Whites Edge Past Reds, 13-12, In Rough Spring Training Game

By DALE BASYE
Toreador Sports Writer

The Whites combined a smooth running game with a sharp aerial attack to down the Reds, 13-12, in a hard-fought intra-squad grid battle in Jones Stadium last Friday night.

Fullback Jim Sides plunged for the first extra point giving the Whites their winning margin and maintained their record of never having lost a spring training tilt to the Reds. However, if a 15-yard penalty for holding had not nullified Rick Spinks' dazzling 44-yard touchdown sprint for the Reds, the story might have been different.

The game was characterized by vicious blocking and tackling and hard, elusive running by the backfield men. Several individual duels for starting positions in next fall's lineup were apparent, with the contest between Johnson and Kirkpatrick standing out noticeably.

Both men turned in about equal performances: Johnson, handling the ball smoothly and faking superbly, stood out on offense, and Kirkpatrick sparkled on defense.

The duel between Sides and Spinks for the fullback slot also ended in a draw, with both men turning out equally good offensive and defensive performances. Spinks led the backfield men in yards gained rushing with 93, but Sides was close behind with 82.

The game started off as it were going to be a scoring duel. The Whites scored early in the game on Quarterback Jerry Johnson's 46-yard pay sprint, and Sides drove over for the point to make the score 7-0. But the Reds bounced back two minutes later to score when Skeeter Lewis shook himself loose on the 18 yard line and went all the way. Kirkpatrick failed to connect with the extra point, and the count was 7-6.

The Whites came back to score at the close of the first quarter on a 36-yard pass from Johnson to Halfback Walter Bryan. But the conversion was missed and the score was 13-6 as the quarter ended.

The defenses of both teams tightened in the second and third quarters and it wasn't until the clock showed 10:06 in the fourth stanza that another touchdown was scored. Quarterback Jack Kirkpatrick tossed a short jump

BSU and Rangers To Clash Tonight For 'Mural Basketball Championship

Rangers and BSU, two teams from the same league, will battle it out tonight for the All-College Intramural Basketball Championship. The contest is slated for 7:30 in Tech Gym, and the public is invited.

BSU finished an easy first in the Independent Circuit during the regular season, and was one of the favorites to compete for the title. But the Rangers finished the season in a tie for second place, barely making the playoffs.

In first round games last week, BSU took a 30-23 win over Sneed East, second place in the Dorm League. Green of BSU, and Clarke of Sneed East were tied for most points with 8 tallies each.

Two teams tied for second in different leagues, AU of the Independent Loop and Kemas of the MICC League, collided in the second first round contest. AU seized a 40-30 triumph, Johnson leading the way with 15 points.

Rangers raced past College Club, tied for second in the MICC League, 39-22, in another first round contest. Moonhouse tallied 22 points to lead the Wranglers to a decisive 54-40 victory.

In semi-final action, BSU battered AU, 41-32, with Thompson scoring 11 points. Rangers dumped Wranglers out of the playoff, 46-31. Lust again led the Rangers, scoring 16 points.

These contests set the stage for the championship battle tonight. This game will end action in the intramural basketball program, as the spotlight will be focused on the softball competition, which has already begun.

Mounted Quadrille Performs At Game

A mounted quadrille performance (square dancing on horseback) was staged as part of the half-time entertainment at the Raider Roundup game last Friday night, giving the fans a brief preview of one of the acts which will be featured at Tech's National Intercollegiate Rodeo April 30 through May 2.

The performance, sponsored by the Tech Rodeo Association, featured four couples performing square dance routines on horseback.

Bill Peacock was the caller.

Tech Tracksters Tally Three Points

Tech's Red Raiders, hindered by pulled muscles and bad breaks, netted only three points in the West Texas Relays at Odessa last Saturday.

The University of Texas rolled up 38 points to take first in the University Division for the fourth straight time. University of Houston, which was close behind the Longhorns, grabbed second. Baylor with 11 was in third place, followed by S.M.U. with 7 and T.C.U. with 3.

Tech's Jim Farrell placed third in the 120-yard high hurdles and Don Covey grabbed fourth in the broad jump to account for the Raider's three tallies.

The Tech crew was hindered by several bad breaks: Fairley, Tech's all-around speedster, pulled a muscle. Covey, Raider broad jump specialist, suffered from a sore back, and Dick Woody's shoe came off while he was running the anchor lap in the sprint medley relay.

Abilene Christian College with 39½ captured the College Class title, Baylor took junior college freshman title with 37, and Amarillo grabbed first in the High Schol Division with 201.6.

STUDENT AID

Representative Explains WSSF Goals, Projects

Techsans who attended the WSSF talent show last semester are probably wondering where their money went—and for what.

The Student Council turned the money over to the World Student Service Fund, which then distributed it among its service projects.

