Texas Rail Commission In Appeal

Urge Enforcement Of Connally 'Hot Oil' Bill To Curb Movements

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas railroad commission Monday directed an appeal to President Roosevelt to stop the interstate movement of "hot" oil and gasoline.

The appeal, made through Senators Connally and Shepard, referred to the possibility of a cut in the price of crude oil with resulting losses of hundreds of millions of dollars to producers.

Informed circles heard reports all Texas oil fields might be shut down for an indefinite period if the railroad commission, considered such action necessary to avert a threatened cut in crude price, which has been more than $1 for a year.

Shutting down of fields will be the last resort if efforts to obtain filing of suits by federal authorities against proration violators are not successful immediately.

Telegram to senators declared if the Connally "hot oil" law were enforced, it would stop interstate shipments of illegally produced oil and products thereof.

News Behind The News

Here's an angle on the Republican charge that federal relief is a form of political first aid to the Deal. All signs point to an abnormal increase in use of the franchise next month and again in 1935—as a direct result of the federal relief system.

Woman suffrage helped jump the presidential vote from 18,600,000 in 1916 to 29,700,000 in 1932—an increase of over 21,000,000 in a 16-year period during which the total population was increasing only about 25,000,000.

Right now a great many people who never thought much about the ballot box before are being made decidedly vote-conscious by relief authorities. Their number cannot be estimated in advance but it will run into important figures.

Proof of permanent residence is a primary factor in obtaining government aid. The easiest way to provide it in many communities is for the needy one to show he is a registered voter. A number of state and city relief administrations ask first for such evidence. Permanency is a factor to keep any given community from being overloaded with transients, whose welfare the government seeks to protect in other ways.

The Federal Emergency Relief Administration is now in the throes of an exhaustive legal research to determine the conditions governing residence and settlement for persons seeking relief in each state. Laws of 30 states and the District of Columbia have already been analyzed. It will take another month to finish the job.

The incomplete survey reveals complexities that will probably prevail throughout. There are fine legal distinctions between "legal settlement," "domicile" and "residence." Quite a few states have no laws governing "legal settlement."

This leaves the proof of voting registration as the shortest cut to relief in many spots.

Back in 1916 there were thousands of immigrants unorganized and unconscious of national issues who could not vote. Today many of their children and grandchildren are on relief rolls. A blind man can see how most of this new class will vote when it marches to the polls for the first time.

Appealing—Twelve states—Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

American Legion In Plea For Early But Not Immediate Payment Of Bonus

AUSTIN (AP)—A week crammed with action was the prospect Monday for the Texas Legislature. Much preliminary maneuvering having been completed, drives toward definite accomplishment were planned by sponsors of important legislation.

There was a possibility the fate of the vast development project on Brazos River would be known Monday or Tuesday. More debate was in order before a final vote in the House, but the Senate had passed the measure.

Chief interest in tax legislation centered on the Senate, the House having passed a bill remitting penalties and interest on delinquent taxes.

The Senate State Affairs Committee favorably reported two Senate bills dealing with delinquent taxes. If action should be taken on the Senate measure, rather than on the House bill, the whole thing probably would be threshed out again in the House.

A Senate committee planned to hear more delegations seeking to have historical spots in their counties included in the program of permanent improvement as set forth in a Senate bill proposing appropriation of nearly $9,000,000 as state aid to the Texas Centennial.

Virgil Smiths Praise Davis Mountain Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Smith drove to Pecos, Balmorhea, Fort Davis, Alpine and Fort Stockton Sunday. They visited the observatory being built in the Davis mountains, about 18 miles from Fort Davis.

"The observatory is a huge dome-shaped, steel structure located on one of the highest mountain peaks," said Mr. Smith. "It is still under construction and all the parts will not be installed for a year or more. It's a lovely trip up to the peak, but rather a dizzy one near the top, as the elevation is 6791 feet. From the observatory the view is grand and the tops of mountain ranges can be seen in Old Mexico. The trip is well worth the time for those who care for mountain scenery and the observatory is very interesting and certainly located in an ideal place for a study of the planets," continued Mr. Smith.

Teacher In Junior High Is Married

Farris Bass Is Married To College Sweetheart At Canyon

George Farris Bass and Miss Delma Fry were united in marriage Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Canyon at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. J. O. Qualbaum, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Canyon, performed the ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a frock of peach mouseline, with brown accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums gathered from her mother's garden.

Mrs. Bass is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fry of Canyon. She is a graduate of the Canyon high school and of West Texas State Teachers College located in that city. She took an active part in college dramatics and was a member of Pi Omega, a social club of underfoot. When he looked down there was Mr. Rattler coiled up.

A shovel close at hand provided Mr. Cain long to dispose of the snake. When measured the snake was 24 inches long and had eight rattles in addition to the button.

MANY ARE BOUND DOWN BY A VICIOUS SYSTEM

One of the hardest things to do in trying to assess the rights and wrongs of a tangled social order, is to apportion the blame properly between individuals and the system under which they live.

It is hard to stay indignant at an abstraction. We like to personify the our antagonisms. A human target is the first thing our anger requires.

