Close Races Expected In Wednesday Run-offs

Vol. XXVII Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Tuesday, February 26, 1952 No. 9

"Every Dog Has His Day," But Profs Now Have Their Week

By Pat Edwards
Treador Society Editor

A stranger on the campus this week might be surprised to see teachers bowed under with the weight of fruit, candy and flowers, and with willing students scurrying to and fro at their teachers' every beck and call.

We haven't seen anything like that either, but a stranger would be surprised to see it—and after all, this is "Be Kind to Faculty Week."

Part of the above scene might take place though, if Pat Johnson, senior journalism student from Lefors, has her way. Pat plans to organize a fruit shower for some lucky instructor, wherein every student in a class brings some article of fruit and presnets it to the teacher.

Ely Cuts For Rest

Suzy Ely, freshman physical education major from Fort Worth, says that she plans to quit going to classes this week and give her teachers a rest.

On the contrary, Warren Forsythe, senior music education major from Los Angeles, Calif., intends to do all he can for his instructors in the hopes that they will return the favor in the weeks to come.

Some instructors have already been benefited by the special week, like Dr. J. William Davis, head of the government department, who was taken to coffee Monday morning by two of his students. At the other side of the picture, however is Wallace Jackson, speech instructor, who said sadly, "My students don't like me; they won't do anything for me."

Bob Schmidt, senior horticulture major from Lubbock, picked a unique way to please an instructor when he failed a quiz Monday so the instructor could know what a hard quiz he had given.

See BK to FW, page 8.

Recognition Day To Award Honors

Four degrees will be conferred upon Tech students during the annual All-College Recognition day, March 19, according to James G. Allen, dean of student life.

The degrees are college, for those honored for the fourth time; divisional, for those honored for the third time; class, for those honored for the second time, and individual, for those recognized for the first time.

Also to be honored in the service will be holders of scholarships, prizes and awards who have maintained a 2-point grade average for all college work.

Recommendations for the services are to be made by a committee under the director of W. P. Clement, registrar.

Phillips Will Head Traffic Court Replacing Webster

Red Phillips, senior arts and sciences student from Azle, will replace Brian Webster, senior engineering student from Lubbock, as head of the Tech traffic court, said Bob Schmidt, student body president.

Webster failed to meet scholastic requirements for the position. Phillips, who had served as a member of the court, will be replaced by Roy Grimes, senior arts and sciences student from Lubbock.

BK to FW Fellowship Days Stated Thursday, Friday

Thursday and Friday will highlight Be Kind to Faculty Week which arrived on the campus Monday and will continue through Friday.

During these two days, the Rec hall will serve coffee only to a student or group of students who are accompanied by a faculty member—and vice-versa.

In case you haven't heard, B. K. to F. W. is a week set aside for students to "fellowship" with the faculty—those persons on the campus who are wearing red and black ribbons these days.

P.S. You don't have to wait until the weekend for faculty coffee!

TISA CONVENTION—Approximately 300 high school students from this area attended a convention sponsored by district 1, Texas Intercollegiate Students association, for the purpose of being introduced to college life. Members of a discussion panel are Lorine Gunner, Wayland; Sammy Dunn, Tech; Calvin Thielman, West Texas State; Clyde Austin, ACC and Joan Crawford, Hardin-Simmons.

Student Council Committee to Select Campus Leaders for Recognition

Routine reports and committee appointments filled the agenda of regular Student council meeting Monday in Ad219.

A seven-member committee was appointed by SC President Bob Schmidt to select persons to be honored for student leadership at the All-College Recognition service which will be held March 19 in the Gymnasium.

Jack Alderson, SC vice-president; Rodney Balke, engineering representative; Jim McGraw, arts and sciences; Mary B. Turner, engineering; Nancy Crosby, home economics; Harold Brannan, business manager and Elizabeth Schovajsa, secretary, will serve on this committee.

TISA Conference

Persons desiring to attend the Texas Intercollegiate Student association conference March 6 through 8 in El Paso must report to the SC office by Tuesday.

Non-councilmen who wish to attend the meeting may do so with the approval of the executive members of the council, Schmidt added.

