

RODEO THRILLS BEGIN THURSDAY

The Toreador

Fans To See Cowboys From 30 Universities

Keen competition and spine-tingling thrills and spills are expected in Tech's third annual Intercollegiate Rodeo to be held Thursday through Saturday.

The rodeo, sponsored by the Rodeo association and Block and Bridle club is being held in conjunction with Tech's annual "Western Days" celebration.

Thirty colleges, all members of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo association, are expected to send representatives to display their cowboy artistry. Some of the most colorful and skillful collegiate cowpokes in the nation are expected to compete for an imposing array of prizes.

Saddle To Be Awarded

A hand-tooled saddle will be awarded to the all-around cowboy and a silver trophy-belt buckle will be presented to the top cowgirl. The winning team will be awarded an engraved gold trophy.

Four complete rodeo performances will be presented. An evening performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday nights. A double-header is on tap for Saturday—an afternoon session at 2 p.m. and a night performance at 8 p.m.

Six events for men and two for women have been announced. The events for men include saddle and bareback bronc riding, bull riding, bulldogging, calf roping and ribbon roping. Cowgirls contestants will compete in barrel racing and goat tying events.

Sheriff Appointed

A sheriff and a group of deputies have been appointed as official "peace makers" during the three day celebration. The peace officers will have the authority to ask any individual to refrain from drinking, profane language and any other conduct deemed disorderly and out of place. They may submit to the dean of men or the dean of women.

TOMMY DORSEY

Dorsey Band To Play Here

The Tommy Dorsey show, possibly the outstanding event on this season's Recreation hour program, is only hours away. Dorsey will present two shows at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 30, in the Tech gym.

Tickets may be obtained upon presentation of activity books to Dan Pursel in his office in the Rec hall during the following hours: 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., MWF; 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., TTS; and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., TTS. Each ticket will be good for only one show.

According to Pursel, there are 4,400 tickets available. He warns, however, that Techsians should not delay getting their tickets with the expectation of picking them up at the door. Because the shows start at the announced times, such a procedure will "inevitably cause many people to miss 30 minutes of the show," says Pursel.

Tech Officials, FBI Investigate Campus Thefts

Five typewriters were reported stolen from buildings on the campus sometime Friday night. The machines, missing from the government, speech and military science departments, were valued at $695.

Dr. J. William Davis, head of the government department, told investigators he discovered the burglaries early Saturday morning. No evidence of forced entry was found in any of the buildings. A key broken off in the lock to a rear door is the only clue that has been discovered.

Trucks Stolen

College trucks were stolen and driven off the campus April 7 and 8, when a theft in the economics department also was reported.

A Moore's bonded patrolman, who was investigating one of the burglaries, charges that he was beaten Friday night by eight or nine persons he believes to be college students. The beating occurred after he apprehended three students now under investigation by college officials in connection with the theft of gasoline Thursday night from a campus building.

Students Probed

The students under investigation are three freshmen, ages 20, 20, 21, with out of town residences. Military science officials refused to comment on the theft of the typewriter from their department. The stolen typewriter was government property and is being investigated by the FBI.

SC to Support Semi-Weekly Toreador; Jones, Urbanovsky Report on Parking

The Toreador will continue as a semi-weekly. At the regular meeting of the Student council Monday night, money was allocated from the surplus fund to the Toreador in order that it might continue to put out a Friday edition.

Council members favored having two editions a week for the remainder of the year. There will be much information that students should receive that probably could not be published in one issue each week.

Discusses Traffic Problem

E. J. Urbanovsky, professor of plant industry, stated that the parking situation at Tech cannot be solved as long as people desire individual parking spaces around each building. He suggested that Tech might have to return to area parking such as was used two years ago to relieve the parking problem.

"At present," he said, "the parking lot behind the Administration building, and that between the Chemistry and Library are the most used around class buildings. Lots behind the Journalism, Chemistry and Engineering buildings are among the lesser used lots."

Campus Has 2,286 Cars

There are 2,286 cars on the campus and only 1669 paved parking spaces, Urbanovsky said. He emphasized that each paved parking space cost around $25 at present and that places should not be paved that will later have other uses.

He also showed drawings and aerial photographs showing the present traffic problem at Tech.

Food Petition Action Held For Dr. Wiggins Return

No action has been taken on the food petition handed to Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, last week.

Dr. Wiggins is out of town and will return Wednesday when it is expected that he will take official notice of the petition.

Urbanovsky told of future plans that would tend to discourage city traffic through the campus. These plans called for sending cars around the campus and also on a round about way through the campus.

