

La Ventana Beauty Election Results Show Five Finalists Of 1942 Again Featured

FIVE of the sixteen beauty nominees were repeaters, being featured in La Ventana last year as first place winners in the beauty contest as chosen by Pinky Tomlin, famed orchestra leader from Hollywood who was visiting Lubbock at the time of his selections. The five girls are Dorothy Lou Emmitt, Mary Ann Stephenson, Jerry Larrick, Faith McNamara, and Marian Rendall.

For the past four years Dorothy Lou Emmitt has been among the finalists in the beauty contest at Texas Tech and has been featured in the book that many times. Her being named on the list of the top sixteen means that she will again be featured.

Some noted figure to choose the eight most beautiful on the campus will be announced in the near future, according to Kara Hunsucker, La Ventana editor.

This is the third time that Mary Ann Stephenson has been named among the finalists for La Ventana beauties, having been featured in the book for the past two years.

Others chosen for the first sixteen most beautiful girls on Tech campus in the election held last week were Patsy Baker, Fannie Dale Cheek, Annis Durham, Wilma Jean Freeman, Marjorie Hall, Lolly Johnston, Jerry Larrick, Gladys Ruth McNamara, Jerry Shaw, Mary Louise Vernon, Frances Watson and Flora Lee Williams.

Out of these sixteen girls, Patsy Baker and Fannie Dale Cheek were also featured in last year's annual as beauty runners-up.

The complete list of sixteen girls will be sent to the nationally recognized figure to choose the top eight as soon as possible, according to Kara Hunsucker, editor of La Ventana.

In the general student election last week, these sixteen were picked from a ballot of thirty-two girls and were chosen by preferential balloting, which means that all girls on the ballot must be ranked or the ballot was disqualified from the final computation. The complete ballot was printed according to rules of the student council and places on the ballot were drawn for and printed accordingly.

Of the sixteen, Patsy Baker, Lolly Johnston, Faith McNamara, Gladys McNamara and Frances Watson are Las Chaparritas; Jerry Larrick, Marian Rendall, Jerry Shaw and Wilma Jean Freeman are Ko Shans; Annis Durham, Dorothy Lou Emmitt and Flora Lee Williams are Las Vivarachas; and Fannie Dale Cheek, Marjorie Hall and Mary Ann Stephenson are Sans Souci. Mary Louise Vernon is an independent.

Yearbook Picture Contest May Fold

Lack Of Interest Brings Few Results

PRIZES will not be awarded to photographers unless more interest is shown in the contest sponsored by La Ventana, according to Kara Hunsucker, editor. Only a few pictures have been turned in and this lack of interest is probably keeping some would-be photographers out of prize money, because the contest can not be judged unless more pictures are entered.

Pictures entered in this contest do not have to be developed and printed by the students entering the contest so long as they were taken by the person entering them. According to original rules, any student may submit as many pictures as desired before the contest is slated to end on December 19. This means that only two weeks from Saturday remains in the contest and after that date, no pictures may be entered in the judging.

There are no rules as to subject matter, but scenes of campus life are preferred. The pictures will be judged by the staff of La Ventana and prizes previously announced are $7.50 for first place, $5 for second place and $2.50 for third place.

Snapshots may be turned in at the La Ventana office in the Press building or sent through the faculty mail which requires no postage. Names of the student and identification of persons or objects pictured should be written on the back of each photo entered. All photos will be returned to students, but negatives should be available if needed. All photos entered in the contest will be entered with the understanding that all rights for printing in the yearbook will be granted the La Ventana.

Pre-Med Club To Sponsor Dance On Saturday Night

An all college dance sponsored by the Pre-Med club, will be held Saturday, December 5 from 8:30 until 12 in the gym. It will be a sport dance, and admission will be 25c for couples and stags.

Third Religious Emphasis Week Begins At College

Gresham Speaks To Monday Convocation Of Tech Students

"STUDENTS who go through four years of school work for the sole purpose of obtaining a degree are missing the real aim of a college education," according to Dr. Perry E. Gresham, pastor of the University Christian Church, Fort Worth.

Dr. Gresham addressed Tech students at a general convocation in the symposium at 10 o'clock Monday morning at the opening meeting of the third annual Religious Emphasis Week which is annually observed on the campus. The student convocation was opened by Charles Lutrick after which the group sang two songs. The invocation was given by Rev. Alsie Carlton, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church, Lubbock. Dr. Gresham was introduced by Dean James Allen.

"College for What" was the topic of discussion by Dr. Gresham who stated the motives of college students, what they get out of school and what they should get out of their college education. He emphasized the fact that students should learn to play as well as to study while they are in school. College is a training ground for citizenship, according to Dr. Gresham.

