

Wilson Lectures Will Begin Monday

the Toreador

Vol. XXVII Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Friday, March 7, 1952 No. 12

Dr. Edward J. Carnell Is Speaker for Series

Dr. Edward J. Carnell will deliver the Wilson lectures Monday through Thursday in the Tech gym.

For the past four years Dr. Carnell has been chairman of the department of apologetics at the Fuller Theological seminary in Pasadena, Calif.

The general topic of the Willson lectures will be "A New Proof of Christianity." The first talk, starting at 9:35 a.m. Monday, will be "The Unifying Factor." The three other lectures will be "The Response Equation," "The Reflexive Obligations," and "The Final Dilemma."

Son of Minister

The son of a Baptist minister, Dr. Carnell was born June 28, 1919, at Antigo Wisconsin. He graduated from high school at Albion, Mich., saving the money he made delivering newspapers to attend college. One summer he labored with a road gang putting in what is now Main street in Albion.

The class schedule for Monday through Thursday will be as follows:

	Begins	Ends
1st period	8:05	8:40
2nd period	8:50	9:25
W. Lectures	9:35	10:25
3rd period	10:35	11:10
4th period	11:20	11:55

Classes will be dismissed for one hour at 3 p.m. Wednesday to permit faculty and students to hear an address by Sen. Robert A. Taft.

At Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois, Dr. Carnell majored in philosophy, also working 45 hours a week as chef in the dining hall. After graduating from Wheaton he attended Michigan State college, Westminster Theological seminary at Philadelphia, and Harvard. He later took up post-graduate work at Harvard Divinity school. He was awarded the Ph.D. from Boston University in 1949.

Served as Cook

Dr. Carnell carried his culinary profession with him into the seminary and university. At Westminster Theological seminary he served as weekend cook. While at Harvard he worked for the Harvard Faculty club.

While at Westminster, in 1943, he won the William Brenton Greene, Jr., prize in apologetics.

In the spring of 1948 he took the $5,000 Erdmans Evangelical Book award with his manuscript "An Introduction to Christian Apologetics." Other books published by Dr. Carnell include "Television: Servant of Master," "The Theology of Reinhold Niebuhr," and "A Philosophy of the Christian Religion."

Advertising Sales Approved by Group

A special edition of the Toreador featuring the Tech Artist's course was approved in the regular meeting of the publications committee Wednesday, according to Jack Alderson, chairman of the student members of the publications committee.

Advertising programs for the Varsity and Engineering shows, presented by Benny Bruckner and Delwin Stults, respectively, were approved by the committee.

New contracts for the student publications will be presented by Roy Bass, finance instructor, at the next meeting. These contracts will attempt to eliminate weaknesses found in the photography contracts this year.

Dick Brooks, editor of La Ventana, student yearbook, reported that the deadlines had been met and the annuals should arrive before commencement.

Techsans Attend TISA Convention

Ten students are representing Tech at the Texas Intercollegiate Student association conference being held through Saturday in El Paso, according to James G. Allen, dean of student life.

Making the trip are Bob Schmidt, president of the student council; Harold Brannon, SC business manager; Hardy Clemons and Jim McGraw, arts and science representatives; Brian Boyett and Dudley Montgomery, agriculture; Elizabeth Schovajsa SC secretary; Nancy Crosby, home economics; Emmett Adair, engineering, and J. C. Chambers, business administration.

The convention began Thursday. The Techsans will return Sunday.

Campus-Wide Contest Conducted to Find Ugliest Male and Procure CARE Funds

Those signs that have appeared over the campus that cause second glances to prove that there is something that ugly, are merely further advertisement of the Ugly Man Contest to be conducted Monday through Saturday.

The "ugliest" Techsan will be selected from eight men who have entered the race for penny votes cast by the admiring public, said Dick Brooks, publicity chairman for the contest. The precincts will be in the Administration building, Recreation hall, and the Engineering building.

Winner of this dubious distinction will be presented at a Rec hall dance at which Ted Crager's orchestra will play. This contest is sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, and the proceeds will be turned over to CARE.

