Declaration Of Criticism Is Issued

Brussels Parley Then Adjourns To Give Tokyo Time To Act

BRUSSELS, Nov. 15 (AP)—A declaration summarizing the Far Eastern conflict and criticizing Japan was adopted today by the Brussels conference, with Italy voting "no," and three Scandinavian countries abstaining.

The Italian delegate, Count Luigi Aldrovandi-Marescotti, said he must vote against the summary because Italy believed it presages a course which can lead only to complications.

The conference voted against sending a copy of the declaration to the Japanese government, then adjourned until November 22.

The declaration was prepared by the United States, British and French delegates.

Asked what the conference would do at next Monday's session, Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Spaak said that the clue was to be found in the last paragraph of the declaration.

It asserts that, while hoping Japan will not maintain its twice-voiced refusal to attend the conference, the states represented must consider what is to be their common attitude in a situation where one party to an international treaty insists its action does not come within the scope of that treaty.

Denmark, Norway and Sweden abstained from today's vote.

It was felt that the week's adjournment might give Japan a third and final chance to make some conciliatory gesture before the start of the second phase of the conference—probably discussion of the appeal of the Chinese delegate, Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, for direct aid to China.

Jap Forces Launch Drive For Nanking

SHANGHAI, Nov. 15 (AP)—Japanese forces endangered China's whole "Hindenburg line" defenses today in a drive on Soochow.

The offensive westward from Shanghai, Japanese officers said, was the opening of a campaign against Nanking, China's capital, 125 to 150 miles west.

Advices from Nanking said Soochow was desolated by more than 700 Japanese bombs dropped on it within 30 hours.

Another Chinese capital, meanwhile, appeared in imminent danger in north China, Swift Japanese columns were reported within 15 miles of Tsinan, capital of wealthy Shantung province, Tsinan is the only provincial capital of north China still uncaptured by the Japanese.

Chinese defenses appeared to be crumbling under the weight of superior Japanese armaments, although the Chinese had about 400,000 troops in the field to Japan's 200,000.

Public's Aid Asked In Jobless Count

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—A plea from President Roosevelt railed all citizens today to help the government find out this week the number and location of the unemployed.

Climaxing weeks of organization for the voluntary census of the unemployed, the president appealed last night in a radio address for the support of all interested in finding a "permanent cure" for unemployment.

"The permanent cure," he said, "lies in finding suitable jobs in industry and agriculture for all willing workers. x x That is a long and difficult problem to find the answer to and it may take many efforts in the coming years to find the right answer. But in the meantime, we need more facts."

Only those unemployed or partially employed are to return the census cards which will be distributed tomorrow by 150,000 postmen to every home in the United States.

The cards are to be returned, postage free, by Saturday. When their answers have been compiled the government expects to know besides the numbers of unemployed; their ages, where they live and what sort of work they are qualified to do.

State Oil Allowable Due To Be Reduced

Production Ahead Of Consumption, Thompson Says; Sunday Shutdown Proposed In E-Tex

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (AP)—Oil operators attending a state-wide production hearing here today were informed a cut in current production was necessary.

Ernest O. Thompson, member of the state railroad commission, made the statement, asserting production had exceeded consumption due to a business depression and not only should current production be slashed, but caution in this connection should be exercised for several months.

Recently the commission, which enforces conservation laws in Texas, announced it would reduce Texas production, effective tomorrow at least 70,000 barrels daily.

The state allowable production currently was reported to be 1,417,524 barrels daily. The federal bureau of mines estimates of market demand for Texas crude in December was announced at 1,399,500 barrels daily.

Eastex Shutdown
E. V. Cottingham, chief engineer of the commission, recommended that the East Texas oil field be shut down for the next four Sundays for experimental purposes.

Testifying at the hearing, Cottingham said tests of pressure conditions could be made better under the stabilized situation which would result from stopping production.

In the last 30 days, he testified further, average bottomhole pressure increased 12.37 pounds per square inch. It was the first time in several months the pressure had registered an increase. The pressure on Oct. 12 was 1,118.56 and, on Nov. 15 was 1,130.53.

Cottingham said that he was recommending the shutdown for four Sundays at this time, in order to study conditions during that period, but he added he might request an additional shutdown thereafter, if he thought it necessary. He insisted the shutdown would be fair to all.

Rep. Clarence Farmer of Fort Worth claimed the reduction would cause a loss of two and one-half million dollars to oil men and in addition the state would lose a large sum in taxes.

On the other hand, Commissioner Thompson developed that if pressure was built up there would be greater ultimate recovery of oil.

THREE ARE HELD IN FATAL CRASH

ROSCOE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Three men were being held in jail at Sweetwater today while officers investigated a truck-automobile accident in which Peggy Joyce Hand, six years old, was killed instantly early last night. Justice of the Peace G. W. Butler was to hold an inquest, but no charges had been filed this afternoon against the three men, said E. L. Duncan, county attorney.

The accident happened a half mile east of Wastella. Officers said a truck in which the three men were riding struck a pickup parked beside the road and careened into a car occupied by six daughters of H. L. Hand of Wastella. Geneva Hand was injured.

Exemption On Low Incomes Proposed

Subcommittee Agrees On One Revision Of Profits Levy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—A house tax subcommittee tentatively agreed today to exempt all corporations having $5,000 net income, or less, from the undistributed profits tax.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ky.), in announcing this step to meet growing demands for tax relief for business, said it would apply to two-thirds of the corporations which have a net income.

A loss of some $70,000,000 in annual revenue will result, Vinson said.

"The committee, he added, "is still considering added relief provisions for corporations having net income of more than $5,000 and extending up to a bracket not yet tentatively agreed on. But the limit will be at least $50,000 net income or more."

Other Means of Relief
These additional means of easing the tax burden of business, he said, also were decided upon tentatively.

Allowing a carryover of operating losses for one year, to be applied against adjusted net income in the following year in arriving at the basis for the undistributed profits tax.

The loss from this relief provision would be several million dollars, he estimated.

A proposal to help firms in the deficiency assessment field, which would work out this way:

If a corporation has submitted a $5,000 deduction from the undistributed profits tax in one year and the deduction finally is disallowed, the firm would have 60 to 90 days after the final determination in which to declare $5,000 in dividends.

For the year in which the determination was made, Vinson said, the corporation thus could be relieved of paying an undistributed profits tax on an additional $5,000 on which it had not counted.

HAZARD REMOVALS CONSIDERED BY HIGHWAY GROUP

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (AP)—The highway commission today considered elimination of dangerous curves, narrow bridges and other hazards on highway 24 and further construction on highway 19 in North-east Texas.

