Tech students negative toward Nixon, have mixed emotions on impeachment

DAD'S DAY — During the annual Dad's Day football game at Tech Saturday, dads cheer for the Red Raiders.

Techsians who were polled by the University Daily (UD) last week seem to be in line with the nation's reportedly negative feelings toward President Richard Nixon and politicians in general.

Although a slim plurality (13) of the 30 students commenting on possible impeachment were against it, few expressed confidence in Nixon's administration. Most of the 13 against impeachment found the idea of leaving the nation without a leader who had been elected a scary prospect, while the nine who favored impeachment expressed some rather violent anti-Nixon sentiments. Seven persons were undecided.

Samples of the comments follow: "I THINK IF HE is impeached, all those guys up there should be. They are all crooks," said Eddie Carpenter, junior and a Republican.

"I do not think he should be impeached because of the world situation as it stands now. We need a definite central authority. Due to Agnew's resignation, anyone else that would step in would not be aware of diplomatic happenings — in the Mideast for example," said Linda Cochran, junior and a Republican.

sophomore and a Republican. "OUR NATION IS IN such a horrible situation right now that impeachment would only increase the threat of dangers such as world war. We are an unstable nation thanks to Nixon, but he is the only one that knows what is going on. Should Nixon be impeached now, Carl Albert, qualifications to take his place," said Jayne Strain a junior and Republican.

"I think he is an ineffective president now, but impeachment would be impractical, it would put the country in greater turmoil ... a country with only one leader is better than no leader at all," said Matt Malouf, a senior and an independent.

"HANG THAT DICTATORIAL son of a bitch," declared Roy David Taylor, a senior and an independent.

"I want to see him impeached because I feel he is stupid in that he bugged headquarters in California then he did the same thing at Watergate. I don't think all politicians are corrupt — the trick is just not getting caught," said Robert Briley, a senior and an independent.

"Yes, I think he should be impeached because our government is in a turmoil and the President should step down for the good of the country. The whole affair is hurting us with other countries and giving communist countries propaganda to use against us," said Dennis Anthony, a junior, Democrat.

"It's a perfect opportunity for the Democrats. I think mainly what everyone is upset about is Watergate. If they impeach him — okay, they will probably find him guilty," said Patty Pinkston a junior, independent.

"IF HE IS GUILTY they should impeach him. But I don't think the country would be in any better shape without him," said Linda Hughes, junior, Democrat.

"I don't think Nixon has the charisma other presidents have had. He has no self-confidence, therefore, how can he successfully lead the country? I definitely think he is guilty and should be impeached," said Sarah Head, a sophomore, independent.

would be taking over because we have no Vice President and they are not going to approve Ford with impeachment in the air. Albert would not be a suitable president in any situation as far as I am concerned," said Jamie Edwards, sophomore and a Republican. "He shouldn't be impeached because we don't have anyone of sufficient

Charges expected today for 16 arrested in drug raid

Sixteen persons arrested Friday evening in connection with Lubbock narcotics traffic are expected to be charged today.

The 16 were picked up by Lubbock police and Texas Department of Public Safety officers in four closely coordinated raids following a three-month investigation using confidential sources.

Approximately $30,000 worth of heroin, several ounces of marijuana, three pistols and narcotics paraphernalia were confiscated in raid between 5 and 9:30 p.m. Friday. Six persons were arrested at a clothing store on Broadway a half block from Tech campus, nine others were picked up at two apartments in West Lubbock complex and another man was arrested at an East Lubbock residence.

Seven of the 16 persons arrested were stationed at Reese Air Force Base (RAFB), according to Lubbock police. No Tech students were arrested.

More than 65 papers of heroin, 20 capsules of the drug and 15 envelopes containing heroin-filled greeting cards were confiscated in the raids. The Office of Special Investigations at RAFB has begun an investigation into the mailing of some of the heroin from an Army Post Office number in San Francisco. Authorities believe the drugs may have been shipped from Southeast Asia.

