

More communication necessary . . .

By CHARLEY BANKHEAD
UD News Editor

More communication among students, faculty and administrators is necessary to overcome the tendency to depersonalize the University.

This was the consensus Wednesday during the second panel discussion of the week-long Student Association Academic Seminar.

Dr. Jean Steinhauer of the University Counseling Center opened the discussion by charging students with the responsibility of not letting themselves become depersonalized. She said students should take the initiative to ask questions and interact with faculty, administrators and other students.

ONE OF THE MOST FORCEFUL comments of the discussion came from Dr. Robert Baker, associate professor of biology. Baker, in addressing the question of the goals of the University, apparently gave a response to Tech Regent J. Fred Bucy's remarks at the United Way luncheon three weeks ago. At the luncheon, Bucy said the University should work more toward turning out students who can be productive members of society.

"If the goal of the University is to turn out someone who is the most productive person in business or Texas Instruments (Bucy is a Texas Instruments executive) or some other business, then we're not doing that much," said Baker, referring to elimination of depersonalization.

"But if the goal is to produce people who understand the arts, who are feeling persons, who can get more out of life and understand it, then we can contribute to help solve the problem.

"There has to be more (to life) than plowing the ground or building calculators. A person has to get something out of life."

EARLIER IN THE DISCUSSION, Dr. Charles Burford, associate professor of industrial engineering, said, "Even an engineer needs to understand where he fits

(in society). Engineers need to understand and realize their society. They need a background in arts and humanities."

Monster classes was another area that evoked considerable discussion from the panel members.

"The bad thing is that there is no way to build rapport with the students," said Baker. "Another problem is with feedback. An instructor needs to be in contact with students to see if they are getting the information and understanding it."

"I think monster classes should be used for upper level students," said Burford. "Upper level students usually have more motivation to learn than freshmen. If the motivation and subject material are appropriate, there is nothing wrong with monster classes. But in feedback situations, they don't meet the needs."

The question of the validity of learning centers and self-paced courses to education was directed to Dr. Tom Murphy, assistant professor of education. The College of Education has made extensive use of learning centers of self-paced study.

WE'RE WORKING IN the College of Education to train people for careers," said Murphy. "One tool we use is video tape. We use it for shaping and critiquing teaching.

"I think video tape is a very personal thing. It is so personal, that many students find it a very nerve-racking experience to get in front of the camera"

Murphy said self-paced study and competency-based instruction are important parts of open education. He said it is difficult to remain on a personal basis and at the same time be objective.

Baker said depersonalization is a societal problem and that the faculty feels it as much as students.

"WHEN I COME TO CLASS early or stay late and no one stays to talk with me, I feel like these students will only remember me as 'Mr. So-and-So who taught my freshman course,'" said Baker. "This can be eliminated by talking with colleagues, administrators and students. Any change has got to come from talking with one another."

Baker said when students leave college, they will encounter situations that are depersonalizing, just as at college. He said a person cannot have a personal feeling about everyone he meets.

Steinhauer agreed, but added, "I just don't want students to think that we are all going to become Clockwork Oranges."

The problem of communication between faculty and students also evoked considerable comment. Burford said he had "practically stood on my desk" to get students to visit him during office hours.

"THEY SEE ME AS BEING inaccessible to them," said Burford. "I think they have put me on a pedestal and don't feel like they can talk to me."

Most of the panel members agreed with Burford's statement. Dr. Ann Daghistany, assistant professor of English, said a major problem might be the students' failure to see the value of a particular course.

"We need career counseling for students much sooner," said Daghistany. "A lot of students feel goalless. Early career counseling would eliminate a lot of students' wondering about the relevance of material to their goals."

Prosecutors urge medical exam of Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Watergate prosecutors said Wednesday "it would be only natural" for Richard M. Nixon to try to avoid testifying at the Watergate cover-up trial and urged the trial judge to send three doctors to California to examine the former president.

The government filed a response to requests from Nixon's lawyers that the subpoena for Nixon's appearance be dismissed because the former president's health would be endangered by traveling to Washington.

THE MEMORANDUM came as the government's first witness, John W. Dean III, was testifying in the trial of five former Nixon White House and campaign aides.

