

Big Season In Prospect For Hatcheries

Local Units Due To Turn Out 400,000 Baby Chicks

Between now and June, Big Spring hatcheries may turn out more than 400,000 baby chicks to satisfy the demand in Howard and other West Texas counties.

Although only two of the three local hatcheries are now in operation, one of those has a lower capacity than last year, indications are that in the next 18 weeks the usual volume of orders can be handled.

A 52,000-egg unit of the Logan hatchery now operates at Colorado and the output from it can be shifted to fill demands which the two units with an 84,000-egg capacity cannot meet. There is the possibility, also, that the Co-op hatchery may be leased and put another 15,000 unit into operation. Meanwhile, the Neel hatchery is approaching capacity on its 20,000-egg unit.

Earlier Purchases
As the situation now exists, the two Big Spring concerns can put on more than 620,000 eggs and expect around 400,000 baby chicks. Utilization of the Colorado unit and the other local hatchery would yield another 250,000 chicks.

Farmers started a bit earlier this year in their chick purchases in order to lay in a store of spring fryers. However, the demand has been surprisingly heavy for leghorns instead of the heavier varieties like barred rocks and reds. This, perhaps, is because farmers have learned that leghorns can either be eaten or saved for laying purposes.

Little change is noted in the price quotations on hundred lots. Mixed or untested lots run around

LOCAL EMPLOYMENT SERVICE LOOKING FOR AIR HOSTESS

Maybe this is a lot to expect of any girl, but the Texas State Employment Service expects it if the young woman is to be considered as an applicant for an unusual position—that of air hostess.

Here are a few of the qualifications: Must be attractive, preferably a brunette, be 5 feet 2-4 inches in height, weigh between 100 and 115 pounds, be between 21 and 28 years of age, be single, of good character, possess good personality, be a bit on the shapely side, have had two years college training or be a registered nurse, and, oh yes, be able to speak Spanish fluently.

Should a young woman get the job, an air line would pay her while she goes through a training course preparatory to making regular flights. Those interested may contact the employment service here.

$6.90-95, blood tested leghorns run to $7.90 and best strains on barred rocks and Rhode Island reds run as high as $8.90. Cockerills drop off to $3.95 while choice pullets from sexed lots command as much as $13.75.

11-12 Cents For Eggs
Eggs are a problem in early hatching and hatcheries offer average premiums of around 11-12 cents a dozen for eggs from flocks of known quality.

The period of operation will continue until the middle of June with six distinct hatching periods—or a hatching every 21 days. However, the eggs are put on regularly and in turn yield a steady output.

Breeds center on leghorns with the white variety accounting for most of the demand despite availability of buffs and browns. Barred rocks and Rhode Island reds are popular in the heavier types, but the hatcheries have available such kinds as Anconas, Wyandottes, Minorcas, Buff Orpingtons, Australorps and the compact Cornish game birds.

An Open Letter From The Mayor To The Citizens Of Big Spring

To the Citizens of Big Spring:

Our city is confronted with a decision which, to me, seems very important to the welfare of many of our people. That is the decision of whether to go forward with the construction of a permanent home for our Salvation Army post, thereby establishing a headquarters of service to many who would otherwise be served; or to let this worthy project lag and deprive the unfortunate of assistance which they must have.

Several public spirited citizens have come forward with freewill gifts toward the building, and the fund now stands at some $8,000. Salvation Army leaders tell me that at least $10,000 is needed for setting up adequate quarters. This means that the people of Big Spring should see fit to join those few who already have contributed in carrying this project through to completion.

On behalf of the city, I express deep gratitude for those philanthropic few who have assisted in getting the Salvation Home plans under way. These people are glad to make this contribution for the good of Big Spring; but it is only fair to them, as I see it, that their gifts be matched, in a measure, by contributions from the rest of us. Not every person is expected to make as considerable donations as have these few; but every person can and should contribute according to his ability.

The proposed Salvation Army home would be an investment for our town. It is granted that certain transients must be cared for; that certain indigent must be given aid. If they are not helped through a systematically organized agency, such as the Salvation Army, they will have to be helped—and at greater expense—by other means.

Then, too, there are many of our people in need of—and entitled to receive—the religious training and the spiritual guidance which the Salvation Army offers. At present the Army is handicapped for lack of facilities in this work, and cannot reach all it should reach and wants to reach.

The establishment of a permanent Army headquarters would mean—to look at it from a dollars and cents standpoint—smaller requirements for each ensuing fund campaign, since the item of rent would be eliminated.

It is needless to say that as long as the Salvation Army works with limited facilities, it cannot do the work it wants to do and we want it to do. But with a permanent building, adequately equipped to care for all the Army's welfare and humanitarian programs, one can easily envision the carrying on of these worthy objectives to the extent that all our unfortunates can be served.

It is my sincere hope that the people of Big Spring will respond to this great need. With the start that we have, our present situation becomes more than a need. It becomes a direct challenge to us to complete a project being developed in the cause of humanity.

Mayor of Big Spring.

INADEQUACIES OF FEDERAL SECURITY PROGRAM CITED BY DALLAS MAN IN TALK HERE

The federal social security program is in theory a good thing, but the present act is a hodge-podge of inadequacies and inequities and is in need of perfection.

Social security cannot replace life insurance annuities, but on the other hand can be used as a spur to the sale of those annuities.