Speeches by Dr. Gresham are scheduled for 7:30 each night this week, Monday through Friday in the engineering auditorium. Conferences will be conducted with students from 3 until 5 o'clock each afternoon in the YM-YWCA office in the library.

U. S. Meat Ration Equal To Total Of Four Others

Amount of meat available per person per week in the United States at the present reduced rate resulting from a meat shortage, is estimated to equal the combined amounts per person in Italy, Holland, Germany, and Britain. On an average American citizen may expect to receive two and one-half pounds each per week, while in these foreign countries the meat allowance ranges from one-fourth to one pound.

Weekly ration per person in Italy is one-fourth pound; Holland, one-half pound; Germany three-fourths pound, and Britain, one pound. The meat supply in the United States this year is only 24 billion pounds, whereas the demand is 27 1/2 billion. American armed forces must have at least six and one-half billion pounds which leaves 17 1/2 billion for civilian use.

Statistics show that during the ten year period between 1931 and 1940, the meat supply in the United States was not any higher per person than it is at the present time.

Letters Top List Of Army's Wants

To aid the Christmas shoppers in selection of Christmas gifts for men in service, a magazine entitled "Consumers' Guide" has been posted on the bulletin board in the library.

According to a survey conducted by the author, letters coming regularly, cigarettes are placed at the top of the list. Fudge and cookies seem to be plentiful and cigarettes, tooth paste, socks and soap are among the desirable.

Rommel Should Watch This—

Former Student Writes Of A Premature Second Front

"BY THE TIME you get this letter, news of a second front will be old," were the startling uncensored lines written in a letter from Master Sergeant Cullen Tibbets to Mrs. William Dingus, assistant professor of foreign languages. Serg. Tibbets, now stationed in the Western desert of Egypt is a 1939 graduate of Texas Tech, receiving his B. A. degree in foreign language. Because of his outstanding record in school and his knowledge of foreign languages, Tibbets is now with the intelligence division. He is also doing work in photography.

The fact that such a letter could have passed the censors shows the confidence of the allied nations to carry through plans for a second front opening in Africa. Being stationed at an advanced post, Tibbets said he could hear the guns of the 12th bombing group. This letter was written before the fall of Rommel who was then boasting this group had been wiped out.

Describing some of his experiences in the desert camp, Tibbets told of spending the night in a reconnaissance car to try to get away from the terrible sandstorm raging there. Once when he received a 48 hour pass, Tibbets went to Cairo where, besides seeing all the famous landmarks, he took a bath and slept in a real bed. Some of the places he visited were the Sphinx, Nile river, Blue Mosque, Mohammed Aby or Alabaster, the Mosque and the many native bazars.

Indicating a turn in the tide even then, in the middle of October, were the actions of the Allies, as reported by Tibbets. He told of heavy bombing raids on Rommel's camps. Another encouraging remark made was that not once had the "Jerries" bombed that post.

Christmas Holiday Rumors Are Spiked; Classes Dismissed December 22 To January 6

LAFS Band And Tech Chorus Are On Air Together

Lubbock Auditorium Is Scene Of Weekly Radio Broadcasts

Two hundred and seventy-five voices of the Tech chorus with the Lubbock Army Flying School will be heard over station KFYO tonight from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. The program will originate in the Lubbock High school auditorium. This varied program is another of the series that is being presented each Wednesday night by the Army Air Forces band, Warrant Officer George P. Attridge is director of the band. Julien Paul Blitz heads the chorus group. Both organizations have been working together the past three weeks in preparation for this performance.

After the opening of the program with "Victory Round," a march written by Attridge, the Tech chorus will sing "Over There" by Co-han, "Anchors Aweigh" by Zimmerman, and "The Army Air Corps" by Crawford.

Another feature of the program will be a reading, "High Flight" by Lt. Marshall B. Shantz, a flying instructor at LAFS. Pfc. Edouard Blitz, son of Prof. and Mrs. Blitz will be featured on the cello with the selection "Kol Nidrei" by Max Bruch.

Chorus members meet once each week in the College Avenue church. This group is believed to be the largest group singing as a chorus for credit in the entire state. During this semester the majority of the practice time has been devoted to singing of war songs.

Film Department Hopes To Secure Foreign Pictures

"High Spots of High Countries" and "Keep the Fleet at Sea" were shown to students and faculty members in the Chemistry auditorium, Monday night.

Officials of the film department are hoping for a larger group to see the movie next week. Tech has been high in the sales of stamps and bonds.

