Jones Describes Cycle of Civilization For Eighth Annual Recognition Service

Ten words which outline the cycle of civilization were dictated to the audience at Tech's eighth annual All-College Recognition service yesterday morning by President E. N. Jones, who delivered the address for the event.

Dr. Jones invited his listeners to take down these words: Bondage, Faith, Courage, Liberty, Abundance, Selfishness, Complacency, Apathy, Dependency, and Bondage. Civilization according to Dr. Jones, begins and ends in bondage and progresses through phases described by the other eight words.

James G. Allen, dean of student life, was master of ceremonies for the service. Music was provided by the Tech Concert Band and by the Festival Chorus. Invocation was given by Rev. Abe Hester Jr. of the College Avenue Baptist Church and benediction by Rev. Loyce Estes of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Dr. Jones was introduced by Dr. G. E. Giesecke, academic vice president.

The program of recognition began with athletic awards presented by Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the athletic council. He recognized members of the football, basketball, swimming, fencing, track, golf and tennis teams. The members of Tech's Gator Bowl football team were recognized a second time along with winning agricultural judging teams for their success in national competition. The judging teams were recognized by Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel.

Students honored for leadership were announced by J. C. Chambers, president of the Student Association. Organizations recognized for scholarship were announced by Marjorie M. Neely, dean of women; holders of scholarships by Dr. Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of arts and sciences; Individual honors by Willa Vaughn Tinsley, dean of home economics; Class honors by R. C. Goodwin, dean of arts and sciences; Divisional honors by D. E. Holcomb, dean of engineering; and College honors by Dr. Jones.

Men Interested in Greek Groups Asked to Register

Tech men interested in membership in national social fraternities who have not, for various reasons, joined fraternities already existing on the campus are asked to register in the office of the Dean of Student Life.

Response will help the office in determining if there is need for inviting fraternities to colonize. The program is similar to the one which was carried on by sororities and which recently saw the installations of two sorority colleges, Delta Gamma and Alpha Chi Omega.

Deadline is March 27 for Tech Drivers to Get Parking Decals

All drivers who have registered their automobiles and have not yet picked up their decals in Room 200, Chemistry Building, must do so by noon Saturday, March 27, it was announced today by the traffic committee. After this date, only decals for Area W (the parking lots west of the West Engineering Building and the Journalism Building) will be issued. 'Showboat' To Be Liederkrantz Show

Thursday, March 25, has been set as the date for the fourth annual musical presentation of Der Liederkrantz, the German Club at Tech. The title of the production is "Shouboot."

The show, which is an hour-long production, will feature a "Showboat" theme and will be presented in the Aggie Auditorium at 8 p.m. No admission will be charged and the public is invited. The script for the show was written by Rosemary Sprague, a senior music major and a student in second-year German. Rosemary also is directing the musical.

This year's production of Der Liederkrantz will feature two songs, "Alter Mann Fluss" (Old Man River) and "Ich kann nicht aufhören ihn zu lieben" (Can't Help Loving That Man). Other German versions of such well-known tunes as "Ten Little Indians" and "My Bonnie" are in the show. And the familiar "Kurbrot" (Shortnin' Bread) is included.

The plot concerns the Malmblume (Mayflower) on which the captain is a gent by the name of Hornblower.

Liederkrantz Melodien is an annual musical production of the students in German classes. The sponsor is Ted Alexander, instructor in German. It is part of a project to make the study of foreign languages more appealing and more realistic.

Tom Bridges To Narrate 'Faust' at Museum Sunday

A story of the devil and his doings will be told at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Museum. Robert A. Bradford's "Opera Once Over Lightly" version of the opera "Faust" by Charles Gounod will be narrated by Tom Bridges at the Twilight Music Hour. Mr. Bridges is a part-time English instructor and Avalanche-Journal reporter.

Grace Goodwin, soprano, will sing Marguerite's famous "Jewel Songs." Elton Playman, tenor, will sing Faust's aria. Carey May, baritone, has the part of Valentine, and Tim Magnus, bass, will be Mephistopheles.

The story tells of Faust's trading his soul to the devil in order to regain his youth and capture Marguerite's heart. When her brother, Valentine, returned from war, he defended her honor by dueling with Faust. Valentine was killed and the evil life she has led is revealed when she is sent to prison for poisoning her child. Faust and Mephistopheles arrive to lead her below, but she floats away into the air. The devil takes Faust below.

