercy of professional politicians, bureaucrats and corporate interests.

"The present support program is set by law and the farmer knows what prices he can plan on from season to season," White said.

White's own administration was criticized in Wichita Falls Tuesday by one of his opponents, Billy E. Beard.

"This is largely a race on qualifications, but it also includes the issues of proper administration of seed inspection and other regulatory duties of the Department of Agriculture that have not been carried out to the fullest extent by the present administrator," Beard said.

Beard planned stops in Amarillo, Vernon, Quanah, Childress and Clarendon Wednesday.

Mrs. Taft Gets Prepared For A Big Moment

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Robert Taft, confined to a wheelchair since a paralytic stroke two years ago, is conserving her strength for what she hopes will be "the big moment" in her husband's political career.

She wants to go out to Republican Convention Hall to hear the senator's name placed in nomination for the presidency tonight.

Until her illness Mrs. Taft took an active part in her husband's political campaigns. There are practical politicians who say her speeches had a great deal to do with first electing Taft to the Senate in 1938.

She stumped the nation in his first unsuccessful try for the Republican nomination in 1940. She was again a familiar figure throughout Ohio when he campaigned for his second Senate term. He had to make his third race alone, for her illness had struck by that time.

Last Sunday she returned to the political arena. With the senator beside her, she helped receive several thousand at a reception. But she found it overtaxed her and she has been resting since in her hotel suite.

She is expected to be in Cleveland Tuesday, where she will be with the senator when he is nominated.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

County Session Is Set For A Discussion On Rainmaking

A group of Howard County farmers meeting at the Settles Hotel last night went on record with an expression of the belief that the practice of cloud seeding with silver iodide nuclei to increase precipitation has been well enough established as successful to justify giving the farmers and ranchers of this county another opportunity to say definitely whether or not they want to continue with it.

The group elected M. H. Ulmer of Veslmoor as chairman of an attendance committee and voted to call a county-wide meeting to be held at the Court House in Big Spring at 8 p. m., Monday, July 21.

In discussing the matter Ulmer pointed out that Howard was one of 11 counties originally forming the non-profit corporation, the West Texas Weather Improvement District, for the purpose of entering into a contract with the Water Resources Development Corporation of Denver, and that at a county-wide meeting the affiliation of this county was authorized, when J. I. White and R. V. Middleton were elected as directors.

At a later meeting of the directors from all the counties it was agreed that Howard County's quota of the expense should be $8,500 to be raised by enrolling range land at the rate of one cent an acre and cultivated land at the rate of three cents an acre. To date this county is approximately $4,800 short of raising its quota.

The called meeting, Ulmer said, will be for the sole purpose of determining whether or not Howard County shall continue to participate.

Ulmer named an attendance committee composed of farmers, ranchers and business and professional men who are being asked to discuss the matter with their friends and neighbors and to bring as many people as possible with them to the county-wide meeting.

"I have tried to select a representative committee," Ulmer said, "and we hope that all of them will bring a number of people with them to the next meeting, especially women. The only way we know to get a full expression from the people is to have them attend this meeting and express themselves either for or against a continuance of the program. If we are going to continue it, we've got to get busy, and if we're going to drop it, now is the time for that. We want the people to attend regardless of how they feel about it. We want them to attend and express themselves."

Members of the attendance committee named by Ulmer are W. B. Puckett; Jeff Painter; Van Owen; L. C. Underwood; A. H. Shroyer; C. H. De Vane; Thad Hale; M. L. Hamlin; C. B. Lawrence; Ellis Iden; Ross Hill; J. I. White; Bobbie Alhart; M. T. Jenkins; Truett Vines; R. V. Middleton; Rexie Caudle; J. L. Baugh; B. M. Newton; Holiday Wise; N. M. Smith.

Also W. L. Wilson Sr.; Hudson Lender; L. H. Patton; Walter Adams; Rufus Stallings; C. J. Lamb; Tommie Newman; Truman Jones; Ray Rhodes; Culin Grigsby; Oscar Glickman; R. W. Whipkey; G. H. Hayward; Dr. Lee Rogers; Lewis Price; Durward Letter; Melvin Choate; Cecil Leatherwood; J. M. Bradley; R. L. Beale; R. W. Currie; Joe Hayden; Leland Wallace; Dr. W. B. Hardy; G. W. Dabney; Bill Cox; Gabe Hammack; Jim Taylor; Bruce Brazier Jr.; and E. L. Tiner.

Ulmer said Sam Allen, manager of the West Texas Weather Improvement District, has agreed to attend the meeting and discuss the program and district activities. The chairman explained that evidently a number of people favor the program and feel they have not been given a fair chance to participate since no county organization was ever formed to carry on the work and raise the additional funds required to continue Howard County in the program for the full 12 months, or until June 1, 1953. "We want to give them this opportunity," he commented.

He said it was equally as apparent that there is some opposition to the program. "We also want to give these people an opportunity to publicly and openly state their opposition," he added.

The meeting will be open to the public and no person needs a special invitation to attend, Ulmer said.

Russians Veto For 50th Time

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—Russia's Jacob A. Malik today vetoed a United States resolution declaring the Russian germ warfare charges false and condemning their circulation throughout the world. It was Russia's 50th veto since the U. N. began.

The Security Council voted 9 to 1 for the American resolution but the single negative vote of the Russian delegate constituted a veto. The 11th council member, Pakistan, abstained.

The American proposal was put before the council by Ambassador Ernest A. Gross last week after Malik had vetoed an earlier U. S. resolution calling for an impartial investigation of Communist charges that the U. S. and the U. N. are waging germ warfare in Korea and China.