A program is planned each time in addition to the showing of the films. This is the students' chance to help in the war effort and to help the college's record in a like manner.

Names of the films appear each week in advance in the columns of the Toreador. Effort is being made to secure pictures of life in all foreign countries as well as all the branches of the service.

All-College Dance Sat.

On Saturday evening, December 5, an all-college sport dance will be held in the Tech gym. The affair will be sponsored by the Pre-Med club.

The admission will be twenty-five cents for couples, and the same price for stags. The dance will begin at 9:00 and continue until 12.

Why Publish At All...

Purely for the sake of old-timers who can fondly remember when The Toreador was a semi-weekly newspaper, staff members business managers, and editors got together this week and while reminiscing of the good old days decided to again publish a Toreador. Not that there was anything of importance that the student should know, but just to let them know that the Press building had not yet burned.

Since one of The Toreador's big stories of the year was ready for the presses last week, we kind of felt ashamed that we should come out this week and announce the results of the La Ventana beauty poll. Anyway students reading the local Avalanche have spread the good word and everyone knows the news, not that being scooped is unusual in Toreador editorial offices, but on something as big as this we don't often lose the number 1 story.

But the Beauty election was not the only thing we missed. In fact, it seems that the week we didn't publish there was more news than we have been able to glean all year.

To sum it up, the reason The Toreador didn't appear in campus wastebaskets last week was that there was no Toreador scheduled to be published. When the college calendar was originally drafted, The Toreador scheduled the issues to be published only when students were in classes. Consequently the scheduled Thanksgiving holidays threw the students out of their semi-weekly newspaper.

Pre-Law Club To Have Military Trial This Year

Plans for the annual fall trial of the Tech Pre-Law club were made at a meeting of the docket committee last Sunday.

Contrary to custom, the club this year plans no campus build-up. Plans have been made to stage a military trial instead of the usual campus trial.

According to Billy Sims, production manager, the setting will be in North Africa and military personnel will be defendants. Lawyers and officials for the trial are studying various phases of military law to help in conducting the trial. Assistance from the legal departments of the Lubbock Army Flying School and the South Plains Army Flying School has been granted.

Exact date for the trial has not been set but it will be early in December. This meeting is open to all students and faculty members.

Honorary ROTC Sponsors Remain Military Secret

Four honorary cadet sponsors of the ROTC unit will be introduced at the annual meeting on Friday night. The dance will be held in the Hilton hotel ballroom, and Jack York's orchestra will play.

Names of the sponsors will not be revealed until the girls are presented. Candidates are Jo Clasper, Patsy Baker, Jerry Blundell, Sara Bourland, Mary Butler, Betty Rhea Caldwell, Peggy Eiland, Marjorie Hall, Betty Herring, Mayfair Jones, Mary McGowan, Virginia McGowan, Rowena McKinley, Gladys Ruth McNamara, Dorothy Miskimins, Tommy Mitchell, Betty O'Mara, Marian Rendall, Mary Ann Stephenson, Frances Watson, and Jacquelyn Wilkinson.

Former Techsan Again Awarded For World Tour

Major Richard T. Kight, former student of Texas Tech has been awarded the Oak Leaf Flight. This is given instead of a second award of the Distinguished Flying Cross, which he already holds.

Kight was cited for "outstanding initiative, resourcefulness and a high degree of courage" under trying conditions encountered on the flight from Aug. 26 to Oct. 14. Decorations were awarded by the Army to the seven crew members which carried Wendell Willkie on his round-the-world trip.

A meeting of the Press club will be held Thursday afternoon at 5 p.m. The organization will meet in room 206 of the Press building. This information was released by Leon Hughes, president of the club.

The meeting will replace the regular Monday meeting. Other officers of the club besides Hughes, are Raymond Pillar, vice-president, and Helen Joy Smith, Secretary-Treasurer.

DESPITE many rumors to the contrary, officials Christmas holidays have not yet been changed. Scheduled in the catalogue to begin Tuesday, December 22, the holidays will continue until Wednesday, January 6, under present plans. The holidays were originally scheduled to end on Monday, January 4, but when the Thanksgiving holidays were disregarded, the extra two days were added to Christmas vacation.

Under move is a plan to ask the Administrative Council to begin the holidays Monday, December 19, but according to P. B. Shannon, student president, no such action has been taken to date. Shannon further stated that he would ask the Student Council to consider the proposal that has come from the student body at large, and would present its decision to the Administrative Council.

Many students have found that they will be unable to be home before Christmas day if they are not allowed to leave Tuesday, Shannon stated, and this is our cause for concern.

