Ministers Asked To Encourage Governor In His Efforts In Behalf Of Hauptmann

Hoffman Not Yet Satisfied Case Solved

Asserts, However, That He Will Not Issue Another Reprieve

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 21. (AP)—Rev. John Mathison, spiritual adviser of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the Newark Evening News said today, has circulated all pastors of the United Lutheran church in the country asking that they encourage Governor Harold Hoffman for the action he has taken in Hauptmann's behalf.

Some 3,500 letters have been sent out by Mathison, the News says, and have provoked criticism from some pastors receiving them.

Plans No Reprieve
The new development in the Hauptmann case came after Governor Hoffman asserted that the failure of Attorney Samuel Leibowitz to "get something" from Hauptmann convinced him "more than ever" that the Lindbergh kidnaping case is unsolved.

The governor repeated, however, that he did not plan another reprieve. He granted Hauptmann a 30-day stay on Jan. 16.

A formal statement issued last night by the governor's office said:

"Asked the questions 'Do the statements of Mr. Leibowitz influence your position that the Lindbergh case is still unsolved,' Governor Hoffman said 'No. I am more convinced than ever. I had hoped that Mr. Leibowitz, in almost nine hours of questioning might have been able to get something from Hauptmann, if he had anything to tell.'"

A full confession to a death house confession from Hauptmann by stamping on his mind the horror of death in the electric chair was made, it was disclosed yesterday.

Through the eyes of Leibowitz, the condemned man "saw" the chair, six paces from cell No. 9, and just beyond the little door which leads to the execution chamber.

Hauptmann paled, the person who described the episode of the interview said, and his hands revealed his nervous state of mind. But scared as he obviously was, he did not change the story he has told since his arrest. And in a short time he recovered his calm.

City's Bastille Is Tenantless

Officers Chalk Up Three-Day Period Without An Arrest

For the first time in more than three months, the city jail was barren of customers Thursday and Friday.

Not since Tuesday has there been an arrest by the police, the sheriff's or constable's department.

Drunk, usually most dependable patrons of the two local jails, have not staggered into the clutches of the law for the past three days.

Some attributed the let up to the two liquor raids made here by the state control district agents who filed complaints against two persons here. They also filed a complaint in Midland Wednesday against Mrs. Georgia Spears and confiscated liquor valued at $400.

'Amateur Hour' Program Is Presented At School

Another of the popular amateur hour programs was presented under the sponsorship of Miss Nell Brown's home room Friday morning in the high school auditorium.

Only junior high school students appeared on the program. Among those who took part are Franklin Robinson, impersonator of Major Fawcett, Elizabeth Newson, Dean Miller, Billie Elmore, Shirley June Robbins, Betty Farrar, Emma Lee Rogers and Roland Evans.

Next week high school students will participate in a similar program.

MASONS TO MEET Program Honoring Washington Set Tonight

Annual program honoring George Washington will be held today at 7:30 p. m. from the Masonic hall by the local lodge. The public is invited to attend.

Speakers will be James T. Brooks and Rev. Dick O'Brien, Colorado. Special music has been arranged for the occasion.

PENSION AT 115

Solomon F. Rickner (above) of St. Paul, Neb., said on his 115th birthday he had "no desire to live longer." Recently Rickner applied for and received a pension of $30 a month from the state. (Associated Press Photo.)

Roosevelt Will Formulate Tax Plan Next Week

To Submit Program To Finance Farm Operations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—President Roosevelt said today a tax bill to finance the new farm program will be formulated finally after his return next week from his Hyde Park home.

The president said conferences with heads of the government spending agencies would continue through April. A bill-drafting committee in authorized borrowing has been projected by Mr. Roosevelt, but he has given no intimation as to what may be achieved in the way of curtailing expenditures.

Treasury Report
Indications were that the president would have the tax program ready to submit to congress next week. The new move came as the treasury issued a report showing continued business gains in January.

Ordinary internal revenue collections last month jumped $38,626,128 over January, 1935, although the shut-off of processing taxes through the supreme court's AAA decision brought a net drop of $10,600,000.

Treasury officials who have been studying corporation reports for 1935 look for an increase of at least 25 per cent in income tax collections next month, when first quarter payments based on last year's business will fall due.

Spain Under Martial Law

Radical Rioting Breaks Out Anew, Communist Flag Raised

MADRID, Feb. 21. (AP)—Martial law spread through Spain today against revived radical rioting involving the death of at least eight persons.

Churches and rightist centers were raided and the flag of communism was raised at isolated points. A hundred guards were sent to the town of Ecija in the province of Huelva, where communists had proclaimed a soviet state.

The rioting was a renewal of disturbances which had occurred Monday and Tuesday, after radicals were victors in last Sunday's elections. A "state of alarm" was declared at that time, but the country had become quiet when the government resigned to be replaced by a radical cabinet.

Local Bankers To Attend Eort Worth Session

Representatives of the two Big Spring banks will be in Fort Worth Saturday to attend the annual convention of the seventh district Texas Bankers association.

The day is a holiday, and banks will be closed in observance of George Washington's birthday.

From the First National, Ira Thurman, cashier, and Harry Hurt, assistant cashier, will attend. They left Friday for Fort Worth, accompanied by Mrs. Thurman and Mrs. Hurt.

T. S. Currie, vice-president, and Robert W. Currie, assistant vice-president, of the State National, also left Friday afternoon by automobile for Fort Worth. Their wives, and T. S. Currie Jr., accompanied them.

Mysteries Of Night Light Will Be Studied At McDonald Observatory

CHICAGO, Feb. 21. (UP)—Astronomers who have been dabbling blue paint on their canvases to picture night skies should talk to Prof. Otto Struve, director of Yerkes Observatory at Williams Bay, Wis.

The color of the night sky is not a deep azure, as most pictures have it, but a combination of yellow, red and green, Dr. Struve told the Chicago Astronomical Society.

The photometer instrument which carried light from the star Arcturus to provide the impulse which opened Chicago's world's fair was credited with revealing the true color of night skies.

The question of what causes mysterious night time luminosity is the real problem, Dr. Struve revealed. Since the night light phenomenon was first observed by Samuel Newcomb 35 years ago, little has been learned of its cause.

"We know almost nothing about the properties of this light," the astronomer said. "Its distribution is fairly uniform, showing that it has nothing to do with the structure of the solar system."

At the new McDonald observatory in Texas, Dr. Struve will direct efforts to solve the mystery. An 82-inch mirror, now being ground, will be placed on a mountain above the rays of terrestrial light. The spectrum of the night light will be recorded with a special camera.

Inquiry Into Pension Plan Will Be Brief

Townsend Requests That Investigation Be Deferred Two Weeks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—Speaker Byrns said today that the house investigation of the Townsend pension plan would be relatively short.

As plans progressed for the inquiry voted by the house Wednesday by 240 to 4 vote, leaders agreed that Dr. F. E. Townsend himself will have a major role in the investigation.

Will Call Townsend
Representative Bell of Missouri, chairman of the investigating committee, said that the committee will want to interrogate the Californian.

He formed that officials of the Townsend organization today had "welcomed" the investigation as "wonderful publicity for us," Bell smiled and said:

"You wouldn't expect them to say they feared the investigation, would you?"

The Missourian received a telegram from Gomer Smith, Los Angeles, which said Smith was the personal attorney for Townsend.

The telegram explained that Townsend is recovering from influenza and that neither he nor Smith could be in Washington before two weeks.

"Desire To Be Present"
"We both desire to be present at the beginning of this investigation and will appreciate your deferring commencement for two weeks," Smith's wire continued. "We desire to offer your committee every assistance."

At Townsend headquarters here, Robert E. Clements, secretary and co-founder of the plan for a 2 per cent transaction tax to finance the $200 a month grants, issued a statement in which he characterized the investigation as "pure and unadulterated political persecution."

"The political enemy is both jealous and afraid of us," Clements added. "We have the biggest organization in the United States. They couldn't have built it for $10,000,000 by politics but we did it for less than $700,000."

Bell and other opponents of the movement have questioned the receipts of the organization which Clements set at "less than $700,000."

Bell indicated both receipts and expenditures of the group will receive prime attention from the committee.

Debaters To Contest Here

Area Tournament Slated At High School Here Tomorrow

High school debaters from Abilene to Lubbock to El Paso have been invited to participate in the tournament Saturday at the high school.

First debates will be held at 10 a. m. Miss Eloise Haley, director, said. Teams will be paired much as in any other type of tournament and will advance toward the finals as they win. There will be a consolation flight.