City officials are again expected to approach the Board of Regents at the board's Nov. 30 meeting to discuss widening of University Avenue along Tech's eastern boundary.

According to Bill McDaniel, director of city traffic engineering, the city seeks a 50-foot right of way on each side of University so that the avenue could be widened a maximum of 14 feet on each side from 4th Street to 19th Street.

THE CITY CLAIMS it already has this 50-foot right of way by virtue of actions taken by the Tech Board of Regents in the 1930s, McDaniel said.

But the current board has not made a clear decision on whether it feels the city has the right of way, according to Board Chairman Bill Collins.

Until the 1950s, University was a state highway, according to David Elliot, assistant director of traffic engineering.

About 1930 Tech asked the state to pave University, then College Avenue, along the Tech border, Elliot said.

At that time plans were drawn up showing a total 50-foot right of way on each side of the street. The plans were agreed to by both Tech and the state, he said.

Elliot said the total 100-foot right of way was the standard for all state highways at the time.

In 1940 the City of Lubbock extended its boundaries to include Tech, which had formerly been in Lubbock County.

However, University remained under state jurisdiction until the mid-1950s when maintenance was turned over to the city.

Normally, when maintenance of a street is transferred from the state to a city, all right of way is transferred with it, Elliot said.

The transfer of right of way is not as clear in this case because 20 feet of the original 100-foot of right of way.

He said documents which his office has gathered indicate an "intent" that total University right of way 100 feet.

Pat Gooden, administrative assistant to the mayor, said the city has requested time on the Regents' Nov. 30 agenda. The Tech President's office, which finalizes the agenda, could not confirm Friday whether the city was on it or not.

Tech President Grover Murray last school year opposed widening of University.

One reason given by Murray was that he felt the increased traffic flow allowed by the widening would raise exhaust levels around near by residence halls to unacceptable levels.

Murray was out of town Friday. McDaniel said proposed widening of University would allow six lanes instead of the present four.

The Board of Regents in 1969 approved widening from 15th Street to 19th Street.

McDaniel said the city delayed construction on that section of the avenue because it was felt that federal money would later become available which could be used towards widening of the entire length of University along Tech.

He said federal money is now available through the Federal Urban Highway Assistance Program. Federal assistance was formerly granted only for highway construction, but the law now provides for federal assistance on city streets, McDaniel said.

FEDERAL MONEY WOULD pay for all construction costs involved in University widening except for relocation of utilities and driveways, he said.

Original estimate on the widening was $540,000. That estimated cost has probably increased, he said.

McDaniel said under the proposed widening plan, University would not be widened 14 feet along the entire west side from 4th to 19th. He said expansion would vary from 14 feet to 5 feet.

He said expansion would be accomplished on the east side of the street by changing the present angle parking on that side to parallel. About a 10-foot sidewalk would be retained on that side, he said.

The Tech Senate is currently considering a resolution supporting University Avenue widening. It is expected to be voted on in the next few weeks before the Nov. 30 Regents' meeting, according to Sen. Tom Carr, one of the resolution's sponsors.

NEWS BRIEFS

US Congress calendar

WASHINGTON — The House plans action this week on a Social Security increase, while the Senate concentrates on its inquiries on Watergate, Rep. Gerald R. Ford and the firing of Archibald Cox.

For the fourth straight week, the Senate calendar is virtually bare as it awaits conference reports on bills passed in different form by the two houses and for the appropriations bills that must be passed before adjournment.

Despite the light schedule, the Watergate controversy, delay on the money bills and the Ford nomination have assured that once again the congressional session will run close to Christmas.

Nixon in Florida

KEY BISCAIYNE, Fla. — President Nixon summoned two of his top lawyers to the Florida White House Saturday, while aides described the President as concerned over confusion surrounding the Watergate tapes issue but confident it can be cleared up.