These, in brief, were major views expressed at a luncheon session of the Big Spring Association of Life Underwriters Saturday by John C. Leisler of Dallas, publisher of the Southwest Insurer, a newspaper man turned insurance analyst who was here as the association's honor guest.

Pointing out that war risk insurance was a stimulus that encouraged later life insurance sales, Leisler told his audience that the social security program could be adapted in similar fashion by insurance men. Private company's annuities, he said, could be shown to be of more value and less cost than the government program.

888—And $150

"The social security act supposedly provides a maximum of $85 per month to those who participate and reach the age of 65," he said, "but it is safe to say that not one out of 5,000 will meet the requirements necessary to receive that maximum. The average payments will be more nearly $30. A salaried person making $3,000 a year will be paying a monthly security tax—eventually of $180 per year, this including the employer's part of the tax. For the same premium, he could get, at age 65, an annuity of $150 per month."

The Dallas man also hit at the mandatory feature of the federal act. He said many corporations had dropped their private annuity programs, programs which would have been of more value; and that participation in the federal program should be made optional.

In further contrast to government and private old-age security, he pointed out that under the federal plan, a person must cease work at 65 to be eligible for his benefit, while under a private annuity he could collect his payments without any strings attached. "In other words," Leisler said, "the federal program as it is now set up is not nearly so flexible or adaptable as that offered by insurance companies."

No Govt. Reserve

His strongest attack, however, was reserved for the government policy of spending the social security reserves. "Life insurance companies," he asserted, "invest their premium money in safe securities and other properties, so that a return is guaranteed. The government, instead of building up a reserve, is putting social security money into general funds and spending it. When the time comes for social security payments, the people will have to be taxed to raise the money. The man who expects to share in benefits later on properly should make a contribution now, but a later tax in addition is inequitable and unjust."

The time has come, Leisler said, to call a halt on excessive government spending, and he urged that insurance men use their influence toward bringing about revisions to the social security act to make it more workable and more equitable. The Underwriters' meeting was held at the Crawford hotel, with the president, R. W. Ogden, in charge. There were several visitors from Midland and Odessa.

Budgets Used By FSA To Aid Farmer

Agency Helps Put Operations On A Business Basis

Farm and home inventories, budgets and accounts are helping more than 140 Howard, Martin and Glasscock farm families chart their course to a greater security through the rehabilitation program of the Farm Security Administration, according to W. H. Gore, FSA supervisor here.

Before a family may qualify for a FSA loan for livestock, farm equipment, household goods or other operating items, it must agree to keep careful records to place the farm on a business-like basis. These records are a basis for a practical plan that insures maximum returns at the end of the year.

At the outset, an inventory of land, equipment, livestock, feed, seed and household goods shows readily what needs will be for the year, determines farm and home plans and affords a means of an accurate check on these facilities.

In addition, the farm family is budgeted. Income and expenditures based on normal yields and prices for livestock and crop production are carefully estimated to determine how much may safely be spent for new equipment, building repairs, livestock and similar items as well as for clothing, medical care, food staples, recreation, insurance and transportation.

Daily records of receipts and expenditures, compared each month with the farm and home budgets provide a quick check as to the progress being made and indicate where savings can be made or receipts increased for the following month. Adjustments in plans can be made to meet emergencies, said Gore.

First Proration Hearing For Sadler Slated Monday

AUSTIN, Feb. 18 (AP)—The first Texas oil proration hearing since the change in membership of the railroad commission will be held here Monday.

Commissioners said today there was no possibility of the statewide Saturday or Sunday oil field shut-downs being abandoned and the purpose of the session was to correct any production allowance inequities between fields.

Jerry Sadler of Longview, who replaced C. V. Terrell on the commission January 1, said he doubted if any field would receive an increase as a consequence of the hearing but several decreases might ensue. Latest figures indicate Texas is producing slightly more oil than the United States bureau of mines recommended for this month.

Other members of the commission are Lon A. Smith, chairman, and Ernest C. Thompson.

CALIFORNIA WINDS CAUSE A SEVERE ORANGE LOSS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18 (AP)—Twenty-five per cent of the navel oranges remaining in California on Feb. 15 were blown from the trees during the three days of severe wind, General Manager Paul S. Armstrong of the California Fruit Growers Exchange said today after a quick survey by the exchange.

"This represents 6000 cars of navela lost from shipment and completely changes the marketing picture and shipping plans for the rest of the season," Armstrong said.

ROAD WORK PLANNED

Plans are nearing completion on a projected half-mile road job from highway No. 9 to the cotton oil mill just north of town. The work is contemplated as a WPA project and would provide for a surfaced road to serve the compress and oil mill as well as other industries and individuals along the route.

Germany Looks For Ways Of Boosting Foreign Trade

BERLIN, Feb. 18 (AP)—Determined to bolster sagging exports today Chancellor Hitler's reichstag admonition of "export or die," Germany looked tonight to visits of British trade and industrial leaders to promote an understanding for stimulating commerce.

January trade figures showing a 12 per cent drop in German exports from the December total and a 15 per cent decrease in imports gave an impetus to the German desire to talk business with the British on trade between the two countries and to avoid competition in other markets.

The figures, issued today, showed an increase over December of 31,028,000 marks (about $13,100,000) in the adverse balance of imports over exports.

The British leaders expected here include:

1. Oliver Stanley, a member of the cabinet as president of the board of trade, and R. S. Hudson, secretary for overseas trade, due early in March.