Big Spring people have been invited to listen in on the debates and hear the students argue the question of "Resolved: That the federal government should control cotton production."

Reform School Work Explained To Club

Conditions at the state reform school for boys were described to the ABC club Friday by Pascal Buckner, who made an exhaustive study of the correction school as a part of masters degree work.

Sixty-six per cent of the boys who go to the school return later or to prison, he said. A vast majority come from broken homes rather than homes where adverse conditions exist.

Mrs. H. W. Broughton was heard in several accordion numbers. Lonnie Rhoderus was a club guest. For membership and attendance purposes the club was divided into two groups with Pete Sellers and Charles Frost in charge. The losing group will fetter the other to a stag banquet.

State Withdraws Ector Road Fund

AUSTIN, Feb. 21.—The state highway department yesterday cancelled a $43,000 lateral road project in Ector county because the county refused to maintain it.

Three grade separation projects, in Dallas, Fort Worth, and San Angelo, were also cancelled. The San Angelo project was withdrawn because of financial inability of the city to provide right-of-way.

To Start Tests On City Water Reserve

Wells Will Be Pumped At Capacity To Gauge Potential

Comprehensive tests to check the water reserve under section 33, bulwark of Big Spring's water supply, will be started Monday under the direction of Howard Samuelli, in charge of a WPA crew of workers.

Wells on the section will be pumped at capacity for 24 hours to determine the potential production. Then workers will measure the water level each hour to see how rapidly the reserve rises.

Four months hence Samuelli will direct a similar test which may yield valuable information as to whether the local water supply is being depleted.

First tests on wells north of town were made this week on sections 10, 13, and 15, block 32, T-2-N, T-4-R survey.

During this week end Samuel F. Turner, hydraulic engineer of the U. S. geological survey, will come here to inspect the work being done by Samuelli.

Last week J. J. Carl, state supervisor of professional and service projects, and E. A. Baugh, state director of operations, made a tour of the territory southeast of town to check the project. They termed it one of the most important jobs in this section.

Mitchell's Funeral Is Set For Saturday

Amendment To Aid Consumer Is Accepted

Another Provision Limits Spending To Half-Billion Yearly

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—The house today wrote a strong consumer-protection amendment into the new farm bill and pushed toward final passage of the measure tonight.

The amendment would direct the secretary of agriculture to work toward a pre-war "parity" income for the farmer without discouraging production to a point below the 1929 average domestic consumption.

Spending Limit
The consumer provision was along the lines of the Wagner amendment defeated in the senate. Congressmen yesterday had voted the imposition of a $500,000,000 limit to annual spending under terms of the program. The spending limit, previously voted by the senate, was the only major amendment passed after general debate, and consideration of the amendments was started.

In the senate, meanwhile, Capper of Kansas, a supporter of Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the republican presidential nomination, introduced a tariff equalization bill. It was intended, he told the senate, as an addition to rather than a substitute for the soil conservation-subsidy bill already passed by that branch.

Both Capper and Representative Hope (R-Kan.), who is sponsoring a similar proposal, called by some the Landon plan—are backing the administration bill. Their own plan would pay the farmer a subsidy on that portion of his crop consumed domestically, equal to the average cost added by tariff protection to prices the farmer pays.

On the senate side, also, Secretary Wallace renewed his assault on the returning of impounded processing taxes to processors. The return involves around $200,000,000. In a letter to Senator Norris (R-Neb), Wallace asserted that the supreme court's order to hand the taxes back to processors "rather than to consumers or producers is in the nature of an outright gift of public money to a small group that is not entitled to it."

Rev. Day's Sister Claimed By Death
Word was received here of the death, at her home in Fostoria Thursday night, of Mrs. Traylor, eldest sister of Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church here.

Mrs. Traylor became seriously ill last Monday, when she suffered a paralytic stroke. Rev. Day went to Fostoria that day, to be at her bedside.

Funeral services were held Friday. The local pastor was to return here Saturday, and will occupy his pulpit for services Sunday.

Increase In Crude Output Suggested

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—The bureau of mines recommended today an increase of 5,785,000 barrels daily for March, 50,500 barrels higher than for February.

The bureau attributed the increase to a much higher estimate for motor-fuel demand.

The recommended March production in barrels included: Texas, 1,104,000 barrels.

SINGING SESSION SET FOR SUNDAY CANCELLED

Due to adverse weather conditions the forepart of this week and a large amount of illness prevalent, the regular fourth Sunday singing will not be held Sunday afternoon from the Fundamentalist tabernacle as announced.

TAXES TRANSFERRED Money Received By Vincent, Vealmoor Districts

Two Howard county common school districts benefited by tax payments transferred from Borden county Friday.

Vealmoor received $336 to be applied to the state and county fund. Vincent got $17 in a one dollar state apportionment payment on Willow Valley students attending the Vincent school and an additional $150.61 in taxes.

Rejected By Many Play Producers, 'First Legion' Has Been Success; Will Be Presented Here Wednesday

Broadway managers, one by one, turned down "The First Legion" because it was a play of the "uplift" variety. Yet when Emmet Levery, the author, impressed a man with the theme to the extent he banked his all on a handsome production, the play proved an instant success.

Nat Burns, who has played and directed in productions featuring Alice Brady, Janie Cowie, Ina Claire, Donald Brann, and other celebrities, will direct the play in its appearance here.

Tickets for the drama will go on sale Monday at the Chamber of Commerce office and in several downtown business establishments.

One of the most moderately priced plays to appear here, tickets are being offered by the Playgoers League at 25 cents including tax.

Around And About

The Sports Circuit

By Tom Beasley

DEWEY MAYHEW, ordinarily one of the most pessimistic coaches in the state, was at the other extreme last night when your correspondent pumped him for a little info on how the athletic situation at Abilene high school was managing to hold out.

OF COURSE you remember that little streak of lightning Mayhew had harnessed up as part of his football squad last season. His name was Moser. That kid looked like a world's champion track man when he grabbed the pigskin deep in his own territory and set sail for the Big Spring goal line.

MAYHEW ALSO made it known that the Eagle fullback will be a two-hundred-pounder. "Speedy" Moffett spoke up about that time to say he would have a two hundred pound fullback too, but he wouldn't be worth much.

ODELL HERMAN, a high-tempered young man who played left end on the Abilene football team last year and who holds down a guard position on the Abilene cage squad, will be shifted to the Eagle backfield next fall.

"WELL, THEN," we broke in, "it looks like Abilene has the title sewed up in a moth proof bag."

WE DISCOVERED last night that Mayhew hasn't been living right. We had suspected that for some time, but last night we got definite proof. The school officials flipped a coin to determine the site for the third game of the basketball series—if a third game is necessary.

THE FORSAN high school gymnasium—a fine one for a town the size of Foran—was packed for the game with Abilene. Those oil field workers give the Buffs real support.

MOST OF the so-called basketball experts agreed last night that Abilene will probably win the game tonight, but that Foran will win the deciding contest Saturday.

WE STILL can't understand how the Foran boys managed to score eight points in forty seconds.... but they did.

High Jumping Mark Looms

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (UP)—A six foot, ten inch leap—the dream of all high jumpers—may become a reality this Saturday night.

For years, the world's best jumpers have been trying to hit that height and the 48th annual A. A. U. indoor games at Madison Square Garden finally may see it reached.

The field, according to Dan Ferris, A. A. U. secretary, is strong enough to force one of the entrants to go over the cross bar higher than man ever has jumped before in order to win the event.

The entry list includes all but one of America's best jumpers—Walter Marty of California, who holds the indoor and outdoor records.

Favorites to win is Cornelius Johnson, the "Black Grasshopper" from Compton Junior college, Los Angeles. Other entrants will be Faye Burke of Marquette; Al Threadgill, Temple university; Harold Osborn of Illinois; and George Spitz, New York, both former world record holders.

"With a field like that, it's a good bet that we'll see a new record," Ferris pointed out.

"Saturday's meet, with 350 entrants, is the greatest ever staged by the A. A. U. It will certainly give us a line on what American will have for the Olympic games."

Gridmen To Be Dressed As The Old-Time Cowboys

FORT WORTH, Feb. 21.—Cowboys mounted football with the struggle and technique of the conventional pigskin game and the speed of polo, will be introduced for the first time at the world's champion rodeo and horse show in Fort Worth, March 13-22, John E. Davis, secretary-manager of the show, announced today.

This game, created especially for the Fort Worth rodeo, will be played in strict accordance with the rules of football insofar as the use of horses will allow.

