Rec Echoes Resound Monday

Applications For Publication Jobs Due Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the deadline for applications for positions of editor and business manager of The Treador and La Ventana for 1951-52. Applications must be mailed by tomorrow to Prof. A. B. Strehli, chairman of the publications committee.

Letters of application giving qualifications and references have been received from Frank Austin, marketing major, for La Ventana business manager. For Treador editor, Pat Johnson, Jimmie Henley and John Norcross, journalism majors, have applied.

Candidates for editor of either publication must have completed 90 hours work, nine of which must be in journalism for Treador editor. Applicants for business manager are required to have 60 hours. All positions require a 1-point grade average.

Students for these four positions will be chosen from the applicants by the publications committee. Strehli said.

Tech Debate Team Enters Southern Speech Tourney

Tech's debate team members left Thursday for Gainesville, Fla., where they will compete in the Southern Speech Association Tournament and Congress of Human Relations.

Debaters are Wanda B. Smith, Lubbock; Thelmadene Hutchins, Yuleta; David Blackbird, Houston; Jim Choate, Sweetwater.

The team was accompanied by Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, professor of speech, who will judge debates and individual speaking contests. She will also attend the annual convention of the Southern Speech association, which will be held at the University of Florida.

Members of the team will compete in oratory, debate, after-dinner speaking, extemporaneous speaking and interpretation Thursday and Friday. The delegation plans to return April 9.

Raffle Slated To Climax Carnival Activities

A raffle will climax the festivities at the Senior carnival at 11 p.m. next Saturday, according to Buddy Hewett, senior class president.

Tickets for the drawing are on sale in the east rotunda of the Administration building.

Approximately 35 organizations will have booths in the carnival, Hewett said.

Miss Texas Future Teacher To Be Presented At Banquet

"Miss Future Teacher of Texas" will be presented tonight at the banquet closing the fourth annual state convention of the Texas Association of Future Teachers of America chapters. The state sweetheart of FTA clubs will also be presented.

The convention, which held its first general session yesterday in the Aggie auditorium, is composed of FTA chapters and clubs in Texas.

Presiding over the convention is Jim White, president of the Texas association of FTA. He is a senior at North Texas State college.

The first general session began with the invocation delivered by Mr. Cecil R. Matthews, director of the Wesley foundation. Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of Tech's department of music, followed the invocation with 25 minutes of special music.

Official welcome was extended to the convention on behalf of Tech by Dr. Doyle D. Jackson of the education department.

"International Students on Education" will follow the welcoming. This is a forum composed of students from Texas, Switzerland, Peru, Belgian Congo, Lebanon and an Ex-FTA Member, Mrs. Deane R. Burks.

Last night a party and dance were held in Drake Hall as part of the first day's proceedings.

Today at 9:20 a.m., candidates

'51 Varsity Show Opening Set; 3-Day Stand Slated For Musical

"Rec Hall Echoes," the 1951 Varsity show, will get underway with its first performance at 8 p.m. Monday in the Lubbock High School auditorium. Tickets are $1 for Tech students and $1.50 for non-Techsans. They will be on sale in the Administration and Agricultural buildings, Rec hall and Student Council office. Booths will also be set up in the Hilton hotel.

Monday night's performance is dedicated to the Techsians who are now serving in the armed forces. The cast also voted to dedicate the Tuesday night show to the school's Silver Anniversary. The final performance, to be given Wednesday night, will be dedicated to the new football coaches.

Personnel for the show include John McAleer, general director, Jo Nabors, assistant director and photographer, Peggy Carter, publicity director and Jo Simmons, dance director. The script was written by Harry Parker.

The three-act musical is the story of a young couple, John and Roxy, who fall in love at the Rec hall, the setting of act one. The second act shifts from New Orleans, where Johnny has gone to forget the affair, to New York where Roxy's parents have sent her. There she is spending time in theaters and night clubs. The third act takes place back at the Rec hall and provides a suitable ending to the story.

Song and dance numbers have been included to provide action and atmosphere. Original songs by McAleer will be introduced. Dance teams composed of Berna Bartlett and Kenneth Hobbs, Marilyn Steele and Jim Elliott will perform.

In addition to the play, the 1951 Tech beauties will be presented in a musical number, "Stairway to the Stars." They are Sue Carleton, Beverly Powell Neal, Maylene Meester Matlock, Jo Simmons, Sue Haynie, Pat Todd, Connie Hopping, Judy Pierce Russell, Mariellen Griffin, Marian Holton, Marcia Rogers, Nancy Moran, Mary Louise Jones and Mary Anne Kelley.

SMU, Texas Heads Named Speakers For Tech Baccalaureate, Commencement

Four BA Students Win Hilton Awards

Four business administration students have qualified for the $100 Hilton scholarships, announced John E. Harding, freshman business administration vocational counselor, who is representing the division of business administration on the Committee on Scholarship and Awards.

