Regents hear Indiana update

BY JAY ROSSER
UD Reporter

Tech regents heard what may be the final words on Indiana Avenue at their first meeting of the Spring semester on campus Friday.

The regents heard an Indiana update plus several information items not listed on the prepared agenda and requested several studies be conducted by the administration.

The board heard a report from the administration that bids will be accepted and a contract awarded for the extension of Indiana Avenue during the coming month. The administration told the regents they are planning on having cars rolling on the new extension by Sept. 1.

IN A MATTER not included on the prepared agenda, Regent Charles Scruggs told the board that "in our drive for a quality institution we should consider adopting a minimum requirement for entrance exams such as the SAT and ACT."

The board appeared mixed on the proposal and asked the administration to present a list of the entrance requirements at other colleges and universities in Texas at their April meeting. The regents also requested the administration find such information as how long it takes someone admitted with a low score to graduate as compared with an individual with a higher score.

Several of the regents expressed interest in the proposal. Regent Robert Pfluger commented, "It is a financial injustice for parents if the student comes to Tech and is unable to make his grades."

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD Clint Formby said he was prejudiced almost to a point that he did not want to see it done, but hoped the study would be "very thorough and objective."

Bill Parsley, vice president for public affairs and Tech's lobbyist in the state legislature, presented a report criticizing the media throughout the state for spreading the word that "higher education is going to bankrupt the state."

Parsley issued a list of figures to the board which compared the appropriated state budget in 1970-71 to the appropriated 1976-77 state budget. Parsley began the report by noting that the entire state budget had doubled in the eight-year period.

"EDUCATION GETS about half of the state budget," Parsley noted, "and it is only getting about three per cent more than it did eight years ago. With the inflation that has occurred, three per cent is not much of an increase."

The colleges and universities in Texas received slightly over 10 per cent of the total budget in 1970-71, according to the figures released by Parsley, while they are slated to receive a slight cut this year to 9.86 per cent. Nine of the 31 higher education institutions operating today were not operating eight years ago, Parsley said.

"If people think higher education is going to bankrupt the state, they just are not right," Parsley said. "But they damn sure can set higher education back a bit if this trend continues."

In closed session Thursday night, regents were presented an update on the progress of the Presidential Screening Committee.

Dr. Charles Hardwick, chairman of the group informed the regents that the committee had received approximately 120 nominations for the position. He also told the regents what qualifications the committee is looking for in the successor to Tech President Grover Murray, whose resignation takes effect Aug. 31.

Tech officials are expected to release a list of the qualifications the committee is searching for sometime early in the week.

Talk centering around the probation of the Medical School was brought into open session for the first time since the school received the setback in Dec. 1974.

Following lengthy discussions, the board approved a plan to move the junior clerkship program to El Paso for a period of one year. The move was made because, according to San Antonio Regent John Hinchey there is no primary teaching hospital in the Lubbock area.

Regents are hopeful the action will lead to the lifting of the probationary status "sometime after October," according to Hinchey.

The board authorized the administration to receive bids and to award a contract not to exceed $77,480 for an addition to Jones Stadium athletic offices. The 1,605-square-foot addition is being built primarily for team meetings and is expected to alleviate the office-space problem for the football coaches, according to athletic department officials.

The addition will be built at the southwest corner of the current building from funds out of the athletic department which described Tech's athletics as being in "financially sound condition."

TECH WAS ONE OF 25 out of 171 NCAA Division I schools which operated in the black last year, according to athletic department officials.

Having reached the mandatory university retirement age of 65, several faculty and staff employees were given one-year extensions to their present contracts. The individuals granted the extension include James Loughlin, head of the Textile Research Center chemical lab; Milton Tilson, Textile Research Center technician; Fred A. Carpenter, field representative for the Southwest Collection; Benge R. Daniel, manager of the Tech press; and Elmo Dale Calvert, Tech Museum guard. Daniel and Clavert were granted a five month extension.

The board also granted tenure to three persons not currently listed on the faculty, but who will be coming to Tech soon as fully tenured professors. The three include Dr. Donald T. Diets, chairman of the Classical and Romance Language department at the University of Louisville; Dr. Gene M. Gressley, a history professor at the University of Wyoming; and Alfred B. LaGasse, a member of the National Association of Landscape Architects.