White House lawyers J. Fred Buzhardt and Leonard Garment flew by commercial airliner to Florida to discuss "progress of the proceedings before the court," Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said.

Presidential assistant Stephen V. Bull, a key witness in the case, also was at the Florida White House after a day of testimony at a Washington hearing on the tapes. Bull is to return to the witness stand Tuesday, when the hearing resumes before Judge John J. Sirica.

Israel, Egypt war warnings

Israel and Egypt warned simultaneously Sunday that the Middle East war could explode anew over the Egyptian demand that Israeli forces pull back to the Oct. 22 cease-fire lines.

The warnings came as the Tel Aviv military command said Israeli and Egyptian soldiers blazed away at one another with small arms fire for about an hour near Ismailia in the central sector of the Suez Canal and near Bur Taufiq at the waterway's southern end.

Resignation called for

The New York Times called on President Nixon Saturday to resign, saying it was "the one last great service that Mr. Nixon can now perform for his country."

The Detroit News also said Nixon should resign after Rep. Gerald R. Ford has been confirmed as vice president and added, "If he doesn't resign, serious consideration should be given to his impeachment."

And the Denver Post also called for Nixon's resignation.

The Times, in an editorial in its Sunday edition, said the "visible disintegration" of Nixon's moral and political authority "leads us to the reluctant conclusion that Mr. Nixon would be performing his ultimate service to the American people — and to himself — by resigning..."

Chicago 7 trial

CHICAGO — A federal judge Saturday acquitted the Chicago 7 defendants on nearly half the contempt charges against them, freeing two of them from further prosecution.

Judge Edward T. Gignoux of U.S. District Court acquitted the seven on 18 of the charges and dismissed another. They had been on trial for 38 counts of contempt arising from their 1971 riot-conspiracy trial for disruptions at the 1968 Democratic National Convention here.

Golda Meir's plans

WASHINGTON — Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel prepared to head for home Sunday with no outward indication of progress in her bid to win the release of prisoners held by Egypt and Syria.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, a busy go-between, was at the White House getting ready for his own trip to the Middle East beginning Monday. He goes on from there to China and Japan.

UNIVERSITY AVENUE — City officials are expected to ask Tech Board of Regents for the right of way to widen University Avenue from 4th to 19th Streets.

Who's Who procedures explained

Final selection of the 36 students to be listed as "Who's Who on the Tech campus" was made Monday night by the selection committee.

Announcement of the winners is pending the return of the list from the national Who's Who on American College and University Campuses based in Mississippi, said David Godfrey, graduate assistant to Nail. According to Nail,

United Fund goes for goal

A three-day Project "Tech Can" begins today on campus as the final effort in putting Tech over the top of its $36,000 United Fund goal.

Containers in the University Center will be available for students who may want to contribute to the drive.

On the last report day, Thursday, Tech had reached

Each of the eight colleges on the campus has one representative on the committee plus two from the student body at large.

$34,016.13 for 94.4 per cent of the 1973 goal.

The campaign committee is confident the goal can be reached," Chairman Monty E. Davenport said. "We've decided to have the special "Tech Can" campaign within the UC today, Tuesday and Wednesday to give everybody a last chance to put Tech over the top."

Members of the selection committee are chosen by the deans of their respective colleges. The two members at large are the leaders of the Student Association and the University Center, Rickey Alexander and Rick Stewart, respectively, Nail said.

Other members of the committee are: Cliff Bourland, arts and sciences; Mac Devin, agriculture; Weldon Hayes, business administration; Nancy Haseloff, education; Jeffery Morris, engineering; Wayne Spence, graduate; Kay Ford, home economics; and William Fairbanks, law.

A student data sheet was mailed to the nominees asking them to complete it and return it to Nail. This information included GPA, activities both on and off campus, honors and a recent picture.

Godfrey said of the approximately 240 sheets mailed, some 200 were returned. These were the names considered by the student committee.