Ned Hardin, senior music major from Lubbock, will present his senior piano recital 4 p.m. Sunday in the music building.

Engineers of virtually EVERY type are needed on the Boeing team

Mechanical, electrical, civil, aeronautical—in fact, graduates in virtually every field of engineering—find rewarding career opportunities here. There are openings in design, research, in the many phases of production, and for physicists and mathematicians with advanced degrees.

All engineering careers at Boeing have one thing in common: they provide plenty of opportunity to get ahead. Regular merit reviews are held. Advancement is keyed to your individual ability, application and initiative.

The aviation industry offers you a unique opportunity to gain experience with new techniques and new materials. It offers a wide range of application, from applied research, to product design and production, all going on at the same time.

What's more, you can expect long-term career stability in the aviation industry. Boeing, for instance, is now in its 37th year of operation, and actually employs more engineers today than even at the peak of World War II. Besides designing and building the world's most advanced multi-jet aircraft (the B-47 and B-52), Boeing conducts one of the nation's major guided missile programs, and such other projects as research on supersonic flight, and nuclear power for aircraft.

Boeing engineering activity is concentrated at Seattle, Washington, and Wichita, Kansas—communities with a wide variety of recreational opportunities as well as schools of higher learning. The Company will arrange a reduced work week to permit time for graduate study and will reimburse tuition upon successful completion of each quarter's work.

For full details on opportunities at Boeing and for dates when interviewers will visit your campus,

RALPH SHELTON

Toreador Editor

The column this week should probably be used to discuss some of the great issues confronting Tech students, such as the coming elections and integrity concerning mid-semester quizzes.

The Great Issues type column, however, is hard on the writer (and even harder on the reader), so we've decided just to pass on some bits of news from other campuses. Here's what's been happening in the way of trivia in other parts of the college world:

News comes from an intercollegiate press service that the Denver Clarion student newspaper of the University of Denver, was recently taken over for one issue by the female members of the staff, who put out the paper "female style." The special issue was printed on pink paper.

A congressional investigation is anticipated.

Students of beginning psychology at San Diego State College were asked recently to write down what they considered to be their most valuable asset. Two answered "intelligence."

Both of them misspelled it.

A speech student at Kansas State College—with the help of a tape-recording of a telephone conversation—has talked his way out of the rap on four of six campus traffic violations.

Through his recordings, he was able to prove to the judge that the campus police have no system of putting chalk marks on tires and that they couldn't tell for sure whether or not a car had been moved from one parking space to another. Since his tickets were given for overparking in 15-minute zones, he simply claimed he had moved his vehicle to another spot every 15 minutes.

Two colleges recently held campus-wide elections concerning the sex of cheerleaders—with completely opposite results.

At the University of Pittsburgh, where male cheerleaders have been the rule, 90 per cent of the undergraduates voted to admit women. At Baylor University, however, students voted two-to-one to keep women out of the cheerleading ranks.

At the University of Alberta, three radioactive chickens have been stolen from the university's

Techsan Wins In Essay Contest

"The present day marginal producer, with obsolete machinery, is dying the economic death of those unable to survive," Joe D. Rankin, Texas Tech senior engineering student wrote in his prize winning essay sponsored by American Textile Reporter to mark the American Textile Machinery Exhibition, April 26-30 at Atlantic City.

Ten winners of the essay contest, one from each of the schools comprising the National Council of Textile Education were announced today. Rankin was the only winner west of the Mississippi River. In the contest more than 400 textile college students wrote on "Why Textile Management and Personnel Should attend ATME of 1954."

Each of the ten school winners will receive $100 and an all expense trip to Atlantic City as guest of the Exhibition Committee on "Textile Career Day," Wednesday, April 28, when special attention will be devoted to the students in attendance.

In addition, each of the ten school winners becomes eligible for the first prize of $500. The first prize winner will be announced March 25.

"Now that general business is leveling off," the Tech student wrote, "it is becoming mandatory for manufacturers to maintain a position of competitive leadership in the field of modern machinery in order to survive today's—and tomorrow's profit squeeze."

atomic research laboratory. They aren't fit for human consumption, but, unless they have a Geiger counter, the thieves will never know.

At a Florida college, the winner of a college beauty queen contest was accused by one of her defeated rivals of wearing—you should pardon the expression—falsies. LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"Have to give the old boy credit for trying to pep up a mighty dull course."