If things are going badly, it is much easier to take it out on John Jones or Bill Smith than it is to center our wrath on society as a whole.

You get an illustration of this in a paragraph in a recent issue of "Advantage," the national weekly of the Congressional and Christian churches.

In this magazine a correspondent suggests that the church too often fails to make its criticism of current ills specific. Why, he asks, should not the church put aside its fine statements of general principles and come out for a veryman, in open denunciation of a vestryman who hires girls in his factory for $10 a week?

And the editor of the magazine suggests that this question is not quite as simple as it looks.

"There are circumstances," he remarks, "where the employer and the manufacturer are the victims of a competitive system quite as much as the worker.

"It is one thing to demand that Mr. X, a vestryman, should pay his employees a living wage. It is another thing to enable him to do so against the competition of unscrupulous employers who have no ideals, either decently pagan or Christian, in their business enterprises."

Now this point, it seems to us, is worth emphasizing.

It is too easy to forget that under any competitive system all players are bound by the general rules of the game. These rules, the pressure of competition being what it is, frequently lead to bad conditions.

Our respected vestrymen may indeed pay his employees less than a living wage—but all too often his sole alternative is to go out of business altogether, in which case his employees would get no wages whatever.

In such cases it is worth noting that the humblest worker is entitled to a living wage, our proper point of attack is the system which makes low wages necessary—not the individual through whom the system must operate.

Boys House, staff correspondent for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram says the strongest teams in West Texas as they appear at this time are:

"Lubbock, Pampa and Amarillo in the Panhandle; Abilene and Ranger in the Oil Belt; Big Spring in District 3; Vernon in North Texas; and Fort Worth Central, Polytechnic and the Masons in Fort Worth. The order in which I have named the teams does not indicate the rating.

"I have had an opportunity to see Greenville and Tyler (against each other) and they have well-drilled machines and the opinion is that they are East Texas' best."

There's no doubt of it now. The new football deal must be here. L. W. Croft enjoyed the antics of the pep squad and bank so much, besides the game itself, that he plucked down five bucks to help pay for the snappy new black and gold uniforms.

School officials are still trying to get a girl foe for the Steers. There's a possibility the Herd may face the Big Class B Slaton outfit next week.

Joe Davis Wins A.C.C. Tennis Play

Big Spring Player Wins Hard Match To Capture Open Tournament

ABILENE—Joe Davis, freshman net star from Big Spring, won the annual fall open tennis tournament of Abilene Christian college here Monday afternoon in a hard match with Harold Showalter, seeded number one in the tournament.

Davis played a conservative game in a wind that interfered somewhat. His placements into the wind were unusual and his drive and serve seemed to take full advantage of the air movements. The score was 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1.

Nineteen players participated in the tournament which lasted a week. Since Showalter was the only nucleus from last year's A.C.C. varsity squad the tournament was left open to all. Davis was seeded No. 2 position at the beginning. Davis graduated from the Big Spring High school in '34.

Coach J. W. Treat stated that the tournament was one of the most successful in many seasons. He says that a doubles tourney will begin immediately.

THE POLITICAL ANVIL

The most numerous anti-tax lobby of recent years has massed in Austin, with only two gaps in its ranks.

The "no new levy" phalanx lacked only C. A. Jay of Dallas, foremost general exponent of state retrenchment, and spokesman of the three regional chambers of commerce boards which recently demanded a 50 per cent reduction in state ad valorem levies, future cuts in state expenses and a constitutional limit on taxes for state purposes.

But individual interests were abundantly represented; Petroleum, natural gas, sulphur, railroads, mercantile business, insurance business, gasoline and highway interests, investment and security interests.

Some of the "third house" battalion was here with respect to other matters than new tax levies, but ready to rush the fortress if taxation comes along. Some specifically were concerned with the remission of tax penalties and interests, as affecting the rights of foreclosure upon properties. Some were in Austin having official connection with other measures, including both public development programs and the Texas, Centennial.

But the Centennial measure, calling for $8,900,000 of appropriations, which the state was asked to finance from source and various proposals of house members for finding the revenue, was at the crux of the tax scare. Many of those who were defending specific lines of business or economic interests from new levies were not opposing and some were favoring

“Next to Advertising Matter”

THERE used to be a favorite phrase of advertisers. They asked to have their advertisements placed "next to reading matter" in the belief that such a position would assure more attention.

But today the editor might well ask to have his news items placed "next to advertising matter," for very definitely the advertisements have a tremendous reader following. Today's advertisements win eager attention because they help people buy intelligently, quickly, without waste of time, and get full value for the money spent.

That is the great function of advertising—to guide you swiftly and surely to wise, economical buying. The best advertisement is always the one that gives you the facts you want—simply, honestly, without exaggeration.

It's also hard for our Modern Big Spring Bakeries to throw their full strength toward unemployment relief when approximately $125.00 worth of out of town made bread is shipped into Big Spring and sold, which was the case last Saturday.

Such leaks as the above will ultimately pin old Big Spring flat on the mat for the long count, to the detriment of merchants and customers alike.