The regents also gave approval to a M.S. and Ph.D. program in statistics and formulated a master of science and doctor of science or doctor of engineering program in systems. The programs must now be submitted to the College Coordinating Board for approval.

Tech President Grover Murray was confined to bed "at doctor's orders" with the flu and was unable to attend the meeting. His choice for interim vice president for financial affairs to replace Leo Ellis was split between two persons. Fred Wehmeyer, current vice president for administrative services, and Clyde Westbrook, current budget officer.

Catalan protestors paralyze Barcelona

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Thousands of Catalans demanding home rule and political liberty defied police Sunday in the biggest antigovernment demonstrations in Barcelona since the Spanish Civil War.

Police fired rubber bullets and smoke grenades, bloodied demonstrators and pounded on honking automobiles but were unable to stop the scores of protests that paralyzed the Catalan capital for more than five hours. The city's street were littered with broken glass and park benches as demonstrators fired back with stones. Some sectors of the city were in a virtual state of siege. Several injuries and arrests were reported.

POLICE did not give an estimate on the number of demonstrators, but an organizer of the protest said at least 50,000 persons took part, and that the number of participants conceivably could have been twice that many.

The protest was the biggest show of opposition power, despite massive police precautions, against the new government since it took over after the death of Gen. Francisco Franco last November.

The Catalan region in northeast Spain won autonomy in 1932 from the republican government. Franco abolished it after winning the civil war 7 years later.

But the region, the wealthiest in Spain, and its seven million people have retained strong feelings for more independence from the central government. The Catalan language still is banned from official use although it is widely spoken.

AT THE height of Sunday's protest, police jumped in and out of buses and jeeps chasing demonstrators. But it soon became evident they could not keep up with the street protests. One politician estimated as many as 20 street demonstrations were under way at one time.

The demonstrators shouted against King Juan Carlos and Premier Carlos Arias Navarro.

The protests peaked when youths wrapped the Catalan flag around a monument in Victory Square. The monument honored Franco's victory in the 1936-39 Civil War.

Hundreds of motorists joined in the demonstration by honking their horns in time to chants for "liberty, liberty." Others left their stalled cars to wave handkerchiefs in support of the street marchers.

POLICE bloodied several passerby. They clubbed one girl to the sidewalk in front of a bank and left her there screaming.

Among those arrested was Rev. Luis Maria Xirinachs, 43, a Roman Catholic priest who has been staging a series of vigils across the street from Barcelona's provincial prison in support of amnesty. He was seized in a downtown cafe.

Catalan political leaders called the demonstrations a success although they did not reach their main objective

Hill calls for confidence in government, leaders

BY GEORGE JOHNSTON
UD Reporter

"The government today is going through massive changes and we must stop criticizing it and start to change it if we want it to survive," Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill told the Tech Chapter of the Student Bar Association Friday.

Government's biggest problem is a lack of confidence in the system and the leaders, Hill said.

"This is our government and it's not going to be any better than what we want it to be," Hill said.

HILL TOLD the law students that when his opinion is asked on an issue, he gives just that — his opinion.

"Someone else might have ruled differently," Hill said.

Hill also told the law students that the attorney general's office is a good place for a law graduate to start to work.

"A LAW STUDENT can get a good amount of trial experience because we are always representing state agencies in law suits," he said.

However, he said, the office can't keep many of the lawyers who start with them because of the salary and other competing interests.

"Those who stay with us are the fiercely dedicated," he said.

The attorney general's office works with all the law schools in Texas except Baylor, Hill said. And the only reason for that is there is not a regional office in Waco.

After a question-and-answer session, Hill commented on his opinion on the Tech Board of Regents resolution in which the regents say they will continue their control over the Athletic Council.

HILL SAID if the resolution is faithfully followed, then there is no conflict. "If the council, in fact, undertakes to supervise, then it is outside the (Board of Regents') resolution," he said.

A request for a legal opinion can't come from any source.