Joan Harshman, travel representative for WSSF, was recently on the Tech campus to explain the uses of contributions and to thank Techsans for contributing.

Began After War
The WSSF began immediately after the war, and its primary projects were reconstruction and aiding displaced persons. Now that Europe has recovered somewhat from the effects the war had on its universities and colleges, the plan is one of mutual aid. Europe today is contributing to the fund, except for Greece and the Slavic countries.

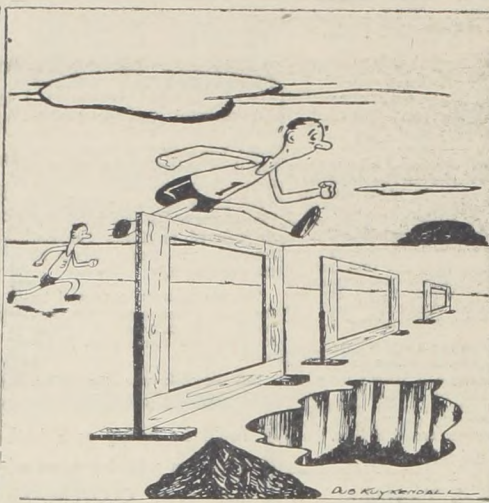

"The program today is a more positive one of construction especially in Asia and the Middle East," Miss Harshman said.

WSSF has helped in providing housing services for students and educational equipment for schools.

Projects Today
Some of the major projects today are:

1. Sending food and clothing to South Korea.
 2. Building the first student tuberculosis sanatorium in Japan; one during the 1952 International Work Camp at Inadanoorito, Japan.
 3. Building a student center and canteen in Gauhati, India; the population has increased four-fold with no comparative increase in sleeping in the streets.
 4. Mimeograph projects in Greece and Indonesia; students mimeograph their lecture notes to be used as texts.
 5. Health centers in India.
- WSSF also aids refugees to-day, sponsors some educational services and some scholarships. "However, we have to stretch our limited funds so that they will do the most good for the most people a scholarship which will help only one person is not as good as providing housing for a dozen. Therefore, we have only a few scholarships," said Miss Harshman.

Proposed Projects
Some proposed projects are a student TB sanatorium in Istanbul, Turkey; research scholarships to aid students to come to the United States to speak and study; international seminars throughout the summer and fall of 1953; and setting up a combination rest center and student hostel in Cairo, Egypt; establishment of a student center in Beirut, Lebanon; and purchasing $1,000 worth of laboratory equipment in Syria.

To Be 'WUS'
WSSF will change its name in 1954 to the World University Service, to be called WUS. "This is to give a feeling of 'self-help' and internationalism to the participating nations," Miss Harshman said.

Any Techsan who doubts the value of the cause to which he contributed is referred to the following letter by President D. D. Eisenhower:

"I have returned from Korea with several strong impressions . . . her need for developing a large number of leaders of particular importance in this respect is the training to be provided in universities . . . any movement whose goal is to satisfy the material needs of Korean students and teachers and to continue a program of educational reconstruction is commendable. I urge all . . . to support the good efforts of the World Student Service Fund for assistance to the universities of Korea."

Whites—
pass to Enr Paul Erwin, who drove over to chalk up the Red's second tally. But Kirkpatrick missed the point, and that was the game.

Spinks led the backs in yards gained rushing with 93. Johnson was next with 87, and Sides had 82. John Thompson of Brownfield posted the best average per try with an impressive 7.3.

HEITMAN ATTENDS MEETING

J. Russell Heitman, head of the journalism department, is attending a short course for industrial editors this week at Oklahoma A&M College in Stillwater.

Industrial public relations workers and editors from all over the nation are participating in the annual conference.

College Women Will Be Told of Careers With Marine Corps Reserve Monday

What are the opportunities for a college woman in the military service?

That question will be answered by Marine Lt. Billie R. Lowe, who will be on campus Monday to talk to graduates and undergraduates about becoming commissioned officers in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Lt. Lowe will also be available through the local Marine recruiting office to talk to other college women. Sophomores, juniors and seniors—as well as graduates—are eligible to apply for the Women Officer Training Class to be held June 22 at Quantico, Va. Applicants must be at least 18 at the time of enrollment and less than 27 on July 1 of the year in which they expect to be commissioned.

Undergraduates accepted for the class will attend two summer training periods of six weeks each. After completing the two courses and graduating from college, they will be commissioned. Women who are already seniors or graduates may complete both courses in one summer and be commissioned immediately.

Women officers in the Marines are assigned jobs in fields including: machine accounting, aerology, communications, intelligence, food service, finance, special services, supply, company work and public information. A limited number are at present assigned to duty with fleet units in Europe and Hawaii.
