Badgers Look Little Better

Harry Taylor's Bobcats To Mix With Cisco Team

By BILL COLLYNS McCAMEY under the white of McCamey high school's recently-lighted football gridiron, a greatly improved McCamey Badger football squad will take the field against the Alpine high school Bucks Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the second exhibition tilt of the season for the Badgers, who were noed out 6 to 2 by the Pecos Eagles here last Friday evening.

It will be the second night football game ever played in this section of the game here, last week being the first. The largest crowd ever to witness a football game in this city was on hand for the tussle last Friday and an even larger crowd is expected this week.

Coaches Hayhurst and Bardin discovered the weak spots of their squad in last week's game and have been putting their charges through long and strenuous workouts this week in an effort to correct them. In the initial game, there was practically no blocking and the tackling and pass defense was weak and as a result most of the time in practice this week has been spent on blocking, tackling and pass defense.

Bull Ray, last season squadman, joined the squad this week and is expected to improve the line to a great extent. Ray, a 165-pounder in working out at a tackle position and should relieve the tackle situation considerably. Bill Elliott is another promising tackle who joined the squad recently.

CATS TO GO AFTER CISCO TONIGHT SAN ANGELO — San Angelo high school's Bobcats, apparently better drilled than when they lost to Eastland, 12-6, here last week and in top physical shape, fire away at the rugged Cisco high school lobbies tonight on the Concho gridiron under the bright lights. The first chorus is set for 8 o'clock.

Those who have suspected the New Deal of a radical tinge, will hardly be reassured by Mr. Hopkins' remark. His suggestion is radical, beyond question. It calls for a complete change in our economic system.

UP GO THE HOGS! A queer combination of drought and hogs rocketing. Never before, outside of wartime has the hog market risen as rapidly as it has this summer.

Bearded Boys Win From All-Stars 8-4 ODESSA — Playing before one of the largest crowds of the season, the famous House of David ball club defeated an all-star club by the close score of 8-4.

At a moment when the sky is a great deal darker than most of us would like to see it, it is comforting to find at least one oasis of good times.

LINDY APPEARS BEFORE HAUPTMANN GRAND JURY

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh (left) spent 17 minutes before the Bronx grand jury which indicted Bruno R. Hauptmann (right), for extortion in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnaping.

Camey. Cisco defeated Gorman, 19 to 6, on the night San Angelo lost to Eastland, another Oil Belt delegation. This evening's melee comprises the second pigskin argument of the year for both clubs.

Interest centers largely on how the Bobcats have or have not improved in one short week's span. At times last week they looked fairly snappy and at other times downright awful.

Bearded Boys Win From All-Stars 8-4

ODESSA — Playing before one of the largest crowds of the season, the famous House of David ball club defeated an all-star club by the close score of 8-4. The Davids who are used to winning their games by several dozens runs margin, found a stiff opponent Thursday. Except for a wild second inning, when the Davids scored five runs, after two were out, on a mixed assortment of errors, hits and househits, the game was nip and tuck.

Kiwanis, Herald, Linck And Anderson Still In Running

With the smoke of Thursday night's battle cleared away, four teams Kiwanis, Herald, Linck, Anderson remain in the running for the championship of League No. 3, each team having been defeated at least once.

The powerful Cosden Oilers met defeat at the hands of the Herald Type Lice for the third straight time in the second game by the score of 6-5, while the Anderson Melody Makers suffered their first setback in three starts at the hands of the Linck Grocerymen, making only two tallies while the Munk champions made three.

Harvey Kraus stopped the heavy hitting Anderson bunch in their tracks in the first game, setting them down with four scattered hits, no two of which came in the same stanza.

White Sox Pound Out 11 To 0 Victory

DETROIT — The Tigers suffered their first defeat since clinching the American league pennant Thursday when the last-place White Sox belted out an 11 to 0 victory in the final game of their series.