After the vote today Gross said the council had exposed the campaign of "lies and hate" for what it is.

Even the old timers were hard put to remember when Texans could brag about such bracing temperatures in July.

Spotted rain showers cracked the smiles even wider.

Early risers at Dalhart poked their bare feet out into chilly 50-degree weather, the lowest morning temperature in the state. It was 57 before dawn at Lubbock. El Paso had 61.

The cool wave broke records in Houston and Dallas. At 6 a. m. it was 72 degrees at Houston, the lowest minimum for July 9 since 1937 when it was 71. At Dallas the summer "norther" dropped the mercury Wednesday morning to 61 degrees, an all time low for July 9, establishing a record for the second consecutive day.

That was two degrees lower than Tuesday's 63 degrees, another record.

A string of thunder showers dumped welcome rain on many points. Rainfall totals through 6:30 a. m. Wednesday gave Big Spring .11 of an inch, Dallas .01, El Paso .02, Houston .05, Corpus Christi .07, Fort Worth .19, Galveston .39, Laredo .01, Wichita Falls .02, Lubbock .13, San Angelo .20, Palacios .03, Salt Flat .03, Wink .05, Midland .09, Mineral Wells .16 and Marfa .12.

Skies were clear over most of the state Wednesday except the south portion, where it was partly cloudy.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the cool wave would push out into the Gulf of Mexico sometime Wednesday and then—More hot weather.

Employment Hits A Record For June

WASHINGTON (AP)—More Americans had jobs in June than in any previous June on record—63,572,000.

The Census Bureau, reporting this yesterday, said the figure was only 60,000 below the all-time record set in August, 1951.

The bureau said the employment picture was much brighter, with 769,000 more job openings last month than for June a year ago. Most of the new job opportunities were on farms.

Money Bill Signed For 10 Projects

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—President Truman today signed the Interior Department money bill authorizing a start on building 10 new reclamation projects.

Total funds carried in the bill to operate the department for the current fiscal year which ends next June 30 are $541,729,845.

This is $90,421,955 below budget requests for the period.

The new projects, and the amount provided for beginning construction of each include:

New Mexico—Middle Rio Grande, emergency channelization $2,050,000; Tucumcari, $204,000; Vermejo, $410,000.

New Mexico-Texas—Rio Grande $410,000.

Oklahoma—W. C. Austin, $40,000.

Pipeline Bursts, Big Fire Set Off

YORK, Pa. (AP)—A natural gas pipeline burst with a roar and set off a huge fire in a field 15 miles west of York early this morning. There were no injuries reported immediately.

A spokesman for the Texas Eastern Transmission Company said work crews have been sent to the area to determine if the break was in a Texas Eastern line. He said the company operates two pipelines through York County, including the Big and Little Inch which stretch from Texas to New Jersey.

Flames from the fire were visible in York and fire companies from the entire area were alerted.

Big Explosions Take Side Off Mountain

CASTLE DALE, Utah (AP)—One hundred and sixty tons of TNT blew the side of a mountain out of Backhorn Wash in Central Utah yesterday in what Army engineers said was one of the biggest man-made explosions ever set off except for the A-bomb.

Purpose of the blast—which was spied on from every conceivable angle by the latest in cameras and scientific gadgets—was to gather information to help determine how far down man bust burrow—and in what kind of terrain—to be safe from atom bombs.

Russians Told Rooters Hired

WASHINGTON (AP)—Moscow says American presidential candidates will be elected at the Chicago convention by a "small circle of bosses" who hire rooters at $20 a head to cheer for their candidates so the public will believe it has a voice in the selections.

On the basis of Radio Moscow broadcasts to Russian listeners, officials reported today that this was the Communist party line on the way candidates are chosen in the "false American democracy."

To make sure the Russians get the Communist version of what is going on at Chicago, the Moscow radio is running a series of talks by Vladimir Morev, a Soviet journalist who said he attended the Philadelphia conventions four years ago.

Morev said delegates were piled with gifts and advertising souvenirs.

The conventions, he said, were

Just a racket "invented . . . so that naive people should imagine that the votes of candidates are recruited by just these means, and that these candidates are chosen for their personal qualities." "In actual fact," he added, "the question is decided by a small circle of political bosses."

A Bible Thought For Today—

No one can be accepted of God who ignores God's defenseless ones. The fatherless and widow are particularly in the mind and heart of God. No one can with impunity do them injury. "Ye devour widows' houses." — Mark 12:40.

Our First In 83 Years, But U. S. Liner Proves A Nautical Victory

For the first time in 83 years a passenger liner flying the U. S. flag holds the transatlantic speed record, with a margin of ten hours and two minutes from New York to landfall off Britain. The new S. S. United States achieved this record with an average of 35.59 knots—about 41 land miles—per hour, bettering the record set by Britain's mighty Queen Mary.

The United States' time was three days, 10 hours and 40 minutes for the 2,938-mile course from Amherst Light to Bishop's Rock.

The lighter and smaller U. S. vessel—53,000 tons as against the Queen Mary's more than 80,000 tons—had been expected to set a record, but the margin was bigger than optimistic advance claims had indicated.

The United States is capable of handling an entire division of troops in case of war emergency, and her superlative speed should give her a large measure of safety from the attacks of hostile submarines.

Transatlantic speed records start with Columbus' first voyage, of course. From Palos, Spain, to the Gulf of Mexico, the Santa Maria, the Nina and the Pinta required seventy days. The distance covered is unknown, but the three ships sailed past the Canary Islands.

