

Top 50 Beauties Compete For 'Miss Mademoiselle'

MOMENTS OF WAITING FOR TECH'S TOP BEAUTIES

... these coeds were waiting their turn in Thursday's eliminations for the 1960 La Ventana Beauty Pageant.

By SUZANNE HARRIS
Toreador Staff Writer

The spotlight of attraction will be centered tonight upon 50 of Texas Tech's loveliest girls as they compete for the coveted title of Miss Mademoiselle of 1960 in Lubbock's Municipal Auditorium.

Eliminations took place Thursday afternoon and evening for the 1960 La Ventana Beauty Pageant. The 194 coeds were divided into groups beginning at 2 p.m. and began going on the stage before the judges soon after. The 50 finalists were announced shortly after 8:30 p.m.

Tickets for the annual Pageant will be on sale at the Auditorium box office tonight. Admission is 50 cents per person.

Bob Nash, assistant manager of radio station KFYO, along with Joe Riordan, public relations director for Southwestern Bell Telephone, will emcee the program. Musical numbers will be provided by Miss Fairlene Peterson.

The girls will enter first through a huge pink conch shell for competition in the bathing suit division. The "under the sea" theme will prevail throughout the entire show. The seven contestants for Miss Playmate will appear, each in a different suit of the 1961 line of Catalina, Inc. The 50 contestants in the Miss Mademoiselle contest will then reappear in formal evening gowns.

There will be ten girls selected as finalists in the contest, one of which will be the Miss Mademoiselle, the other nine will be the Texas Tech Beauties. All will be featured in the 1961 La Ventana, with Miss Mademoiselle appearing on the cover of that section. An expenses-paid ski trip will also be given to Hondo Valley Ski Lodge for the ten and Miss Playmate.

Now in its third year, the Pageant is sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

The seven girls vying for Miss Playmate are Jan Thomas, Lani Langford, Betti Bullock, Suzi Ward, Sandy Broxton, Marjie Sanders and Jane Seifert.

The finalists in the contest are Judy Jackson, Joan Wienke, Judy Boney, Sarah Pickett, Anne Hagler, Lynda Elmore, Sandra Broxton, Sharon Fields and Mary Ellen Cross.

Also Carolyn Horschler, Jo Beth Chandler, Joyce Woody, Susan Reinicke, Nancy Fennema, Sherry McLaughlin, Sherry Proffer, Malinda Crocker, Karen Barrett, Peggy Berendzen, Sue Peters, Nelwyn Herman, Jane Adamson, Joan Still, Suzanne Alderson, Sandra Cole and Ann Jaroszewski.

Others in the finals include Shelley White, Carolyn Symes, Polly Dahl, Martha Andrews, Donna King, Marlee Kochis, Karle Dickson, Jeanne Cagle, Jessica Ledbetter, Jean Conger, Patsy Painter, Ann Douglas, Shirley Stephens, Nancy Ezell, Suzanne Moody, Frances Sayles, Judy Wells, Mary Lynn Peveto, Judy Lock, Susan Lea Cross, Anne Mason, Shelly Davis, Kathleen DeVore and Betty Russell.

Special stage instructions were given to the girls Wednesday night by Miss Diane Burk, Tech women's physical education instructor.

UCLA TRIES OUT COED HOUSING

Coeducational housing may be a reality in tomorrow's colleges and universities in the United States.

That is, if the program adopted this year by UCLA should work out according to plan. National publicity has already been given to the program at UCLA.

In a 10-floor dormitory, 538 men live on the lower seven floors and 252 women live on the upper three. In another dorm, men and women are separated by wings.

Men and women share common dining halls, recreation centers and lobby facilities.

Asked this week concerning whether Texas Tech might make use of such a dormitory set-up sometime in the future, Dean of Student Life James G. Allen said:

"We are very aware of the situation. In general, I thought highly of the program when Doak—then a men's dorm—and Weeks ate their meals together. The tone of manners certainly improved among the men."

At UCLA, reports have indicated the program is successful thus far. Roger Nudd, supervisor of housing at UCLA, has reported that typical disciplinary problems have been lessened by presence of women, with a marked improvement in conduct. Nudd has predicted that in the future coeducational housing will see wider use in colleges.

As to whether a program similar to that used at UCLA would be adopted at Tech in the future, college officials have not yet made any plans in that direction. However, approval has been given to changing one men's dorm to a women's dorm next year.

Police Charge Tech Males

Charges were filed Thursday by Lubbock police against three Texas Tech students—two of them athletes on scholarships—in connection with thefts from a Lubbock department store earlier this week.