Government authorities have asked college officials to regulate the holidays whereby schools in the same areas would not dismiss classes the same day. With army and navy furloughs being granted as early as December 12, it would be impossible to dismiss classes before the soldier's trek home, consequently there is no way of avoiding a traffic jam, but a mere possibility of limiting the jam.

Students are further advised to disregard rumors on the campus until authenticated by an official announcement.

Train Schedules Are Announced

Students Expected To Schedule Leave

Students going home for Christmas holidays by bus and train should leave with Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant registrar, the date of their contemplated departure and the train or bus on which they plan to leave.

Because of the heavy travel expected during the holidays and the unusual demands upon transportation facilities, railroad and bus lines have asked the college to ascertain the contemplated railroad and bus movement of students and faculty on or about December 22, in order that additional equipment may be ordered if heavy travel should be indicated as a result of this investigation.

The Santa Fe railroad agent said there would probably be a conflict in transporting soldiers and students at the same time so it is imperative that students contact the registrar's office immediately.

Recent changes in the present railroad schedules are as follows: Santa Fe Lines:

To Temple and Houston, 1:35 p.m.; to Amarillo, 9:50 a.m.; to Clovis, 1:25 p.m.; to Fort Worth and Dallas, 9:45 p.m.

Burlington Lines: To Childress, Fort Worth and Dallas, 8 a.m. (Week days only)

Historic Guns Now On Exhibit

History of the United States is outlined in the exhibit of guns in the Museum on the campus. Blunderbuss guns that date back to the days of the Mayflower to guns used in the first World War are shown.

The evolution of the gun through the stages of the wheel-lock, flint-lock, double barrel, percussion, to the breech loaders is demonstrated.

One of the most interesting guns is one used by Billy the Kid. It is trimmed in brass, and is still in good condition. A pair of handcuffs once put on the Kid are shown with the gun and take away a little of the romance and glamour.

Officials Crown Unbeaten Cowboys Conference Champs

Cowhands Repeat For Second Year As Loop Leaders

Tempe-Simmons Game Said To Be Forfeit; Was First Canceled

The Hardin-Simmons Cowboys were named Border Conference champions for the second consecutive year, last Sunday in the annual meeting at El Paso. The Cowboys were undefeated, and tied only by Texas Tech. They were the only eleven in Texas to have this record.

The decision to allow the Hardin-Simmons-Arizona State (Tempe) game go on the record as a forfeit left the Ranchers a half game ahead of Tech's Red Raiders. Previously, the conference race was called a tie, with the Raiders and Cowboys each holding three and a half games won and a half game lost, but the ruling left Hardin-Simmons with four and a half games to their credit.

Vote on the matter was unanimous. The controversy had arisen for the first time in Border Conference history as no rule covered the question of whether the transportation situation's interference with the scheduled game in Abilene would be ruled as an outright forfeiture and the decision was left up to the conference officials.

Tech's last week victory over Arizona University in Tucson gave the Raiders a perfect conference season with the exception of the tie game played with the Abileneans here Nov. 21.

The conference had previously decided to continue the annual Sun Bowl festival in El Paso New Year's Day, and, more than likely, the Cowboys will receive the first invitation. W. L. Stangel, chairman of the Tech athletic committee said last week that regardless of the result of the meeting Sunday, Tech would not accept a bid for the New Year's game.

The conference season ended officially with New Mexico's 35-7 victory over the Tempe Teachers Saturday.

Officials at the caucus also decided to discontinue round-robin play in basketball competition this winter in favor of an elimination tournament to be held in Albuquerque February 17 to 20. Schedules for the season were left up to the individual schools in the conference, and, in view of the shortage of transportation facilities, members probably will schedule cage games with only nearby schools.

This move brought to a close the colorful round-robin play of the Border conference teams which has been a feature of the nation's basketball program, but left a reasonable means of deciding a champion in view of the wartime curtailment of sports. Although dominated by the West Texas Buffaloes, the Border loop has placed at least two of its members near the top of the nation's cage teams in the past few years.

Last year, the West Texas aggregation was judged near the top of the competitors in the United States, participating in the "Worlds Series" of basketball in Madison Square Garden. Meanwhile the Red Raider quintet which gave the Buffaloes their share of trouble in their own loop, were considered one of the better teams in the National Interscholastic tournament at Kansas City.

Twenty-Nine Men Report For Cage Practice Early

Basketball practice for the coming season is in full swing, according to Polk Robinson, Red Raider cage coach, with 29 men working out daily and eight more to appear this week following the close of the football season.

No schedules have been definitely set, except the Border conference tournament in Albuquerque February 17-20, but plans are being formulated for clashes with other top-flight teams of the Southwest.

