

Name change, pass-fail highlight faculty meeting

By CHARLES HICKMOTT
UD Reporter

The name-change controversy which has brewed on campus since Sept. 1, 1969, when Texas Technological College became Texas Tech University surfaced again Wednesday night in a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Faculty Council.

The Executive Committee of the Faculty Council accepted in its opening meeting Wednesday a motion to investigate the possibility of changing the name of Texas Tech University.

The motion, made by at-large representative Dr. Clarence Bell of the Mechanical Engineering Department and accepted unanimously by the Executive Committee, read:

"I MOVE that the chairperson of this Executive Committee appoint a committee to investigate the possibility of changing the name of Texas Tech University to one which more accurately reflects the role, scope and extent of the university."

Bell emphasized after submitting the motion that its passage would not change the name of the university. It would rather create a committee which would study the issue and make recommendations to the Executive Committee.

Bell said when introducing the motion that he was proud to be a member of what he considered to be a fine College of Engineering and that he hoped and expected the technological activities within the university to remain an important part of the university.

"However," he said, "I believe that the word 'Tech' in the university name creates a restrictive connotation which may adversely affect the university both in terms of funding and recruiting of first-rate students and faculty."

THE MOTION was made at the end of a three-hour meeting in which Dr. Mary Dabney of the Physical Education Department, the committee's new chairperson, presided.

The Executive Committee also discussed and tabled six recommendations for change in the pass-fail option.

The recommendations, drawn up and submitted by the Academic Affairs Committee, were tabled until an October 8 meeting at which the Executive Committee will review and possibly amend each recommendation.

The Academic Affairs Committee recommended the following changes in the pass-fail option:

-That the statement "Undergraduate students at Texas Tech will be allowed to take a maximum of 24 hours in which they will be graded on a pass-fail basis" be changed to read, "Undergraduate students at Texas Tech will be permitted to use a maximum of 24 optional semester hours of courses graded pass-fail within their degree plan."

-THAT THE phrase "Under the pass-fail option, no more than 5 hours can be taken in any one semester or 6 hours in a summer session," should be removed.

-That the phrase "and no more than 9 hours may be used in courses that satisfy general degree requirements" be changed to read "no more than 12 optional semester hours of pass-fail courses can be used to satisfy general degree requirements."

- (Recommendation 4a) That the phrase "courses taken in the declared major or minor shall not be taken by pass-fail" be changed to read "each major or minor area, with the approval of its college, shall be permitted to designate specific major or minor courses in its curriculum which may be taken pass-fail." Such courses should be identified in the University Catalog.

- (Recommendation 4b) Add the statement "Each department or area, with the approval of the College, may require that certain non-optional courses offered by the department or area be taken pass-fail only."

- (RECOMMENDATION 4c) Add the statement "Any non-major or non-minor course can be taken pass-fail."

-That "Students must indicate their desire to exercise the pass-fail option at the time of registration" be changed to "Students must indicate their desire to exercise the pass-fail option no later than two weeks prior to the last day of classes of the semester during which the course is taken."

-That "The status of the student taking a course under the pass-fail system shall be known to the professor and recorded on the professor's grade sheet" be changed to read "That the status of students taking a course under the pass-fail option shall not be made known to the professor."

In a memo which accompanied the recommendations, the Academic Affairs Committee said that it had reviewed the report of an advisory committee under Dr. William R. Johnson, Interim Vice President for Academic Affairs, and had discussed the matter with other members of the faculty. The committee also said that it had received suggestions and comments from representatives of the Student Association and individual students before making the recommendations.

A resolution, submitted by Student Association Internal Vice President Julie Martin, accompanied and concurred with the recommendations.

Student swimming pool to be complete by May

By GEORGE JOHNSTON
UD Reporter

Construction on the student recreational swimming pool is on schedule — even though it is a revised schedule — and should be complete by May, 1976, according to Norman G. Igo, director of new construction.

Igo said the schedule had to be revised because of a month long strike by construction workers.

The pool is now 20 per cent complete, Igo said.

The major feature of the pool, a heated, air-supported structure or dome, will be tested in May and should be in use for the winter months, Igo said.

