Formal Opening Of Union Building Sunday Afternoon

The new Student Union Building will be formally opened to the public Sunday afternoon from 2:30 until 6.

Tours will be conducted of the two main floors of the half-million-dollar student social center throughout the afternoon.

Students have been using the building since March 10, but it has been necessary to use old furniture from the abandoned Recreation Hall. Approximately $50,000 worth of new furniture will be in the building for the formal opening.

Guests will be greeted by the college administrators, representatives from the Ex-Students Association, members of the student union furnishings and equipment committee, and members of the student union board.

Bernie Howell, organist, will play during the opening.

BOARD TO MEET

Tech's Board of Directors will hold a regular business meeting at 9:30 a. m. on April 18 in Dr. E. N. Jones' office. W. D. Watkins, W. H. Francis, and Fred H. Moore, new board members, will attend the meeting.

Clubs Plan Events For Tomorrow's Senior Carnival

Representatives of clubs sponsoring events in the Senior Carnival met yesterday for final planning, announces Roy Grimes, coordinating chairman. The carnival will begin at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

Clubs and their acts are: Saddle Tramps, bingo; Aggie Club, ice cream; Kemas, throwing eggs at seniors; APO, cokes and hot dogs; Ko Shari, vaudeville show; Sans Souci, taxi dance; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Varga Calendar; DFD, water pistol shooting; Disciples Student Fellowship, dart throwing; Wesley Foundation, fortune telling.

The following clubs will sponsor games of skill: College Club, Silver Key, Socii, Adelphi, Los Camaradas, Delta Sigma Pi, Pi Omega Pi and Kappa Phi Kappa. Wranglers will play members of the Tech faculty in a basketball game opening the carnival.

Weaver, Wilson Speak to Council

Coach DeWitt Weaver and Jimmy Wilson, athletic business manager, appeared at a called meeting of the Student Council Tuesday night.

Purpose of the visit was to explain a proposal which would move students at football games out of Section O in Jones Stadium. The section would be divided into boxes, for which options would be sold.

The Council discussed the proposal but took no action, according to Jim McGraw, Council vice president.

Plans for the general election and for All-Western Days were also discussed.

Editorial . . .

The editors of The Toreador wish to state, at this point, that the paper gave its official support to no candidate in the voting just passed.

This statement is necessary because of verified reports that campaign circulars for Nina Spearman, a candidate for secretary of the Student Association, were inserted in copies of The Toreador placed in some campus buildings for distribution.

We are not convinced that any sort of political immorality was deliberately committed. We feel, rather, that the action was one of complete thoughtlessness and irresponsibility.

Miss Spearman stated Wednesday to The Toreador that she released the circulars to a group of students campaigning for her. She did not know, she further stated, to what use they would be put.

We wish to suggest to her, more as advice than as criticism, that she should have been in closer touch with the work being done in her behalf, especially since many of those offended by the action blame her rather than some anonymous campaign manager.

Allow us to repeat: The Toreador refrained from giving its official support to any candidate in the general election.

Alpha Phi Omega's Ugly Man Contest Voting Is Now Under Way On Campus

Tech's Ugly Man contest, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity, is now in full swing. Tuesday was the deadline for entering contestants without penalty.

Six candidates have been entered so far. They are: Dr. H. S. Hartsell, assistant professor of education, entered by Kappa Phi Kappa; Tom Bown, entered by Oak Hall; J. D. Harkey, Kemas; "Hank" Shofner, Adelphi; Moody Alexander, Silver Key; and Dudley Thompson, A. I. A-Gargoyle. Alexander and Shofner hold a slight lead over the other entries.

Candidates are responsible for their own campaigns. Votes are a penny apiece, at any of the convenient voting booths on the campus. Voting will continue until the night of April 14, when the Ugly Man will be crowned during a dance in the Student Union Building. The Ugly Man will receive a small engraved mug and other prizes, while the club that sponsors the winner will receive a large cup.

All money taken in will go to the cancer fund. The winner of last year's contest was Art Vaughn, sponsored by the Gargoyle Club.

Dr. Roy R. Male Jr., assistant professor of English, has been granted the annual Ford Foundation fellowship award of about $5,000. The grant affords opportunity to further prepare for effective college teaching.

Dr. Male, his wife and 4-year-old daughter will leave Sept. 1 for Harvard University in Cambridge, Mass., where he will study comparative literature to complement his Tech speciality in American literature. They will return in September, 1954.

The Tech professor, born in Brooklyn, N. Y., received his B.S. degree from Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., in 1939, his M.A. from Columbia University, New York City, in 1940, and his Ph.D. from the University of Texas at Austin in 1950. He came to Tech in 1950.