John D. Ehrlichman, who had also subpoenaed the former president, told the court he would be satisfied with a deposition, taken under oath.

Nixon recently was hospitalized for 11 days for phlebitis and a blood clot in his right lung.

The prosecutors said Nixon's contention that his physical condition is such that appearance at the trial "would pose a serious risk to his life" is not backed up by a "compelling showing."

NIXON'S DOCTOR in an affidavit had said the former president must wear an elastic stocking, take oral medication, avoid prolonged periods of sitting, standing or walking, avoid extended trips and should remain in a controlled environment.

"It is clear Mr. Nixon can continue to wear an elastic stocking and take oral medication while in transit and in Washington," the prosecutors said. They added that he can avoid long periods of sitting or walking and that there are enough medical facilities in Washington to keep an eye on his condition.

The prosecutors said, "Mr. Nixon is not a neutral or detached witness. He has been formally accused of participating in the conspiracy for which defendants are standing trial, and it would be only natural for him to seek to avoid an obligation to testify."

BEFORE THE JURY was brought in for the third day of hearings on Wednesday, Judge John J. Sirica indicated he is thinking of sending doctors to California to examine Nixon. The matter will be debated after the jury leaves the courtroom Thursday. Sirica will rule then.

Dean testified that in the hectic days following the Watergate break-in he told Ehrlichman a great deal about the involvement of Nixon campaign officials in the incident.

Ehrlichman, one of the five defendants in the Watergate cover-up trial, is charged with lying when he said that all he knew about the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic national headquarters was what he had read in the newspapers.

THE 35-YEAR-OLD DEAN, appearing pale and even thinner than he was last year when he testified before the Senate Watergate committee, was the government's first witness in the Watergate cover-up trial.

As he testified, marshals guarded every door in the U.S. District courtroom and an airtight type weapons detection system screened everyone who came in.

Assistant special prosecutor James F. Neal led Dean through the early part of the Watergate story beginning with the meetings, attended by former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Mitchell's campaign deputy Jeb Stuart Magruder at which Dean said a plan for political espionage unfolded.

MITCHELL AND EHRLICHMAN are charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice, along with H. R. Haldeman, Kenneth W. Parkinson and Robert C. Mardian. In addition, all but Mardian are charged with actually obstructing justice. Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman — the three Nixon administration officials in the case — are accused in multiple counts of perjury.

Dean, who was brought here from the federal prison facility at Ft. Holabird, Md., said he introduced G. Gordon Liddy to Mitchell in the attorney general's office in November, 1971.

Subsequently Liddy was hired as general counsel to the reelection committee and on Jan. 27, 1972, Dean said, he was at another meeting in Mitchell's office at which time Liddy outlined a plan for political espionage.

"THE PLAN CALLED FOR mugging squads, capable of mugging demonstrators and ... kidnap squads capable of taking demonstration leaders and removing them from the demonstrators," Dean said.

He had described the same meetings before at last year's televised Senate Watergate hearings and nothing in his initial testimony added anything to the story.

Ford to explain pardon today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic members of the House Judiciary subcommittee that will question President Ford about his pardon of Richard M. Nixon say they are not expecting to learn anything new.

The limited time available for questioning, the narrow scope of the inquiry and a reluctance to put a president on the grill will prevent any deep probing of the issue, in their view.

Ford's unprecedented appearance, a voluntary act on his part, will be broadcast and televised, starting at 10 a.m. EDT today.

The hearing will center on 14 questions raised by Reps. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., and John Conyers, D-Mich., in formal resolutions directing the House to seek the answers from the executive branch.

Such questions are normally answered in writing or by the appearance of subordinate officials. Ford's first response was to bundle up his previous statements about the pardon and send them to chairman William Hungate, D-Mo., with a letter saying there was nothing more to explain.

The reply irritated subcommittee members, and Hungate requested that White House Counsel Philip Buchen be sent to Capitol Hill to supply more information. To Hungate's astonishment, Ford sent word that he would come up himself.

Ford's decision is seen by the two senior Democrats on the subcommittee as a shrewd political move designed to overcome the generally unfavorable public reaction to the pardon.

"He is trying to extricate himself from the effects of what was obviously a hasty decision," said Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., said the hearing should prove to be a political boon for Ford.