The scholarships, awarded annually to the BA student in each class having the highest scholastic average for the previous year, were presented to Edwin D. Langford, Lockney senior, who had a grade point average of 3.00; Edward Lamb from Lubbock, senior, who had a 2.80 grade point average; LaJuan Smart, junior from Canadian, with a grade point average of 2.75; James Bundrant, Lubbock sophomore, who had a grade point average of 2.20.

The scholarships, which are made available by C. N. Hilton, president of Hilton hotels, Incorporated, were first presented at Tech for the year 1947-48 for the purpose of furthering interest in business operation and to encourage students to major in some field of business administration.

James P. Hart, chancellor of University of Texas, will deliver the commencement address for Texas Tech's May 21 graduation ceremony, according to an announcement from Pres. D. M. Wiggins. The Baccalaureate sermon will be given May 20 by Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of Southern Methodist university.

Chancellor Hart has served as Texas assistant attorney general and only recently resigned as associate justice of Supreme Court of Texas to accept the chancellorship.

Doctor Lee, who held several pastorates throughout Texas before his election as SMU president, is well-known in the Southwest as author, educator and minister.

"Rec Hall Echoes," Tech's 1951 Varsity show, will begin a three-night run at 8 p.m. Monday in the High School auditorium.

Ballot Lists 61 Hopefuls

Names of 61 candidates will appear on the ballot of the campus-wide elections, which will be held April 10, according to Elizabeth Schovajsa, Student association secretary.

The nominees, 66 for Student association posts and five for cheerleader, met at 5 p.m. Wednesday to draw for positions on the ballot.

Dietitian Resigns; Schultz Promoted

The resignation of Miss Zoe Harris, director of food service for the dormitory system will become effective March 31, announced Pres. D. M. Wiggins Thursday.

Miss Shirley Schulz, dormitory dietitian and part-time instructor in institutional management, has been appointed acting director, said Wiggins. Miss Schulz came to Tech in 1948 from the University of Texas where she held positions as assistant dietitian and assistant dormitory business director for residence halls. Obtaining her BS degree from Southwest Texas State college in San Marcos, Miss Schulz did advanced work in institutional management at the University of Texas.

Health reasons caused Miss Harris to resign her position, which she had held since coming to Tech in 1949.

Air-minded Men Form Flying Group; Four Receive Student Licenses

Several Tech students have formed a flying group that takes lessons from Vicker's Aircraft at the Municipal airport.

Some time ago Earl Cureton of Sabinal started taking lessons from Vicker's. Some of his friends became interested in the idea and before long a group of 15 was taking lessons.

Enjoyment is the chief motive behind the men's flying, but some of them have already soloed and are working on their pilot's licenses. Those who have their student's license are Cureton, Claude (Buddy) Stovall from Midland, Thomas (Red) Williams of Anton, and H. L. Simon from San Antonio.

Training planes used are Cessnas and Cubs. Most of the boys average four hours a week in the air.

By training in a group, the boys get a reduced rate. Cureton said that any man interested in joining the group would be welcome.

"Rec Hall Echoes," Tech's 1951 Varsity show, will begin a three-night run at 8 p.m. Monday in the High School auditorium.

What? Tech Varsity show. When? April 2-4 at 8 p.m. Where? High School auditorium. How much? Tech students—$1.00, others—$1.50.

Kings To Compete In SPEBSQA Meet

Tech will be represented by the Khord Kings in the fourth annual Parade of Quartets and Harmony Show of the Lubbock chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America to be staged in the Lubbock High School auditorium March 31.

Proceeds of the show will go into a fund the local chapter has established for two scholarships offered annually at Tech.

Members of the Khord Kings quartet are Ned Hardin, music major; Charles Nolen, architecture major; Robert S. Hufstetler, chemical engineering instructor; John Zimmerman, former Tech student.

Although the Khord Kings will be the only Lubbock quartet to sing on the parade program, the entire SPEBSQA chorus will appear as in earlier shows.

Among the visiting quartets will be the Mid-States Four of Chicago, 1949 international champions in SPEBSQA competition, who will sing barbershop quartet arrangements and popular novelty arrangements.

Parsons Attends Textile Meeting

L. E. Parsons, head of textile engineering, will return today from Atlanta, Ga., where he attended the spring meeting of national textile school deans.

Parsons left Tuesday and visited with M. Earl Heard, former head of Tech's textile engineering department and graduate of Tech, who is chief engineer at West Point, Ga., Manufacturing company.

The meeting was attended by representatives from 10 textile schools in the United States. Tech is the only school west of the Mississippi that offers textile degrees. Tech's textile curriculum was accredited last fall by the Engineering Council for Professional Development. Georgia Tech is the only other school accredited, Parsons said.