Both cowboys and the members of the now famous T. C. U. Horned Frogs are interested in the development of the new game which is expected to be the most spectacular of all rodeo contests.

Rodeo contestants who have already begun to arrive are now practicing for their debut as mounted football players and are busy selecting suitable horses to ride in this new game.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Duff of Fort Worth announce the arrival of a son. Mrs. Duff is the former Miss Pauline Melton, daughter of Mrs. C. S. Holmes of Big Spring.

At no stage of the game did either team have more than three or four points advantage. Leading by only one point, and with forty seconds left to play, the Foran boys went on a wild scoring spurge to chalk up eight points for a nine-point margin at the final whistle.

Abilene took the lead at the start of the game and maintained a slight advantage until midway of the second period when Forsan took the lead.

Hill, Abilene guard, rimmed the basket time and again but failed to score a single point. Chambers, Forsan pivot man, was high scorer with thirteen points.

DALLAS, Feb. 21. (UP)—J. C. (Iron Man) Wetzel, recently named assistant football coach at Vanderbilt university, and former all-conference guard on the Southern Methodist university football team, was recovering today from a knee operation.

Wetzel underwent an operation last week. He had been forced from the game New Year's day in the Pasadena Rose Bowl by a recurrence of an old injury. The operation was performed to remove a blood clot and adjust a ligament.

Wetzel was released from the hospital Sunday afternoon and was expected to be walking by the middle of next week.

MOVE TO PUSH UNION LABEL IN CANADA BEGINS

MONTREAL (UP)—An attempt to revive the Union Label league throughout Canada has recently been launched here.

The American Federation of Labor voted strong approval of the union label at the annual convention last fall, and through a movement then started, and which has now gained considerable momentum in Canada, it is hoped to have all manufacturers place a union stamp on their products.

The Montreal Trades and Labor council has inserted a clause in its legislative program pledging themselves to have the union label placed on all government and municipal supplies when practicable.

Meanwhile, heads of unions here are planning to launch an elaborate campaign embracing the whole country.

'Tick On' New Race Entry

Fifteen Horses Definite Starters In Rich Handicap

By RONALD WAGONER United Press Staff Correspondent ARCADIA, Cal., Feb. 21. (UP)—Fifteen horses were believed today to be definite starters in the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap Saturday, world's richest horse race purse.

One horse, C. P. Palmer's English-bred Flammeno, was declared out by Trainer Milt Brady but his withdrawal did not reduce the field as Polo Player Neil McCarthy said.

Trainer Brady said he was forced to withdraw Flammeno after the English stakes winner failed to show any speed in a trial Tuesday. The horse apparently could not become accustomed to the sandy American tracks after years of running on hard-packed English racing strips.

Signs Brammer McCarthy leading jockey signed Dan Brammer, yesterday loomed of the current Santa Anita meeting, to ride Tick On in the big race.

Brammer was signed after booting in three winners and two seconds on yesterday's program. He rode Tick On last Tuesday when the eight-year-old scored a 10-length victory over a field that included Howard, Flammeno and First Minister.

Tick On is the sire of a two-year-old running in Florida and a new crop of foals expected soon. He was brought out from stud last November but did not reach his best racing form until a few weeks ago. McCarthy was prompted to pay the $1,000 fee required for starters by Tick On's love of mud.

Good Mudder Another horse that appears a definite starter as a result of the mud expected Saturday is Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Singing Wood. He will be loaded with but 100 pounds in the race.

Yesterday he worked a mile and an eighth in 1:54, covering the mile in 1:40 and the three-quarters in 1:13-2-5.

Previously Singing Wood had been considered only a sprinter, but his performance yesterday labeled him as a threat on a muddy track. He is considered even superior to Discovery as a mudder.

He did, Mrs. Susan E. Mason's three-year-old, yesterday breezed a mile and an eighth in 1:56-3-5. The winner of the $25,000 added Santa Anita derby last Saturday will be the only three-year-old in the race and as a result will be saddled with only 100 pounds.

The field now stands as Discovery, Top Row, Time Supply, Singing Wood, Rosemont, Whopper, Azucar, Thursday, Rialto, Ariel Cross, Scotch Bun, Tick On, He Did, Pre-Eminent and Pompey's Pillar.

Second Round Of Play Starts In St. Petersburg Open

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—A slim one-stroke edge, gained with a record breaking 68, separated methodical Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., from the field as the second round of play started today in the $2,500 St. Petersburg Open golf tournament.

Playing near-flawlessly, Runyan clipped three strokes from par in setting the competitive mark for the Lakewood Country club links.

Farm Stock Value Higher

Decrease Shown In Numbers Of All Animal Classes Except Hogs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Decreases in the numbers of horses, mules, cattle and sheep and an increase in the number of hogs on farms on Jan. 1, 1936, compared with the revised estimates for Jan. 1, 1935, are shown by the annual inventory estimates of livestock on farms made by the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture.

The number of horses decreased 2 per cent, mules 3 per cent, sheep 1 per cent, and cattle 1-2 of 1 per cent. The number of hogs increased 9 per cent.

The number of milk cows, which are included in the total for all cattle, decreased 2 per cent. When the numbers of all species are converted to animal units, which allow for differences in size and feed requirements of the several species, the change from last year was a decrease of one-tenth of 1 per cent.

The total value of all livestock on farms Jan. 1, 1936, was $4,885,302, 60¢. This was an increase of $1,885,217,000, or about 50 per cent over the value on Jan. 1, 1935, and was the highest since Jan. 1, 1930. The value per head of each species was materially higher on Jan. 1 this year than last and was the highest for all species since Jan. 1, 1922.

These inventory values of livestock on farms as of Jan. 1, 1936, should not be confused with the revised estimates of livestock on farms made by the department of agriculture in February, 1935, show little changes in horses or mules, increases of about 5 per cent in hogs and sheep, and a 13 per cent increase in cattle. For all species, except cattle, these changes involve little change in the estimates of numbers on hand or of the amount and value of production during the years prior to 1935. In the case of cattle, the increase in numbers from Jan. 1, 1930, to Jan. 1, 1934, was considerably larger than had been previously estimated, and a decrease from Jan. 1, 1934, to Jan. 1, 1935, was much smaller than estimated a year ago. The revised estimates show cattle numbers on Jan. 1, 1934, to have been the largest on record.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Following up the sale of Sam Leslie to the New York Giants for a reported price of $20,000, the Brooklyn Dodgers today took another step in their reconstruction program by acquiring Johnny (Buddy) Hassett, a sensational young first baseman, from the Newark International.

To obtain Hassett, less than three years out of Manhattan college and a "farm" product of the New York Yankees, Brooklyn turned over two players and a "substantial sum in cash" to Newark, according to an announcement by John Gorman, Dodger business manager.

Tucker said the state conference will be modeled on the national conference held in Washington early in February. Problems of conservation and wildlife restoration will be discussed.

The program has not been completed. Speakers invited include: J. N. Darling, president of the general wildlife federation, Carl D. Shoemaker, secretary of the senate wildlife committee; Frank Bell, federal fisheries commissioner; Juan Minner, chief game administrator for Mexico; and Rowell P. Rosenburg, vice president of the junior chamber of commerce of the United States.

MOVE TO PUSH UNION LABEL IN CANADA BEGINS MONTREAL (UP)—An attempt to revive the Union Label league throughout Canada has recently been launched here. The American Federation of Labor voted strong approval of the union label at the annual convention last fall, and through a movement then started, and which has now gained considerable momentum in Canada, it is hoped to have all manufacturers place a union stamp on their products.

Controversy Arising Over Money Plans

Financing Of Farm Program Becoming Major Political Issue

By BYRON PRICE

(Chief of AP Bureau, Washington)

The circuitous manner in which it is proposed to finance the new farm program raises a point about which there already are signs of growing political controversy.

Under the old AAA legislation, the farm benefits and the taxes to pay them were written into single statute and so linked together as to show clearly that the purpose was to tax processors and give the money to farmers. Invalidating that law, the supreme court observed that "the word (taxation) has never been thought to connote the expropriation of money from one group for the benefit of another."

With that decision obviously in mind, congressional leaders now propose to scatter the new program through no less than three different statutes—one providing for the benefits, one authorizing an appropriation to pay them, and a third proposing certain taxes without specifying for what these taxes are to be used.

Some of the republicans call this an effort "to get around the constitution," and the administration men reply that it is an effort "to keep the legislation clearly within the constitution."

Touches Social Security Near does the dispute apply to farm legislation alone. A railway pension suit already pending in the courts touches directly on this subject of divorcing tax and benefit legislation, and several quarters have pointed out that such a question may be involved also in the largest "new deal" money measure of them all—the social security act.