THE DU PONT DIGEST

What do YOU look for in an employer?

Undoubtedly, you'll want most of the following characteristics:

1. Job satisfaction—the chance to do work you really enjoy.
2. Recognition—the assurance that good work will be noticed, appreciated, and properly rewarded.
3. Opportunities for advancement—a growing company can provide them.
4. Security—the knowledge that a company is both stable and progressive.
5. Pride—a feeling that your company is respected by the public and produces goods which contribute to a better way of life.
6. Good companionship—a factor which contributes greatly to happiness on the job.
7. Good pay—not in salary alone, but also in terms of vacation plans, pensions, and other benefits.
8. Safe working conditions.

How can you obtain this kind of information in advance?

One of the best ways is to discuss the matter with an acquaintance already working for the company you are considering. You will also find it helpful to consult your college placement officer, your professors and company representatives visiting your campus.

The selection of an employer is one of the most important decisions you'll make. It justifies considerable thought and effort.

Sneed Chess Play Continues Tonight

Fourth round of play in the Sneed Hall Chess Tournament begins tonight, according to Robert Bryant, Sneed vice president.

Third round winners include Paul Branom, Lubbock; Speck Marshall, Lubbock; J. R. Borum, Lubbock; Jim Liggitt, Bridgeport; Billy Hunter, Monohams; and David Edwards, Galveston.

Sneed Hall is offering three trophies in the Swiss system of competition. Trophies will be awarded to a city champion, campus champion, and dormitory champion.

Dr. R. S. Underwood, professor of mathematics, won the city championship last year. Glenn Rainer, Lubbock junior, was campus champion, and Gerald White, former Tech student, was dormitory champion.

Ex-Techsan Impressed By School, Played in 1939 Cotton Bowl Game

Maj. Dudley S. Akins returned to the scene of his college career Friday and was visibly impressed with the "face lifting" that has changed Tech from the small school of 38 to "a major institution that must be reckoned with from any viewpoint."

Maj. Akin played football for Tech in 1937 and 1938. Playing left half-back and quarterback for the Raiders, Maj. Akins played in the Cotton Bowl game in 1939. He also lettered in basketball in 1937, and coached the freshman squad in '38-'39.

Maj. Akins entered the Air Force as a flying cadet in August 1941. In 1948, he completed the first jet propulsion transition school launched by the Air Force. He was assigned duties with the Air Force in Siam. He departed that station Jan. 18 for the United States. He was flown to Singapore and embarked on the SS Victoria for Naples, Italy. After crossing the European Continent to England, Maj. Akins sailed from the British Isles to New York via SS United States.

Maj. Akins talked with each of the sophomore classes in Air Force ROTC Tuesday and Wednesday about what the Air Force has to offer.

Accompanied by his wife, formerly Miss Gerry Lucille Fulton, and two daughters, Zandra, 3, and Future Renee, 4, he will leave Monday for Alexandria, La. where he will be assigned to the F-86 Sabre Jet Group.

The Junior Rotarian program has introduced more than a hundred Tech and Lubbock High School students to the Rotary Club and its aims. Each month a representative student is selected from both Lubbock High and Tech. These students meet with the Rotarians for a month.

"There are no special scholastic requirements," said Dean of Arts and Sciences R. C. Goodwin. "We just choose a boy you could take any where and be proud to say 'This is a Tech student.'"

Tech Granted Clear Title To 6,000 Acres at Pantex

Texas Tech has been granted a clear title to approximately 6,000 acres of land at Pantex Ordnance Plant near Amarillo.

Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech president, explain that the transaction will have little effect on Tech other than affording the college more certainty in planning. The original transaction, agreed to by the college in 1949, carried a "recapture clause" to the 16,000-acre plant. At the outbreak of the Korean action the Army took approximately 10,000 acres, for a war-production plant. The remaining 6,000 acres, recently granted the clear title, was being used for experimentation by Tech.

A few students and teachers can do so this summer by serving on the educational and recreational staff of the Castel Felice, a ship sponsored by Study Abroad, Inc.

Seismograph Not Working

Lack of a seismologist has kept Texas Tech's seismograph out of operation for about three years, according to Dr. William B. Arper, assistant professor of geology. The machine has been on the Tech campus for approximately five years, but due to difficulty of obtaining a trained seismologist has remained out of use for most of this time. A seismograph is a machine which registers the shocks and undulatory motions of earthquakes and other earth disturbances.