Inspection of Georgia Tech's textile school was a part of the program.

Engineering Profs Attend ASME Meet At Oklahoma During Easter

Five mechanical engineering faculty members attended the ASME meeting at Stillwater, Okla., during the Easter vacation.

Professors L. J. Powers, F. L. Williams, Robert Newell, J. C. Hardgave and Mr. Marshall McDonald, all of the mechanical engineering department, attended.

Camp Presides At English Meet; Gates' Shakespeare Paper Read

Dr. Truman Camp, English department head, is presiding at the sixteenth annual Conference of College Teachers of English today at A.M.M. Camp is vice president of the conference and will preside in president Ernest E. Leisy's absence.

Dr. W. E. Gates' paper, "Shakespearean Chapter Headings," will be presented as part of the program. Integration of English training in high schools and colleges is also on the agenda, Camp said.

Tech Specialist To Speak At Tech Accountants Meet

Tech Accounting society will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in J204. Speaker will be W. H. Evans, member of the legal firm Klett, Bean, Evans and Justice.

Evans is engaged in general law practice and specializes in corporations and taxes, according to DeAaon Ward, reporter. Subject of the talk will be "The Tax Impact of Beneficiary Clauses in Insurance Policies."

All students majoring in accounting are invited to attend, Miss Ward said.

Charlie Joplin of Littlefield was elected president of Saddle Tramps Thursday. Other officers chosen for the coming year are Benny Bruckner, vice president; Ed McAdams, secretary; Jim Chalupnik, treasurer; Don Helm, sergeant at arms.

New plans for the following year discussed at the meeting include the sponsoring of a flash and system for home football games.

Amendments to the constitution will be voted on at the next meeting, Bruckner said. Also, plans for a rejuvenated pledge program will be discussed. Members will be reminded of the next meeting by signs placed in various points on the campus, added Bruckner.

Occupational Therapist Is Home Economics Speaker

Miss Alice M. Billings, registered occupational therapist with the Lubbock Cerebral Palsy center, was guest speaker Thursday for senior classes in HE411.

Miss Billings discussed opportunities in occupational therapy work, outlining qualifications for the vocation. Regular instructors of the classes are Dean Margaret Weeks and Mrs. O. V. Adams.

According to Mrs. Adams, several Tech home economics graduates have gone into occupational therapy. The average home economics student, she said, has had enough training in craft for her easily to enter this field. Special post-graduate work is necessary, however.

Show Goes On . . .

"Rec Hall Echoes," 1951 Varsity show, will get underway Monday night and last through Wednesday. This is Tech's annual presentation of student talent. The whole show is operated by students—from the writing of the script to the choreography.

The Rec hall has truly echoed with dance rehearsals and cast practices. Efforts of a combined force of students will be on display when the curtain rises Monday at the initial performance. Seeing classmates and friends behind the footlights is both a privilege and a responsibility.

Each spring the Varsity show embodies the talent of many students, whether the work is done on stage acting or dancing or back stage preparing costumes, prompting or doing make-up work. The rehearsals have taken many hours that could have been used on study or fun, but the students felt naturally or acquired rather quickly the "show must go" spirit.

A full house at each night's performance will be a fitting tribute to the cast. The participants receive no pay for their work; therefore, a large attendance at every performance will be their only remuneration.

Traditionally one of the outstanding all-school events, the Varsity show this year should be growing in proportion to the college expansion.

Make plans now to see the show. Take along your roommate or neighbor and be among those seeing Tech talent on parade.

Welcome Future Teachers . . .

Texas Tech extends a cordial welcome this week to our visitors, the Texas Association of Future Teachers of America chapters and Second State Council of FTA clubs.

We feel it is indeed an honor to play host to this fourth annual state convention of the FTA, to the students from all over Texas who represent approximately 25 colleges.

"Scouting for Better Teachers" is the theme to be carried out. We feel that the splendid program which has been outlined will do its share in preparing more and better teachers for the future.

The workshops and panels designed for discussion of individual club problems should prove very beneficial. Also, planned for these workshops are reports on outstanding projects of each club for the year. From these discussions of individual problems or accomplishments, it is hoped that each club will be able to obtain valuable material and information to take home and profit by.

In the hands of these students here lies the future of our country's education. It is up to these teachers of tomorrow to work together and plan ideas for stronger systems. We realize that each FTA organization over the country is working toward the same end, a greater future, but only by building together can a coordinated program be developed.

We hope that each of you will profit from this convention, learning new and better methods. May we say again we want you to feel at home on our campus and take your place this week-end in the crusade of scouting for better teachers.