Lewis Jones, as assistant dean of student life, said the student traffic court was helping to reduce the number of campus traffic offenders.

1,039 Traffic Violators

He stated that there were 1,039 known traffic offenders and of these one had received 46 tickets. He pointed out that about 95 percent of the tickets were for improper parking.

Selections for assistant cheerleaders were approved by the council and will be sent to the Double-T association for final approval. Peggy Karnes, head girl cheerleader, has chosen Ann Lee Turner, freshman from Palestine, as her assistant, while Don Andres, head boy cheerleader, has chosen Don McNicol, junior from El Paso, and Dick Shockley, freshman from Weslaco, as assistants.

The SC voted to support KTTK, Tech radio station, rather than have the station accept advertising.

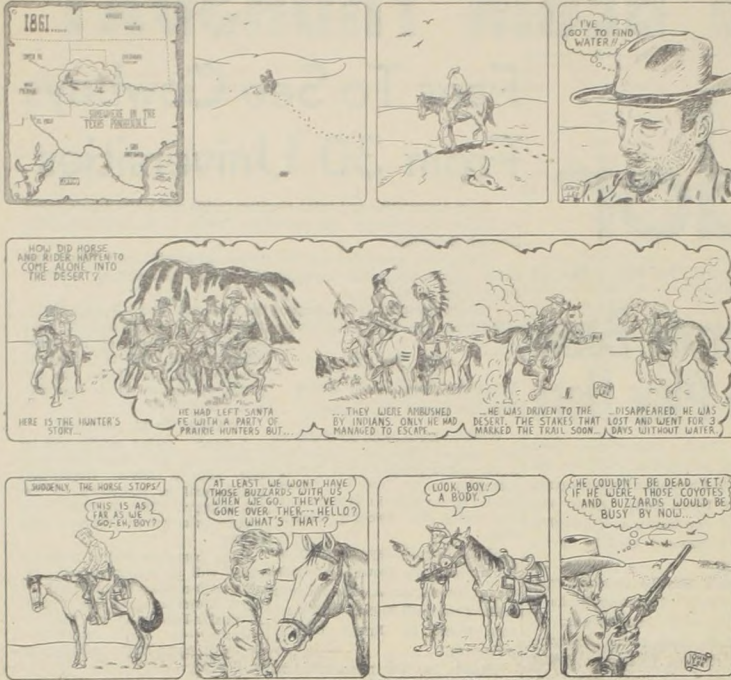

Julia Durwood Ballew, BS in mechanical engineering, 1948, is assistant technical engineer for Southwestern Public Service company in Amarillo.

Spirit of Author Rides West

By ANN BRYAN
Toreador Staff Writer

The life of a "German Zane Grey" who was never west of the Mississippi will be commemorated by Der Liederkranz, German club, in the pre-rodeo parade Thursday. The club's float will depict a scene from "Winnetou," a book by Karl May, novelist and dreamer who lived and wrote in Germany during the later part of the nineteenth century.

In "Winnetou" May probably is describing the famous Apache chief, Cochise, and is idealizing the brotherhood of man, asserting that white and red men can live as brothers.

Float Planned

On the float, Benjamin Kellum will portray Winnetou, James Calley and Bill Brown will act as hunters, and Donald Smiley, president of the club, as Karl May. Around the float, Jack Burgess, Donna Upton, J. P. Jones, Fred McKelvy, Carolyn Schaeffer, Margaret Helen Brown, Margaret Bouldand and Mack Noble, chairman of the float committee, will represent characters from "Der Phalman," another of May's books.

"Der Phalman," which means "Desert Trail Wreckers," is used as a reader by German 132 classes and the action of the book takes

Baptist Student Union Wins Volleyball Tourney Trophy

Winner for the third consecutive year in women's volleyball is the Baptist Student Union team.

The three finalists in the round-robin tournament played Saturday at the gym were Ko Shari, Wesleyan Foundation and BSU. Ko Shari defeated the Methodists 25 to 10. BSU beat Ko Shari 29 to 2, and then won over the Methodists 24 to 14.

This entitles the Baptists to keep the trophy.

In charge of the tournament were Beverly Noble and Joyce Davis. France Gibbs, physical education major from Lubbock, refereed.

place in the area around Lubbock. Story of Outlaws

It is a story of the punishment of outlaws who stole or moved the stakes from desert trails in order to lure travelers into the desert and rob them.