SUSPECT'S WIFE FACES KIDNAP CHARGE

While forces of the law searched countless midwest cities for her husband, Mrs. Frances Robinson was jailed at Louisville under heavy guard and $50,000 bond, following her plea of not guilty to a charge of kidnaping Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll for ransom. At her arraignment she was sullenly inattentive. She is shown (right) being led to hear formal charges against her, and at left she is shown as she sat dejectedly during the arraignment. FLOOD RAGES; MANY HOMELESS NEAR LOS ANGELES

This striking picture provides a remarkable view of raging flood waters in Montrose, Cal., during a variety of severe storms which followed an earthquake in the Los Angeles area. At least six persons were known to have died in traffic accidents and hundreds fled their homes in the stricken territory. (Associated Press Photo)

CHILD IS COAST FLOOD VICTIM

A torrent of water from heavy rains in the mountain foothills near Montrose, Cal., carried eight-year-old Jennie Rozado several blocks before she was rescued. APARTMENT BUILDING USED AS 'JAIL' FOR MRS. STOLL

It was in the Indianapolis apartment building shown here that Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Louisville social leader, was held captive six days while kidnapers negotiated with her husband for $50,000 ransom. After her release Mrs. Stoll went from the apartment to the home of a minister and was driven to her home. (Associated Press Photo)

Dear Sir. In the meantime this is Alice Stoll writing. We are sending my wedding ring on which is engraved my name if you look inside closely. I am well and being treated nicely. I only have a slight cut on my head. If you haven't already done so please pay over the money to the man who this man tells you to. Alice Stoll

Mr. Thomas H. Robinson
1716 Ashwood Avenue
Nashville, Tenn.

Dear Sir:
I am the kidnaper of Alice Stoll. She is alive and well in a place close to Louisville, and only has a small cut on her head, which has healed.
She is sending her wedding ring, on the side of which is engraved her name and Berry Stoll's, to identify us. Also, she is sending a letter in her own handwriting. You may identify her handwriting, if necessary.
MAYBE YOU HAVE TURNED THE MONEY OVER TO THE ONE WHO APPROACHED YOU FOR IT.
HOWEVER, IF YOU ARE NOT SURE THIS IS THE PROPER ONE, AND YOU HAVE NOT ALREADY PAID THE MONEY, DO THE FOLLOWING:
PAY THIS $50,000 over to your daughter-in-law, who lives in Sterling Court.

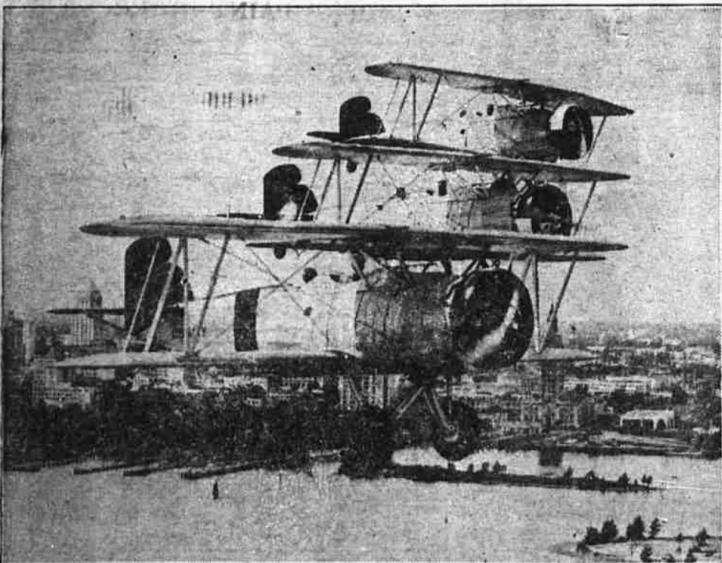

Here are portions of two notes figuring in the government's investigations in the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Stoll of Louisville. Above is a note written by Mrs. Stoll while she was held captive. Accompanying the letter, for identification purposes, was her wedding ring. Below is an excerpt from a letter believed to have been written by Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., accused in the case, to his father in Nashville, Tenn. (Associated Press Photos)

KIDNAPER'S CAR ABANDONED IN OHIO CITY

Bruno Files Appeal

His petition for a writ of habeas corpus to escape extradition to New Jersey on a charge of murder of the Lindbergh baby dismissed, Bruno Richard Hauptmann (above) filed an appeal in the appellate division of the supreme court. His Father Accused Gets Quick Sentence

Less than 24 hours after his arrest in Detroit as the writer of an extortion note received by Edsel Ford demanding $5,000 under threat of death, Edward Lickwala (above) was indicted, arraigned, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 10 years in the Leavenworth federal prison. Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

CHAPTER 13. SACHIVERCE

Marian stood before the casino mirror, apparently trying to wave a soft strand of hair into the fold of its wave. The other girl in the mirror stared back at her with a quizzical eye.

"The other girl had no decision to make. It showed in the firm line of her lips, the steady gaze of violet blue eyes. She had made her decision in the log cabin the previous night. She had protected Silver from herself. She had protected C. H. Hendon from Silver.

She turned from the mirror. It was too late now to revoke that act. Why because Silver had recognized Lot's charm was no reason to want yet out of danger and he had the right to an unhampered fight. An angry Silver could be handled.