Schoolboy Rowe was the victim of the Chicago assault in a lackadaisical game, marked by frequent Tiger substitutions. He gave up eight hits and as many runs in four innings before Fred Marberry replaced him. Rowe turned in a poor performance. He gave four walks and was behind most of the batsmen who faced him.

George Earnshaw turned the trick of whitewashing the champions as he earned another $50 bonus with his 14th victory of the season. He was touched for seven hits in all, granting only two in the first five innings but was able to bear down in the "clutches."

It has been definitely settled, George Gentry said today, that the Steers will play Bowie at El Paso on Saturday, Oct. 6 at 2:30 p. m.

Mumpsey Wallace holds the distinction of being first man on the Colorado Wolf squad to hold the post of captain as scheduled games for the year were formally opened.

Hardy Pearce and Johnny Baker, former Colorado high school coaches, have secured coaching positions in Washington, D. C. Pearce, who was coach at Colorado in 1930-31 and 1931-32, is now coaching in Eastern High school, one of the largest schools in Washington.

WHERE DID WE GET THE DOLLAR-SIGN

WHY don't we use a big D for "dollar" and draw two lines through that? Who started the idea of using an S instead?

Well, one explanation links us with old Spanish trading days. Prices were based on pesos, which was abbreviated to read PS. Gradually, they say, we came to write the P right on top of the S. But the sign was too hard to read, so we rolled the loop off the P, which left $.

Now reading the dollar-sign is natural to every one. But much more important, we believe, is learning to read dollar-values.

When you hold a newspaper in your hand, the dollar-values are right before your eyes. You find them in nearly every good advertisement. They tell you where to get the most quality at the lowest cost.

It's a good practice to study the dollar-values in your newspaper before you set out to buy. Then the price-tags mean more to you than a group of figures.

Gilbert Fahrenkamp, Former Resident Of This City Wed To Wichita Falls Girl

Gilbert Fahrenkamp, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Fahrenkamp of El Paso, former resident of Big Spring, was married Sunday evening in Wichita Falls to Miss Lewellyn Weath of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Fahrenkamp stopped over in Big Spring Tuesday for a visit with the groom's brothers, Will and Emil Fahrenkamp and their families, then continued their wedding trip which is being spent in various parts of the west.

Parents of the groom also visited the Big Spring members of the family enroute to the wedding. They are still in Wichita Falls visiting a daughter, Mrs. C. M. Byar.

The marriage which took place at St. Paul's Lutheran church, was an especially lovely affair. The fan theme was used. An immense grouping of flowers in fan shape spread from a figure of Christ at the foot.

The ring ceremony was read at 8 o'clock by the Rev. C. M. Byar, pastor of the church, and Mr. Fahrenkamp's brother-in-law, in the presence of a large assembly of friends and relatives who filled the church to capacity.

The Wichita Daily Times describes the wedding as follows: The background for the ceremony was enhanced by a center of white chrysanthemums near the altar grouped solidly, from which radiated colorful spires of gladioli ranging color from a rich deep rose through the several pastel shades represented in the dresses of the bridesmaids, to pure white flowers at the base.

At each side of this were tall fans of green woodwardia fern leaves, each centered with a cluster of white candles. Inter-clustered with white gladioli and white asters.

The tall Gothic arch which rises almost to the roof of the church and frames the entire chancel, was softened with a tracery of southern smilax, and two tall woodwardia palm trees were at each side. Beyond this arch was another pair of the immense fan-like pieces of the woodwardia leaves and more candleabra with their gleaming lighted candles. The whole forming a setting of unusual beauty.

For the pre-nuptial music, Elmer W. Wendt presided at the organ and played original compositions and a wedding march written by Edward Read. For the recessional he gave his own composition. John D. Rieger sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mr. Wendt. The wedding party came down the center aisle of the church between rows of tall cathedral-candles, and the bride was attractive in her gown of white satin made princess style and court train. Her veil of silk mesh was caught up around her face with orange blossoms and pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations surrounding one large white chrysanthemum arranged in the modern fashion. Each flower stood out like a jewel, mounted on a stem wrapped in white satin. Several long pendants of white carnations showing from the bouquet added grace to the arrangement. She was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Fahrenkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Peterson, all of El Paso, Miss Gertrude Birkman of Houston and Mrs. George Birkman of Tyler.