From September, 1940, to March, 1946, Dr. Male served in the artillery and infantry branches of the U. S. Army in the Philippines and Japan.

He was awarded the Senior Graduate Fellowship at the University of Texas for 1948-9. He won the William Duncan Saunders Prize for Undergraduate Writing at Hamilton in 1939. He was also an instructor at the University of Texas from 1946-50.

A series of five one-hour television programs entitled "Why go to College?" will be telecast over KDUB-TV on April 13-17. This will be the first educational television series on the South Plains. The programs will be 11 a.m. each day.

The programs, which have taken approximately 5,000 man-hours to produce, will be aimed at presenting the importance of a college education and will seek to explain opportunities and prerequisites in most of the 48 departments at Tech, says Aubrey L. Shouse, public information director.

Although produced, directed and cast at Tech, the programs are not an advertisement, Mr. Shouse states.

Arrangements have been made with high schools within 175 miles of Lubbock to borrow sets and to have their senior classes see and hear the series.

Ferron Halvorson, speech department radio and television director, is producer and director of the series. The scripts were prepared by Mrs. James G. Allen, Raymond Elliott, Dr. Everett Gillis, and Halvorson.

Students and faculty members will appear on the programs and entertainment will be offered in the series. Entertainers will include the Madrigal Singers, Tech Choir, and the band.

Dean Stangel spoke on livestock problems, and John Jones, of Texas A&M, discussed characteristics desired in beef cattle.

In addition to studying firsthand results in feeding bulls, the field day program offered the chance to observe and study the lamb crop resulting from experiments.

Mr. Smith presided at the meeting and L. A. Maddox Jr., PanTech animal husbandryman, announced the results obtained from this, the third year, of breeding,

Statistics . . .

Take these for what they're worth.

356 aggies from an enrollment of 602 voted, giving 59.1%. Aggies failing to pay activities fees this semester totaled 18.27%.

511 arts and sciences students from an enrollment of 1286 voted, giving 39.7%. Per cent of students not paying the fee was 16.01.

373 of 910 business administration students voted, giving 40.9%. BA's not paying the fee totaled 17.88%.

134 of 231 home economics students voted, giving 58%. Per cent of students not paying the fee was 7.82.

362 of 940 engineers voted, giving 38.5%. Engineers not paying the fee totaled 26.12%.

One candidate from a certain division advocated in his platform for the election that "We should ask for and get more space in The Toreador."

We wonder if these figures will help his crusade.

Seen Through The Sand

BY ANN BRYAN Toreador Associate Editor

According to Student Council tabulations, 1736 of the 4541 students enrolled at Tech went to the polls Wednesday to choose campus leaders for next year.

Theoretically, students cast their votes on the basis of campaign platforms submitted by the candidates. In their platforms candidates supposedly stated their views on campus issues and enumerated projects they planned to initiate and/or support.

A study of the platforms printed in the last issue of The Toreador illustrates the facility of some politicians for saying nothing in a great many pretty words.

There was an abundance of phrases such as; "to strive for better Texas Tech in every way", "If elected it is my intention to work hard and do my best to further both the . . . division and Texas Tech", "I would like to see a sound, well-rounded student program organization", "to promote school spirit." The list is too long to quote.

We are not advocating de-emphasis on school spirit or de-emphasis on hard work for student officers. A candidate is, or should be, obviously interested in improving conditions here and willing to work. It would be easy to be patient with their long, well-phrased attempts to convince us of these facts if their platforms also contained concrete statements of their opinions and aims.

There were exceptions. A few candidates made specific statements, and these people we commend. Their willingness to state honestly their views reveals a courage and desire to serve necessary for leadership.

By making these specific statements, however, the candidates are obligating themselves to the students who elect them. Outside their duty to "serve the student body", they have a duty to carry out or attempt to carry out the promises upon which they are elected.

By reviewing the pledges upon which present student officers were elected last spring, it can be found that this obligation was ignored by some of the office-holders.

An example of this situation is Jimmy Nickell, aggie representative on the council. A section of his platform last year read:

"I am in favor of setting up a standard in which students will know the time and number of each course that is being taught and the particular instructor that is teaching it and also this be available to each student before time of registration."

This statement, found in the election issue of The Toreador

April 4, 1952, is the last that anyone has heard of the project. Wednesday Mr. Nickell was re-elected to serve on the council in 1953-54. Are Tech voters giving him another chance to carry out his 1952 promise?

Another case is Liz McCain, arts and sciences representative. Two statements found in her platform are:

"To have all cheer leaders elected by the student body.

"To promote a greater school spirit by having regular student assemblies."