But both Edwards and Kastenmeier said they did not expect the hearing to produce anything new about the reasons for Ford's surprise pardon of Nixon last Sept. 8.

The White House has advised Hungate that Ford will have to leave the hearing about noon. By the time subcommittee members have made opening statements and Ford has given his detailed version of events leading up to the pardon, the nine subcommittee members will probably only have about five minutes each for questions.

In Wednesday's editions The Chicago Tribune reported that Ford will tell the subcommittee that former White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. asked him eight days before Nixon left office whether he would pardon Nixon in the event he resigned.

The Tribune said Ford will say he made no promise to Haig and no deals with anyone in the Nixon administration involving Nixon's resignation.

One of the 14 questions to which Ford will respond seeks detailed information about Ford's discussion with Haig during the week before Nixon announced his resignation on Aug. 8.

Senate retreat planned Sunday

Tech senators will conduct a retreat Sunday to discuss actions the Senate has taken, the direction, the Senate is headed, and priorities the Senate should discuss, according to Anne Mosley, President of the Senate.

The retreat will be held in the Delta Gamma lodge from 1-5 p.m. Lunch will be provided, and Senators may bring an aid.

During the retreat, a mock senate meeting will be conducted to re-acquaint senators with the rules of procedure for normal meetings.

Ford campaigns for GOP

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — President Ford, mounting a political rescue mission for embattled Republican candidates in the Midwest, warned

Wednesday that sweeping Democratic victories in next month's election would produce a legislative dictatorship.

Car insurance rates may rise

AUSTIN, (AP) — The insurance industry said Wednesday it wants an 18.3 per cent statewide average increase in car insurance rates. The State Insurance Board is expected to order a smaller one.

"We think the rates have got to go up because the loss costs are going up ... Present rates are not adequate," said David Irons of Dallas, the industry's spokesman.

Irons, representing the Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office, will make the rate request to the insurance board at a formal hearing Thursday morning.

Dinner, Hospitality House kick off annual activities for Dad's Day weekend

Two days of activities have been planned Friday and Saturday for this year's Dads Day events.

The events begin Friday with a trustees dinner at 6 p.m. and a Hospitality House at 7:30 p.m. in the North Ballroom of the University Center.

James G. Allen, executive director of the Tech Dads Association, said the hospitality house will be one of the highlights of the two days. Allen said parents and students will have the opportunity to meet University administrators and officials to ask questions and receive information about Tech operations.

There will be representatives of the six academic colleges as well as representatives of Tech financial affairs, registrar's office, residence halls, student affairs, student life, financial aid, health clinic, student programs and University Police.

The Hospitality House is scheduled to last until 9:30 p.m.

Activities begin at 9 a.m. Saturday with a Registration Coffee in the University Center. From noon until 1:45 p.m., there will be a mothers' luncheon in the Wall-Gates cafeteria. All family members except dads may attend this luncheon. Dads will have a membership luncheon from 12:15-1:45 p.m. in the University Center.

At the membership luncheon, Dr. William P. Dukes, professor of finance, will be honored as the outstanding Tech instructor for the past year. Dads Association officials will present Dukes with a $1,000 check as part of the honor.

There will be tours of the Tech Complex Saturday afternoon. One tour will begin at 2 p.m. A second tour will begin at 3:30 p.m. The tour buses will make six stops during the one-hour, 25-minute tours. The stops include food processing, heating and cooling, Tech Museum, Tech Health Center, Holden Hall and Tech Library.

The final activity of Dads Day will be the Tech vs. Arizona football game at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Jones Stadium. All Tech fathers will be honored, and special presentations will be made to the dad with the most children attending Tech and the dad who traveled the greatest distance to attend.

Toffler talk slated today

Alvin Toffler, author of "Future Shock," will be guest speaker tonight at 8 p.m. in the Lubbock Auditorium for the All-University Convocation.

The convocation is a part of the activities of Tech's 50th anniversary celebration. Wednesday, the University Daily erroneously reported Toffler would speak Wednesday night.

After the address, there will be a reception in the University Center Coronado Room from approximately 9:15 or 9:30 until about 11:00. Refreshments will be served, and persons will be given the opportunity to meet Toffler to talk and ask questions.