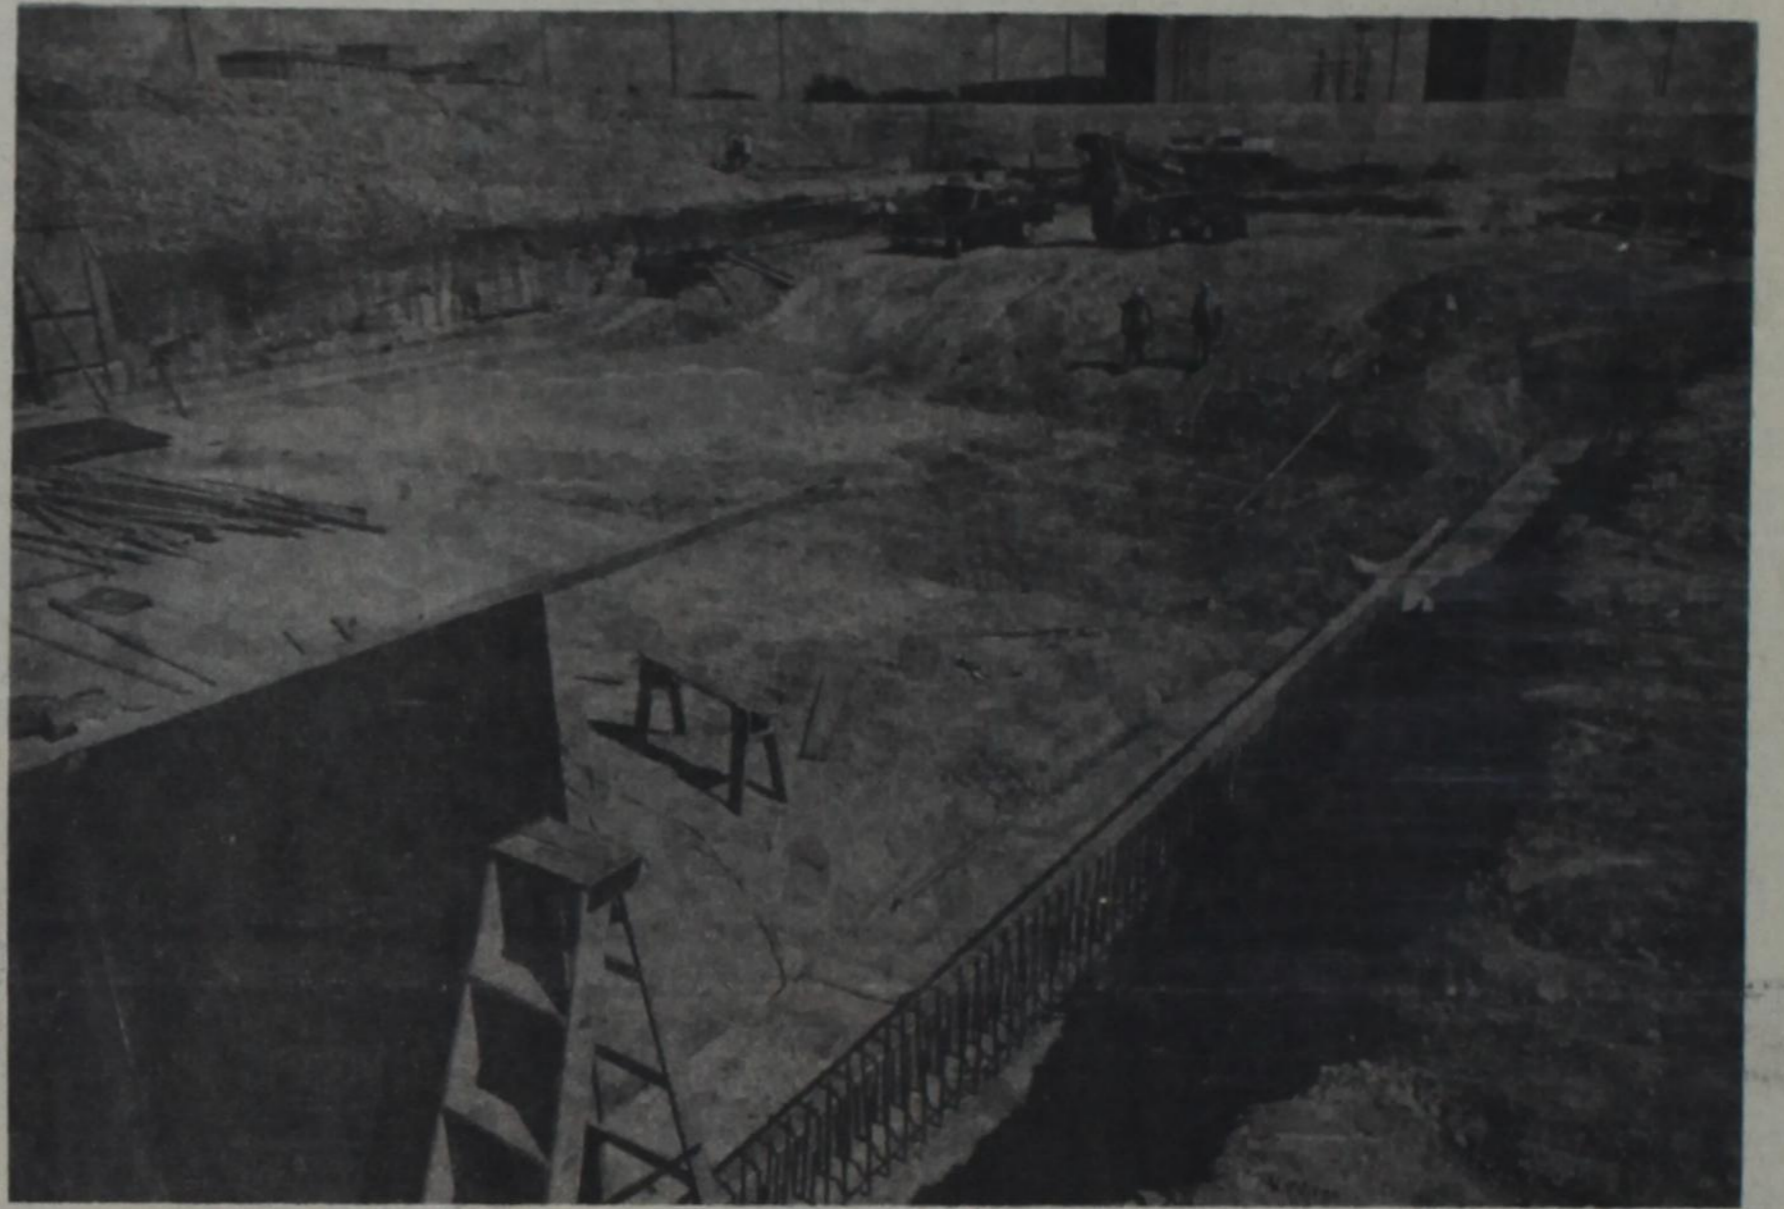

According to recommendations by the campus recreational committee, Igo said, Tech students wanted both an open pool for the summer and an enclosed pool for winter swimming. The removable dome is the solution for the problem, he said.

The Tech pool will also have several storage rooms for equipment, shower and locker rooms, a clothes rack where students can check in their clothes and a gallery for checking in students, for use in winter and summer.

Although the contract set the pool's cost at $1.274 million, the total budget, Igo said, will be $1.54 million.

Before construction began, locker and office space was cut to meet the $1.274 million construction budget. However, Igo said, no other cuts are planned.

Swimming anyone?

Air Force cutback reaches Tech

By GEORGE JOHNSTON
UD Reporter

Because of a cutback of Air Force pilots, nine Tech Air Force ROTC pilot candidates were told during the summer they could not become pilots upon commissioning, according to Colonel Taylor F. Stem Jr., professor of aerospace studies at Tech.

Stem said the nine Tech candidates were among 800 nationwide to be cut from the pilot training program.

Stem said the candidates were given three choices: they could choose a category other than pilot; go on active duty for 90 days, then be placed in the Air Force reserves; or leave the AFROTC, he said.

IF QUALIFIED, the candidate could choose four categories other than pilot.

Those are navigator, missile control, technical and general officer, Stem said.

Stem said any candidate qualified for the pilot category would also be qualified as a navigator.

All officer candidates have an obligation to become officers but, when there are not enough positions, the candidate is free to leave, said Stem. "If they would like to re-enter, they are welcome," he added.

THE CUTBACK results from the Air Force's reduced need for certain airplanes and the resulting reduction in crews, Stem said.

Stem said units formerly stationed in Vietnam and Thailand are no longer needed, so some of the officers of those units were relieved of duties and others were shifted to the National Guard.

Pilots were only a part of an officer reduction ordered by Congress, Stem said.

THE AIR FORCE gets most of its officers from AFROTC and the Air Force Academy, Stem said.

"We can't cut the officers from the Academy, so the cut has to come from AFROTC," he said.

Stem said the Air Force determined what candidates would be cut by a screening board.

The board reviewed fall, spring and summer graduates and ranked the candidates' performance, he said.

Stem said the candidates' major, grade point average and performance in field training were all considered, then the candidates with the lowest scores were placed into two groups.

The first group had the opportunity to get out or go into the reserves. The second group could choose another category other than pilot if they wanted, he said.

THE CANDIDATES signed a contract but, Stem said, the contract does not guarantee a commission upon graduation.

Stem said the contract stipulates that the candidate will receive a commission if he meets the standards.

"It would be difficult to guarantee commission or category," he said.

Jessie Stephens, one of the candidates to be cut, said he felt the cutback was fair.

"They had to start at the bottom, because we're not Air Force pilots," he said. "We don't have the training that pilots already have."

Stephens said he would go into the general officer category and use his major, advertising art.

One candidate who asked not to be named, said he found out about the cuts last summer.

