With a reminiscence of the past and an eye to the future, four days of festivities will celebrate Texas Tech's 36th year Oct. 19-22 as Homecoming—1960 version—presents the Tech-Southern Methodist grid battle, the traditional parade and bonfire, the queen's coronation and a campus lighted with 2,000 Spanish candles.

Launching the week's program will be the Freshmen Convocation in Tech Union Ballroom, Wednesday, Oct. 19. The meeting, coordinated by Jerry Parsons, last year's freshmen class president, will feature Frank Junell, local businessman, as guest speaker. Class officers will be presented at the convocation and the freshman "spirit lantern," used to ignite the Homecoming bonfire each year, will be lit. Purpose of the gathering is to unify the class and build school spirit.

Following the Friday night, Oct. 21, pep rally, Alpha Phi Omega members will light 2,000 luminarios to decorate the campus. Luminarios—candles anchored in paper sand bags—are donated by Piggly Wiggly Supermarkets and will light Memorial Circle, Soapsuds and Engineers' Pavilions.

Tech's 1960 Homecoming queen will be crowned the same night by Bill Dean, Student Assn. president. Coronation ceremonies will be on the Science Bldg. balcony. Preliminary voting for a queen and four attendants will coincide with Student Council and class officer elections Wednesday. Final balloting will take place the day of the coronation.

Other Friday night activities include the various ex-student reunions. Classes from 1925-40 will meet in Caprock Hotel and classes from 1941-60 will gather in Tech Union Ballroom.

"Tech through the Ages" is the theme of the annual Homecoming parade, coordinated by Ex-Students Assn. Pres. and Mrs. R. C. Goodwin and Tech's Board of Directors will lead the parade in open convertibles. It will include floats, the Red Raider Band, Angel Flight, Tyrian Rifles, Sabre Flight and the Homecoming queen and her court. The SMU band has been invited to participate.

Parade float competition has 23 entries. Prizes will be awarded the winners in each of three divisions—fraternity, sorority and all-campus organizations. Sweepstakes winners will be given a permanent trophy and first and second place winners in each division will receive plaques. A surprise award will be given all entries.

Float judging will originate from the Pioneer Hotel balcony and will be based on effectiveness and overall appearance, coherence to theme, craftsmanship and originality. Panhellenic and IFC will appoint two judges each and Student Council will appoint one. A construction limit of $250 has been set on all entries.

Ex-students will be honored with a luncheon at noon Saturday in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum, sponsored jointly by TNM&O Coaches, Furr's and Dunlap's. Pre-game activities include presentation of the Homecoming queen and her court and float competition awards in Jones Stadium at 1:45 p.m. Awards for the best floats will be made by Lucian Thomas of Thomas Jewelers.

The annual Homecoming and ex-student dances will dominate the Saturday night schedule. Exes will dance in National Guard Armory from 8:30 until 12 p.m. Music is courtesy of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and KFYO Radio.

Students will meet in the Coliseum from 9 to 12 for the Homecoming Dance. Admission is $2 per couple. Music will be provided by the Kai Winding Sextet, a noted jazz group. Ann Marie Moss, Roulette recording Star, is featured vocalist. The Wayfarers, a Mercury recording trio from North Texas State College, will be intermission musicians.

With today as the deadline for queen candidate entries, these girls had been entered late Monday: Carolyn Calvert, Ouida Daugherty, Ann Fursman, Janis Jones, Judy Jonson, Joy Keller, Lani Langford, Carolyn Maniha, Beth O'Quinn, Beverly Quintanilla, Jane Sessums, Shirley Stephens, Joyce Tallman, Deana Ward, Helen Adams, Janice Cobb and Melinda Harrison.

ITS FOR REAL! — Bill Spain, freshman swimmer from Avstin, Minn., has apparently found a solution to Tech's water sprinklers.

ALL IN BLOOM — Kathleen Kelley, a freshman from Garland, settles down to enjoy the array of chrysanthemums, which this week are adding a stroke of gold to the campus landscape.