Lamar county business residents pleaded for a new location for highway 24 between Paris and Broadway, with an assertion the present thoroughfare is one of the most dangerous in Texas.

North of Paris the road was relatively dangerous, they said, but urged improvement of the Paris-Broadway sector as the most urgent.

Van Zandt and Henderson county delegations were told surfacing of highway 19 between Athens and Canton has been recommended for federal aid and there was a possibility a relief labor project could be instituted to carry on the improvement from Canton to Fruitvale.

Mason, Llano, Kimble and Schleicher counties sought construction of an east-west thoroughfare through that portion of southwest Texas. They urged extension of highway 29 for the purpose.

GOES TO TRIAL ON CAR THEFT CHARGE

E. O. Smith of Ranger, went on trial Monday in 70th district court on a charge of car theft.

The state rested shortly before noon after charging that Smith had taken a car belonging to Leo Cooper. The defense, in opening, indicated that the defendant had borrowed and not stolen the car.

Officers here and at Sweetwater testified the machine was recovered in the Nolan county city.

The jury was due to receive the case early in the afternoon.

ALL OF FATAL ELIXIR TAKEN FROM THE PUBLIC'S REACH

CHICAGO, Nov. 15 (AP)—A month of coordinated activity of medical men and federal agents showed today that every traceable quantity of elixir sulfanilamide, a drug preparation which assertedly took 73 lives, had been removed from the public's reach.

J. O. Clarke of the U. S. food and drug administration said of the 390 gallons of the sweet, wine-colored mixture shipped by the manufacturer from Bristol, Tenn., and 40 gallons from Kansas City all had been traced except a few ounces obtained by itinerants and others who could not be located.

Participating in the speedy, nationwide search for the elixir containing diethylene glycol, were 150 to 200 federal inspectors aided by resources of state health departments, physicians and medical groups.

OUTLINES A 4-POINT PROGRAM FOR THE EXTRA SESSION

Reference To Levies Holds Importance With Farm Legislation, Wage-Hour And Other Bills

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt recommended removal of tax injustices "to encourage productive enterprise" today in submitting a four-point legislative program to congress.

In a message opening the special session which was read to the senate and house by clerks, the president asked "early action" on legislation on farm crop control, labor wages and hours, reorganization of the executive branch and planning of natural resources.

But of at least equal importance to members were these remarks on taxes:

"Unjust provisions should be removed provided such removal does not create new injustices. x x x Nor can we at this time accept a revision of our tax laws which involves a reduction in the aggregate tax burdens of those least able to bear them.

No Immediate Action
"We should give special consideration to lightening inequitable burdens on the enterprise of the small business men of the nation. x x x in this way we may also find assistance in our search for a more effective method of checking the growing concentration in economic control and the resultant monopolistic practices which persist today in spite of anti-trust statutes. A further search for additional methods to meet this threat, to free competitive enterprise is called for at this time."

Mr. Roosevelt did not ask action on tax revision at the special session a course advocated by many members of his party. He noted the question was receiving study by the treasury and congressional committees.

"Since your adjournment in August there has been a marked recession in industrial production and industrial purchases following a fairly steady advance for more than four years," he said.

"The present decline has not reached serious proportions. But it has the effect of decreasing the national income—and that is a matter of definite concern."

"Discussions with business men, large and small, and leaders of agriculture and labor, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, had made clear to him that "we have wisdom enough in the country today not only to check the present recession but to lay the ground work for a permanent recovery."

"If the people are as willing as the government to use the economic knowledge gained in recent years," he said, "this recession need go no further."

"With the exercise of ordinary prudence, there is no reason why we should suffer any prolonged recession, let alone any general economic paralysis."

"Despite some maladjustments, which can be corrected, underlying conditions are not unfavorable. He said the fundamental situation was not to be compared with 1929 and said the obvious immediate task was increase use of private capital to create employment.

"A little later," the president said, "I will address you further in regard to proposals to encourage private capital to enter the field of new housing on a large scale x x x."

On the four points of his immediate program he listed:

1.—"An all weather" surplus crop control plan aimed at "abundance without waste" and backed by new taxes should the cost exceed the regular budget.

"In that connection, he said: "I hope and believe that the supreme court will not again deny to farmers the protection which it now accords to others."

2. "Flexible" machinery to provide minimum wages, maximum See CONGRESS, Page 6, Col. 1

Stands At Stadium To Be Reinforced

Sway braces are to be placed in the west stands at Steer stadium before game time here Friday when Big Spring meets Abilene, school officials announced Monday.

An expert from an iron works was due here Tuesday to make a study of the stands with the view of installing braces necessary to take a sway out of the structure when loaded with a large crowd.

The stands were originally designed to be supported by brick work of shower rooms beneath. When these were dropped from the bids, braces were not added. Consequently the stands have shown a tendency to sway.

Should the work not be completed by Friday, admittance to the stands will be cut to the lower half where danger of sway will be overcome.

BELL STREET-NEXT IN PAVING PROGRAM

City workers Monday attacked the next scheduled paving job—four and a half blocks on Bell street.

E. J. McDaniel, city superintendent of operations, said that the project would be pushed steadily to completion, weather permitting. Interruptions due to cold weather, not a factor before in the 1937 paving program, are expected to occur.

PACKING HOLIDAY

HARLINGEN, Nov. 15 (AP)—Citrus orchards in the lower Rio Grande valley were silent today in a voluntary picking shutdown designed to strengthen prices.

Shippers decided on a four-day picking holiday extending through Wednesday after Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace had rejected recommendations that shipments be limited to 500 or larger.

SUCCUMBS

Dr. James I. Seder, (above), former missionary and ex-superintendent of the West Virginia Anti-Saloon League, succumbed in a Huntington hospital, a victim of pneumonia induced by exposure during 11 days he was held prisoner in an abandoned mine by kidnappers.

Kidnap Victim Succumbs To Pneumonia

Murder Indictments May Be Asked For Three Suspects

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 15 (AP)—Dr. James I. Seder, 79-year-old kidnap victim held 10 days in an abandoned coal mine in what federal agents declared was a futile $50,000 extortion plot, died early today of pneumonia.

Dr. A. K. Kessler who had attended the former state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, said "death was undoubtedly caused by exposure" during the 10 days his aged patient had been held captive.

Prosecutor E. E. Winters, Jr., announced immediately he would confer later today with Judge H. Clay Warth on the impelling of a special grand jury and that he would ask murder indictments against three suspects arrested by agents of the federal bureau of investigation.