John Lee, senior journalism student who is taking German 132 now, got the idea for the comic strip on this page while reading the book. Lee's work has been praised by Dr. C. B. Qualia, head of the foreign languages department; J. Russell Heitman, head of the journalism department; and T. W. Alexander, instructor in foreign languages and sponsor of Der Liederkranz.

Use for Comics

"It is possible that comic strips such as Lee has drawn may be printed to accompany texts for general college use," said Dr. Qualia. The Army school of languages in Monterey, Calif., now uses comic strips as a means of instruction.

May, who was born in 1842 in Honhenstein-Ernstthal, Germany, first became a public school teacher but was fired and imprisoned, probably because of his radically democratic views.

Wrote 80 Books

After his release he became a popular novelist and, during his career, wrote approximately 80 books. Although some of them had an oriental setting, the majority dealt with the southwestern area of the United States. May read a lot of history, especially of the American Indians, and used historical treaties as a basis for his stories.

There is no doubt that his books influenced, to a large extent, the German immigration to the Southwest. There is evidence that the author himself came to America but it is doubtful that he ever came west of the Mississippi river.

Claude Lloyd Hunt, BS education, 1950, is a coach at Meadow High school.

Women Physical Education Students Will See Films

Women physical education students will see films on cancer Wednesday and Thursday on the campus.

One film will be shown to the class on community health education in the extension building auditorium at 1 p.m. Wednesday.

All women's physical education students will see a "self-examination" film in the Aggie auditorium Thursday at 7 p.m.

Dr. F. P. Kallina, college physician, will be at the showing to discuss the film and answer questions. The films are being shown by the Lubbock County Cancer Crusade under the chairmanship of Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech vice-president.

Royce Talmadge Jackson, BS in dairy manufacture, is assistant superintendent at a creamery in Quanah.

Queen Crowned at Raider Round-up

Miss Garrett was escorted by former Captain Jerrell Price and alternate Captain Aubrey Phillips. She was crowned by her fiancée, Junior Arterburn, former quarterback.

Unanimously elected by the team, Miss Garrett reigned over the game that was won by the Red Raider Whites, 7 to 0.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 41...THE MAGPIE

He's a chatterbox himself — outclassed by no one!

But the fancy double-talk of cigarette tests was too fast for him! He knew — before the garbled gobbledygook started — a true test of cigarette mildness is steady smoking. Millions of smokers agree — there's a thorough test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test...the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...

It Couldn't Happen Here . . .

This couldn't happen at Tech. No, vandalism is a term which applies to the actions of children or adolescents who destructively disregard the rights of others. Techsians are mature individuals, deserving to be thought of as good citizens.

Yes, that's what we thought, too. But it seems we're mistaken. A few students on the campus evidently are not mature enough to accept their places in adult society. A few weeks ago Tech authorities were informed that several vending machines on the campus had been forced open and robbed. There were also reports that campus buildings had been entered during night hours. Minor items were missing.

It was an unfortunate situation, but not one that seriously alarmed anyone. As a safeguard the college employed bonded patrolmen to aid in watching campus buildings at night. The term "vandalism" was applied.

Friday night the worst blow to the college's reputation came when five typewriters valued at $695 were stolen and a patrolman was beaten by eight or nine persons, believed to be college students.

We hope the members of the gang were not Tech students. Nevertheless, the college's good name has suffered. As is nearly always the case, the majority must be penalized for the actions of a few.

Under the Breezeway

By SHIRLEY JOHNSON
Toreador Associate Editor

In a meeting of club presidents the other day an aggie was reading the rules set up by the Tech Rodeo Association and the Block and Bridle club for Rodeo week.

He read one rule pertaining to the sheriff and his deputies at which everyone laughed. Listed under limitations of sheriff and his deputies, it read, "They shall not be permitted to manhandle anyone except at the all-college dance and to use discretion at that time."

Before the subject of the fire in the women's dorms is left for posterity, we would like to say one thing. Next time a fire decides to happen, we wish it would take place at a time when no quizzes are scheduled for the next day.

One town girl was staying in the dorm to study with a classmate for a quiz. After the lights went off, the dorm resident discovered she had no candles. So penny matches were used.

Dialogue, so we are told, got a little hysterical. "I'm fixing to light a match. You look up 'slavery' while it is burning . . . that odor is just my finger burning. Will you please hurry?"

Then there was the boy who wandered down to breakfast nineteenth asleep. Although he realized somewhere in the dim recesses of his mind that he heard feminine voices, he refused to believe it. He stood patiently in line, got his food, dozed over to a table and sat down.