Student Council Beat

This year's Homecoming on the Tech campus will be earlier than ever before—Oct. 22. It is hoped that, with Southwest Conference membership, the new stadium, and the new atmosphere on the campus this fall, Homecoming will be the best ever. This, of course, depends to a large extent on how well the alumni of Tech respond. But it also depends upon how well the student body responds.

The student council does not sponsor Homecoming, it merely works with the Ex-Student Association, as does every other organization on campus. But we have some definite responsibilities. One of these is to tell the students what is being done and how they can help. Many of these things will be mentioned within the next two weeks. The thing I would like to talk about is participation in the Homecoming parade.

Entering a float in the Homecoming parade involves a lot of work, a lot of time and a lot of expense. Thinking of an idea to develop a float around is often a hard chore in itself. Finding a building sometimes presents another problem. Then the task of coordination and supervision and just plain work is involved. All of this leads to problems and difficulties. But I think they are all worth it for the end effect.

Homecoming is for everyone—but primarily for the alumni. Without the support of alumni the college would be in serious trouble and so would all the clubs and organizations, both local and national, under the college.

When an ex-student comes back to the campus he wants to feel welcome and he also wants to see his particular group or organization active and taking a part in campus affairs. If this organization doesn't even attempt to enter into the Homecoming Float competition you can imagine what kind of an impression this alum must get.

Homecoming parades are a big part of Homecoming. They add color, excitement and entertainment for the thousands of alumni, students and the public in general.

Therefore, I would like to encourage all organizations who can to participate—not just in Homecoming activities generally—but in the Homecoming parade specifically.

The Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Committee is attempting to make the word "sportsmanship" something more than just a word. So far it appears that they are succeeding. The committee is composed of representatives from each SWC school. The group holds two meetings a year—one in Dallas during Cotton Bowl week and the other in the spring. Their purpose is to promote good sportsmanship among member schools. This isn't an attempt to cut down on school spirit and enthusiasm. It is an effort to treat other schools, especially in the role of a host, as we would want to be treated if we were a visitor—with courtesy.

This year Texas Tech has had official representatives at all three out-of-town games—College Station, Austin and Fort Worth. We have been extended a great deal of courtesy and hospitality, especially at A&M and TCU. Of course at A&M, where school spirit is always high, a visitor must overlook some things. But I don't think anyone will be treated any nicer at A&M than were our representatives. The treatment received at TCU was wonderful. I don't think it could have been improved upon in any way.

And now it is our turn to host an SWC school when Baylor comes here Saturday night. There are activities planned for their representatives before the game. However, the important thing is not what our student officers do in the way of receptions, dinners, etc. The real important thing is how you, the students of Tech, treat our guests. And just as I mentioned earlier, if you will treat them as you would like to be treated in Waco or Dallas, or any place else, the situation will be well taken care of Saturday night.

On Tech Campus

Thefts Present A Problem

Destruction and theft of private property is a recurring problem in any community. A college campus with 10,000 persons is no exception.

At Texas Tech last year there were some 60 cases of theft or other vandalism reported to college officials. Of these, 42 were prosecuted or otherwise cleared by recovery of property.

Most prevalent among the acts were theft of textbooks and of accessories from cars parked on campus lots, usually late at night. Pay telephones around the campus were the subject of some vandalism. Some of the acts were by Tech students; some were not.

Two aspects of the problem are clear. First, campus police cannot possibly patrol the parking lots and buildings thoroughly enough to dispel theft and vandalism to any great extent, particularly late at night. Secondly, articles which do not bear identification of the owner are practically impossible to trace or return.

In a practical sense, the solution — and that only at best a partial one — is for students to mark their textbooks and items which could be stolen in a manner which cannot be removed. Particularly this should be done with auto accessories.

Books which are stolen and sold to any bookstore must by state law be returned to the owner provided the owner has identifying marks on them. Textbooks without students' names in them are impossible to trace.

The only actual solution to the problem is that which is apparently impossible for most persons — for individuals to show enough personal honor and integrity to forego acts below their standards of behavior.