There was no attempt made to fulfill these promises.

James Dent, a&s representative. Platform statement:

"Seek to provide a better means of communication between the student council and those whom they serve, the students."

No attempt was made to establish this means of communication.

Dent, Nickell and Miss McCain did make campaign promises which they carried out or attempted to carry out. Fulfilling part of the pledges made, however, does not remove the obligation of the other part.

We hope that the newly elected officers will not make the same mistake.

Collins Replaces Frederick As Gordon Hall Supervisor

Jack Collins, former West Hall supervisor, recently replaced Bob Frederick as supervisor of Gordon Hall. Collins, who is seeking a masters degree in education, has been connected with the dormitory system since September. He received a bachelors degree in physical education from North Texas State.

THE TOREADOR, being for all the students, deliberately took no political side during the campus election held Wednesday. We announced our deadlines for pictures and platforms a week in advance, and expected all candidates interested to turn in their statements.

We tried to give fair, impartial coverage to each candidate; platforms were printed as given to us, except for some style changes. Candidates were alphabetized, and divided according to whether pictures had been turned in or not. Each candidate was given the space necessary for his picture and his platform; no extra room was allowed.

Several persons have called to our attention the fact that we seemed to be supporting one secretarial candidate over another: circulars had been inserted in the campaign issue of THE TOREADOR. These circulars were inserted without the knowledge and consent of the staff; had we known, we would not have consented.

Some enthusiastic workers for Nina Spearman, candidate for secretary, had done the inserting, we understand. Neither Miss Spearman nor her campaign manager had requested such action, we were told.

There is no written rule against such campaigning. It is simply a case of fair and honest tactics. THE TOREADOR has strived to be impartial in each pre-election issue printed. To use an impartial agency for a vehicle of promotion, unless in a paid advertisement, is denying the right of each candidate to a fair presentation.

We do not approve, but rather condemn, such campaigning.

Campaign poster still blossom over the campus. Reminder: Posters are to be taken down 48 hours after the election is over (5 p.m. today), unless the candidate is in a run-off race. In that case he may leave the posters up until 48 hours after the run-off election.

Interested in safety? Then stay home between the hours of 1 to 6 a.m. According to the 1953 Travelers summary of 1952 17.5 percent of persons killed in traffic accidents die between those hours and 9.5 per cent of those injured are hurt then.

On sunny days, don't speed too

BACKTALK

DEAR EDITOR:

I realize that the question of racial equality is as old as recorded history, and that in discussion of the topic, practically everything has been said, pro and con, that can be said; further discussion will be only repetition.

However, I would like to have explained to me the reason and sense of a statement found on the forms of application for correspondence courses from this college. A space is provided for the designation of the race of the applicant, and a footnote to this blank reads that "the law restricts our correspondence service to the white race." Now I wonder, Editor, what kind of logic is it that would deny the tax-paying citizens of this state the services of this state-supported institution? Even granted (which I do not) that for social reasons the resident enrollment of Negroes would be undesirable, what possible argument can exist for the denial to them of so remote a service as correspondence courses?

It might interest you to know that in a freshman biology course last year, the last question of the final exam read, "If it were in your authority, would you allow Negroes to enter Texas Tech?" The class split evenly down the middle—34 nays and 34 ayes.

I wonder what a campus-wide poll would reveal?

Sincerely,
DONALD FORTENBERRY
Doak Hall

P.S. I am neither a racial agitator, Communist, nor Trumanite. Just a fellow wondering what's what and how come.

much: more than three out of four accidents in 1952 occurred when roads were dry and the weather good.

In 1952 men were at fault in nine out of ten accidents; they, however, do more driving than women. That statement does not prove the superiority of either sex as a driver.

Saturday is the most dangerous day to take your car out for a drive: last year 20.9 per cent of the deaths and 18.6 per cent of the injuries were recorded on Saturday.

Statistics from last year: 37,600 deaths; 2,090,000 injuries; 609,410 casualties from speeding; 274,080 pedestrian casualties; and 415,720 drivers under 25 in serious accidents.

Nine out of 10 vehicles in accidents were in apparently good condition before they crashed.

Eighty per cent of vehicles involved in fatal accidents were traveling straight ahead.

Tech students who wish to know just what their state senator is doing in Austin these days are welcome to check the complete file of the Senate Journal in The Toreador office.

Senator Kilmer B. Corbin, District 28, has been sending it all semester, since the first day of proceedings January 13.

One thing we've noticed: Senators are quickly granted leaves of absence. Some other senator merely stands up, makes a motion that Senator So-and-So be granted a leave of absence on account of important business. The leave is then granted.

No one has ever said what this "important business" is.