Two senior lettermen are working out, George Allen and Norman "Frosty" Cox. Roy Williams and Garland Head are two more lettermen expected this week.

Squadmen returning from last year's Raiders are Max Munn, Bill Charloch, Buck Rogers, J. R. Callahan, and Billy Hale. Wallace Martin and J. L. Gamble return from last season's freshman team.

Others rounding out the squad are Edgar Long, Norman Rushing, James Adkins, Murrel Johns, Charles Hays, Arthur Bell, Jr., Delbert Riddle, Joe K. Williams, Howard Schmidt, Mac Brandon, W. L. Miller, Winston Churchill, Homer Echols, Kenneth Burns, Dick Mc-

Field Continues To Lead Scoring

Longhorn Back Has Eleven-Point Lead

Jackie Field, diminutive Texas Longhorn tailback, still led Southwest conference scorers in the latest Southwest conference statistics. The little Steer scored seven touchdowns and 10 conversions for a total of 52 points, followed by Bill Coleman of Baylor with 41. Trailers of the leading pair were Roy McKay of Texas with 38, Cullen Rogers of A. and M. with 36 and Wendell Williams of Rice with 30.

McKay still held a commanding lead over the ground gainers with 671 yards rushing, although little Chic Forte of Arkansas moved in to third place with a rush to raise his total to 508. Field of Texas was second with 590.

Kit Kittrell of Baylor was fourth with 446 and Emery Nix of TCU was fifth with 365.

In punting Barney Welch of A. & M. led an average of 42.1 yards, compiling 1137 on 27 boots. Stoop Dickson of Rice followed with 41.7 and was trailed by McKay of Texas with 41.3 and Ed Cain of Rice with 40.7.

Leo Daniels continued to pile onto his passing figure, raising it to 697 yards. He was followed by Nix of TCU with 584, Gonzales of SMU with 493, and McKay of SMU with 418.

Bill Coleman of Baylor led the punt returners with an average of 16.8 yards on 14 receptions, followed by Daniels of A&M with 15.9. Field of Texas with 13.6 and Perkins of Rice with 13.5. Salling of Arkansas was close behind with 13.3.

Cullen Rogers of A&M, the national leader in pass receiving, has gained 412 yards on 35 receptions, followed by Miller of SMU with 409 on 25 catches. They are followed by Simpson of SMU with 211, and Williams of Rice with 251.

Raiders Close Toughest Season In Recent Years

13-7 Victory Over Arizona Thursday Rings Down Curtain

By BO BACHMAN
Toreador Staff Writer

The Red Raiders hung up their cleated shoes, shoulder pads, and vivid football togs for another year Saturday and looked back over another colorful year.

Some say the Raiders had a good season. Some say it was mediocre. Some say it was terrible. Anyway, for the first fall in many years, the Men in Red stayed in their own backyard most of the season. Too, for the first season in many years, some of the toughest members of one of the toughest loops in the nation, the Southwest conference, were their opponents.

The final curtain was the Tech victory over Arizona University, an up-and-down aggregation, in Tucson Thursday afternoon. The Arizona boys were tough when they were tough, providing easy marks when they were down, but they were decidedly pointing for the Raider game this year. The final count was 13-7, and the Raiders had to watch their step every minute of the encounter. The first Raider score came on a drive down-field by the Raider first stringers, climaxed by a 15-yard touchdown pass from J. R. Callahan to Don Austin. The last was scored by a sustained drive spearheaded by the Mason twins, Wick and Mick. Arizona scored its only six-pointer in the last half, with the help of a 30-yard penalty against the Raiders.

The Techsians started their season with a spirited victory over the West Texas Teachers, scoring 32 points in the last half, to emerge from the bewilderment of a 7-0 half-time score.

Then came the Aggies; those mighty Aggies. The Raiders met them on Kyle Field, a fact which made a victory nearly impossible before the kickoff. Leo Daniels, on a brilliant long punt return, set the Raiders on their heels the first time the Ags got the ball. The Techsians returned in the second half to keep the Aggies on even terms, but never could catch up.

Oklahoma's Aggies surprised the Red Raiders likewise in the third game. On Tech field, the Oklahoma boys scored 9 points before the Raiders assembled their strength. In the last quarter, the Raiders looked like they would rally to victory, but fell short and came out on the short end of a 9-6 count.

Baylor's Bears were still on the upgrade when they met the Raiders the following weekend. Following an opening surprise defeat by the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, the Bears revived to defeat the Oklahoma Aggies. Against the Raiders, they piled up 14 points, a score which could not be passed in the game. The final score was 14-7.