In most law schools, students are on their honor to not take expensive law books and other items, as well as not to cheat on quizzes. Under this system, students are not required to remain in classes while taking exams. Apparently the ethical standards of law students are far above those of most individuals.

Even so, college-level individuals should have the personal integrity not to stoop to common theft; those who do have no right to belong in a university community.

The Toreador Mail Call . . .

Dear Editor,

By all means the Exes do enjoy the Homecoming parade as much as any of the festivities. The floats are something which signify progress and interest. Why not have them at the stadium during the game and show off all that work to everyone!

As for the early date of Homecoming this year, we are delighted. Let's have it early every year.

Sincerely,
Wayne and Jane Fahr
Texas Tech Exes

Dear Sir:

Homecoming weekend is fast approaching and I wish to take this opportunity to encourage all campus organizations to take part in Homecoming activities—particularly, with reference to the parade.

Due to various reasons, some organizations who had previously entered floats did not participate in the parade last year. Some of the reasons were lack of time, excessive cost, time consuming (away from the books), no place to build, etc. Each of these reasons may well be valid, but this year's Homecoming is unusual, to say the least. It is time for many sacrifices by all to make this one a tremendous success.

Numerous campus changes, enlarged stadium, and Southwest Conference membership will bring the largest group of Exes back in Tech's history.

I do hope each organization will carefully evaluate its circumstances and see fit to place its float among the parade. Four years to participate is a short time in comparison with the years the students will have the opportunity to come back to Tech as an Ex to enjoy the game, parade, and other fine activities.

Sincerely,
Roy T. Grimes, '53

BSO Plans Banquet Honoring Presidents

The first annual Board of Student Organizations' presidents' banquet is planned for 6 to 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Ballroom. Presidents of campus organizations will be recognized at the banquet. The affair is planned as an annual event in the future for BSO members. Entertainment will be provided by the newly-formed Tech Stage

Band, and Harry Walker, assistant professor of economics, will speak. Dick Toll, president of BSO, requested Monday that all presidents RSVP as soon as possible. Any president who did not receive an invitation or who has just been elected should contact the dean of men's office for details of the banquet.

Coliseum Lot Receives Student Parking Ban

Many Tech students have been finding violation tickets on their cars parked in the coliseum parking lot this year. An agreement was made last year between city officials and those of the college to prohibit student parking in the coliseum lot. Because of the large number of Tech students' cars parked in the lot, there was little room left for people to park who wanted to attend events at the stadium, coliseum and auditorium.

Bill Daniels, head of Traffic Security Patrol, said students now parking in the coliseum lot should park in the large lot east of the stadium and in the dirt lot south of the dairy barn. Daniels said that only 230 students had parked in the lot south of the dairy barn. The lot holds 600 cars.

Dr. Larson Heads State Speech Group

Dr. P. Merville Larson, head of Tech's speech department, was elected president of the Texas Speech Assn. at an annual meeting in Houston Thursday through Saturday. The newly-elected president served as vice president last year and was in charge of the association's programs.

Faculty Receives Study Plan Details

A general faculty meeting has been called for 4 p.m. Thursday in the Tech Union Ballroom. Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Tech president, has announced that aims and procedures to be followed in conducting a comprehensive two-year institutional self-study program will be outlined. The proposed program will begin in late October.

McDougald Faces Up To Error

NEW YORK (AP) — Gil McDougald, the veteran third baseman of the New York Yankees, faced up squarely to his fatal error in the second inning of Monday's fifth World Series game with Pittsburgh.

"I dropped the ball," he said with a bitter smile. "He didn't knock it out of my hand. I dropped it before he hit me."

With Gino Cimoli on third and Smokey Burgess on second, Don Hoak of the Pirates grounded to Yankee shortstop Tony Kubek, who tossed to third in plenty of time to get Burgess. But McDougald's error again put Pirate runners on second and third and Cimoli scored. Bill Mazeroski's double brought both home and the Pirates went on to win, 5-2.

Art Ditmar, the Yankee pitcher who was knocked out in the first inning of the first game of the series, was the victim.

QUICK - KICKS!