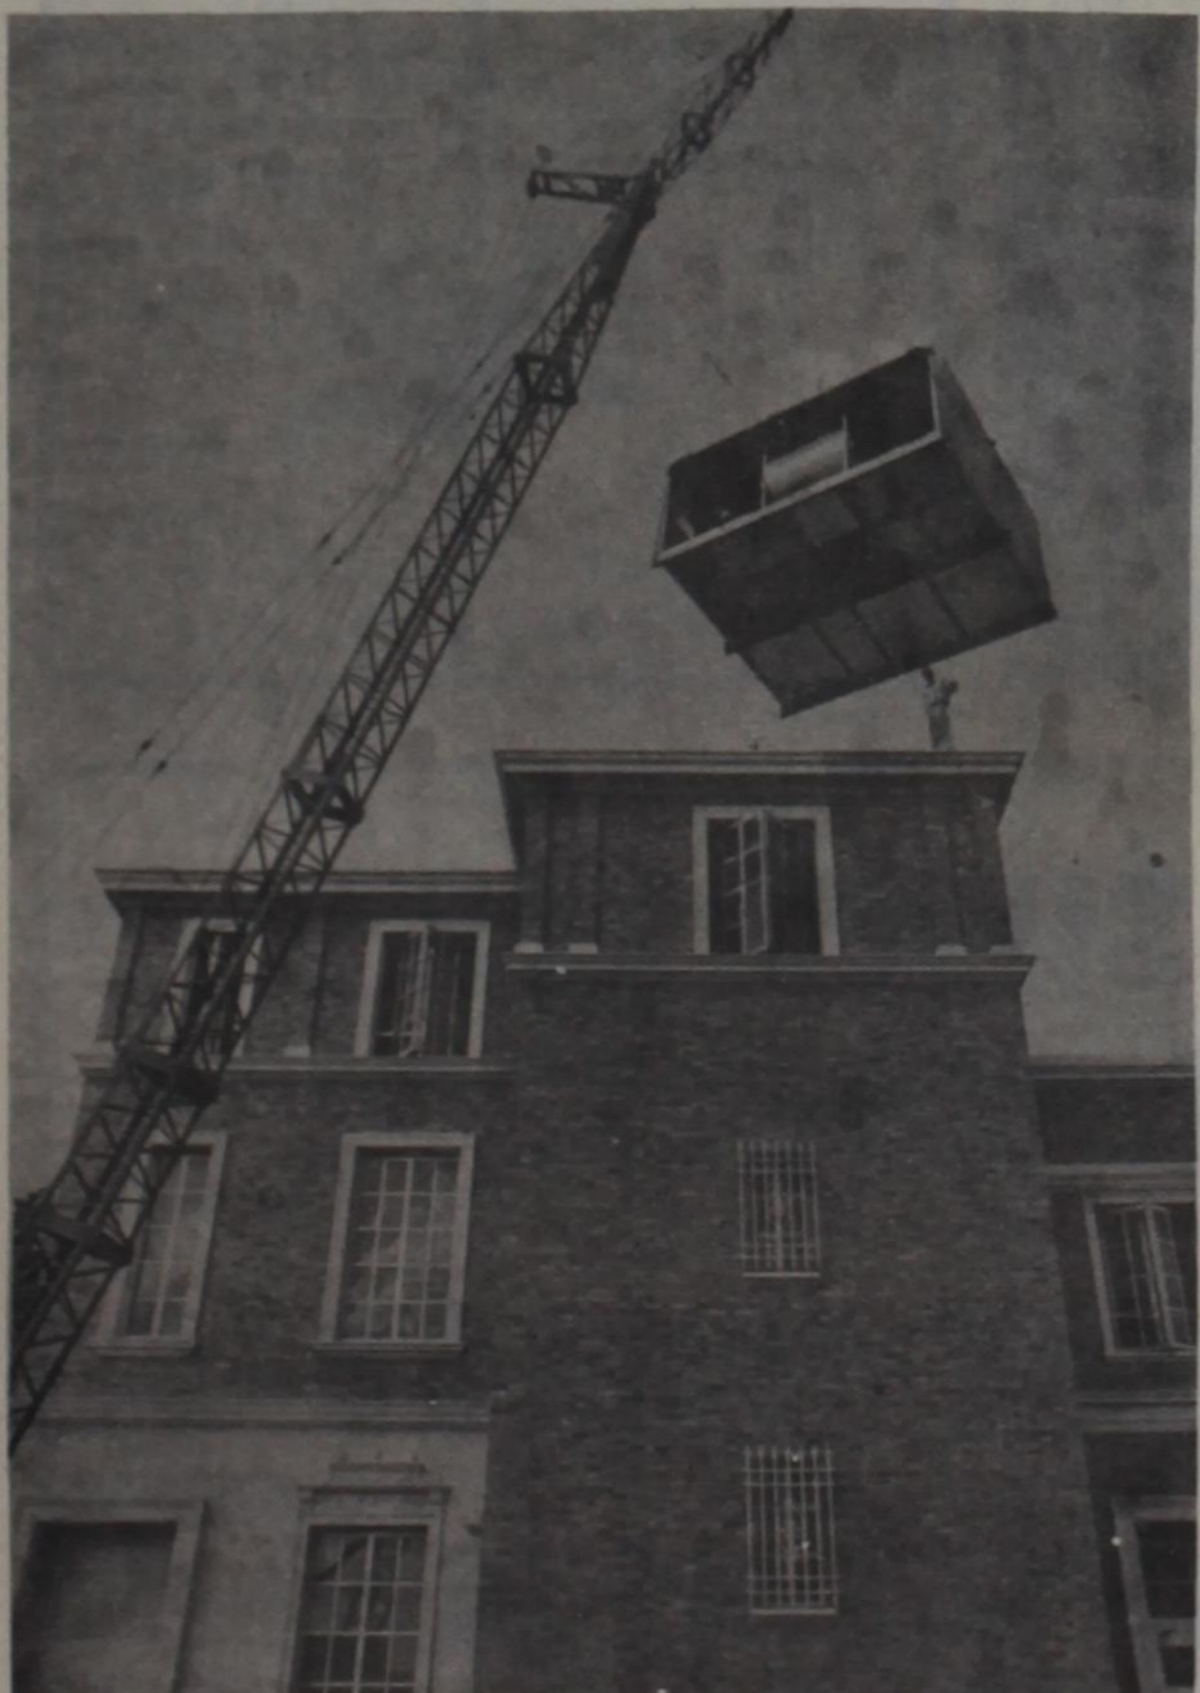

The candidate also said that he was dealt with fairly.

Personnel must move

Some personnel in the Administration Building will move to other buildings around the campus as soon as the contractor decides to begin work on the air conditioning ducts.

According to Dr. Glenn Barnett, executive vice president, the move will come as soon as the contractor makes his decision.

"We are waiting for the contractor's decision, but we hope we don't have to move," Barnett said. "It could happen today or tomorrow."

Up she goes

Work continues on the installation of air conditioning units in the Tech Administration Building. The crane used in lifting the heavy units from the parking lot to the roof seemed barely adequate.

Legal action still pending in civil rights suit against Tech

By IRA PERRY
UD Reporter

Legal action is still pending in a civil rights complaint of alleged violations by Tech against Petra Ramos, a Tech student, following a hearing in San Angelo last week.

Ramos had asked U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward, sitting temporarily in San Angelo, to issue a temporary restraining order and a permanent injunction against Tech to halt "a policy of and practical actual, intentional and invidious discrimination based on (her) sex, ethnic origin and political beliefs, advocacy and association," she said exists.

Woodward denied the motions which would have forced Tech to re-enroll Ramos in masters program courses in psychology.

Attorneys for Ramos said, however, the case would be brought before a federal court in Lubbock "on its merits and this time definitely before a jury."

A spokesman for the F. B. Godin law firm said formal charges would be filed and a trial date set soon.

Names in the action were the Tech regents, president Grover Murray, Graduate School Dean J. Knox Jones, Associate Graduate School Dean Thomas Langford, psychology chairman Robert Bell, former psychology professor Frank Lawlis and associate psychology professor John Gillis.

Ramos said Tech authorities prevented her from obtaining a masters degree in rehabilitative counseling by removing her from the masters program.

Ramos said she was removed because she, along with other employees of the Tech Special Services Bureau, boycotted a seminar in Mexican-American health. The employees said they boycotted the program because no Mexican-Americans were involved with it.

As a result of the boycott and her failure to participate in the seminar, Ramos said she received an "F" in a graduate course taught by Gillis and was removed from the graduate studies program.

Ramos said she finished her first year in graduate work with a "B".

Ramos said the civil rights action following an attempt to appeal her removal from the program to Dr. Murray. She said no action was taken on the appeal.

Health services outlined

By BETSY HUMPHREY
UD Reporter

Fee statements this semester contain a $9 student health service fee, to provide services including clinic and emergency health care.

The health care clinic located on the second floor of Thompson Hall is open five days a week including vacation periods.

An emergency clinic is open from 5:00 p.m. to 8:00 a.m., Monday through Friday and 24 hours on Saturday, Sunday and holidays. Emergency treatment is located on the first floor, Thompson Hall.

Medications and pharmaceuticals are available at student rates. Last year student rates were 59 per cent of retail prices, according to Dr. Reagan Gibbs, director of the student health center.

Laboratory services available include complete blood count, urinalysis, throat screen culture, gonorrhea culture and a test for syphilis.

Other services are x-ray diagnostic examinations up to $25 per injury or spell of illness, loaning of crutches and canes, physical examinations for campus related activities and gonorrhea and syphilis treatments.

Initial visits to special physicians are provided if the consultant is available in Thompson Hall.

Clinic personnel will administer allergy medication if the student provides his own medicine and his physician provides the details of the allergies and treatment.

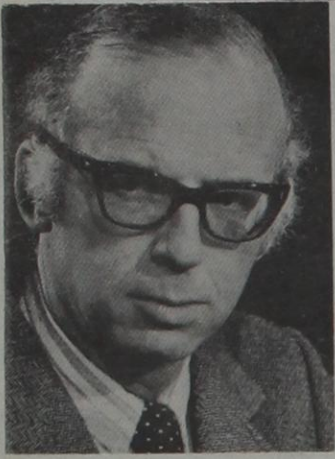

Last year, the health fee was grouped on the student services fee. The two fees were separated because the rising cost of student health program was taking up more of the student service funds, according to Dr. Robert Ewalt, vice-president for student affairs.

Ewalt said there were about 28,000 student visits to the clinic last year.