Brooks described the award to be presented the winner as a gold key inscribed with a ghastly male. Contenders for the title are Don Hart, Benny Bruckner, Charles "Ears" Joplin, Red Phillips, Coffee Conner, Bassel Wolfe, Jim Daniel, Bob Lile, Joe Barclay, Bob Jacobson, Jack McCabe, Jimmy Mason, Austin Young and Art Vaughn.

Any others who wish to become candidates should leave their names with Lewis Jones, assistant dean of student life, Ad163 before Monday.

All candidates are urged by Brooks to dress "inkeeping with their faces" on the last day of the contest.

KTTC to Expand Listener Schedule

KTTC, Tech radio station, will expand its selection of programs starting Friday.

Formerly only programs of music have been offered, but variety programs, newscasts, interviews and dramas have been added to the agenda. A definite schedule of the program is not ready for publication.

Minutes of the Student council meetings will be read twice monthly and announcements of common interest to students will be welcomed. Announcements presented over KTTC will be read several times during the evening.

Requests for records are welcomed. Students with special requests may call them in or send them through campus mail to be played.

Lecture Series Will Present Poet Carl Sandburg in Rec Hall Friday Evening

Carl Sandburg, America's "most truly native poet" will appear at 8 o'clock at the Rec hall Friday night.

Sandburg has won the Pulitzer Prize twice in his career. His "Cornhuskers," published in 1918, shared the prize for poetry in that year. The prize for history writing was awarded him following the publication of the four volumes on "Abraham Lincoln."

Sandburg has been honored with degrees from many colleges and universities, among them Harvard, Yale, and Dartmouth.

During World War I he was correspondent for a newspaper syndicate in the Scandinavian countries. He then joined the staff of the Chicago Daily News, remaining there many years as an editorial writer.

In 1904 he published his first small pamphlet of poems. His first volume of verse was "Chicago Poems," issued in 1915 was followed by a steady stream of poetry collections, including "Smoke and Steel," "Slabs of the Sunburnt West" and "The People, Yes."

Foremost Authority

Acclaimed as America's foremost Lincoln authority, Sandburg has for more than 30 years made an intensive study of Lincoln's life, collecting countless documents and letters which reveal little known facts about the Civil War president. He has searched through a hundred or more libraries throughout the country and talked to the sons and daughters of persons who knew Lincoln personally, in quest of reference material.

His home is at "Connemara

Farms," Flat Rock, North Carolina, the historic former home of Christopher Menninger, secretary of the treasury for the Confederacy. It contains thousands of Lincoln books and documents.

Parsley to MC

Bill Parsley, chairman of the Recreation hall lecture and entertainment committee will introduce Sandburg. Other persons working on this committee are Brian Webster, Alma Joyce Dozier, Jo Simmons and Beverly Brandt Ross.

A reception sponsored by the hospitality committee, will follow the program. Committee members include Shirley Schmidt, chairman; Carolyn Schaeffer, Cy Cook, Coffee Conner, Brian Close, Lena Schmidt, and Joanne Schovajsa.

Sorority Leader Will Visit Tech

By PAT JOHNSON
Toreador Associate Editor

Highlight of current investigation into the desirability of national sororities at Tech will be the campus visit of a representative from National Panhellenic, sorority governing board, March 18 and 19.

Mrs. Harry H. Power, chairman of national Panhellenic for colleges and universities, will discuss all phases of national social organizations, including expenses and the process of bringing sororities to Tech, with social club women March 19 in Aggie auditorium.

Visit Requested

The Austin woman is coming to the campus at the request of the Women's Inter-Club council, governing body for the five women's social clubs, as part of the organization's objective research work on sororities, Jo Ann Applebay, WICC president, stated.

As an aid in making a complete study of sororities, the 11 WICC members and sponsor Jean Ewing, assistant dean of women, plan to visit Texas Western college in El Paso March 23 through 26. Texas Western recently changed from the local to the national system.

While there, WICC will informally discuss subsequent changes with sorority women, independents and faculty members.

Began Last Spring

Discussion of sororities at Tech began last spring when members of the Lubbock chapter of Panhellenic spoke to campus social clubs about nationals.

As a result of interest shown in the question last spring, WICC instigated sorority investigation last fall. Pro and con information gained through the research will be given to women social clubs to help them in deciding whether or not national affiliation would be desirable, Miss Applebay concluded.