A year later Columbus' fleet made the voyage from Cadiz to Dominica, West Indies, in forty days. That was the best time of any Columbus venture, as the other two voyages required 62 days. The fourth, however, extended all the way to Honduras.

The best time from New York to Britain for a ship in sail was established in 1905 in 12 days, four hours and one minute. The ship was the Atlantic and the occasion was the German emperor's cup race.

The first steamship record from the American mainland to Britain was 26 days, set by the Savannah in 1819.

Modern planes fly the Atlantic in a matter of hours—in one case, about eight hours and some-odd minutes from Idlewild Airport in New York to Prestwick, Scotland.

MacArthur's Keynote Furnished Rallying Point For Unit, Attack

As the GOP convention gets down to the head-knocking and voting today, it does so with a greater chance for bridging the recent cleavage exemplified by contesting delegations. And if it is able to leave Chicago fairly solidly behind one man, the GOP can thank Gen. Douglas MacArthur for a good measure of closing the ranks.

There are those who think that the general may be part of the ticket, and in event of the nomination of Robert Taft, there is a good prospect of this. As for MacArthur heading the ticket, this is rather remote although within the realm of possibility in event of a deadlock.

Regardless of the turn of events, his ringing attack upon the administration will have given direction to the ammunition. Admittedly a Taft supporter, the general did a remarkable job of going down the middle on the Taft-Eisenhower dispute although he did take some stands which were identical with Taft and considerably removed from Eisenhower. Seeing as how he may be architect of some of those positions, this is nothing more than natural.

Like the soldier that he is, MacArthur perceived the weaknesses of the opposition, exposed them and then blasted away. Without saying it, he nevertheless set an example for the GOP to fire its ammunition at the Democrats rather than each other. Withal, he attacked the political opposition without rancor or ugly invective. He spoke positively to what he sounded as a challenge of opportunity. He made it appear as though he were rallying those there as Americans and not as Republicans. Anything more might have subjected his appeal to the infirmities of partisanship; anything less would not have raised a battle standard.

Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

One Democrat Sees Warren As GOP's Only Hope For Victory

CHICAGO.—One of the most important developments of this Republican convention is the big kick the Democrats are getting out of it.

Naturally the Democratic high command in Washington has its observers here, and the reports they are sending back are brimming over with optimism.

Six months ago the Democratic National Committee figured privately the party didn't have a chance. Today, Republican bitterness, the feud between Taft and Ike, the GOP trend toward MacArthur, plus Eisenhower's failure to stampede the nation, have brought poorly concealed joy back to the Democrats.

Some Democrats, Sen. Estes Kefauver among them, now figure they could win more easily against Eisenhower—due to Taft's opposition and the natural tendency of the nation to shy away from a military man.

There is one Republican candidate, however, the Democrats admit they couldn't lick, though they also figure the Republicans aren't smart enough to nominate him. He is Gov. Earl Warren of California.

One Democrat old-timer, who has seen a lot of battles and has been watching the Republican show from the sidelines, expressed it this way:

"When Roosevelt ran for the first time in 1932, he told Jim Farley: 'The only way we can win is to capture a big chunk of Republican votes. The Republicans have been in office a long time and have the majority of registered voters. So we've got to win Republican votes or we are sunk.'"

"But today," continued the Democrat, "the reverse is true. It's the Democrats who have the heavy registration. Most of the kids in this country have never known a Republican President. So the Republicans, in order to win, have got to capture a big block of Democrat votes."

"And Earl Warren is about the only sure-fire candidate who can do it for them. He's done it every time in California. In '42 he won every single one of California's 58 counties. In '46 he won the Democratic nomination as well as the Republican, and in '50 he swamped Jimmy Roosevelt, though Jimmy was no mean campaigner."

"Don't publish this," continued the Democratic leader, "because we don't want the Republicans to get smart for a change and nominate Warren. But they seem to hold it against him because he wins Democrat votes. That, however, is his greatest asset."

"However," concluded my friend, "the Republicans are too dumb to realize it, so I guess it won't make any difference whether you publish it or not. You can always depend on the Republicans to snatch defeat from the jaws of victory."

However, it's barely possible that, if a deadlock should develop between Ike and Taft in the initial balloting, the Republicans might get smart this time and fool the Democrats by nominating the man the Democrats know they can't beat.

A reporter's convention ramblings—Brassy, boisterous Chicago is a discordant symphony of noises—blaring brass bands, booming loud-speakers, whining sirens—one street, screaming down Michigan Avenue, actually turned out to be a fire truck. The fire fighters; swinging red axes, piled into convention headquarters at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. Just a false alarm... Taft and Eisenhower loudspeaker trucks crossed paths, engaged in a loudspeaker duel. The Eisenhower truck ended up cheering for Taft, using his initials: "R-A-T." Rat—Robert Alphonso Taft. Things are really bitter. Taft and Ike rooting squads ranging around town, meeting the trains and jockeying for position in front of the TV cameras... Pretty girls passing out Ike buttons like popcorn from paper bags... Eisenhower fans jeering when Taft fans were forced to confront the Hilton lobby... Pennsylvania's bristly-haired Sen. Jim Duff flagging a cab with a fistful of papers. A cigarette stub in the same hand came close to lighting up Duff's fist like a torch. General Eisenhower, flashing his toothpaste-ad grin, followed by eager rooters and hustling reporters. The rooters beat most of the reporters into the press conference room. Doug Cater of the Reporter Magazine almost got his nose caught in the door.