The original railway pension act provided both for railway pensions and for taxes to finance them. After the supreme court threw out that legislation, congress passed two separate bills, one providing for the benefits, the other for the taxes.

Defending the constitutionality of this new arrangement recently in a District of Columbia court, the commissioner internal revenue, Mr. Helvering, declared the taxes provided for were just like any other taxes, not set aside for any special group, but going directly into the general fund of the treasury. The tax, he said, "bears no relation to the amounts authorized to be appropriated and disbursed under the retirement act."

This is a statement which takes on special interest when it is realized that although the giant social security law covers both benefits and taxes in a single act, it is not stated anywhere in the act that these are to be segregated to pay these particular benefits.

"The old-age benefit section of the security act alone contemplates that eventually a reserve of $47,000,000—bigger by half than the present national debt—will be built up in the treasury from unsegregated taxes paid by employer and employee.

There is no substitute for natural "bulk"

Needed to Correct Constipation

Most people recognize the seriousness of constipation. But too often they dose themselves with strong cathartics that often actually lead to chronic constipation.

A natural way to check common constipation is to correct the condition which causes it—usually, insufficient "bulk" in meals.

How can you get "bulk"? Fruits and vegetables have gone. Bran has more. The most popular product of this kind is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

This delicious cereal is a wholesome food. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will usually correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk." If not relieved, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN gives you gentle internal exercise. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

If the government takes the position that this fund "bears no relation" to benefits due under the security act, that it is just like any other money and can be used to pay any government obligation, how safe are the old-age reserves?

Emmanuel Levi, president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association, recently pictured what might happen when, in the future, a bill is proposed to meet the current expense of the old-age security plan.

"You know from experience," said Levi, "what the temper, the attitude and the make-up of an average congress is. The bill is up for discussion and a congressman calls attention to the fact that there is already in this fund several billions of dollars and that for several years the income has far exceeded the outgo. He calls attention to the many other good purposes to which this idle fund could be placed, reciting a few of his own pets as well as those of many others. You guess the outcome."

Certainly the political involvements of this manner of legislation, as well as its economic and constitutional aspects, hint at highly interesting possibilities.

IS WILLING TO PAY FOR RIGHT TO SERVE AS A CONGRESSMAN

LAWRENCE, Kas., Feb. 21. (UP)—William B. Felts, 70, pensioned Spanish-American war veteran, believes that all aspirants to public office should be willing to pay to serve.

And he backs his belief with a promise to pay $250,000 to serve as representative from the second Kansas district. U. S. Guyer, republican, Kansas City, Kas., now represents the district.

Felts recently sent his declaration as an independent candidate with the $250,000 check to Frank J. Ryan, secretary of state. Ryan returned the declaration with the statement that an independent cannot run unless he presents a petition from the voters of his district. Felts replied he could get a better class of servants. Instead, out general run consists of persons who cannot earn their own living.

Publishes Own Poetry Felts writes and publishes his own poetry although he has made no money from such ventures. His most prolific piece is entitled, "Get-tyburg Monumentum." It is 200 pages long.

The money to back up his belief that office holders should pay to serve was provided by his brother, Col. James G. Felts, wealthy auctioneer of Winona, Kas.

"If office holders in key positions were made to pay for the honor," Felts said, "this country would get a better class of servants. Instead, out general run consists of persons who cannot earn their own living."

Mrs. Franklin D. Holmes of Slaton is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cushing.

U. S. BUSINESS DATA GATHERED

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Clerks at the Philadelphia office of the Census bureau have begun the tedious job of preparing reports gathered by 24,000 census takers, canvassing more than 3,500,000 business establishments throughout the country, for a statistical review of American business conditions.

The work of preparing the review, the bureau said, "has been systematized until it clicks as smoothly as the finest watch" through experience gained from two former business censuses—the 1929 census of distribution and the 1925 census of American business.

The schedules are sent from the canvassers to the district supervisors and, after a careful check for completeness of canvass, from each of the 400 district supervisors to headquarters at Philadelphia, where more than 3,000 clerks are employed.

The reports first are sorted into 15 branches of business and then into nearly a thousand kind-of-business classifications.

With the preliminary sorting completed, the schedules are carefully edited by trained workers in each classification, who correct misplaced entries and inconsistencies.

Speedy State Action Needed On Farm Plan

Federal Grants Would Be Furnished Only Until 1938

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (UP)—Proponents of farm legislation to take the place of the invalidated AAA are worried more than they care to admit publicly over how quickly the various state legislatures will come forward with their approval of the act once it becomes law.

One of the pillars of the bill is that the various states must agree to co-operate with the federal government in the working out of the new program. The supreme court expressly declared in its AAA decision that agriculture was a local rather than a national question, and must be dealt with.

Under the bill now being considered, the federal government can furnish direct grants for relief to farmers only until 1938. Thereafter only those states which, through their legislatures, have agreed to come in on the program may receive federal funds.

Speed Necessary
 Although the constitutionality of the entire program has been questioned by both proponents and opponents of the bill, administration leaders in congress concluded they would push for its enactment, in the hope that a supreme court test could be avoided until the states had voted their approval.

If the states acted with reasonable speed, they figured the principal hurdle could be cleared before opponents would have time to frame a case to test the plan.

"Technically, such reasoning is fine," one farm leader in the senate says, "but in practice it has not always worked out so well.

"Any one familiar with the sluggishness and slowness of state legislative machinery knows the difficulty of getting appropriate legislation of this nature in proper shape speedily.

"It might take until 1938, at the outside."

Satisfactory On Paper

On paper, however, the situation figures out very nicely.

There's only one state legislature (Alabama) that will not meet until 1938 in regular session. Of those states which have biennial sessions, three (Kentucky, Mississippi, and Virginia) are meeting this year. This means these three states will have no regular sessions of their legislatures again until 1938.

However, in the case of both Kentucky and Virginia, the sessions of the legislatures began in January and will continue by law for 60 days. In the case of Mississippi, there is no time limit on the session. Conceivably, these states might have sufficient time this year to approve the farm plan.

In the case of Alabama, probably the only way would be for the governor to call an extra session.

The remaining 43 state legislatures meet in regular sessions in January of 1937.

Mathematically computed, it would seem direct federal grants, without an expression from the states, would be necessary only for the year's crops.

NAMES in the NEWS

One of the first things a cub reporter learns is that names make news. There are two kinds of names which make news. Names of people. And names of things—products and services—things which touch you more closely than the thunderings of a Senator or the escapades of a Prince.

Look through the advertisements in this newspaper and you'll see names you've known most of your life. Dependable names—names that stand for value—announcing improvements in quality, improvements in service, new and better ways to perform old household tasks, ways to save money and raise your standard of living.

Follow the news those names are making, day after day. Read the advertisements regularly, and use them as millions of other people are doing—to keep up-to-date in the world of goods and services; to save time, effort and trouble in shopping; to help budget your expenditures and get the most for your money.

Treats From Left-Over Meats

By MARTHA LOGAN
The pigeon-holing in the ice box of left-overs is a variation of the universal habit of hoarding. However, some women actually plan for left-overs by cooking enough food for two meals at a time. They do not waste food, and their monthly fuel bill is reduced. It requires very little more, if any, time to cook enough food at one time for two meals than for one. They save both time and money.

Left-overs taste good when intelligently combined and if they look good too, nothing more need be asked. Left-over vegetables and meats, of course, should be placed in covered bowls or containers for they keep better that way.

Meat Souffle
2 tablespoons butter,
2 to 3 tablespoons flour,
1-2 cup milk, scalded,
1-2 teaspoon salt,
Few grains of cayenne,
3 eggs.
Make sauce of first five ingredients. Add meat and remove from fire. Add yolks of eggs beaten until lemon colored. Cool mixture. Cut and fold in whites of eggs beaten dry. Pour into the top of a greased double boiler and cook over boiling water until inserted knife comes out clean.

Macaroni Dacout
2 cups chopped meat,
1-4 package macaroni,
4 tablespoons grated cheese.

Salt, pepper and red pepper,
2 tablespoons cornstarch,
1 cup milk,
1 tablespoon butter,
1 tablespoon chopped parsley.
Drop the macaroni into boiling water and cook until tender; drain and keep warm. Season well with butter, salt and pepper.

Mix the cornstarch with a little cold milk until smooth; heat the remaining milk, stir in the cornstarch, seasonings, chopped parsley, cheese, chopped meat, and allow to cook for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Pile the macaroni into a buttered casserole and add the meat mixture.