Winters said he would ask the death penalty.

Lieutenant of Detectives Leslie J. Swann disclosed that 46-year-old Arnet A. Booth, one of the suspects, had been under suspicion from the day Dr. Seder disappeared.

This, Swann explained, was because it was learned that Dr. Seder and Booth had had difficulties about a check Dr. Seder endorsed for Booth. The other suspects were John Travis, 24, and Orville Adkins, 24.

Federal agents who brought the charges of attempted extortion were unable to explain how Dr. Seder was held in the mine, but expressed the belief he had been unguarded.

Hunters Await Tuesday Dawn

100,000 Of Them In The Wilds To Bring Down Deer

KERRVILLE, Nov. 15 (AP)—Tense huntsmen, 100,000 strong, fingered their guns today while they awaited the opening of Texas hunting seasons on deer and turkey at daylight tomorrow.

All roads led to the woodlands. Cities and highways in this hill country, the southwest, the east, the trans-Pecos and Canadian river regions teemed with the preparations of hunters. Throngs of whit-collar workers took to the open road and stopped only at "fast chance" towns nearest their leased acreages to buy "grub" and other necessities.

There will be early "bedding down" tonight because all will turn out in the pitch-darkness before dawn to take their previously-spotted places.

Texas' annual $93,000,000 wild game crop, greatest in the nation, this year will lure an estimated $25,000,000 for leases, arms, ammunition, motor fuel and other supplies from out-of-state nimrods.

Will J. Tucker, secretary of the game commission, estimated 100,000 bucks with at least one-pronged antlers, and 500,000 legal "gobblers" were ready for the kill. Of these, he figured, 30,000 deer and 20,000 turkey would fall by gunshot.

Life Is Strenuous Existence For Clare Tree Major Theatre Group

'Daddy Long Legs' To Be Played Here On November 30

Life with the Clare Tree Major Children's theatre—the group of professional, adult New York players which will present three plays here this season under the auspices of the Band Bookers club—is a strenuous existence full of unexpected adventure. With a change of place and plan for every day of the week, almost anything can happen.

Playing one day in a huge theatre or concert hall before the boys and girls of one of the largest Eastern cities, the company may move on, for the next performance, to the most unpretentious of school auditoriums in the smallest of towns. Every performance means a new kind of audience, a different stage, a complete change of living conditions. And all performances must be equally good; regardless of difficulties, the children of every audience must have the best that the company can give them.

Every day in the season the brightly painted trucks, carrying the scenery and properties of the three companies, roll over the roads—heading north to Boston, south for Texas or Virginia, west for Chicago and east for the return to New York. Regardless of weather or traffic conditions the trucks must reach the place of performance because each one must begin on time—excuses are not offered or accepted in the company. Difficulties are part of the job.

Plays and dates of the Big Spring performances are Daddy Long Legs, November 30; Pinocchio, January 14, and Toby Tyler, February 1.

Sights And Sounds ROBBIN COONS

Most people love a fire when it isn't their own but Darryl Zanuck loves a fire enough to gamble $500,000 on the spectacularly hot sequences of his pet production, "In Old Chicago."

Just before the "take" the studio smokepots get going, belching then—the fire. All at once Mrs. O'Leary's house spits fire. From neighboring roofs and windows great sheets of flame leap forth, hissing and roaring. A tree in the street, brittle and dry, joins the mad chorus of flame—and this time the panic is real, or looks it. The firemen are frantic, pouncing on their ladders while faint streams of water attack the inferno. The women and children are scurrying past the camera, fast as they can, to get out of the heat.

It's all over in two minutes. And while the movie firemen are collecting their extra's checks, real firemen are putting out the fire with modern equipment.

READING AND WRITING By JOHN SELBY

CHRISTOPHER MARLOWE: THE MAN IN HIS TIME, by John Bakeless; (Morrow; $3.75).

Christopher Marlowe was born in February, 1564, two months before Shakespeare. They appeared as promising young men in London about the same time, turned to the theatre for expression and livelihood and left their undying influence on English drama and poetry.

But while Shakespeare lived to a ripe old age to perfect his art, and all who knew him spoke of him with love or admiration, the case was different with Marlowe. The son of the Canterbury shoemaker left Cambridge after a battle with the dons for his degree; atheistical rumors circulated about him wherever he moved; and at the age of 29 he was stabbed to death in a tavern at Deptford.

The others present when the poet died were rather unsavory characters. One was listed in police dockets as a cutpurse. One was a spy in the Mary Stuart-Elizabeth death duel. The third, Ingram Frizer, who wielded the dagger that struck Marlowe down, was a gentleman-villain, ready for any enterprise that promised profit or advancement.

It is because Marlowe died young—and violently—that readers and scholars alike have taken kindly to his cause. The scholars, in fact, have kept him a close prisoner, ever since Charles Lamb in the 19th century revised some of Marlowe's work and praised it to the skies. They have written pamphlets by the hundred, books by the score. Some seven years ago Professor Tucker Brooke, one of the best of Marlowe's editors, published a comprehensive account of the dramatist which was prefixed to a library edition of the poet's work.

Now comes Professor John Bakeless, who augments the "Life" written by Brooke with biographical material unearthed since 1937, including the results of his own researches on a Guggenheim Fellowship in England.

For those who wish a glimpse of Marlowe and the stirring times in which he lived, Professor Bakeless's book, with its efficient appendices and index, may serve as an introduction, although it is likely that its appeal will be confined to those already somewhat familiar with Marlowe literature.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm. The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children. Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

Coach Pat Murphy will probably have very little time in beginning training after the present football season plays out. Since he will probably be no basketball mentor is expected to either have his boys out for track or put them back in uniform for next year's grid season.

It is Murphy's belief that a turn at the track and field events may help his boys in football and he says Carmen Bradford may tutor the largest squad to ever represent the local school on the cinder paths next spring.

Prospects are good, too, for a winning track team which differs widely from hopes of other years. Heretofore only a few of the hopefuls took part in the popular sport and only a few meets were entered.

Weldon Elgony, Red Cunningham, Charles Ray Settles, Raymond Lee Williams have specialties. There are many others who will figure.

There is very little possibility that the high school will have a basketball team since construction has not started on the new gym at the local cages could play all these games on other courts and could practice either on the Forsan or Oshoma gym.

Many local grid fans are expected to flock to Fort Worth next Saturday to watch Cordill and the Flowers in action in Fort Worth.