Persistent Harold Stassen escorted through Conrad Hilton lobby by a small band of rooters, trying to whoop it up for their candidate... California delegates sporting platter-sized Warren buttons, largest of convention... Efficient Taft workers corraling delegates and herding them in to see the senator... General MacArthur, master showman, waiting until the last minute for a dramatic appearance on convention scene. A live, baby elephant tramping down a back street between a policeman and a Taft-bedecked attendant... Taft's three sons wandering unnoticed in convention crowd... That's Chicago, home of the thing unique to America... the political convention.

There was some interesting backstage byplay surrounding the peculiar fact that Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, only woman Republican ever elected to the Senate on her own steam, is not a speaker at Chicago. The man chiefly responsible for keeping her off the speakers' rostrum was Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, regarding whom she once signed a "declaration of conscience."

Last week Mrs. Smith got a phone call from ex-Speaker Joe Martin, chairman of the convention.

"We want you to be one of the chief speakers, Margaret," he said. "You'll have 25 minutes."

Senator Smith said she would be delighted.

But 15 minutes later Joe Martin called back, said he was sorry, but the schedule was tight. She would have to cut her speech to 15 minutes. Mrs. Smith agreed.

Again Martin called back. This time he limited the senator from Maine to five minutes. "And," he said, "you'll have to represent a minority."

"What do you mean, a minority?" asked Senator Smith. "Are we dividing the Republican party up into the Irish, the Greeks, the Jews, the Italians and the Negroes?"

"No," replied Martin. "You represent the women."

"Under the circumstances," replied the senator from Maine, "you can give the five minutes to someone else."

Despite Cheers For Hoover And Mac, GOPs May Favor Ike's Foreign Policy

CHICAGO (U. S. —) The Republican convention, having cheered Gen. MacArthur and former President Hoover, will now probably reject the foreign policy views of both of them.

The party's foreign policy plan is expected to promise, as Gen. Eisenhower suggested, great continued foreign co-operation. In some ways it may go even further than the Truman administration.

This plank was in preparation by a Republican committee, headed by John Foster Dulles, for days before MacArthur and Hoover came here to speak. It may be approved by the convention tomorrow.

Hoover and MacArthur proposed far less foreign co-operation and the U. S. to get hip-deep in Asia, where he had been commander, cast doubt on doing it in Europe, where Eisenhower was in command.

The speeches by these two men in their 70s, and everything else that has happened here so far, were only preliminaries to the main job of the convention: choosing a presidential candidate and adopting a platform.

Events of the first two days have been like a juggling act: a number of balls in the air, some of them eye-catching but not all of them visible.

The contest at Monday's opening session—over letting disputed delegates vote on seating other disputed delegates—was won by Eisenhower, but it was only preliminary to what happened yesterday.

Hearings by the Credentials Committee on the disputed delegations. This committee, dominated by Taft people, will finish up making decisions sometime today.

In turn this is preliminary to the next step: of settling on the convention floor the Eisenhower and Taft factions over the Credentials Committee decisions and vote by the convention on seating what delegates.

Harriman, the Mutual Security administrator, was in Charleston, W. Va., yesterday meeting Democratic leaders. He told newsmen MacArthur "admits we need friends in the world and yet he in fact demands that we go it alone."

Kefauver, campaigning in Duluth, Minn., said MacArthur himself is responsible for some of the Korean situation which he blamed on the Democratic administration.

Meanwhile, Sen. Richard E. Russell of Georgia, another Democratic aspirant to the presidency, appeared to make a hit with Arkansas delegates to the Democratic National Convention opening in Chicago July 21.

At a meeting in Little Rock yesterday, delegates applauded when Harvey G. Combs, an alternate and former state party secretary, told Russell: "You've so nearly expressed the way we want to ask you."

The 22-vote Arkansas delegation is pledged to "favorite son" Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.). Russell asked for second-choice backing.

Baseball, Children And TV Keep Laraine Plenty Busy

NEW YORK—Between the New York Giants, a team which is needing Brooklyn in the National League race, and her husband, Leo Durocher, who is manager of the Giants, pretty Laraine Day has her hands full.

Aside from her movie and stage appearances, she is doing two daily television programs. Also she has to relieve husband Leo from baby-sitting with their two children, Michele, 8, and Christopher, 6.

"Leo doesn't use a baseball bat in enforcing his baby-sitting," Miss Day assured me. "In fact, in contrast to being a manager on a baseball diamond, I think he uses a soft glove when managing the youngsters."

Miss Day has two television shows a day, one called "Day With the Giants" and the other called "A Day With Durocher."

"As a matter of fact," Miss Day said, "I have many other interests in show business other than baseball. Naturally baseball is my prime interest now because of Leo. But when I started originally on radio and television, I did a disc jockey program called 'Night and Day.' Under that title the program could go on for 24 hours a day, although I never tried to do any such marathon."

Political Dope By Pogo

Well, Convention Brings Out Voice Of The People

(Copyright, 1952, Walt Kelly) CHICAGO.—Hugo, the House Detective Mouse, decided last night that he would go for the night life, the cheees, the traps, the hole in wall dives and all like that there. He hummed a little song from a recent conventional comedy. "What'll I do, On Adieu Dew Do We Day?" and disappeared.

So your correspondent went over to the zoo pool where we fell in with a cousin of Churchy LaFemme who has a job turtling.

Perdu LaFemme has watched the old parties come and go. "Some of them turned turtle at the last minute," he says, "but we never left 'em in the union." In the old days he used to hang around with an old box turtle and on convention nights they would take a stretcher out to the suburbs and get the m-selves a box full of fresh air. The city air gets pretty choppy, a 11 clobbered up as it is with adjectives and screams for help in convention time. Suburban air is looser and lighter, has no flat accents in it, says Perdu.