The national publication "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" lists all the names received from colleges throughout the nation and is available to the public.

Speech hearing clinics set by Tech Author Vance Packard to speak

By BRENDA MYERS
UD Staff

A Tech sponsored free walk-in clinic for persons with speech and hearing problems will open Nov. 10 at May Simmons Community Center, 19th St. and Quirt Ave., and Nov. 17 at Hodges Community Center, 42nd St. and University Ave. The weekend clinic, a satellite of Tech's Speech and Hearing Clinic, will open from 8 a.m. to noon every Saturday. "The clinic site will alternate between the two community centers every other weekend," said Joshlin Brunson, lecturer and clinic supervisor at Tech. Brunson, coordinator of the weekend clinic, said it would offer a variety of services in the speech and hearing area. People interested in speech and hearing as a profession will be given career information at the clinic. Diagnostic evaluation to determine the extent of speech and hearing problems will also be made by audiometric screening.

"We will follow up the diagnostic evaluation with counseling so patients will understand their problems and the therapy involved," Brunson said. The weekend therapy sessions will be supplemented with home study sessions.

The satellite clinic will be sponsored by the pre-school program of Tech's Speech and Hearing Clinic. Testing instruments will be used at the weekend clinic, but patients requiring larger equipment or extensive therapy will be referred to the central clinic. Volunteer undergraduates, graduate students, and para-professionals in Tech's speech and hearing program will serve as clinicians.

Brunson said the weekend clinic was initiated because Tech's facilities could not serve the needs of many local patients. She said the Tech clinic is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and many patients work during that time. Lack of transportation and baby-sitting are also problems. Brunson said Tech's clinic had a long waiting list of patients and the weekend clinic should help alleviate this problem.

"Procedures for the satellite clinic will be the same as those at Tech's clinic," Brunson said. All patient information and diagnosis reports will be kept at the central clinic on the campus.

Vance Packard, social critic and author of some of today's most provocative books about the condition of life in America, will speak at 7:15 p.m. today in the University Center Ballroom.

His lecture is on "Changing Life Styles in the 1970's." General admission is $1 and 50 cents for Tech students with validated ID cards. Tickets are on sale in the University Center or may be purchased at the door prior to the lecture. There are no reserved seats.

Packard has achieved an international reputation for his perceptive analyses of social changes and their impact on people and institutions.

In 1957, he hit the top spot on the bestseller list with "The Hidden Persuaders," a study of motivational research techniques which alerted the public to the methods of "persuasion in depth" advertising.

This was followed by "The Status Seekers," which analyzed class stratification in the United States, and in 1960, by "The Waste Makers," which sounded a sharp warning on planned obsolescence and the waste-encouraging commercialism of American industry.

In the 1960's, he was critically acclaimed for "The Pyramid Builders," a lively examination of the executive's road to success; "The Naked Society," which turned the spotlight on the professional "people watchers," the investigators who inspect, control and keep an eye on individual citizens, and "The Sexual Wilderness," a study of the changing relationships between the sexes.

His seventh and most recent book, "A Nation of Strangers," published last year, deals with the anonymity of city life, the breakdown of kinship ties and the increasing demand for products and services.

Packard's appearance at Texas Tech is sponsored by the University Speakers Series.

Americans in Egypt face conflicts

CAIRO (AP) — Americans living here say the Egyptians have shown no hostility toward them despite U.S. aid to Israel. But they add they've had a hard time explaining that aid to their Egyptian friends.

"One Egyptian friend even called me when the war broke out and reassured me that I was still his good friend," said Dave Catlett, who works for an American oil company and has lived in Egypt for two years. "Others gave me their home phones in case there were ever any problems."

"There's occasional ribbing," said one American woman who's been married to an Egyptian for 10 years and asked not to be named. "They say things like 'How can you believe everything that Abba Eban tells you?' But there's never any personal hostility toward me. Never."