Problems of the present-day African will be presented to students by Bishop Newell Booth of the Methodist Provincial Conference in Africa at the Methodist Student Center Wednesday night. Bishop Booth's area includes central, eastern and southern African missions. The talk is the feature of the weekly forum beginning at 7:15.

Last week's forum, a discussion on "Ego and Temptation," was led by Kim Loveless, Lubbock arts and sciences sophomore.

Reese Men Complete 39 Per Cent of Courses Taken

Approximately 39 percent of Reese Air Base personnel enrolled in courses at Tech last fall finished them, according to the RAFFB paper.

A total of 85 persons took courses and only 33 completed the work. Of the group that finished, six failed.

"The Air Force paid $551.99 to Tech for courses the Reese personnel attended. This figure represents an average expenditure of $20.44 for every man passing a course. At this rate 37 per cent, or $204.87, was literally thrown down the drain," the Reese paper stated.

"If these figures are any indication of nation-wide trends," the paper concludes, "the Air Force is not giving the taxpayer a fair return."

RED CROSS AIDED

Five Tech social fraternities have volunteered for Red Cross work in the current drive. A group of Tech men headed by J. C. Chambers, president of the Student Council, have started personal solicitation for Red Cross memberships and contributions.

The fraternities participating include: Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta and Kemas. Other campus organizations include the Baptist Student Union, the Wesley Foundation and Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity.

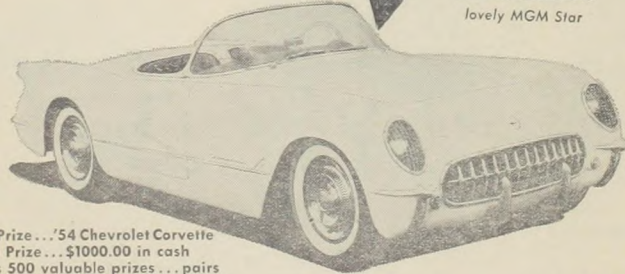

Tech women students assisted the Red Cross Monday night. They made house-to-house calls for contributions.

Organizations represented and the number helping were Horn Hall 31, Knapp Hall 33, Association of Women Students 3, Forum 2, Home Economics club 14, Junior Council 4, Major-Minor club 4, Alpha Chi Omega 6, Delta Gamma 19, Delta Delta 6, Kappa Alpha Theta 23, Kappa Kappa Gamma 7, Pi Beta Phi 12, and Zeta Tau Alpha 10.

Journalism Prof Is Successful as Feature Writer

"Hogs on the South Plains" is the title of Mrs. Louise C. Allen's latest article appearing in the March issue of The Progressive Farmer. Not many women go into agricultural journalism, but Mrs. Allen thinks it's fun.

A magazine article writer in her spare time, Mrs. Allen is known on the campus for her work as assistant professor of journalism. Her courses include instruction in magazine article writing, and in agricultural and home economics journalism.

Is Magazine Correspondent

"I became interested in agriculture from being around it all my life," she explained. She has written for agricultural journals such as Farm and Ranch, The Sheep and Goat Raiser, Country Gentleman, Southwestern Crop and Stock and The Progressive Farmer.

Mrs. Allen is now correspondent for The Progressive Farmer. "They didn't think I could do it, so they put me on a six-month probation period." She found that farmers went to greater length to explain methods and procedures to her than they would have to another farmer or someone they thought should "know all about it."

The first magazine article she sold was about a ranch. "It was fun. I got $15 and was just tickled to death. There was a girl at Tech then who was a roper. The head of the College News Service suggested that I do a feature on the whole family." The Madera family lived on a picturesque ranch from which one could view three states and two nations and was surrounded by a legend of a lost gold mine and romances straight from the Old West. The article appeared in the August, 1939, issue of Farm and Ranch entitled "Frontier Romance Not Entirely Vanished."

Aspires To Write Fiction

"I'd really like to write fiction," Mrs. Allen added, "but so far I've never written anything good." Her ideal "beat" would be writing features for a large area. Now she is writing a column called "Lipstick Logic" which appears in several weekly newspapers. "It's just human interest stuff. I thought it might help me get a little of the reporter's sound out of my writing."

Mrs. Allen thinks that journalism is the best possible training for girls planning to raise a family. "It gives you a greater interest in politics, international affairs, and people. Then, too, you can always stay at home with the children and do freelance writing on the side."

