AN ANALYSIS OF THE WAR DEVELOPMENTS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The bombardment of war-oratory turned loose by British big guns at the weekend disclosed a deal of the allied strategy for winning the conflict.

I have been particularly interested in dissecting the speeches of First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Halifax—heavy artillery, these two—and the less known but vigorous Minister for Economic Warfare Ronald Cross. This trio pretty well told the whole story of the Anglo-French trials and fears and hopes.

As I pulled these addresses to pieces and weighed the various statements—not overlooking omissions—it became clear that they gave more or less official answers to many questions which one encounters constantly.

First off, it is worth while to note the underlying purposes of these speeches. These great men don't talk merely to get the sound of their own voices. The real reasons for the broadcasts seem to me to be four:

1. To inform the public at home of the progress of the war; to keep up the morale under circumstances which already are trying; to prepare the public for great sacrifices to come.
2. To advise the fighting forces, and keep up their morale.
3. To convert neutral countries to the allied viewpoint.
4. To reach the German public and try to persuade it to desert Hitler. The allies are, of course, making every effort to produce a revolt in Germany.

Among the notable points made by the speakers, and sometimes emphasized by the three of them, were these:

Hitler threw away any chance he may have had to win the war when he didn't strike at the very outset, Germany then being fully prepared and the allies not yet set.

Now the allies have the Nazi fueshrer beaten (all three ministers claimed this) because of his bad economic condition and because the blockade has shut him off from war supplies and foodstuffs.

However, the war isn't over and the people of Britain and France must be prepared for great sacrifices.

"The only reason peace cannot be made tomorrow" (Halifax) is because the Nazi government hasn't offered to repair the damage it has done to its little neighbors, and its word is worthless to the allies. This was another bid to the German people to throw Hitler out.

Churchill in effect appealed to the neutral countries to join with the allies, and made complimentary references to numerous states, from western Europe to the Danubian countries and Balkans "behind whom stands the resolute Turk." (Turkey is understood to be in the allied camp.)

VFW Auxiliary To Meet With State Head

Ring Eclipse Of Sun Due To Be Sighted In West Texas April 7

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—An annular, or ring, eclipse of the sun will sweep across the southern United States April 7 from West Texas to Florida, traveling eastward.

It will shadow part of the United States up to the Alaskan southern border. In Canada, the path-shadow will reach to the Arctic Circle.

An annular eclipse is so named because the rim of the sun will show in a narrow ring of light all around the dark moon. This is due to the fact the moon is a little too far away for its bulk to cover the sun completely.

While astronomers can make only a few studies in this kind of eclipse, the spectacle for the public is something that comes to most persons only once in a lifetime, and many never see it. This eclipse lasts six minutes, much longer than most total eclipses. During that time, the moon will cover 93 per cent of the sun's surface.

Exact positions have not yet been predicted, but popular astronomy gives the main course. The central shadow will enter Southern California from the Pacific ocean about 1 p. m. Pacific time. Chihuahua, Mexico, seems to be at dead center of the path.

San Antonio and Austin, Tex., Baton Rouge and New Orleans, La.; Pensacola, Tallahassee and Jacksonville, Fla., all are near the southern edge of the ring shadow and most of them probably inside this path.

The approximate time for this ring shadow is about 3:30 p. m. Central time.

Mid-Winter Is Inventory Time For Make-Up Habits

BRUSH FOR THE EYES—to draw mascara clear to the tips of the eyelashes. This is Laraine Day, movie starlet.

By BETTY CLARKE AP Features Services Writer

Mid-winter is time to take inventory of your make-up habits. First of all, remember the thorough cleansing that is always necessary to get the best effect with your make-up. Secondly, remember to protect your skin from chapping.

Then there are some hints to remind you that your hair is not the only place to use a brush:

1. After you have used a clean puff to apply powder to your face and neck, dust off the excess with a brush to give your skin a smooth-as-satin look.
2. Don't forget the brush is a valuable aid in application of lipstick. A brush enables you to put lipstick on smoothly and evenly. And when you protect your skin from chapping, don't overlook your lips. The surface must be soft and firm for the lipstick to produce the best effect.
3. Proper care of the eyes is one of the most important requisites for feminine beauty. You can make your lashes look much longer if you brush mascara on lightly—and clear to the tips of the lashes.
4. If you want to create an illusion, handle your eyebrow pencil lightly—almost like a brush. Never, never draw a line. Sleep is an excellent aid to eye beauty.