2. Frank T. A. Ashton-Gwatkin, head of the economics department of the foreign office, due Monday in Berlin.

3. A delegation from the Federation of British Industries, arriving March 15 in Germany.

France Not Shown Best U. S. Planes

War Department Hints That After Products Belittled

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Disclosures of a French air mission considered only two American warplanes equal to similar German ships brought comment from war department sources today that this government has better and faster planes than the French saw.

The French attitude was disclosed when the senate military committee made public the record of its secret investigation of the French purchase of 100 Douglas light bombers of a new model built for entry in an army competition this spring.

This record revealed that Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau told the committee the French, after looking over the field, reported they found only two models that "could stand up in the air" against German planes.

Other disclosures from this testimony included:

1. General Malin Craig, army chief of staff, testified the Douglas light bomber, of which the French purchased 100, and the P-40 pursuit plane, which they were not permitted to see, "are still valuable military secrets if we are to lead in the air."

2. Craig, while noting sale of the Douglas bomber came in "a little different" classification, endorsed in general President Roosevelt's policy in selling American military planes abroad.

3. Craig told the committee that, starting from scratch, manufacturers could not produce more than 40 planes of a new model in 12 months and added that 18 months would be required to turn out 300 bombers.

In other war department quarters it was pointed out that the French had not seen the army's experimental XP-38 fighter which attained speeds in excess of 400 miles an hour in a dash across the country. These quarters also indicated the army has in the process of manufacture a bomber considered to be much more effective than the Douglas ship.

More Judges Face Charges

Official Goes After Brooklyn Bail Bond Racketeers

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—Capping a 3-month investigation, Assistant State Attorney General John Harlan Amen declared tonight "quite a lot" more judges would be charged with corruption in a long-flourishing bail bond racket in Brooklyn.

Without naming names, Amen indicated he would institute impeachment proceedings next week against other judges of the Brooklyn criminal courts, following similar action Thursday against Magistrate Mark Rudich.

Magistrate Rudich was charged specifically with accepting $100 to plead with a fellow-magistrate for a suspended sentence on a convicted prostitute and accepting bribes to approve fraudulent bail bonds.

The $100 bribe, Amen said, came from Louis Kasman, 49, a bail bondsman held in $15,000 bail after pleading guilty to subordination of perjury.

Indicated on a charge of first degree perjury yesterday and held in $50,000 bail was Max Lippe, 57, alias "Lippy" Lipshitz, reputed car of the ball bond racket, who, Amen said, had been "running the courts" in Brooklyn for 30 years.

In the action against Rudich, the magistrate was given until next Wednesday to make a formal reply to all charges of corruption and misconduct. In addition, the appellate division immediately stripped him of judicial power pending the outcome of Amen's accusations.

"This is just the beginning," Amen commented.

Group To Be Here To View Displays On Merchandising

An educational feature promoting merchandising in retail stores was conducted over the weekend in Big Spring by representatives of the Hibbard-Spencer-Bartlett & Company of Chicago at the Settles hotel, where over 200 gathered to hear the lectures and witness the displays on exhibit. The meeting, one of a series conducted in southwestern states, was brought to Big Spring through courtesy to Sherrod Bros. Hardware company of this city, which has used the merchandising system of the Chicago company throughout its establishment here.

A truckload of equipment, including show windows, display material, advertising, etc., had been sent here previously to be used during the event. Among officials of Hibbard-Spencer-Bartlett & Company in attendance were: H. L. Collard, sales manager, Chicago; J. H. Morrison, head of merchandising department, Chicago; William Hillman, field engineer, Kansas City; Charles Davis, field engineer, San Antonio; R. D. Speed, Fort Worth; Murray Elson, Amarillo; C. B. Billingsley, Waco, and J. D. Quigg, McKinney, salesman. Paul Sherrod, Lubbock, owner of the local Sherrod Bros. store, also was here for the event.

Approximately 200 people were expected in Big Spring over the weekend to take part in the display.

Children's Holiday A Forerunner To Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18 (AP)—Children made carnival their own today as the season moved a little closer to the big celebration—Mardi Gras.

King Nor and his young Krewe, all children like himself, paraded on floats paid for by business men and made in school workshops, saluted the mayor, was feted and tussled over, and got his picture in the papers.

So, as is the case in this town, time passed, night fell, Nor and his Krewe went to bed, and the big folks took over with the ball of the Krewe of Melsom and the ball of the Mystic Club, the latter an organization for married folks only.

The carnival pace slackens a bit tomorrow, Sunday, when only one parade is given, that by a neighborhood group, King Alla parades on the river Monday. That night the ancient Krewe of Proteus, which has more creoles on its roster than any other group, gives a night parade to a ballroom.

The real business comes Tuesday, Mardi Gras, with parades and balls by the Krewe of Rex and Comus and general masking from dawn to dusk. Midnight Tuesday is the end of the season.

Visitors Mingle With Workmen As Frisco Exposition Opens Gates

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18 (AP)—The amplified voices of President Roosevelt and Governor Culbert L. Olson rose above the din of Treasure Island construction today to open formally the $50,000,000 Golden Gate Exposition to a constantly swelling flood of visitors.

Ferry boats and automobiles began pouring customers onto the architecturally bejeweled 400-acre, man-made island even before an army of all-night workers finished snatching up the more noticeable piles of litter in the gorgeous courts, the picturesque streets and the exhibit palaces.

