Start Work On Building At Coahoma

15 Men On Job; School Due To Be Completed In 100 Days

(Special to The Herald) COAHOMA, Feb. 10.—Work on Coahoma's new school building, a $25,000 project made possible through a PWA loan and grant, was started Monday. Suggs Construction company, general contractor, had 15 men on the job, and A. E. Suggs of the firm was here to supervise the work. Common labor was taken from relief rolls, most of the men coming from Big Spring. It was estimated that the project could be finished in 100 working days. The new building, to be erected on property adjoining the present school grounds, will include two classrooms and a study hall, offices and reception rooms, a library, and a gymnasium and locker and shower space. Voters of the school district last November approved a $25,000 bond issue to finance the district's share of the project. This will pay off the PWA loan, while a part of the fund was a direct grant. Superintendent George Boswell of the Coahoma schools announced Monday that final approval had been given on a WPA project for campus improvement. Approximately $5,000 will be spent on the work, which will include construction of tennis courts, building of rock fences and sodding of the school grounds.

Electric Firm Will Move To New Quarters

TES Takes Leases On Fisher Building At Fourth And Runnels

Local and district offices of the Texas Electric Service company soon will be in new quarters, it was announced Monday by C. S. Blomshield, district manager for TES, who said a lease agreement had been closed with the William Fisher estate, for the building at 324 Runnels street. Minor remodeling work will be done on the building to fit the company's requirements, including installation of partitions and alteration of the front. Blomshield said, and plans are to make the move as soon as this work can be completed, possibly within the next two weeks. The Fisher building, 50 by 140 feet in size, will give additional needed room for the TES offices. Blomshield said the lot across Fourth street from the location which is owned by the company, will be made available as a parking space. "We feel that this will enable us to be better situated for service and convenience to our customers," Blomshield said. The company will move from quarters in the First National bank building, at 110 East Second street, a location occupied by TES since 1915.

No Estimate Yet Made On Future Cost

FD Indicates Allotments On Hand May Finance Work After July

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (UP)—President Roosevelt was disclosed today to be studying the amount of funds needed for relief between now and July 1 in connection with his check up on government spending and tax requirements. In Other Funds The amount necessary to carry on relief until July was the principal topic of discussion between the president and the various heads of government spending agencies at the White House. Mr. Roosevelt said no definite estimate of relief costs could be made at the present time. He revealed an investigation was being made to determine whether relief could be carried on with existing allotments or whether transfer of additional funds from unexpended allocations of other departments would be necessary. He indicated one source of relief funds might be found in allotments already made to the army, navy, labor and commerce departments. He pointed out there was little difference between some activities of these departments and the work being carried on by the works progress administration. Bonus Financing Mr. Roosevelt said the question of financing the soldiers bonus had not been finally settled. Chairman Robert L. Doughton of the house ways and means committee who talks the situation over with the president expressed a personal hope no bonus taxes would be needed. The president confirmed previous estimates of $500,000,000 as the amount of taxes needed to finance the new farm program. Mr. Roosevelt did not indicate whether his conference on relief expenditures for the remainder of the fiscal year led to discussion of an estimate of these costs for the 1937 year. No estimate of these 1937 costs was included in the budget submitted to congress by the president but Secretary Morgenthau later made a tentative estimate of $2,000,000,000 for this purpose.

Starts Today THE BOOMERANG CLUE

by Agatha Christie A woman's figure came around the corner of the house. . . . Suddenly she stood away. Bobby rushed forward and caught her. It seemed to him he had never seen such fear on any countenance. "Go away!" she said. "Go away at once. No one can help me." Thus had the determined young man who is one of the principal characters in Agatha Christie's story stumbled onto an amazing new clue. Even in the gloom he had recognized her, had sensed that he was one step nearer the solution of the mystery which meant life or death to him.