The reception is sponsored by the 50th Anniversary Activities Committee.

Guard to remain on alert in Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The National Guard will remain on alert in the Boston area despite criticism by Mayor Kevin H. White that it comprises "an inept, incompetent, ill-equipped, undisciplined or undertrained militia."

Gen. Vahan Vartanian, adjutant general of the Massachusetts National Guard, said his troops would remain in the city as long as they are needed. He said the men are well trained and well equipped.

"I take my orders from the governor; he is the commander-in-chief," Vartanian said.

Gov. Francis W. Sargent ordered the guard mobilized Tuesday following a disturbance at Hyde Park High School in which eight white students were hospitalized, one with a severe stab wound. Sargent also asked President Ford to send in federal troops, but the request was denied.

In a statement opposing deployment of the Guard, White said, "We cannot allow this city to become another Detroit, where it took dozens of civilian deaths at the hands of the police and National Guardsmen to bring in the federal troops."

"We cannot permit Roxbury — a black section of the city — to become another Watts. We must not allow South Boston High to become another Kent State," the mayor said.

Meanwhile, the Pentagon said Army paratroopers at Ft. Bragg, N.C., have been placed on increased alert in case they may be needed in the Boston school crisis.

Defense Department spokesman William Beecher said the move was purely precautionary and added that paratroopers would be used in Boston only as a last resort.

Mayor White's statement came shortly after the opening of Boston Schools Wednesday. No major incidents were reported, and rain fell throughout the day.

Attendance at Hyde Park High School, the scene of trouble Tuesday, was off sharply. About 250 policemen patrolled outside the high school and in its corridors. One youth was arrested on charges of assaulting a police officer.

Tech to launch United Way drive Monday

The Tech student United Way campaign drive will kick off officially Monday night with Panhellenic and Interfraternity Council heading an off-campus door-to-door campaign beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Students in Advertising 431 will be selling doughnuts and coffee in the lobbies of the dorms from 10-12 p.m. All proceeds will go to the United Way campaign.

Sunday, October 27, from 2-8 p.m., the Student Association will sponsor a rock concert in the Murdough-Stangel pit. All contributions will go to the United Way. Admission is $1.

Three local groups, The Buzz Brothers, Weldon Housenlock, and Ace Pancakes have offered to perform free of charge for the event.

Acupuncture found useful in treating many ailments

By MORRIS WILKES
UD Staff

Meridian therapy, commonly known as acupuncture, is a 5000-year-old Chinese system of natural healing concerned with restoring proper energy flow to the various organs, glands and tissues of the body.

Dr. H. W. McIlroy of Brownfield, who has studied the ancient art with acupuncture masters in Japan, Hong Kong, Korea and Taiwan, discussed his practice of the Eastern technique during a recent public lecture.

"I became interested in acupuncture due to my son's skin problem," McIlroy said. "It parallels my practice as a chiropractor because we are interested in treating the cause of disease rather than the symptoms."

McIlroy explained acupuncture balances and harmonizes the body energies. "There are 12 systems of energy in your body," he said. "These systems are called meridians or pathways of energy located just beneath the skin's surface. When any of these meridians become unbalanced, a problem occurs."

There are other causes of disease besides interference with transmission of energy flow, McIlroy said. Psychosomatic states, hereditary factors, poisons, adverse environmental conditions, injury, germs, malnutrition and many others are disease-producing.

The disturbance of energy flow in the body is detected by locating meridian points, pain points, organ reflex spots, pulse or instrument finding.

After the disturbance is located, related skin points are determined. McIlroy said more than 30 methods of stimulation may be used in treatments. Some of those methods include needle insertion (the most common form), non-piercing needles, finger-tip pressure, electrical stimulation and burning herbs over the point.

"The human body is very intelligent," McIlroy said. "The body is capable of correcting itself. Acupuncture acts only as stimulation for the body to correct the problem."

Conditions treated with acupuncture run into the hundreds. McIlroy named some of the more common ailments which have been successfully treated. Those include headaches, digestive problems, asthma, coughs, arthritis, ulcers, heart trouble and emotional problems.