There are about 1,400 Americans living in Egypt. The latest Middle East war has been a constant topic of discussion these last weeks among Egyptian and Americans, provoking lively, though rarely bitter, arguments.

Most Americans said they often felt inept and defensive in debates, especially when their own sentiments were pro-Arab.

Raiders yawn past Rice before Dad's Day crowd

By BROOKS TINSLEY
Sports Editor
Ho-hum, the Tech Red Raiders defeated the Rice Owls 19-6 Saturday before a Dad's Day crowd in Tech's Jones Stadium.

And if any of the 37,400 fans were able to stay awake during the afternoon contest, they witnessed the Raiders' third conference victory in four tries as Tech's season record went to 7-1.

The events of the game left a little to be desired by most observers as both teams looked as if they would have rather been home watching the Texas-SMU clash on the television.

"You could just see a game like this coming sooner or later," said Raider Head Coach Jim Carlen following the game. "Our kids had been so high for seven straight games that it was hard for them to stay up this week."

But Carlen was only trying to explain what was apparent to everyone who saw the game. The offense didn't move the ball with its usual authority and the defense had its momentary lapses also. Both units did simply what they had to do to win.

The Raiders scored first by doing what they have done well all season—capitalized on an opponent's mistake. On the Owls' second play for scrimmage, quarterback Tommy Kramer attempted a short pass which was intercepted by cornerback Kenny Wallace and returned to the Rice 12. On first down, fullback James Mosley made a twisting, turning TD run, putting the Raiders on the scoreboard.

The Raiders scored again on their next possession, with a 29-yard Don Grimes field goal accounting for the points. Tech led 9-0 midway through the first period.

From this point until late in the third quarter, one could have gone to buy an unlimited number of Cokes and been assured of not missing any action on the field. Both teams simply traded punts before Tech mounted another touchdown drive.

Following a fair-caught punt on their own nine-yard line, Tech drove 91 yards for a touchdown. Fullback John Garner got the TD on a two-yard dive. Quarterback Joe Barnes got the two-point conversion as he bolted through a gaping hole in the Rice line.

Rice finally mounted a drive early in the final period which culminated in the first TD a Rice team has scored on Tech since the Carlen era began at Raiderland. Kramer rolled out for the final five yards and the two-point conversion attempt was no good.

Tech's final points came when defensive tackle Ecomet Burley managed to break through and block a Rice punt out of the end zone for a safety.

"We had an off day offensively," Carlen said. "I think the thing which hurt us the most was not making that fourth and one situation at the Rice one."

"Defensively, we played a pretty good game. We got a chance to play a lot of our younger players and they got good experience. I'm just glad to be able to play as poorly as we did and still win."

As it turned out, it wasn't one of those games which will be remembered for a long time to come. But it did keep Tech on the heels of the Texas Longhorns in the SWC race and the representatives of the Liberty and Peach Bowls who were in attendance did get to see another Raider win. It was one of several trips the Liberty Bowl reps have made and was a first time for the Peach Bowl crew.

But on this cool afternoon in November, it's doubtful they got their money's worth. Too bad, too.

Tech theft

Tech safety Greg Waters is brought down by the Owl's Ron Arceneaux after intercepting an errant Tommy Kramer pass. Tech defeated Rice 19-6. See story at left.

Texas fullback destroys Ponies

Texas' fullback Roosevelt Leaks single-handedly kept the 'Horns on the inside track to the Cotton Bowl by scoring three touchdowns and rushing for 342 yards Saturday in a 42-14 romp over SMU.

Leaks rushing performance was only nine yards shy of breaking the national rushing record of 350 yards set by Eric Allen of Michigan State in 1971.

Leaks' performance couldn't have come at a better time because Texas was down 14-0 as a result of three Leaks fumbles. However, once the all-American candidate got untracked, there was no stopping him.