... and slow curves

by Billy Patton

Just between us, the Red Raiders looked pretty good Saturday night against TCU, and all you people out there in the stands deserve individual gold medals for your actions and reactions in that game.

It looked to us like there were more people from Lubbock at Fort Worth than there were at Austin the week before, and the ones that we saw were enjoying fine football and handing out wholesale encouragement to a struggling Raider club.

The remarkable thing is that at Austin, we sat in the open air with just a roof over our head, and heard nothing, but at Fort Worth we sat in their newly constructed pressbox behind glass walls and in front of teletypes clacking madly, and still heard the cheers. Congratulations to everybody.

— O.K. —

We were proud of our big E. J. Holub Saturday night. As the evening wore on, he kept adding weight to our prediction that he would outshine the Frogs' Robert Lilly, until Lilly left the field with an injury in the second half and Holub held the All-American spotlight all alone, at least for linemen.

TCU's Arvie Martin, Holub's counterpart at center, looked pretty rough, and the one-two punch of Harry Moreland and Larry Dawson is enough to make Froggie coach Abe Martin burst his buttons with pride.

— O.K. —

There is happiness and joy, and much celebration in this office today. For the first time in the four-week history of the contest, this writer bested Ralph Carpenter, Toreador editor, in the picks of the week.

In an all-out effort to gain redemption, your sports editor garnered an 80% notation while Carpenter dropped to 70%. He's still happy though, since the scheme pays on a seasonal record, and he still boasts a two-game lead.

— O.K. —

The faith that we had heretofore placed in Lance Alworth and cohorts was shattered Saturday, but we gained a healthy respect for the Raiders' next opponents, the Golden Bears of Baylor. Our opinion of the Bears has gone through several shades since the pre-season prognosticating, and now we wouldn't be surprised to see them knock off Texas when they meet the Longhorns Nov. 5. Notice that doesn't read "they will," it says "we won't be surprised if they do."

— O.K. —

We were highly pleased and entertained at the job done by Jim Brock, TCU publicity director, in Saturday's contest. First of all, Jim helped the Toreador and La Ventana tremendously during a tickle mixup the week before the game, then entertained us all and kept us informed over the press box loudspeaker during the game. Jim gave credit to the Tech boys wherever credit was due . . . something we haven't seen everywhere this year.

— O.K. —

Here's an oddity for you. Despite Texas Tech's winless record in conference play, two Tech lads hold down the first two spots in the conference scoring column. Dickie Polson ranks first with 20, Glen Amerson second with 19.

— O.K. —

We see where the Monday morning quarterbacks are calling quarterback sneak on the 49-yard line on a fourth and one situation. That's fine, if they would like to take the responsibility of plunging into a wall of muscle like that TCU line, even over the back of Holub.

Maybe we're too conservative, but we've seen Holub get down under a punt and smash a receiver with fumble-inducing force as often as we've seen him carry Amerson on his back for a bad needed yard.

We usually leave the second-guessing for the people who have appointed themselves football experts, but in answer to one of them, we will have to go down as supporting the decision that was made on the field, not the one made in the press box.

Frosh Open Season Featuring Top Stars

Texas Tech's Picadors, freshman football team, open their season Saturday night against the University of Arkansas frosh squad in Little Rock.

Leading the Raiders-to-be are seven members of the Texas High School North All-Star team, including the outstanding lineman in the North's victory, end David Parks of Abilene.

Other All-Stars are end Jim Hacker of Bowie, Guard Bev

Herdon of Sweetwater, center Dan Hennig of Whitewright, backs Doug Cannon of Levelland, Dick Hayes of Snyder and Charles Lipsey of Cisco.

The probable starting lineup boasts many stars from high schools throughout the state.

At quarterback will be Doug Cannon, Levelland star, who stands 5-11 and weighs 185 lbs. At split back, 165-lb. Charles Lipsey, speedster from Cisco, will handle the chores. Dickie Rogers, who shares with Lipsey the distinction of being the shortest boy on the squad at 5-9, will be at the full-back spot. Rogers was a standout at Breckenridge and weighs 175 lbs.