McIlroy said many of the meridian points which affect certain body organs are located some distance from those organs. As examples, McIlroy pointed out the treatment of certain meridian points in the ankle which affect muscles and nerves in the neck.

"It is a good idea to run your bare feet over a pop bottle because almost all of the 12 systems of energy flows travel through the feet," McIlroy said. "No good acupuncturist goes to sleep at night without first squeezing his toes."

McIlroy related results and failures with acupuncture treatments. He said 80 percent of those treated are benefited. The other 20 percent do not receive full results due to a number of reasons including age or progression of the disease.

McIlroy asked others in the medical profession to study acupuncture with an open mind. Many have discounted this type of treatment because of politics in the medical world, according to McIlroy. "A Western doctor has to change his thinking to accept this oriental medicine."

The average cost of treatments across the United States ranges from $25 to $50 per treatment. McIlroy said Nevada is the only state which regulates and licenses acupuncturists. There are no controls or regulations on acupuncture in Texas and most doctors who use it do so as another method in their over-all practice.

Those not licensed to practice medicine in Texas, such as chiropractors, may not use the needle methods of acupuncture. The use of needles in Texas is classified as practicing medicine.

McIlroy said veterinarians also use many techniques of meridian therapy in their practices. "Since results are what count and acupuncture produces results, hopefully acupuncture will become a factor in all types of medical procedures," he said.

False fire alarm results in arrest

A Tech student has been arrested for turning in a false fire alarm in Doak Hall. The arrest was the first in connection with a campus wide rash of false alarms.

According to Lt. R. T. Hamilton of the University Police, "The only reason we can come up with for the false alarm craze is that the persons committing the crimes like to see the buildings evacuated. The empty rooms are also easily accessible to burglars." Hamilton said that theory is supported by the thefts reported after the alarms.

The case has been filed at the Criminal District Attorney's office. A false alarm report is a class "A" misdemeanor, punishable by not more than a $2,000 fine, one year in prison, or both.

Lewis Jones, dean of students was unavailable for comment about possible university action.

Hamilton said due to the frequency of false alarms, the city fire department will no longer roll trucks unless they receive an actual call from the dorm where the alarm has been turned in.

Unless the size of the fire is specified, the city sends all trucks, resulting in a large capability loss when a false alarm is answered. Dorm residents are also reluctant to leave their rooms for alarms because they think each is another hoax.

Mitchell given partial alimony

NEW YORK (AP) — Martha Mitchell Wednesday was granted temporary alimony of $1,000 a week, one-third of the sum she had demanded from her husband, former U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

In making the award, State Supreme Court Justice Manuel Gomez noted Mitchell grosses $5,281 per week and his fixed weekly expenses amount to $2,744.40, leaving — prior to taxes — the sum of $2,536.60.

The alimony decision is a preliminary to Mrs. Mitchell's suit for separation. She has charged abandonment.

Mitchell currently is on trial in Washington on charges of taking part in the Watergate coverup.

Drugs could relieve pain

Infection may be linked to arthritis

NEW YORK (AP) — Evidence that a peculiar infectious agent is a cause of rheumatoid arthritis was reported Wednesday by doctors at Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center.

If this is truly so, then drugs attacking the organism might relieve the pain and crippling of the arthritis.

The infectious agent causes uveitis, an inflammation of deep tissue layers of the eye, "and we believe it also causes rheumatoid arthritis and some other diseases," said Dr. Emil Wirotko, an ophthalmologist.

When eye fluid, or aqueous, from patients with uveitis was injected into guinea pigs and mice, most of them died within a year. Further, a small but significant number had developed chronic arthritis, enlargement of the spleen and hepatitis.

The same things happened to animals injected with fluid from the joints of people suffering acute bouts of rheumatoid arthritis, Dr. Wirotko told a New York Academy of Sciences meeting.

So it seems the same organism is involved in the joint and eye problems, he said.

Doctors have often observed the eye disease co-existing with joint or back problems, he continued. Some uveitis patients come down with back problems, and some with joint problems develop uveitis.

Dr. Wirotko is director of the microbiology laboratory at the Edward S. Harkness Eye Institute of the Medical Center here, and worked with Dr. Lewis Johnson, a pathologist at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Two anti-TB drugs, Ethambutol and Rifampin, seem to be producing good results in treating uveitis, for which there had been no treatment before, Dr. Wirotko said.