The injury to Olie Cordill in the Texas A. and M. game last Saturday probably hurt the Rice Owls chances to cop the game but Olie is expected to be back in the lineup against Texas Christian Saturday.

Reports of Cordill's and Ernie Lina's prowess still come in. Recently received by this department were several wiregrams of a sensational game played with Kansas two Saturdays ago in which the Owls won, 20-14.

From the Houston Chronicle: Olie Cordill, the long-legged back, as having a race with Jack Robbins, crack back of the Arkansas team. The ball sailed through the air. Olie gave one last dig of his bats, reached the end zone, held his hands at the same time that Robbins leaped into the air.

There was a gasp and then there was a frenzy. The ball had sailed into Cordill's hands and he ran circles around it in that end zone clasping the ball to his chest as if it were the most precious thing he ever held.

According to the Houston Post, Benny Keane, Houston baseball player, was watching Olie to catch the pointers on playing the outfield for the Buffs next season.

Olie punted three times for an average of better than 39 yards in a game, returned three punts for a total of 78 yards, returned one kick for 26 yards and had an average gain at totting the pigskin of yards.

Olie recently overtook Billy Patton of Baylor in the punting department and now leads the entire southwest conference in kicking, is the only punter to average more than 40 yards per try.

The two boys will return to central Texas Dec. 4 when the Owls take the Southern Methodist in Dallas.

Abilene fans who are waging the coming battle between the Owls and the Longhorns here today are not giving more than a touchdown.

Reason: Murphy is expected to have success in stopping the Abilene plays than any other team the simple reason that he has all the formations used by Wey Mayhew by heart.

Fans who flock to the sidelines expect to see a close battle and good ones.

Thanks to the local theatre management, the entire local football and are being treated to one view a week. The team goes in snugg as guests of J. Y. Robb.

Winners May Be Decided In Nine Hi Districts

Locals Stand In Path Of Abilene

Amarillo Meets Borger, Conroe Battles John Reagan

DALLAS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Nine of the Texas interscholastic league's 16 districts should have a winner, or at least a definite indication, before firing ceases on a half hundred gridrons next weekend.

Foremost in the list of district title scraps is the meeting at Amarillo between that city's famed Golden Sandies and Borger. Three years the state schoolboy champions, Amarillo will be battling a wild Borger band that is tied for the leadership.

Seven districts will remain clouded until traditional Thanksgiving day games. Included in that group are:

District 4, Austin of El Paso vs. El Paso; District 5, Sherman at Gainesville; District 6, Highland Park of Dallas at Greenville; District 7, North Side of Fort Worth vs. Paschal; District 10, Lufkin at Athens; District 11, Temple at Waco; District 12, Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio vs. Brackenridge of San Antonio; District 15, Robstown at Corpus Christi.

Expected to virtually sew up their district flags next Friday are Vernon, district leaders, playing Wichita Falls, and Abilene, the District 3 leader filling at date at Big Spring.

Two Dallas schools, Woodrow Wilson and North Dallas, meet Friday for the District 8 title, while a great Longview team many predict will bring in a state title, must get by Marshall in their District 9 scrap at Marshall.

Conroe, defeated and untied, rates the favorite over John Reagan of Houston in their District 13 game at Houston that could definitely bring in Conroe a winner.

The status of the jumbled District 14 race, where Beaumont and Port Arthur remain deadlocked, will not be determined until an appellate court acts on an appeal from a lower court which attempts to establish the eligibility of the potent Port Arthur Yellowjackets.

Montague Gets Crowd Fright

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Having observed the formal debut of John Montague in big league golf, it is possible to reveal now glaring weaknesses in the game of the big muscle man from California.

Montague is prone to slice badly off the tee if, at the top of his swing, some admirer at his elbow hollers: "Watch it Monty, old boy!"

His approach shots, sound in some respects, are inclined to wander off the line if there are over 3,000 persons between him and the flag, all of them shouting: "Down in front before I bust you one!"

Montague can be proved, about when he can't see the hole, and he is inclined to quit like a dog and concede a hole when his ball gets stuck off the green.

This data on golf's "mystery man" was dug up yesterday at the Fresh Meadow country club whose directors know better than to throw their manured pasture open to the public at a dollar a throw. Its members are going to be putting out of high-heel prints. Two months hence they will be digging discarded picnic baskets out of sand traps.

The facts are that Montague and a comely partner, Mrs. Sylvia Annenberg, tried to play an 18-hole exhibition against the world's foremost "Babs"—Ruth and Didirikson. They managed to do eight and a fraction holes without being killed, and they were lucky, at that.

The two Babes won, semi-officially, two up.

Montague came out of it comparatively calm. He hadn't been seriously hurt. Babs Ruth, shirt sleeves torn and tattered, reached the clubhouse brandishing a niblick defiantly and yelling: "Well, I still got one stick, anyhow."

There simply wasn't enough room to accommodate the mob. Practically every shot hit somebody. Putting was a sort of family circle, the nearest spectators leaning over to watch the ball drop.

Both Max Schmeling and Jim Braddock couldn't tell you much about the match. They weren't men enough, they admitted.

Montague's card read like this: 415 34x 65x. The first "x" came at the sixth, where the crowd wouldn't let him through to his ball for his second shot. He got another one at the ninth, where they swiped his ball and he quit. Temperamental, eh?

FAMILY MEN

CLARKE NAMED

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Honus Wagner, commissioner of semi-professional baseball, today named Fred Clarke, former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, president of the National Association of Semi-Pro Baseball Leagues of the United States.

PAIR OF MOUNTAINEERS

OWLS MUST HURDLE TCU FROGS

Baylor Meets Loyola Lions In Beaumont

DALLAS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Back to its normal, November status after a couple of merry teams had the idea they could make a one-horse race of it, the Southwest conference today was its old tangled, nail-biting self.

Only five more games are on the books, but here's what could happen:

1. Rice Institute could win it if they win only two of their three remaining games with Baylor, Texas Christian and Southern Methodist.

2. Baylor, still a bubble burst, still could win if Rice and either S.M.U. or T.C.U. conquers Rice.

3. Southern Methodist, and it could be proved, could hoist the flag if it whips Rice and T.C.U. and Rice obliges, first by losing to Texas Christian and then by whipping Baylor.

4. Texas Christian—It's getting worse—would have to beat Rice and the Methodists and then pray for a Rice triumph over Baylor and an S.M.U. decision over Rice's Owls.