Letters To The Editor

Constitutionally Speaking

Dear Editor:
I think Jimmie Henley's reply to Jimmy Oates' letter in Saturday's Toreador (March 17) was wonderful in that it consisted entirely of an honest confession that Henley is Republican—a fact that I have suspected of existence for some time. This alone raises him far above any "Poison-Pen Pegler" or NAM golden voiced Fulton Lewis jr classification.

On the other hand, I consider Henley's reasoning about the twenty-second amendment deficient, weak and distorted. Dixiecrat-Republican propaganda of the same type dished out on a plate of black and white to the public every day. The same public that elected FDR to the presidency four times in spite of the opposition of the majority of the press, which is so often forced to follow blindly the Big Business political back alley leading toward self-destruction because of the chain of advertising hung around its throat by Big Business.

Aside from all of this I do not consider a subject such as the twenty-second constitutional amendment as important to college students as the question of allowing American Negro citizens to attend public schools like Tech, participate in sports contests in Texas or the recent state legislative resolution urging the removal of a professor of economics at the University of Texas for expressing theories "detrimental to the student body."

I favor the first two issues, but I think that the state legislature resolution was a step away from democracy and toward fascism. Wonder what Dave Blackbird and Henley think about them?

Dear Editor:
This SOS comes to you from a lonely Marine in the heart of Korea. He is lonely for the reason that he has no mail at mail call. He would be indebted to you and your paper forever if you could help him out.

I used to work in Lubbock several years ago and when I thought who could help me out, I naturally thought of you. Even though I am a native son of California, I would be very happy to answer all letters that you may be able to start my way.

I am 23 years old and single. I am 5'8" tall, weighing 154 pounds. Have been over here since last August, so you can see I would appreciate all letters.

Easter came a little early this year, making it seem impossible that the spring vacation has already come and gone. As a matter of fact, the usual load of spring activities are upon us. Scarcely seems possible since Christmas must have been only about a month back. Final exams are just around the corner.

But on to pleasanter subjects, the Varsity show is ready to roll. There has been little publicity, but "Rec Hall Echoes" promises to combine the talents of quite a few nimble-toed and tongued Techsians. Most any night in the Green room you can find the dancers rehearsing their routines. And occasionally the line-speakers wander in to say their part to tie the dance numbers together into a show.

Last year's Varsity show title had folks guessing for miles around. "Tech, Broadway and Twenty-Fifth" sounded like the name of a new city bus schedule but turned out to be the show, embodying a plot about Tech, Broadway talent scouts and Tech's Twenty-fifth anniversary. "Rec Hall Echoes" may not be such a mysterious title, but you might construe it a number of ways if you want to make it catchy.

The Rec hall is in the process of being moved to make room for Student Union building construction. Thus, a few echoes from tearing down the foundation. Or you might imagine echoes of bridge games, "Summit Ridge Drive" being played on the juke box or the bounce of ping-pong balls on the long green tables.

What the true significance of the title is, you'll have to see for yourself. Curtain rises Monday night.

El Cuspidor is being distributed today along with the regular Toreador. For newcomers we'd like to explain that El Cuspidor is the annual April Fool edition of the paper. Everything except the ads in it is a joke, or at least is supposed to be. We admit our satire is not up to Swift's, but perhaps you can find at least one laugh in the pages. No harm intended.

Frosh and sophs are to get their chance at handling the school news soon. When the staff takes off for the annual Southwestern Journalism congress meeting next Friday and Saturday, The Toreador will be edited by sophomore journalists plus any freshman or sophomore who is interested in taking a crack at the job. Come on over, underclassmen, and sign up on the staff for April 7.

This being our first column since learning of editor Ronnie Dugger's leaving the Daily Texan at U. of Texas, we wish to praise our fellow journalist.
Dugger left the Texan the morning after the House of Representatives called for an investigation of Dr. C. E. Ayres, university of economics professor. His leaving was for personal reasons, however.
If he has edited only his final paper, he would still deserve congratulations. He presents very sound thinking in his opinions of the legislature's action and of the entire guilt-by-association problem that faces our nation today.
We have been queried in a letter to the editor as to what we think of the Ayres incident. We believe that too little thinking is done both by our legislature and by the public. The representatives were doubtless moved by the same guilt-by-association technique that they executed.

The words communist and socialist have become almost synonymous with traitor. Legislators, knowing that their constituents do not approve of communism, seemingly think that they must vote for any measure that on the surface appears to limit communism or socialism.
If they would but think, they would realize that the very principles of democracy are based upon the right to express an opinion. The essence of Doctor Ayres' expression for which he was censured is that while free enterprise is fine during peacetime, government planning in industry is needed during wartime.
Whether Rep. Marshall Bell realizes it or not, the administration in Washington today is moving closer to the rather socialistic wartime economy employed during World War II.
If the other 150 odd million people have the right to gripe about what is done in Washington,

About The Campuses

Women attending Tarleton State college will soon be meeting their physical education classes in a new Gym complete with an adjoining swimming pool. When the building and pool are completed, the women plan to enter intercollegiate swimming meets. Men at the college will be permitted to swim in the pool on special occasions.