Speaking from Key West, Fla., the president termed the exposition an "instrument of international good will" and described the San Francisco bay island as "an outstanding example of territorial expansion without aggression."

Governor Olson, recuperating from a long illness, welcomed the world to the exposition with the hope it would "cement those ties of human brotherhood between the peoples of the different nations which must be relied upon for world peace."

An island-wide address system carried the words of the speakers to thousands streaming to the scene as well as to a packed grandstand in the court of the nations, where the ceremonies took place.

Works Director W. P. Day said the fair as a whole was about 80 per cent ready for visitors.

But the main exhibits were ready when the exposition threw open its gates at 7 a. m.

Will Return To Austin

M'Mahan To Attend Other Hospital Fund Hearings

Dr. George T. McMahan, superintendent of the Big Spring state hospital, was here for the weekend after spending several weeks in Austin before legislative committees in interest of the emergency appropriation with which to open and operate the local institution until the end of the biennium.

He will return to Austin early in the week to appear before the house appropriations committee when it takes up the biennial appropriation for the hospital. However, his stay in Austin this time may not be so lengthy.

In event Governor Lee O'Daniel approves the $199,000 emergency appropriation voted by the legislature last week, Dr. McMahan may spend a few days in consultation with the purchasing division of the board of control. Bids have been accepted on equipment and furnishings needed for the opening and the trimming of the appropriation over the amounts originally sought may necessitate some re-bidding, Dr. McMahan said.

M. D. Collins, Dallas, is spending the weekend with his father, Dr. T. M. Collins, and Mrs. Collins, M. D., a former resident of this city, is manager of the southwestern district for Walgreen Drug company of Chicago. He is enroute to Phoenix, Ariz.

RUSSIA'S DESIRE FOR SHIPS A NEW POLICY PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The forthcoming visit to the United States of a Russian naval mission posed new questions of neutrality for the administration today in the midst of the congressional storm over foreign policy.

The soviet government, it was reported here and at Moscow, wants to reopen negotiations which fell through two years ago to build two battleships in American yards. Announcement the mission was coming was made this week. No definite date was mentioned.

Numerous complications, informed official quarters said, stand in the way. They include the soviet's previous insistence the navy assist in technical tests, the navy's own fleet expansion program, the army and navy veto on export of secret war material, the neutrality act, and congressional suspicion of anything suggestive of foreign entanglements.

Some experts expressed belief privately, nevertheless, it would be possible to build one or more "highly useful" though not completely modern battleships in the United States for Russia without involving the administration diplomatically.

Sweetwater Is Defeated In Finals, 34-14

Forsan Wins Third Place; Parker Is 'All-Tournament'

Paced by Guerdon Busby, who tallied 13 points, Abilene sacked up District Five's interscholastic league basketball championship for the second straight year by defeating Sweetwater in the final round here Saturday evening, 34-14.

The Eagles, displaying superior floor work and amazing work under the basket, took the lead early in the tilt and were never headed. They showed their way to a 9-5 advantage at the end of the opening period, were ahead, 15-3, at half time and boasted a 26-10 lead at the finish of the third period.

Holla Parker, star Forsan lad, landed a berth on the all-tournament team as selected by the judges along with Busby, Gene Bennett, Abilene; Bill Hay, Abilene; and Jo-Jo Elrod, Sweetwater. Bennett was a unanimous choice.

Holla Parker, playin' ghis usual competent floor game, grabbed off scoring laurels in that one, looping four field goals and a brace of gratis piteches.

Picard Far Ahead Of Field At New Orleans

McSPADEN AND SNEAD TRAIL; FINALS TODAY

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18 (AP)— Golf's professional army gave Henry G. Picard, of Hershey, Pa., an inch today and the smooth-stroking sharpshooter took five miles of leeway as the brigade completed 54 holes for the $10,000 Crescent City Open purse.

His opposition attempted to overhaul the Pennsylvania pro, who held a one stroke lead going into the day's 18-hole round, but Picard cracked par for the second straight round in the tussle for top money of $2,000.

Picard's great third-round 68, four blows under City Park course par, came from fine recovery shots as well as uncanny putting and gave him a five-stroke lead.

Picard was seven strokes under standard figures for the distance. Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Winchester, Mass., one of the leading money winners, swatted out a neat 69 to advance from a tie for seventh place to Picard's closest competitor with 211 blows.

Lined up with Snead and Eaton was Chandler Harper, a young pro from Portsmouth, Va., who through 36 holes was deadlocked with Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee-on-Deleware, Pa., at 142.

Harper, like Thomson, had trouble finding the greens on the third round. The Virginian took a 73, while Thomson soared to a 75 and fell back into a tie for eighth place at 217 with Harry Cooper of Chicago, Ed Dudley of Philadelphia, and Ralph Guidahl of Madison, N. J., the national open champion.

Cooper had a 70 today, Dudley a 71. Guidahl took a 74.

Chipping three strokes off regulation figures by going 69, Dick Metz of Chicago and Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., finished in a tie for sixth place at 216. Harry Nettelbladt, the Framingham, Mass., pro who equaled the course record yesterday with a 67, took a third-round 75 and was tied with Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles at 218.

AUSTIN, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Texas Longhorns' finishing kick shoved them past the Baylor Bears in a stormy basketball game here tonight, 41-39.

The wild clash for the Southwest Conference final ended with Baylor firing at the Texas goal and nearly 8,000 fans cheering madly. The thrilling victory kept the Longhorns on top half a game in front of Rice.