Released on $2,000 bond on charges of theft over $50, a felony, were Jay Dean Byrum, 20, of Muskogee, Okla., Harold Glenn Hensley, 19, of Marfa, and Nathan Armstrong, 19, of Sweetwater.

Twenty-five purses with a value of $60.14 were taken Monday from the Stephens Department Store, 1215 Ave. J. Two of the three students have made signed statements admitting the theft.

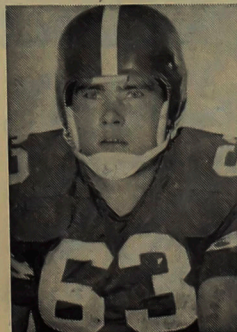

Asst. Dist. Atty. George McCrea of Lubbock filed the charges against the three Thursday. The purses were recovered by Tech Security Patrol officers.

According to Dean of Men Lew Jones, all three have been dropped from college rolls.

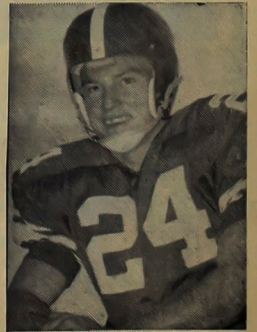

The arrests were the second group within this week of Tech students on theft charges. Three other male students were charged Wednesday in connection with an automobile burglary. Some $600 of cigarettes were reported taken.

The three were Malcolm Roger Smith, Jr., 18, of Jackson, Miss., Thomas Charles Majors, 18, of Longview, and James Lynn Karney, 19, of San Antonio according to Dist. Atty. George G. McKerson. All three were released on bond.

Smith and Majors were charged with burglary, according to Gilkerson, while Karney was charged with receiving and concealing stolen property.

Style Show Depicts Cotton Fashions Since 3,000 B.C.

Fifteen authentic copies of garments throughout the ages, from Japanese kimonos and Gibson Girl sleeves to the flapper of the 1920's and the present look, will be featured in an all-cotton show at 5 p.m. Tuesday in Room 105 of the Home Economics Building.

This style show, "Five Thousand Years of Cotton," is being presented by the costume history class of Miss Mary Gerlach, assistant professor of clothing and textiles. The public is invited and admission is free.

The wardrobe is a re-creation of cotton costumes from the major fashion eras from 3,000 B.C. to 1947, and has been used in 50 metropolitan areas throughout the country by the National Cotton Council. In addition to the presentations of the cotton fabrics, a 10 minute color film of the historical fashions will be shown.

Highlighting the showing will be a sari from 3,000 B.C. in a cotton fabric copied in every detail from a fragment found in the ruins of the ancient Mohenjo-Daro village in the Indus Valley of Egypt, and a classic sheath of ancient Egypt.

These clothes were first displayed at a meeting of the International Federation of Cotton and Allied Textile Industries in Vienna, Austria, last fall. The show was such a success that the council decided to duplicate 15 of the costumes and re-stage the show in department stores across the country.

Miss Gerlach first heard of the show through a friend who had seen the cotton presentation in Littlefield. Through inquiries to the council, she gained permission to show the $3,000 wardrobe.

M. A. Elms of the Western Cotton Oil Co. in Littlefield and John Gregg aided the costume class in obtaining the show.

LASSES' PUPS FIND HOMES

A few days were more than enough for the "kind-hearted" lasses at Tech that were keeping homeless pups in their rooms.

The City Pound announced last week that they were forced to kill all dogs that none claimed or would buy. Girls took the problem into their own hands as they each paid one dollar for the pup they would "mother" in their rooms, keeping and feeding it incognito under the noses of the legislators and dorm counselors.

However, the untrained pups did present an unavoidable problem, and several were moved to foster homes with families in town.

German Club Starts Production Plans

Der Leiderkranz, the German Club, will carry out a TV theme in "Liederkranz Revue," 11th annual production of the organization April 6.

The evening of "television" entertainment in the Tech Union ballroom will include a one-act drama, a puppet show, musical numbers and the inevitable commercials—all in German, reports Tommy Bacon, director of the show and president of Der Leiderkranz. Gail Pfluger, vice president is assistant director.

Auditions for parts in the production are in the planning stage, according to Bacon, and will be held in the early part of the spring semester. There will be parts available for those interested in dancing, music, drama, speech and stage work. Some knowledge of German will be helpful to those wishing to try out.

"Hund im Hirn," the play by Curt Goetz, tells about a man who imagines he has been bitten by a mad dog.

Mrs. Constance Dowling, wife of Dr. John Dowling, head of the foreign language department, will make the puppets for the show for the fifth year. The puppet play, "Kasper Vereist," tells of the travels of Casper the Clown.