IF AUTHORIZED sources ask for an opinion and present statements of facts showing the Athletic Council functions so as to supervise and control, he said, "obviously they would have to be held by the Open Meetings Law," Hill said.

Speaking before the Lubbock County Bar Association earlier Friday, Hill said he will represent Texas before the Supreme Court in Washington March 30 to argue for reinstatement of the death penalty.

A death penalty would help stop some of these senseless crimes and stronger deterrents should be built into the law, he said.

Hill also said he generally opposes wiretapping with the exception of for use against organized crime.

King to speak for Black Week

Dr. Martin Luther King Sr. will be the keynote speaker for the sixth annual Black Week activities beginning today on the Tech campus. Black Week is sponsored by the Student Organization for Black Unity (SOBU).

Tickets for King's speech, scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday in the University Center Ballroom, are available at the UC ticket booth. Cost is $1 for Tech students and $1.50 for the public.

Black Week ceremonies will begin at 12:30 p.m. today at the UC Ballroom with a speech by Leonard Childress, SOBU president.

"Ceremonies in Dark Old Men," a two-act play by Lonnie Elder III, will be presented by the English department of Prairie View A&M University and Charles Gilpin Players at 7 p.m. today in the UC Coronado Room. Tickets are $1.

THE PLAY is about real people attempting to exist in the real world, according to advance publicity. The theme is of a man struggling for honesty in a world where honesty is not so much a luxury as an incongruity.

"Black Moments in History," excerpts from black plays spanning black history, will be presented by the Estacado High School drama department at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the UC Ballroom. Admission is free.

King will speak Wednesday on "Has

Our Dream Died?"

Dr. Abraham Lincoln Davis, professor of political science at Morehouse College and an exchange professor at Tech during the summer, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the UC Coronado Room on "The Role of Black Students in White Institutions." Admission is free.

VOICES INCORPORATED, a musical theater group, will present "Journey into Blackness" at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the UC Ballroom. Admission is free.

The production will trace highlights and achievements during the black man's sojourn from Africa in the 17th century to his life in the urban centers in the '70's, according to advance publicity.

Maj. Gen. Lucious Theus, the second highest ranking black officer in the U.S. military, will speak at 1 p.m. Saturday in the UC Ballroom. Admission is free.

A dance - concert featuring "Cold Fire" will be at 10 p.m. Saturday at the West Texas Ballroom, 322 N. University. Admission is $2.50 pre-sale.

A gospel program featuring the Community Christian Choir of San Antonio, Tech's Black Voices and Lyon's Chapel Baptist Choir will begin at 3 p.m. Sunday at Lyon's Baptist Church, 1704 E. 24th.

Suffering characterizes life in 'town of tears'

CHIMALTENANGO, Guatemala (AP) — This city that used to have 20,000 people has become a town of tears. People cry constantly from hunger, from painful injuries and from the loss of families and homes.

Even the prison, a strong rock fort, fell when the earthquake rolled through Guatemala on Wednesday.

Forty seven prisoners were killed and eight fled. Wardens freed 30 others after another strong shock Friday because they could not watch them, feed them or permit them to die as the others had.

OFFICIALS SAY 1,200 people died in Chimaltenango, 40 miles north of Guatemala City. Another 2,500 were injured. Under makeshift shelters, children with broken legs and adults with fractured skulls wait for medical care.

Two field hospitals, from Nicaragua and the United States, were being set up over the weekend. The Nicaraguan unit, used during the 1973 earthquake that destroyed Managua and killed 10,000 has 40 beds. Two hundred people were being treated by it. The most seriously hurt were transferred to Guatemala City in a cracker factory truck.

It's springtime in West Texas — well, almost. Last week's warm weather, had students digging through drawers hunting bathing suits and Frisbees, but the bubble broke Friday when morning brought Christmas card scenes to the

Screening group hurt by lack of interviews

ANOTHER MEETING of the Board of Regents, and as yet, a critical fault in the presidential screening process has not been repaired.

Under the procedures currently in effect, the Presidential Screening Committee is not able to interview candidates for the job of Tech president. The board reserves for itself the responsibility to conduct interviews, and to conduct interviews with anyone they desire, whether or not that person was highly recommended by the committee.