The campus telephone situation was discussed in a meeting held for Feb. 14 between student and administrative representatives and a representative from Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

Three Lines In Use

At the present time lines of five dormitories lines are in use. The company representative will investigate the possibility of increasing capacity of dormitory lines by: (1) additional "trunk" or "conversation" lines from the Lubbock system; (2) direct connection between men's and women's dormitories or (3) a combination of the preceding.

Police Patrol

A request that the Lubbock police patrol the campus after dark will be incorporated into recommendations about campus driving the Student Traffic court will submit to the council and the police department.

The question was raised by Mc-

Graw because of attachments which have been stolen from automobiles of dormitory residents.

A budget report, submitted by Brannan, showed a balance of $1,171.58 in the SC general fund. A breakdown of this gives $144 to campus lighting; $129.33 to the dance fund, and $631.83 to the Varsity show fund.

Remaining business taken up was a suggested evaluation on the method of choosing candidates for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, the worth of the student Traffic court and the TISA meeting held Saturday on the campus.

Sophomores To Map Plans For Annual Hodge-Podge

Plans for Hodge-Podge, annual dance sponsored by the sophomore class, will be discussed when the class meets at 5 p.m. Wednesday in Aggie auditorium, according to Bill Burton, sophomore president.

The dance is traditionally an all-college event, at which the sophomore favorites are presented.

Oil Company To Interview May and August Graduates

Parke A. Dickey, head of geological research of the Carter Oil company, will interview May and August graduates Friday for positions on research projects connected with the production of oil.

Interviews will be conducted for those with majors in chemistry, chemical engineering, petroleum engineering, petroleum geology and physics. Opportunities are available for all levels of degrees.

Maylene Meister Matlock is now at home in Russell, Kan. Her husband is with the Phillips Petroleum company. Maylene is a '51 home economics major. She was

New Red Win,—No Siberian Sun

The Soviet Union's publicity boys will probably try to claim that now Mother Russia has won a victory over the elements.

Reports concerning the total eclipse of the sun, which was due to occur at 4:30 a.m. (CST), Monday indicate that the rare event was visible to Hammer-and-Sickle scientists in Siberia—but invisible to starry-eyed seers in the United States.

Thus, if any local stargazer sat on an icy rooftop in the morning's zesty zephyrs, he was robbed of his chance to see Old Sol upstaged by the moon.

Techsians will have to be content with watching for heavenly bodies from classroom windows.

FISH TO RECEIVE REPORTS

Freshman progress reports, for entering freshmen only, will be out March 7, according to W. P. Clement, registrar. The reports will be mailed to the students and their parents at that time, he said.

Hardy M. Benson, Jr., 1949 electrical engineering major, has a position with Collins Radio corporation in Dallas.

Varsity Show Director Will Interview Talent, Technical Staff of 1952 Musical

Applicants are now being sought for sub-directors for music, lighting, dramatics, dance and stage sets for the 1952 Varsity show, said Shirley Sears, director.

Interested students are asked to apply for the positions in the Student council office, Ad161. The director said work is to begin immediately on the 1952 production.

A script will definitely be selected this week by the director and the Varsity show committee. Hardy Clemons is in charge of publicity for the show. Charles Joplin is committee chairman.

Two Student council positions will be filled Wednesday in a run-off election, according to Bob Schmidt, council president.

A close battle is expected to develop between Liz McCain, junior government major, and Sammy Dunn, junior history major, in the race for the arts and sciences post vacated by Rhea Myers McKee.

Miss McCain's platform is one of unity between the student body and faculty, "in order that our common goal of building minds and souls through continued study and fellowship, can be carried out more effectively."

The study of an honor system is one of the main points of Sammy Dunn's platform. "I believe it will work here at Tech if it is accepted," concluded the candidate.

Another hot race is shaping-up in the run-off between Buddy Barron junior management major, and Bob Storey, junior marketing major, for the position in the business administration division. The position was vacated by Harold Brockett.

"I want the student body to know that I will take a definite stand to get a better parking system and to get the parking lots paved around the Mens' dorms," said Bob Storey.

Buddy Barron could not be reached for comment.

Schmidt said that the polls will be open in the Administration building from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The victor of the races will be installed in a regular student council meeting March 10, Schmidt said.

SC MEMBERS TO EL PASO

Approximately 15 Student council members will attend the state convention of student councils to be held in El Paso March 6 to 8, according to Bob Schmidt, council president.