Interpreter Got a Big Hand

Dean Stangel Tells Cubans of Influence Of Brahman Cattle on U. S. Livestock

"We think of Cuba as far away, but with modern transportation it isn't really far at all," said W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture, speaking of his recent trip to the Cuban International Livestock exposition in Havana.

"I had breakfast in Havana and dinner in Lubbock," he said. Only 12 hours of flying time separates the two cities.

"I can't say how I liked the country because I didn't see much of it. I spent all my time in Havana." He found the city very interesting, especially the architecture of the buildings, which is typical of Spanish towns.

Traffic, Parking Problems
Most of the streets are very narrow, although there are some wide, modern boulevards which are very attractive. There is no shortage of automobiles, especially large models, such as Cadillacs and Buicks, he said. Traffic and parking problems are as difficult as they are here, he added.

Dean Stangel was one of several American judges at the exposition. There were two from Texas, one from Illinois, one from Iowa and one from California. The others were Cuban judges.

"I judged all of the beef breeds on exhibit," Stangel said. He and an associate judge from Brazil spent three days judging Brahman cattle, which comprised the largest single exhibit.

Cuban livestock compares favorably with ours, Stangel said. There were exhibits from Florida, Texas, Kansas and Canada at the show. These exhibits were flown from Miami to Havana.

Two exhibits native to Cuba were the Criolla cattle and horses. The other breeds were common to the United States.

Besides attending the livestock exposition, Stangel addressed the first Inter-American Brahman Breeders congress Feb. 28. His subject was "The Influence of Brahman Cattle on the United States' Livestock." The talk was given in English by Dean Stangel and translated into Spanish by an interpreter.

"A friend asked me what kind of talk I made," he said, "and I told him I didn't know, but the interpreter got a big hand."

'Extra' Announced '27 Tech Frolic

The first "extra" edition of the Toreador appeared Feb. 24, 1927.

The extra announced the second annual frolic of Texas Tech, being given that night at the high school auditorium, and advised people to buy their tickets because more than 200 persons were turned away early the previous year.

In this edition, which consisted of one page, the frolic was described as a production of fourteen acts which would "rival the State University Variety".

The latest extra published by the Toreador was last fall. It was a mimeographed announcement of the student trip to the Texas A&M game at Dallas.

AWS Schedules Spring Meeting

Annual spring convocation of the Association of Women Students has been set for 5 p.m. Wednesday in the Agriculture auditorium, said Claudyne Young, president.

Officers for next year will be nominated at the convocation, Miss Young announced. Election of officers is slated for March 20, giving candidates one week for election campaigns.

All women student are urged to attend the convocation, the president said. Every woman student is a member of AWS. Mary Ruth Shannon, vice-president, will be in charge of this year's election.

Other officers for this year are Peggy Carter, secretary, and Jo Ann Schovajsa, reporter.

Students Compete In Amarillo Meet

Fourteen junior agriculture students from Tech took part in a livestock judging contest Tuesday in Amarillo, reported Stanley Anderson, assistant professor of animal husbandry. The contest was held during the Amarillo Fat Stock show.

Judging competition in Amarillo was a practice workout to prepare the team for the Oklahoma City Livestock Show March 18, Anderson said. An inter-collegiate livestock judging contest is scheduled to be held in conjunction with the Oklahoma City show.

The team judged breeding beef cattle, fat steers, cows and lambs in Amarillo.

Three senior students who helped with exhibits at the show were Kenneth Burgess, Paul Gross and Bill Lewis.

New Proof of Christianity . . .

"A New Proof of Christianity" will be the general topic for this year's Willson lecture series, which will begin Monday at 9:35 a.m. in the Gymnasium.

Speaker for this year's series of four lectures will be Dr. Edward John Carnell, noted religious author and at present chairman of the department of apologetics at Fuller Theological seminary in Pasadena, Calif.

Each year an outstanding lecturer is brought to the campus with money from an endowment set up for the college by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Willson of Floydada.

Every student on the campus will have an opportunity to attend the lectures, since classes throughout the four-day period will be shortened to allow a free period each morning.

If you have attended any of the past Willson lectures, you won't have to be reminded that it will be worth your while to attend. If this is the first time you've had an opportunity to attend the lectures, we urge you to be on hand for the first address Monday morning.

