

Tech Takes SWC Award

By CLAUDETTE McINNIS
Toreador Staff Writer

Southwest Conference-wide recognition came to Texas Tech Monday as the coveted SWC Sportsmanship Award went to Tech for the school's first full year of play in the Conference.

Bill Dean, President of the Student Assn., was presented the traveling trophy preceding Cotton Bowl game Monday. Making the presentation were Joe Short of TCU, president of the Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Committee, and Bill Kolberg, executive secretary of the committee.

The SWC teams are rated by the following code. Each member of competing teams must: Abide by fair and proper means of conduct as determined by the rules of the contest; Treat contest officials with due respect and courtesy and accept the officials' decisions with good spirit; Be gracious in victory or defeat.

Members of the student bodies are to: Avoid discourtesies of any sort toward their opponents, other visitors, and spectators and be good hosts and/or guests at all contests; Demonstrate respect for opponents, their school songs, and their traditions; Accept the officials' decisions with good spirit.

The members of the SWC use the committee to establish better sportsmanship and better relations with schools outside the Conference as well as in the Conference.

After each football and basketball game throughout the year the teams are rated by the sportsmanship committees of the respective schools. The results are compiled and the winner of the sportsmanship award is derived.

The purpose of the Southwest Conference Sportsmanship Committee is to discuss and exchange ideas on how to promote better relations and sportsmanship between the eight SWC schools.

Both the good and bad points of sportsmanship portrayed by each school are studied at the meetings of the committee.

The Committee holds two meetings a year, one at the Spring Conference Track Meet at Rice and at Dallas prior to the Cotton Bowl Game.

Each of the eight schools sends five representatives to the meeting. Included are president of the student body, representative of the Student Council, representative of the athletic department, head cheerleader, and editor of the school newspaper.

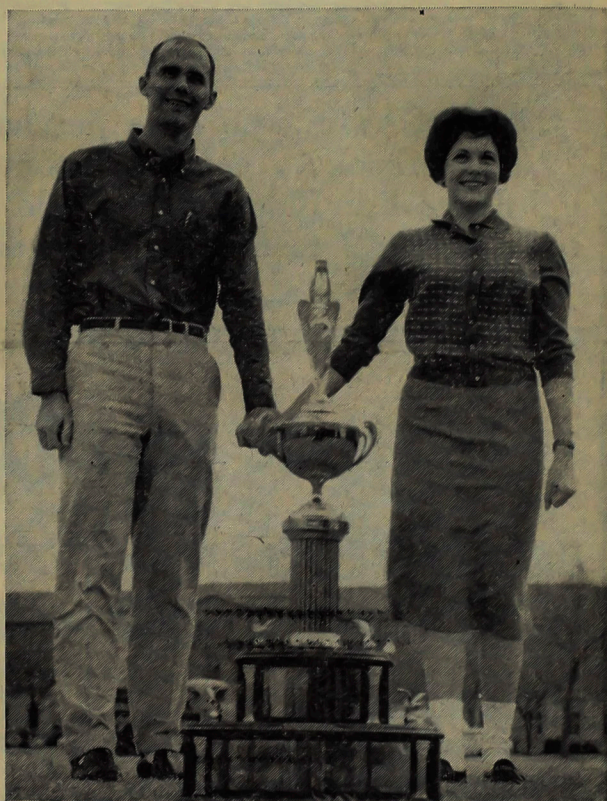

Tech's representatives were Bill Dean, Wayne Underwood, Bob Honts, Ralph Carpenter and Charles Draper.

Tech will take over as chairman of the SWCSC at the spring meeting, therefore the president of the Tech student body will also be president of the SWCSC.

Southern Methodist University served as the host for the meeting in Dallas.

Poll Queries Coeds' Opinions

By SUZANNE HARRIS
Toreador Staff Writer

The findings of a questionnaire recently distributed in Weeks Hall seem to be, in general, that the girls are not satisfied with the present switchboard system in the dorms, but few understand the problems of installing phones in the rooms.

The questionnaire poll was conducted by Nancy Baldwin, a Tech senior, to be used in a research report. She prepared, pre-tested and distributed the material herself to some 250 of the 380 girls in the dorm.