IT WOULD seem, however, that if the committee is to carry out its responsibility to both the campus and the board — to rank and evaluate candidates — it must interview the candidates. The committee can only assemble an incomplete portrait of the individual if some personal contact is not permitted.

Board Chairman Clint Formby said interviews were discussed by the board, but, "It wasn't discussed in the sense we should change the original procedure."

EVEN WITHOUT the interviews, Formby feels it is very possible for the committee to do an effective job.

Formby maintains that letters of reference and reports from professional organizations will provide the committee with the necessary background material.

"It's obvious the committee couldn't make the final decision (which nobody is asking the committee to do), but these things give a good insight into the person," he said.

FORMBY HAD earlier hedged about the interviews by saying, "The board may ask for committee members to be part of the interview process. I wouldn't say it could not happen."

He made the same type of qualified, careful statement last Friday.

"It's not inconceivable the board would suggest a subcommittee conduct some interviews," he said. He still refrains, however, from saying he will even attempt to secure interviews for the committee.

IT SEEMS obvious that the committee must conduct interviews. The committee represents the wide range of interests on the Tech campus — interests of the School of Medicine, the students, and the various other schools and colleges. They will need — and must have — access to more information than can come from resumes and letters of reference.

If the committee members are going to fulfill their responsibility to the campus and the board, they must have personal contact with the candidates.

Toward a higher level of existence

WHAT STARTED AS a small cult in search of a "higher level of existence" has become a movement of enormous proportions. Literally thousands in the Lubbock area are giving up all they have in search for this higher level.

"Actually, the idea is a lot older than people realize," a local leader of the movement said in a recent interview.

The leader, a rather tall man in his 60's, leaned back in his chair and straightened his bow tie.

"IN ORDER TO obtain this higher level of existence one must go through a transition process," the leader said.

A type of change or metamorphosis, the transition process is a time spent to prepare the individual for the next level of existence.

A GARDEN OF WEEDS

"We have to be trained," the leader said, casually tossing a rock from hand to hand. "We have to be taught so when we reach the next level we won't destroy part of the world."

THE LEADER spoke of how he and many others had become converted and devoted the past 10 years to "spreading the truth."

"This is not a religious or philosophical organization, but it requires individuals to devote their total energy to the transitional process," the leader said.

The movement has attracted many young people who give up their past lives in the hope of obtaining the higher level, the leader said.

"NOT EVERYONE who initially joins the movement stays loyal to it, though," the leader said. "Since the transition process takes approximately four years, many young people lose faith in the movement."

Those that do continue and finish the training process are to acquire a UFO, or Unidentified Financial Objective, the leader claims.

"ADMITTEDLY, there has been a questioning of the movement by those who have completed the metamorphosis and have not received any type of UFO, but as long as there is hope, the movement will continue to remain strong," the leader said.

Since followers of the movement are scattered across the country, the leader could not say how many were involved, but he estimated that this quest for a better life involves about 22,000 people, locally.

Syrian official warns Israel

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian Defense Minister Mustafa Tlass said in an interview published Sunday that Syria will strike at Israel if Israeli forces attack Lebanon to sabotage the civil war settlement.

He also said an estimated 2,000 troops of the Palestine Liberation Army (PLA), who entered Lebanon from Syria in the last days of the 10-month war, will pull out within a "month or two at the most."

"Gone is the time when Israel used to threaten and attack," Tlass told the Beirut newspaper Al Hayat. "If Israel attacks to abort the settlement we shall strike out at her."

Al Hayat, a Moslem-owned but right-leaning newspaper, said Tlass made his statements in an interview in Damascus, where Presidents Hafez Assad of Syria and Suleiman Franjeh of Lebanon put the final touches on the Syrian-sponsored agreement Saturday.

Israeli leaders have expressed concern that Syrian sponsorship of the cease-fire could lead to Syrian dominance of Lebanon and turn this country into a belligerent state in the Mideast conflict.

House to discuss job finance bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders are pushing for passage this week of a measure providing federal financing of jobs, a program President Ford says will not solve the unemployment problem.

The bill is scheduled for consideration on Tuesday. The House is working through Wednesday before taking off for a four-day Lincoln Day recess. The Senate is in recess all week.