Tickets for a "Waist dance" were purchased for two cents per inch of the men's waist measurement. The dance is an annual affair sponsored by a women's organization on the campus of the University of Tulsa. Proceeds from the dance go toward a scholarship fund.

Students at Arizona State college at Tempe, Ariz., are now contributing to a Blood bank attempting to reach the goal of 800 pints. Students who contribute receive no cuts if they present the donor's card to the president of the college, receive a free pass to one of the local theaters. Many instructors are giving extra grade points to contributors.

"The Thing" is the name given to an invention of a chemical engineer at New Mexico university. This invention is a unique grease-making machine. The student who made it traveled throughout the country around the college attempting to find parts for his machine. Some of the parts required came from an abandoned Model-A Ford water-pump, connecting rods from a junkyard Cadillac engine and a starter casing from a junked airplane engine.

Machines are now being used at the University of Arkansas to test athletes at that school. The guinea-pigs so far have been members of the football team. The machines measure everything from the length of time it takes to react to stimulus to the lung capacity of a player.
If the system works as the school plans for it to, future athletes may be discovered within a matter of hours, instead of a matter of years.

According to the University of New Mexico Daily Lobo, students who are now going to school under the GI Bill will be allowed to resume their courses after the deadline of July 25, 1951, if further military duties or transfers interrupt their studies. However, conduct and progress in their courses must have been satisfactory.

See Tech's 1951 Varsity show, "Rec Hall Echoes" at 8 p.m., April 2-4 in the High School auditorium.

doesn't a university professor have the right to say: "In terms of physical capacity, our economy is well able to serve as the arsenal of democracy. In terms of organization, we have a long way to go." We are pleased with the verdict that UT Board of Regents has returned to the House.

As Americans we must realize that we must tolerate others' opinions as well as our own. Dugger says in his farewell: "It (the attack on Ayres) is such public tragedy that arouses among educated people the highest, most precious instinct for the defense of the free pursuit of ideas. "Whatever you do, never fail in that defense."

As was indicated in our last column, we were hoping for a good socialite vs. independent campaign before Spring elections, but the chances for such are gone.

We knew that clubs informally nominated candidates for Student Council, but we were somewhat surprised to learn that one woman was reprimanded by superior club sisters for announcing her candidacy unauthorized.

Independents, don't fail to vote just because you have no direct connection with a candidate. In every race there must be one who will best meet your needs.

We foresee a very dull personality campaign. Although Bob Schmidt and Harold Brannan both attended a conference on student evaluation of faculty at the TISA convention, neither has mentioned any plans for Tech along those lines in his campaign.

We congratulate Bob Schmidt for being the first candidate for a major office to open his campaign, but as candidate for president we hope that he will really put forth some principles.

We could forever vote on the candidate who is most beautiful, or the one with the least displeasing mug, but we prefer to have some idea of what the candidate will do when elected.

We urge your attendance at the pre-election rally. There you may hear what a candidate believes. But, you will not get to hear any of the 50 candidates for the 37 council representatives, so we suggest that you talk with the candidates and strive to learn who will vote according to your interests in the council.

It is your privilege and duty to vote, but not merely to scratch a ballot. Rather to become acquainted with the candidates from your division and with the would be executive officers. Vote, but vote intelligently.

English Professor Attends Illinois Meeting, Workshop

Harold N. White, professor of English, is in Chicago, Ill., attending the conference on College Composition and Communications which ends today.

Chairmen of freshman English in colleges throughout the nation are attending the three-day conference. White will participate in the workshop and make a detailed report to the department when he returns.

SPRING TOUCH—Sporting their white bucks, these four Techsians intend to keep in the fashion spotlight this season as they lounge in the sunshine on the steps of the Journalism building. Six ex-Techsians who are stationed in San Diego, Calif., are here on leave. They are Carter (Burr) Page of Ralls, Dick Phillips of Lubbock, Charlie Mask from Sweetwater, David Bradshaw of Aspermont, Albert (Tito) Troost from Houston and Newlin (Corkey) Lancaster of Happy.

Page, Phillips, Mask and Bradshaw were Wranglers while at Tech. Troost and Lancaster belonged to Socii fraternity.

Darrel Freeman, former Tech student from Odessa is now stationed at Ft. Lee, Va., where he is training with the Military Police force of the army.

While in Tech, Freeman was business manager of The Toreador and belonged to College Club fraternity.

Ed Stalcup from Goree is another former Techsian who is here on leave. Stalcup is in the navy. He was a Centaur member before leaving.

Delmar Hartley, ex-Tech student and member of Los Camaradas, was visiting on the campus this week. He is also in the navy.