After Texas' early lead of 13-3 had been dissipated by Grady Vaughn's deadly goaling, the teams fought bitterly through the last 25 minutes with the lead switching frequently and neither being able to take command.

Park Lights Will Be Sold Unless Interest In Campaign Increases

Negotiations may be opened to dispose of the lighting system of the Big Spring W-T-NM league baseball club within the very near future unless interest in the fund campaign now in progress takes a decided turn for the better, an official of the club announced Saturday morning.

"We are leaving it entirely up to the people," he said, "whether they actually want baseball to operate here next season. That will be decided by their response this week."

Drawings For Independent Cage Tournery At Garner Wednesday

Drawings for the second annual independent basketball tournament at Garner, scheduled February 23-24-25, will be staged at Garner Wednesday, afternoon, Floyd Burnett, director, announced Saturday.

Managers who intend to enter teams are urged to file notice with Burnett as soon as possible. Entry fee for each team has been established at $3.

Burnett has already received entries from Westbrook, Coahoma, Sterling City, Ackerly, Vaughn's and a Garner team.

The field may be limited to eight teams. All games are to be played at night with the finals scheduled for Saturday night, 8:30 o'clock.

Dallas Champs Eliminated In Dist. Tournery

Highland Park Upsets Woodrow Wilson; War Birds Favored

The defending champion Woodrow Wilson Wildcats fell by the wayside Saturday as the Texas schoolboy basketball campaign reached the regional round with more than half of last season's district titlists failing to repeat.

Woodrow Wilson, forced into a three-game play-off for the Dallas city championship, swept through to the finals of the district tournament but couldn't hurdle the Highland Park team that reached its zenith when the chips were down.

Thirty-two district champions were named with the Abilene Eagles, long favorites, again to go to the state tournament, easily taking the District 5 crown. Abilene was the state runner-up last season.

Abilene next week plays in the Region 2 tournament with Breckinridge, Lake View and Burkett as opponents.

Highland Park faces Vernon, Riverside of Fort Worth and Evans in their regional play-off.

Wildlife Unit Gets Shipment Of Quail

1,000 Birds Arrive For Distribution In County

The shipment of 1,000 Bob White quail, ordered by the local unit of the Texas Wild Life commission, arrived in Big Spring Wednesday, Lee Hanson, local secretary, announced over the weekend.

Sector Schools' Interest Now On Track

With basketball season all but placed in storage for another season, athletic interest among the sector's smaller schools is turning to track.

Westbrook's thirty clubs have been working out for the past week while squads at Coahoma, Garner, Garden City and Ackerly are due to report this week. Coach Brad Nix of Forsan said he was going to allow his hopefuls, who completed a strenuous basketball season over the weekend, to rest for two weeks.

R. G. Crouch, who did not handle the coaching reins of the Westbrook track squad last year, has assumed those duties. He is reporting progress.

It is possible that a PBAA track schedule, similar to the one employed last year, will be drawn up although Riggs Sheppard, chairman of the association's committee, has not yet called a meeting. The tests last year met with decided success.

Ackerly may within the near future announce plans for a track meet.

HOWARD PAYNE WINS

ABILENE, Feb. 18 (AP)—Howard Payne moved into a tie for first place in Texas Conference basketball standings here tonight by beating Abilene Christian College, 66-38.

Warren, Howard Payne forward, was high scorer with 19 points. Jones of ACC made 11 points. Howard Payne led at the half, 18-17.

Race For M-C Scoring Honors Is Highlight Of Monday's Games

Dave Hopper lost ground in his chase to catch Jake Morgan in the individual battle for scoring honors in the Major City basketball league last week but still retains a fighting chance at the No. 1 position.

Whether the big Banker forward, who now trails Morgan by eight points, can slice that advantage Monday evening in the loop's final games will be decided.

Hopper and his mates tangle with Planter's Glitters, a comparatively easy assignment, while Morgan's Vaughn's aggregation goes up against unpredictable Garner.

Hopper moved in from fourth to second place in league scoring last time out, tallying nine points to bring his total to 78. Morgan's 14 points gave him a grand total of 81. C. Thomas, Garner, and Jack Oliver, Bankers, tied for third place, apparently are out of the running. Each has 78.

Coahoma's Ollers have not yet clinched first place in league standings but they have an easy assignment. They will oppose R-Bar Wranglers, who have won but two games the entire season.

Spring Grid Drills Will Begin Mon.

1939 Team To Work Out For Six-Week Period

A six-week session of spring football drills will get underway in the local high school camp Monday afternoon.

Cochman's Ollers have not yet clinched first place in league standings but they have an easy assignment. They will oppose R-Bar Wranglers, who have won but two games the entire season.

Houston Meet Draws Stars

HOUSTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Walter Emery, who sells insurance and dresses of golf, champed down on his big black cigar today when he saw the entry list for the Houston country club invitation tournament, the winter's first big amateur scrap.

Emery trudged over the course last year, his cigar and his game smoking, and walked off with the prize. Chances that he will repeat dropped, however, when an inspection of entries showed one of the fastest fields in the meet's 25-year history would tee off Wednesday in the qualifying heat.

The latest simon-pure to draw notice from the professionals now on their winter swing, long John Barnum of Edinburg, will be ready for the assault on the par 36-35-71 course.

Match play starts Thursday, with the finals scheduled Sunday, Feb. 26.

form" policies of the "new deal," but to "consolidate" these changes in order to put "drive" into the business picture, especially in the capital field.