The jobs bill would authorize $1.2 billion for the year ending June 30 and additional funds for a transitional quarter and the new style fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

Actual money available would depend on future appropriations, but the Congressional Budget Office has estimated that if the programs are fully funded they could cost $5.8 billion over the whole period.

The bill runs counter to Ford's repeated insistence that the way to restore economic health is to hold down government spending, cut taxes and encourage business capital investment.

Nader prime Communist target

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has been one of the prime targets of Communist bloc intelligence operations in the United States, according to testimony released Sunday by the Senate internal security subcommittee.

A high level defector from the Czechoslovakian intelligence service told the subcommittee that "a quite exceptional amount of interest" has been devoted to Nader because "he is such a powerful figure in public life of the United States."

The defector, identified as Joseph Frolik, told the subcommittee that in 1968 he had been ordered to arrange for the surveillance of Nader's relatives in Lebanon.

"The Czech Service collected a file on him, his contacts with the government and other people, and the power of his organization, and decided that it would be useful to recruit him if such a chance would exist in the future," Frolik said.

Carter, Harris deadlock in caucuses

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Jimmy Carter and former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris were deadlocked in early returns from state Democratic caucuses, but the largest block of delegates chosen by party members was uncommitted to any presidential aspirant.

With nearly 70 per cent of the precincts reporting by Sunday, 35.64 per cent of the delegates chosen in this first step toward selecting Democratic National Convention representatives were uncommitted.

Carter, the former Georgia governor, had collected 19.89 per cent of the committed delegates and Harris 19.87 per cent. Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's delegates polled 11.97 per cent of the vote and Alabama Gov. George Wallace's 11.88 per cent.

Meanwhile, Bentsen said Sunday that he was "taking a close look" at his future presidential campaign plans after trailing badly in Oklahoma's Democratic precinct caucuses.

Advance dorm charge goes into effect in fall

A $100 advance charge of room and board rates will affect new freshmen and transfer students entering the dorms in fall, 1976, according to Bill Haynes, manager of Residence Halls Operations. The policy is in effect now for the coming semester, he said. The plan, approved by the Board of Regents in December, 1975, will allow the Housing Office to determine room vacancies in advance of the first class day, Haynes said.

Nuclear power use questioned

By the Associated Press New objections are being raised about the safety of nuclear power, and some of them are coming from within the industry that has been promoted as the energy source of the future.

In recent days, Vermont's only nuclear plant was closed; three General Electric Co. nuclear engineers resigned, and the project manager of a plant under construction in New York state resigned - all because of safety questions.

The shutdown of the $216 million Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corp. plant was ordered Jan. 26.

Senate to conduct student referendum

By GEORGE JOHNSTON
UD Reporter

As a result of a resolution passed Thursday calling for a constitutional amendment to add three at-large senate seats, a student referendum will be conducted Wednesday.

In the referendum, students will vote for or against the amendment.

Polls will be located in the University Center, The Business Administration Building, Home Economics Building and will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Polls located in the Social Science Building and the Chemical and Mechanical Engineering Building will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

THE TECH Student Senate late Thursday night passed a bill calling for changes in the Student Association election code; however, the major changes were killed by amendments, according to Julie Martin, senate president.

The major changes would not have allowed outdoor campaign posters or the distribution of handbills after 3 p.m.

The rest of the changes were minor, Martin said. She did not say what they concerned.

The senate also passed a

Honorary society taking members

Applications for membership in Tech's chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa, a campus-wide honorary society, can be obtained from Dr. Idris Traylor, at the ICASAL's office in Holden Hall.

Applications will be accepted today through Feb. 20.

The qualifications required, said Steve Headley, chapter president, are junior classification with a 3.0 overall grade-point average. Candidates must also demonstrate leadership in extra-curricular activities, said Headley.

ODK, formerly a men's honorary, now accepts applications from women, Headley said.

—Established the third Thursday in April for installation of officers and the third Thursday in September as a deadline for submission of the second printing of the Student Organizational Budget.