Returning for the sixth straight year, the Tech Kinderschulen will present two German songs. The children taking part are those in the second to the seventh grades who have been taking lessons in German.

The Double T Assn. will make a return appearance this year after its successful vocalization of "Morgan" in last year's show.

Both vocal and instrumental musical numbers will be presented throughout the program.

Artists Will Give Show

The Four Freshmen, recording stars of television, stage, night clubs and motion picture fame, will be a Civic Lubbock presentation in the Lubbock Auditorium Jan. 9.

The four brothers, who rose to attention in 1950, will not limit their performance to vocalizing. Among them they can strum, blow, nad thump seven instruments, providing their act with wide versatility.

In addition to appearing in the MGM motion picture, "Rich, Young, and Pretty", the group has recorded 14 albums.

Special rates for Tech students will be $2 and they may sit anywhere in the auditorium. Tickets are on sale by mail order only at the Lubbock Auditorium, c/o City Hall. Over-the-counter sales will begin after the holidays in the lobby of the auditorium.

SMU Sets Dance During Holidays

Students of the University of Arkansas and Duke University are especially invited to attend. All students of the other Southwest Conference schools are welcome.

Guests of honor at the dance will be the Cotton Bowl Queen, Miss Gail Blossom of the University of Arkansas, and her court consisting of princesses representing each of the other Southwest Conference schools and "Miss Duke," Miss Annie Lewis Johnston, representing the visiting school. The play by Robert Anderson has a cast of two women and eight men and will be directed by Shirley Cadle, Tech speech instructor. Ronald Schulz, associate professor of speech, is the technical director. "Tea and Sympathy" is the story of a lonely and misunderstood youth who is hazed by some of his classmates at boarding school due to his artistic sensibilities and his acting in women's roles in amateur theatricals. The kidding turns to rumor, and finally to persecution. The master of the house joins the boys in their abuse of the youth, and even the boy's father cannot understand him. It is for the master's kind and understanding wife to offer the only sympathy.

DECK THE HALLS

The time has come to make out our Christmas shopping lists, for Christmas will be upon us quicker than you can say Jack Robinson. (Have you ever wondered, incidentally, about the origin of this interesting phrase "Quicker than you can say Jack Robinson"? Well sir, the original phrase was French—"Plus vite que de dire Jacques Robespierre." Jack Robinson is, as everyone knows, an anglicization of Jacques Robespierre who was, as everyone knows, the famous figure from the French Revolution who, as everyone knows, got murdered in his bath by Danton, Murat, Caligula, and Aaron Burr.

(The reason people started saying "Quicker than you can say Jacques Robespierre (or Jack Robinson as he is called in English-speaking countries)" is quite an interesting little story. It seems that Robespierre's wife, Georges Sand, got word of the plot to murder her husband in his bath. All she had to do to save his life was call his name and warn him. But, alas, quicker than she could say Jacques Robespierre, she received a telegram from her old friend Frederic Chopin who was down in Majorca setting lyrics to his immortal "Warsaw Concerto." Chopin said he needed Georges Sand's help desperately because he could not find a rhyme for "Warsaw." Naturally, Georges Sand could not refuse such an urgent request.

(Well sir, Georges Sand went traipsing off to Majorca, but before she left she told her little daughter Walter that some bad men were coming to murder daddy in his bath, and she instructed Walter to shout Robespierre's name when the bad men arrived. But Walter, alas, had been sea-bathing that morning on the Riviera, and she had come home loaded with sea shells and salt water taffy, and when the bad men came to murder Robespierre, Walter, alas, was chewing a big wad of salt water taffy and could not get her mouth open in time to shout a warning. Robespierre, alas, was murdered quicker than you could shout Jacques Robespierre (or Jack Robinson as he is called in the English-speaking countries).

(There is, I am pleased to report, one small note of cheer in this grisly tale. When Georges Sand got to Majorca where Chopin was setting lyrics to his immortal "Warsaw Concerto," she was happily able to help him find a rhyme for "Warsaw," as everyone knows who has heard those haunting lyrics:

*In the fair town of Warsaw,
Which Napoleon's horse saw,
Singing cockles and mussels, alive alive oh!*

But I digress.

We were speaking of Christmas gifts. What we all strive to do at Christmas is, of course, to find unusual, offbeat, different gifts for our friends. May I suggest then a carton of Marlboro Cigarettes?

What? You are astonished? You had not thought of Marlboros as unusual, offbeat, different? You had regarded them as familiar, reliable smokes whose excellence varied not one jot or tittle from year to year?