He has heard indirectly, he said, that some patients treated for TB with Ethambutol had noticed an improvement in their arthritis.

One peculiarity of the organism is tissue samples taken from most uveitis patients fail to produce micro-organisms when cultured.

But microscopic examination shows a variety of microbe-like forms, ranging from clusters of cigar-like bodies to "spider-like" tangled filaments, the ophthalmologist said.

Baker says activities of CIA 'frightening'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., who served as vice chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee, says the partial knowledge he acquired about the Central Intelligence Agency has left him "frightened."

"I don't think anybody in Congress knows what the intelligence community is up to," Baker said in an interview Tuesday.

Baker said the Senate investigated the break-in at Democratic party quarters in the Washington, D.C., Watergate office complex, "the CIA influence popped up so many times. Every person at the Watergate had a CIA connection. One says even now that he believed he was working for the CIA."

Baker said he would not outline some facts he learned concerning CIA and other United States intelligence operations because they remain classified. He said one of the last acts of the Watergate Committee was to ask declassification of materials of which he spoke.

"When we asked for more information during the Watergate investigation, what we ran up against was a stone wall," Baker said.

Despite criticism of the CIA, Baker was among those who helped turn back a bid in the Senate earlier this month that would have prohibited all secret U.S. intelligence activities. The Senate voted only to bar covert spy operations unless they are specifically requested by the President.

Baker is the sponsor of a measure that would create a congressional oversight committee that would monitor more than 50 intelligence branches, ranging from the CIA to the Internal Revenue Service.

The proposal is now before the Government Operations Committee.

"I'm not declaring war on intelligence or even the CIA," Baker said. "There is a real need for intelligence, even secret intelligence — perhaps covert operations. But the thing that disturbs me is that I am not sure whether any of us have any knowledge of the way they are being conducted."

Scouting Corner

Jeff Klotzman

Speed demons and speed merchants, faster than jackrabbits and roadrunners — put all these cliches in a barrel and one has a pretty accurate description of the Arizona Wildcats.

As Tech defensive coach Bob Brown puts it, "If you hear any strange whizzing noises in Jones Stadium Saturday night; don't be alarmed. It's probably just an Arizona player getting unwound."

Arizona has probably the fastest and most agile personnel in all of collegiate football and a sparkling 5-0 record and a ninth place ranking proves it.

Talent is abundant in the skill positions where a top quarterback and two deadly wide receivers are the main arsenal.

Bruce Hill runs the show for the wildcats and Tech scout Ted Unbehagen said he has yet to see a quarterback who could run any faster. Hill likes to carry the ball off the option which is evident by his 20 carries against Utah last weekend. He also enjoys passing because he has two excellent receivers who can really latch on to the ball.

The top passing threat is Teopolis "T" Bell who Unbehagen said is one of the top receivers in the nation. Bell has caught 25 passes this season for more than 450 yards and is the Cats' chief gamebreaker.

Scott Piper is the number two passing threat and he has also been a busy man this season catching 20 passes for over 375 yards.

Hill isn't the only running threat on the Arizona squad as tailback Jim Upchurch also gets his share of the running duties. Besides Upchurch, Hill calls on Willie Hamilton to harry the defensive lines.

Unbehagen said the Cats' backfield has the classiest runners of all the teams Tech has faced this year which is quite a compliment considering how A&M moved the ball on the ground against the Raiders.

"Arizona uses their speed against pursuit," said Unbehagen. "They ask their linemen to hold a block for two counts against the defense which isn't hard for them to do because their line is quick and has agility. They feel their backs are so fast they can get through a hole in the time it takes for their line to hold the opposition at bay for two counts."

Unbehagen was impressed with Hill's poise in passing situations. He said Hill threw a lot of play action type routes and really knew how to hit the seams.

"Hill is able to loop passes over the undercoverage and in front of the deep coverage. A lot of those passes go for scores because those wide receivers have the moves."

Arizona's defense also conforms to the speed trademark. Tech's Mark Dove was impressed with their overall speed but said their chief ally was their offensive counterparts.