High enrollment for course

Penology students to visit state prisons, jails

By FRAN CHILDS
UD Staff

In March, 45 Tech students will be sent to the Federal Correctional Institution at Fort Worth and the Huntsville State Prison.

BUT, THEY WON'T BE behind bars. The students will tour the institutions as part of a new course in penology, offered for the first time this spring. Dr. Lawrence Cummings, assistant professor of sociology and the class instructor, said the course seems to be popular with students, according to the high enrollment figures.

Cummings said he plans to take students to view the coed institution in Fort Worth where they will be given a tour by inmates and will eat supper with the prisoners. From there, the group will travel to Huntsville to tour those facilities. Cummings said he hopes the students will be able to draw comparisons between state and federal institutions, which are very specialized.

SINCE THE INMATES WILL conduct the tours at Fort Worth, Cummings said the group should "get a pretty fair view at the federal institution." The tour at Huntsville will be more restricted, he said.

Basically, the course is an attempt to study the history of punishment as well as the development of the prison system in Europe and the United States. Cummings also plans to examine the social organization of prisons and inmate culture, institutions for males and females and various alternatives to prisons.

"JAILS ARE THE POOREST part of the correctional institutional system, and we plan to look at jails in class and compare them with major punishment institutions," Cummings said.

The professor said he would also like to propose a forum dealing with problems in the criminal justice field with special emphasis on the courts and corrections.

Several leaders in each field who are recognized experts would provide the core information within a series of subjects ranging from the warden's view of prisons to community programs in lieu of prisons.

CUMMINGS SAID GUEST SPEAKERS would be here for the following purposes: to conduct informal meetings and discussions with students in juvenile delinquency, criminology, penology, law, public administration and other related fields; to feature selected lectures for the entire university; and to produce a series of 30-minute video-tape programs for broadcast over KTXU-TV, Tech's educational channel.

Home ec workshop instructs teachers on birth defects

An in-service educational workshop for cooperating teachers of home economics student teachers will be in the Mesa Room of the University Center today from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The workshop will introduce current information on birth defects, nutrition and prenatal care. A March of Dimes filmstrip will be shown and handouts and brochures will be available, according to Dr. Joan Kelly, associate professor of home economics education.

Dr. Jack M. Schneider, professor and chairman of obstetrics and gynecology at Tech's Medical School will speak on birth defects and prenatal care. Clara McPherson, Tech nutritionist, will speak on nutrition.

Student teaching problems will be discussed and ideas for teaching aids will be shared, Kelly said.

In the second part of the course, students will work on projects such as prison unions and their impact and inmate government. This should give the students an in-depth view of some prison aspects, he said.

"TO TEACH A COURSE like this, you should have someone who is interested and who knows something about it," he said, indicating why the course wasn't offered before. Cummings has had several years of experience working with and studying criminals.

He worked at the Federal Corrections Institution in Tallahassee, Fla., before going to Tucson, Ariz., to help found the Federal Youth Camp there. He served as a consultant to state correctional institutions at the Community Service Office in New Orleans, La.

The course will definitely be offered once a year and possibly more often to meet the demands of students wishing to enroll, Cummings said.

Poorest of system

"Jails are the poorest part of the correctional institutional system, and we plan to look at jails in class and compare them with major punishment institutions," Dr. Lawrence Cummings, assistant sociology professor, said. Cummings is teaching a new course in penology, and his students will inspect jails such as this one, the Lubbock County Jail, and prisons during the semester.

Tech class demonstrates proper tree pruning, care

To get the best harvest possible from your backyard orchard, start now by pruning your fruit and nut trees.

INTERESTED home fruit growers can learn proper pruning and training techniques during a special lecture-demonstration class at Tech.

The class will meet today through March 29 from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in room 108 of the Tech Plant Science Building. Horticulture professor George O. Elle will teach the course.

Enrollment will be limited to 25 persons on a non-credit basis. An $18 registration fee will be payable at the Monday class meeting.

The course is offered as a community continuing education service by the plant and soil science department in cooperation with the Division of Continuing Education.

"PROPER pruning and training of a tree's framework are important in getting the best crops and making the harvest as easy as possible," Elle said. "The first five years are critical in framework training and development.