5. And the payoff? Texas Christian, Southern Methodist, Rice and Arkansas, last year's titlists, could wind up in a quadruple tie if Rice loses to S.M.U. and T.C.U. and Christian beats Baylor while Texas Christian and Southern Methodist are playing a tie!

Or, simply speaking, Texas A. and M. and the University of Texas are the only teams without a little shot of some kind.

Next Saturday's game should clear muddier waters, especially when Rice invades Fort Worth for a classic battle that will pit the Owls' sophomore dynamiter, Ernie Lain, against Texas Christian's tiny Davey O'Brien.

It was Lain again who rumbled downfield on line charges in the last three minutes and scored a touchdown that nullified all of Rice's valiant work and gave Rice a 6-6 tie with the Texas Aggies Saturday.

The burly soph, who has almost single-handedly won three Rice games and accounted for a tie, dropped his pass magic and took to the ground in a surprise move against the Aggies. Numerous penalties for illegal shifting of the backs cost the Aggies dearly.

Just as sensational was O'Brien's great show against Texas, the little fellow scoring both touchdowns and tries for point in a 14-9 victory. They were O'Brien's touchdowns by right, for the 150-pounder passed and ran the ball down into scoring position.

The Rice-T.C.U. game is the only conference attraction but the invasion of the Pacific Coast by a Southern Methodist team which bounced back off the floor to whip Baylor, 13-7, was a feature. They met the University of California at Los Angeles.

Sophomores, led by "Red" Ewing, "General" Jackson, Bob Bellville and Chelsea Crouch, a brand new backfield combination, smothered Baylor, Ewing releasing a couple of touchdowns passes. Baylor scored on its old combination, Bill Patterson to Frank Huessner on a 40-yard heave.

Twice stopped after a rousing start, Baylor meets the Loyola of Los Angeles team at Beaumont in an inter-sectional game.

Arkansas, victors over Mississippi by 32-7, in a wild aerial show, goes out for another inter-sectional against George Washington of Washington, D. C., at Little Rock, while Texas and the Aggies, idle for the day, take time off to sock up schemes for their traditional Thanksgiving Day game at College Station.

Good Crowd Due To Watch Herd - Eagle Game Friday

Local Eleven Is In Good Condition

Dearing To Play, Jim Beam May Be Ready To Go For Abilene

Rumors that James Beam may be back in the Abilene lineup against his charges brought added worry to Coach Pat Murphy as he prepared to send the Big Spring Longhorns through the first of four drills this week for the Friday afternoon game.

Beam was the spearhead of the Abilene attack until he was injured in the Sweetwater game three weeks ago and was not able to help his mates in the important clash with Stephenville.

Murphy will have his squad intact for the all-important affair, however, and is expected to "shoot the works" against the coggy Dewey Mahew and his league leading War Birds, Durwood Dearing, probably the most improved player on the Bovine squad since he joined them for the first time this season, will be back in shape after an attack of bronchitis and will share the duties in the line with Captain Douglas Rayburn, who was shifted over to tackle last week against San Angelo, and Clyde Smith.

Scrimmage Due
The Herd will go through a stiff scrimmage early this week and will spend the remainder of the time rehearsing the plays which will be used in the game.

The Longhorns are expected to be better equipped against the Eagle plays than in any game this season since Murphy was assistant mentor there last season and is well schooled in Mayhew's system.

All the squad made the trip to Abilene November 5 to scout the Eagles with Murphy and his assistant, Carmen Bradford, and managed to see the Eagles in action against the Stephenville eleven.

The Mayhewmen freed a victory in the Big Spring game to clinch a tie for honors in the Oil Belt district and are expected to use their classic brand of football in an attempt to down the up and coming Longhorns.

One of the largest crowds of the current season is expected to be on hand at Steer stadium when the two teams line up at 3 p. m. Friday afternoon. It will be the second day game the Herd has played here and that, coupled with the fact that the pace setters of the circuit will form the opposition, should draw a good crowd.

More than 2,000 fans crowded into the stadium the last time the Eagles showed here. The Abileneans played one of their few night games two years ago and defeated the Longhorns, 18-13, on a final minute interception.

Grid Schedule Tapers Off

Pitt To Play Nittany Lions Of Penn, Rams Meet St. Mary's

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—The fortunes of war, abetted by the rigors of modern football schedule-making, had conspired to reduce the list of major undefeated teams to 12 today without affecting the unblemished status of the main contenders for the mythical national championship.

Pitt and Fordham in the East, Alabama in the South and California in the Far West still were riding high with the end of an exciting and unpredictable season in sight. With all due respect to the rest of the undefeated field, it seems that if a generally recognized national titleholder is to come at all it will have to come from among these four.

Pitt and Fordham stand out in the field of seven unbeaten eastern teams because of their representative schedules. None of the others—Yale, Dartmouth, Villanova, Holy Cross or Lafayette—has been called upon to tackle such opposition as Pitt and Fordham have overpowered. The game must be said for Santa Clara, Colorado and Montana, whose perfect records entitle them to give California at least a mild argument in the Far West.

Alabama, although its opposition has been almost entirely southern, stands alone as the South's lone unbeaten major eleven.

A definite falling off is noted in the quality of this week's program as many top-flight outfits rest before climax engagements on Thanksgiving day or meet secondary opposition in preparation for important tests on November 27.

High spots of the program include: All seven unbeaten elevens will keep punching away this week. Pitt, whose thrilling fourth-period rally routed Nebraska's unbeaten record, 13-7, can afford to take no chances with Penn State's pampered Nittany Lions, who nosed out Maryland 21-14. Fordham, idle last week, plays its annual game with St. Mary's Gaels.

Yale, with a tie with Dartmouth its only blot, matches its undefeated record against Harvard's powerful Crimson in the East's top-ranking game from the standpoint of tradition.

Dartmouth, which tied Cornell 6-6, closes its campaign against Columbia's Lions, who held Syracuse to a 6-6 draw. Villanova, which beat Boston university on Thursday, 12-0, tackles Temple's Owls.

Irish Back Again
The curtain falls on Big Ten competition but Northwestern notes the non-conference Irish of Notre Dame. The Irish handed Army a 7-0 beating.

Help With The Census

Since the Federal government has decided that a census of unemployed persons is essential to determining what is the best method of providing employment or of caring for those for whom there is no employment, it behooves each and every citizen to do what he or she can do toward making that census complete, or as nearly complete as possible.

City Manager E. V. Spence has, in compliance with request from Washington, named a committee to assist in doing this, but this does not mean that other people are debarred from helping in the work.