Place in the oven to brown and to heat thoroughly.

Egg Foo Young
1 can bean sprouts, drained,
1-2 cup shredded onion,
1 cup finely cut left-over cold meat,
6 eggs.
Mix bean sprouts, onion and meat. Beat eggs slightly and add to meat mixture. Pour into a frying pan containing about one-half inch of hot lard. Brown on both sides, serve immediately on hot platter with thin gravy.

Ham and Corn Fritters
1 cup thick canned or fresh cooked corn,
1-2 cup ground boiled ham,
1 tablespoon minced onion,
2-3 cup flour,
1-2 teaspoons baking powder.

Mix corn, ham and onion. Sift flour and baking powder together and add to corn mixture. When all is well blended, drop by teaspoons into deep hot lard at 375 degrees F. Drain well on soft paper. Serve with well seasoned cream sauce or tomato sauce. Corned beef may be used in place of the ham.

Copper, Gray Combination Used In New Spanish Suit

Copper and gray is a stunning new spring color combination. This smart interpretation of a Spanish suit contrasts an unusual copper and white print against gray wool. The bolero jacket, trimly edged with pleats which also are being emphasized this spring, features the new broad shoulders. Snugly girdling the waist is a broad sash and the bodice has a tucked bosom. A Spanish hat of copper felt, copper kidskin shoes with square toes, and copper gloves are the smart new accessories. The ensemble will give an excellent account of itself in the spring wardrobe.

Piping Hot Food For Frosty Days
DENTON—Cold frosty days call for piping hot food and for those dishes that are heavy enough to satisfy our increased appetites. At this time perhaps we have a craving for sour lentil or spareribs with sauer kraut. And by the way, did you know that a sprinkling of caraway seeds on sauer kraut gives it just the perfect finish? These little aromatic, pungent seeds come from a plant of the celery family. A good winter time supper dish for Sunday nights is German pancakes served with hot blueberry sauce.

Dillard Estes, Fort Worth attorney and brother of the publisher, left for his home.

To Give Lectures On Diesel Engines

Information on the Diesel engine, rapid development of which is currently one of the most outstanding phases of American industry, will be given in lectures here by Harrison E. Moore, staff lecturer for the Diesel Institute who is making a stay in Big Spring.

Moore is to deliver a free lecture at the Settles hotel at 8 o'clock this evening, and another at 2 p. m. Sunday. He works in cooperation with manufacturers and his talks cover the development, upkeep, cost of operation of the Diesel engine and its possibilities in providing a vocation for the mechanically minded man.

Moore is touring the country in a special car which advertises the Diesel Institute.

Pointing out the remarkable efficiency of the Diesel engine, Moore asserts that automotive transportation is a new field for Diesel. Railroads are turning to use of Diesel power in the new streamlined trains.

Humor And Human Interest Feature Book Review Given By Shine Philips
Story Of Life In An Insane Asylum Outlined In Hour's Talk By Local Pharmacist Before Large Group Of Listeners
The book review held Thursday afternoon at the Settles hotel under the direction of the 1930 Hyperion club maintained the club's past reputation for providing an entertaining and informative social function.
Shine Philips was the reviewer. He outlined William Seabrook's "Asylum," an account of life in one of the United States' most up to date insane institutions, and one of the season's best sellers.
Philips began his interview by reminding his audience that he had never attended a book review in his life. He introduced the author and the outstanding characters in the book. He then gave various phases of life lived in this particular institution. He held his audience spell-bound, not only with his choice of facts but also with flashes of humor and unusual colloquialisms.
An original poem concluded the hour's review.
The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Ira Thurman, president of the club.

New Bluebonnet Blue
Shade Of Texas State Flower Now Recreated In Dyes For Centennial Silks
"Bluebonnet Blue," reflecting the clear violet tint of the state flower of Texas, has been created by Margaret Hayden Rorke, managing director of the Textile Color Card association, in honor of the Texas Centennial celebration. This shade, rich in historical background, is observing the one-hundredth year of her attainment of independence from Mexican rule with a program of celebrations, culminating in the Centennial exposition at Dallas in June.
The official Bluebonnet color has been created by Mrs. Rorke at the invitation of the Texas Centennial commission of control, of which Lieutenant-Governor Walter F. Wood is chairman. It is described as a violet-tinted pastel blue with depth and brightness. "Bluebonnet Blue" is slated to receive wide promotion in summer fashions, because it reflects one of the smartest trends in the important blue range and is as well a becoming tone, easy to wear. It is equally attractive for sports and evening clothes and also provides a flattering accent to navy or black town costumes in blouses, scarfs, gloves and other accessories.
The bluebonnet, a member of the lupinus family, grows wild in Texas and in the spring, the fields of the state are blanketed with these fragrant blue flowers. In some spots, these blooms share space with clusters of prickly pear cactus. It is related that, as the pioneer settlers in the Southwest trekked across the plains of Texas in their ox-carts during the latter part of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries, they saw in the springtime acre upon acre of blue flowers, whose petals were shaped like tiny bonnets. The flower was named the "bluebonnet" after the headgear of the intrepid pioneer women.
The bluebonnet is said to have been brought to Texas from its original home on the hills of Jerusalem by the brown-robed Spanish padres, who planted it in the mission gardens early in the eighteenth century. From within the mission walls, the violet blue flower spread over the hillsides of Texas, where each year it turns the landscape into a brilliant blue carpet.
As is the case with other popular flowers, many legends have been woven around the origin of the bluebonnet. Several of these colorful stories are charmingly related in "The Legend of the Bluebonnet," by Joan Goodnight Joyce. Each of these legends embodies the spirit of sacrifice, due no doubt to the tiny crimson spot which appears within the patch of white on the upper petal as the blossoms grow older.
The Aztec version of the legend

A. B. Winslow Wed To Miss Marie Buzbee

tells of the maiden who, in order to appease the wrath of the gods, offered her sinless self as a living sacrifice upon a hillside altar. As she ascended the hill, her little blue bonnet dropped unnoticed from her head, and on the morning after her death, the ground about that altar was covered with blossoms the identical shape and color of her head-dress, each splashed with a minute drop of her blood.
The Texas Centennial committee will give "Bluebonnet Blue" wide publicity throughout the country in the press and over the air and this animated flower tone will also be featured in fashion shows, store displays and at various social events.

They pulled the streamers and thereby found their favors, cowboy dolls for the boys and cowgirl dolls for the girls. The box was removed and a pink and white birthday cake was put in its place.
Ice cream in these colors and punch were served with slices of the cake. The host then opened his packages and admired his gifts brought him by the party guests.

PROTECT THE CENTENNIAL AND OURSELVES

Some members of the Texas press have wisely pointed out that racketeers, taking advantage of the growing enthusiasm of the people of the state for the Centennial observances, are making their appearance with all manner of schemes involving subscriptions, contributions and sales of every conceivable commodity.

Their work is particularly confusing due to the fact that among them will be bonafide agents of the Centennial who represent worthwhile plans for promoting the state and its communities.

Texas cities should be prepared to put a brake on the unauthorized practices. In each town and city some agency, such as the chamber of commerce or the credit association, should be authorized to examine all proposals for advertising or sales or other schemes, and report on their merit, if any. The individual merchant or other business and professional man has little time to investigate all the offers that are made, but he can protect himself by refusing to consider any which has not been approved previously by an agency in which he has confidence.

The chamber of commerce or credit bureau, or both of them would no doubt be glad to serve as a sort of "better business bureau" if the business interests of their community would be willing to accept an investigation of the various proposals which are coming into the cities. Many dollars thus could be saved which otherwise might be thrown away on worthless projects.

In addition to the loss of money, the prestige of the great Centennial celebrations would suffer, and victims would instinctively be shy of future events that called for promotional effort.

There are many exploitation programs, sales efforts and advertising movements that legitimately can and should be tied in with the Centennial celebrations if a community or a particular section cares to spend additional money and effort. These deserve an audience; but so adroit will be some of those presenting side promotions that it will be no easy task to mark the legitimate proposals. Texas communities should take definite steps to see that the Centennial is not made the excuse for "rackets."

★ Man About Manhattan ★

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—A night of reminiscence!

Several of us—a doctor, a novelist, a playwright, a war correspondent—were lounging in the bar of an ocean liner discussing the amazing vitality of William Gillette, who, at 80, has emerged from retirement to star in a revival of "Three Wise Fools."

"Isn't that dangerous?" I asked the doctor, "I mean I don't see what's holding him up?" "How can you stop him, or any of them?" interrupted the playwright. "When those old timers get ready to come back, only a straight-jacket could keep them off Broadway."