Ideas will be appreciated.

Students at Hillsdale College, Michigan, find themselves with no student government. "And it's their own fault", says the Associated Collegiate Press.

Voting on a double ballot, students repealed the old government constitution, then failed to pass a new one. As a result, "a state of nature exists on this campus," according to the Hillsdale Collegian.

All activities under student government sponsorship, points out the paper, have automatically ceased to exist. The activities include the paper. Commented one student leader, "We've committed political suicide."

You have to know how to write if you want to graduate from Michigan State College. A new ruling there states that seniors can't graduate until their writing "technique is improved to a point where they can write legibly."

Four hundred and eighteen students are currently enrolled in a non-credit writing course, designed to improve literacy among future degree holders. MSC officials said nothing thus far about any reading requirements.

This piece of progressive dialogue seems to be going the college rounds:

Frosh: What do you mean by "sling the bull?"

Soph: To "sling the bull" is to say little in a great many words so as to prevent the professor from realizing that you are saying nothing.

Junior: To "sling the bull" it may say little in a great many words so as to give the impression that you are familiar with what the test is covering.

Senior: To "sling the bull" is to say as much as possible in well-chosen words as to convey the impression that you are familiar with the material under examination in spite of the fact that you have been unable to devote sufficient effort to study adequately an unduly difficult assignment.

Coeds at Utah State College have been asked to refrain from jeans in the classroom. College officials say the girls should wear jeans only when milking cows.

The Northeastern News, Northeastern University, Mass., thinks the no-cut system is merely a "protection for professors who offer dull instruction."

"Abolish this rule," says the News, "and many classes would be deserted day after day. And it would be a lesson to those instructors who refuse to make their classes interesting."

Definition of "college", according to the Michigan State Normal News: "Institutions which sometimes lower entrance requirements with an end in view—not to mention promising tackles and backs."

Miners, Buffs Lose Shutouts As Tech Team Starts Rolling

The Raider net team hit its stride Tuesday and Wednesday by blanking West Texas and Texas as western, 4-0 and 6-0 respectively.

Tech blanked the Buffaloes in Canyon Tuesday, 4-0, with each match ending in straight sets. Dave Clark took a pair of 6-0 wins from Del Tookey.

Both teams lacked one player resulting in one less match in both doubles and singles.

Tech took a wind-swept 6-0 victory over Texas Western in El Paso Wednesday. In only one case did the Techs have trouble in taking straight sets. Wendell Jones took his first set from Rex Johnson of the Miners, 6-1, but lost the second, 2-6. However, Jones came back to triumph in the deciding set, 6-4.

The wins over West Texas and Texas Western gave the Raiders a seasonal record of three won and five lost. The other win was over Abilene Christian while the losses were to Arizona, SMU, TCU, Colorado, and Hardin-Simmons.

Complete results of West Texas match:

Singles: Dave Clark, Tech, shut out Del Tookey, WTSC, 6-0; Jim Burgess, Tech, downed Dan Baldwin, WTSC, 6-2, 6-0; and Wendell Jones, Tech, beat Troy Carmichael, 6-2, 6-2.

Doubles: Burgess-Clark beat Tookey-Baldwin, 6-1, 6-0.

Complete results of the Texas Western match:

Singles: Dave Clark, Tech, beat Ted Pys, S.W., 6-3; Jim Burgess, Tech, stopped David Brownlee, 6-2, 6-3; Wendell Jones, Tech, edged Billy Rex Johnson, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4; Pete Edwards, Tech, tripped Jim Padgett, 6-4, 6-2.

Doubles: Clark-Burgess defeated Pys-Johnson, 6-8, 6-3; Edwards—obes stopped Brownlee-Padgett, 6-4, 6-1.

Faculty All-Stars To Play Wranglers

Tomorrow night at 6:30 in Tech Gym the Wranglers will meet the flashiest and most colorful quintet that probably ever stepped on the hardwood—the Faculty's Fearless Flyers.

Studded with such stars as Burl Hubbard, 5ft. 6in., 230 pound player-manager, who doubles as a management instructor, and Jack Ashworth, a sly and slippery guard, the faculty crew will probably give the younger and less-experienced Wranglers a run for their money—for the first few minutes at least.

"It's in the bag," Bob Hurmence, the faculty's lightning little guard was heard to remark.

Other faculty players also voiced confidence in their inevitable triumph Saturday night. One player, holding a coke in one hand and a cigarette in the other, remarked, "Why, our team is in excellent condition; we've been in training for almost three days."

When asked about the type of offense and defense the faculty team will use, Hurmence stated: "We're going to use the fast break, the zone defense, and the two platoon system. As I said before, it's in the bag."