Full Description Of All Property Is Required Of Pension Applicants

(This is the first of a series of four explanatory articles on the state's old age pension system which becomes operative Friday. The articles contain information necessary for old people to understand what they have to know when applying for old-age assistance.—Editor's Note.) All applicants should have the following information available: 1. Original purchase price and date of purchase of all property. 2. Description of property from the county tax assessor telling block number, etc. 3. Amount of property rendered for on tax rolls. 4. Name of lien holder and amount still due on mortgage, as well as total equity in property. Also date and amount of lien. 5. Rail, Highway Traffic Kept At Standstill

Many Areas Yet Snow-bound, No Relief Promised Before Wednesday

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Towering snowdrifts and glacial cold crippled much of the mid-continent today, returning the fight against the elements to terms of pioneer days. Isolated ranches in South Dakota burned fence posts and hay to keep warm, while their city cousins rationed fuel against sub-zero cold. Relief for South The abnormally cold weather was predicted to continue in the North-Central states tomorrow and probably through Wednesday. The Southern states were due to get relief. Continued cold handicapped efforts to dig out from under the most paralyzing blizzard of the century. Some rail lines were drifted shut. A dozen trains were snowbound. Many others, moving behind snow plows, were as much as eight hours late. A number of railroad and bus schedules were canceled. Virtually all highways in Iowa, Wisconsin and Northern Illinois were rendered impassable by hummocks of snow that ranged up to ten feet. Most roads in Nebraska, Minnesota and North Dakota were closed to traffic. Some communities were completely isolated. The fuel shortage was intensified. Milk deliveries were curtailed. A few points faced a water famine. Score of Deaths Found A score of deaths were recorded. Commerce was slowed. Rural schools and churches closed. Suffering increased as the cold wave roared down from the frozen tundras of the Canadian northwest and spread South and East. Lower temperatures included: Williston, N. D., -30; Havre, Mont., -29; Huron, S. D., -24; Valentine, Neb., -20; Sioux City, Ia., and Evanston, Ill., -18; Des Moines, -12; Marquette, Mich., -12; Chicago and Kirksville, Mo., -10; Moorhead, Minn., -8; La Crosse, Wis., Detroit and Fort Wayne, Ind., -6. The subzero belt extended from the continental divide to Ohio. It reached as far south as St. Louis. Motorists Rescued Cessation of the heavy snow in the midwest afforded opportunity to rescue hundreds of stranded motorists, but a 30-mile wind defeated attempts to clear the white barricade from highways. The Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway reported their system was completely tied up. The Northwestern said service (CONTINUED ON PAGE 6)

Cottage Is Opened As First Completed Unit Of Work

Approximately 1,000 people inspected the recently completed caretakers' cottage of the Scenic Mountain park Sunday as it was opened for the first time to the public. V. J. Eckelkamp, technical service superintendent, said that more than 400 cars were counted at the cottage from noon to nightfall. The cottage, done in native stone, contains a living room, kitchen, dining room, bedroom and bath. With the exception of the bedroom, the rustic effect is carried out in the interior finishing. The walls are done in stained pine finish with massive beams lending to the effect. It is the first building completed in the park set up. Monday a crew of CCC enrollees was at work on the concessions building in an effort to complete it before the end of the month. Doors, unique products of panelling and bolting, are being swung on heavy steel hinges turned out by the camp blacksmith shop. The camp is making all lighting fixtures, decorating some with hand beaten steel acorns.

Helen Enjoys Thrill Of Riding To Hounds In England

By ROGER D. GREENE LONDON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Not romance but the thrill of riding to hounds has turned Helen Jacobs, 28-year-old United States tennis champion, into a temporary expatriate in England.

The blonde girl from Berkeley, Calif., who was presented at the court of St. James two years ago, laughed at reports of an impending engagement to a titled Englishman.

"No belted ears for me!" she exclaimed. "No, really—I just came back to hunt."

As house guest of Miss Henrietta Bingham, daughter of United States Ambassador Robert W. Bingham, Miss Jacobs rides to the hounds at least twice a week with the exclusive South Oxfordshire Hunt or the Bicester Hunt.

Except for a few practice runs with Robert Millikan, former junior champion of England, "Helen the Second" has almost forsaken tennis during her winter sojourn here.