The more one reads about the tragedy on the liner Morro Castle, the more one is impressed by the terrible weight of responsibility which can descend, without warning, on the shoulders of the man who holds a command at sea.

No other walk of life can bring responsibilities quite like the sea captain's. In the twinkling of an eye he may be called on to make decisions that will mean life or death to hundreds of people—and he never gets a second guess. His decision, once made, is irrevocable. His slightest error in judgment can be fraught with unspeakable consequences.

For this reason it behooves us landlubbers to move slowly in condemning the man who had charge of the Morro Castle during the fire. It may be that he made wrong decisions. But we cannot judge them fairly unless we realize that the sea captain's mistakes are made under a pressure that none of us who stay ashore will ever know.

Women Prefer This Laxative

Needing laxatives more often, women prefer delicious Peen-a-mint, the soothing gum laxative. It distributes its laxative ingredient by chewing, more uniformly into the system, thus giving a more natural and complete action that is not based on delicate organs. Delicious Peen-a-mint contains a laxative ingredient regularly prescribed by physicians. It contains no richness to upset stomach or diet. Delay is dangerous. Today get back on schedule and stay there. Chew non-habit forming Peen-a-mint for constipation.

PENCIL STUDY OF LINDBERGH KIDNAP CASE SUSPECT, HELP TRACK DOWN LINDY, SUSPECT

When Walter Lyle (left) received a $10 gold certificate from Bruno Richard Hauptmann in payment for gasoline he checked up on it and discovered it to be part of the Lindbergh kidnaping ransom and gave authorities the tip that resulted in the German alien's arrest. Four-Times National Plowing Champion! Carl Shoger Says Tires Are Big Factor

The National Plowing Championship—greatest of all agricultural laurels—was won for the fourth consecutive time by Carl Shoger at the Westland, Ill., Plowing Contest, September 15. This time, more than ever before, the contest was a convincing demonstration of pneumatic tire superiority, because rain during the event made conditions extremely difficult. Shoger won with an International Harvester Tractor equipped with Firestone Low Pressure Tractor tires, the same equipment he won with last year, but he put on his chains this year to plow in the rain. He was competing against the nation's most famous plowmen some of whom used tractor equipment and others horse-drawn plows. Shoger believes the new low pressure tractor tires are as important to the farm tractor as balloon tires are to automobiles.