The convention will be on the Texas Western college campus.

Senior Carnival Is Set March 29

Tech's annual Carnival has been scheduled for March 29 in the Administration building, according to George Morris, senior class president.

The 1952 carnival will feature booths by various campus organizations. Letters requesting participation in the event have been mailed to all clubs, Morris said.

Roy Grimes, chairman of the booth committee, plans to contact the presidents of all clubs to make definite arrangements for booths. Deadline for entry of carnival booths has not been set.

Profits from the carnival will go into the 1952 senior class gift fund, Morris stated. Last year's senior class gave funds for a marble floor in the patio of the new Student Union building, now under construction.

Talent auditions for students who want to take part in the show will be scheduled soon, Miss Sears stated. Applications for acting in the production are to be submitted to the council office, or directly to the director.

Miss Sears said she is hoping for a large number of applicants for all positions, and expects to interview each applicant personally.

Director for last year's Varsity show, "Rec Hall Echoes," was John McAleer. Harry Parker was author of the script.

Tech German Club To Sponsor Annual Liederkrantz Melodien with Cast of 23

You've probably listened to such songs as "Down Yonder," "Tea for Two," and "The Tennessee Waltz" as Eddie Arnold sings them, but you haven't heard anything yet.

These numbers will be "rendered" in the Liederkrantz Melodien—1952, the Texas Tech German club's annual 1952 German variety show. The student-written produced, and directed production will be presented in the Foreign Language Playhouse in the Administration Building at 7:30 p.m., March 4.

Cast Includes 23

Donald Smiley and Jack Burgess, both of Lubbock, are the directors. Several of the 23 member cast contributed to the composition of the script.

Theodor Alexander, instructor in German and club sponsor, said enough English "bridges" would be spoken for the non-German linguist to enjoy the show.

A trio composed of Foster Cook, Betty Harberer, and Frankie Boyd will be featured in some modern German and Austrian hit songs, obtained from Mrs. Hildegrade Lehman, a European war-bride who works as a secretary in the Chemistry Department. Becky Bentley and other members of the cast will give German versions of such songs as "Down Yonder," "Tea for Two," and "Stormy Weather"—the German names for which are unspellable.

Second Production

The scene of the German variety show, the second annual production, is a television station at Tech. The various mysteries, dances, commercials, and musical numbers are presented as part of the television program.

One number, "The Tennessee Waltz," is being carried over from the 1951 show, since it was so well received.

Cast Listed

Area Music Instructors Conduct Meeting at Tech

Fifteen music teachers from various parts of West Texas and New Mexico met in the new music building Saturday to set up the framework for the Southwest Choral Festival association.

The group made plans to conduct a festival in Lubbock next November to which choral groups from a large area including the Oklahoma panhandle and part of New Mexico will be invited.

Elected president of the newly formed organization was Richard Richards, choral director of Lubbock Senior High school.

Other officers for the group are J. T. Herndon, Fort Davis, vice-president; Imogene Webster, Lub-

Approximately 60 head of swine, 15 head of beef cattle, and 15 dairy animals are expected to be entered in the annual show. Judging will start at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Other participants include: Donna Upton, Kermit freshman; Hassen Karimi, Teheran, Iran, junior. Bettie Shipman will be featured at the piano.

The production is free to the public.

A "get acquainted" picnic was held in McKenzie park February 15 and a smoker was held February 19.

Officers for the spring semester are Jimmie Mason, headmaster; Donald Bagwell, senior warden; Homer Clements, junior warden; Weldon Harris, scribe, and Evans, historian.

Other officers include: Gene Hemmle, head of the music department, reporter.

What's Happened? . . .

When is Tech to have its long talked of baseball diamond? Several semesters ago the Tech Chamber of Commerce began, as a project, to raise funds for a baseball field to be constructed north of the gymnasium.

Last fall it was reported that the money had been raised and construction of the field was scheduled to begin soon. Funds were turned over to the campus architect. That's the last we've heard of it.

We're wondering what has caused the delay. Surely building materials are available, since construction is progressing on several buildings on the campus. If more money is needed, this fact should be made known so that necessary funds can be raised.