"The course will demonstrate pruning methods and training techniques using spreaders to promote framework development," he said.

Bullock plus subs equals 82-75 win

JEFF KLOTZMAN
UD Sports Editor

FORT WORTH — Everyone tries to intimidate Rick Bullock. They pull, push, punch, and jab in hopes of stopping the 6-foot-9 postman from bullying his way into the lane for an easy lay-in or short jumper.

TCU used those tactics Saturday afternoon and they worked for a while, as the Frogs jumped out to an 11-point lead in the first half. Tech wasn't hitting and TCU's Rick Hensley and Gary Landers were all over the court.

The Frogs then made one fatal error midway in the second half, they got cold. With TCU leading 57-53 with a little more than 10 minutes left, Tech poured in 12 points while TCU froze into the trailer's position.

BULLOCK WAS the key. He got 19 points in the second half before fouling out with 3:03 remaining to accompany his 10 first-half points. Most of these were shots from the lane and quick lay-ins. TCU coach Johnny Swain was hoping to foul Bullock out and that was the battle plan. It finally worked, but by the time Bullock went to the bench, the damage had already been done. Swain also felt Bullock should have had several fouls which were not called against him. He accused the referees Tommy Taylor and Denny

Bishop for protecting one of the superstars of the conference. Following the game, Bullock got a laugh out of that one, saying he got punched around plenty and he expected it.

Gerald Myers agreed with his so-called franchise. "He didn't get any breaks or protection as far as the officials are concerned," said Myers. "He hasn't all year."

Tech had just enough players to come up with a baseball team Saturday, with only 9 players being able to make the trip. The flu toll was at five, Rudy Liggins, Grady Newton, Stanley Lee, Danny Ivey and Manager Brad Haley. Liggins, Newton and Lee are expected to be back in service by Tuesday night's game with Texas, but Myers said he doubted that either Liggins or Newton would be able to start because it takes so long to regain strength after battling the flu bug.

GRANT DUKES and Mike Russell continue to shine as fill-ins. Dukes banked in 12 points and missed five more which rimmed out and Russell scrapped inside for 11 points. Russell also added a little excitement to the end of the game as TCU's 'tank,' Lynn Royal, was ready to do a little bit more than pushing and shoving and Russell caught a punch, but Coach Myers and Assistant Coach George Davidson cooled Russell down before he could hand out some of the same.

TCU HAD three starters in foul trouble, and two, Thomas Bledsoe and Landers, joined Bullock on the bench. Leading the Frogs scoring attack was guard Hensley with 19 points, four straight on 25-foot set shots.

Landers got 15 points, Bledsoe 12 and Tim Marion 10. Tech remains a half-game behind the Aggies rolling down to some heavy action Saturday afternoon in College Station, where the two will battle in yet another regionally televised game. And the way Tech plays on television, there's no fear of being cancelled in the middle of the season.

Fems edge ACC

By ANGELA SHEPHERD
UD Sports Writer

In a squeaker Saturday afternoon, the Tech women's basketball team finished a perfect week, sliding by Abilene Christian, 57-56. Not only did the win end the team's home season with a three-game winning streak, but also evened out Tech's record at 9-9. In their WTSU win Tuesday, the Raiders avenged a previous 60-69 on the road loss with a win of 78-72. The South Plains 71-67 home win avenged the previous 78-51 loss at Levelland.

Saturday's 57-56 win made up for a previous 63-45 loss to ACC in Abilene.

According to Tech Coach Susie Lynch, Susan Poe was a big factor in the Thursday and Saturday wins. Starting in her second game of the year, Poe replaced regular Teri Dixon, who was injured in practice Wednesday night. Poe came in to score 10 of the Raiders' points.

The first half seemed a defensive battle with offenses slowed somewhat by the extra warm temperature of the Intramural Gym. In that initial stanza, the Tech women hit 10 of 34 shots while ACC managed 12 of 35.

Saturday, ACC took an early one-point lead 7-6 and managed to maintain a one-or two-point lead over the Raiders throughout the opening half. The scoreboard at the half showed ACC leading, 25-23.