Without looking at the person beside him, he asked for the sugar. The girl next to him answered very agreeably and handed it to him. As he realized the animal next to him was a female, he went into quiet hysterics.

Another boy, who had not been down for breakfast since school started, just happened to get up to eat on the first morning the girls ate in his dormitory. As he entered the dining room, friends heard him mutter, "How long has this been going on? Nobody tells me nothing."

In a recent ACP news release, we learned a bit of information which we thought somewhat humorous. Cornell university's rowing team should have a clean boat now.

Some prankster poured some "modern, fast-foaming detergent" into the practice tank. The faster the team rowed, the more suds they churned up, the slower they traveled, and the cleaner the boat became.

This age of science.

Ronald Bennett, basic airman, has received orders to report to Cheyenne, Wyo., for permanent assignment. He graduated from Tech in 1951.

Miss Mary Anderson of Lubbock has reported for training in Rhode Island as an ensign in the navy.

Maj. V. D. Pennel, assistant professor of military science at Tech, left Saturday for Rush Springs, Okla., the University of Texas and San Antonio to inspect troops.

First Lt. Charles Speights, Tech graduate, has been assigned as radar observer on a B-29 Superfort aircrew.

Joe Snodgrass, '48 graduate, is stationed at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio.

Texas Tech Talk

Tech Theater To Play Shakespeare Monday

By JOHN NORCROSS
Toreador Editor

Tech theater will play Shakespeare Monday night. The annual spring production of the speech department will be "As You Like It."

The production has been modernized by Cecilia Thompson, speech instructor, but it will probably take an expert to tell which lines have been cut. Miss Thompson is noted for her ability to adapt plays for use in the small Speech building auditorium without detracting from their unity.

She has devised an unusual method for scene changes for the production. Pages in a large story book will be turned to denote time lapses. "As You Like It" will resemble a musical comedy. Taking the leading role of Rosalind will be Frances Gibbs. This will be her first major part in a speech department play.

A sold house will probably view Monday night's performance, judging from past productions. Miss Thompson has made Shakespeare popular on the campus, a feat in itself. Last year's "Taming of the Shrew," for example, was held over by popular demand.

Miss Thompson, who has been the guiding force in Tech theater for the past two years, will leave the college at the end of this semester to complete work on a Ph.D. at the University of Iowa.

Students who want to hear the Tommy Dorsey concert Wednesday in the Tech gym are reminded to get tickets for the performance in the Rec hall.

Tickets can be obtained without cost on presentation of activity tickets. Color of the ticket will denote which performance is to be seen. The tickets are being given in order to assure an even distribution of the crowd for both performances, the first being from 7 till 9 p.m. and the second, from 9:30 till 11. Activity tickets and the special tickets for the concert are to be shown again at the door.

Tech will be the scene this week of the third annual National Intercollegiate Rodeo. Students and faculty members are supposed to dress in western outfits for Western Days, which will be Thursday through Saturday.

A host of events will be included on the rodeo schedule. Among these will be a parade, chuck wagon breakfast, street dance and all-school dance Saturday night in the gym after the final rodeo performance. Officiating the annual celebration will be the rodeo sheriff and his deputies.

Participating in the giant rodeo will be college students, both men and women, from thirty schools who maintain membership in the Intercollegiate Rodeo association. Prizes will be awarded the winners in all events, with each contestant receiving a pair of levis.

Guest of honor for the rodeo will be Texas Attorney-General Price Daniel, who has recently announced his candidacy for the U. S. Senate. The official will ride in the parade, which opens the rodeo.

Tech now has an official school song which the majority of the students know, but there's something we should get straight—are we going to call our football team the Matadors or the Red Raiders?

D. M. McElroy, executive secretary of the Ex-Student association, who was speaker at the annual Student council banquet last week, pointed out that it is a farce to sing the Matador Song at football games and then yell "Fight, Raiders, Fight." He said he didn't care what we called the team, so long as we made up our minds what their title should be and stuck to it. Originally dubbed the Matadors, the team became known as the Red Raiders during the thirties. Since our official college song is the Matador Song we think it would be in keeping with the Spanish tradition of the college to go back to the original title. The team could still be called the Red Raiders as a nickname.

About The Campuses

The ultimate in versatility for teachers is found in Mrs. Kelton, an English professor at Paris Junior college, who earned $600 for the senior class by telling fortunes at their carnival.

An English instructor at the University of Arkansas is trying to be helpful. He has written a short story titled "Look For A Buzzard."