Tech journeyed to Houston against the Rice Institute Owls the following week-end. Mid-season caught the Owls on the upgrade from a loss to Texas, the conference champions who beat them only 12-6. The Owls defeated the Raiders 19-7, and haven't lost a game since that time.

When everyone thought the season was about over for the locals, the next game marked the start of the season. Texas Christian mighty Horned Frogs trekked out to Lubbock for the Tech Homecoming. They thought an easy victory was in the offing. Too bad they were disappointed. They tied into an even nighter bunch of Red Raiders, just as they did in 1936. The Red Raider line out-charged the ponderous Frogs, and Schlunkman, Austin, Callahan, and the whole Tech backfield sent the Christians back to Fort Worth on the short end of a 13-6 score.

Tech purposely let up a Omaha, Nebraska the next game, losing to a mediocre Creighton team. Don Austin and J. R. Callahan saw only a little action, and the Bluejays reached the height of their season by passing over the heads of the Raiders to win. The Raiders were led by Walter Schlunkman, who, alone, stacked up more yards rushing than the whole Bluejay lineup. Schlunkie ran 308 yards, and scored the only Raider touchdown on a dippy 77-yard run. Two Creighton passes gave them a 13 to 7 victory.

Hardin-Simmons came to Lubbock November 21, with an undefeated, untied record to their record, and the satisfaction of being the only Southwest team without a defeat. The Cowboy's Rudy Mobley had just set a new record in rushing for the season, by piling up 1,148 yards in seven games. The game ended in a scoreless tie, with the Lubbock boys on the top-end of the statistics, having tried three field goals unsuccessfully. The Cowboys drove to the Raider one, but Mobley was stopped on his bid for a score by Joe Smith, who spilled him for a six-yard loss. Don Austin, Walt Schlunkman, and J. R. Callahan all outshone Mobley, who was held to 24 yards net gain, and Camp Wilson, the other Cowboy big gun.

Then came the Arizona game, and the end of another hard trail. The Raiders proved in the last few games that they had the fight which makes a winning ball club. They were injury-ridden a major portion of the season, but the story is told that if every Raider game this fall had begun at half-time, the Techsians would have

College Club Wins Inter-Club Tourney

Final Games See Double C Five Become Champs

Schweitzer Paces Quintet; College Club Far Superior

The College Club quintet placed itself at the top of the inter-club basketball race last week, and established itself as the 1942 champions. The tournament of clubs has been going on for some three weeks, and last weeks games brought the tourney to a close.

In the first game of the semifinals the Wranglers rolled over the Los Cams 27-19. This placed them in the top spot of the league. They were never seriously threatened by their opponents, and were led by High, who racked up ten points to his credit.

Hawkins was high scorer for the losers with six points, being closely followed by Burdett, Wrangler guard, with five points.

In the second game of the evening the College Club five nosed out the Centaur quintet by three points winning 20 to 17. They were placed by Schweitzer. He scored seven points. This game was the thriller of the evening, with the College Club having to come from behind to win. At halftime the Double team was trailing 5 to 10, but a last period surge brought them out in front, and placed them in the finals with the Wranglers.

In the finals, Schweitzer again paced the College Club with 12 points, and led them to the championship. The Wranglers trailed far behind during the entire game, been undefeated and untied.

Many of the Raiders have settled down to classes again. Some of them are appearing for basketball practice. All of them are looking back over the season, possibly the last season for the duration for practically all of them. They are now ready for a bigger season. Open season on Japs and Nazis.

and never threatened the College Club's supremacy. Beardon of the Wranglers scored six points during the game to be second high scorer of the contest.

The Wranglers were early tourney favorites, but the College Club began to pick up speed after about a weeks play had passed, and there was little doubt as to their superiority over the other teams.

Box scores for the last two games were:

WHICH would you vote "most likely to succeed?"

"The Aircraft Warning System gives a single plane on ground alert the equivalent striking power of 16 planes on air patrol." This startling statement comes from England.

Our country's Aircraft Warning Service—quite similar to England's—keeps a constant check on the flight of all aircraft. Should the need arise, it is prepared to send fighter planes aloft, to mobilize and direct ground defense forces, to warn endangered areas. Every step in its operation requires the fast, accurate communication of the telephone.

This is just one of the many wartime jobs that are keeping telephone lines busier than ever before. To help us keep lines clear for vital military and industrial calls, please avoid using Long Distance to war activity centers unless the call is urgent. And please keep all your telephone calls as brief as you can. Thank you.