One year they took the wrong stretcher and filled upon air from another section. When they got back to a small Inn and were having a ginger ale, they took out the box of air and found that a nominating speech by a southwestern horned toad had become wedged into the cover. They tried it loose, but it was slippery, got away from them and spread quickly into the dining room. There it got a standing ovation from two cigar store Indians. A part that got splashed over the bar brought fourteen voice votes from the floor where some of the pilgrims were resting.

Perdu says that he has noticed that a Convention brings out the voice of the people. Many show up and are strong against the corrupt burglars who are members of the other party. They are against bribery and you can see it hurts them to have to bribe their way to a good seat in the dining room. Most of them will have nothing to do with corrupt practices (though it is hard to see WHY, in some cases, because a lot of them look as if they could use a steady job) and they get pretty testy when somebody outbids them for a special privilege of some kind. Perdu says nothing makes an honest man madder than sneaky like that.

Around The Rim—The Herald Staff

Magic Soil Powder Still Out Of Reach For Average Users

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

Don't hold your breath Buster, that magic soil powder won't fit your pocket-book for quite some time.

Not so long ago, the press and particularly the segment dealing with agriculture and home gardening, blossomed with glowing accounts of a chemical that worked wonders with stubborn soil.

Nobody actually said it, but one got the impression that a little of this would turn first class paying into a crumbly soft bed in which seeds might nestle with assurance of germination and great growth. Monsanto Chemical Company announced the conditioner first, telling of its product called Krillum. The ingredient which did the dirt was not identified, but Monsanto said that experiments indicated sensational increased crop yields, halting of erosion, etc.

In areas where the soil was given to crusting over, and to braver home gardeners weary of battling brickyard soil, this was little short of sensational. They were red hot by the time they got to the small print which explained that it would be late 1952 or possibly 1953 before it could be put on the market in any appreciable volume. This was in December 1951. Net result was like waving raw beef in front of a bulldog and saying "Sorry, Butch, you can have some year after next."

So it was that others sniffed a harvest ripe upon the plucking. Henry A. Dreer, Inc., came out in May with a product it announced as Flutium, at a modest rate of $9.95 (this sounds suspiciously like a ten spot) per gallon.

The response was estimated at $7 million per year. This bait quickly drew in others, including American Cyanamid, a chemical giant able to stand toe to toe with Monsanto in a slugging match. It had one in powder form and another in flake form for sprinkling. AC did a farm out so that du Pont and others could make and market the stuff under their own trade names.

The market was flooded with conditioners such as Loomium, Solum, Agrilon, Ocorosil, CMC, Aerotil, and Merloam, the latter a hurry-up product cooked up by Monsanto to keep its foot in the door of the market it first opened.

The funny thing about this business is that the discoverer had in mind that it would be a big boon to agriculture because of an ability to agglomerate soil particles and thus give a crumbly texture. This would turn some clays, silt and other earth which packs and crusts into potentially fertile ground. But the supply was so small and the price so high that even playboy farmers couldn't afford to mess with it. Dealing in tiny plots, however, the home gardener could chance $10 or so to see what happened. So these brethren moved into the market and took it over. Companies were obliged to satisfy them because they wanted to be around when production got up and costs down. That's when the long range and stable market will be established, something necessary to justify heavy investments in manufacture and marketing.

Reputable firms are pointing out that no miracles can be worked on soils that really need no help, and maybe yours is one of that kind. So with the price almost equal to gold dust, maybe you better try it out on your geranium first.

Gallup Poll

Political Party Platforms Ignored By Most U. S. Voters

PRINCETON, N. J.—Although a great deal of time and effort go into the writing of presidential party platforms, the voting public pays comparatively little attention to what is said in them.

Of the voters who know what is meant by the term "party platform," only about 4 out of 10 think the public bothers with what the platforms say.

The reason most often given is that platforms do not represent an honest statement of party principles, but merely a "catch-all" to lure voters.

In tests made immediately after the conventions of 1940, 1944 and 1948, it was found that only about a third of the nation's voters bothered to read any of the Republican platforms of those years, and even fewer could remember what was in them.

In testing attitudes today toward the subject of political platforms, the Institute's interviewers first asked a cross-section of voters what in meant by a political party's "platform."

A total of 71 per cent were able to give a correct answer—a program or statement of principles of a party—while 29 per cent either gave vague answers or did not know.

The 71 per cent were then asked: "Do you think many voters pay attention to political platforms today?" Here is the vote:

Yes	28%
No	40%
No opinion	3%

Know what platforms are... 71% Republicans, Democrats and Independents alike agreed in saying that comparatively few people pay much attention to platforms.

Four years ago, shortly after the Republican convention in Philadelphia, the Institute asked a cross-section of voters, "Did you happen to read the Republican platform drawn up at their convention in Philadelphia?"

Only one voter in four had read any part of it. Even among Republicans, only one in three had bothered to examine the statement of party principles.

The Democratic platform got a little better attention.

A grand total of 39 per cent said they had read some part of it, whereas 61 per cent hadn't bothered to look at it.

In 1944 only one farmer in 12 knew what had read some part of the Republican platform was 36 per cent. In 1940, the reader-ship was 26 per cent.

Further evidence of the indifference of the average voter toward platforms can be seen from this fact:

In 1944 only one farmer in 12 knew what the Republican platform said about agriculture, and only one worker in 16 knew what it said about labor legislation.

The party platforms this year may possibly get a different reception.

In view of the fight between the Eisenhower and Taft forces, many voters may wish to study the G.O.P. platform particularly to see what it says about foreign policy.

And in the Democratic camp there is high interest in the question of what stand the party will take on civil rights legislation.