Sen. Joe McCarthy was refused use of McFarlin auditorium at SMU because, according to authorities, "Senator McCarthy is a political figure, and McFarlin is not to be used for such rallies."

The Student council at Texas A and I found themselves in a spot before a recent election. For the nine offices, only eight positions could be approved, only one office with two candidates running, and two officers without any candidates.

The University of Detroit's Arnold Air Society has gone into blood drive promotion in a big way. They plan to advertise by radio and television in order to get more donors.

A few days ago the Austin chief-of-police told Texas U. house-mothers that they could expect more protection by the police department from peeping toms and prowlers.

Starlet Jane Greer, criticizing Hollywood's build-up of female stars as homebodies remarked: "If they were like the girl next door, nobody'd ever go to the movies. They'd go next door to see the girl next door."

The Stanford University student paper recently came out with an announcement warning students not to eat wild mushrooms they may find near the school. Several cases of poisoning have resulted from students eating poisonous mushrooms collected in the foothills back of Stanford.

Tech Baptists Will Be Hosts for State BSU Convention To Convene Friday

About 500 students from almost every college in Texas will convene Friday morning at the Lubbock First Baptist church for the annual Baptist Student union spring planning conference.

The Tech BSU will be host to the convention for the first time since 1937. As host of the conference, the Tech BSU will give a banquet Friday night for the visitors, says Ardelle Hallock, director.

Registration for the conference will be held Thursday evening at the Baptist Student center and the session will start at 9 a.m. Friday. Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech vice-president, will address the group at 9:30 on the subject, "From the College Point of View."

Other speakers for the conference include a former missionary to China, Dr. Buford Nichols, who left after the invasion by the Communists. He will speak at 8 p.m. Friday on the mission program of the conference.

Leading the conference will be Dr. W. F. Howard, state director of the Baptist Student union, of Dallas. Dr. Howard was a member of the Religious Emphasis week team at Tech last fall.

The conference, which is aimed at improving the work of the various BSUs, continues through noon Saturday.

Casas Is Elected Queen of Fiesta

Junita Casas, senior arts and sciences student from Levelland, was elected queen of the fourth annual Pan-American Fiesta staged Saturday in Amarillo.

Attending the fiesta were approximately 1,200 students from high schools and colleges from this area.

Miss Casas, who is attending Tech on the Hiram Parks scholarship, is a member of Capa y Espada and Sigma Delta zeta, Spanish organizations. She was selected from entries from 26 other schools.

Joel Quinones, Mexican consul of Amarillo, crowned the queen.

Essay prizes won during the morning session were awarded by Evelyn Sue Burks, Lubbock senior, who is president of Sigma Delta Pi. Approximately 114 students from Lubbock were present.

Bernard Joseph Elsen, BS in mechanical engineering, 1951, is a design engineer at Boeing Aircraft corporation, Wichita, Kan.

Officers Set Up Summer Camp

Col. Olive Turner, professor of air science, and Maj. Haynes Baumgardner, assistant professor, are at Goodfellow airbase, San Angelo, working on problems of setting up a summer camp there for ROTC airforce students.

Col. Turner announces that seventy-five airforce ROTC students will attend summer camp this year. Twenty will be sent to Long Beach, California, 30 to George airforce base in California, 20 to March field, Riverside, Calif., and one to Great Falls, Mont.

makes the difference—

The difference between "just smoking" and really enjoying your smoke is the taste of a cigarette. You can taste the difference in the smoother, mellower, more enjoyable taste of a Lucky... for two important reasons. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... fine, mild tobacco that tastes better. Second, Luckies are made to taste better... proved best-made of all five principal brands. Thinclads to Enter Quadrangular Meet

Coach George Scott plans to take 15 Tech cindermen to a quadrangular meet at Abilene Wednesday.

Abilene Christian, Hardin-Simmons, and McMurry will be the other entrants. The meet, scheduled for McMurry's cinder track, was postponed from April 10, when high winds in Abilene interfered.

Abilene Christian is a heavy favorite to repeat last year's victory. Tech was third last season behind McMurry, Hardin-Simmons was not entered.

Tech Splits Tennis Match With ACC

Tech and Abilene Christian college split a six-event tennis match Saturday 3-3.

The next fray for the Red Raiders will be another dual meet against West Texas State college here Saturday.

David Clark lost the No. 1 singles match to ACC's Jack Coleman 6-2, 1-6, and 6-2.