Red Rinses Are Nuisances, Say Brownettes In 'Shrew'

By SHIRLEY JOHNSON
Toreador Staff Writer

If you have been seeing red for the past few weeks, don't get alarmed. It's only the heroines of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew." Neither of the two women portraying Katherine are natural redheads.

Pat Edwards and Evelyn Hext, who alternate the role, are both brown-haired. Changing the color of their locks to that required for the play was a matter of work and many applications of rinse.

Miss Edwards succeeded in making her hair red with the first rinse she tried, but Miss Hext had to try about six different rinses before she became a redhead. "Now I'm worried about being a redhead all my life," she said.

Rehearsals and the run of the play have made it necessary that the rinse remain on their hair for about a month already, and the proposed tour of the South Plains will require that the red color stay on for a few more weeks.

Three main problems have arisen from the use of the rinse. First, the color fades onto the clothes and pillows of the girls. "Each morning when I get up, my pillows and bedsheets are stained a bright auburn. My clothes have so much red color around the neck that I think it's going to be permanent," Miss Edwards said.

Miss Hext said, "The first day my hair became red, the girls in the food line just stared at me. They thought that I'd done it because I just wanted to, and they were very unhappy about it. Then, when they learned that it was for the play, they started saying it looked very good."

So, even if you have an objection to people who dye their hair, you should be tolerant about this situation. The red is just a rinse that will wash out; and besides, the girls themselves are worried enough about it.

Tourney Entries Will Be Accepted

George Philbrick, head of the intramural activity program, has announced that entries for an all-college tennis tourney will be accepted Monday through Friday.

The tournament will consist of singles play only, according to Philbrick, and a trophy will be awarded the champion.

To qualify for this tournament a man must not have previously lettered in tennis at Tech nor may he be a member of the Tech tennis squad at present.

Men interested in entering should contact either Philbrick or Joe Wheatley in the Gymnasium.

Eight Tracksters Enter WT Relays

The University division of the West Texas relays begins today. Tech will be represented in the Odessa meet by eight track men.

Tracksters making the trip include Ben Wilson, Bill Killoughm, Charles Pinnel, Sonny Stanford, Bob Hawkins, Earl Hutcherson, Gene Bratton and Travis Hext.

The other five teams entered are from the Southwest conference.

Air Scout Squadron Slates Organizational Unit Meet

Lubbock squadron of the Air Explorer Scouts will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in X9A to organize the unit. Lt. James Clem, assistant professor of air science and tactics in charge of the air scout project, said.

Sponsored by the Lewis C. Ellis squadron of the Arnold Air Society, the squadron is open to boys between the ages of 14 and 18.

Vernon D. Wade, instructor in electrical engineering, is scout leader for the group. Duane G. Harman, also an instructor in electrical engineering, is assistant scout leader.

The United States Air Force is cooperating with the air scout movement at Tech. The program will promote the ideals of boy scouting, promote interest in Tech and interest in the Air Force.

Aggies And Dorms Start Softball Play; Independents Open Competition Monday

Intramural softball activity has begun. Three leagues will have kicked the lid off and started play by Monday.

In games played Tuesday Sneed East defeated West Hall 11-7 and Doak Green Hornets edged Dorm III 3-2 in the dormitory league. In the Aggie league Block and Bridle thumped Plant Industry 5-3.

All games scheduled for Wednesday were postponed due to unfavorable weather conditions.

Games to be played Monday in the dormitory league include Dorm IV vs. Doak Green Hornets, Dorm III vs. West Hall Eagles and Sneed

MICC Basketball Starts Thursday

Intramural basketball got started on its last leg Thursday, when the MICC league opened play.

Games scheduled for Sunday are Kemas vs. Wranglers at 2 p.m. and College Club vs. Adelphi at 3:15 p.m.

Tuesday Silver Key meets Socii at 7 p.m., Wranglers play Centaurs at 8 p.m., Kemas takes on Los Camaradas at 9 p.m.

Sports Slants

By DICK BROOKS

First indication of real support for coach DeWitt Weaver and his new staff from the surrounding area was manifest early this week.

The Texas exes of Terry and Yoakum counties got together and collected $2,500 to apply to Raider athletic fortunes. The good people of those counties listened intently as the new mentor spoke, then came through in grand style.

Tech has a number of exes clubs over the state and in other states. The Ex-Students' Association is well organized and seems to be adequately managed.

Few can be naive enough to expect Tech to win major football wars without help from sources other than the college and its treasury. Schools which have attained national prominence on the grid iron may be directly compared with active, aggressive ex-student groups.

Notre Dame, for example, has one of the most solid ex groups in the nation. A Notre Dame alumnus recruits for his Alma Mater until he breathes his last. University of Texas are just as active, although not quite as extensive. The university of Oklahoma exes not only have funds set up for use by the school's athletic department, but even have private planes for ferrying prospective candidates to and from Norman.