SURPRISE DUE FOR FANS AT AAU TOURNEY

Semi-Pro Teams Will Dwarf Best Of College Quints

By TOM PAPROCKI (Associated Press Sports Writer) Eastern basketball fans who have the notion that they have been watching big court performers have a big surprise in store for them when the champion and runner-up from the National A. A. U. tournament at Denver in March travel east to fight it out for the Olympic berth.

College teams of the east will be dwarfed when they attack up along side teams of giants like the Santa Fe Trails of Kansas City, 1935 A. A. U. title-holders, with their 6-foot 7-inch center, Ed Weir; the McPherson (Kan.) Globe Refiners; with Willard Schmidt and Joe Fortenberry, towering 6-foot-9 and 6-foot-8, respectively.

"Herwanger of Basketball" Bill Haarlow, slim court captain who is to the University of Chicago basketball team what his friend Jay Herwanger was to the Maroons football squad, seems well on his way to the individual scoring championship in the Western conference race again.

Despite the fact that the Maroons have lost all seven of the Big Ten games they have played this season and consequently have been of little help to him, Haarlow has been setting the pace for the conference in both baskets and free throws.

Haarlow, whose 156 points last year topped the individual performers and enabled Chicago to win something from a season in which the Maroons won only one game, has been running "hot and cold" this season.

Crack-Shot Free-Thrower In the first game against Purdue, Haarlow went completely "cold" and "couldn't" find the basket and the Hotchkissers won by a lopsided score, 44-21.

Haarlow went to Chicago from Bowen high school with an amazing record to recommend him, both as a student and as an athlete.

High school, college, university and junior college athletes are eligible to compete at the relays which will be presided over by Referee Bernie Moore, track and football coach at L. S. U. E. C. (Mule) Frazier will be starter for the ninth consecutive time.

WILLIS WARD NOT TO ENTER THE OLYMPICS

Detroit Negro Athlete Making Study Of Law

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 10. (AP) Willis Ward, Detroit negro athlete, (this some reasons why he does not choose to run—or jump—in the 1936 Olympic games in Berlin.

Ward, who amassed many points for Coach Charlie Hoyt's track team in his three years of competition as a Wolverine, now is a student in the University of Michigan law school.

And the man who had been generally regarded as one of Michigan's best hopes of representation in the international games is taking this law business seriously.

Degree Comes First "Law school isn't like undergraduate work," Ward says. "It takes plenty of study, and I'm afraid the training necessary to go to the Olympics would hurt my standing for a degree."

"Any way, I've become so interested in law that it's crowded out my interest in athletics, as far as competition is concerned. Then, too, there's the cost of the trip to be considered."

"I haven't done a tap of training and I don't know about that leg." He referred to a leg injury which handicapped his performances in his senior year.

"Change my mind and begin training later in the year?" Ward asks. "Frankly, I don't believe there's a chance that I'll do that."

An All-Around Athlete But Coach Hoyt has expressed the opinion that Ward, if he chooses, could go into training later in the spring and still make a showing in some events.

Ward, who has won the 60-yard dash at the 1934 Western conference indoor meet in 6.2, took first place in the high jump in the same meet with a leap of 6 feet 2-7/8 inches—and has done better—made it a triple win with victory in the hurdles, and won the outdoor broad jump the same season with a mark of 23 feet 2-1/4 inches.

Large Rose Order Arrived For Club

Big Spring is gaining such a reputation for rose-culture that this is becoming the favorite flower of the local garden club. This year 220 rose bushes will spread their fragrance and beauty where only clay soil existed before. The plants arrived this week-end and were distributed today.

All of them will be in the yards of the Garden club members. Last year the club pooled its orders and obtained a large number of bushes, something over 100.

The largest single order was 27 roses. A few shrubs were also ordered for members who are particularly interested in landscaping their yards.

Pennsylvania Slowly Rooting Out Typhoid

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 10 (UP)—Typhoid fever cases are showing a marked decrease in Pennsylvania. Despite two serious outbreaks of the disease in metropolitan areas of the state, attributed to contaminated food, reports submitted to the state secretary of health indicate that, provided there are no serious outbreaks during December, the number of cases and fatalities will reach a new low in the history of the department in 1935.