HEADLINERS IN LINDBERGH KIDNAP ARREST

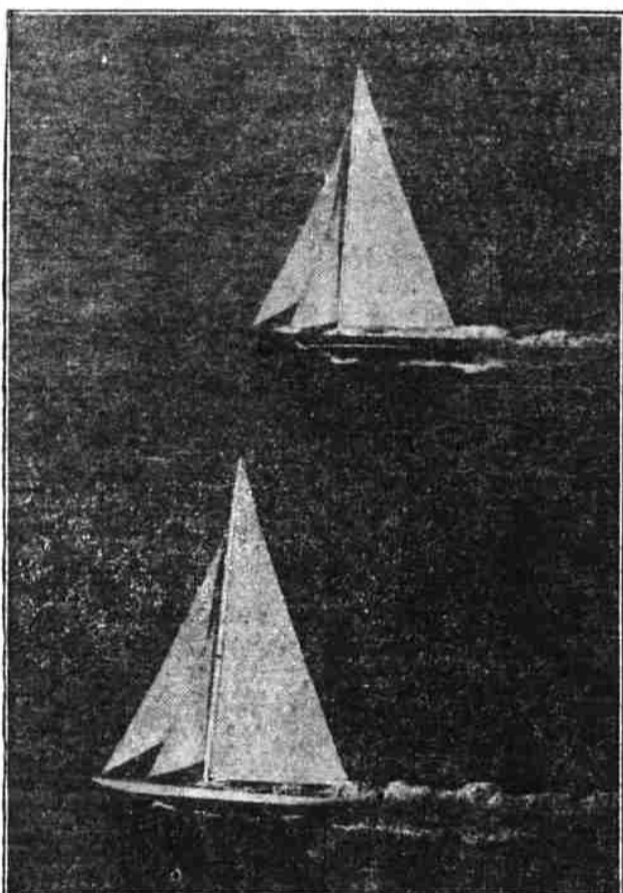

This trio of officials, cooperating in the intensive search for clues in the Lindbergh kidnap case, expressed the opinion that arrest of Bernard Richard Hauptmann, German alien, would go far toward clearing up the world-wide mystery. Left to right: Police Commissioner John F. O'Ryan of New York; J. Edgar Hoover, head of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice; Col. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police. (Associated Press Photos)

FINGERPRINTS CALLED 'PRICELESS' IN LINDY CASE

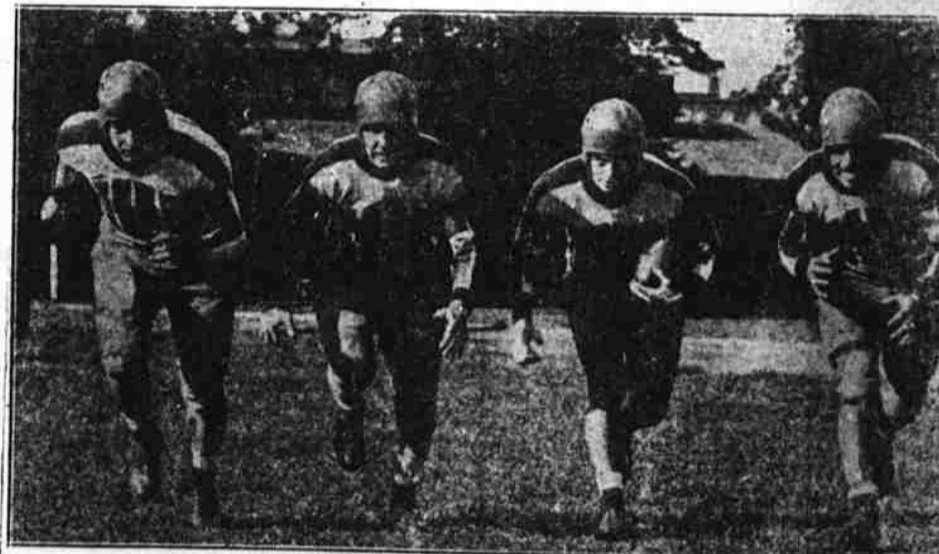

As officials pushed their investigation of the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case, one investigator termed Bruno Hauptmann's fingerprints "the one priceless piece of evidence." Four of the suspect's righthand prints are shown at top. Below are shown two of the peculiar interlocking symbols which appeared on all the Lindbergh ransom notes. Those likewise were expected to play a significant part in the case as it progressed. (Associated Press Photos)

COLUMBIA'S LIONS SET TO DO SOME MORE ROARING

Judging from the ferocity on the faces of these four star backfielders the football world has by no means heard the last of Columbia university, whose lions were a major sensation last fall. HAUPTMANN'S SCRIPT COMPARED WITH KIDNAPER'S

WENATCHEE, Wash. (UP)—Marriage between minors, without parental permission, is valid in Washington.

Common law marriages are still permissible.

The state never has, by law, raised the common law female age from 12 to 16 and the male age from 14 to 21.

These and other revelations brought out in an amendment case here recently probably will turn the legislature's activities to a thorough study of the state's marriage and divorce laws when it reconvenes.

L. J. Gemmill, Wenatchee attorney, uncovered a 20-year-old supreme court decision holding marriage between minors without parents' permission, valid. Gemmill's discovery was supported by Superior Judge W. O. Farr, who agreed that divorce judges today should be governed by a 1914 ruling which never has been amended.