A new liberal foreign policy

FOR MOST OF THE PAST decade, the foreign policy views of most American politicians who called themselves liberals were easily summarized. They were anti-Vietnam and pro-Israel.

With the last American soldier out of Vietnam and the first American "technician" about to be sent to the border of Israel, it's becoming evident even to the liberals that they can no longer hang their foreign policy hats solely on those two familiar pegs.

And so this week, a significant effort is beginning in the liberal community to construct a new approach to foreign policy. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee started (Wednesday) a set of hearings on the fundamentals of post-Vietnam foreign policy. This weekend in Minneapolis, the liberal Democratic presidential hopefuls sit down with party activists from the Midwest for the first of a series of issues conferences which will focus heavily on foreign policy. The process will continue through the primaries and the platform-drafting of next year.

As a timely preface to this important effort, the magazine Foreign Policy, this week publishes an essay by Thomas L. Hughes, president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, titled "Liberals, Populists and Foreign Policy."

Hughes, a protege of Chester Bowles and himself a former State Department official, is that rarity, a self-confessed optimist.

He sees the "exhilarating" prospect that a new liberal-populist government will be chosen by the American voters next year and give this country and the world the "new liberal-populist" policy he says both need.

To share his "gratification over so congenial a prospect," the reader is required only to believe that "the heirs of the Roosevelt party ...

would comprehend instinctively the case for both the Second Domestic New Deal and the First Global New Deal."

IF THERE ARE MANY AMERICANS in this jaded age who can believe in the New-New Deal, then, logically, the Tooth Fairy is a cinch to be elected President. Without in any way deprecating the wisdom of Hughes, who has forgotten more about foreign policy than most of us will ever know, this reporter found his essay much more convincing as a demonstration of what liberals need to learn than as a proof of their willingness to learn it.

Hughes is hopeful, for example, that if the liberals elect a President in 1976, they will give up their favorite game of playing off domestic needs against foreign demands. As he correctly notes, the reality of today's interlocking economic order means that "the more domestic they are determined to be, the more global they will have to become."

That may be true, but it does not by itself erase the liberal perception that the internationalism they espoused in the 1940s, 1950s and 1960s has turned into a monster they no longer want to admit is their own creation.

As Hughes notes, many liberals now believe that mutual security has turned into an international arms race; that foreign aid has been a subsidy for repressive regimes; that the strong presidential hand in foreign policy has involved us in secret wars; that liberal trade policies have been used by multinational corporations to take jobs from America to low-wage foreign countries; that even their beloved United Nations has been turned into a forum for demagogues.

As for the populists, whose instinctive humanitarianism is supposed to fuel the New-New Deal foreign policy, Hughes acknowledges that they are unreliable sorts who could easily turn instead to "Know-Nothingism" or jingoism or isolationism or militarism. George Wallace's speeches certainly show that to be no remote possibility.

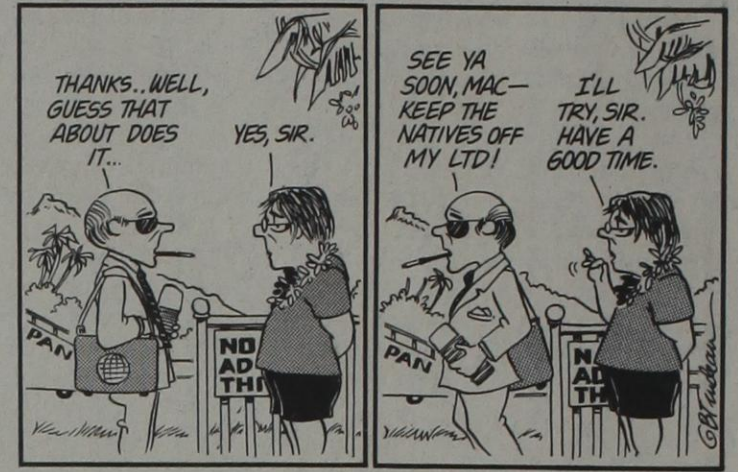

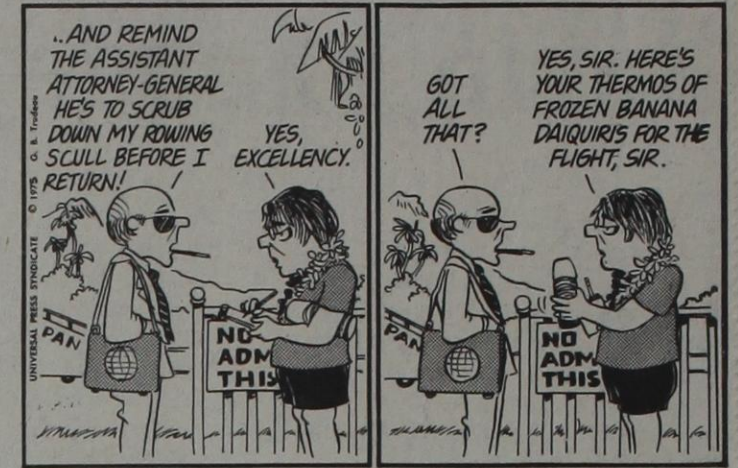

INDEED, AFTER PROFESSING optimism at the outset, Hughes confesses toward the end of his article that "a left-wing version of Fortress America ... is politically easier" to imagine the Democrats espousing in 1976 than the policy he prefers. "It panders to the negativism felt in both liberal and populist communities and protects itself most against the conservative counterattack," he says.

"But," he notes, "it represents little more than an electoral coalition which happens to get elected and then does not know what to do."

If the Democrats are to offer more than that bleak alternative, then the process of discussion and debate that begins this week is of vital importance.

Tech airplane criticized

To the Editor:

Texas Tech needs a twin-engine airplane like it needs a hole in its head! Let's look at this from a financial standpoint. The cheapest 6-passenger twin available would cost $63,300.00. This is not to mention the thousands of dollars spent on avionics, crew, hangar space, maintenance, fuel, insurance, ... This list of costs is endless! One argument for the purchase of a plane is that staff hours could be saved, but how does this compare with the outrageous cost of an airplane? If UT and A&M can justify the costs, fine! Let's try not to keep up with the Joneses. There are literally thousands of projects that Tech could spend the money on that would benefit the University faculty and students. Can't the staff think of more constructive ways to spend over $100,000?

NEWS BRIEFS

Calley ruling reversed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday reversed a ruling that extensive pretrial publicity made it impossible to try William L. Calley Jr. for the murder of 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

Calley, 32, has been living as a civilian in Columbus, Ga., since U.S. District Judge J. Robert Elliott overturned his conviction on Sept. 25, 1974.

The Army had appealed Elliott's ruling to the 5th Circuit Court.

One of the central issues in the appeal was whether anyone accused of a notorious crime becomes immune to trial because of huge amounts of publicity.

Energy bill still uncertain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appears to be unable to overturn President Ford's veto of a crucial energy bill, assuring higher prices for fuel, food and most manufactured goods.

Failing to pick up the votes of three or four eastern Republicans, the Senate's Democratic majority virtually threw in the towel even before Ford on Tuesday announced his long expected veto of a bill extending controls on oil prices for six months.

Thus, it appeared Ford loyalists and oil state senators would have about 36 votes — two more than needed to sustain the veto today.

The next step by the Ford administration would be to ask Congress for a 45 day extension of price controls. During that period, Congress would be expected to adopt a gradual phase out of controls along the lines of the 39 month proposal offered by Ford.

The end result of such a move would be that U.S. oil prices would rise to the level set by the oil exporting nations, currently about $13.50 a barrel. U.S. oil now sells for an average of $9.50.

Russian oil swap considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has opened discussions with the Soviet Union about swapping Russian oil for American grain, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger confirmed Tuesday.

Kissinger told a news conference that only "a very general discussion" has been held so far, but other U.S. officials said additional talks already are planned.

Including Soviet oil in any future grain deal presumably would help ease complaints that detente has been a one way street. Kissinger always gave assurances that the impact on consumers will be cushioned.

Millionaires avoid taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty four American millionaires managed to avoid paying a penny in federal taxes in one recent year, according to Internal Revenue Service data released by a member of Congress.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D Ohio, said in a House speech Tuesday that seven of the millionaires had a total adjusted gross income of $17,783,008, an average of $2.54 million per person.