Some "new dealers" have charged that there was a "strike of capital"; industrialists, conceding that the world's greatest accumulation of capital resources is stagnant, have contended that capital was not being invested because investors were uncertain of the future. The program, they said, is designed to remove a large part of that uncertainty.

Some of the best known figures in heavy industry, utility and finance fields, said today that they would predict that if the program goes through on lines disclosed to them, and if President Roosevelt gives the program his spoken support, that a substantial recovery would follow.

The length of such a recovery, they said, would depend upon the program receiving continued support from the president.

Their prediction was based upon the belief:

1. That the current business picture is generally discouraging, even on a basis of January 1 forecasts, although no great tangible barrier to recovery is discernible; "It simply lacks 'drive'."

2. "Drive" jointly by business and government would remove "political uncertainty," would "start things going."

"Big business" contributions to the program have been stifled by the business advisory council, an organization of prominent executives in various fields, selected by the secretary of commerce. The present council, with one exception, was appointed by predecessors of Hopkins.

The council has sought, it was explained, to eliminate from the proposals of business executives those which were "unreasonable" by virtue of opposition to fundamental elements of the administration's general policies. Some members of the council, although refusing to give details of the plan, said with equivocation that they expected it to be the most important single development in the nation's economy in the last ten years.

Revised regulations and recommendations with reference to the approved practices of the program were reviewed at the meeting by Bob Burt, state performance supervisor. J. W. Doak, West Texas AAA field representative, presided over the sessions here Saturday. A projected field trip to the months has there been as much oil exploration going on in the Big Spring territory as was indicated or actually in operation the past week. One test was spudded south of Gail. Another in the northwest corner of Howard county was below 4,000 feet with several light shows. A third was staked three miles northeast of town. Still another was drilling ahead in western Howard county. Martin county has one shut down temporarily and one was started in Glasscock county just south of the big pool.

Big Spring, as a part of West Texas, is naturally interested in the appointment of J. C. Hunter of Abilene to the highway commission. East Texas senators, moaning low over confirmation, are bringing up the issue of sectionalism. Someone ought to remind them, while they are on the subject, that the constitutional duty of redistricting is just about nine years overdue.

It is an encouraging sign to see local hatcheries experiencing such good demand for baby chicks. While it is good business for them, it is even better for farmers. Curtailed cotton acreage and increasing use of the tractor mean mounting feed surpluses. There is no better way to market this feed than through poultry. In fact, feeding out poultry and livestock seems to be the most logical trend for farming.

Speaking before a local service club, O. P. Griffin, county agent, points out that $436, together with federal funds, would pay for a man to supervise 4-H club activities in the county. Since a qualified man could spend all of his time training future farmers in better practices it looks like a good investment.

It is to be hoped that a road to the city lakes can be provided at an early date. Hundreds would like to go to the sites and see what is going on. The road will have to be built eventually and the sooner the better.

Now that a $199,000 appropriation has been approved and the state hospital opening assured for May 1, Big Spring can't start planning too early for an appropriate ceremony. If important personages are to be invited, they should be invited now.

Announcement of approval of more WPA projects for Big Spring Saturday served to remind the public that it is alert to opportunities for timely improvements. Some seem to be in doubt about how the federal government is coming out after its spending program, but it is an established fact that Big Spring is coming out pretty well.

erally-financed dams to operate more effectively for flood control. Hearing Thursday before house commerce and manufacturing committee on so-called anti-discrimination bill affecting merchants.

Head and shoulders above everything else this week were O'Daniel's naming of a West Texas, J. C. Hunter of Abilene, as his second selection for chairmanship of the highway commission and a blistering attack in the senate on the appointment.

Several East Texas senators angrily criticized the governor's action, claiming the position should go to some resident of their area. Sen. Joe L. Hill of Henderson called the governor a "demagogue, double-barreled hypocrite, wind jammer and political liar." The senate committee on governor's nominations may consider the appointment Monday. A two-thirds vote in the senate is necessary for confirmation.

Queen Theatre Is Reducing Prices

As a special gesture to its patrons during a 14th anniversary period, the Queen theatre is reducing its prices to a 10-cent and 15-cent schedule, the management announced Saturday. The new prices are in effect beginning today, and will remain so for an indefinite period.

The Queen's tickets have sold for 10 and 25 cents. The reduction, it was pointed out, will be offered simply as a "birthday gift" to the public which has for 14 years supported the R&R playhouse.

SEEK GOLDSMITH P. O. BURGLARS

ODESSA, Feb. 18 (AP)—J. M. Juvenal, U. S. postal inspector of Abilene, joined a search at Goldsmith today for burglars who took the oil boom town's postoffice safe and its contents.

The loot, obtained either early yesterday or late Thursday night, included $873 in stamps, a thousand dollar post office bond; several smaller bonds; $150 in cash and oil company checks, and 27 money order pads of 200 blank money order receipts.

Sheriff Reeder Webb said the burglars gained entrance to the postoffice by breaking a window.

PASADENA, Calif. (UP)—California fig growers have discovered a successful "scare-crow" for keeping pilfering birds away from the fig trees. It consists of a bundle of turkey feathers made to look like a hawk and perched at the top of the trees.

It is to be hoped that a road to the city lakes can be provided at an early date. Hundreds would like to go to the sites and see what is going on. The road will have to be built eventually and the sooner the better.