If Tech expects to compete in a league of such calibre, then similar measures must be taken. It will take large sums of money. Much of it will have to be kept under cover. The Terry and Yoakum county folks have started it. Soon other exes organizations will be doing the same thing.

It will take more than that. Each ex will have to try personally to send every pound of prospective football brawn he sees to Tech. Maybe it will work. Maybe it won't.

It doesn't take 20-20 vision to see that such activities as mentioned above would put Tech in the midst of the current football rat race.

This week, basketball coaches of most of the nation's colleges met in Minneapolis. They do it every year. This year they had some rather serious things to chat about. The scandal and all, you know.

The total of college players arrested for accepting bribes is now at 17. Who knows how many more will be involved before it stops? A notorious national gambler blandly announced to a congressional committee that one of this year's NIT games was "fixed." Yeh?

Some of the coaches are going about saying, "woe is us, it is all our fault." Others say that the giant machine which recruits players and pays them fabulous sums is at fault. Who knows?

One new approach was related by a man named Duer who coaches George Pepperdine, usually a basketball power on the West Coast. He said that such things as scandals will stop when coaches teach players that it just isn't nice to foul on the court. That sounds a bit idealistic, Mr. Duer, but we agree. There is lots wrong. Let's hope something is done about it soon. Maybe Congress will do it.

MOWERY SPEAKER AT MEET

Ray C. Mowery, head of the animal husbandry department, will give a talk on "Lamb Feeding in Texas" today at the Lamb Feeders Day meeting held at Kansas Agricultural Experiment station in Garden City, Kan.

"Rec Hall Echoes," Tech's 1951 Varsity show, will begin a three-night run at 8 p. m. Monday in the High School auditorium.

DeWitt Weaver and his staff of grid mentors got spring practice underway in serious style this week.

A squad of approximately 40 candidates is working out daily under the tutelage of the coaching staff. Jack Mitchell, offensive backfield coach, and Babe Woods, defensive backfield coach, are spending much time teaching the backs the intricacies of the split-T formation.

From the looks of Thursday's practice, a great deal of work needs to be done there. By the end of the practice session the backs were getting on to it pretty well.

Bobby Goad, end coach, worked his six candidates like they were getting ready for the Olympics. First they did ordinary exercises,

Tech's "Touch a Minute Trio" left Tuesday for the NCAA fencing meet to be held on the University then pushed the blocking sled around, then worked on pass catching.

Coaches James Posey and Wade Walker put the ten guard and tackle candidates through rugged paces, emphasizing that to play football "—you got to hit!" Here again things looked ragged, but improved throughout the day.

During the chilly afternoon a hundred or so Tech fans wandered in and out of Jones Stadium to watch the gridders in action. Most of them, while not overwhelmed with the appearance of the squad, liked the way the coaches did things.

of Illinois campus. The team made up of Bill Spinks and Travis Smith both of Kermit and Dean Leggett of Bogota, was given the tag of "touch a minute trio" by Border conference opponents for their aggressiveness and speed.

This is the first time in the history of the college that Tech has a fencing representative in the national meet. Fencing is delegated a minor sport at Tech but by all indications the school will be represented well on the strip by this team.

The Raidermen were undefeated in match play in both the Border conference and Southwest division. Smith and Spinks are both fourth year fencers having gained experience at John Tarleton before transferring to Tech; Leggett is a third year man.

"In fencing," said Spinks, "strip experience means a lot and whether you fence the same style as your opponent or not, if you have had some experience you have a very good chance of locating his faults and getting touches."

Better fencers from colleges and universities across the United States will be represented at the national meet along with many coaches and professionals. Santillia, Olympic fencing coach, will be there to line up members for the Olympic games to be held in 1952. "Although Tech may not win first, second or even third, I think that all of our opponents will know that Tech was represented," said Spinks.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 16...THE HARLEQUIN DUCK

"I may be a clown—but I'm no fool!"

He might be the merry-andrew of the marshlands, but lately he's been downright glum about these trick cigarette mildness tests. Never one to duck facts, he holds nothing much can be proved by a sniff of one brand or a quick puff from another. Snap judgments can't take the place of regular, day-to-day smoking. That's why so many smokers are turning to . . .

The sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke — on a pack after pack, day after day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels — and only Camels — for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why . . .

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

Advertising Meets Open To Public

Tech students and the general public are invited to attend meetings of the Advertising Clinic. Sponsored by the Lubbock Advertising club and the Tech business administration department to discuss advertising and its proper use, the meetings will be held in the Aggie auditorium Tuesday through Thursday from 8-10 p.m. James Dykes, advertising instructor and co-chairman, said today.