SURVEY LAUDS FORUM

Texas Tech's South Plains Forum is one of the best known panel discussion programs on the air according to a recent listener survey among Lubbock citizens. Of those who could name discussion programs on the air, 39 per cent mentioned the South Plains Forum and 26 per cent named Town Meeting of the Air.

The Forum, in its first series of thirteen broadcasts, was heard by between 2,400 and 4,300 persons. J. C. Chambers, senior at Tech, conducted the survey from names selected at random from the telephone directory. Eighty-nine per cent of those interviewed at the time of the South Plains Forum, 9 a.m. Monday, were not listening to the radio.

South Plains Forum is under the direction of Dr. Per Stensland, head of the Adult Education Program at Tech.

The Texas Tech Concert Band recorded a volume of Texas Tech school songs recently for an RCA Victor subsidiary. Among the songs recorded was "Tech Fight Song," written by Fred Waring for the college.

Union Building Birthday Observed; Cake Lighted by President Jones

Tech students turned out in large numbers Saturday night to wish the Student Union Building a happy birthday at an anniversary dance in the ballroom.

The ballroom was decorated with artificial flowers and a crepe paper birthday cake. Kay Carter and his orchestra played.

Mr. Cole Honored

At intermission, cake and punch were served in the Anniversary Room, and President E. N. Jones lighted the candle atop the paper cake signifying the first birthday of the structure. He also paid tribute to W. C. Cole, manager of Tech Bookstore, who is directly responsible for having the Union Building constructed.

In 1949, Mr. Cole had the idea of issuing bonds to pay for such a building. It was Mr. Cole, also, who, noticing nearly $150,000 in the Bookstore ledgers, pledged future profits from the bookstore campus concessions for the payment of the bond.

Other Contributions Made

To help in the project, the Ex-Students Association and other organizations contributed and the college appropriated $50,000 for furnishings and equipment. The building was completed Feb. 12, 1953, and was officially opened a month later.

At present, the building contains a snack bar to seat 165, a ballroom to hold 400 couples, a card room to seat 48, a game room containing five ping pong tables and three billiard tables, a lounge area, three meeting rooms and a student organization workroom.

The present structure is one-third complete, according to original plans. President E. N. Jones announced that another section would be added as soon as possible.

Height To Play Major Role In Locally Formed Group

How tall are you?

A new club is now being formed in Lubbock in which height is an important factor. It is the Antenna Club, formerly known as the Tip-Toppers before it disbanded several years ago.

Miss Lois Karsevar states that it will be a social organization for tall men and women for the purpose of cultivating friends.

Requirements are that the women be 5 feet 11 inches in stocking feet, and 18 years old. Men must be 6 feet 2 inches in stocking feet and 20 years old. Men and women interested and with the requirements may call 2-7524, 2-8911, or 4-5870 for further information.

Speech Students Go To Tournament

A group of Tech students returned Sunday from Winfield, Kan., where they attended the 22nd Annual Forensic Tournament at St. John's College. They were accompanied by Dr. P. Merville Larson, head of the speech department.

Jo Ann Miller, Big Spring freshman, reached the final round of elimination in four divisions of participation, winning third in the final round of radio speaking and fourth in the final round of oratorical declamation. She was eliminated in the final rounds of poetry and Bible reading.

The men's debate team of Richard Bell and Bob Richards was eliminated in the quarter finals by Southwest Missouri State College.

Other Tech students attending the tournament were Winona Richards, Melba Watson and Sandra Yarbrough. The students also took part in impromptu speaking, extemporaneous speaking, story-telling and dramatic reading. Participation in the contests was limited to freshmen and sophomores. Schools from Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Missouri and Texas were represented.

Spring Training Football Game Now Slated for 2 p.m. Saturday

Tech has changed the date of its Red Raider Round-Up spring training football game from Friday night until Saturday at 2 p.m. Coach DeWitt Weaver believes the weather will be more favorable on Saturday afternoon.

The Red Raider squad will be divided into "Whites" and "Blacks." Tech's co-captains will each have a team. Quarterback Jerry Johnson of Hale Center will lead the Whites, while guard Howard Hurt of Borger captains the Reds. Selection of coaches from the Tech staff will be made Thursday.

In the past, the Whites have won three and tied one. In 1951, the Whites won 25-19. There was a 20-20 draw and a 7-0 White victory in 1952. Last spring the Whites edged the Reds 13-12.