During present days of world disorder and impending world war, youth needs something upon which they can rely. Christianity offers the only solid answer to world problems. If ever nations are to be united in a world brotherhood, it will be through a greater reliance on God.

Cornbread Poet . . .

A chance to hear and see one of America's best known poets without charge is open to any Tech student who will take advantage of it Friday night in the Recreation hall.

Carl Sandburg, called variously the "cornbread poet" and America's "most truly native poet" will appear on the Rec hall lecture series. The program will feature Sandburg's reading of his own poetry and singing of ballads.

Though many Lubbock townspeople have asked to pay for seats, no outsiders will be admitted until all attending Techsians have been given free admittance. Since the Rec hall is capable of seating several hundred persons, it will be most embarrassing for the college if only a handful of students attend.

Techsians will certainly have nothing to lose by coming to the program; from reports of other colleges Mr. Sandburg makes a terrific hit with his audience. Thus, all indications point to an evening's entertainment not soon to be forgotten.

'Graft,' 'Vote Buying' Foreseen In Campus Election Next Week

By PAT JOHNSON
Toreador Associate Editor

A "hot" political race is in the offing next week.

This time, however, candidates will be running at "face value."

For on Monday, Techsians will begin casting ballots for the campus' "Ugly Man."

This selection (bottle also buying) and "graft" are not will be one in which "vote only open, but encouraged by members of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

These usually frowned on political practices are being encouraged by APO because each penny vote cast next week swells a special fund which will be turned over to the Committee for American Relief in Europe. CARE is an organization which buys relief packages for European needy persons.

Techsians may cast ballots for their favorite candidates Monday through next Saturday in "precincts" which will be set up in the Administration building, Engineering building and the Recreation hall.

Winner of the "popularity" contest will be presented at the Ugly Man dance which will be held next Saturday in the Recreation hall.

Hmm—We wonder if this won't be an contest in which the candidates will be more than happy to be losers.

We ran across something interesting entitled "What's A Perfect Date" in a recent release of the Associated Collegiate Press.

(The ACP is an organization which selects the best feature, editorial and general news material from the nation's collegiate newspapers and reprints the articles in shortened form for ACP members.)

The student newspaper at Hastings college, Neb. asked several coeds what they consider to be an ideal date.

Some of the answers were as follows:

"The ideal date doesn't have to be good-looking or have a lot of money to take with me, I think it is loads of fun to sit home and pop corn or listen to records. I think this certain fellow should by all means be friendly to both young people and old . . . Consideration and good manners are also important."

" . . . One who is a good mixer, a good dancer, a good looker and preferably a good athlete."

" . . . Someone with whom you can be at ease and not be afraid of his taking your actions wrong."

" . . . I like the fellow who has big ideas about what he wants to do in life and works hard to reach those goals. I like a fellow to be changeable; that is, one who switches from one mood to another."

We wonder what Tech coeds have to say?

"We'll have to have a heart to heart talk with him some night about what he intends to do when he graduates."

Texas Tech Talk

Outstanding Orators Will Appear at Tech

By JOHN NORCROSS
Toreador Editor

During the next few days several outstanding speakers will appear on the campus, among them will be the foremost Republican presidential hopeful, Robert Taft.

The Ohio senator will speak Wednesday afternoon in the Gymnasium. With the November election drawing near and the Republican national convention still closer, the senator is likely to be at his vote-getting best.

Since this will be the first time Tech students have had a chance to hear in person a likely presidential candidate, we expect to see a large turn out for the speech. Most of Mr. Taft's hearers will likely be Democrats, which make prospects interesting, to say the least.

A number of professional newspapers, as well as The Toreador, will be represented at a press conference with Senator Taft. Classes will be dismissed at 3 p.m. Wednesday to enable all students to attend the speech.

Whether you're Democrat or Republican, pro-Taft or an Eisenhower booster, the presidential race will take on an added interest if you hear the Ohio presidential hopeful

Carl Sandburg, the renowned "cornbread poet" of industrial America, will be featured tonight (Friday) in the Recreation hall.

The poet-author, who is probably best known among students for his poem "Chicago," will read his poetry and accompany himself on the banjo.

All students will be admitted free to the program, on showing of their activity ticket.