True. All true. But at the same time, Marlboros are unusual, offbeat, different, because every time you try one, it's like the first time. The flavor never palls, never gets hackneyed. Each Marlboro is a fresh delight, a pristine pleasure, and if you want all your friends to clap their hands and exclaim, "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus!" you will put them at the very top of your Christmas list.

And for further Yuletide joy, give Marlboro's nonfiltered companion cigarette, mild, flavorful Philip Morris—in regular size or the sensational new king-size Commander. You'll be welcome aboard!

LSU Tigers Claw Raiders

Behind a devastating defensive press and an overtime scoring spurge, the LSU Tigers clawed their way to a 73-69 victory over the Texas Tech Red Raiders in Lubbock Friday night.

The Tigers swapped leads with the Raiders several times, but Tech claimed leadership much of the way until a free shot tied the score and threw the game into a five-minute overtime, in which the Tigers controlled the ball and scored eight points.

Tiger scoring was spread out in portions, with Stan Jacobs leading the way with 18. Tom Conklin and Ellis Cooper each had 15 and George Nattin registered 13 for the winners.

Del Ray Mounts topped the Tech tote board, with 17 points, followed closely by Bobby Gindorf with 16, Roger Hennig with 15 and Tom Patty with 13.

The lead changed hands twice in the first two minutes, and the Raiders were fighting doggedly through the early action to hold down a precision Tiger attack directed by a pair of ball-hawking guards, Cooper and Nattin.

With about ten minutes remaining in the first half, Tech pulled into the lead on a jump shot by Bobby Gindorf from the right corner, but it was short-lived, because big Maury Drummond netted a jump shot and Jacobs dumped in a twisting jump shot to make it 21-18. Gindorf then hit two free throws to get back within one point.

Tom Patty sent the Raiders out in front with a driving layup and Tech managed to hold on until the half was over, leading at that point 31-29.

Tech was the leader through much of the second half, and the fight was raging late in the game as the Tiger defenses closed in fiercely to contain any scoring drive the Raiders might have started. LSU gained the lead momentarily on a jump shot by Cooper before Patty brought it back to the home half of the scoreboard with a layup, making it 63-62 with the clock showing 2:57.

Both coaches were leaping to their feet in the closing minute and a half, along with a number of fans, as the fatal free shot fell through the nets tying the game at 65-all just before time ran out.

John Bailey went from the tip-off to a layup as the overtime was started, and the Tigers never looked back from there. A three-point play by Gindorf was not enough to overcome the Tiger foul shots that were pouring through, and the Tigers went home with a victory.

UP IN THE AIR — Tom Patty and Tom Conklin go after an orbiting basketball Monday night as the LSU Tigers were in the process of snatching a victory from the Raiders in overtime, 73-69. The pair of 31's back-to-back are Maury Drummond for LSU and Mac Percival for Tech.

Red Raiders Take Tiger Loss Hard

by BILLY PATTON
Toreador Sports Editor

LSU's overtime victory over the Red Raiders Friday night hit the Tech team hard, because the Tech lads felt they gave it away.

Everybody in the Raider dressing room apparently agreed that mistakes were the big factor against the Tiger press in the closing minutes, when Tech found themselves tied as the final buzzer went off, then falling behind in overtime play.

"They're pretty good," said Tom Patty, whose comment was representative of the team attitude, "but not that good. I just don't know what to say about them, but we should have beaten them."

Patty was the last Raider to handle the ball in the five-minute overtime, getting away a last second set shot that could only have narrowed the margin but left the outcome unchanged, but the shot went wide.

"We handed it to them," said Tom Clark, who replaced Roger Hennig with 5:39 left on the clock after Hennig committed his fifth personal foul.

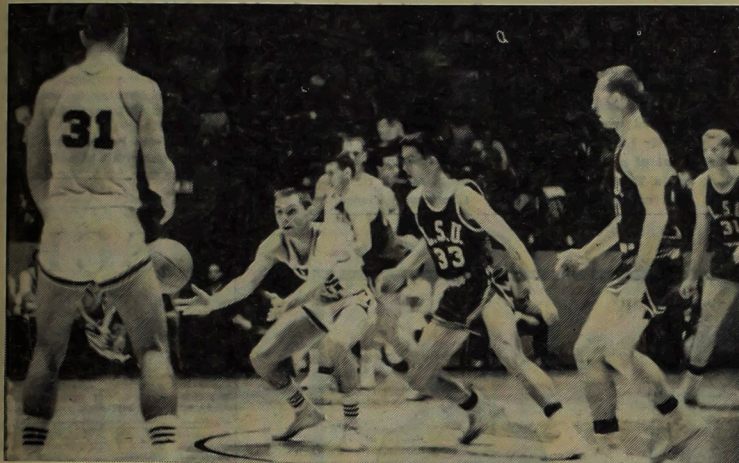

"It wasn't like Kansas," Clark continued, "because they just beat us. This time we handed it to them. They've got a good ball club, but we've got a better one." Mac Percival thought the half-court press applied by the Tigers turned the tide in the late minutes, when the Raider attack stalled.