The 20-year-old decision of the supreme court reversed a lower court ruling annulling a marriage between minors on the grounds neither had permission of parents.

CINCINNATI (UP)—Although the Hoboes of America concluded their convention here some time ago, seating of the 400,236 votes cast—by proxy, grapevine telegraph, mail and what not—was not completed until recently. Jeff Davis, familiarly known as "King of the Hoboes," retained the royal scepter. His subjects re-elected him overwhelmingly.

Pelicans Lose To Buccaneers

GALVESTON—A big second inning, in which they mixed three singles with two errors of commission and one of omission to score four runs, started the Galveston Buccaneers off Thursday night to an 8 to 1 victory over the New Orleans Pelicans.

The Pirates' conquest enabled them to pull up on even terms with the Pels in the Dixie series, each team having one decision.

Jimmy Walkup, who has a wicked curve, a nice chance of pace and a potent cross fire despite his 36 years, was the game's hero. The southpaw veteran of four Dixie series' had a shutout until the ninth when Carson's mighty triple and Holman's single spoiled it. This brace of hits was half of the Pelicans' total for the evening.

Al Milnar, young New Orleans fork hander, had the Bucos well in hand except for that second inning uprising. However, he gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth and the Bucos had more enjoyment at the expense of Andy Messenger and Ragland. The four runs in the eighth were unnecessary but added to the pleasure of the Galveston fans, who saw their scrapping club lose a 3 to 2 decision in 12 innings Wednesday night.

Until the ninth, Eddie Rose was the only Pelican able to connect with Walkup's offerings. The others either were popping out or fanning most of the time as the crafty southpaw "mixed them up."

The crowd was disappointing.

New Direct Fast Air Schedule To Chicago Over AA Announced

Effective October first, American Airlines will inaugurate their new direct service between Big Spring and Chicago, bringing this city within eight hours of the Fishcher, station manager for the airline.

The departure from here remains the same as heretofore, at 5:56 a. m. with the exclusive sleeper plane service to Fort Worth where direct connections with the new Vultee Transport, world's fastest plane, are made for Chicago and intermediate points.

The complete schedule follows: Lv. Big Spring 5:56 a. m.; Arr. Ft. Worth 7:40 a. m.; Lv. Ft. Worth 8:15 a. m.; Arr. Tulsa 10:32 a. m.; Lv. Tulsa 10:44 a. m.; Arr. St. Louis 12:54 p. m.; Lv. St. Louis 1:08 p. m.; Arr. Chicago 2:35 p. m. The returning schedule departs from Chicago at 12:45 p. m. daily, arriving in Big Spring at 1:00 a. m. the following morning.

"Thus," Mr. Fischer declares, "business matters can be conducted in the Windy City, the same afternoon of the day of departure from Big Spring, which places this city in the position of Chicago's 'next door neighbor,'" he concludes.

only 2250 persons showing up, even after Wednesday night's thriller.

The final game of the series here will be played Friday night. Manager Billy Webb of the Bucos probably will take a chance with Jorgens and save Harry Gumbert for the opener in New Orleans Sunday. Denny Galehouse, the star of New Orleans' playoff with Nashville for the Southern association title, is expected to be Jorgens' opponent.

Giants Lead By 1-2 Game

Cardinals Chalk Up 8 To 5 Victory Over Reds

ST. LOUIS—The Cardinals chopped the lead of the idle New York Giants to a half game Thursday when they slammed an 8 to 5 victory over the last place Reds in the opener of a four-game series. Three Cincinnati errors started the Cards on a five-run rally in the first and the Reds never could overcome that handicap.

The Cardinals triumph cut New York's lead in half and left St. Louis in a position to tie the leaders by winning again Friday. The Giants, with only two more games to play before the end of the season, do not return to action until Saturday. The Cards have three games to go.