"There were also 17 other millionaires who avoided any tax after calculating their tax deductions and credits," according to IRS information for 1973, Vanik said. He did not identify the millionaires or explain the tactics they had used.

In addition, there were "54 individuals with adjusted gross incomes of between $500,000 and $1 million who paid no federal income tax and 292 individuals with adjusted gross income of between $200,000 and $500,000 who paid no individual income tax."

Teachers remain on strike

By The Associated Press

Teachers in New York and Chicago, two of the nation's largest school systems, remained on strike today while contract negotiations continued.

All public schools in Chicago were closed. In New York, a school board spokesman said the system was shut down for all practical purposes, although some schools opened for small numbers of students.

Other strikes closed schools or curtailed classes in dozens of smaller cities across the nation.

Teachers in New York City defied a state judge who ordered them back to work.

Dean explains library services

By RICK SAIGLING
UD Reporter

"We have tried to provide a variety of study situations to meet the broad needs of the student," Ray Janeway, dean of library services said of the reorganization of the library's collection, currently underway.

A core collection of books used frequently by undergraduates will be situated in the basement. This collection will contain reserve books and two-week circulation books.

"We're going to keep a close check on what undergraduates use the most and add them to the core collection," Janeway said. "Books not used in the core collection will be returned to the advanced studies area."

THE UPPER levels of the library are designated to be used for advanced study areas. A student ID card is required for admission into the area in order to keep the resources for use by university community members. Janeway said.

The main floor of the library is used as a reference area.

Assistance and information concerning the library is available for students on the main floor.

"Our objective is to get 90 per cent of the traffic up at the front of the building," Janeway said.

"I've tried to put together a staff to deal with undergraduates," he said, "because we want to be in communication with the student through the core collection."

JANEWAY SAID that before the undergraduate enters his major area of study, he is usually working in as many as six areas at one time. The objective is to give the student access to all of the books he needs in one area.

Library staff members are still in the process of moving into the library addition, but Janeway said the move should be complete in two weeks.

"Before we began planning the building, we found that we were losing our undergraduate students. They're guided by faculty in their reading material, but by the junior or senior level, we hope they're reaching out for more," Janeway said.

Janeway is attempting to get a media center installed in the library's basement so that programs can be transmitted from the library to any classroom on campus.

HE SAID that a community action center, a referral service similar to those offered by libraries in large cities, is being planned to assist students with personal and social problems.

"We want to have a place where the student can go for information, since giving information is a service of a library," Janeway said.

Janeway said an inward wats line is being planned so parents can call and attempt to locate their children.

The center will not be implemented until the move into the library addition is completed, he said.

English literature projects underway

Two projects related to 18th century literature and culture under the direction of the English Department will get underway this year to coincide with the nation's bicentennial.

"Studies in Burke and His Time" (SBHT), a tri-annual journal devoted to British, American and Continental culture 1750-1800, has been acquired from Alfred University and will begin publication here in January.

A coordinate project is the formation of the South Central Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies dedicated to the encouragement of interest and research in all aspects of 18th Century culture. The multi-disciplinary society serves the region of Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas but is open to private individuals, graduate students and faculty from all states.

Now in its 17th volume, SBHT has an international readership of almost 800. It will be edited by Drs. Jeffrey Smitten and Joel Weinsheimer who first suggested Tech assume sponsorship of the publication and who directed its transfer. Both are in Tech's English Department.

"The journal is expected to long remain both a major vehicle of 18th Century scholarship and a visible reminder of Texas Tech's contribution to this field of study," Dr. Smitten said.

IFC sponsors mixer

Tech's Interfraternity Council, (IFC) will sponsor an all-university mixer Friday from 3-6 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on 4th Street, west of Brownfield Highway.

Students will be charged $1.75 at the door, which entitles them to all the beer they can drink, according to Steve Goree, IFC president.

The Electric Ear, a record discotheque group, will provide entertainment.

"All of the money we get from it we'll donate to some charity," Goree said.

Profits from an IFC mixer last year were donated to the Heart Fund, he said.

UC barbeque set tonight

Flatland Fandango and University Center Week will be features of the second annual free barbeque and dance at 6 tonight in the UC for all Tech students.

Dinner will be provided for 1,500 on a first-come, first-served basis, according to Crawford. Each student will be required to have a Tech ID to be served barbeque in the UC cafeteria.

"Rounders," formerly "Stink Creek," will provide progressive country music for the dance immediately afterwards in the UC Ballroom.

New version of Alamo surfaces

By JOHN LUMPKIN
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — If a voice from history is correct, Davy Crockett and six others did not perish in the fighting at the Alamo but were captured and subsequently executed.

The voice belongs to Jose Enrique de la Pena, a lieutenant colonel in Gen. Santa Anna's army in 1836 who died in misery eight years later.

De la Pena kept a diary, known among scholars in the Spanish version but which has now been translated into English in a book. In the case of Crockett, it challenges the accepted version of the historic siege and assault on the Alamo in San Antonio.

"I feel that we, you know, can count on what he says is true," says Carmen Perry, who worked eight years in having her translation of de la Pena's diary published.

Other scholars are not so sure.

As popular movies and most history books tell it, the Texas combatants fought to the death, as William Barrett

Travis, commander of the Alamo, write they would before the 1836 assault. David Crockett, the liberty fighter from Tennessee, died while shooting and defending the area in front of the chapel in the mission.

De la Pena wrote, according to Miss Perry's translation, that "an unpleasant episode had taken place, which, since it occurred after the end of the skirmish, was looked upon as base murder ...

"Some seven men had survived the general carnage and, under the protection of Gen. Castrillon, they were brought before Santa Anna." One of the men, wrote de la Pena, was Crockett.

De la Pena, who wrote as a witness, said the general intervened on behalf of Crockett but Santa Anna "answered ... with a gesture of indignation and, addressing himself to the sappers, ordered his execution."

The men around Santa Anna "thrust themselves forward, in order to flatter their commander, and with swords in hand, fell upon these unfortunate, defenseless men just as a tiger leaps upon his prey."

Although de la Pena's words are now available to the reading public, it perhaps will not cause the rewriting of history.

Lon Tinkle, the semiretired author of "Thirteen Days to Glory" about the Alamo cautions, "It's useful to have new testimony and new investigation. One must not assume that any new testimony is anymore free of contradictions than the testimony of the past."

Tinkle says, "Only two things about the Alamo are certain: One, it did happen in San Antonio and the date that it happened."

Catherine McDowell, librarian of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas Library at the Alamo believes de la Pena.

"It takes a good long time for people to begin to get objective about these things," she said.

"I think that's what's beginning to happen."

There are enough problems with the de la Pena material, say scholars, to wonder about the soldier's credibility.

The lieutenant colonel describes Crockett as a naturalist and explorer who was, in effect, a passing visitor at the Alamo when the siege began. Other historical evidence confirms Crockett came to Texas with other volunteers to fight.

But some feel de la Pena was right about one thing — that the Mexican army could have seized the Alamo easily if commanders had acted when they first saw San Antonio.

When a Mexican general "sighted the town, the enemy was still engaged in the pleasures of a dance given the night before; he therefore could have and should have prevented their taking refuge in the Alamo," wrote de la Pena.

The reference apparently was to the men of Jim Bowie, whose frivolities provoked Travis.

And, de la Pena wrote accusingly of the eventual assault, the atrocities and the executions he said he witnessed.

Of the executions, he said, "To whom was this sacrifice useful and what advantage was derived by increasing the number of victims? It was paid for dearly, though it could have been otherwise had these men been rehabilitated generously and required to communicate to their comrades the fate that awaited them if they had not desisted in their unjust cause."

Hordes respond to French call for colonial venture

By JOHN VINOCUR
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — In three weeks, 15,000 people have responded to a government call for Frenchmen to settle in French Guiana, the last foreign possession on the South American mainland.

Essentially this new venture in colonialism by France is to develop a paper industry in the territory on South America's northeast coast between Surinam and Brazil. The idea is to wipe out an annual foreign exchange loss from paper purchases of about $460 million.