Sixty-eight per cent of the blanks were completed and returned. The questionnaire was concerned with (1) finding out how the girls in Weeks Hall felt about the present telephone system and (2) finding out how well informed the girls were concerning the system of private phones.

Approximately 89 per cent of the girls felt that the phone system in Weeks Hall is either partly or entirely inadequate, while none expressed opinions that it is entirely adequate. Of these girls, 91 per cent wanted private phones installed in the rooms.

Another question revealed that none of the girls thought that private phones would be any noisier than the noise which normally ensues in the hall, such as payphones ringing, girls talking and general confusion of coeds trying to find respective calls.

Most of the girls admitted that the switchboard operators were not to blame, but they seemed to believe that the operators could help by answering calls sooner and by helping limit the calls during busy hours of the day.

One of the possible remedies suggested by one of the members of the administration has been putting 30 private phones in the dorm to help combat the situation; but this, it seems, is not satisfactory with most of the girls. "There would be no accurate way to determine which girls needed these 30 phones the most", seemed to be the general consensus of opinion, the poll revealed.

Will A & M Adopt A New Name?

By RON CALHOUN
Toreador Editorial Assistant

Determination is an admirable trait, especially if the goal is an admirable one. At present there is a determined band of student and faculty Texas A&M Aggies that is raising the admirable cry of "name change" and they are laying odds on success.

But will they succeed? What are some of the obstacles that they face and why do they want the name change? Since Texas Tech stirred some comment and criticism on the same subject less than a year ago, the answers to these questions should be of more than passing interest.

In answering the big question of "why" the Ags want the name change you can do no better than read this excerpt from the A&M student newspaper, Battalion: "... one of the major conclusions in the preliminary study is that Texas A&M is calling itself something it is not. The title Texas State University most nearly describes Texas A&M; a state-supported school that is no longer a College but a University."

The desire for a name change at A&M is no fly-by-night operation, nor is it just another student newspaper editor brainstorm to stir up a little comment.

This is evidenced by the fact that A&M President Earl Rudder has given official status to a college executive committee to study the name change.

Also, the Civilian Student Council has appointed a special committee to poll the opinion of the civilian student body.

The main obstacle facing those advocating a name change seems to be tradition. A&M is widely known for its tradition and "once an Aggie, always an Aggie" is a credo that has been spread, sometimes viciously, from horizon to horizon.

Letters to the Battalion editors are varied. Each writer is definite in his views as to whether he is for or against the name change, with the latter being the most vociferous. The "fors" usually throw in the proposition that A&M should be co-educational also.

The Battalion says that the Name-Change Study Commission gives these five reasons why the name should be changed. It also says that it will "require more convincing grounds than that (tradition) to retain the name of Texas A&M."

- 1—Texas A&M is calling itself something it is not.
- 2—That if A&M is to remain an educational leader it would be beneficial to have the word "University" in its name.

3—That the word "College" is limiting and hinders the attraction of graduate and undergraduate students and faculty.

4—That the word "College" is detrimental to the prestige of Texas A&M.

5—That Texas A&M is running the risk of losing a desirable name that by modern acceptance is identified with the Land-Grant complex and might find itself in the embarrassing position of trying to defend its entitlement to such name in the future.

"Texas State University" seems to be the new name that those who are for change find most satisfactory. Of course, as the paper says, it will be hard to discard the Agricultural and Mechanical part of the name. From those who find anathema in giving up the "A&M" tag, there have been names like this submitted—"Texas A&M University."

But the Battalion says that "the words Agricultural and Mechanical are as limiting—if not more so—than the word College." Another name advanced is the "Texas University of Applied Science" but the Battalion finds no particular use for this title either.

36 Tickets Remain For Annual Trip

Only 36 tickets remain to be sold for the annual ski trip sponsored by the Tech Ski Club to Taos, New Mexico, between semesters.

Tickets will be on sale today from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Tech Union for $49.50. Sales yesterday reached 84 of the 120 people limited to go on the trip.

Pre-Ski School will be next Monday through Thursday from 7-8 p.m. in the Old Women's Gym (Men's Intramural Building). Skiers must come dressed to participate in conditioning exercises. They will also learn some helpful hints to make the trip safer and more enjoyable.

cutting a record for Prentice-Hall Publishing Company.