They drove now to a queer little place on a hill overlooking the town, sat on a bench and a rug on a table and talked to boys in cowboy garb of the range.

"I'm a damn' preoccupied, Marian advised, only Lon remained calm.

"I'm away, Casad," Hamlin venturing to say, "did you see Mrs. Hendon on the train?"

"I don't know," said Marian, looking up quickly. Hamlin looked at her but that Lon knew she was staying in town. He had been going to give Marian this evening without competition. She listened eagerly for Lon's answer.

"No, and no," he returned. "She didn't see her on the train. She said she had a friend take her to the 'Poor girl,' he added, "I sure felt sorry for her. She curled up in the car seat and sort of whimpered. From what she said, that kind of hers must have been a job, a weak sort."

"No," countered Hamlin, "I don't think so. Silver is attractive. She demands the admiration of every man she meets, and no husband likes to share his wife's company too much. As to his weakness, I believe he was more impulsive than weak. A lot of us would do such things on the spur of the moment if the tools were handy."

"I don't know about that," Lon countered. "I've got too much curiosity, myself. She surely was cut up about the shooting."

Hamlin smiled his crooked smile. "I hope you offered her the proper comfort," he said.

Lon's face flushed. "Afraid I

Marian's heart seemed to fall with a thud. Surely Silver wouldn't do such an unconventional thing. "A white elephant with ivory tusks," she answered quickly.

"A white elephant all right. A note from Mrs. Hendon. She hasn't left town and wants to drive down to Oakland," Hamlin continued. "Be easier on her, of course, than the train."

Marian's pink tongue dampened suddenly dry lips. "And you," she questioned, "what do you think about that?"

"Marian Gordon," said Lon, "I'm surprised at you asking what I think of Mrs. Hendon or anyone else riding to the coast with us. Listen to this—" he began, reading the note he had found in his room: Dear Mr. Casad:

I didn't leave for Oakland as I had planned. I received word from the hospital that I wouldn't be allowed to see Mr. Hendon for another twenty-four hours and as my physician, who lives here at the Mountaineer, insisted the train trip would be too much for me in my present nervous state, I decided to remain for the night.

And so, Mr. Casad, if you're really rested, I'll drive down with you in the morning. I think it's going to be a heavenly day. I've ordered a grand lunch put up for us, fried chicken, potato salad, sandwiches, coffee and other things—all the things nice he-men like yourself enjoy.

I telephoned your hotel garage and learned they were to have your car ready at eight o'clock, so I'll meet you there, at that time... Cheerio, Silver.

"Can you beat that?" Lon was asking.

Marian couldn't. She had listened to the reading of the note, feeling with each word that the world she had thought so joyously golden was rapidly turning into a drab disappointing sphere. Lon couldn't talk about the things he had mentioned with Silver an observant listener. She would insist upon snuggling close to him, leaving Marian on the outer edge.

"Marian, you haven't answered, what do you think of... of that note?"

Marian forced a laugh. "If I were to tell you what I think, there would be a short circuit on the telephone line," she answered.

"Good girl, say, Ian, are you dead tired?"

"I'm not tired at all... in fact I felt so refreshed after my rest today and our party tonight that I couldn't sleep and so I packed for morning."

"Ian, would you be game to leave with me right now? I've all ready checked out of my hotel and my car is down in front of your hotel. I'm telephoning from a lobby booth. If you're willing we'll start and be half way home before Miss 'Charlie' keeps her eight o'clock appointment with the garage. How does that sound?"

"Heavenly," returned Marian, a stinging note in her voice. "Have the clerk send a boy for my bag and I'll be with you right away." (To Be Continued)

"Then—you think you know my brother Ichabod?"

"If this is his picture, I know him! But if you think he's got any money with him, you're all wet! I found him pickin' crusts out of a garbage can and took him to my house and peddled him for a week!"

"But—if it was Ichabod, he must have had lots of money for he left home with his own private fortune—a million in currency—which he carried in a little satchel strapped over his shoulder!"

"Huh? Gosh! This fella carried a little satchel on a strap over his shoulder?"

"W-what? T-two satchels?"

"So ya see, little fella, those suit-cases 'th' old coot gave me I keep for him—'th' ones I checked at 'th' rail-road station 'fore we sailed—'must contain four millions of old J.D.'s 'jack'!"

City Federation Leaders Sponsor Play

Men To Put On Ballet Number At Federation Play To Be Wednesday At Auditorium

An additional number has been added to the entertainment to be provided by "Oh Professor" which will be given Wednesday at the Mundy Auditorium.

The new number is a men's chorus—a real chorus, ballet skirts, voices of assorted sizes, and dances. The men who will take part in this original and startling number will be: Joe Galbraith, Pete Sellers, Allen Hodges, Dr. Hoover, Carl Young, E. B. Bethel, Buck Richardson, Nat Shick, C. T. Watson and H. G. Graham. The men will actually sing songs, put on dance numbers and probably laugh from their appearance, most likely when they are standing still. They will endeavor to bring down more applause than the high school beauties who will form the college chorus. Another unique number is the children's parade and popularity contest, all of which will be climaxed Wednesday night by the prize distribution. The City Federation is sponsoring the play. Mrs. W. J. McAdams is president and Mrs. Joe Fisher is general chairman of the play committee and Mrs. L. L. Freeman is assistant to Mrs. Fisher. The tickets are reasonably priced, those for the 4 o'clock matinee being ten cents for children and 20 cents for adults; those for the evening being 25 cents for children and 40 cents for adults. Mrs. Harry Williamson and her corps of workers began the ticket sale today and plans to have the house almost sold out by Wednesday.