But those pressing into a tiny room here day after day for applications want to escape to a new, less encumbered life from a society they feel has blocked their development, according to the officials who process the applicants.

chmen to the colony.

"Anybody can go, of course," said Chane Tune. "All you need is a plane ticket."

What's going to take a while is for us to decide who we'll buy tickets for and who will get the loans and assistance."

The turnout has pleased the French government, which will invest about $160 million in French Guiana in bonuses, loans and subsidies for applicants by the end of next year.

But Richard Chane Tune, the ministry official in charge of the recruiting office, describes the group as "very varied in quality."

"There are plenty of people who come in, and no matter how nice they are or how good their human attributes seem, they present no interest to us. I'm afraid it's the case of most of the people who have city jobs and want us to give them land."

"Then there are the men with specific forestry experience. Or people with serious credentials who want to invest. We think we can process them so that the first groups will be arriving in January."

Chane Tune, although he has no hard statistics, says he believes that about 10 to 15 percent of the applicants are out of work, that their average age is between 25 and 30, and that three out of four want to be salaried workers. Of the 15,000 applicants, about 1,500 are farmers. Only about 10 percent have their own capital.

The government has not announced a target figure, but has indicated it is hoping to attract about 30,000 Frenchmen to the colony.

Nigel Bruce as Dr. Watson
Basil Rathbone as SHERLOCK HOLMES

The Hound of the Baskervilles

In 1939 a highly censored motion picture struggled out of Hollywood. There has been a lot of talk that something like a conspiracy boiled around this film, because what it contained was not good for public consumption. Cut from it were the innuendoes that depicted one man's different approach, an elementary approach—pure deduction. This poignant film, set in the late 19th century, displayed the first hip cop—a violin-playing cop, a junkie cop hooked on a 7% solution. His record—unimpeachable; his habits—eccentric; his name—Sherlock Holmes. We proudly present the uncensored original version of The Hound of the Baskervilles, starring Basil Rathbone & Nigel Bruce. Not seen legally in the U.S. or Canada on TV or theatre for over 30 years.

Sooners not like 'Bama; picked to stomp Oregon

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Can what happened to Alabama happen to Oklahoma? Has Missouri's impressive 20-7 thumping of Alabama, in which the Tigers completely shut down the Crimson Tide's heralded Wishbone running attack, given new hope to harassed opponents of the ground gobbling offense? of Florida. "Missouri put eight people up there and generally destroyed Alabama's blocking play, we might reevaluate our Wishbone thinking," said Coach Carl Selmer of Miami because the eight-man defensive line, by odd spacing, disrupts blocking assignments." Oklahoma, whose Wishbone is more explosive than anyone else's, begins defense of its national championship Saturday against Oregon, a team trying to bounce back from a 2-9 season. The Ducks will bounce back, all right, and they'll keep bouncing ... back and back and back. Oklahoma 49-14.

Michigan State last year. In fact, the Buckeyes bowed to the Spartans 16-13 for their only regular season blemish. Woody Hayes wouldn't want revenge, would he? Ohio State 20-10.

Fred Rothenberg

Boston College picked to upset Irish

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Boston College will join Missouri as a surprise Monday night television hit. Missouri shocked Alabama and this forecaster last Monday night. Now Boston College is going to stun ninth ranked Notre Dame, but not this picker. Make it Boston College 17, Notre Dame 14.

No. 2 Michigan at Wisconsin: Playing Michigan in the season opener is like taking a final exam on the first day of classes ... Michigan 28, Wisconsin 10.
No. 3 Ohio State at No. 10 Michigan State: The trick is to beat Ohio State, then leave the conference and don't answer Woody Hayes' phone calls. Unfortunately for the Spartans, they're still in the Big Ten and will have to pay for last year ... Ohio State 24, Michigan State 7.

Louisiana State at No. 6 Nebraska: Nebraska is the grain capital of the United States. The Cornhuskers will have a Tiger for breakfast ... Nebraska 24, LSU 3.
Mississippi at No. 8 Texas A&M: Baylor last week, now the Aggies. The Rebels wish Texas' secession from the Union had stuck ... Texas A&M 31, Mississippi 14.

Louisiana State at Nebraska: The only other time these teams met was in the 1971 Orange Bowl. Nebraska won 17-12 and nailed down the first two straight national championships. Nebraska 28-14.
Mississippi at Texas A&M: 14-13.

Notre Dame, which lost Coach Ara Parseghian to television, also lost more than a dozen starters from last year's 10-2 team. Parseghian, who was the color man for the Alabama Missouri game, said he won't be present for the Boston College-Notre Dame battle. Sounds like a man who knows something.

This will be the last televised Monday night game for the colleges for awhile. Next Monday the pros are back on the tube.

Last week, the guesses yielded an .810 percentage. This week's picks look like this:
Oregon at No. 1 Oklahoma. Oklahoma is off athletic probation but they could be up for criminal charges after this one...Oklahoma 49, Oregon 0.

Toyo-View Demonstration

The masters of photography have always needed a photographic system that would allow the full expression of their creativity. Their choice since photography's infancy has been the view camera, for in spite of the tremendous technological advances made in the field of photography since Alfred Steiglitz started taking pictures of the New York skyline through his apartment window, no system has even been developed that can do the things a view camera is capable of doing.

The Toyo View is designed to take full advantage of the unique capabilities of large format photography. Its only limitation is your own imagination.

Noseguard, linebackers experienced

EDITOR'S NOTE - This is the fifth of a six part series on the Tech football team. Today's article is about the noseguards and linebackers.

By RANDY HICKS
Asst. Sports Editor

Tech's middle guard and linebacking situation this year is a study of contradiction. All of the starters at these posts are experienced - but then again they aren't.

Although all three of the players tabbed as starters for Saturday night's game with Florida State (Ecomet Burley, Thomas Howard and Harold Buell) have seen considerable action, only Buell will be starting at the spot he played last season.

Burley, second team All-America last year at tackle, has been switched to middle guard this season. He will be the only starter returning in the line for the Raiders but his presence should stabilize the young Tech defense. Among other honors gathered by the senior from Lufkin are two years on the All-Southwest Conference list, Sophomore of the Year in the SWC and Most Valuable Lineman in the 1972 Sun Bowl.

Backing up Burley at noseguard will be freshman

Curtis Reed from Round Rock. Reed is 6'0" and 220 with 4.9 speed. According to line coach Patterson, he will be seeing plenty of action.

"Reed will be getting in there quite a bit," Patterson said, "We'd like to let Ecomet rest some this year."

The Riders are three deep at both linebacking slots with Harold Buell returning on the weak side and Thomas Howard on the strong side.

Buell will return as Tech's only experienced linebacker. He was originally signed out of Houston as a blue-chip running back but was switched to linebacker last year.

Sophomore Mike Mock will be backing up Buell at linebacker and is sure to see action. He anchored the undefeated Picador team last season and has both the size (6'1", 201) and speed to be a standout at linebacker.

Junior College transfer Jim Scott from Navarro will add more depth on the weak side. He had an outstanding career at Navarro where he had 250 tackles in two seasons.

Thomas Howard played starter for the Raiders last year as a defensive end but was switched to strong side linebacker in the spring.

Howard, listed as one of the best athletes on the team, is a SWC candidate on the strong side with excellent speed and size.

Sophomore Gary McCright is running second team behind Howard and should figure into the Raider picture this year. The 6'1" 208-pounder was red shirted last season but started on the 1973 undefeated Picador team.

Don Kelly, a freshman from Blooming Grove, will provide the Raiders with plenty of depth on the strong side this season. He was a two-time all-state selection in high school as a running back.

Defensive walls

Ecomet Burley (above) and Thomas Howard (below) will be in the starting defensive lineup Saturday as Tech opens the 1975 collegiate football season against Florida State. For more information on the all-star duo, see Randy Hicks' story.

Pokes coach remembers cornerback

By DENNY H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry remembers well the first time Cornell Green suited out for practice at the Thousand Oaks, Calif., training camp of the National Football League team.

"He put his hip pads on backwards and wondered why he was getting all that pain in front," said Landry Tuesday after the 13 year veteran strong safety decided to retire.