After drawing a long lead in the first, Lefty Bill Walker faltered to preserve it and went out in the sixth when Cincinnati brought the count up to 5-4 with the aid of some fine relief hurling by Tony Freitas. When Freitas went out for a pinch hitter in the sixth St. Louis staged a counter rally for two runs against St. Johnson and added its final tally on Joe Medwick's home run in the eighth.

The Reds made a very wobbly start when the first Three Cardinal batsmen reached first on errors all three charged against Gordon Slade. That threw Phil Derringer off balance and he gave up three hits in that inning to complete the rally.

CUBS 4, BUCCANEERS 2

CHICAGO—Bill Lee won his 13th victory of the year as the Cubs defeated Pittsburgh, 4-2 Thursday in the opening game of their series and handed the Pirates a setback in their belated fight for fourth place.

The Pirates now trail the Boston Braves, who won today, by a game and a half, with three games to play.

The Cubs got to Ralph Brikofor, for nine blows, bunching two of them with a walk and a pair of battery errors for two runs in the

Braves 7, Phillies 3

PHILADELPHIA—The Braves belted Phil Collins freely Thursday to defeat the Phillies, 7 to 2, in the opening game of the season's final series.

A four run rally staged during an eight-inning shower sewed up the game. Hits by Hogan, Thompson, Berger and Randy Moore and a walk to Jordan accounted for the tallies. Bill Urbanak's fifth inning homer was enough to give the Braves the lead before that burst. Collins and Ben Cantwell both went the route on the mound.

Mrs. Guy Stinebaugh Hostess For Party

Mrs. Guy Stinebaugh delightfully entertained two tables of bridge players Thursday afternoon. Many cut flowers, were artistically used in carrying out a pink and green color scheme.

These colors also prevailed in the accessories and refreshments.

Mrs. McCombs made high score and was awarded a lovely set of glasses. Mrs. Johnson received a waffle ladle for low score.

Guests playing with Mrs. Stinebaugh were Mrs. F. D. Wilson, R. F. Blum, Sam McCombs, Hubert Johnson, Howard Lester, A. A. Porter and Herbert Johnson.

Plan Plane Study Of Pollen

PHILADELPHIA, (UP)—An aerial survey to obtain information on the habits of air-borne pollen-nemeses of hay fever victims—is being undertaken by the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science.

The metropolitan area of Philadelphia and a sector of South Jersey centered about Atlantic City and extending eastward 20 miles are the sites of the study.

Other attempts have been made to study the pollen content of the air through use of glycerin-coated slides fixed to the cockpit of an airplane, but were unsuccessful, according to Dr. Charles H. L. Wall, dean of the College of Pharmacy and Science here.

The survey plan now being tried was conceived by Dr. A. H. Zifferblatt and Dr. Henry K. Beebe, who are in active charge of the experiment.

The equipment for the project was developed at the college here and will permit measurement of air volume with but a two per cent factor of error, according to the builder, Frank N. Moerk, engineer.

The new apparatus makes possible selective "washing" of the air at stated altitudes. The major element is a tube, flared at the forward or collecting end like the bell of a cornet. This is attached to the wing of the airplane and is connected by means of a rubber coupler to a wash-bottle which is fastened in the forward cockpit.

Time Extension Granted Ginners To File Reports

AUSTIN—Frank Scofield, Collector of Internal Revenue for the first district of Texas, announced today that the Treasury Department has authorized an extension to October 31, 1934, within which ginners of cotton may file their monthly returns without penalty for the months of June, July and August, 1934. All ginners are being advised of this extension by letter today. The returns should actually reach the collector's office by October 31, 1934.

This extension of time will enable ginners to gather in from farmers the necessary exemption certificates and turn these in with their monthly returns to cover the weight of the cotton ginned and reported on the returns. The extension will also relieve the ginners of the necessity of placing lien cards on the farmer's cotton because the ginner will be permitted to hold the cotton until the farmers deliver to the ginner a sufficient number of exemption certificates.