She went to Lamesa Wednesday and spoke there, also at Woody, Midway, Klondike, Sparenberg. She will speak at Knott tonight and at Forsan Tuesday night. On Wednesday she leaves to fill a series of engagements in Mitchell and Scurry counties.

Minnie And Rosaline Balch Enjoy Nice Party

Minnie and Rosaline Balch were honored at a jolly birthday party Saturday afternoon at their home at 502 Lancaster street. At the refreshment hour cake and hot chocolate were served. Horns were favored. Mrs. E. H. Sanders assisted with the entertaining. Present were: Charlotte Ray Long, Wanda Lee, Doris Lou Stutville, Shirley Gene Smith, Bobbie and Jerry Sanders, Millie Balch, Billie Ray Vaughn, Louise Hall, Loretta White, Vera Mae Balch, June Robinson, Billie Ray Glimmer. C. T. Watson has returned from a hunting trip into Mexico in company with W. G. Riddle, Dr. W. E. Ryan and W. B. Simpson of Midland. They went about 100 miles into the interior of Coahuila. So much red tape was attached to getting across the border that it took from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. to negotiate the passage. Then they were allowed to take only one gun apiece. They reported no luck.

Business Conditions Improving, Says Vick Chemical Company Head

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Business conditions are improving, and indications are that the upturn will continue at an even swifter pace during the fall and winter months, President L. Richardson of the Vick Chemical Company declared in an interview here Monday. As an evidence that the Vick Company is backing this opinion, Mr. Richardson pointed out that the company's advertising appropriation for this season is larger than ever before—over $2,500,000. Mr. Richardson attributes much of the tremendous sales of Vick preparations—over $3,000,000 packages last season—to honest, consistent newspaper advertising of highly meritorious products. "Our nearly 30 years of experience have convinced us that the newspaper provides the most flexible and reliable form of advertising," he stated. "Newspapers, as always, head the list of media we are using this season. As a result of far-sighted planning by the company's management, Vick policies during the depression have been diametrically opposed to those of many other concerns. Since 1929, Vicks has tripled its advertising while some companies were drastically curtailing theirs—or eliminating it entirely. It has introduced three new products and continued the aggressive merchandising that has always characterized its sales policies. And during these five turbulent years, sales of Vick products have increased more than 200 per cent. Instead of retrenching, Vicks has continued to expand. Vicks would appear to be a shining example of business recovery through individual effort. Its expansion of business throughout the depression period has been accompanied by increased employment, shortened hours, and maintenance of pay scales. "Vicks has doubled its staff of employees since 1929," stated Mr. Richardson, "and throughout the depression has maintained salaries at the high 1929 levels."

Personally Speaking

W. R. Sanders, Amarillo, was here on a law case Monday. He was located here a few years ago with the law firm of Sanders and Atchison. Boy Shot On Nothing Jamm TOLEDO (UP)—The history cutting joint of four little boys ended in near tragedy when one of them was shot in the head with a rifle bullet. The boy, Donald Walker, seven, was taken to a hospital unconscious and remained in serious condition. The accident occurred when the boys were shooting at a target on a farm. They were released after questioning. Mild Winter Forecast RAWFORD, N. D. (UP)—Contrary to the widespread belief, among old-time trappers and farmers that an early snow assures a severe and stormy winter, J. A. LaLonde, today predicted a mild winter. LaLonde, who planted no crop last spring because of his conviction that there would not be sufficient precipitation, said only one cold spell beginning January 10 and ending February 20 is indicated. Wed 64 Years, Never Fought CLEVELAND (UP)—Young couples observing their golden wedding anniversaries are practically loveless honeymooners, as such things are reckoned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Niepert, who have been married a mere 64 years. On the anniversary, Niepert, 65, looked at his wife, 84, and said, "In all our married life we have never had a serious dispute. I didn't have to give in; she didn't have to give in. Things just worked themselves out. Puppy Size of Cigarette Box EATONTOWN, N. J. (UP)—A two and a half ounce puppy, no larger than a package of cigarettes, was born recently to a Spitz dog owned by Mrs. Robert Ammich, here. The pup was one of a litter of two. The other was of normal size (but died at birth). The tiny animal is fed with an eye-dropper and veterinarians expect it to live. Sets Enrollment Record OXFORD, O. (UP)—An all-time enrollment record was set by Miami University at the opening of its current term, when 2468 students matriculated, W. C. Smyser, registrar, reported. The previous enrollment record, 2099 was set in 1931. Of this year's registration, 1100 are new students, of whom 992 are freshmen, Smyser said.