Sandburg has had a very long and colorful career as a poet, writer, newspaper man. He was even captain of his college basketball team and editor of his school newspaper.

Not being particularly well read in Sandburg poetry, we were interested in reading what the popular Texas author, J. Frank Dobis, had to say about Sandburg and his poetry. After reading his statement, we were convinced that hearing the poet would be worthwhile.

According to Dobie, Carl Sandburg is "one of the most original forces in America, one of the most human beings in this world of sham and sounding boards, and one of the most lovable persons who ever laughed and wrote poetry and told anecdotes and stood appalled and silent at the mystery of the human heart."

In describing him, Dobie comments, "He has the softest, most musical voice I have ever listened to, and a laugh that laughs daylight into serious matters not to be taken too seriously. His hair is snow-white, giving the impression that it combs itself. The lips are those of a man who has been hungry, who is still hungry, but who has tasted many things. His eyes are always searching for what is under the skin."

"There never was a thinker or poet easier to talk with, or to get to talk alone. This partly because of his sympathy for other people, coupled with respect—a respect mysterious in itself, yet elementally simple—for the dignity of human life."

Congratulations to the Tech German club on their 1952 Liederkrantz Melodien. Though we were unable to attend, the success of the show has already received widespread comment on the campus.

The club has discovered a most unique method of making the study of foreign languages enjoyable. Even those who could not understand German thought the show was excellent. There were enough English "bridges" to keep the audience from losing interest.

After talking with a member of the cast, it seems evident that they enjoyed giving the production as much as the audience enjoyed seeing it. Despite the handicap of a small stage and almost no backstage space, the show went off smoothly and was well-received by the audience.

About The Campuses

Southwest Texas State college debaters are meeting a team from Australia to match wits. The question: "Resolved: That We Prefer Groucho to Karl." The Australians will take the negative side of the question.

Petitions are being circulated around Austin asking the Legislature to amend the state slot machine law to legalize "free pinball games." One merchant says that his pinball business has fallen off 90 per cent since the practice of allowing players to win free games was banned. "There's no incentive without free games," he said.

At Stanford university a faculty hashier's contest is being held in connection with a Foreign Relief drive. Members of the faculty are vying for the honor of serving the dining hall of the group giving most to the drive. In one letter of application, a professor wrote, "I sure would like to hash where there are lots of girls. I figure when they're eating they ain't talking and they ain't knitting, and, Lord knows, I've had enough of both in my classes."

The Buffalo Gals at West Texas State have started a project to raise $7,500 for bricks for a new union building. Clubs and organizations on the campus have pledged support to the campaign. The Gals are planning a house-to-house campaign in Canyon to secure funds.

Baylor beauties of 1952 were presented to the public for the first time as the eight muses of Greek mythology. The presentation was made at the Athenaeum club's annual Valentine all-campus party. Setting for the beauty presentation was a background of classical columns of Greek architecture.

The Union board at South Dakota State college is planning to auction off lost and found items that have never been claimed, with proceeds of the auction going to the World Student Service fund. Sweaters, coats, jackets, textbooks, notebooks, car keys, over-shoes and other items will be included in the auction.

Art Students Prepare For Design Careers

By ANN BRYAN
Toreador Staff Writer

If any of you confused freshmen are looking for a major that will give you that well known "liberal education," we've found it for you.

According to Dr. F. A. Kleinschmidt, head of the department of architecture and allied arts, a degree in design and advertising art will prepare you to enter the professional world in any field that interests you, from fashion illustration to ceramics.

Gives Background

The basic aim of the department, says Dr. Kleinschmidt, is to give students the fundamentals and a broad background of balanced courses. The 163 hours required for the degree are divided evenly into three sections—skills, sources, and the central section which contains two parts, theories and other technological courses.

"If the student learns the fundamentals he can learn the professional tricks of his field in a short time after entering it," said Dr. Kleinschmidt.

Design Projects

Students in the department work on projects which are usually completed in six weeks. A group of students once found a design on the package of a pineapple upside down cake which they considered needed improvement. They worked out a design and sent it the company manufacturing the cake only to find that the design had just been changed.

Dr. Kleinschmidt stated that the layman often doesn't realize how many complications and interesting factors enter into the problem of design. The students often must work out their designs in pottery or have them photographed at a photo-engraving plant to see how they will look in actual use.