Stagehand And War Admiral Score Wins

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 18 (UP)—War Admiral and Stagehand, prospective duellists in the $50,000 Widener cup race on March 4, scored spectacular victories at Hialeah Park today in their first tests of the 1934 season.

Stagehand came from nowhere in the last quarter-mile to beat Bull Lea and seven others in the $6,500 added McLennan Memorial over a mile and an eighth. His time of 1:48 1-5 equalled the track record.

The Admiral had only Mrs. W. Plunkett Stewart's Pasturized, another Widener candidate, to fight off in his season debut, the $1,500 Fort Pierce handicap at seven furlongs, and he attended to it by a half-length without feeling the weight of Wayne Wright's bat. The other runner, Sandy Boot, was strictly a spectator. War Admiral's time, 1:22 4-5, was only a fifth off the track record.

Stagehand paid his backers $6.10 for $2 mutual ticket. War Admiral, an exorbitant favorite, paid only $2.40 to win.

By beating Bull Lea and Pasturized, the only horses that had been figured to give them real opposition in the Widener, the Admiral and Stagehand made it clear that they intend to have a strictly private showdown in the big race, climax of the Hialeah season. Botched and ran magnificently, but Stagehand probably picked up more backers than did the Admiral by his day's performance.

Visitors Laud Flower Show In Houston

Five From Here Are Impressed By Spectacle

Comments, impressions and praise for the Twentieth National Flower and Garden show given last week in Houston were voiced by the delegates who attended from Big Spring and while each visitor saw something that appealed to her particularly the general theme of all the remarks was that it was like wandering into a place unreal and that walking from one perfect garden to another was like walking in Fairyland.

Mrs. Preston R. Sanders, president of the Garden club, was particularly impressed with a formal garden that covered one side of the coliseum. There were trees with convenient benches beneath them, and the garden was surrounded with white walls. As Mrs. Sanders expressed it, "If you didn't look up into the balcony, you felt like you were walking into your own garden. The terraced ground and pink azaleas in bloom were

Golden Wedding Anniversary Is Observed By Mr. And Mrs. M. H. O'Daniel Of Coahoma

Reception Given At Home To Celebrate Occasion

Scene: Lyton Springs, Caldwell county, Texas. Year: about 1888, and time: winter. Principals: Mr. and Alice.

Mit was helping his brother-in-law move into a new home, and Alice, seeing the men working in the cold, invited them into her house to get warm. And that was the beginning of a romance that has lasted 50 years.

The principals in this story are Mr. and Mrs. M. H. O'Daniel of Coahoma, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Friday. It was an occasion to look back over a half century of events.

According to Mr. O'Daniel, getting started was "pretty tough." The young married couple moved to Coke county, and they, like other residents, took the appellation of "rabbit twisters." It was an expression which meant that times were so hard, rabbit meat was the only variety to be had. "We were no exception," said Mr. O'Daniel, "we were rabbit twisters too."

A Stockman
Mr. O'Daniel, who was born in Flatonia, Fayette county, March, 1867, has been a stockman all his life with the exception of one year when he was engaged in the transfer business in San Angelo. At that time he delivered the first load of freight that came over the Santa Fe into San Angelo. After a series of many ups and downs, oil was discovered on the O'Daniel land near Coahoma. Mr. O'Daniel is now retired and has leased his ranch to a son, Oscar O'Daniel. He believes he has no hobby in particular but still likes cattle. Mrs. O'Daniel, who was born in Luling, Caldwell county in 1868, is interested in raising flowers and devotes much of her time to her yard.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Daniel are continually being asked if they are related to W. Lee O'Daniel, and chuckled Mrs. O'Daniel, "we always say yes." But Mr. O'Daniel wasn't so sure. "We think we are but we don't know exactly how," he explained. As far as the governor's political theories go they are both staunch supporters. "You can't be against your kinfolk," laughed Mrs. O'Daniel.
They Enjoy Themselves
However that may be, they have both met the governor and attended the inauguration in Austin. They enjoyed it immensely.
Enjoying themselves seems to be what Mr. and Mrs. O'Daniel do best and nothing is so bad but that they find something to laugh about somewhere. Their recipe for happiness, according to Mr. O'Daniel, is to settle differences when they come up and just hold onto your temper. "But then, we never did have much trouble that way," he added.
Mrs. O'Daniel believes that a newly married couple asking advice should just be told to live together for 50 years to find happiness. "Just don't jump out of the harness. We have had a few quarrels but they weren't bad."
The couple came to Howard

Coffee Memorial Class Entertained In Thomas Home; Early Days Of Big Spring And Howard County Recalled

"Do you remember back when—" was the theme of the conversation Thursday when Mrs. Clyde Thomas entertained the Coffee Memorial class of the First Methodist church in memory of her mother, Mrs. R. C. Coffee, teacher and founder of the class.

Included in the group was Mrs. Mary E. Zinn who has lived in Howard county 56 years and is 93 years old. She was the oldest resident of the county present and received a gift from the hostess. She is the only living charter member of the Methodist church.

Recollections of coming to Howard county when there were no houses and no lumber to build with were told by Mrs. Hattie Crosssett who came here 50 years ago. Pioneer settlers built dugouts for homes and had to wait for houses to be built. "A dug-out isn't such a bad place to live," says Mrs. Crosssett, "you can be pretty comfortable."