Cooperation

The distribution of $50,000,000 in Home Owners Loan Corp. 3 per cent bonds this week by a group of investment houses headed by Field, Glor & Co. has a background of Wall Street-Washington cooperation.

The market action of this issue has been somewhat annoying to Washington. Federal agencies have had to step in and buy an occasion to keep the bonds from looking too anemic. It's also reported that New York sources friendly to the administration have purchased H.O.L.C.'s to help out. But both they and the government bodies have too many other uses for their money to want to keep it tied up in a substantial HOLC investment.

The marketing syndicate isn't telling where it got the bonds to distribute. That's guarded as a state secret. But shrewd observers will give you long odds that federal agencies and others who braced the bonds when they were soft are using the first favorable opportunity to pass them along. This does not imply there's anything wrong with them. It's just that they're more suitable for private investors than for public or private institutions which will be called upon to extend credit in other directions.

But the point is that conservative investment firms—to whom the word Washington was poison not long ago—are willingly bending their efforts to accomplish something the government undoubtedly wants done.

Financing

That long deferred wave of new corporate security issues may start rolling any time now. Insurance companies and similar institutions are fairly ravenous for fresh investment channels. Their huge load of sterile cash is so much dead weight and they won't be happy until they can put it to work at a profit.

Then security dealers themselves are at last convinced they can sell securities if they can get them to sell. Three recent trial offerings—Seville, Procter & Gamble and Bangor & Aroostook—were snapped up like hot cakes. Of course these didn't have to go through the registration mill. The first two were simply a redistribution of securities already outstanding and the last was exempt from registration as a railroad.

The trouble and expense of registration—not the risk any more—is the big stumbling block. But corporate reluctance on this score may be overcome by avid dealers and customers—especially as the Securities and Exchange Commission seems inclined to make things as easy as possible.

Chances for a heavy industry comeback will be enormously improved once corporations find they can raise money again.

The Philathea Class of the First Methodist Church will give a costume party Monday evening, Oct. 29th. The wives will entertain their husbands. Prizes will be given for best costumes. All present and past members of the class are invited to come with their husbands.

The W.C.T.U. will meet Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Christian Church. A welfare program will be presented with Mrs. Mary Bumpass and Mrs. V. O. Hennon as speakers.

The High School band will play in uniform for the High School P-T. A. at its meeting Tuesday. Mrs. Victor Mellinger, president, asks all mothers to be present.

Darleen Montgomery, Injured In Fall, Is Making Nice Recovery

Darleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Montgomery, is recovering from a wound inflicted on a leg when she fell upon an iron fence.

She was playing with other children and was walking the fence when she slipped and fell with such force as to drive an iron picket into her thigh.

It took two men to pull her loose from the fence.

by chipping in jointly with $2,500,000 of capital for such a corporation. If they do so the RFC stands ready to add $25,000,000 to the kitty. Formal announcement awaits the banks' approval. All but two have agreed to go along. The two hold-outs are stubborn but negotiations are under way to get the others to raise their original ante slightly and fill out the required amount that way.

There are 275,000 certificate holders in the state—influencing perhaps a million votes. Republicans comment on the beautiful timing of the Governor's move to aid them.

Hedge

Some extremely well-informed New Yorkers are taking an active interest in real estate once more. They view real property as the best hedge against inflation and are firmly convinced that the dollar will be further cheapened—perhaps not immediately but inevitably. The Washington contacts of these sources are such that their views command respect.

West Texas Counties To Meet In Colorado For Anti-Tuberculosis Program Wednesday

Five West Texas counties will meet at Colorado Wednesday for an all-day session dealing with the tuberculosis prevention work being done here. The counties are Midland, Howard, Nolan, Mitchell and Scurry. The program will begin at 10 o'clock in the theatre building next to the Colorado hotel and will adjourn by 4 o'clock. Lunch will be served at noon.

Drs. J. B. McKnight, superintendent of the state hospital at Carlsbad, and R. S. Norris, in charge of children's work at the same hospital, will be the leading speakers. The presidents of several county units will also speak. They are: Dr. Lee Rogers, Howard; Supr. E. H. McLain, Nolan; Dr. J. B. Thomas, Midland; Mrs. Harvey Sloan, Scurry; Mrs. Dallas Scarborough, Taylor; Mrs. Jeff Dobbs, Mitchell.

Dr. E. W. Prothro will demonstrate how a test is given and show what is a positive reaction. Dr. Earl Sellers of Abilene will also be a speaker. Dr. and Mrs. C. K. Bivings of Big Spring will give the history of the Howard County association. Mrs. V. O. Hennon will talk on "A County-wide Tuberculosis Program."

The program is open to the public. The Association is very eager to have the public understand its work and learn of the good it has done. The local unit plans to begin its diagnosis through city ward school early in spring and therefore invites anybody from Big Spring who is interested to go to Colorado to hear these talks.

THE WILD DUCK HAS NO HOME

HAVE you ever felt a sudden leaping of the heart when ducks come rushing through the wrack of a northeast storm? . . . or a strange yearning at the sound of their babbling high against the Autumn moon? Moving southward . . . moving to new feeding grounds . . . free in the vast spaces that stretch from the Arctic to the Equatorial Zone!