Green, 35, put the hip pads on backwards because he didn't play anything but basketball at Utah State where he averaged 20 points per game. The Cowboys drafted him as a free agent in 1962.

GREEN MADE both All Pro at strong safety and cornerback for Dallas.

Charley Waters moved into the starting lineup for Dallas with rookie Randy Hughes of Oklahoma in a backup role.

"It takes something out of me to announce Cornell's retirement but he will remain a part of our organization," said Landry. "Cornell was a tremendous player because of his determination. He always had a great attitude."

Green will become a fulltime scout. He has worked off season in the Cowboy office for five years.

Green said "I was thinking of retiring last year. The only reason I went to training camp this year was to see if we had young guys who could play strong safety."

"After a week or two of grass drills, I was wondering which one would step forward. Now after five preseason games I feel confident Hughes and Waters can handle the position. I won't be quitting the team. I'll just be moving my locker."

Green, who played in 182 consecutive games and never missed a kickoff in his career, is the fourth Dallas starter to retire in the last three months. The others were defensive tackle Bob Lilly, fullback Walt Garrison and center Dave Manders - all mainstays of the 1972 Super Bowl champions.

SPORTS BRIEFS

DALLAS (AP) - Baylor tailback Cleveland Franklin and fullback Pat McNeil, each who gained over 100 yards in Saturday night's 20-10 inter-sectional victory over Mississippi, have been named The Associated Press co-offensive Players of the Week.

Franklin gained 140 yards on 18 carries while McNeil ran for 135 yards on 17 tries.

Defensive back Louis Blanton of Southern Methodist was named the Defensive Player of the Week. Blanton intercepted two passes in SMU's 14-7 victory over Wake Forest and tipped a third theft to a teammate.

The only other game involving an SWC team last week saw Houston defeat Lamar 20-6.

All SWC teams will be in action this week except Baylor which is idle.

HOUSTON (AP) - Veteran running back Vic Washington and wide receiver Jerry LeVias were among the six players cut today from the roster of the Houston Oilers of the National Football League.

The cuts came as the Oilers reduced the squad to the mandatory 46 players. Others cut were guards Brian Goodman and Bubba McCollum, tight end Bob Adams and outside linebacker Marvin Davis.

Washington, 29, is a five-year NFL veteran.

Missouri fifth in AP poll; Bama falls to thirteenth

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Missouri Tigers, unheralded in the preseason rankings, have climbed into fifth place in this week's Associated Press college football poll thanks to Monday night's nationally televised 20-7 upset of Alabama.

The stunning setback dropped the Crimson Tide, runnerup in the first 1975 poll, all the way to 13th.

Oklahoma's defending national champions held onto first place, although they don't open their season until Saturday. The Sooners received 51 first place votes and 1,108 points from a panel of 56 sports writers and broadcasters across the country.

ALABAMA'S DEFEAT allowed Michigan, Ohio State and Southern California to move up one spot each to second, third and fourth, respectively. Michigan received one first place ballot and 918 points, Ohio State got three No. 1 votes and 787 points while Southern Cal earned 746 points. None of the three has played a game yet.

The remaining first place vote went to Missouri and the Tigers' total of 579 points shot them all the way up to fifth place ahead of Nebraska, Auburn, Notre Dame, Texas A&M and Penn State, who round out the Top Ten. Missouri and Penn State are the only members of the first regular season Top Ten to have seen action.

Penn State fell from sixth to 10th after barely edging Temple 26-25 and the drop allowed Nebraska, Auburn, Texas A&M and Notre Dame to move up one place each.

THE SECOND TEN consists of Michigan State, Texas, Alabama, Maryland, North Carolina State, UCLA, Arizona, Pitt, Florida and Tennessee. Last week, it was Texas, Michigan State, N.C. State, UCLA, Florida, Arizona, Maryland, Tennessee, Arkansas and Stanford.

Maryland climbed three places by blanking Villanova 41-0, N.C. State trimmed East Carolina 26-3 and Pitt cracked the Top Twenty with a 19-9 victory over Georgia. By making the Top Twenty, Missouri and Pitt pushed Arkansas and Stanford out.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll, with first place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 20 18 16 14 12 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1.

I'm an Air Force officer and this is my sweet chariot. When I visit home people are happy to see me. And proud. They say I'm doing my part in the community by showing the young people and the adults that you really can make it. You really can get your share of the good life.

I also feel good about my position in the Air Force community. I'm a leader there, too. I'm someone the other brothers and sisters I meet in the service can look to. And it reassures them to know they have a voice in Air Force matters that concern them.

The Air Force needs more leaders...pilots...aircrew members...math majors...science and engineering majors. You might be one of them and the best way to find that out is in an Air Force ROTC program. There are two, three, and four-year programs. Scholarship and non-scholarship. Why not look into all of them and see if one fits your plans? It's worth it, brother.

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas newsmen, and all others interested in public access to public records, will be watching closely the next few months as federal authorities draw up new security regulations on criminal information records.

Some say the federal regulations will have no effect on the Texas Open Records Act. Others predict they may supersede the state law guaranteeing public access to governmental records.

ALSO VERY much in the picture is a pending decision by the Houston Civil Appeals Court concerning city police records.

"What effect the federal regulations will have will depend to a great extent on what the Houston court says our open records act means," said Bill Reid, an assistant Texas attorney general.

"I don't believe it; the federal regulations will affect the Texas Open Records Act," said Willis Whatley, general counsel of the Governor's Criminal Justice Division which will draw up the state's proposed regulations in answer to the federal order.

Last May, the Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) issued new security regulations, under the federal Omnibus Crime Control Act, will supersede any state laws such as the Texas Open Records Act. "I was appalled... The new standard is stricter and requires not only a specific request from the press, but limits the information given to confirming or denying specific information in the inquiry."

LEAA SAID the regulations would "afford greater protection of the privacy of private individuals who may be included in the records of the FBI, criminal justice agencies funded directly or indirectly from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, and interstate, state or local criminal justice agencies exchanging records with the FBI or these federally funded agencies."

Whatley said the state's version of the regulations will be submitted to Washington by Dec. 15.

The final version of the regulations will not be effective until December 1977, Whatley said.

"I DON'T think the Texas Open Records Act will be involved," he said. "These regulations are not to prohibit any authorized person from getting the information... It would prevent such people as employment agencies from getting criminal histories."

However, Bill Roberts, Tarrant County director of information systems, says he got a different idea after attending a workshop in Dallas held by LEAA personnel.

Roberts said the LEAA personnel said the new rules will supersede any state laws such as the Texas Open Records Act. "I was appalled... The new standard is stricter and requires not only a specific request from the press, but limits the information given to confirming or denying specific information in the inquiry."

ROBERTS SAID in Tarrant County's case this would mean purging the county's computer system of criminal justice files, purchasing another computer to handle those operations and organizing new computer department under the control of the district attorney, sheriff or some other law enforcement agency.

Whatley said Texas' proposal to carry out the new regulations will not be submitted until after the LEAA has completed holding five orientation meetings across the nation to get local comment.

J-Day seminar planned for 250 Saturday at UC

Some two-hundred fifty area high school students are expected to attend the annual journalism seminar, "J-Day," Saturday at University Center, according to seminar chairman Jim Davidson.

Five sessions, conducted throughout the day on news writing, photography, yearbooks and business aspects of journalism, will be led by area newsmen.

Donny Richards of the Plainview Tribune, and Tom Scott of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal are participants: Tech Mass Communications Department personnel Dr. Dennis Harp, Ralph Sellmeyer and University Daily photographer Darrel Thomas also will conduct various seminar classes.

Seminar participants will conclude "J-Day" activities by attending the Tech vs. Florida State football game at Jones Stadium Saturday night, said Dr. Bill Dean, director of Tech publications. Registration fees of $2 per person will be charged with an additional $1 to those attending the football game. Registration from 8:30-10 a.m. will be followed by a 30-minute opening assembly. Specialized clinics begin at 10:30 a.m. and continue until 3 p.m.

With the semester hardly underway, the graffiti freaks already have begun to take out their creative frustration as evidence by the above inscription on the north wall of Wall

Ehrlichman waits quietly, tends garden

By LARRY CALLOWAY Associated Press Writer

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — John Ehrlichman, suntanned and bearded after six months of his new life among the artists along Canyon Road here, might be writing about Watergate. But he's not talking.