The health department credited largely a campaign for pure drinking water for the motoring public for the downward trend.

Garden Dreams By The Fireside Inspire Flower Lovers In Winter

Spring gardening really begins when the first catalog arrives. True, the weather is usually too rough for any outdoor operations. But the hoe and spade will keep from rusting a few weeks longer (if you oiled them up last fall) so the first preparation for summer's array of color can be made without stirring from the fireside.

Selecting seeds from a catalog which lists many hundreds of varieties is no small task. It should be treated very seriously, and each desirable subject should be studied and located in the garden even before it is ordered. Every gardener will want some petunias, zinnias, marigolds, larkspurs, poppies and a few others that are universally grown and loved, but just what color and variety of each he needs will depend on where and under what conditions he will grow them.

Fortunately, the modern seed catalog is very clear and understandable on this subject, and gives detailed instructions for planting, as well as the characteristics, habits and special cultural needs of each subject. If the amateur studies it as he would a text book, he will learn much which the casual planter never knows, and will have real success with his flowers and vegetables.

Books on gardening which can be obtained from the seedman or public library are another source of information which should not be neglected. They do not always list the names of the newest flowers, but they are indispensable for discussions on design, border planting, and succession crops of vegetables. The garden magazines are equally helpful.

Lacking these sources of information, the catalog will do you very well alone, and for the amount of condensed material, it can't be beat. Many universities use them in class instruction for this reason. If you have not received one this year, order immediately. You will need it to plan your garden, and of course the earlier you buy your seeds the better selections you get.

Do you believe inflation is coming? Is the cost of living going to soar, while salaries and wages lag far behind, bringing difficult times for the manager of the family budget?

If so why not "hedge" or take insurance against inflation effects just as wealthy investors are said to be doing? James H. Burnett, director of the National Garden Bureau, says that every family which has as much as 200 square feet of soil at its disposal for a

Rites Unite Two Prominent West Texas Ranching Families

George McEntire, Jr., of the McEntire ranch south of Big Spring was married Saturday morning to Mrs. Geraldine Cowden Hill of Midland at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer. The Rev. Winston F. Brown, pastor of the Baptist church, read the marriage ceremony in the presence of family members and a few intimate friends.

An altar of smilax flanked by floor baskets of calla lilies, potted palms and ferns was improvised for the ceremony; the windows behind the altar being draped with greenery.

Mrs. Ellis Cowden played Lohengrin's wedding march as the couple entered and other selections after the ceremony.

The bride wore a tailored suit of navy blue gabardine with gabardine shoes of the same color and a blue hat of imported straw. On her shoulder was a corsage bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

A morning coffee followed the ceremony, after which the couple left for San Antonio on a wedding trip.

Mrs. McEntire is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cowden, prominent ranching family of Midland. She was educated in the Midland schools and at Baylor University and Mary Hardin-Baylor, Belton.

George McEntire, Jr., known to his friends as Little George, is also of a prominent West Texas family well known in ranching and social circles. He was educated at Schreiner Institute, Kerplville. For many years he has been interested in aviation, owning his own plane and performing many helpful and spectacular deeds for neighbors with the plane.

Since last year he has made his home in Midland where he is charter pilot for Booth-Henning, Inc. There he and his bride will make their home upon their return.

Brooks Favors Free Auto Licenses, Immediate Pension Payment

PIERCE BROOKS

DALLAS, Feb. 10.—On a platform which proposes free license plates for passenger automobiles in Texas, immediate payment of pensions to Texas men and women 60 years old and above, elimination of wasteful sessions of the Texas legislature and other measures seeking reforms in state government, Pierce Brooks, Dallas business man and real estate broker, has announced his candidacy for the office of governor of Texas.

Several states have inaugurated a nominal tax rate for auto licenses but Texas would be the first state to supply the plates free of cost to owners of all passenger cars, the Brooks announcement states.