Baseball has been a rather neglected sport at Tech in past years, mainly because the college was not equipped with an adequate baseball diamond. Intra-club matches have been played on various open spaces on the campus, but lack of lighting facilities has made night games impossible and there has been no place for seating spectators.

The hopes of students interested in baseball were aroused when announcement came that the Chamber of Commerce project was completed and construction of the diamond was to begin soon. But lately we've heard no word concerning the proposed field; it looks as though baseball games will continue to be played on vacant lots on the campus.

Whatever has caused plans for the field to lag should be made public, in order that steps can be taken to complete the project.

B. K. to F. W. Is Here . . .

Take your professor out to coffee with the gang this week. Remember it has been designated as BE KIND TO FACULTY WEEK by an official proclamation from the president of the Student body.

This week we will have an opportunity to show appreciation to our profs for their tireless efforts in pounding knowledge into our heads.

According to the proclamation, the following rules are to be observed:

1. Students shall speak to all members of the faculty.
2. Students shall always give the faculty the right of way in order that the faculty may get to class on time.
3. Students shall not sleep during exams.
4. Students shall not take notes on a typewriter, as this
5. Students shall invite faculty members to coffee in the Green room. Dutch, of course.

BE KIND TO FACULTY WEEK is being sponsored by Forum. Faculty members will be easy to recognize during this week's observance, as they will be supplied with a small red and black ribbon to be worn on the coat lapels or dresses.

Although the following originally came out in another paper, we thought we could at least pass on the advice it offered—ATTENTION AGGIES!

"When a Miner (from the Colorado School of Mines) gets up in the morning, the first thing he thinks is: 'Do I look better in blue, brown or tweeds?' This particular Miner decides that he looks best in blue; so, without a moment's hesitation he scoops his best pair of custom-tailored Levis, (with the 1952 adhesive-tape look) off the floor, and dons them. Next he picks up his hand-made, also off the floor, Blue Bell work shirt. After buttoning one or two buttons, he is ready for his footgear . . . These shoes are Oxford black with a new modern appearance, plain all over with a 10-inch top and a raunchy strap across the front!"

In short, the above is how to easily achieve the Esquire look of "rich, dark colors, easy hanging lines, a minimum of padding in the shoulders." Now all he needs is a hat.

One Lubbock doctor who is teaching a class at Tech came up with a new reason for being late. Just as he was leaving his office, a phone call was received from a woman who declared that it was an emergency and would not wait.

The doctor sighed and said, "Yes?"

"This is Mrs. So-and-So. You must remember my daughter whom you treated about five years ago. Anyway she is going to take a tumbling class in school and I don't want her to. Would you please give her an excuse?"
Emergency, yet.

Group of people walked into one of the local coffeeeries the other day. As the five students prepared to sit down in the large corner booth (featured by most places catering to the coffee trade), one of them remarked, "Why don't we take a little booth? There's only four of us."

The others looked at each other and decided the speaker should just not work for a few days and then he would be as good as even. The incident almost forgotten, they looked up in astonishment as the waitress said, "Six coffees?"
One, two, three, four. . .

"Hey Ed . . . Do you know anything about nature?"

Writer Claims Coeds Are Letting Us Down

by John Norcross
Toreador Editor

Have college women let us down? According to a recent article by Howard Mumford Jones, sent us by Mademoiselle, they're letting everyone down, including themselves.

He finds a "withering away of the sense of intellectual adventure, of individual inquiry among American college women." The belief is prevalent now, he says, that security is the end-all of existence.

Jones goes further to say that the average college girl hasn't "the foggiest suspicion of the truth that to maintain the security she takes for granted, she may have to do something more about it than she does."

She wants a job, but not a career, he claims. She wants a white-collar husband, but also a ranch house, "interesting" neighbors, and an income of $10,000 a year ten years after college. Jones accuses her of getting her lessons without applying her mind and of not having one whit of interest in the world about her; in modern art, literature or philosophy.

"A dark unreasoning fear has her in its grip. This is her fear of the future—dominated by the atom bomb," he comments. He claims she is pessimistic and confused, but is still unwilling to act. "The world, for the college girls, is teetering on the brink of change, it is going to teeter there for the next few decades, and that's that."

On the whole, while Professor Jones no doubt has seen much of the pessimistic attitude about which he writes, the article leaves one feeling thoroughly discouraged with young womanhood, which we think should not be the case.