We concluded, after recalling most of the famous comeback attempts, that the best one was staged by Wagenhals and Kemper, who bobbed up one day with a play that they thought was pretty good. It was different, they said, a thriller, a shocker, in fact—"The Bat." All they got out of "The Bat" was $2,000,000, after which they slipped back into their cocoons, far too wise to force their luck with another attempt.

Maude Adams is one actress who perennially chafes under the restraint of inactivity. The aging star is annually rumored on the comeback trail, and, several seasons ago, she did appear briefly, out of town, in a new play. Last fall the usual report was about, but so far the right play hasn't been found.

There is, however, at least one member of the old guard who plans no invasion of the big street. This is David Warfield, independently wealthy, who told me two years ago that he was through with the theater forever. Besides earlier investments, Warfield and the late David Belasco made a fortune on two plays, "The Music Master" and "The Return of Peter Grimm." But, where Warfield saved his share, Belasco spent his like water. The object of money was to obtain the things you wanted, and what good was it if you couldn't spend it?

Yet, despite his readiness to write checks, Belasco left more than $500,000. They say Ben Roder, Belasco's friend and manager, was really responsible for his leaving so large an estate. Without his shrewd counsel, the showman would probably have "died on the cuff"—that is, someone else would have had to pay his funeral expenses. Roder, himself, who made far less money than Belasco, left a huge estate.

Al Hayman was another who made comparatively little but left more than the man he managed. He handled the affairs of the late Charles Frohman known by everybody as "C. F." Frohman left only a tithe of the money he earned. Like Belasco, he was an easy spender, for, according to his philosophy, that was what money was for.

Marie Dressler, now chiefly remembered as a Hollywood star, but who really won and lost everything on Broadway, had to wait until her last few years to come into the prominence she deserved. When she died, she held one of the most unusual contracts ever written—$2,000 weekly "for life."

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The secret service is taking extra precautions for the visit of the president to the Fly club at Harvard tomorrow.

Not many people know it, but last year when the president attended the Fly Club dinner, he was "bombed."

The "bombing" took place when the president's car drew up in Holyoke Place, a blind street which ends at the main gate to Lovell House, and on which the Fly club is located.

A student in a top-floor room of Lowell House dropped several top torpedoes into the street. They landed about 100 feet from the president's car, making a loud popping noise.

Secret service men on the running board of the car drew their revolvers, and police rushed into Lovell house. The student was found, collared, lectured and released.

Mitchell Inspected
All this happened even though 500 Boston police and 110 Cambridge police—the heaviest guard that has ever been posted for a president in New England—were on duty.

Police were stationed every 40 feet along the route of the car from the railroad yards to Cambridge. Plainclothes men were in the windows of all buildings overlooking Holyoke Place, while two local police guarded a vacant building—one inside and one out—for two days before the president arrived.

This year, the vacant buildings have been torn down and offer no problem to the secret service. However, about 20 secret service men arrived in Cambridge a week in advance to "sniff" around the premises and make all arrangements with Charles R. Apter, chief of the Harvard Yard police.

They are also going through the rigamarole of inspecting the kitchen where the president's food is to be cooked—a procedure carried out for Coolidge. Police and security records of the cooks also are being investigated.

The Fly Club
The Fly club, of which the president and his sons are members, was founded in 1836 under the name Alpha Delta Phi. No one knows where it picked up the name "Fly."

Last year, while the president was in the club, the members of the rival Phoenix club, also initiating that night, came around and sang risqué songs under the windows of the Fly club, as is customary, without regard for the 1,000 or more people congregated there to watch the president's departure.

Secret service men are a little stumped as to how, or if, they should try to prevent a repetition of this unwanted serenade.

New Cherry Trees
George Washington will soon have a new crop of cherry trees at his shrine in Frederickburg, Va. In this case, however, they will be "Bred in Japan."

A delegation from the Fredericksburg chamber of commerce recently visited Japanese Ambassador Saito to ask his aid in securing Japan's famous pink-blossomed cherry trees to beautify the George Washington shrine at Frederickburg.

Ambassador Saito promised to get 200 trees.

"But," he added, as if just remembering something, "your government forbids the importation of plants from the Orient. There is a quarantine, I believe."

"Nevertheless," continued the ambassador, apparently enjoying the look of disappointment on the faces of the delegates, "I think I know how to avoid that. We have several nurseries in this country. I will request that they supply the trees for you."

NRA Aftermath
Probably the most important question arising out of the termination of the NRA is whether its demise has brought an increase in sweated labor.

To answer this question, the president appointed a committee of experts. It was to study the pay scales and working hours, and what changes had taken place in them since the end of the blue eagle.

A few weeks ago the committee brought in its report. It showed a general lengthening of hours, slanting of pay, and a very considerable increase in child labor.

The report was sent to the White House, where it fell into the hands of Marvin McIntyre. That was the nearest it got to the president. McIntyre sent it to his good friend "Uncle Dan" Roper. He took one look, then ducked.

Several days went by and Major George Berry, coordinator for industrial recovery, got wind of the report. He made inquiries at the labor department, expecting that it would be sent there as the agency directly concerned with such matters.

The labor department informed Berry it had not received the report, that McIntyre had taken it upon himself to send it to Roper.

So Berry went direct to the president, and asked to be allowed to see the document. The president assured him he could do so, that he would give instructions to this effect.

A week went by and nothing was heard from Roper. Then a newsman, tipped off about the report, asked Roper about it.

"Oh," he replied slyly, "it is unimportant."

Administrationites interested in seeing that the report is made public, felt otherwise. They went to Representative Connery of the house labor committee, and told him the story.

"That is just the material I need to help me put over my 30-hour bill," he said. "I'll get it."

Whether he does remains to be seen. He has written Roper a letter requesting the report. If Roper refuses to come down, Connery plans to offer a resolution in the house putting the secretary of commerce on the spot.

Peace Plans Move Ahead

Bill Banning Shipment of War Materials Is Before FDR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (UP)—The president's program of peace and neutrality moved forward today under impetus of three developments.

Before Mr. Roosevelt was a bill passed by congress extending the embargo on shipment of war materials to combatant nations until May 1, 1937.

The administration's control over war exports was weaker than it wanted, but Sen. Gerald P. Nye, (R-ND), said the fight for stronger neutrality legislation was not ended.

Meanwhile, Latin-American diplomats were assuring the state department their governments would support the president's move for a Pan-American peace conference, probably at Buenos Aires.

Indirectly connected with military strength at home and the keeping of war supplies from foreign nations was an executive order. It provided for government control of tin plate scrap exports. Licenses to export tin plate scrap must be obtained from the national munitions board.

Immediate practical effect of the neutrality bill will be to enable the administration to continue withholding supplies of arms and munitions and loans from Italy and Ethiopia. Only actual munitions of war—not cotton and other secondary fighting sinews—are affected by the bill.

Texas Due To Receive More AAA Money

More Than 17 Million To Be Paid Growers On Old Contracts

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 21 (UP)—With the passing of a recent appropriation bill signed by the president, Texas farmers are due to receive approximately $17,500,000 to fulfill all old government obligations, according to E. N. Holmgreen, administrative assistant of the AAA at College Station.

"Some payments should begin to arrive within the next 30 days," Holmgreen announced.

"Obligations of the U. S. government to Texas farmers consist of second payments on the corn-hog contracts, the completion of rental and parity checks on cotton and the cotton adjustment payments."

Holmgreen went on to say that nearly all counties in the state have some second cotton rental and parity payments due and also that all counties have some cotton adjustment payments coming.

With the opening of action again and an appropriation of $296,185,000, skeleton forces were put to work Feb. 13 and 14 at College Station to push with all speed the paying up of government obligations to the farmers.

Information flashed to the field and county agents by E. N. Holmgreen consisted of the statements: "All contracts and obligations made and completed with prior to Jan. 6, will be paid."

"We are to proceed in liquidating all 1934 and 1935 cotton, corn, hog, and other contracts which were suspended or returned for correction."

Chester C. Davis, administrator of the agricultural adjustment act in Washington, D. C., recently released this statement:

"We will try to prevent delay in fulfilling obligations and in reimbursing those producers who carried out their agreements with the AAA in good faith."

White Sox Leave For West Coast Training Site

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (UP)—First contingent of the 1936 Chicago White Sox left last night for Pasadena, Calif., to start the training they hope will take care of the slump which halted their march to the pennant last season.