Probable starters for the Reds include Ends R. D. Bradshaw of Childress and Claude Harland of Texarkana, Tackles Minor Nelson of Winters and Jerry Walker of Pampa, Guards Howard Hurt of Borger and Tommy Elliott of Lubbock, Center Dwayne West of Fort Worth. The backfield will be composed of Quarterback Buddy Hill of Lubbock, half-backs Don Harris of Fort Worth and Don Schmidt of Olney, and Fullback Pat Green of Paducah.

The Whites will probably start Ends Dean White of Lubbock and Jay Fikes of Dallas, Tackles Bill Herschman of Vernon and Bob Killecullen of St. Louis, Mo., Guards Arlen Wesley of Littlefield and Bobby Hunt of Altus, Okla., Center Ralph Martin of Fort Worth, Quarterback Jerry Johnson of Hale Center, Halves Rick Spinks of Kermit and Ronnie Herr of Muenster, and Fullback Jim Sides of Lubbock will round out the backfield.

Complete with pre-game and halftime festivities, the game will be open to the public. Tickets will be $1 for adults, and 50 cents for students and children. Tech students with activity tickets will be admitted free. The Tech band will play at halftime.

Rangers Victorious In Basketball

The Rangers walked off with the intramural basketball championship Thursday night in the All-College Tournament by defeating Kemas 40-29. Larry Marks led the scoring column with 20 points for the winners, while Raymond Lunn sank 13 for the losers.

The Rangers represented Independent League No. 2, and Kemas took top honors in the Fraternity League.

In the semi-finals of the tournament, the Rangers eked out a win over the Pied Pipers in an overtime battle 39-37. Kemas won the trip to the finals through a forfeit from Phi Delta Theta.

In the first round, the Rangers toppled the Steers 43-38, the Pied Pipers sneaked by the Sneed Sneezers 41-40. Kemas romped over the West Hall five 50-33, and Phi Delt scored a 48-37 victory over the Chowhounds.

Training Session Signs 74 Delegates

Fifty organizations had agreed on March 10 to send delegates to the leadership training session at Ruidoso, N. M., according to Glenn Rainer, chairman of the executive council.

At a Board of Student Organizations luncheon, Rainer also said that about 24 of the organizations have agreed to send an alternate representative as well as a regular delegate.

With 82 seats on the two buses, this leaves about eight vacancies, which Rainer said may be filled on a first-come-first-serve basis.

Also during the luncheon, J. C. Chambers, president of BSO, read a letter from Nancy Roberts, secretary of the Rodeo Association, who expressed the organization's desire to have the BSO sponsor the annual barbecue connected with the Rodeo to be held April 29, 30 and May 1. However, with such activities as the Ruidoso Leadership Program as responsibilities, the members of the BSO decided to recommend that some other organization sponsor the barbecue.

The Texas Tech Concert Band recorded a volume of Texas Tech school songs Sunday and Monday for an RCA Victor subsidiary. Among the songs recorded was "Tech Fight Song," written by Fred Waring for the college.

"My first assignment at Bell Labs"

Fresh out of school Bob Wilson, '53, was put to work on a Transistor project at Bell Laboratories. He explains why he never had time to be awed.

(Reading Time: 39 seconds)

Bob Wilson works on a "breadboard" circuit, studying the electrical properties of a carrier system.

"In some ways it was hard to believe. I had received my B.E.E. at the University of Delaware in June, 1953, and a week later I was working in the world-famous Bell Laboratories.

"But I didn't have time to be awed because they put me right to work. They gave me responsibility fast.

"My group was working on the experimental application of transistors to carrier systems. My assignment was the electrical design of a variolasser for the compressor and for the expander to be located in the terminals.

"The supervision I received and the equipment I had were tops. I quickly discovered that I had to rely on my ingenuity as much as on the college courses I had taken. Perhaps that's one reason for the great new discoveries continually turned out by the Labs.

"Now, I'm in the Communication Development Training Program, continuing my technical education and learning what all the Laboratories sections do and how their work is integrated.

"In a year I'll be back working with the group with which I started."

Assuming responsibility fast is a common experience among the engineering, physical science, arts and social science, and business administration graduates who join the Bell System. Bob Wilson went with Bell Laboratories. There also are job opportunities with the operating telephone companies, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation.