Cards will be distributed by post office carriers, which are to be filled by persons unemployed. There are some people, many people, who will have to be given assistance in filling the blanks on these cards, answering the questions which the government wants answered.

We will always have some unemployed persons, and since the government has taken the responsibility of finding who they are and of doing what can be done to give them work, every other person should feel at least a slight responsibility to do a part of it.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Portrait of a guy interviewing Sheila Barrett. You have just entered her apartment. Sheila's voice floats out of the boudoir:

"Throw your things on the floor, darling. No give them to Ethel. Ethel, take his things and fix him a drink. And fix me up a cup of soup. Maybe he'd rather have a cup of soup too. Darling, you do love soup, don't you? Ethel, fix him a drink and a cup of soup too. I'm exhausted. I've been rehearsing all afternoon. Some of those dopes lay me."

Ethel, I'll have some coffee with the soup. Maybe he'd like some coffee too. Darling you do love coffee with your soup, don't you? Ethel, fix Mr. Tucker a cup of coffee with his soup and his drink. I declare I'm a wreck. I've been rushing like mad since 1:30. Those dopes. Those morons. Ethel, any calls this afternoon? I'm hurrying, really, I'm just climbing into these pajamas and I'll be right out. How many calls, Ethel—17? What do these dopes think I am, a telephone operator. If anybody calls I'm not in. No, not to anybody. (single-ling-ling) Who is it, Ethel? It is? Oh, dammit, I guess I'd better talk. Hello, darling, sure I am, you dope. Why don't you send me some flowers and take me to dinner. I haven't had flowers in, well, let me see. I haven't had flowers in, well, day after tomorrow will make two days. No, darling, I'm positively exhausted. I have an interview tomorrow and then rehearsal, and two shows a night at the Rainbow Room. At the supper show last night I was on for an hour and 20 minutes. Positively exhausted, I was. Listen, darling, I can't really. That's a nice boy, call me again, won't you, there, thank you, darling, good bye.

"You see. See. It's like that all the time. Those dopes calling. Well, maybe I'd be sorry if they didn't call. Wants hear some records? Ethel, where's the phonograph. And the records, Ethel. Ethel, do you know where the needles are. Pardon me, but I'm going to collapse on the floor. I always listen to records better sprawled out on the floor. I'm going to play that take-off on Miss Cornell you said you liked. See, darling, what a nice floor this is. (tinkle-tinkle). Ethel I won't talk, I'm not in. I won't talk, I won't, I. Who? Oh, that dope. I guess I'd better. Hello, darling, what-t-t? No, I won't have dinner with you. Can't possibly. Well, I'm tired. Simply exhausted. Those dopes. What, Well, tomorrow then. Sure, darling. Good bye. Ethel, if that phone rings again (tinkle-tinkle-ling). Ethel, I positively, emphatically and unreservedly am not at home. I'm exhausted. No, no, no, no, who is it? Who? Oh, THAT dope? No, I won't talk. I'm exhausted. Wait, Oh, fiddlesticks, I guess I'd better talk. Hello? Oh, hello, darling."

BAR LEADER DIES: WACO, Nov. 15 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow morning for Samuel Henry Clayton, 68, president of the Waco Bar association for 13 years prior to his retirement in 1935. He died yesterday.

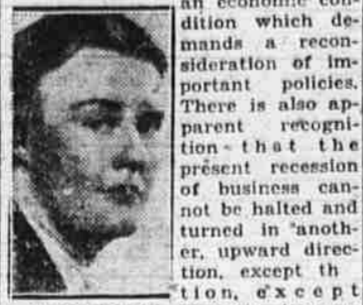

SEEK U.S. CAPITAL: TOKYO, Nov. 15 (AP)—The newspaper Nichi Nichi reported today in a dispatch from Hankow that attempts were being made to enlist one billion yen ($200,000,000) of American capital for development of industries in Manchoukuo.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

(Miss Thompson's column is published as an informational and news feature. Her views are personal and are not to be construed as necessarily reflecting the editorial opinion of The Herald.—Editor's Note.)

LET THERE BE LIGHT—BUT HOW? There are hopeful signs in Washington. It seems clear that the government recognizes that we are in an economic condition which demands a consideration of important policies.

THOMPSON through increased and more vigorous private enterprise. The condition of the national debt and of the budget will not allow another pump-priming action of the sort initiated in 1933. There's more reason and realism manifest in Washington than we have seen in many a long day.

But this column will continue to insist that we will see no impressive economic recovery and no permanent economic reform without a radical change in the methods that have been employed for the last five years. The change that is needed is fundamental. It is the introduction into government of reason, fairness and objectivity.

The government has tried to go forward in economic reform while it goes backward in liberal, ethical and political standards. But no one can "walk backwards into the future."

"Social progress is nothing more than the growth of social character," says the English liberal economist, George Unwin.

No government will ever succeed in reforming the social order, however much it may cower for a time some of its component parts, unless that government sets for itself standards of reason, thought and behavior somewhat higher than the standards of those whom it is trying to govern.

The most obvious place for immediate expansion of private enterprise, with increased capital expenditure and increased employment, is in the field of utility construction expenditures.

Utility construction expenditures comes within the classification of "durable goods" and "building activity," in which both government and business agree that there must be marked stimulation if we are to prevent further business recession.

In 1929, the utility industry expended $900,000,000 in the construction of distribution and transmitting lines and generating plants. In 1937, although its sale of electrical energy is 40 per cent higher than in 1929, it is spending only about half a billion. In line with its previous history, it should be spending at least a billion and a quarter dollars.

Now why isn't it? It isn't because the industry has been harassed by an almost daily barrage of criticism from federal officials; because drastic reformatory laws, such as the holding company act, demand difficult reorganization of financing methods and corporate structures, and, finally, because of unfair government competition. These facts can, and will be, demonstrated in greater detail in future columns. For the time being, we will confine ourselves to remarking that the acceptance of the terms laid down to the utility companies in the president's press conference, would not settle the difficulties of the utilities, and are not likely to be the basis for any reasonable and permanent settlement, satisfactory to anybody, including, in the long run, the government.

The president states that the rate which the utility companies charge for power should be calculated on the basis of the actual prudent investment, as against a rate calculated on the cost of reproduction, which, he says, has been the basis accepted by the supreme court in the past. That last statement needs qualification. The supreme court never has accepted reproduction costs as the sole basis for calculation. And if one is familiar with the basis of rate establishment used in other countries, which apparently have been more successful than we in working out a settlement between government and utilities, one will find that no such simple formula has been used anywhere.