But the wild duck has no home. And your instinctive feeling at the sound of his rushing movement is not so much a desire to follow him away as it is to bag him . . . to bring him to pot, as the keen hunger of autumn days warns you the time has come to prepare for Winter.

The wild duck is not so free as man. Hunted from marshland and bay, he is driven from one precarious resting place to another, forever on the move, forever in danger.

In Autumn the instinct of man is to dig in. It is primitive instinct, for the chief enemies of man are the forces of nature. He survives only because he is foresighted. He has the ability and the means to look ahead and prepare for storms.

Instead of being forced forth to search the world for the things we need, the world brings us its best offerings.

Pending Savage Bill, If Passed
Would Cost State $5,000,000.00
Of Federal Aid For Good Roads

By RAYMOND S. BROOKS
AUSTIN—The pending Savage bill to divert part of the gas tax to a Centennial fund would cost the state, in addition to the amount diverted, $5,000,000 of federal aid, according to Col. Ike Ashburn, Houston, executive manager of the Texas Good Roads association.

Col. Ashburn's organization has compiled figures to show the net gasoline tax revenues for the fiscal years ending Aug. 31, the past three years, have been:

1934	$30,090,288.55
1933	26,810,329.67
1932	28,779,554.93

This makes an average of $28,550,024 per year.

The Good Roads association cited the congressional act, H.R. 8721, as the basis for the penalty if Texas highway funds are diverted.

"Federal aid for highway construction shall be extended only to those states that use at least the amount now provided by law for such purposes in each state from state motor vehicle registration fees, license, gasoline taxes and other special taxes on motor vehicles, owners and operators for all kinds of construction, maintenance and improvement of highways and administrative expense in connection therewith."

It added this provision was modified later in the law to say that the penalty, or loss of federal funds for such diversion, "shall not exceed one-third of a state's allotment."

T. H. McDonald, chief of the U. S. public roads bureau, on Oct. 6 called on the Texas highway department to forward copies of all state laws relating to the disposition of highway revenues.

Daily Inspection
Of School Children
Is Urged By Officer

AUSTIN—The daily inspection of school children and the removal and isolation of those found ailing, constitutes one of the most important factors in the control of communicable diseases, declared Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

Medical supervision of school children is, of course, the ideal method of disease control. However, in most communities, this is not possible. Parents and teachers can do a great deal in preventing the spread of disease. If the parent notices anything abnormal about the child, he should be kept at home.

The teacher should notify the parents of children who show any of the following symptoms: loss of weight, pallor, pains, flushing of the face, breaking out of any kind, cold in head, especially running eyes, evidence of sore throat, cough, vomiting, etc.

If children showing the early signs of the common children's diseases are excluded and their family physician consulted early, many epidemics could be averted and loss of time prevented. It is much better to have one child miss a few days of school, rather than run the risk of spreading the disease to his classmates.

Miss Frances Sheeler, who has been confined to her home for a number of weeks on account of illness, was able to ride down town Sunday afternoon for the first time. She continues to make improvement.

Miss Faye Thompson of Hamilton is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Jewel Strickland. She will be here for two or three months.

Jake Pickle Elected Over
Nine Candidates To Students' Assembly

AUSTIN—Big Spring students at The University are this week rejoicing over the election of Jarrel (Jake) Pickle, who led a field of nine candidates for the Students' Assembly in the annual fall election held Tuesday.

Jake, editor of the Wheel in 1932, amassed 629 votes to 611 for Jack Taylor, popular Austin athlete. John Dittmar won the third place with a one vote margin, beating Pat Coleman, 501 to 500.

Taylor, Coleman, and Dittmar were nominees of the R.S.C., the all-fraternity clique, while Pickle was the standard-bearer of the Students' Democratic Party. The two other Democratic nominees, as well as three Independent Party candidates, finished far down the list.

In the women's race Curtis Bishop's "proxy" candidate Beatrice Kubela, headed the ticket by the comfortable margin of 65 votes, polling 617 to 552 for Mary Lynn Young, 519 for Roberta Purvis, 412 for Quanita Cross, and votes between 250 and 400 for three other candidates.

Pickle, who has been active in politics for two years, was expected to lead the assembly ticket, but Miss Kubela's election was decidedly an upset.

The results confirmed the strength of the Students' Democratic Party, which is little more than a combination of the Pickle-Bishop forces. Jake became the recognized head of the Little Campus Dormitory block of votes this year, and the two Big Spring boys pulling together dominated the fall balloting. Six of their candidates were elected as compared with five for the R. S. C. and four for the Independents.

Buren Edwards, captain-elect of the conference championship track squad, ran against the strong Oklahoma University cross-country team last week in Dallas during the halves of the Oklahoma-Texas football game. Edwards finished fifth.

Fred Koberg is this year intramural manager of athletics at Brackenridge Hall, boy's dormitory. Last year Beverly Rockhold held the same position at Little Campus dormitory.

Rockhold, incidentally, may be a member of the strongest sprint relay team in the country this spring. The Texas flyers last year were good enough to win first place at the Kansas Relays, and this year have been re-enforced by H. B. Reeves, former Schriener star, who has negotiated the 100 in as low as 9.5.