Attention is called to the fact that it is unwise to attach lien cards to any bale of cotton which may subsequently be covered by exemption certificate. Attention is also called to the fact that bales of cotton to which lien cards are attached may be stored only on the farm where the cotton was raised or in an approved bonded warehouse. It may not lawfully be stored at any other place.

Mr. Scofield states that he is confident no further extension will be granted for filing returns and therefore ginners, farmers and county agricultural agents are urged to co-operate in a supreme effort to see that all exemption certificates applying to all cotton ginned during the months of June, July, August and September, 1934 are issued to the farmers and delivered by them to the ginner prior to October 25, 1934 in order that the ginner may have ample time to complete and file his return with the collector's office before October 31, 1934.

Romance Rumored

MISSOURIAN DEFIES U. S.; HE'LL KEEP HIS HOUNDS

JOPLIN, Mo. (UP)—W. L. James, long-time resident of McDonald county, thinks the government is taking a mighty foolish stand regarding his pack of ten hounds, but he is going to keep them anyhow.

Federal relief workers told him he would have to dispose of his hounds if he wanted to receive aid, but James said he makes a living with his hounds in the winter and if the government makes him sell them he'll be on relief the year around.

Corn Stalk Had 17 Ears

SEATTLE (UP)—A corn stalk bearing 17 ears was grown in a patch owned by Mrs. H. D. Morse. The ears had no husks and the "silk" was tangled in such a way that it formed a basket in which the 17 ears rested. The stalk was exhibited at the Puyallup County Fair.

"Just good friends" was the rub stamp answer Kay Francis (above) and Maurice Chevalier (below) gave to a rumor they are about to become engaged, but the reports seem to persist. (Associated Press Photos)

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAIN GOULD

"They aren't going to worry about whether there will be enough potatoes to go around out here in the northwest," reports Scout Jay Vessels, "at least not until the current football campaign is over."

"It's almost appalling how the pressing economic problems have been side-tracked by the railbirds peering intently at the progress of the 1934 edition of Minnesota's Thundering Herd."

"You wouldn't think that, as the drought alarmists write for the benefit of the hoarding easterners, that the old baymare had not had a good sized nibble of grass all year. The ticket office reports virtually a record advance sale and it looks like the relief lines would be deserted altogether on the afternoons that Minnesota meets Pitt, Michigan, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Iowa and Chicago and the others."

EVERYBODY'S EXCITED

"The old timers ain't never seen nothing like it, but if that football club fails to flatten everything in its way, the bottom may drop out of everything with the iron mines, the pine forests and the dairy industry all tossed in for one round of new belly and taters."

"Yes, it's a right smart predicament the old Herd has dragged the populace into and I think I shall conceal myself in my woods hunting camp hideout if the whole shebang goes haywire. Like all plots this one needs a background, so you must recall that Minnesota with all of its vaunted power, potential and otherwise, always just misses out in doing something really big in a pigskin way."

"So this seems to be the year for a heavy huddle between the law of averages and other factors upon which great things are predicated. That is, this much seems apparent to everyone but Coach Bernie Bierman, who used to consume his pot likker down Huey Long's way."

"However, the giddy fans are not even listening to reason, much less to Professor Bierman and his characteristic moaning. All they can see are visions of fetching back that little brown jug from Michigan along with the hides of the remainder of the field from the Panthers on down."

"Actually though, Minnesota has the finest prospects in more than a decade, with the gang of seasoned players and brilliant sophomores ready for the gong. That 1933 outfit that blew Pitt and Michigan from the national title picture is back intact with one exception. Some of the new backfield crop will make even a Pug land hustle to stick in the starting lineup.

"Minnesota plays Nebraska in its second game and then collides with Pitt two weeks later. So the test will be early and thorough and if the outfit gets by these two fans the fans' best hopes may be realized, although there will be plenty left within the Big Ten to worry about."

Not since 1929 when Johnny Goodman, then an immature and brash youngster, dumped bengal Bob Jones in a first round upset has a National Amateur golf championship produced so many

"giant-killers" as the 38th annual tournament played last week at Brookline, Mass.