Manager Jimmy Dykes now is in Pasadena. Those who left from Chicago included Pitchers Hunsdel (Red) Evans, Babe Phelps, Ira Hutchinson and Tom Stevens, Catchers Frank Grube and George Callamer and Infielders Tony Piet and Charles Uhas.

They were joined in Kansas City by Muddy Ruel, coach and catcher, and Pitchers Lee Tietje and Vernon Kennedy.

Meanwhile the business office here arranged conferences with five players seeking more money. They include Catcher Luke Sewell, Shortstop Luke Appling, Infielder Minter (Jackie) Hayes, First Baseman Zeke Bonura and Outfielder Mule Haas.

Bicycles which can be taken apart and new parts substituted in a few minutes with the aid of a monkey wrench are being marketed by a British company.

Chapter 11
BASSINGTON-FRENCH
 "Whatever the matter, Mr. Jones? Are you taken bad?" the nurse demanded.
 "Ring up the Castle," cried Bobby. "Tell Lady Frances she must come back, here at once."
 "Oh, Mr. Jones—you can't send a message like that."
 "Can't I?" said Bobby. "If I were allowed to get up from this blasted bed, you'd soon see whether I could or couldn't. As it is, you've got to do it for me."
 "But she'll hardly be back."
 "You don't know that Bentley."
 "She won't have had her tea."
 "Now look here, my dear girl," said Bobby, "don't stand there arguing with me. Ring up as I tell you. Tell her she's got to come here at once because I've got something very important to say to her."
 Overborne, though unwilling, the nurse went. She took some liberties with Bobby's message. If it was no inconvenience to Lady Frances, Mr. Jones wondered she would mind coming, as he had something he would like to say to her. But of course Lady Frances was not to put herself out in any way.
 Lady Frances replied curtly that she would come at once.
 "Depend upon it," said the nurse to her colleagues, "she's sweet on him! That's what it is."
 Frankie arrived all agog. "What's this desperate summons?" she demanded.
 Bobby was sitting up in bed, a bright red spot in each cheek. In his hand he waved the copy of the "March-Boat Weekly Times."
 "Look at this, Frankie."
 Frankie looked. "Well!" she demanded.
 "This is the picture you meant when you said was touched up but quite like the Cayman's own man?" Bobby's finger pointed to a somewhat blurred reproduction of a photograph. Underneath it were the words:
 "Portrait found on the dead man by which he was identified: Mrs. Amelia Cayman, the dead man's sister."
 "That's what I said—and it's true, too. I can't see anything to rave over in it."
 "No more can I."
 "But you said—"
 "I know I said. But you see, Frankie—Bobby's voice became very impressive—"this isn't the photograph that I put back in the dead man's pocket."
 They looked at each other.
 "Then in that case—" began Frankie slowly.
 "Either there must have been two photographs—" which isn't likely—"or else—"
 They paused.
 "That man—what's his name?" said Frankie.
 "Bassington-French!" said Bobby.
 They stared at each other as they tried to adjust themselves to the altered situation.
 "It couldn't be anyone else," said Bobby. "He was the only person who had the chance."
 "Unless, as we said, there were two photographs?"
 "We agreed that that wasn't likely. If there had been two photographs they'd have tried to identify him by means of both of them—not by only one."
 "Anyway that's easily found out," said Frankie. "We can ask the police. We'll assume for the moment that there was just the one photograph—the one you saw, that you put back again in the man's pocket. It was there when you left him, and it wasn't there when the police came. Therefore the only person who could have taken it away and put the other one in its place is this man Bassington-French. What was he like, Bobby?"
 Bobby frowned in the effort to remember. "A sort of nondescript fellow. Pleasant voice. A gentleman and all that. I really didn't notice him particularly. He said he was a stranger down here—and something about looking for a house."
 "We can verify that anyway," said Frankie. "Wheeler & Owen are the only house agents." Suddenly she gave a shiver. "Bobby, have you thought? If Pritchard was pushed over—Bassington-French must be the man who did it."
 "That's pretty grim," said Bobby. "He seemed such a nice, pleasant sort of fellow. But you know, Frankie, we can't be sure Pritchard really was pushed over."
 "I'm quite sure!"
 "No, I just wanted it to be that way because it made things more exciting. But now it's more or less proved. If it was murder—everything fits in. Your unexpected appearance which upsets the murderer's plans. Your discovery of the photograph and, in consequence, the need to put you out of the way."
 "There's a flaw there," said Bobby.
 "Why? You were the only person who saw that photograph. As soon as Bassington-French was left alone with the body he changed the photograph, which only you had seen."
 But Bobby continued to shake his head. "No, that won't do. Let's start for the moment that that photograph was so important that I had to be 'got out of the way,' as you put it. Sounds absurd, but I suppose it's just possible. Well, then, whatever was going to be done would have to be done at once. The fact that I went to London and never saw the "Weekly Times" or the other papers with the photograph in them was just pure chance—a thing nobody could count on. The probability is that I should say at once, 'That isn't the photograph I saw.' Why wait till after the inquest when everything was nicely settled?"
 "There's something in that," admitted Frankie.
 "And there's another point. I can't be absolutely sure, of course, but I could almost swear that when I put the photograph back in the dead man's pocket, Bassington-French wasn't there. He didn't arrive till about five or ten minutes later."
 "He might have been watching you all the time," argued Frankie.
 "I don't see very well how he could have," said Bobby slowly.
 "There's really only one place where you can see down to exactly the spot we were. Farther round the cliff bulges and then recedes the underneath so that you can't see over. There's just the one place, and when Bassington-French did arrive there I heard him at once. Footsteps echo down below. He may have been near at hand, but he wasn't looking over till then—that I'll swear."
 "Then you think that he didn't know about your seeing the photograph?"
 "I don't see how he could have known."
 "And he can't have been afraid you'd seen him doing it—the murder, I mean—because, as you say, that's absurd. You'd never have held your tongue about it. It looks as though it must have been something else altogether."
 "Something they didn't know about till after the inquest. I don't know why I say they—"
 "Why not? After all, the Caymans must have been in it, too. It's probably a gang, I like gangs."
 "That's a low taste," said Frankie, absently. "A single-handed matter is much higher class, Bobby."
 "Yes?"
 "What was it Pritchard said just before he died? You know, you told me about it that day on the links. That funny question?"
 "Why didn't they ask Evans?"
 "But that's ridiculous."
 "It sounds so, but it might be important really, Bobby. I'm sure it's that. Oh—no—being an idiot—you never told the Caymans about it."
 "I did, as a matter of fact," said Bobby slowly.
 "You did?"
 "Yes. I wrote to them that evening. Saying that of course it was probably quite unimportant."
 "And what happened?"
 "Cayman wrote back politely agreeing that of course there was nothing in it, but thanking me for taking the trouble. I felt rather snubbed."
 "And two days later you got this letter from a strange firm bribing you to go to South America?"
 "Yes."
 "Well," said Frankie, "I don't know what really went. They try that first. You turn it down. And the next thing is that they follow you round and seize a good moment to empty a lot of morphine into your bottle of beer."
 "Then the Caymans are in it?"
 "Of course the Caymans are in it!"
 "Yes," said Bobby thoughtfully. "If your reconstruction is correct, they're simply got to be in it."

FARM TENANCY PROBLEM ONE THAT MUST BE MET IN PROGRAM OF CROP ADJUSTMENT

A tenant farmer views the land he does not own but on which he labors from daylight until dark. At left is a typical dilapidated tenant farm barn. It is to such farms as these and to those who work them that congress is expected to turn attention during the present session.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—Congress undoubtedly will come to close grips this session with farm tenancy—a problem which the evening of the last frontier was supposed to end, but seemingly aggravated.

The Bankhead-Jones measure, designed to set up a vast revolving fund for government loans to get men out of share-cropping and on land of their own, passed the senate last year. Uncle Sam would put up $50,000,000 for a starter and could get as much as $500,000,000 more during the first three years of the plan by the issuance of bonds.

Now that AAA has been invalidated, some administration farm leaders are adding pressure for its measure.

One Influence
 Not the least of the influences speeding the rise in tenancy—called by Secretary Wallace "one of the undesirable characteristics of rural America"—has been the steady increase in the specialized production of major crops, government experts say.

Their theory is that men with some of their own and a definite stake in life would not be compelled to go so heavily into cash crop ward, but not the increase in actual numbers of tenants, was checked in the period from 1930 to this year for the first time in 50 years. The percentage fell by the negligible fraction of one-tenth of one per cent due to the sharp increase in the number of all farms. This presumably was caused by the "back-to-the-farm" movement brought on by the depression.