"Against Utah (which Arizona defeated 41-7), Arizona's offense controlled the ball for 98 plays which is tremendous considering a good offensive team should control the ball for 60 plays. Their defense just didn't have to play much and when they did, they controlled the situation.

Top man for the defensive eleven is noseguard Glenn Gresham, and Dove said he is one of the best Tech will face.

Arizona in a nutshell: Brown hopes Tech can cope with those unusual whizzing noises or it could be a long night for the Red Raiders.

Oakland game away from title

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) — Pinch-hitter Jim Holt stroked a two-run single, highlighting a four-run Oakland rally that carried the A's to a 5-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in Wednesday night's fourth game of the World Series.

The triumph gave the A's a 3-1 edge in the best-of-seven Series. The American League champions will try to nail down their third straight world title in Game 5, which starts at 8:30 p.m., EDT, Thursday.

The A's won with a typical Oakland rally-four runs on just two hits in the sixth inning. For a change, they displayed some long-ball punch but it came from a most unlikely source-winning pitcher Ken Holtzman.

Stripped of his bat during the regular season by the American League's designated-hitter rule, Holtzman continued to make up for it by swinging a big World Series stick.

He produced the game's first score with a long home run in the third.

But the Dodgers wiped out that lead in the fourth inning on Bill Russell's triple that sailed between Bill North and Reggie Jackson and rolled to the center-field fence.

So the A's were on the short end of a 2-1 score when they came to bat against Andy Messersmith in the sixth.

North, leading off, worked a walk on a 3-2 pitch that just missed the corner.

As the speedy Oakland runner took a lead off first, Messersmith threw over, trying to keep him close. He threw once, twice, three times. But then he tried North once too often and the ball bounced past first baseman Steve Garvey for an error, moving North to second.

Sal Bando snapped an 0-for-11 Series' slump with a single and North scored easily, tying the score at 2-2.

Next, Jackson walked on four pitches and the A's were off to a big inning.

Joe Rudi sacrificed the runners up with a bunt and that brought Claudell Washington to the plate.

Manager Walter Alston ordered Washington walked, loading the bases, and bringing up Fosse.

But Fosse got no farther than the on deck circle.

He was called back and Holt, a midseason pickup from the Minnesota Twins, was sent up to pinch hit.

Holt had gone hitless in 25 consecutive pinch-hitting swings during the regular season, but things turned out much better for him this time. He ripped a single to right.

Bando, of course, scored easily. Right behind him came Jackson.

Right fielder Joe Ferguson uncorked a fine throw to the plate that seemed to have Jackson beat. But the A's slugger slid around catcher Steve Yeager's tag and the A's led 4-2.

A moment later, Oakland had another run when Dick Green forced the runner at second base, scoring Claudell Washington from third base.

The four-run inning was the biggest by either team so far in this Series, plagued by puny batting attacks by both teams.

The first three games each wound up with the score 3-2.

Holtzman, enjoying the luxury of a three-run lead, wiped out the Dodgers in order in the seventh inning and, when he retired the first two batters in the eighth, it seemed he might be headed for the first complete game by an A's pitcher in the World Series since they were Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics in 1931.

But Jim Wynn walked and, when Steve Garvey singled, Dark came to the mound. The temptation of double relief ace Rollie Fingers, warming up in the bullpen, was too much to ignore and Fingers faced Ferguson, a longball threat who had boomed a two-run homer earlier in the Series.

The reliever worked carefully, running the count to 2-2. Then Ferguson swung and missed and the Dodgers' threat was over.

In the ninth, Ron Cey opened with a single, but Fingers struck out Russell and then second baseman made a brilliant diving stop on pinch-hitter Von Joshua and turned it into a game-ending double play, his second in two nights.

Swimmers slate meet

Tech's varsity swim team will participate in an intrasquad meet, at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Tech pool. This will be the first meet of the year for the Raider swimmers.

Captains Richard Sybesma and Bruce Williams will each handle a team. Coach Jim McNally said the meet will be run on a regular dual meet schedule as a part of the Dads Day activities.

Tech's swimmers open dual meet competition Nov. 16 against West Texas State in Canyon.

The first home meet is slated for Jan. 18 against the University of Houston.