This group, one of five college and university groups throughout the nation, was chosen to make the records in conjunction with a new series of five music books being published by Prentice-Hall for use in public schools.

Each of the five groups will record music arranged for different choral groups. The series will include separate books for a men's chorus, a women's chorus and a junior high school chorus and two books for mixed choruses.

The series has already been adopted in 20 states, including Texas. The records will be sold to the schools to aid music instructors in interpreting the arrangements in the books.

Tech does not have a men's glee club as such and has not had one for the past two semesters. Gene Kinney, Tech choir director, has made arrangements for such an organization next semester if enough men are interested.

Guantanamo Base Will Stay Under Control Of U.S.—Ike

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower served notice Wednesday that despite the U.S. breakoff of diplomatic relations with Cuba the United States intends to continue its hold on the big Guantanamo naval base.

THE WHITE HOUSE announcement topped a series of wide-ranging developments following the diplomatic break, made by Eisenhower Tuesday night.

A State Department spokesman said the removal of American diplomatic personnel from Cuba and the expulsion of Cuban diplomats from this country appears to be moving forward without a hitch.

IN THE UNITED NATIONS Security Council this country and Cuba exchanged sharp accusations at a meeting interrupted by an anti-Castro demonstration in the public gallery.

The United States accused Cuba of deliberately forcing the break in relations by a strategy of harassment.

CUBA CONTENDED its government and people "are preparing to repel the invaders" it accused the United States of supporting and said it ordered a sharp reduction in U.S. diplomatic personnel because "most of the staff is involved in criminal espionage, subversion and terrorist activities." The United States rejected these charges as ridiculous and hysterical.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty today issued a further statement emphasizing that the diplomatic break "has no effect on the status of our naval station at Guantanamo."

At least one man was hurt and several others were spattered with eggs and tomatoes before police restored order between two groups fighting outside the public entrance. Inside the Security Council chamber, the debate was twice disrupted by hecklers.

THE UNITED STATES told the 11-nation council Castro was turning Cuba into a springboard for Communist subversion of the Western Hemisphere. Cuba said the United States was about to attack her.

Seven men and a woman were expelled from U. N. headquarters for yelling, "Viva Castro," from the public gallery of the council chamber.

MIXUP LEAVES CAMPUS POLE WITHOUT FLAG

There was no American flag flying at Texas Tech Wednesday.

An interested student dropped by the Toreador office and reported that the pole that carries the stars and stripes was strangely bare.

A hurried call went out to the Army ROTC Department at Tech. They said it was the Air Force's week to fly the flag.

A call to the Air Force ROTC headquarters revealed it was their opinion it was the Army's week to fly the flag and advised a call to the Army extension.

We did. They said, "Somebody is mistaken."

At last report, many phone calls later, the flag pole was bare and an investigation was reported underway.

Laos Boils, U.S. Waits

BANGKOK, Thailand (P)—The SEATO Council failed Wednesday to lend support to U. S. charges that substantial numbers of foreign Communist soldiers are aiding rebels in Laos.

This is the key factor in deciding whether Western troops should be sent by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization to aid the pro-Western government of Laos.

A statement issued by SEATO ambassadors was silent on U. S. and Laotian charges that soldiers from Communist North Viet Nam are backing the fight against the royal Laotian army.

Local 'Maid' Takes Third In National Cotton Contest

Lubbock's Maid of Cotton, Joan Wienke, returned home Monday from Memphis, Tenn. where she was named second alternate in the National Maid of Cotton Contest.

The National Maid of Cotton is Linda Lackey of Forrest, Miss. and the first alternate is Nancy Sue Gray of Deming, N. M.

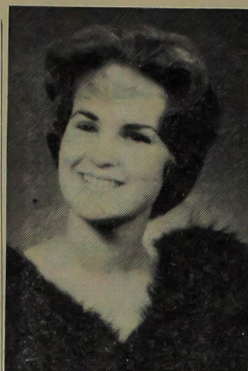

The contest began on Dec. 29 and lasted through Dec. 29, with the two days including luncheons, style shows, television appearances, press conferences and the Maid of Cotton contest.