Tech came out hot-handed in the second half and tied the score early at 27 all. ACC's leading scorer, Teresa Rubart left the game for a short time with a knee strain, the Raiders went ahead, 31-29.

THE RAIDERS expanded their two-point lead for the next 10 minutes, with Susan Poe sinking two straight to even it out at 50-35.

ACC pushed harder for the goal and began a comeback, narrowing the lead to 10 at 50-40. Jill Owens, a leading rebounder and post for Tech left the game, and ACC took points without giving any back, slimming Tech's lead to 50-46.

Tech began to drive closer to the goal for their shots and tighten up more on their defense to barely hold off the ACC momentum at 53-50. With two minutes remaining, Tech hung on to its lead by only one point, 53-52.

Seconds before the buzzer, with the score 57-54, ACC drove down court but could not penetrate the Tech stronghold. With two seconds remaining, Gibson sank a 12-footer for ACC to make the score 57-56.

Carol Dudensing was key scorer for the Raiders, hitting 10 of 24 for 20 points; Libby Keller followed with 19 and Susan Poe had 10.

ACC'S LEADER was Teresa Rupart with 22, followed by Melissa Gibson with 15. Tech's team hit 37 per cent from the field, compared to 33 per cent for the Wildcats. The Raiders try their luck against another Abilene school Tuesday, challenging McMurry in Abilene at 6:30 p.m.

Americans third in team medals

BY WICK TEMPLE
AP Sports Editor

INNSBRUCK (AP) — On a day when Russian speed skater Tatiana Averina became the first double gold medalist of the Winter Olympic Games, the United States continued its strong performance as daredevil skier Cindy Nelson upset several favorites to win a bronze medal in the women's downhill race.

Meanwhile, the young and determined U.S. hockey team went down to defeat for a second time, losing to the Czechs 5-0 after holding their heavily favored rivals close through much of the game.

THE SOVIET Union remained the dominant force of the Games — taking seven of the 15 gold medals thus far — with Miss Averina winning the 3,000 meters in speed skating and Nikolai Bajukov taking the gold medal in the 15 kilometer cross country ski race.

The Soviet race with Communist bloc partner East Germany for the medals lead continued. A Soviet skater took the lead in the first round of men's figure skating and an East German moved toward a gold in the Nordic combined event.

In the exciting and dangerous women's downhill, Rosi Mittermaier of West Germany, who never had won one of these races in 100 tries, scored an exciting gold medal victory. And behind her in third place came Miss Nelson, a gutsy 20 year-old who flashed down the mile and two thirds course to deliver America its sixth medal.

THE TOTAL exceeds predictions of the entire medal harvest for Uncle Sam's athletes, and there are several other medals the Americans figure to win.

Miss Nelson, of Lutsen,

Wrestlers win

The Texas Tech Wrestlers defeated TCU 45-6 last weekend. The results of the matches were:

- 118 lbs. no match
- 126 lbs. TCU forfeit
- 134 lbs. Tech's Walker by fall
- 142 lbs. Tech Fowler by fall
- 150 lbs. Tech's Hendon by decision
- 158 lbs. Foster by fall
- 167 lbs. TCU forfeit
- 177 lbs. TCU forfeit
- 190 lbs. Tech's Gahl loses to TCU's Zerweck
- Heavyweight-Tech's Monroe by fall minn., had fallen in five of her eight practice runs down the twisting course. This day she stayed upright.

In hockey, the awesome Russian team slammed Poland 16-1 and Finland defeated West Germany 5-3 in other games in the round robin medal tournament. The United States' team, which has now lost to both the Russians and the Czechs, needs a victory over Finland, Tuesday night to keep its bronze medal hopes alive.

IN SUNDAY night's game with the Czechs, the Americans were only behind 2-0 entering the final period. Goalie Jim Warden had put on a strong performance until the Czechs rattled him with three third period goals.

Besides Miss Nelson, there was one other strong American showing. It came from cross country skier Bill Koch, 20, of Guilford, Vt., who provided the biggest shock of these games with a silver medal in Thursday's 30 kilometers. On Sunday, he finished sixth in the 15 kilometer 9.3 miles race. It was the first time an American had placed higher than 15th in an Olympic cross country race.