It college women today are not so vitally interested in modern art, perhaps it is because they are too busy with the everyday activities of college life.

The Harvard professor seems, at least to us, to be speaking out of turn, since he teaches at an all-male college and could not possibly have much time to observe women on other campuses. Unlike the professor, we have attended only co-educational schools, and we have certainly not seen many of the pessimistic, negative-minded creatures he describes.

We believe college women ARE interested in the world about them. This is evidenced on our own campus by the many civic projects sponsored by women's organizations. Even though the majority of college women are not of voting age, we frequently hear discussions on national affairs; college woman, it seems to us, are more vitally interested in the doings of their nation than older women.

Perhaps Professor Jones has a distorted idea of what college women should be. Being an English prof, he may suppose that because college women don't take an enthusiastic interest in

About The Campuses

This latest word on draft deferment tests comes from the University of Texas. "A survey conducted by the Educational Testing service revealed 63 percent of the engineering students made passing grades . . . physical science and mathematics students ran a close second with 64 percent . . . students in humanities, biological sciences, and general arts dominated the middle bracket with 63 percent . . . only 42 percent of the business and commerce students passed . . . and education students trailed with 27 percent passing."

The Missouri Miner reports a lack of school spirit regarding its basketball team. The students, who stay away from basketball games by the droves, do not even ask if the team won, but only "How badly did we lose that one?"

Pay phones are causing a furious debate at Texas A&I in Kingsville. Free phone service in the boys' dorms has been removed because of an ever increasing bill, caused by boys making long distance calls and forgetting or neglecting to pay for them. Now the boys are threatening everything from a "potential pay phone rebellion" to "Finding means for a more effective Student council."

"Do you know what your best Trinity university in San Antonio features are? Do you know what your best colors are?" The girls at had a good chance to find out last week when the representative of Revlon's New York College board was on the campus. Her service included lectures and demonstrations showing proper technique in selection and application of makeup.

the "Canterbury Tales" and "Paradise Lost", they are not interested in current events. Or maybe he thinks they should stay home from a dance to write poetry.

College women may not live up to all the expectations of their professors, but as far as their interest in "the world about them," we can find no call for complaint.

BACKTALK

Editor's note: The column referred to in the following letter was written by Pat Johnson instead of Shirley Johnson.

Dear Editor:

We were reading the column by Shirley Johnson, and we are in complete agreement with her about not being given enough advance notice of elections.

We propose that a notice be given in advance that the students can inspect the candidates running for office and the ideas they uphold. A longer pre-election period would also give the candidates time to make speeches and conduct a livelier campaign. As long as the students of Tech don't know the candidates or the ideas on which they are campaigning, they can't be expected to take an active interest in the politics on the campus.

We also propose that more elections be held to express the student body's opinion of questions of controversy that may arise. We are sure that the Administration doesn't want to go against student feelings, and student voting would show the attitude of the students toward policies of the Administration.

Yours for more student voice in the government on the campus.

Tech Band Concert Highlights Music Educators Meeting in Mineral Wells

"We wowed 'em!" exclaimed a Tech band member after the concert for the Texas Music Educators Association convention in Mineral Wells February 6 to 9.

"The Tech band concert was one of the highlights in a series of programs that I consider among the best that we have had at any TMEA convention," said Estill Foster, retiring president of the association. To prove the truth of these remarks, Dr. D. O. Wiley, director, received a trophy for the outstanding work he has done with the Tech band and for TMEA.

This success of the band is due to work by Dr. Wiley, Assistant Director Joe Haddon and the 101 band members. In addition to the regularly scheduled rehearsals five days a week, extra rehearsals are often called before a concert or a trip such as the recent one to Mineral Wells.

During the fall and spring semesters of each year the band makes at least sixty public appearances at football and basketball games, pep-rallies, the Homecoming parade, convocations, Religious Emphasis Week services, concerts and out-of-town trips. They go to one out-of-town football game each fall, and make a concert tour in the spring. A four-day trip is being planned for sometime in March.

Tech's band is one of the few in the nation open to students who are not music majors. A member does not have to be in Arts and Sciences to be a member. Although that division leads with 50 students, there are also two from home economics, three graduates, seven from agriculture, 19 from engineering and 20 from business administration.