MISS LANCENOUS NOTES

By Mary Whaley

Life plays tricks on people's faces. A baby's face is smooth, unlined and the skin without a blemish or wrinkle is usually without an expression. But as people grow older it seems as if every thought, every deed and every fleeting word leaves its indelible mark.

Every laugh records its tiny line on the corners of the mouth and at the edge of the eye. Every sneer leaves the lip drooping a little more. A frown marks the forehead in such a way that it deepens with each repeating performance.

Sadness leaves its calling card with a fiftful hand. Sometimes in the dimmed light in the eyes or a tremulous twist in the lips.

There may be a record book in heaven where recording secretaries jot down black and white marks to be tallied at the end but most people carry their lives total mistakes and successes on their faces for all to see.

There may be some who have played life's game and successfully concealed the score but they are few.

It is a fascinating thing to study a face and wonder what tragedy made that deep impression between the eyes of one and what joy made the laugh crinkles on the face of another.

The history of people's lives is set forth for all to see and for those who care to understand.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—Rep. Johnson (D-Okla.), chairman of the speakers' bureau for his party's 1940 campaign, says he is for nomination of Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt for president if President Roosevelt "calls the signals."

Governor Has An Answer For M'Nutt

AUSTIN, Jan. 22 (AP)—In a three-repeated radio broadcast yesterday, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel retallied to criticism of Federal Social Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt blaming the governor for failure to call a legislative session on the WPA intake problem.

"McNutt had some very critical remarks to make about me as governor," O'Daniel said, "but he followed his cryptic remarks by some rulings more favorable to the poor people of our state. If it please the honorable Paul V. McNutt to abuse me in order to encourage him to help the poor, who need jobs and financial assistance, I am happy to take his abuse."

Addition of persons to WPA rolls in Texas, suspended several months, was approved last week by McNutt who said the situation could have been cleared if O'Daniel had called a special session.

Broadcasting in person from the governor's mansion and twice later by transcription, O'Daniel also: Lauded establishment of the Southland Paper Mills, Inc., at Herty near LaFkin;

Asked citizens to supply food and clothing to the poor during the current cold wave;

Extolled industrial opportunities in East Texas;

Urged buying of lower Rio Grande valley citrus fruit before prices "skyrocketed."

Oil FOR EVERY SECTION

OF TEXAS

Twenty years ago only 30 counties in Texas produced oil

ODAY oil and gas are produced in 147 counties. Ninety-eight additional counties are receiving the benefits of leasing and exploration activities.

Thus in 245 of Texas' 254 counties, business, government, tax collector, wage earner, farmer and rancher receive their part of the oil man's expenditures every month in the year.

Even the dry holes (52,000 drilled to date at a cost of a billion dollars) contributed their share of employment and wide distribution of money.

Last year land owners received fifty million dollars in lease rentals and bonuses alone.

In many counties where oil is a major factor, local government receives as much as 90% of its total tax revenue from the oil business.

Then, too, the State collects 45% of its tax money (exclusive of the gasoline tax) from the oil man. In 1938 this was thirty-two million dollars.

Every barrel of oil produced in Texas in that year paid an average of 9.3 cents tax.

Florida In Grip Of Cold

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 22 (AP)—Winter refused to relax its grip on Florida today, bringing a holiday to school children in some sections but only worry to farmers throughout the state's citrus and truck belt.

Continued cold was forecast for the peninsula with frost again Tuesday morning in the north.

Sub-freezing temperatures extending from Lake City in the north to some points in the Everglades section, predicted for early today, carried the greatest threat to fruit and vegetable crops of the three-day cold spell.

The mercury tumbled to near 33 degrees at a number of stations early last night and was expected to remain around the danger point or lower for several hours.

The prospect of 40-degree weather and lack of adequate heating facilities in Miami caused Dade county school officials to order schools closed. Palm Beach county school heads issued similar instructions.

Citrus fruits escaped damage Friday and Saturday nights, the Florida Citrus Exchange reported from Tampa, while farm agents said they expected the vegetable loss to be confined to young tomato and pepper plants recently set out to outside looms on strawberry plants.

Thompson Retiring As Chairman Of Compact Group

WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 22 (AP)—Col. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas railroad commission, is retiring from chairmanship of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Thompson, chairman for three terms, said he felt the office should be passed around from one member state to another each year and he would insist this be done.

"I shall continue with all my seal and effort as a member of the compact and as the representative from my state."

The commission opened its quarterly conference today, with governors of two states — Payne H. Rafter, Kansas, and Leon C. Phillips, Oklahoma — on the program.

Opposition to federal control of the oil industry was a big topic in pre-convention meetings.