Students of government have long felt that it is awkward for a party to adopt a platform before nominating its candidate, since the candidate may wish to alter some of the platform statements.

In 1928, for example, when Alfred E. Smith was the Democratic candidate, he declared that the platform was acceptable to him except for one plank, which endorsed prohibition.

He campaigned in favor of repeal of the prohibition amendment.

Dutchman Holds Cycling Record

The fastest way a man can travel by using his own muscles is with a bicycle. He can go faster on a bicycle than when running or skating.

Thousands of bicycle races have been held in different parts of the world. The sport of "cycling" is among the features of modern Olympic games.

During the first of the modern Olympics, Emile Mason of France won in a race of 333 meters (about one-fifth of a mile); the time was 23 seconds.

That distance for cycling races was given up at the Olympics, and the same is true of races of several other distances. At two Olympics there were races of 100 kilometers (about 62 miles). C. H. Bartlett of Great Britain covered the distance in 1908 in two hours, 41 minutes and 48 seconds. Bartlett's average speed was almost 23 miles an hour.

The 1,000-meter cycling race has been a lasting event on the Olympic programs. This is for a distance of a bit more than three-fifths of a mile. A Dutch cyclist, Arto van Vliet, cut the time to one minute and 12 seconds during the Berlin games 26 years ago.

A race of 4,000 meters (about two and a half miles) has been held at six Olympics by four-man "pursuit teams." Italian cycling teams have won this event most often, but a French team set up the record of four minutes and 45 seconds in 1936.

Bicycle road races are popular as Olympic events. Forty years ago Rudolph Lewis of South Africa cycled 196 miles in 10 hours, 42 minutes and 39 seconds. An Italian, Attilio Pavoni, made a fine record 20 years later when he covered 82 miles in two hours, 28 minutes and five seconds. The average speed of Pavoni was 25 miles an hour.

Dairymen Wait For Word On Milk Vote

Howard County dairymen say they have not yet been advised when the proposed federal milk marketing order for this area will be put to a referendum vote of the producers, but that they unofficially understand it will be about 30 days from the time it was approved.

The order was approved by the Department of Agriculture in Washington on July 2, and persons wishing to make suggestions as to what shall be included in it have been given until July 23 to file their written views.

The order will not become effective unless it is finally approved by at least two-thirds of the producers in the area who must also vote in the referendum. It was requested by the dairymen in a hearing held at Abilene February 11-15 at which time the dairymen testified that without such an order fixing the price to be paid them for raw milk by the processors that the future of dairying in West Texas would be placed in a very dangerous situation. The order will also provide, if approved, that the dairymen will have the right to be informed as to the grade placed upon the milk they market and the use to which this milk is diverted, whether it is sold as liquid milk or whether it is used in some food product such as cheese or ice cream.

Heretofore laboratory reports on the bacteria count on milk they sell have not been available to the producers and neither has information on whether the milk they sell is being processed as the higher-priced liquid product or as the cheaper grade, converted into other dairy products. The order will make all this information available to the dairymen, and this will, they say, enable them to plan their operations further into the future.

Evidence at the Abilene hearing revealed that West Texas dairymen had been paid less for their milk by processors, who told the producers that surplus of milk existed at the time, while in fact milk was being brought into the West Texas retail market from outside areas where it was being bought cheaper.

Dairymen point out that this is a very difficult time for them because of the drought since practically all milk is being produced on dry feed. The order, if and when put into effect, will cover 19 cities and towns including Big Spring.

Suit Is Settled By 683-Pound Man

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — The damage suit of a 683-pound man who went to court in a moving van was settled yesterday—out of court.

The $75,000 suit of Eugene Atkins 29, a sideshow performer, over injuries he received in a 1951 car accident was settled for $13,475, attorney who said Atkins was paralyzed when the automobile was made, Atkins was lying on a bed in the Courthouse's first floor. His attorney, who said Atkins was paralyzed with a back injury sustained in the accident, had a crane on hand to lift Atkins to the second-floor courtroom—but no window was wide enough.

Navy Needing College Men

Men between the ages of 18 and 27 who have completed at least two years of college work are needed immediately for the Navy's flight training program, according to B. C. Davidson, aviation machinist mate first class, who was a visitor in Big Spring yesterday.

Davidson, who is on duty with the Navy Recruiting Service in Dallas, said the naval aviation cadet program is again wide open after having been closed for more than a year. He explained that a continuing need exists to interest college students, particularly graduating seniors, in naval aviation. He pointed out that for those who expect to have Selective Service obligations to fulfill shortly, naval flight training offers an alternative to ordinary enlisted service.

Graduates who successfully complete the 18-month period of training are either commissioned as ensigns in the Naval Reserve or as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps. When commissioned their pay and allowances amounts to $355.85 per month without dependents or $430.75 with dependents. The pre-flight basic and advanced training is conducted at Pensacola, Florida and at Corpus Christi.

Davidson said that men desiring further information on the program may write Navcad, U.S. Naval Air Training Station, Dallas, Texas. The Navy will pay transportation costs to Dallas for applicants who wish to take the qualifying physical and mental examinations, he said.

Eisenhower Making A Bid For California's Delegates

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH CHICAGO (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, driving for top prize in the grueling race for the Republican presidential nomination, takes his bid before the 70-vote California delegation today.

That group is pledged to Gov. Earl Warren of California, but both Eisenhower and his chief rival, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, are courting the delegation.

They want to be first in line if and when Warren releases his delegates to vote for another candidate.

Warren, whose own candidacy is keyed to the possibility of a Taft-Eisenhower deadlock, invited Eisenhower to meet with Californians.