Because of constantly changing ideas in this constantly changing world, something a teacher may state to his class may be obsolete before they have time to put it into practical use in the professional world, said Dr. Kleinschmidt. Thus instructors try to teach their students the habit of simultaneously conceiving design, construction, and economy.

Outstanding Grads

The department has produced many outstanding students. Probably the most successful Tech graduate is Don Benson, from Lubbock, who has an advertising agency in New York city. During the war years he employed as many as 75 men at a time, and the average number he now employs is 30.

Benson designed one of the 6 cent air mail stamps now in use.

Other Tech graduates are Elizabeth Schmidt, class of 1947, who is on the advertising staff of Hemphill-Wells in Lubbock; and Dale Buckner of the Buckner, Craig and Webster Advertising Agency in Lubbock.

Bridge Class Set for Monday

Mrs. C. D. Smith, professional bridge teacher, will hold a class for all persons interested in bridge instruction at 7 p.m. Monday in the Recreation hall.

Tech Recognition Service Planned

Tech's annual recognition assembly will be held March 19, according to James G. Allen, dean of student life. The service will honor students who have records of academic merit, holders of scholarships, prizes and awards who have maintained a 2-point average, organizations in which two-thirds of the membership hold a 2-point average, and letter-winners in major sports.

Qualifications

Qualifications to be met by those eligible include a minimum average academic load of 12 hours per semester, no F or Incomplete on records, no disciplinary probation during the semesters under consideration, and having taken the work of the first semester by residence.

Undergraduate students will be chosen for recognition upon the basis of high grade point averages and being in the upper 3 percent of their division. Freshmen will be honored upon the basis of grades made during the fall semester. Transfers must have completed two semesters of work at Tech.

Four Honors

Four degrees will be conferred: College, for those honored for the fourth time; Divisional, for those honored for the third time; Class, for those being honored the first time and Individual, for those being honored the first time.

Recommendations for the recognition service are to be made by a special committee under the direction of W. P. Clement, registrar.

Extension Division Offers 270 Courses by Correspondence

The Tech extension division offers many opportunities for those persons who are unable to attend regularly scheduled classes but would like to gain some credit hours.

Approximately 270 courses are offered by correspondence study. The division offers extension classes in convenient centers upon request of a sufficient number of students, depending upon distance from Lubbock.

In addition to these services, the division in cooperation with the United States Armed Forces institute offers correspondence study courses for military personnel. The division has educational motion picture films that are available for use by schools, clubs and other organizations.

Extension classes are taught in several towns around Lubbock, most being education courses. One course in high school algebra and one course in plane geometry is offered. The extension classes meet once a week for three hours and the same amount of credit is given as for regular classes.

Courses are offered in accounting, agriculture, anthropology, biology, business, economics, education, English, French, German, Spanish, geography, government, history, mathematics, philosophy, physical education and psychology. Most of the courses are taught by members of the Tech teaching staff.

Catalogs and bulletins are available at the extension division building for more information on how you can catch up on your schedule.

Busy Summer for Musicians at Tech

Tech Music school, a completely new training program for pre-college students of music, will be held this summer in addition to Tech's 19-year-old band school, according to Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of the music department.

Courses offered under the new training program will include band, chorus, orchestra, and class voice.

Band and orchestra courses will begin June 4 and extend through July 2. Chorus and voice classes will be given June 9 through 21, Dr. Hemmle said.

Preparations are being made to receive 300 band, 200 choir and 100 orchestra students expected to attend this summer. Tech's music faculty will be assisted by approximately 30 additional instructors, who are music directors from high schools in this area. A guest conductor from the orchestra field will also assist. This year he will be Prof. A. A. Harding, from the University of Illinois. Plans have been made to invite a guest orchestra also, but one has not yet been selected for this season, Dr. Hemmle said.

Activities of the school will include the organization of three bands, one orchestra and one general chorus. A recreation program has been planned for the attending students.

Aggies Purchase Yearling Calves

Thirty two yearling grade Hereford steer calves to be used in irrigated pasture studies have been purchased from PanTech farms, according to W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture division.

Twenty of the calves will graze on straight alfalfa pasture with access to a mixture of 95-percent cotton seed hulls and five-percent cottonseed meal.