Each of the girls appeared individually in street clothes, formals and swimsuits. Only when the contestants had been narrowed down to the final five was the contest televised. At this point, each of the five girls were interviewed separately on the stage by the judges.

Joan's expenses were paid by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and she was presented with a bouquet of roses, compliments of Continental Airlines, upon her departure from Lubbock.

The 21 girls entering the contest were each presented with $100 and a bag of gifts including make-up, sheets, and towels.

Joan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Wienke of Lubbock.

Show Features Famous Four

The Four Freshmen, vocal and instrumental recording stars, will appear in Lubbock at 8 p.m. Monday in the Municipal Auditorium.

Special discount prices have been set for all Tech students with I.D. cards. Rates are $2 and students may sit anywhere in the auditorium. Tickets are now on sale in the auditorium lobby.

The group, which rose to fame in 1950, has been named Best Vocal Group in the nation several times. They appeared in the MGM movie, "Rich, Young and Pretty," and have made a number of nightclub, stage and television appearances.

Among their most popular record albums are "Freshman Favorites," "Voices in Modern," "Four Freshmen in Person," and "First Affair." They have released 14 albums.

The quartette plays seven different musical instrument.

Tech Needs Name For Talent Show

Tech Talent Show must have a name by Jan. 13. This name will be used for the annual production.

Entry blanks for the contest may be picked up in the Tech Union and are to be placed in the box provided or may be mailed to Jane Gentry, Program Director, Tech Union.

A record will be awarded to the winner of the contest. All entries must be in by Jan. 13.

Plans are being made to develop this event into a large production. It may perhaps replace the Varsity Show, according to Martha Mackey, Arts and Entertainment Committee.

Welcome Them

Athletes Here On Saturday

Saturday Texas Tech is going to have some extra special guests on the campus. The visitors will be several area and state-wide gridiron stars who have expressed a desire to look at Tech's academic and athletic facilities.

For the first time in history, Tech students will have an active part in making the athletic visitors feel at home. It's all part of a new plan instigated by Bill Dean, Student Assn. proxy and his newly formed athletic recruiting committee. Under the new plan members of the committee and interested students will take part in welcoming the visiting athletes and giving them a true picture of life on our campus.

A leading teacher and student in the school in which the athlete intends to major will talk to the boy, explaining in detail the opportunities that await them here.

The Toreador feels that the new recruiting idea is a sound one and should be backed to the hilt by all interested parties. It will not be an easy task for those involved but it will be a rewarding one.

Texas Tech, with the recent addition of a new head coach (and he's a good one for a change), should become one of the powers in the Southwest Conference. Of course J. T. King and his staff cannot do the entire job alone—it will take work on the part of all those who are interested in Tech's athletic future. Under Dean's new plan interested Tech students will have the chance to help King out.

The Toreador will print the names of the boys who are going to visit Tech each week—if you see your hometown favorite or an athlete you would like to meet on the list let Dean know about it at the council office because he needs all the help he can get. If this recruiting plan is going to work we're all going to have to pitch in and help out.

Let's make the visiting athletes welcome Saturday.

Student Council Beat

One of Tech's greatest assets is its fine music department. This department has brought nationwide recognition to the college and ranks as one of the finest in the field.

Three years ago the Music Department underwent a re-organization that saw Dr. Gene Hemmle elevated to head man with Gene Kenney taking over as director of choral activities. At that time Dr. D. O. Wiley was director of the Tech band. Since then Mr. Dean Killion has taken over this post.

Tech's 190-piece band was one of the outstanding ones in the conference this fall and appears to be heading toward even bigger and better things in the future.

And the choral department has been another group that has contributed much to Tech's growing prestige. At this time Mr. Kenney, who has already greatly expanded his area of the department, is mapping plans for a Men's Glee Club.

He feels that a choral program is not complete unless it has a men's singing group. The possibilities of such a group are unlimited. There are very few in the state and such a group would bring widespread recognition to Tech. But more important it would provide more opportunity for Tech students to participate and enjoy music. Mr. Kenney is interested in everyone regardless of whether or not they are majoring in music. He wants any boy who has ever participated in choral work during high school, at church or in college to apply.

The Glee Club will be formed as part of a class offering one hour of semester credit in music. It is scheduled to meet at 11 Tuesday and Thursday. Arrangements for conferences can be scheduled with Mr. Kenney before registration or at the time of registration.