Dick Turner holds down the halfback position with his lean 6-0, 175-lb. frame. Turner played high school ball on the mighty Wichita Falls team last season.

At center is 198-lb. Ronnie Wasson, an ex-Monterey Plainsman singled out as one of the men who will be asked to replace All-American E. J. Holub after he graduates this year.

Guards will be Bill Shaha and Dave Brummell, who stepped out of glittering careers in Dumas and Albuquerque, respectively. Shaha weighs 203 and Brummell 184.

Tackle features a pair of big workmen, Dennis Watkins of McCamey and Jimmy Webster of Wichita Falls. Watkins weighs in at 196 and Webster tips the scales at 220, spread over a 6-2 frame.

Ends are Parks, the Abilene flash, at 6-1, 180 lbs., and Jim Potter of Dallas, 6-1, 186.

On the injury list is guard Bev Herndon of Sweetwater, a first-stringer until he sprained an elbow last week, split back Wayne Scott, fullback Gordon Beanguard, and quarterback Delbert Schaefer.

Tech also meets Air Force Academy in Lubbock Oct. 29, North Texas in Denton Nov. 4, and West Texas State in Plainview Nov. 10.

Pirates Recapture Lead With 5-2 Win Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—Elroy Face, the ace of the Pittsburgh bullpen, saved Harvey Haddix Monday as the scrappy Pirates went one-up on the New York Yankees with a 5-2 victory in the fifth World Series game.

It was the second straight sparkling relief job by Face in Pittsburgh's gallant comeback of two triumphs after a pair of humiliating defeats in the first three games.

The Pirates thus head home to Forbes Field to finish the series with a 3-2 edge in games, needing only one more to nail down their first world championship since 1925. After Tuesday's open date, the series will resume Wednesday. If a seventh game is necessary, it will be played at Pittsburgh Thursday.

Haddix, a 35-year-old left-hander who specializes in breaking pitches, struggled in the early innings but allowed only three hits going to the seventh.

When Tony Kubek and pinch hitter Hector Lopez each singled with one out in the seventh, Manager Danny Murtaugh came to the mound. After a few words with Haddix, Danny made a knee high sign with his right hand, indicating to the bullpen that Face, the man with the low fork ball, was wanted.

Little Elroy made Gil MacDougald force Lopez at second. He almost was out of the inning with a double play but Bill Mazerowski's throw to first pulled Dick Stuart off the bag. It didn't matter for Face then struck out Roger Maris.

Manager Casey Stengel, who had hinted strongly Sunday night he would start Rookie Bill Stafford Monday, probably wished he had done just that. Stafford, a 22-year-old right-hander brought up from the Richmond farm in mid-August, pitched five shutout innings. He allowed only three hits.

Pittsburgh nicked Ryne Duren, fourth Yank pitcher, for its final run in the ninth. Smokey Burgess singled to left and took second when Bob Cerv fumbled the ball. Joe Christopher ran for the slow-footed Burgess and moved to third on a wild pitch. Hoak sent him racing home with a single to center.

Haddix gave up one run in the second when Howard doubled off the right field wall, took third on an infield out and scored while Kubek was grounding out to Stuart on a ball that hit first base and bounced up into Stuart's hands.

The Yanks, who had hit seven homers in four previous games while piling up a .361 team batting average, had their homer Monday. Roger Maris slammed a Haddix pitch into the upper deck in right field with nobody on in the third. It was Maris' second homer of the series.

Murtaugh said right-hander Bob Friend, who was taken out early in the 16-3 Yankee romp in the second game, would be his pitcher in the sixth game. He said

Haddix was not tired but had trouble all year going more than seven innings.

Murtaugh said the liner that Richardson hit at Hoak could have been a turning point. "I don't see how Don ever saw the ball," he said. The catch became more important when Kubek and Lopez followed with singles.

Stengel said his sixth game pitcher would be either right-hander Bob Turley, winner of the second game, or left-hander Whitey Ford, winner of the third.

"If we had won today, it would have been Turley and then Ford," said Stengel. "I have two days to decide on my starting lineup for the next game."