Black - Draught Good Laxative

Black-Draught has been kept on hand for all the family in the home of Mr. W. A. Lemons, of Independence, Va., since twenty years ago. Mrs. Lemons writes that he takes it as a laxative in cases of headache, dull, tired feeling, biliousness.

"And I take it if I feel uncomfortable after a heavy meal," he adds, "I especially use it for sick headache. It certainly is good."

When a man says "Black-Draught is good," it is probably because he remembers the prompt, refreshing relief it brought in constipation troubles. Its benefits are felt because it is a simple, herb laxative, so natural in composition and action that thousands and thousands of men and women prefer it when a laxative is needed.

THE BOOMERANG CLUE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

CHAPTER ONE IN THE CLASH

Bobby Jones teed up his ball, gave a short preliminary waggle, took the club back slowly, then brought it down and through with the rapidity of lightning.

Did the ball fly down the fairway straight and true, rising as it went and soaring over the bunker to land within an easy mashie shot of the fourteenth green?

No, it did not. Badly topped, it scudded along the ground and embedded itself firmly in the bunker!

There were no eager crowds to groan with dismay. The solitary witness of the shot manifested no surprise. And that is easily explained—for it was not the American-born master of the game who had played the shot but merely the fourth son of the Vicar of Marchbolt, a small seaside another twenty minutes at most. Just possible he may recover consciousness before the end—but very likely he won't. Still—"Rather," said Bobby quickly. "I'll stay. You get along. If he does come to, there's no drug or anything—" He hesitated.

The Doctor shook his head. "There'll be no pain," he said. "No pain at all."

Turning away he began rapidly to climb the cliff again. Bobby watched him till he disappeared over the top with a wave of the hand.

Bobby moved a step or two along

He was still breathing, though unconscious.

town on the coast of Wales. Bobby uttered a decidedly profane ejaculation.

He was an amiable-looking young man of about eight-and-twenty. His best friend could not have said that he was handsome, but his face was an eminently likeable one, and his eyes had the honest brown friendliness of a dog's.

"I get worse every day," he muttered dejectedly.

"You press," said his companion.

Dr. Thomas was a middle-aged man with grey hair and a red, cheerful face. He himself never took a full swing. He played short, straight shots down the middle and usually beat more brilliant but more erratic players.

Bobby attacked his ball fiercely with a niblick. The third time was successful. The ball lay a short distance from the green which Dr. Thomas had reached with two creditable iron shots.

"Your hole," said Bobby.

The doctor drove first—a nice straight shot, but with no great distance about it.

Bobby sighed, teed his ball, re- teed it, wagged his club a long time, took back stiffly, shut his eyes, raised his head, depressed his right shoulder, did everything he ought not to have done—and hit a screamer down the middle of the course!

He drew a deep breath of satisfaction. The well-known golfer's gloom passed from his eloquent face to be succeeded by the equally well-known golfer's exultation.

"I know now what I've been doing," said Bobby—quite untruthfully.

A perfect iron shot, a little chip with a mashie, and Bobby lay dead. He achieved a birdie four, and Dr. Thomas was reduced to one up.

Full of confidence, Bobby stepped onto the sixteenth tee. He again did everything he should not have done, and this time no miracle occurred. A terrific, a magnificent, an almost superhuman slice happened! The ball went round at right angles.

"If that had been straight—when!" said Dr. Thomas.

"If—" said Bobby bitterly. "Hullo, I thought I heard a shout! Hope the ball didn't hit anyone."

He peered out to the right. It was a difficult light. The sun was on the point of setting and looking straight into it, it was hard to see anything distinctly. Also there was a slight mist rising from the sea. The edge of the cliff was a few hundred yards away.

"The footpath runs along there,"

He stood up again. "I'll go off and get help," he said. "Make arrangements to have the body got up. It'll be dark before we know where we are. Will you stay here?"

Bobby nodded. "There's nothing to be done for him, I suppose?" he asked.

The Doctor shook his head. "Nothing. It won't be long—the pulse is weakening fast. He'll last the narrow ledge, sat down on a projection in the rock and lit a cigarette. The business had shaken him. Up to now he had never come in contact with illness or death.