Coed's Corner—
Christmas Activities
Begin Saturday Night
—By Kara Hunsucker

WITH DECEMBER comes thoughts of Christmas and the yearly round of Yuletide affairs begins this week as the Home Economics club entertains Saturday night at the home management house with its annual reception for campus clubs and faculty members. In addition to attending an always well-arranged affair, guests at the Home Ec reception may visit the model home on Tech campus where students have charge of all house-keeping duties while living in the house as a class project.

Rings make news this week as more and more sparklers appear on the left hands of coeds. Three Ko Sharis who received diamonds during the week-end were President Frances Gary, from Lieut. Granville Waters, Betty O'Mara, from Lieut. Floyd Ross, and Beth Hampton, who's engaged to Rhea Mitchell. Other coeds "on the line" are Dorris Vallance (it's Bill Hamm, of course), and Leah Nicholson, who's wearing a ring from Bill Good.

Four lucky girls will stand at attention Friday night as they are presented as honorary sponsors for the ROTC, when the organization holds its Military Ball. Techsans in uniform will be out in full military dress for the occasion. And speaking of lucky girls, congratulations to you, Betty McCoy, queen of the Hodge Podge, and last year's ruler of Fish Day. Two such honors in a row are an accomplishment.

Gather your kisses while you may. For time brings only sorrow. Girls you might have kissed today, may wear gas masks tomorrow.

Dr. Perry Graham, speaker here from TCU for Religious Emphasis Week, is reviving religion on Tech campus with his interesting talks being held nightly in the Engineering auditorium. All students

We predict that hitch-hiking is doomed for the duration with gas rationing now in effect. Gone are the days when a youth could thumb his way across the nation in record time. He is now in led to more distant places, via the draft board.

Robson To Teach Drawing Course

An ESMWT course in Engineering drawing will meet for the first time tonight in E261 at 7 p.m. An organization meeting was held last week and it is expected that 16 to 18 students will be present to start work. F. B. Robson will be instructor.

Prerequisites are high school graduation with two years of math, one of which must have been plane geometry. Persons now enrolled in college are ineligible unless they sign a statement that they do not expect to return to college next semester.

A similar course was started at San Angelo college Oct. 19 taught by Henry E. Harris.

The fourth section of a similar course is nearing completion in Amarillo. Repetition of this course as well as a course in advanced engineering drawing is contemplated after the first of the year.

Kappa Kappa Psi Octet On U. S. O. Variety Show

An octet from Kappa Kappa Psi fraternity will participate Thursday at 8 p.m. in the USO Variety show for South Plains Army Flying School.

The theme of the show is Gay Nineties and the songs sung by the octet will be Barber Shop tone. Those singing are Woodyard McDowell, Aubrey Walker, Jesse Day, Tommy Thomas, Geo. Mayes, Glen Burleson, James Williams, and Charles Senning.

At Last! Why Girls Slip Out Of Tech Dormitories

SLIPPING out of the dormitory seemed so simple. All the other girls did, and considered me a terrible sissy because I was afraid to.

During finals my second year in college, I had a case of what is known as school girl infatuation. The boy was graduating and I knew I would never see him again, so with a little persuasion I agreed to stay out of the dorm. Two or three hours more with him, then meant a lot. A girl friend from my hometown, and her aunt live in an apartment and had told me I could stay with the many time.

The method most generally used in getting out for the night was to sign out to your room for dinner, then just leave without signing out. As far as the desk knew, you were in your room all evening.

My last exam was Thursday and Wednesday was the night I planned on slipping out. All day I had a nervous but excited feeling. I wasn't afraid of being caught because it was so late in the semester, still I didn't want to be called over to the Dean's office. I was excited, however, because it does give one a thrill to do something "against the rules."

The night was lovely. Everything worked out just as we had planned and Mrs. Young, our housemother, didn't suspect a thing when I left in front of her

"Old Faithful" May Be Drafted For The Duration

First time "Old Faithful" belloyed across the Raleigh, N. C., countryside, it created one hell of a stir.

And if some of these cities complaining that their air raid sirens are too sissy want to risk it, they might try to buy the massive-voiced whistle from North Carolina State college, where it now rests as a monument to a barbaric age.

"Old Faithful" first sounded off 30 years ago, and for 15 years thereafter the iron-throated monster, anchored atop the college power plant, shattered the calm of Raleigh and its environs every time the engineer pulled down on the whistle cord.

The whistle introduced itself to Raleigh without warning on a wintry morning. When the roar swept the campus, students accustomed to the mild squeak of "Old Faithful's" predecessor were blasted from their beds. In a barn near Cary, five miles away, a cow peacefully giving forth milk, cut off the flow in fright when the hoarse snort swept through her territory.