Records reveal 41 freshmen, 31 sophomores, 15 juniors, 11 seniors and 3 graduate students are enrolled this semester.

Signal Club Members Plan Date Picnic Outing March 2

Plans were made for a picnic to be held March 2 for Signal club members and their dates, at a regular meeting of the club, Tuesday, according to Coffee Conner, president.

Approximately 30 members attended the meeting, and the group was served coffee after the business session.

Other business discussed was the possibility of sending delegates to a national convention of the Armed Forces Communication Association April 24 in Philadelphia, Penn. The group also began preparations for the Ground Force ball set for March 8.

Sock and Buskin to Meet

A called meeting of Sock and Buskin will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the speech auditorium, according to Jo Simmons, president.

All members are urged to be present at the meeting, because officers for the spring semester will be elected.

Modern Dance Classes Help Students Develop Grace in Individual Expression

"But they look so strange. I can't understand what they mean."

Such might be the average layman's comment when he witnesses his first modern dance program. But modern dance is really not strange at all—at least not when one begins to understand that individual expression is foremost in the modern art.

Dorothy B. Hoyle, instructor in physical education for women, explains that modern dance is similar to ballet, except that there are no conventional positions that express certain emotions; everything is left to the individual performer.

A new art in the field of the dance, modern dance classes have been conducted at Tech for three years. "Our modern dance program at Tech continues to grow each year," the instructor said. She hopes to encourage men as well as women to take part. On other campuses throughout the nation, she explained, men are just as apt at the art as women students. Modern dance exhibitions are often presented as halftime entertainment at football games, she said.

Far from being a "girlish" or

"sissy" activity, modern dance is one of the most strenuous of all physical activities. It is often listed as next to football in point of physical exertion, she explained.

This year's class in advanced composition of modern dance has experimented with every type of music "from Bogie to Bach." With about 20 students in the class, work is now being done with various types of "blues" numbers. "Modern dance is not limited to one type of music," the instructor stated. "We experiment with popular and classical music in many forms."

Disciples Student Fellowship Attend State Convention

The Disciples Student Fellowship of the First Christian church attended a state convention at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, Saturday.

Speakers were Paul Wasson, opening speaker of last semester's religious emphasis week, and Rhodes Thompson, guest speaker of youth assembly at the climax of the recent youth week.

Students who attended the convention are Connie Haynes, Alathia Baldwin, Jean Gillum, Ed Osterloh, Carol Thompson, John Parker, Ken Holt, Kenneth Davis, Bob Larrabee, Fred McKeelvey, Allene Portwood, Raymond Barrier, and Brock Fifer.

Wayne Selsor, campus minister, accompanied the group and spoke at the convention.

The group return Sunday.

ROTC Program Is Revised For 1952 Summer Session

A revised ROTC summer program will go into effect for the 1952 session, it was announced by military science officials.

Students in ROTC will be able to complete a year's work during the summer. They will be able to take three semester hours of work each six weeks of the summer session.

The revision will only effect freshmen and sophomores, the announcement said.

Speech Correction Clinic To Be Held During Summer

A speech correction clinic will be conducted at Tech during the first semester of the summer session by the speech department, said Dr. P. Merville Larson, department head.

The clinic will have a two-fold purpose: to give teachers training in special education, and to help children with speech defects. College credit will be given for work in the clinic.

English Professor Coaches Tech Tennis Team to Victory

Tech's tennis team fared far better than expected on a two-match tour that carried the Raiders as far as the Arizona Intercollegiate tournament at Tucson, Ariz.

Coach Roy Male's charges opened the road trip with a 4 to 1 victory over a strong Texas Western team and followed that with a clean sweep over New Mexico A&M.

David Clark, high-flying Tech freshman and No. 1 Raider netter, went all the way to the semi-finals in the Arizona tournament before being eliminated by Jiggs Dye, University of Arizona's No. 1 man and topseded in the tournament, 6 to 4, 6 to 4.

In the same tournament, Clark and Buddy Satterwhite lost a doubles match to Dye and Bill Crary, 6-2, 7-5.

The Raiders took seven singles matches and three doubles matches against Texas Western and New Mexico Aggies, losing only one singles match in the process, that being Clark's loss to Winston Farguear, top Miner netter. Farguear trimmed Clark 7-5, 6-1.