What rotten luck there was in the world! A swirl of mist on a fine evening, a false step—and life came to an end. Fine, healthy-looking fellow too—probably never known a day's illness in his life.

The pallor of approaching death couldn't disguise the deep tan of the skin. A man who had lived an out-of-door life—abroad perhaps. Bobby studied him more closely—the crisp curling chestnut hair just touched with grey at the temples, the big nose, the strong jaw, the white teeth just showing through the parted lips. Then the broad shoulders and the fine sinewy hands.

The legs were twisted at a curious angle. Bobby shuddered and brought his eyes up again to the face. An attractive face, humorous, determined, resourceful. The eyes, he thought, were probably blue—

And just as he reached that point in his thoughts, the eyes suddenly opened.

They were blue, a clear deep blue. They looked straight at Bobby. There was nothing uncertain or hazy about them. They seemed completely conscious. They were watchful and at the same time they seemed to be asking a question.

Bobby got up quickly and came towards the man. Before he got there the other spoke. His voice was not weak—it came out clear and resonant.

"Why didn't they ask Evans?" he said.

And then a queer little shudder passed over him, the eyelids dropped, the jaw fell . . .

The man was dead.

Bobby knelt down beside him, but there was no doubt. The man was dead. A last moment of consciousness, that sudden question and then—the end.

Rather apologetically Bobby put his hand into the dead man's pocket and drawing out a silk handkerchief he spread it reverently over the dead face. There was nothing more he could do.

Then he noticed that in his action he had jerked something else out of the pocket. It was a photograph, and in the act of replacing

AA Heads List In 1935 Traffic

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Approximately one out of every four revenue air passengers in the United States during 1935 traveled over some division of American Airlines, Inc. C. R. Smith, president of this company, announced.

Smith also said the total of 178,209 revenue passengers transported by this line during the year was greater than the passenger total of any other air line in the entire world.

All air lines in the United States transported a total of 642,905 passengers, including both revenue and non-revenue, during the first 10 months of the last year, according to latest figures made public by the U. S. department of commerce. Smith said American Airlines' total of 153,069 revenue passengers for this same period equaled 23.8 per cent of the whole and if figures for the entire industry were limited to revenue passengers only, American's total would exceed 25 per cent.

Smith also pointed out that

American Airlines' gain of 71.77 per cent during 1935 as compared with the previous year was considerably ahead of the indicated gain of approximately 62 per cent forecast for the industry as a whole.

Tourists Irked By California's Close Inspection

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 10. (UP)—Irate tourists long have complained because California has agricultural inspection stations at the border and all incoming motor cars must be submitted to close scrutiny and delay.

Officials of the state department at 510 funerals.

of agriculture, however, insist that there is a real need for the inspections because countless attempts are made to bring in dangerous insects and plant diseases.

One group which was stopped at the Redwood highway station admitted carrying several weeds which had been picked up along an Idaho road. Why? Because the persons—who lived in Los Angeles—had not seen that type weed in the state and thought it might be a good idea to plant some.

Weevil and Larvae Found

A Bangor, Me., tourist was stopped at the Sausalito station. He insisted he had no contraband plant material or insects with him. His bedding and tents, upon being shaken out, yielded clover root weevil, green lace wing larvae and cutworm moths, all alive and doing well despite the long trip from Maine.

Inspectors do not mind searching the average tourist automobiles, but they shudder when they think of small cruises that travel by truck. Broad stretches of canvas must be shaken out and a mass of equipment inspected.

"Knights of the road" also cause considerable work because each bed roll must be examined.

Campers Suffer Delays

Tourists with little baggage are subjected to brief delay, but when they carry camping outfits, rolls of bedding, or trailers loaded with an assortment of provisions, they must wait while the uniformed inspectors go through the equipment.

Arizona has similar stations. One time a motorist who became impatient at the California checking station west of Yuma, Ariz., refused to be searched and turned back, insisting he would go no further into California. He was stopped by the Arizona station and refused entrance to that state without inspection. For a time he was, figuratively speaking, stranded on the Colorado river bridge with no place to go.