The question of what should constitute the basis for the rate is an old-fight in American politics. The reproduction theory was invented, I believe, by William Jennings Bryan, in order to reduce the railroad rates, and recognized in the Ames case, handed down in the '90's. In the wake of declining price levels, the radicals always tried to substitute reproduction costs for historic investment. Then came the concern, in the first decade of this century, with railroad abuses, and Senator La Follette got through a law demanding the revaluation of the railroads. The process took about 20 years, and was completed only shortly before the great depression began. It cost the government and the railroads—chiefly the railroads—about half a billion dollars and demonstrated that the railroad investment book value was not actually too high, taken as a whole.

In the wake of the inflation of commodity prices during the great war, both the railroads and utilities demanded increased rates, and in the case of the utilities, the upward trend of growth in electrical development actually threatened to bankrupt them at the old rates.

The utilities' demand, in face of the fact that commodity prices had doubled, seemed just, and after years of litigation was granted—at a time when war inflation was declining and prices had become stabilized around 150 per cent of pre-war. This gave the utilities a break, because they were also in a dynamic phase of power development due to technological genius and new financing methods. Then came the deflation, and the radicals again asked adjustment to the new level of declining commodity prices.

All of which simply means that whether the radicals want rates based upon "prudent investment" or upon "reproduction costs" is entirely a matter of the price level they want whichever will give the utilities the worse break, or, as they think, whatever will give the consumer the best one. And their attitude of the utilities is the same. Neither is the basis for any permanent, or any really equitable settlement. The moral is that neither standard is fair.

The British socialists have been trying out a fair basis on which to evaluate utility investments for the purpose of transferring them from private to public ownership. Their conclusions will hardly be thought to be the propaganda of economic royalists Ernest Davies of the New Fabian Research Bureau, a realistic socialist economist, has just published a pamphlet entitled "How Much Compensation?" He makes the following statement:

"There are four possible bases of valuation, viz: (1) Stock exchange values, (2) Asset value (accumulation of historic price levels varying with each company), (3) Capitalized earning power, (4) a global sum based on the value that would be fetched in a sale between a willing seller and a willing buyer. Wherever the last is practicable it should be preferred; where it is not, a combination of (2) and (3) provides the best method. Compensation should then be based on a combination of capital valuation of the whole concern and its potential earning power."

So much for the ideas of a socialist. But the New Deal is not socialist. It is only, often adroitly, anti-capitalist—though dependent on the capitalist system.

As for the basis of "prudent investment" would the T.V.A. want to be investigated, and have its rates fixed on that basis? Or, for that matter, on the basis of reproduction costs? If it did, either way, it would be producing, I wager, the most expensive power on the face of the earth.

There isn't any simple formula for an equitable settlement. And yet a settlement, and a fair one, can be arrived at, provided the approach is objective. A conference similar to the one which broke up in childish pique some months ago needs to be reconvened, with utility executives, economic authorities in this field, and officials of the interested government agencies sitting at the same table. They need to determine a fair method for the sale of power from federal projects to existing public and private agencies, without ruthless competition; amendments to the holding company laws to permit utility financing while fully safeguarding the public against recurrence of past abuses, and finally, measures to stimulate utility investment and building. There are over a $1,000,000,000 ready tomorrow if such a settlement can be reached. (Copyright, 1937, New York Tri- bune Inc.)

The Timid Soul

MR. MILQUETOAST GOES TO A FOOTBALL GAME

Richard said: "Adorable," against her ear, and then began to kiss her—slowly.

Paddy McLean, in Dobbs Ferry, is a personal friend of mine, officer. Yes... You're a good sport, man. Thanks, I'll be careful. They started up again. Richard kept to a conservative

50. At Ardley they turned off, and after a few miles drove in between high entrance gates to a long, brick house, that overlooked the Hudson.

"What's this, Richard? It isn't an inn, is it?" And he said: "No. A friend of mine—Conroy—lives here, but he's wintering in Europe. Met him, this summer. He told me to use the place whenever I liked. His man used to wait for us both, in London, once. We'll be nicely—alone."

"Very—nicely." Richard had telephoned, so that the butler was ready for them. "I prepared the loggia, Mr. Chaloner, sir." They walked through a wide hall, and a living room—abandoned, not too gloomily, in slip covers, and on to the veranda.

Tea was a Joke A golden sun was getting all ready to sink later, behind the Palisades. There were golden asters, and bronze chrysanthemums in a vase on the table. The man lit the flame under a silver kettle, brought cakes and sandwiches, and stronger beverage in a decanter, which he placed on a low stand, and departed.

A smooth, sloping lawn, giant oak trees, and bright sky formed a frame for the river. A white yacht glided by. Nina said: "We'll be on a boat some day... you and I..." And Richard kissed her. "Tea, itself, was a joke, really. Nina said: 'You read things about: her lovely hands fluttered among the tea things. Like two white doves...' but I'm making a mess of it. I'm too excited—being with you."

"I'm not exactly—level-headed, at the moment, either, you know?" "Shall we abandon this?" Wrap up a few sandwiches and dump them out of the car, later, so as not to hurt the man's feelings." Richard laughed.

"That's like you. But forget the man. Think of my feelings... tell me that you love me, Nina." "I do—I do—I do." She took off her hat and threw it high up in the air. It fell down on top of the chrysanthemums, and she left it there. She ran both hands through her fair hair, with the fingers spread like a giant comb, and when she had finished she had a surprised, Alice-in-Wonderland look to her—her little ears showing, and her curls standing up behind.

Richard laughed his low, chuckling laugh, that was almost a growl sometimes, and reached her in three strides.

He said: "Adorable..." against her ear, and then began to kiss her... slowly... little ones, that were just pressing, really, against her temple, her closed eyes, her cheek.

But when he reached her lips, it was a different kind of kiss. It demanded, it took, it seemed never ending. And Nina never wanted it to end. It swept through her in a dizzying tide.

He released her to whisper something which she could not hear... but only for a moment, his lips were on hers again.

"What Shall We Do?" "Nina, you know what I've been meaning, don't you... don't you? We can go on this way..." "It isn't—necessary, now, Richard. Nina was whispering, her throat was clogged. She could scarcely force the words through. "I'm ready to face it now... at least."

"Nina..." "Richard..."

The championship of the Pacific Coast conference will be settled at Palo Alto when California battles Stanford, California, 28-0 victor over Oregon, must win or tie to clinch the crown.

Colorado's 35-6 rout of Colorado college and Denver's 21-6 conquest of Wyoming left the Rocky Mountain championship to be settled by the Colorado-Denver game on Thanksgiving day.