The significant thing, however, these officials explain, is that the total number of tenants has jumped by about 168,000 since 1930.

Today 2,130,000 farmers are tenants, their patches stretching from the Canadian border to the Rio Grande, against 1,962,641 in 1930. Too, and contrary to general view, tenancy is by no means confined to the old south, but has spread the country over.

In Iowa, the percentage of tenants now is put at 49.6 and in Nebraska at 49.3. In both states a gain of substantially two per cent in tenancy has occurred since 1930.

William Boyd As Hopalong Cassidy Featured At Lyric

Another of the popular Hopalong Cassidy series, with William Boyd again portraying that famed character of the West, is the feature for Friday and Saturday at the Lyric theatre. The film is "Bride of the Blood," and in the story Hopalong and his pal Johnny Nelson—again portrayed by Jimmy Ellison—encounter new adventures.

Cassidy becomes a man of the law, and with Jimmy runs down a gang of bad men who have held a small western town in a reign of terror. They restore law and order and solve the mysterious disappearance of the young grandson of a notorious bandit.

The building of the West is the theme of the picture, "The Queen of the West," offered at the Lyric on Friday and Saturday. It presents Conway Tearle, long a favorite of stage and screen, in the featured role.

Tearle appears as a crusading editor who restores order to a com-

Good Gardening

The garden you plan with a pencil in February may be a far finer thing than the one that actually grows in spring; but use the pencil anyhow. It is best to plan the whole thing on paper, and it's essential that various vegetables be so arranged that the tall-growing crops won't shade the smaller plants. Generally speaking, the rows should run north and south, but not, of course, if that direction is counter to the long way of the garden. If there's any choice, the land should slope gently toward the south or southeast.

O'Neill Drama Plays At Ritz

American life as every American knows it, and human emotions as every person knows them make real entertainment out of "Ah Wilderness!" the dramatic masterpiece of Eugene O'Neill, which plays Friday and Saturday at the Ritz theatre.

The production which was such an outstanding hit on the stage is brought to the screen with the spirit of the play unchanged. A simple story, "Ah Wilderness!" is concerned with the usual experiences and emotions of a typical American family.

Heading the cast is Wallace Beery, and reviewers have declared he is at his best in the role of Sid, whose life was a mixture of humor and tragedy. Lionel Barrymore fills the role of Nat Miller, played on the stage by George M. Cohan. The youthful characters are portrayed by Eric Linden, the schoolboy, and Cecilia Parker, his sweetheart. Aline MacMahon, Spring Byington, Mickey Rooney, Helen Flint, Charles Grainger and Edward Nugent are others in the cast.

The story is that of the Miller family, with emphasis placed on the experiences of Linden, the youth, and on Sid, the brother who tried without too much success to become a more respectable citizen. The picture is marked by outstanding photography, with charming scenes presented in the filming of the quaint town of Grafton, the Miller home.

sanitary commission, a report issued Friday showed. Two men were employed during the month, a total of $175 being spent. The salary of one man was paid by Midland county.

None of the livestock was classed as exposed or infected, but the commission will continue its work in the district in an effort to protect livestock of the area from imported infection, and to afford the necessary scabies certificates demanded by other states on livestock moving from Texas.

Sam Preston of Midland is supervisor of the scabies eradication program in this district.

MUSICAL ROMANCE TO SHOW AT RITZ ON SUNDAY, MONDAY

New presentations of song, dance, comedy and drama are featured in "King of Burlesque," which the Ritz offers as a Saturday midnight matinee feature, and again on Sunday and Monday. Featuring Warner Baxter, Alice Faye, Jack Oakie and Arline Judge, the picture tells a love story of the people who make the nation's entertainment.

Baxter has a role similar to that in the famed "42nd Street," appearing as a theatrical producer who advanced from burlesque productions to the musical comedy stage; and who later loses his gains due to the influence of a society wife. Miss Faye appears as the star of his productions, while comedy is provided by Oakie and Miss Judge. Song and dance numbers enliven the story. Some of the new tunes are "Spreadin' Rhythm Around," "Shooting High," "Lovely Lady," and "Too Good To Be True."

Dr. Cook Demands That His Claim As Discoverer Of Pole Be Recognized

CHICAGO, Feb. 21. (UP)—Dr. Frederick Cook, whose polar expedition 28 years ago threw a huge question mark across the pages of history, demanded today that the world recognize his claim as discoverer of the North Pole in 1908.

He wrote to M. Roland L. Redmond, president of the American Geographical society, asking that the investigation be reopened.

Bent and feeble at 70 after a life which led him through both the Arctic and Antarctic, around the world and finally into prison for an old fraud, the explorer said he had asked the geographical society to sponsor the investigation because of its reputation for "fairness and accuracy."

"I was a target of the most vicious campaign of calumny and vituperation in history," he said in his letter to the geographical society.

"I stated then as I do today that the sound decision of history would be based on the full narrative of the explorer and not on superficial judgment of the time.

"For that reason I abstained from attacking the claims of my rival and have let my original story stand as a permanent record of the journey."

Dr. Cook cited the explorations of Admiral Richard Byrd, Roald Amundsen, Lincoln Ellsworth and Gen. Umberto Nobile in support of his claims.

NEW LAURELS

Wallace Beery is said to achieve new acting honors as Sid in the Eugene O'Neill drama "Ah Wilderness!" The picture plays at the Ritz Friday and Saturday.

MENINGITIS CASE

Precautions Are Taken As Student Becomes Ill

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (UP)—One case of spinal meningitis was reported at the University of Texas today. Miss Frances Elizabeth Stout, Little Rock, was sent to a local hospital after she had evidenced symptoms of a mild form.

Dr. J. T. Gilbert, chief of the university health service announced. Dr. Gilbert said that there is no cause for alarm among the student body.

Though 188 students out of 7,000 were reported ill, most of the 188 had only severe colds.

A staff of five physicians, four nurses and a laboratory technician is taking special precautions to prevent any spread of illness, university officials said.

Noel Lawson is able to be up, following a stage of bronchitis.

Joe L. Woods is reported better, after an attack of influenza.

The fine represented the exact amount of a judgment against Fox held by the Capital company of California. Judge Bondy offered Fox the alternative of going to jail.

Philadelphia Prepares For FDR's Visit

Temple U. To Confer Degree In Washington Birthday Program

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21. (UP)—The Quaker City is prepared to extend a gala reception to the president of the United States tomorrow.

Throughout the city there are signs of festivity and celebration in anticipation of the arrival of President Roosevelt. Flag-draped buildings, alert police, and an air of expectancy combine to testify that an impressive reception is in the offing.

"Founder's Day" at Temple university will provide the setting for the president's visit—the first to this city in nearly four years.

To Receive Honorary Degree

In a traditionally dignified induction, the chief executive will receive an honorary degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence at the holiday exercises. Gov. George H. Earle, himself an honorary Doctor of Laws from Temple, will present Mr. Roosevelt for the degree. Following the governor's presentation address, Dr. Charles E. Beury, president of the university, will confer the juridical honor upon President Roosevelt.

After a speech of acceptance, the president will join officials of the university in the dedication of the Sullivan Memorial library. Construction of the library was made possible by a loan from the works progress administration.

President Roosevelt is scheduled to arrive in Philadelphia tomorrow morning, some time before 10 o'clock. He will detain at the North Philadelphia station and will be escorted immediately to Mitten hall where the ceremonies will be staged. Extra details of police have been assigned to the station and the route to the hall.

Some 200 members of the graduating class will be privileged to see and hear the president, despite the pressing demand for tickets. The regular commencement exercises were postponed until June, when they will be held in conjunction with the summer ceremonies.

Crowd To Be Limited

About 2,500 persons will attend the president's induction. Officers of the university, deans of various colleges and members of the faculty will be seated on the stage, when the degree is conferred. The majority of faculty members, numbering about 700, will be in the audience.

The degree will be granted following the traditional cap and gown procession of the faculty and graduates. President Roosevelt's hood will be lined with the silken crimson of Harvard—his alma mater.

Republicans and democrats will join in paying tribute to the president on Washington's birthday.

Plans Mapped To Encourage Debate Activity In School

A plan designed to encourage participation in high school debate and speech activities was approved by the chamber of commerce educational committee in a called meeting Thursday afternoon.

The chamber committee voted to furnish greater awards to members of the debating teams and their alternates this year and to devise some permanent plan of awards for subsequent years.

In taking the action, the committee pointed out that speaking was almost becoming a lost art and that presentation of awards might induce more students to participate in the activities.