Calves grazed on this alfalfa pasture last year produced 539 pounds of beef per acre for an average daily gain of 1.42 pounds during the 160-day grazing period.

The remaining cattle will be used in a study of four irrigated pastures. One of the pastures contains alfalfa and bromegrass, another alfalfa and perennial rye, the third a mixture of alfalfa, bromegrass and rye, with the fourth being a mixture of several grasses. The steers will be dry-lot fed until the pastures are ready for grazing.

Hemmler to Visit Schools

Dr. Gene Hemmler, head of Tech's music department, will go to Plainview Tuesday where he will work as music clinician with high school groups. Dr. Hemmler is also scheduled to address the Music club of Lubbock High school Thursday. He will speak on "Opportunities for Further Study of Music in College."

Tech Thinclads Play Laredo in First Meet

A squad of 14 track and field men left the Tech campus at 8 a.m. Thursday morning for the Border Olympics in Laredo. Events started Friday morning for the twentieth annual affair.

It will be the first meet of the year for Coach George Scott's thinclads. They have been working for about a month in preparation for the heavy schedule which faces them. The Raiders are untested this year except for three intra-squad meets.

The tracksters representing Tech will be Billy Killough and Bobby Cavazos in the 100-yard dash; Jerry Fairley and Sandy Welton in the 220-yard dash; Ronnie Cordell, Jim Odom, and Bobby Hawkins in the 440; Hawkins and Ben Wilson in the 880; John Weaver in the mile-run; Sonny Stanford in the 120-yard high hurdles, and Earl Hutcherson and Cordell in the 220-yard low hurdles.

In the field events, Tech will have Don Covey and Odom in the broad jump, Cavazos in the high jump and Bobby Lambert in the shot put.

The mile relay team is composed of Hawkins, Killough, Wilson and either Cordell or Odom. Killough, Fairley, Cavazos and Welton will run the 440-yard relay.

Other track meets which the Raiders will enter are at Fort Worth Fat Stock Show meet, the West Texas Relays at Odessa, the Texas, Kansas and Drake Relays and possibly others.

The Techsians will also take part in the Border Conference track meet in May as well as some dual, triangular and quadrangular meets.

Deadline for Softball Entries

Noon Saturday, March 8, is the final deadline for filing intramural softball entries for all intramural leagues. Entries should be turned into George Philbrick's office in the gym. Play will start March 15.

Ella Rae Johnson, January home economics major, is working in the ex-students office.

Sports Panarana

By Sports Staff

Although Tech didn't get a chance to play in any post-season basketball games, some of the seniors on the squad may enter the AAU tournament. This tournament is for amateurs on different teams who are sponsored by different business firms. A couple of the teams which enter each year are Phillips 66 and Vandergriff Motors of Dallas.

The end of the basketball season brought to a close another part of Tech's rebuilding athletics. Although the season was a little disappointing, it could have been worse. The moral victory over West Texas helped salvage some of the disappointment. The Raiders were never all hot the same night. Coach Robinson will build next year's team around two letterman, Paul Nolen and Virgil Johnson. The three graduating starters, Verdell Turner, Jack Alderson, and Jim Eddins will be sorely missed.

We do want to congratulate the team for their fine spirit and hustle which saved several games. We will be looking forward to next year when Tech will be doing some rebuilding. With such a capable coach, they will probably build a strong contender for the Border conference race.

As the basketball season closes, we look to the so-called minor sports which are rapidly changing to major sports.

Heretofore tennis, track, golf were hardly recognized around the campus. This year the tennis and golf teams have already shown signs of taking their share of glory in competition. The track team began competitive today.

Tech's tank team met and defeated Odessa High school's. The win was the first warm-up meet of the year for the swimming team 48 to 27 in a dual meet held in the Lubbock Boy's club pool Wednesday night.

Area Girls Clash For Regional Title

Another high school basketball tournament is being held in Tech gym this weekend, this time it is a girls playoff.

Districts through 6 are playing in class AA while 4 through 7 are competing in class A. In AA Colorado City, Ralls and Morton are vying for the regional championship representing districts 4, 5 and 6 respectively. In A districts, 4, 5, 6 and 7 are being represented by Alpine, Sonora, Cross Plains and Roby.