In other games around the circuit, Arkansas kept its conference hopes alive by shocking A&M, 14-10. TCU used the rushing of Mike Luttrell to overcome Baylor, 34-28, and Tech yawned by Rice 19-6.

Tech back to basics; no excuses from Al

By LES MOORHEAD

"They are a real sound team. They didn't use any tricks against us. The biggest thing was losing field position." The words came from Rice Coach Al Conover after his Owls dropped a 19-6 loss to Tech's Red Raiders.

Tech went back to the basics, getting control on the ground, leaving behind the razzle-dazzle the Raiders have employed recently to defeat the lowly Owls.

Conover said, "The idea is to get people deep on their end of the field, but we let Tech get out. Defensively, I think we were too inconsistent."

Conover, in his second season at the helm, praised quarterback Tommy Kramer in the loss. Raider soph Ecomet Burley caught the eye of Conover several times throughout the game. Conover praised Burley's performance the same way other coaches in the league have all year.

Kramer, only a freshman, said Tech's defensive front, mainly David Knaus, Burley, and Brian Bernwanger played extremely well on the pass rush and the San Antonio Lee ex said Tech's secondary played Rice better than the Texas secondary did a week ago.

Ed Lofton, Kramer's favorite target, said, "We wanted to run more, but they closed it off pretty good. They blitzed a little more than we expected them to do. The mistakes have been plaguing us all year."

Possibly the best football player on the Rice team is middle guard Cornelius Walker. Walker acted as spokesman for the team when Edwin Collins was dismissed from the team by Conover two weeks ago.

Walker said, "It really hurt us to lose Ed and it's still on our minds. I'm just tired of getting beat."

The 240-pound Walker said Tech didn't do anything he didn't expect them to do. "I felt they earned only one touchdown, because we gave them the other scores."

"Tech doesn't have any superstars and they don't look good at what they're doing, but they get the job done."

Trucking isn't just for truck drivers.

It's also for college graduates. The American trucking industry is a vast, complex, sophisticated transportation network. A network that moves almost anything you can think of. Almost anyplace you can think of.

And to keep things running smoothly, it needs people. All kinds of people. From computer analysts to cost accountants. Traffic controllers to communications specialists. People like you.

In return, trucking offers you good pay. Plus a chance to grow fast and go as high as you want to. Because trucking is booming. And it's already the largest and fastest growing segment of the transportation industry. So you can start to contribute some mighty important things to the cause. Now. Not ten years from now.

How do you start a career in this dynamic business? It's easy, if you know where to look. First, try your placement office. See if there are any trucking concerns interviewing. Next, check out your college placement manual for names and addresses. Finally, look to the surrounding area for companies in operation.

Find out for yourself what a great career trucking can be. Even if you don't drive.

AMERICA'S PREMIER RADIAL TIRE MAKER.

B.F. Goodrich has brought you this message because we're proud to be a part of the American trucking industry. And, as a major developer of radial truck tires, torsilastic springs, caliper disc brakes and skid control systems, we know our future developments — and those of the trucking industry — will depend on people like you.

Buy the BSR 710 or 810.

Either way you'll get the shaft.

The BSR 810 and 710 have their brains in their shaft. A carefully machined metal rod holding eight precision-molded cams. When the cam shaft turns, the cams make things happen. A lock is released, an arm raises and swings, a record drops, a platter starts spinning, the arm is lowered, the arm stops, the arm raises again, it swings back, another record is dropped onto the platter, the arm is lowered again, and so on, for as many hours as you like.

Deluxe turntables from other companies do much the same thing, but they use many more parts—scads of separate swinging arms, gears, plates, and springs—in an arrangement that is not nearly as mechanically elegant, or as quiet or reliable; that produces considerably more vibration, and is much more susceptible to mechanical shock than the BSR sequential cam shaft system.

When you buy a turntable, make sure you get the shaft. The BSR 710 and 810. From the world's largest manufacturer of automatic turntables.