"After they put that half-court press on, we couldn't score," the junior forward said. "Up until then we were okay. I don't think anybody even shot when they put that press on."

"They held us with that press," Coach Polk Robison said after the game. "We'd never worked against a zone press before, and it was a zone-type. If it had been man-to-man we'd have been all right."

HERE'S THE PITCH — Del Ray Mounts shovels passes to Mac Percival (31) in Friday night's loss to LSU, as Tiger guard Ellis Cooper (33) from the right to lend a hand with the defensive Nattin engineered the Tiger attack with their moves in on the play. George Nattin moves in work in beating the Raiders 73-69. Cooper and rapid maneuvers and sharp shooting.

Leagues Finish Trading

The major leagues have completed nine transactions involving 19 players during the three-week interleague trading period, beginning Nov. 21 and ending Friday night at midnight.

Seven of the deals, including the big one which sent Cleveland outfielder Harvey Kuenn to San Francisco for pitcher Johnny Antonelli and outfielder Willie Kirkland, were of the interleague variety. These included three cash sales.

The Milwaukee Braves, who finished second to the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League last season, were involved in four deals.

In an effort to strengthen their infield, the Braves obtained second baseman Frank Bolling from Detroit for four players and shortstop Roy McMillan from Cincinnati for two.

Outfielder Billy Bruton, infielder Chuck Cottier, catcher Dick Brown and pitcher Terry Fox went to the Tigers and pitchers Joey Jay and Juan Pizarro went to the Reds. Pizarro was immediately shipped by Cincinnati, along with veteran right-hander Cal McLish, to the Chicago White Sox for third baseman Gene Freese.

Airliners Collide Over Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP)—Two huge airliners, groping through snow-shrouded skies for landings, collided and crashed into the city Friday with fiery devastation. At least 125 were killed.

THE DISASTER was one of the worst in American aviation history.

It unleashed flames and havoc on the ground, turning an entire square block of Brooklyn into an arena of terror. Residents fled apartments screaming as walls caved in and fires broke out in a dozen buildings.

SO FAR, however, only one person on the ground was known killed.

Of the 125 persons aboard the two planes, one lived, a young boy.

An army of emergency workers fought through the fires and wreckage, with possibly other casualties still to be found.

ONE PLANE, a United Air Lines DC8 jet with 83 aboard, struck in heavily populated Brooklyn, hurling debris like bomb fragments, and setting 10 apartment buildings on fire. A church—ironically named "Pillar of Fire"—was demolished. A funeral parlor was in flames.

It was the first crash in this country of a pure jet carrying passengers.

THE OTHER plane, a Trans-

World Airlines Constellation carrying 42, raked over the Miller Field section of Staten Island, and came to rest in harbor water. It also started fires in the area, but they were quickly controlled.

Heavy snow was falling when the crash came about 10:40 a.m. EST.

THE DISASTER recalled another plane collision over the Grand Canyon on June 30, 1956, when 128 were killed. It also was between TWA and United airliners.

Scene Is "Smoking Rubble..."

NEW YORK (AP)—The scene was one of such shocking horror that many of the residents of the normally quiet Park Slope neighborhood in Brooklyn walked stunned into their homes and pulled down the shades.

An entire city block was left a smoking rubble of bricks, plaster and splintered wood today after a United Air Lines plane plunged into it out of a snowy sky. The plane and a Trans-World Airlines craft had collided earlier, the TWA plane falling on Staten Island.

"I was standing in the door of the women's shop where I work," said Ann Carretta. "It's just half a block from the crash. I saw the plane coming, it seemed, directly toward me. At first I thought it was a strange cloud. I couldn't believe my eyes. When I realized what it was, I screamed. If I hadn't screamed, I would have had a heart attack right there."

Constance Ciazzo was looking out the window of the flower shop where she works.

"Probably the worst thing I saw was a 17 or 18-year-old boy running screaming down the street from the accident with blood running down his entire face," she said.

"He was screaming, 'Oh, those people are burning to death.' My husband tried to grab him, but he kept running as if he couldn't stop. He was injured and I think he went out of his mind."