Other results were: Singles: Mac Leach, ACC, defeated Buddy Satterwhite, 7-6, 6-3; Richard Clarke, Tech, smothered Rudy Wyatt, 6-1, 6-2; Jimmy Burgess, Tech, stopped J. B. Williams, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2.

Doubles: Clarke and Satterwhite, Tech, squeezed past Coleman and Williams, 6-3, 4-6, and 9-7.

Leach and Wyatt, ACC, eased over Burgess and Clarke, 7-5, 6-2.

Whites Defeat Reds in Intr a-Squad Tilt

Texas Tech's coaching staff ended a two-week long feud Friday night as the Red Raider Whites defeated the Reds 7 to 0 in the annual spring football game on the strength of Jim Turner's fourth quarter tally.

The Whites had led in an earlier tilt in Odessa only to be tied in the closing minutes of the game. But, Friday night they played the Reds a close game all the way, coming back in the final periods to score the lone touchdown to either settle or add more fire to the coaches' rivalry.

The Reds led at the end of the first half, but the leadership of James Odom, the new Raider quarterback, sparked the Whites to a fourth quarter t. d. Odom again showed that he will be a valuable replacement for Jerry Johnson when next season opens.

His left-handed bullet passes were so fast that they were difficult to follow.

Another new development in the Raider backfield is John Matlock, a freshman from Dalhart who entered Tech in February. Matlock, ran in the place of Bobby Cavazos who was injured in practice last week and gained more yardage than any other player in a total of 10 carries.

Punting showed improvement over last fall as both teams averaged better than 40 yards per kick.

Developments in the line showed that Vic Spooner, at end for the Whites, will be an asset to the Raiders next fall. He took several of the passes from Odom, while surrounded by Red tacklers.

Swimmers Splash To First Home Win

Tech won its first intercollegiate swimming victory in history by beating New Mexico Military Institute Saturday night. The final score favored the Red Raiders 42 to 31.

After the second event Tech led all the way, but going into the final event—the 200 yard relay which was worth seven points—the meet could have gone either way. Tech then had a scant 35 to 31 lead.

Ben Street, captain of the Raider team, led Tech's scoring with 11 points, taking two first places and swimming a leg of the winning relay team.

A return match is scheduled for the New Mexico Military Institute pool at Roswell Friday afternoon.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

"YOUR HAIR looks as though it's been in the rain, deer," a campus Caribon told Sheedy. "If you want to horn in on the sororities, it might behoove a man of your ilk to try Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's Favorite Hair Tonic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Non-alcoholic. Grooms hair neatly and naturally all day long. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes moose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test!" Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now no girl wonders whether he's man or moose! If your moose is cooked by unruly hair, collect a little doe and take a taxi-dermist to the nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for it on your hair at the barber shop so your deer won't think you've let herd down. (What she'll say will be moose-ic to your ears!)

White Sands Plan Set for Freshmen

Basic plans for a student-traine program were agreed upon Thursday between Tech officials and the White Sands Proving grounds at Las Cruces, N. M., according to Dr. Dysart E. Holcomb, dean of engineering.

Under the program, 70 entering freshmen with majors in engineering, mathematics or physics will alternate between Las Cruces and Tech, working six months and going to school six months. The student would receive academic credit and wages for his training in such fields as guided missiles and electronics. Students who will major in mechanical or electrical engineering probably will be given priority.

Persons who enter the program must first pass a civil service examination to be eligible for employment. Once in the program, a student will be bound "morally" to employment with the Ordnance corps for 18 months, but will receive in return a guarantee of a job when he finishes. In a little more than five years, a student entering under the plan will receive a bachelor's degree and will have more than two years of practical experience.

Miss Lottie Margaret Atkinson, 1948 Tech graduate with a BS in Speech, is a teacher at Levelland Independent schools.

Rec Hall Positions Open to Students

Dan Pursel, Recreation hall director, announces that students desiring positions on the Rec hall committees should come by his office and pick up applications.

Applications are available in the Rec hall office, which is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Pursel stressed that students desiring a position on a committee should give an address where they may be reached during the summer. He said he would be glad to discuss any questions that students might have about committee work and qualifications.

Pursel especially urged those students who have worked on one of the committees to come by if they want a position.

Elliot Will Speak on Folk Music

Raymond Elliot, Texas Tech music professor, will speak on folk music at ladies night of the men's group at Westminster Presbyterian church Tuesday.

Mr. Elliot will give a similar speech at the Levelland high school band banquet May 16. This will be the fifteenth time he has given talks on folk music in this area since September.