It was at Warren's suggestion, too, that Taft talked things over with the California group at a meeting yesterday. After that session the delegation chairman, Sen. William Knowland, conferred privately with the Ohioan.

Both said the meeting had no deep significance, but it did nothing to discourage talk of Knowland as the vice presidential nominee—if Warren's darkhorse chances for No. 1 spot on the ticket evaporate.

Both the Taft and Eisenhower camps list Knowland among several others as possible choices for the No. 2 spot.

Eisenhower spent most of yesterday conferring with delegations from various states, including several groups which are largely pro-Taft.

He told the Nebraska delegation it will be a tough job to defeat the Democrats in the November election.

Jap Loan Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is lending Japan 15 frigates and 50 landing craft to help build up that country's new Coast Guard. President Truman signed a bill yesterday authorizing the loan.

TWO BARRIERS LOWERED

Only One Hurdle Is Blocking Negro Defense Rental Project

Apparently only one hurdle blocks construction of a 40-unit defense rental housing project for Negro personnel of Webb Air Force Base.

Remaining obstacle is cost of providing an access road to the Banks Addition, proposed site of the rental housing development. City commissioners Tuesday agreed to pay up to $1,500 for construction of the road, but estimated the route will cost $3,000.

Two other barriers were lowered by the commission when it voted to extend water and sewer facilities to serve the addition in northwest Big Spring. The road and utilities required for loan commitment secure FHA loan commitments for the 40 houses.

Commissioners decided to finance installation of the water and sewer lines, a sewage "lift station" and to participate in the road construction costs after Developer Otis Grafa said he and associates will be unable to provide the facilities required for loan commitments.

Grafa said the rental housing project "is not a safe enough proposition to justify the developers investing" in the road or utilities. He said deadline for meeting the FHA requirements for loans is Saturday.

Under the plan approved by the commission, the city will pay outright half of the estimated $12,000 it will cost to put in the water and sewer lines. Hosea Banks, owner of the land on which the houses are to be built, said he is willing to advance the other $6,000 on the city's five-year reimbursement plan. His investment will be refunded over a five-year period as the 84-lot Banks Addition is developed.

Grafa and Contractor Henry A. Young told the commission they didn't know the specifications for the access road that will be needed.

Thousand Bucks Found in Pint Jar

HAMILTON, July 9 (AP)—Nobody seems to know how it got there, but there was a thousand bucks in a pint jar that an excavating carpenter dug up here yesterday.

While digging an excavation for a one-room addition to the J. A. Schley house, A. M. Couch came across the jar about 14 inches beneath the ground.

He turned the 11 fifty-dollar bills, the 22 twenties and the ten over to Sheriff Woodie Young who deposited the money in a bank and called the F. B. I.

for the development. They also said there was a possibility that two roads will be required—one from the south and the other from the Andrews Highway to the north of the addition.

Commissioners pointed out that a 10-block street will have to be opened to connect the area with the city to the south, and that right-of-way would have to be secured if a road is to be opened from the north. They said the city could afford to invest only $1,500 in the road, or roads, since $6,400 already has been spent in extending water main to a portion of the Banks Addition and $12,000 will be needed to complete the job.

Estimates of additional expenditures needed were $4,135 for water, $8,107.50 for sewer, and $3,000 for one access route.

Grafa said he already has received certificates for the loans from private investors, but needed assurance of the service facilities for securing the FHA loan guarantee commitments.

He said he had "applied reluct-

Cotton Estimate Too High, State Commissioner Says

COLLEGE STATION, July 9 (AP)—State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White believes the U. S. Department of Agriculture has over-estimated Texas' 1952 cotton plantings by 250,000 to 300,000 acres.

Yesterday the government estimated 11,325,000 acres were planted to cotton on July 1 in Texas. In 1951 Texas' 11,900,000 acres produced 4,100,000 bales.

"That 11,325,000 figure is probably 250,000 to 300,000 acres too high," White said. "The very best we could do this year would be 4,500,000 bales. We need more rain. If there is another late summer drought there could be a tremendous acreage abandonment."

White, a candidate for re-election and frequent critic of the USDA crop estimating system, said yesterday's rains in the South Plains helped cotton "but there isn't any part of Texas except along the coast where we don't need heavier, longer rains to replenish the sub-soil moisture. One rain won't do it."

Al Richardson Handcuffs Cayuses With 3-Hitter

Al Richardson, a school teacher who likes to spend his summers playing baseball, taught the Big Spring Broncs a thing or two here Tuesday night when he pitched the Vernon Dusters to an 8-1 victory.

Richardson, who wears glasses, hurled a three-hitter at the Cayuses and should have had a shut-out. He had only himself to blame for the run the provincials got. He was only one out removed from the whitewash when he threw erratically to first base in an attempt to arrest Witty Quintana, permitting Rick Gonzales to scoot home from second base. Gonzales had doubled.

The Dusters, performing not at all like a cellar ball club, made capital of the offerings of Reggi Corrales. They led from the first inning on, picking up two tallies in that canto when, with runners at second and third, Joe Neidson went for a 3-0 pitch and hit a daisy-cutter past second base into center field.

That would have been enough but the North Texans picked up two more in the sixth when John Reimold crashed out his fifth home run with the bases deserted and Neidson, after walking, scored on a balk and a one-baser by Art Neal.

The Dusters, in high spirits, closed out gloriously, getting four runs in the ninth.

Lou Ehlinger led off the frame with a round-tripper, his first, and Pompeyo Carerras, George Hayes and Reimold later spiked the dish after Corrales lost his touch completely and had to give way to Bert Estrada.