Students themselves were responsible for the unearthly whistle. Late for classes, they invariably blamed the noise on the fact that they had not heard the asthmatic wheeze from the whistle. One day Professor Charles Park, mechanical engineering department, got tired of hearing the excuse. He couldn't find what suited him, so he proceeded to build a whistle worthy of its job.

For 15 years the community endured "Old Faithful."

Finally the whistle was replaced by one a bit more refined. "Old Faithful" in 1925 was taken down and mounted in a place of honor. The identifying label says: "A Relic of Barbarism," but if Raleigh civilians defense officials keep getting squawks about their air-raid alarm system, they might draft "Old Faithful" for the duration.—From "This Collegiate World," by Associated Collegiate Press.

Warime Mathematics Are Revised To Meet Demands

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF. — (ACP)—America's war-time and peace-time needs call for revision of the teaching of mathematics, Dr. Frank N. Freeman, dean of the University of California school of education told a meeting of the Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

At present there is a conflict in teaching of the subject between the secondary schools and universities, Dr. Freeman said. In general, the secondary schools look upon mathematics as a contribution to general education, while the universities are primarily concerned with it in preparation of the student for a profession.

These two aims must be reconciled, Dr. Freeman stated, giving as the reason for the conflict two facts: vocational and professional preparation demand one kind of mathematics and general education another; second, it is hard to pick out students who need the one or the other kind and to guide them in the right choice.

The conflicting aims must be reconciled and yet both must be served, the educator said. Mathematics is the primary tool of the engineer and the scientist, and as such must be highly developed by him. However, in addition to being a specialized tool, mathematics is also a way of thinking, which involves every individual's everyday life.

Kemas club, men's social organization, will have its annual winter formal dance Saturday night at Hotel Lubbock. Jack York's orchestra will play.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Decker, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bowden, Mr. and Mrs. K. T. Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Scott.

A&M Experiments With Cross Breed Bird Reproduction

COLLEGE STATION—That hybridization between so-called Mexican quails and Virginia bobwhites does not lead to deterioration in the cross bred stocks or to any upset in the sex ratio to be any upset in the sex ratio to be shown by an experiment conducted under the auspices of the Poultry Husbandry Department at Texas A. & M. College in cooperation with the Texas Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit. A review and summary of this experiment which was concluded during the current year was made over the five-year period from 1937 to 1942. Some sportsmen have been worried about the possibility of an upset ratio when the birds are mixed; but their fears do not appear to be justified.

Sex ratio data tabulated for the five-year period showed sex ratio coinciding closely with the approximate one to one for yearly average, pen and variety averages, and most individual matings.

Of 280 chicks examined, 146 (or 52 percent) were females, 134 (or 47 percent) males. The cross-bred quail showed no improvement or deterioration in growth, livability or reproduction. The sex ratio from the cross-bred quails taken separately, showed 51 percent females and 48 percent males, which checks with figures for the total group.

The experiment was conducted by D. H. Reid, head of the department, assisted by Henry C. Hahn of the Texas Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit, for part of the period, and Alex G. Warren of the department of poultry husbandry for the last portion of the experiment.

Breedlove Talks On India Stand

Dr. Mary Louise Breedlove, instructor in English at Tech, lectured on "Gandhi, the Leading Spirit of the Freedom for India" before members of the First Methodist Wesleyan Service guild at a meeting last week.

Dr. Breedlove pointed out that Gandhi was "first a saint, then a politician. Every Monday is a day of silence for him to commune with God; he has one picture in his home, that of Christ."

She related that the Indian leader's philosophy of life was that love will conquer all, and that peace and kindness will overcome force. She said that he lives and breathes only one idea—that freedom will be won for India.

Home Economics Club To Honor Campus Clubs Sat.

The Home Economics club of Texas Tech is honoring clubs and organizations on Tech campus with a reception to be given Saturday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The reception is to be held in the Home Management house on the campus. Members of all clubs and organizations are invited.

Jean McLaughlin is chairman of arrangements, and Mayme Twyford, associate professor of foods and nutrition, is faculty advisor.

Tech Co-Eds To Do Without Toys

Girls in dormitory II will forego their Christmas toys this year but not their annual Christmas dinner. In the past each girl received some durable toy as a favor. Afterwards the toys were collected and sent to the Sanders school district to serve as their Christmas toys.

A shortage of metals and other materials from which they are made, make it impossible for dormitory officials to obtain them.

The dinner is planned for Wednesday, December 16th, from seven until eight p.m. Jack York and his orchestra will furnish the music.