Dwain Ross, Wrangler athletic director, summed up his team's advantage in this way: "we've got the wind on 'em."

Faculty stars include: Burl Hubbard, Doug Moore, tall man; Jeff Hooper, played in college; Bob Hurmence, no experience; Jess Parrish, young and pooped; Jack Ashworth, Dr. John Kelley, Jr., Floyd Williams; Fred Norwood, played 10 years ago; Jim Dykes; Noble Peterson.

Dietitian Tells of Complexity Of Preparing Dorm Menus

"Most students are not aware of the complexity of preparing dormitory menus," says Miss Shirley Schulz, director of food service.

Sitting behind the large desk in her office, she comments that her job is not an easy one and, in great detail, tells of her problems.

"Dormitory menus are usually prepared three weeks ahead of time," she says. Miss Schulz plans the menus alone, giving careful attention to nutritional requirements, cost, available labor and equipment.

"Although menus may be similar, they are never repeated," she says. Master menus are used in each of the eight dormitories.

Both Quality, Price Considered
She comments that it is necessary to work within a budget, and says that food is bought through a system of bidding. Both quality and price are considered when purchases are made, she declares.

"There is actually little routine in my daily schedule; however, I remain busy at all times," she laughs. Miss Schulz plans menus, takes care of the office, has conferences with dietitians, and has various other duties.

She meets with dietitians three times a week. At these meetings, the group discusses buying, food preparation problems, student reaction to various foods and meals, and other problems.

"We are, at all times, interested in the students' reactions," she says, "and students' suggestions are frequently used when I make menus." She says she is interested in students' ideas and will always appreciate constructive criticism.

All Food Money Spent
Pointing out that it is necessary to keep within the budget, she states that expensive foods cannot be served consecutively. All of the money in the food budget is spent, she says, and an effort is made to keep the students enjoying the food.

Miss Schultz has supervision over seven dietitians, 46 full-time kitchen employees, 70 part-time student employees, eight head housekeepers, and 22 maids and janitors. She also teaches two classes—quantity cookery and institutional organization and management. She eats her meals in various dormitories. "Even then," she laughs, "I am discussing food problems."

She likes to cook and says that she has no favorite foods.

Lives in Drane Hall

Miss Schulz has been director of food since 1951. Before that time she was head dietitian in Girl's Dorms III and IV. She lives in Drane Hall.

She received a bachelor of science from Southwestern at San Marcos and has done graduate work at the University of Texas. She served as a dietitian in the University of Texas dormitory system before coming here in 1948.

Engineering Grant To Be Made Here

The Atlantic Refining Company of Philadelphia has selected Texas Tech as one of 14 colleges and universities for establishing scholarships and fellowships for the next academic year.

A $500 scholarship in mechanical engineering will be offered at Tech beginning next September.

The awards are being made by the company to encourage outstanding students in the study of techniques connected with crude oil production, according to Dr. Dysart E. Holcomb, dean of the Engineering Division. Each grant will be made upon the basis of the applicant's scholastic accomplishments and promise in his department.

Other Texas schools to offer the awards are Rice Institute, Houston, a fellowship, and the University of Texas, Southern Methodist University, and Texas A&M College, which will offer scholarships.

7 Companies and Organizations To Seek College's 1953 Graduates Next Week

The Placement Office has announced approaching interviews by seven companies and organizations for 1953 Tech graduates.

The Procter & Gamble Distributing Company, Drug Products Division, will hold interviews on Monday for graduates interested in sales positions. Men who wish to make appointments should report to the Placement Office today.

Dallas Power and Light Company will interview electrical and mechanical engineering majors Tuesday. Those interested should schedule appointments by Saturday noon.

Bodley and Clem Get Promotions to Rank of Captain

Lt. Harold A. Bodley and Lt. James H. Clem have recently received promotions to captain in the United States Air Force. Both men are instructors in the Tech Air Force ROTC.

Capt. Bodley is sponsor of the Sam Houston Rifles of the Air Force ROTC Flying Club, and co-sponsor of the Arnold Air Society. He received his B.A. and M.A. degree from Kalamazoo College and attended the University of Michigan Law School. Capt. Bodley joined the Royal Air Force and served in the auxiliary ferrying planes from Canada to Great Britain during the war.

Capt. Clem joined the Air Force in 1941 and was on duty at Bataan when the Philippines fell. As a Japanese prisoner he was on the Death March and was not released until the islands were taken by the United States. In 1945 he enrolled in Officers Candidate School. After receiving his commission he taught at Biloxi, Miss., before coming here. He has been at Tech for four years and will complete his tour of duty here at the end of this semester.