Others remembered when they wanted their children to have the advantages of music lessons and pooled resources to get a teacher to tutor the neighborhood youngsters. Some remembered, like Mrs. L. M. Horn, that they came here as invalids and remained to become strong and well.

Mrs. H. W. Caylor, moving here 46 years ago, tells now that she was frightened to death most of the time of sandstorms and high winds. "I cried most of the time," she admits now. Others remarked that the first sandstorms drove them from their homes to shelter in a dug-out but, now, was the general comment, "we just smile and bear them."

Mrs. M. E. Barrett, the only living charter member of the Christian church, was unable to attend the party. Many of these first settlers came from Kentucky, East Texas, and eastern points and generally they didn't like Howard county right at first. But not one in the crowd had a derogatory remark to make now. Each one insisted it is the "only place to live."

Visitors at the tea were Mrs. Andrew Stroeler of San Antonio, Mrs. J. J. Pritchett, Mrs. W. A. Ricker and Mrs. W. H. Ward. Old-timers present and length of residence were Mrs. M. E. Zinn, Mrs. L. M. Horn, 33 years; Mrs. R. E. Gay, 19 years; Mrs. W. R. Settles, 45 years; Mrs. G. S. True, 30 years; Mrs. S. C. Bennett, 29 years; Mrs. A. G. Hall, 41 years; Mrs. S. H. Morrison, 46 years; Mrs. D. H. Clingan, 32 years; Mrs. J. M. Choate, 33 years; Mrs. G. E. McNew, 33 years; Mrs. H. W. Caylor, 46 years; Mrs. Charles Morris, 32 years; Mrs. D. F. Painter, 50 years; Mrs. J. B. Sloane, 28 years; Mrs. Emma Musgrove, 38 years; Mrs. D. Phillips, 53 years; Mrs. Sam Eason, 37 years; Mrs. E. H. Settles, 41 years; Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Mrs. J. S. Nabors, 17 years; Mrs. Hattie Crosssett, 50 years; Mrs. Nellie Burns, 19 years; Mrs. Joe B. Neel, 30 years; Mrs. C. A. Schull, 33 years; Mrs. Mike Williamson, 51 years; Mrs. Fox Stripling, 38 years, and Mrs. Sallie Higginbotham.

Miss Wright Arrives Here To Present Review Monday

Pauline Wright, who will review "All This And Heaven Too," at 4 o'clock Monday in the ballroom of the Settles hotel under the sponsorship of the Senior Hyperion club, arrived here Saturday evening by plane.

Tickets are 50 cents and may be bought at the door. The popular book has been reviewed several times by Miss Wright and has received glowing notices from critics. Miss Wright has traveled through Europe studying the literature, language, and customs of the people. She also has visited in Alaska and Canada.

Her work is not all confined to reviewing and her mail has increased until in the past few years she has received and answered hundreds of letters from every state in the union concerning the technique of reviewing. Her series of guest reviewers has started many on the way to success and she has worked with each reviewer, holding auditions and working on the method of presentation.

Because she was a pioneer in a new field and because she has maintained her lead in that field, she well deserves the title bestowed by Carnegie, "First Lady of the Oral Book Review."

SECTIONALISM A BAD THING The furor arising in the state senate this past week over the nomination by Gov. Lee O'Daniel, of J. C. Hunter of Abilene to the highway commission is regrettable in that it revives some of the bitterness of sectionalism.

DANGEROUS SERVICE by GRACE ELLIOTT TAYLOR

Chapter 28 DRIVE IN THE DESERT "Our other lady isn't very talkative. What made you invite her to the table, Petrel?" asked Tony.

"The Baroness?" Petronella glanced to the other end of the table. Fleur von Cratz sat crumpling her roll, and staring abstractly at, and through Rogers, so that he looked quizzically disconcerted.

"She is worrying about her nephew, who is flying from Dalmatia to join her," Petronella told them. "I thought it might cheer her up to have someone to talk to."

"Odd old trout, isn't she?" said Ted Masters. She interests me. She was probably as lovely as the raw onion I know the type; stupid, beautiful blue eyes. She's wearing superb jewels. How does she manage to get her money out of Germany? What is this nephew like?"

"A beautiful young man," said Petronella casually. It was not sufficient to disarm his interest. She must lead Ted Masters astray, and twice her intelligence, and she worships him."

"So that soon he will have nearly all her money?" "Perhaps. But I think Rene obeys a few rules. He's kind-hearted."

"I see." So he was one of those, she saw Masters thinking. The problem stood explained. His interest in both the Baroness, and her gigolo, died. He returned to the question of sanctions. That was no doubt, thought Petronella, that Rene's choice of role was clever. It served his purpose very well.

"After dinner, she and Tony left the rest, still talking. It was unsafe to drive in the desert at night, because of Bedouins. They were likely to take advantage of the present trouble. Instead, they wandered out into the gardens of Cairo. There, made low beside a little fountain, whose water was still. It reflected the yellow moon, at which the dogs were howling, and a redness in the northern sky."

"There must be a fire—" "Students have set fire to the offices of the Ego. It is a pro-British paper. I heard firing while we were dancing, and found out, while you were putting on your coat. It's nothing serious. Don't worry."

"Adventurous Enough" The following morning they rode together. The air was fresh, until the sun rose high, and the limitless stretches of the desert, extending to the horizon, were in harmony with their mood.

"I do hope it is Rene," Petronella told him. "Fleur is worrying about him. He seems to be coming down."