Culver Hill, Hemphill-Wells advertising manager, is the other co-chairman. President of the Lubbock Advertising club is Dale Buckner.

Students, to be admitted free, can obtain tickets in Ad327. Tickets covering the full 3-day program will be sold to the general public for $2.50.

"The Magic Key," an introductory technicolor movie on advertising, will be shown Tuesday night. Wednesday night's visitors will be given demonstrations of advertising problems, such as Mother's day promotion, newspaper layout, artwork, engraving, radio display, direct mail, posters, transit cards and gift wrapping. Thursday the audience will participate in an open forum discussion, with specialists from different fields of advertising to serve on the board.

In addition to the regular programs will be advertising exhibits.

Engineering Society Speaks DuPont Chemist To Speak

Marlin H. Brunner, Southern District manager of DuPont's Public Relations extension division, will speak at the Engineering society meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Engineering auditorium.

The program will consist of a demonstrational talk based on recent developments in the chemical industry, according to Kenneth Deel, Engineering society president.

Marlin is a graduate of the Pennsylvania State college and has an MA degree from the Yale School of Forestry. He has been employed by the DuPont company since 1942. He has continued his interest in agricultural improvements and extended his interests to studying the broad economic and social benefits of the industrial developments of chemical products.

ALLEN ATTENDS CONVENTION

James G. Allen, dean of student life, will return tonight from St. Louis where he attended the annual national convention of deans and advisors of men. He left by plane Wednesday for the meeting which ended at noon today.

See "Rec Hall Echoes," 1951 Tech Varsity show, at 8 p.m., Monday through Wednesday in the High School auditorium.

JOB INTERVIEWS SCHEDULED

Interview information on eight different job openings for graduates in various fields is available from Mrs. Jean Jenkins, executive secretary of the placement service.

Civil Service employment in the Naval laboratories in California will be offered to May and August graduates with bachelor's and master's degrees in engineering, physics, electronics, chemistry, mathematics, biology, bacteriology, meteorology or experimental and research psychology.

A group meeting of all interested students will be held at 11 a.m. Monday in the Engineering auditorium, where movies will be shown relating to the research facilities and activities of the laboratories. General information regarding employment opportunities will be presented.

Individual interview appointments may be made with Mrs. Jenkins. Definite commitments for permanent employment will be made if the applicant fulfills the requirements for work at one of the laboratories.

Museum Program To Feature Hewitt

Dr. Dee Hewitt, Lubbock, will be featured on the Twilight Music Hour 4 p.m. tomorrow in the Museum auditorium.

Doctor Hewitt has appeared with the Lubbock Symphony orchestra and the Tokyo Philharmonic orchestra, where he sang before Gen. and Mrs. Douglas MacArthur.

Hewitt helped finance his medical career by singing at the Palmer House in Chicago and by participating in "Mud Operas" at state fairs.

Doctor Hewitt came to Lubbock two years ago from St. Louis.

Fencers —

Each member of the team will fence only one weapon and the total points received by each fencer will be added and places given accordingly, Spinks said in explaining how a champion will be determined.

Smith will fence foil. His attack has been described by his opponents as very wicked and hard to stop. Leggett, a small man with very little target to offer his opponent, will fence foil. Spinks, who has won two sabre tournaments, will be Tech's representative in that division.

Don Olson, from Houston, will accompany the team as manager and substitute. "Olson is a first year fencer but has shown great promise on the strip," said Spinks.

See Tech's 1951 Varsity show, "Rec Hall Echoes," at 8 p.m., April 2-4 in the High School auditorium.

Arabian American Oil

Interviews with Mr. W. S. Parker, personnel representative of the Arabian American Oil company for positions in New York and Saudi Arabia, will be held Monday and Tuesday for May and August graduates with majors in civil, electrical, industrial, mechanical and petroleum engineering, geology and management who have approximately "B" averages. The company prefers single men, but will consider married men. However, wives would not be able to join them for several years in Arabia because of the shortage of housing accommodations.

General Electric company will hold a meeting at 5 p.m. Monday in the Engineering auditorium with

Faculty Members Attend Convention

Tech's representatives at the annual Southwestern Social Science convention held in Austin Friday and Saturday returned to their teaching posts Monday.

Prof. Reginald Rushing, head of the accounting-finance department, was chairman of the accounting section at the convention. Asst. Prof. William E. Whittington jr. presided over the Friday program of the accounting section. Also representing the accounting-finance department was Asst. Prof. Ernest W. Gibson.

Representing the government department were Dr. James W. Davis, head of department, Dr. Byron Abernethy, Prof. J. W. Jackson and William Oden, instructor.

The economics department was represented by Dr. Vernon T. Clover and Asst. Prof. Robert L. Rouse. The agriculture economics department was represented by Assoc. Prof. Archie L. Leonard. May and August graduates with master's and bachelor's degrees