Social Clubs Gets Initial MICC Wins

MICC basketball started last Tuesday with the Socii, Wranglers and Los Cams winning their initial games.

Danny Ritter scored 18 points as he led the Socii to a 45 to 17 victory over the Adelphi. Lawis was high point man with six for the Adelphi.

The Wranglers defeated the College Club, 35 to 22, in the second game. David Moorehouse and George Morris led the Wrangler attack with 10 points each. Bill Bales led the College Club with seven points.

In the final game of the evening, Los Cams won a close, hard-fought decision from the Silver Keys while Ray Marsh took scoring honors for the Cams with nine points.

The schedule for Tuesday includes Kemas and College Club at 7 p.m., Centaurs and Los Cams at 8 and Socii vs. Keys at 9.

Raider Courtmen To End Road Trip

Tech's tennis team will finish a four-game trip Saturday when they meet SMU in Dallas. Thursday they met the Hardin-Simmons netters, while TCU and ACC furnished the opposition Friday.

The Raiders have one of their toughest schedules in several years and so far they have done remarkably well. Several of last year's team graduated, but several new stars developed this year.

David Clark was expected to be the No. one man in the three-day tour this weekend. Others who made the trip were Buddy Satterwhite, Richard Clark and Jimmy Burgess.

Ex-Techsan Loy Anderson to Interview Candidates For Neiman-Marcus Award

Loy Anderson, ex-Tech student from Seagraves, will interview women students interested in competing for the annual scholarship contest sponsored by Neiman-Marcus, Dallas department store, at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the Administration building.

Winner of the contest will receive a one-year course at Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers in New York City.

Former Contest Winner

Miss Anderson, who was graduated in June, 1950, was winner of the Neiman-Marcus award for that year. While at Tech she held membership in San Souci, Phi Gamma Nu and Tech Chamber of Commerce.

The scholarship is for the 1952-3 school year ending June 3, 1953. It is available to women students under 30 who have completed two years or more of college work, and who are residents of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas or New Mexico, or who are enrolled in schools in this area.

$950 Award

Scholarship award of $950 will be given on the basis of written tests, topics, personal qualifications and interviews for six finalists.

Applicants may secure contest rules, registration forms and information on the Tobe-Coburn school by writing the Dallas firm. Registration forms should be in by March 15. Text topics will be sent to each applicant to be returned by April 15.

Local judges selected by Neiman-Marcus will determine the six outstanding entries, which will be announced May 1. Final selection will be made by New York judges chosen by the Tobe-Coburn school. Winner will be named by May 15.

The New York course is designed to train young women for careers in the fashion field. Some full-time work in New York stores will be a part of the course.

'Melodien' Draws Record Crowd

An attendance record was set Tuesday night when 147 persons saw the German club playhouse presentation of "Leiderkrantz Melodien—1952", according to Prof. Theodor Alexander, German faculty advisor and club sponsor.

In addition to the more serious presentation, a "Dry Bones" act, Negro spiritual translated into German, and modern musical commercials were rendered in German. Sufficient English was used to enable the audience to go along with the play.

"Leiderkrantz Melodien—1952" was the second in a series of major productions to be presented annually by the German club, said Alexander. These plays are prepared and presented by the club as a cultural activity associated with study of the German language.

The play was written and produced by Jack Burgess and Donald Smiley, German students, who also directed the cast of 23 members.

Tubal Cain is now stationed in the Great Lakes Naval Training station in Chicago.

Critical Writing Students to Prepare 'Extra' Edition of Campus Publication

The Artist Course committee will sponsor a special edition of the Toreador Monday, March 17, on Jascha Heifetz, famous violinist.

The purpose of the special edition according to Nancy Davis, member of Artist Course committee, is "to encourage students to hear these great artists whether they like them or not. We would like for them to go, and thus develop their own critical powers."

The journalism class in critical writing will do the reporting and editing for the issue. Members of the class are Pauline Denison, Maurine Denton, Pat Edwards, Mrs. Terry Martin, Tipton Miller, John Norcross, Joy Penrod, Lucille Seybold and Elizabeth Stanley.

"We want the students' opinion of the artists so we can know what type artists to get for next year," Miss Davis said.