Eddie Morgan, who can play golf as our readers well know, expects to make a try for the varsity in his sophomore year. Texas' golf team ranks as high as does the school's representatives in other sports. Last year Ed White reached the intercollegiate finals.

H. B. Dunagan Jr., who is finishing up his journalism work, was the winner of the Life Saver original joke contest sponsored by Texas Ranger this month. Dunagan was a resident of Big Spring several years ago and was outstanding in city tennis tournaments.

Big Spring's delegation is hampered this year by the lack of any girls... there is not a single Big Spring girl here.

TEXAS
TOPICS
By Raymond Brooks

The interstate compact on oil production, now favored instead of federal control of the oil industry, has a precedent in existing interstate compacts for division of the waters of streams.

The compact would be for division of the natural production out of crude oil. It would likely follow the theory of the water compact that a matter of extending beyond one state, interests the federal government as well as the several producing states and thus call for federal ratification before it became effective.

Texas would enjoy a position of tremendous prestige in such a compact, the prestige it now holds as an individual producing unit, in that it gives to the nation approximately 50 per cent of the entire production of oil. Kansas, Oklahoma, California and Texas together produce approximately 2,000,000 barrels daily; Texas furnishing just at one-half this total.

This basis of allocation between the states clearly could be arrived at, as now by federal authority.

Recognition in the industry, and among the states, that Texas should control, perfect, and continue its supervision of the oil production within its borders establishes the state government in position not only to protect its citizenship but as well usefully to serve the nation. As it avoids exploitation and waste of its great resources, it will contribute to the well being of people within the state and more or less directly, the people of the entire nation.

An organization "The Friends of Education," has been formed to lead the statewide campaign against the tax-limit constitutional amendment on the Nov. 6 ballot. Heading its appeal for votes against the amendment are Former Adj. Gen. W. W. Sterling, A&M college alumnus, and Dr. Goodall

'Mike' And 'Ike', Playful Zoo
Members With Sam Dill's Circus

"Mike" and "Ike," furry members of the baby zoo, and the latest arrivals to the big double menagerie with Tom Mix Wild West and Sam B. Dill's Circus combined, which is coming to Big Spring, Friday, November 2nd, at Read Show grounds.

Although docile enough now for house pets and would be adored by most society dogwaggers in this latest craze for wild animal pets, it will be but a few short weeks until they will become very dangerous playmates.

Features with this famous circus this season is the one and only Tom Mix in person. He will positively perform in the main show at every performance, and he is bringing here with him his famous horse-partners, Tony, and Tony, Jr., and a $100,000 herd of the famous thoroughbreds from his Bar TM ranch in California.

Following the usual custom of all large circuses there will be a downtown ticket sale on Circus Day, at the Biles-Long Pharmacy, where tickets will be sold at the same price as charged at the show grounds.

Under The Dome

AUSTIN (UP)—Texas' next Governor feels that he has a real grievance against the metropolitan press. A New York paper pictured the new Governor's family in its rotogravure section and labeled them the "Allard" family.

The suggestion of a "Temple of Religion" at the Texas Centennial offers a real problem for architects. Can they combine, the Mission, Synagogue, Gothic and modern tabernacle type, into a symmetrical whole?

"Swat the Amendments" seems to be the popular movement of the day in Texas. "Friends of Education" are organized to defeat the amendment to tax University of Texas lands. A "Citizens Committee on Amendments" with Col. (Mrs.) J. E. King of the Governor's staff as its chairman, is out with an appeal to defeat the $1.25 per capita limit on annual taxes, and Dallas and Travis county attorneys are taking issue with Attorney General Allred's opinion that the amendment for classification of property will not repeal the homestead tax exemption.

T. C. Andrews, member of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles is a poet as well as stern investigator of crimes and penalties. He has just issued verses, inspired by the centennial movement, in honor of the heroes of the Alamo and San Jacinto.

Frankly, Author Andrews admits that the first three verses of his poem on the Alamo are largely borrowed from George D. Brentice's poem on another topic.

They fit so well the thoughts of the men who refused to surrender that Andrews believes the borrowing is justified. Verses on San Jacinto are original throughout. They were inspired by the story of a survivor of San Jacinto who wrote that as the Texans charged into the Mexican camp, he imagined he saw the spirit of Davy Crockett leading the charge with the shout: "Remember the Alamo."

Rep. W. E. Pope, Corpus Christi, is a skillful debater. He met the objection of cities to enforced remission of tax penalties, on the ground that it was an infringement of local rights, with a proposition.

"I am willing to make it a matter of local option. But with the provision that any city or district that decides not to remit penalties on local taxes, shall not have penalties remitted on state and county taxes.

He had no takers.

Rival figures being quoted by advocates and opponents of the constitutional amendment to limit taxes, are due principally to one group construing the amendment one way, and the other, another way. They quote statistics with differing results. One big difference is caused by the fact that State Comptroller's figures on income to the state do not include the amount of automobile fees collected by counties and retained by them. Statistician Calvert of the Comptroller's Department admits he is sure which set of figures is correct.