Clemson Figures North Carolina's upset triumph over previously unbeaten Duke, 14-6, left the Southern conference chase a three-cornered battle among North Carolina, Clemson and Maryland. Duke plays North Carolina State in the sole conference game this week.

Rice's 6-6 draw with Texas A. and M. left the Owls still sitting in first place in the Southwest conference but it is unlikely the championship will be decided until the closing games on December 4.

Two's Company

Chapter 40 "To Belong To You" At Yonkers they cut over to the Sawmill River road. Some of the maples were beginning to turn, but the rain had washed the grass a lovely, young green again. There were puffy, autumny clouds in the sky. Richard let the Renault out... 65...70... They were stopped by a parkway motorcycle cop, and Richard talked himself out of a ticket by using just the right amount of good fellowship and a hint of authority.

Richard said: "Adorable," against her ear, and then began to kiss her—slowly.

IN MEMORY OF OUR LITTLE BROTHER

It was night within the city
 It was dark up in the sky
 We were gathered at his pillow
 For it seemed that he must die.
 Please dear mother do not worry
 Was our darling's last request
 Then he hugged and kissed her gently
 With his hands upon her breast.
 Then our precious baby brother
 Fell to sleep to wake no more
 Where there was no pain to suffer
 On that bright celestial shore.
 He was just a snow white angel
 Jesus gave us all to love
 But now he's taken him to Heaven
 To brighten up the sky above.
 We can't see why He had to take him.
 He was here for such a short while.
 But our dear God must have needed
 Just a lonely, Needed little Billy to make him smile.

But God be lenient with him.
 Watch over our baby while he sleeps
 See that each little wish be granted
 Each little tear dried up if he should weep.
 Good bye our little brother.
 We'll try so hard not to grieve.
 We know you asked us not to worry
 Just before you had to leave.
 Now Jesus this is our humble prayer.
 That you guide our step aright.
 That we all shall again see Billy.
 The new star in Heaven tonight.
 MRS. CECIL R. LONG.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity of thanking each and every friend and loved one for each kind word of sympathy and for the beautiful floral offerings bestowed upon us during the sickness and death of our son and brother, little Billy Three Long. May God bless each and every one of you, our prayer. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Long and Family. -REV.

COTTON GRADES ARE BETTER THAN THOSE OF LAST YEAR

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (UP) - The U. S. department of agriculture said here today cotton grades for Texas continued somewhat higher than this period last year.

Smaller proportions were reported this year for staple lengths and white middling and higher grades constituted 57 per cent of that classed.

The crop reporting board estimated a slightly larger cotton, pecan and citrus yield than forecast a month ago and small reductions in corn, grain sorghum, peanuts and sweet potatoes.

Prospective yields per acre were reported considerably over those of last year.

NEGRO SOUGHT AFTER MAN IS STABBED

HONDO, Nov. 15 (AP) - An airplane and bloodhounds were pressed into service in a search for a negro who allegedly stabbed Roy Embrey, 26, to death here early yesterday.

The hunt centered in the hills north of Hondo. The plane was piloted by A. G. Holladay of San Antonio, a native of Hondo.

Witnesses said the negro killed Embrey when the latter came to the aid of Henry Moore, aged Hondo night watchman, who had been knocked down and was being kicked. The watchman had tried to break up a quarrel between the negro and a Mexican.

Texas Solons Get Farmers' Attitude

First-Hand Contacts Made Before Opening Of Congress

DALLAS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Most members of the Texas delegation went "fresh from the dirt farmers" to the special session of congress opening today.

In meetings the past several weeks, they sought views of rural constituents on long-range agricultural legislation.

Their intensive first-hand poll of farmers was without precedent in recent years.

Senator Tom Connally said before leaving for Washington he believed the Texas delegation was qualified to tackle the farm problem more intelligently than ever before as a result of the many meetings and the knowledge gained through "experimentation" of the last few years.

"Texas members of congress have known for some time," he said, "that a crop control program would come up for consideration at the special session. They had the good fortune to be at home so they were able to take this important question direct to the people."

A sub-group of the senate agriculture committee held two sessions in Texas, both of which were attended by farmers from a wide area.

Shortly after the session became a certainty, five Texas congressmen, including Margin Jones of Amarillo, chairman, and Richard M. Kleberg of Corpus Christi, member of the powerful house agricultural committee, went to a statewide farmers' parley at Taylor.

Other representatives there were Nat Patton of Crockett, W. Robert Ponce of Waco and Lyndon B. Johnson of Austin.

More statewide gatherings followed, and Reps. W. D. McFarlane of Graham, Clyde L. Garnett of Eastland, Charles L. South of Coleman, George Mahon of Colorado and others have met with farmers of their sections.

'Friendship Week' Idea Advanced

Here to promote local observance of his "Friendship Week," Robert I. Bell, known as the "sky pilot" had arrived in Big Spring Monday, contacting churches, business firms, civic organizations and individuals.

Bell, traveling preacher, is well known here, having spoken in Big Spring on previous occasions. Sunday he made talks at the East Fourth Street Baptist, the Fundamental Baptist and the First Baptist churches.

"I am seeking to enlist all organizations and firms in Friendship Week observance, from November 21 to November 27," he said. "I want to put the idea on a personal basis, encouraging each person to be friendly with those he comes in contact with each day, and to be making new friends."

OUT AFTER DEER

More hunters left Monday for the brush and hill country of southwest and far west Texas in quest of "flag and mule" deer. Among them were Dr. P. W. Malone and Rev. W. S. Garnett who were accompanied by Rev. Clyde Childress of Westbrook on a trip to the mountains. Dr. Lee O. Rogers left for Mason county. Jimmie Eason and George Choate, undecided where they would attempt to bag their deer, elected to take to the Davis mountains Monday.

More Challenges Against Black Are Rejected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The supreme court turned back today three new challenges directed against the eligibility of Justice Hugo L. Black to serve on the tribunal.

Three Florida corporations lost in their second effort to gain a rehearing of litigation on the ground Black was not qualified to sit in judgment.

The tribunal denied the petition for rehearing and a suggestion of disqualification filed by the Ryan Florida corporation and others.

They protested against efforts of the securities commission to obtain their telegrams, contending that Black, when chairman of the senate lobby committee had favored similar action.

The court also denied a motion by Elizabeth L. Seymour of Salamanca, N. Y., and Robert Gray Taylor of Media, Pa., for permission to file a brief "containing certain allegations affecting the legality of the oath" taken by Black.