Richardson didn't allow a man past first until the ninth, when Gonzales doubled off the left center field fence. Al Costa had singled in the third and Quintana in the fourth. The Vernon hurler did not ramble on a base on balls.

RAMBLINGS—The game, which was played before a crowd of 1,000 plus, was completed in an hour and 45 minutes. The turnout was attracted by a rabbit stunt and the Vernon players cleaned up in that, too. LeRoy Finkler and Steve Lagomarcino, two Duster hurlers, ran the bases down and collected $5 each from Gilbert Gibbs and Harold Steck, who dreamed up the act.

Corrales was seeking his eighth win and instead had to accept his sixth defeat, the last three of which have been in a row. Richardson's record is now 5-5. Of the five men Estrada faced in the ninth after coming in relief, he walked two. Richardson aided his own cause with two safeties.

Fourteen New Names Added
To Polio List

By The Associated Press
The painful task of adding new names to the growing list of polio victims continues throughout Texas
Wednesday.

Fourteen new names were added
Tuesday in three cities alone—
Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth.
The additions made a total of 638 persons treated in 100 wards of those cities this year.

In Houston, where the polio epidemic continues without letup, there were seven new victims and nine other possible polio cases.
There have been 18 deaths among the 439 polio victims treated in Houston hospitals.

Dallas reported five new victims, making a total of 128 for the year.
A total of only 29 cases had been reported on July 8, 1951.

Fort Worth hospitals admitted two new patients, one from Weatherford and one from Sherman.

In San Antonio, an entire Big Spring family is in the hospital.
Airman Alvin Miller, 26, and his wife, 19, from Webb Air Force Base, are both in a serious condition from polio. Their 16-month-old son, Alvin Miller Jr., is in the hospital but his case has not been diagnosed as polio.

Posthumous Award To Kentucky Soldier

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced today the posthumous award of the Medal of Honor to Pfc. David M. Smith of Livingston, Ky., who smothered the explosion of an enemy grenade with his body.

By his action the 23-year-old regular Army soldier gave his life to save five nearby comrades during a bitter night battle near Yongsan,
Korea, Sept. 1, 1950.

Strike Is Blamed For Production Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Railroad officials blame the steel strike in part for cutting June output of new railway freight cars to 6,411 units.
Deliveries in June, 1951, were 9,944 cars.

The American Railway Car Institute and the Association of American Railroads said yesterday
May, 1952, production totaled 6,857 cars and the backlog of new orders on July 1 amounted to 99,615 units.

Elevator Men
Testifying In
CCC Grain Case

AMARILLO, July 9 (AP)—Grain elevator managers testified yesterday that C. M. Henderson, former mayor of Farwell and a prominent grainman, sold Commodity Credit Corporation grain as his own during 1950 and 1951.

Jack Greenman, of Fort Worth, told the Federal Court here that Henderson's company sold 25,000 bushels of wheat and more than a million and a half pounds of milo to the Uhlman Elevator Company during five months in 1951.

Greenman is manager of the Uhlman firm. During his three hours on the witness stand, he said the wheat and milo was shipped to storage and later was bought by his company, Henderson, he said, received drafts as each shipment was received.

Henderson is charged with theft and conversion of the government grain. An original indictment returned against him contained 58 counts and alleged conversion of 114,820 bushels of wheat and 15-
152,345 pounds of grain sorghums said to be worth $1,056,119. Five of the counts were dismissed on a prosecution motion.

Others who have testified against Henderson included two former managers who worked at his grain elevators at Farwell and Lariat
Both men, Manell Granfill and Asa Smith, said each elevator had shortages of millions of pounds of grain during 1950 and 1951.

City Tries Trading With Railroad Men

CORSICANA, July 9 (AP)—The city hopes to do a little train trading with the Southern Pacific lines.

Officials offered yesterday to refrain from contesting an application to discontinue a slower round-trip passenger schedule if the railroad will make Corsicana a regular stop for the Dallas-Houston crack Sunbeam.

The offer was made to Southern Pacific officials at a meeting with the Chamber of Commerce executive committee and the City Commission. The railroad wants to discontinue trains 15 and 16.

Representing the company were
J. J. Moore, Houston, assistant general manager; H. H. Gray, Houston, general passenger agent; and
F. E. Hoefler, Ennis, superintendent.

Hike Is Sought For Wholesale Gas Rate

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The Texas Gas Transmission Corp.
asked the Power Commission yesterday for permission to raise by about $8,650,000 its wholesale natural gas rates to utility customers in an eight-state area from Louisiana to Ohio.

The application is designed to meet objections of the Commission which rejected a previous rate increase bid 10 days ago.

The new rate schedule is about 24 per cent greater than that now in effect. It would become effective in a month.

Pre-Trial Routine
Into Third Day

DALLAS, July 9 (AP)—The questioning of prospective jurors to hear Cop-Killer Robert Hugh Barber's armed robbery trial continued today as the pre-trial routine went into its third day.

Half of the 12-man panel has been selected from a list of 48 veniremen questioned. Only two were selected yesterday in the drawn out procedure which lived only when Criminal District Judge
Henry King called Barber's father down for talking to the jurors.

Robert Hugh Barber Sr., a short, bespectacled man, denied he tried to influence anyone, but admitted that he spoke to one panel member and had chatted with some of the veniremen.

Most of the 48 called were disqualified by saying they could not conscientiously give anyone the death penalty in an armed robbery case. Prosecutors will ask death.

Barber is already under 50-year sentence in Tarrant County for murder of Fort Worth Detective H. E. Cleveland. The detective was killed when he and other Dallas and Fort Worth police officers tried to arrest Barber at his home for a safe holdup.