Plans are being formulated to take this group on a tour and to provide them with a distinctive uniform, probably a tux jacket type.

Mr. Kenney can be reached at Ex. 345 and his office is 103 in the Music Building. If you're just the least bit interested why don't you give him a call. At least fill out the blank below and turn it in to the secretary in the Music Building or bring it by the council office and I will see that it ends up in the proper spot.

NL Seeks Way To 'Stock' Teams

NEW YORK (P)—The National for Houston and New York, the League will provide some players franchises to be added in 1962, but hopes to avoid the cash-for-castoffs pool arrangement used by the American League in completing its hurried baseball expansion plans.

Warren Giles, National League president, said no set plan has been decided upon for the stocking of the two new clubs "but we'll provide players. How they will be set aside, or how much of a cash value will be placed on them, still has to be worked out."

GILES ADDED that the National has set up a five-man committee to study various possibilities. The committee, which will make a report at the league's mid-summer meeting, is comprised of John Quinn, Philadelphia; Bing Devine, St. Louis; Joe Brown, Pittsburgh; John McHale, Milwaukee, and Buzzie Bavasi, Los Angeles. All are general managers with their respective clubs.

One important resolution would allow Houston and New York to enter into working agreements with minor league clubs. That would be the first step toward stocking the new teams. Under that proposal, Houston and New York would be able to call up players from the minor league affiliates at the close of the 1960 season.

Waygood, Wife Escape Forced Landing Unhurt

Don Waygood, Tech football star, his wife Jackie and his father-in-law escaped injury Tuesday morning when the plane in which they were flying made a crash landing at Grider Airport in Pine Bluff, Arkansas.

The Waygoods were returning to Lubbock from Nashville, Tenn., after a visit with Mrs. Waygood's father, Dillard Breeding, who was piloting the private plane.

After a 45 minute stop to refuel and eat breakfast in Pine Bluff, they took off again. When the plane reached an altitude of 200 feet, it developed engine trouble. Breeding circled the field and made an emergency landing.

"It gives a person kind of a lost feeling to know there is nothing that can be done," Waygood stated. "The landing gear wouldn't come out and the plane couldn't be turned very much."

"It was real lucky that none of us were injured," he added.

The Waygoods continued the trip to Lubbock in a chartered plane from Little Rock, Ark.

... and slow curves

by Billy Patton

Tech jumped off to a big start in the first Southwest Conference basketball season contest Tuesday night in a tremendous comeback victory that brightened the hopes of a lot of people.

It was sort of a turnabout affair, because Tech had suffered some losses in the pre-season games in just the same way the SMU Mustangs suffered that one Tuesday night. A great team effort brought the Raiders out of a deep hole and left the Mustangs clinging to the well rope.

Psychologically, that first win will probably be a great help to the Raiders in the future. They know now that they can play terrific basketball when the chips are down, and they know there's no reason to lose hope until the final buzzer, a mental state which could help them pull out another game or two before the Conference trophy is handed out.

— QR —

Over the holidays, we bent an ear to some of the gossip going around the sports circuit. Some of it sounds credible, some of it more doubtful, but we'll pass it along for what you think it's worth.

Some people think E. J. Holub will be traded by the Dallas Texans in the near future, probably to the Chicago Bears.

A sports editor of our acquaintance thinks Wilbur Evans was a wise choice for Southwest Conference publicity director, but that Texas Tech's Bill Holmes would have also been a logical choice for the new post.

A usually reliable source in Dallas says SMU will de-emphasize football in the years to come.

Several sports writers are agreed that the upcoming recruiting season will be the most fruitful in years for Texas Tech, and that J. T. King and his assistants will skim most of the cream before the milk is bottled.

— QR —

And speaking of recruiting, this is a big week in the football fortunes of Texas Tech. A number of future college stars will be on the campus this week looking at the school as a prospective place to stake their claim to fame for the next four years.

Now is the time for that projected plan of student cooperation in recruiting to go into effect. The student body can help throughout this campaign by making these prospects feel at home here on the campus during their visits, and helping to sell them on Texas Tech as a great school as well as an institution with great athletic potential.