His landlady says he's writing a book, and he did not deny a report that he is under contract with Simon and Schuster for a novel said to be autobiographical.

"I JUST WOULDN'T comment on it," was his response, made through the cracks in the plank gate of the high adobe wall at his fashionable hilltop cottage.

Unlike other main characters in the nation's Watergate drama, Richard M. Nixon's former chief domestic adviser and long time political lieutenant has shunned the lecture circuit and refused interviews.

In a grocery store conversation — he does his own shopping — he reasoned that if he grants one interview, he'll be hounded. "And I would have broken faith with about 20 others who have asked and have been refused," he said.

EHRlichman LIVES alone here; his wife is still in Seattle. Disbarred by the Supreme Court and facing two federal prison terms, he awaits the long process of court appeals. At age 50, he has traces of gray in his black beard and moustache.

He rents from Margaret Twyman, 60, who lives next door.

"He strikes me as a very decent fellow. He's a good tenant. He's growing vegetables over there and taking care of the lawn," she said.

"HE COMMENTED one time he was writing a book, and I guess he is," she said. "I don't hear any typing over there, so maybe he's writing it in long hand."

Mrs. Twyman, incidentally, lived in the Watergate Apartments in Washington, D.C., before she moved to Santa Fe last October, leaving a job with the State Department for one with the National Park Service here. But she said she never met Ehrlichman in Washington.

Thomas A. Brown, a remodeler and craftsman, said he sold her the house for about $65,000. The Ehrlichman cottage has one bedroom, corner fireplaces, Mexican tiles and an impressive view, he said.

THIS AREA'S history dates to Spanish colonists in 1590, and many of the neighborhoods, including Ehrlichman's are disorderly collections of old adobe houses and dirt roads. The Spanish speaking neighbors are slowly selling to newcomers, many of them artists or owners of stores specializing in craft items. A 90-unit condominium is planned across the road. The beard doesn't hide Ehrlichman in Santa Fe, which despite its 40,000 population and cosmopolitan residents, retains a small town neighborliness.

But there's a tradition of leaving people alone that has let other celebrities, from John Wayne to poet Alan Ginsberg, pass through seemingly without notice.

EHRlichman PLAYS tennis, goes to quiet parties and frequents the more intimate restaurants. Meanwhile, his wife, Jeanne, has taken a job with the Seattle Symphony. She declines all comment about her relationship with her husband.

At least some of their five children have visited Ehrlichman here, and their youngest son, Robert, played guitar and sang for a while at a casual Canyon Road restaurant called "The Bistro."

William Kirschke, the young conductor of the Orchestra of Santa Fe, says on the basis of a conversation at a social gathering that Ehrlichman's knowledge of music is impressive. They talked about the Santa Fe Opera's production of "Falstaff," which Ehrlichman saw.

THE ETHIC on Canyon Road, expressed time and again, is you don't talk politics with John Ehrlichman or you'll ruin the party.

"He's laid back. He's got some dues to pay," said a bearded musician. "But who am I to say how much?"

A waitress who has served him at a coffee house said, "I don't like him, but that's just

Contact Lubbock begins 50 hours of training

Training programs for Contact Lubbock volunteers, who help operate a local telephone ministry, will begin today at 7 p.m., according to Betty Ross, director.

Contact Lubbock maintains a 24-hour telephone service to listen to callers who are lonely, to give information about subjects such as child abuse or alcoholism and to give references to other agencies which might deal with specific problems.

The training program is under the direction of Dr. Charles Mahone, director of the Tech Psychology Clinic. Volunteers must attend 50 hours of classes conducted by local psychologists, psychiatrists, ministers and trained counselors. Classes will meet every Thursday night for 13 weeks at the Broadway Church of Christ, Broadway and Avenue X. Cost for the class is $10.

The Contact Lubbock program emerged from a local telephone ministry called The Listener. In June, 1971, the organization enlarged and became affiliated with an international ministry, Lifeline International. The United States association of Lifeline was entitled Contact.

Sixty-seven such telephone ministries now exist across the nation. Ross said the Lubbock center handles some 35-45 calls daily and received over 13,000 calls last year. Persons interested in the volunteer program should contact Betty Ross, 765-7272 or Dr. Charles Mahone, 742-2256.

N.M.) of the Senate Watergate Committee.

MONTOYA SAYS he hasn't come in contact with Ehrlichman here and, "It hasn't come to my attention that any problems have come up because he's living here. As a private citizen he's entitled to his privacy, and I hope he gets his matters with the courts straightened out."

Some people are never satisfied. He wanted more than a college degree

When he entered Texas Tech University, Richard Cavazos was determined to make the most of his opportunities. He majored in geology. He played varsity football. And he enrolled in Army ROTC for another perspective on life.

Now he is General Cavazos and Assistant Division Commander of the Second Armored Division at Fort Hood. He just completed a tour at Mexico City as the Defense Attache. Army ROTC can make a big difference in a man's life.

You owe it to yourself to check into all the opportunities of Army ROTC. It's available to both men and women. It teaches important leadership and management skills which you may not get from any other courses. This qualifies you for positions of responsibility in either a military or civilian career. It offers you a challenge.

Tech's Beta Delta cited tops nationally

Dr. Norma Walker, chairman of the Department of Clothing and Textiles in the College of Home Economics at Tech from 1969 until her resignation this spring, has been named Margaret W. Weeks Professor of Home Economics.

She will continue as a professor in the department.

Announcement of her

Tech graduate heads museum

Kenneth Perry, one of the first to receive a master of arts degree in museum science at Tech, has been appointed director of the Museum of the Big Bend of Sul Ross State University in Alpine.

Perry received the bachelor's degree in history at Tech in 1969 and, after serving in the U.S. Air Force, returned to Tech for graduate study in history. He transferred to the museum science master's degree program and was graduated in May.

Pharmacy funds hung up

Although the 1974 legislature approved funding for it, Tech's Pharmacy School, the first new one to be formed in the United States in 15 years, will have to wait at least one more year to begin major planning operations, according to Rick McCarty of the Medical School's Health Communications lab.

McCarty said plans are still being considered however all major work will have to wait until the measure can be brought before the legislature for funding again.

Governor Dolph Briscoe's selection was made by Dr. Donald S. Longworth, dean of the College of Home Economics. The professorship is for three years and Dr. Walker is the second to hold it. The first was Dr. Mina Lamb of the Department of Food and Nutrition, who held it for two terms.

The professorship goes to a faculty member in Home Economics for recognition of his or her contributions to the community, to the College of Home Economics, to Tech and its overall academic program, and for successful activities in research, said Longworth.

Dr Walker named Weeks prof

Tech's Beta Delta Chapter of Beta Alpha Psi, accounting honorary fraternity, has been named top chapter in the nation for the 1974-75 academic year.

The chapter was cited for campus and community service during recognition ceremonies Aug. 19 at the fraternity's national meeting in Tucson, Ariz.

Chapter activities included collecting funds for the United Way, conducting a tax clinic

June veto of an appropriations bill funding the school was cited as the reason for the delay.

McCarty said the school is hopeful that funding will come during the next legislative session.

Dr. Walker honored

Dr. Norma Walker, chairman of the Department of Clothing and Textiles in the College of Home Economics at Tech from 1969 until this spring, has been named Margaret W. Weeks Professor, the second faculty member in the college to hold the professorship.

Tech art in Austin

Work of art produced at the Tech's center at Junction have been placed on exhibit in the capitol in Austin and will remain on display through Sept. 19.

The display is on the second floor, west foyer of the capitol behind the House of Representatives chambers.

The work was produced by students and teachers enrolled in the fourth summer art course at the center. During the past summer, short courses were offered in painting, including oils, acrylics and watercolor; drawing; textile design; weaving; ceramics; sculpture; printmaking and individual problems, according to Fredy E. Biggs, director.

Stangel hall trophies

An 11 p.m. "jock" raid at Murdough Hall Tuesday netted coeds, almost to a person, the supporters of many a willing Murdough resident. The women walk nonchalantly away from the scene. (Photo by Karen Thom)