Against the Miners, Satterwhite won on default; Richard Clark beat Teddy Pye 3-6, 6-3, 6-2; and Jimmy Burgess walloped John Duffis 6-1, 6-0. D. Clark and Satterwhite teamed in the doubles to down Farguear and Pye, 6-1, 6-2.

D. Clark downed Jody Williams 6-4, 6-1; Satterwhite trimmed Wilbur Connally 4-6, 6-1, 6-4; R. Clark beat Cody Williams 6-2, 6-2; and Burgess whipped Ed Lockhart 6-2, 6-1.

In the doubles, D. Clark and Satterwhite beat Jody and Cody Williams 6-4, 6-1 and R. Clark and Burgess downed Bod Howard and Conally 6-2, 6-4.

Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons resume their storied rivalry for the third time this basketball season Tuesday night at 8 in Tech gym.

Tech needs the win in its fight for third place in the Border conference behind West Texas State and New Mexico A&M. Hardin-Simmons is scrapping for fourth or fifth.

Tech took a 68 to 54 Border conference victory over H—SU at Abilene two weeks ago. Tech's earlier win over the Cowpokes was a 61 to 42 triumph in the finals of the Wayland college tournament at Tulia.

The unpredictable Raiders put a near clincher on third slot in the "up and down" Border conference race Friday night by slapping a 44 to 28 lead despite a second half that resembled high school ball.

Paul Nolen hit with fine accuracy in the first half. He tallied 23 points for the night. Teammate Jack Alderson was close behind with 17, to let the Raiders hold to a 44 to 28 lead despite a second half that resembled high school ball.

Sun Devil Roy Coppinger gave the Raiders most trouble for the night by accounting for 18 points. Despite this the Raiders were never headed although the score was tied twice early in the first quarter. Following that Tempe was never closer than two points. After the first quarter there was little doubt who the victor would be.

Tech definitely dominated the shot column and was more accurate with 41 percent while Tempe was only able to slap through 28 percent.

The second half was played mainly by substitutes. They were able to thrill the spectators with play nearly equal to that of the starting teams.

Coach George Scott's cinderman looked as if they meant business Saturday when they ran in an intra-squad meet. Near-freezing weather slowed them down considerably, yet they made some very good times.

Watch these fellows and give them all of your support. It we ever expect to enter the Southwest conference we must include track as a major sport in our athletic program. These fellows are just the team that we have been needing to make Tech noted for track.

Another thing that we must consider before we expect to enter the Southwest is baseball. The softball field, which the Chamber of Commerce promised to be ready for use this spring, could be enlarged to accommodate baseball. We try to save money, this would be a very profitable saving and would encourage baseball.

Candidates Will Seek Grim Distinction; Eight Enter APO Ugly Man Competition

Eight men who think they qualify as the ugliest guy on the campus have entered the Ugly Man contest sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service organization, said Dick Brooks, publicity director.

Tech's Ugly Man will be introduced at a Recreation hall dance March 5, when he will be awarded a gold key depicting a man who is "really" ugly. Ted Crager's orchestra will play.

Any Male Eligible

Any male student or faculty member is eligible to enter the contest, Brooks said. Names should be submitted to Lewis Jones, assistant dean of student life, in Ad 163. The winner will be selected by popular vote, each vote costing a penny. Profits will go to CARE, national organization for furnishing food and clothing to destitute overseas families.

Ballot boxes will be set up March 10 in the Recreation hall, Administration and West Engineering buildings.

Ventana to Meet March Deadline

La Ventana, Tech yearbook, will meet its March 1 deadline if work continues as it has the past few weeks, according to Dick Brooks, editor.

"At present, it looks like we will meet our deadline of March 1, thanks to the hard work and efforts of our staff," said Brooks.

Students who have not yet paid for their annuals are requested to do so before March 1, as the price will be raised from $5.00 to $6.50 after that date, announced Benny Bruckner, business manager.

"The average student pays approximately $6.50 through club dues and for individual pictures," said Bruckner. "Those who haven't bought their yearbook yet are probably people who don't have a picture in the annual, so if they want a La Ventana at present rates they must buy it before March 1."

The yearbooks are expected to be ready for distribution the end of this semester according to the editor.