They numbered four—Willie Turnesa of New York; Robert Carpenter (Hobby) Jones of Detroit; Robert Joseph (Bobby) Jacobson of Deal, N. J., and Reynolds Smith of Dallas. Their combined ages totaled 73 years.

Each one scored a major conquest—Turnesa defeated defending champion George Dunlap Jr.; Jones put out Veteran Francis Oulmet; Jacobson turned back Johnny Goodman and Smith overhauled C. Ross Somerville. They carved out their victories in the early round 18 hole "sudden death" matches.

Turnesa didn't win the championship, but the 19-year-old youngest of seven golfing brothers was easily the steadiest and smoothest shotmaker in the field during his term in the tournament.

His free and easy style, rhythmic swing and calm, deliberate manner under fire captured the fancy of the galleries and the observing eye of United States Golf Association officials on the alert for timber for future international competition.

"Wee Willie" survived five rounds before he was polished off in the quarter-finals by William Lawson Little Jr. and when he passed from the tournament he left a lasting impression.

How much endurance is there in a human being? How long is a piece of string? Spectators wondered about the first question when 22-year-old Reynolds Smith survived an aggregate of 101 holes in five what-were-to-be 18 hole matches and were willing to answer it with the second question until the Southwestern stalwart fell before his fellow-townsmen, Dave (Spec) Goldman in the quarter-final round.

Those overtime duels took a heavy toll from the frame of the 5 foot, 7 inch, 140-pounder. The pace was too fast for the human body to stand, what with two matches a day on the third and fourth days. He was due to cave in physically and suffer a let down.

Very Much Improved After Taking Cardui

"I have suffered a great deal from cramping," writes Mrs. W. A. Sewell, Sr., of Waco, Texas. "I would chill and have to go to bed for about three days at a time. I would have a dull, tired, sleepy feeling. A friend told me to try Cardui, thinking it would help me—and it did. I am very much improved and do not spend the time in bed. I certainly can recommend Cardui to other sufferers."

Thousands of women testify Cardui purified them. If it does not benefit you, consult a physician.

CHAPTER 27 EXPLORATION

The escaped menagerie during the night gave no further evidence of life. Ivy and Bowers were so tired that a patch of dry sand still warmed from the heat of the sun seemed as soft and comforting as a feather bed.

They woke at dawn refreshed and full of optimism. They had before them a whole day in which to build a shelter and establish themselves. Bowers even hoped to find a dry cave, some old volcanic blowhole near water.

And in this event his hopes were justified. There were dozens of caves. In places the volcanic rock was honeycombed, but one cave was shallow, another damp and the ceiling of the third was too low.

But that first morning they stayed there on the point on which they had landed, and gave the whole of their worldly goods, including the matches, a good drying in the sun. With a line and one of the hooks which he had found in the charcoal room Bowers had a go at fishing, wading waist-deep in the lagoon and using for bait the animals extracted from certain brightly striped and speckled littoral shells.

There were plenty of fish to be seen and he might have fared better with a fish-spear, for his baits did not prove alluring and he caught nothing.

He had fished for an hour or more when a call from Ivy drew his eyes shoreward and when he saw that Ivy was obscured from view by curling whisks of blue smoke, he knew that she had managed to strike a match and start a fire.

He waded ashore with great foaming strides and in a mood of exultation. Fire spelled all the difference between health and comfort and sickness and misery, and he had had the fear that all the matches might have been irrevocably spoiled by dampness.

It was a pity that they had not thought to bring pots and pans but they hadn't, and emptied cans and the cleaned halves of coconuts would have to serve.

While coffee was making, Bowers marked down a group of banana trees, made his way to them through a dense, almost shoulder-high undergrowth of sun-cured watergrass and presently returned in triumph with ripe golden fruit for breakfast.

After breakfast they went house-hunting, but first there was a little argument as to the quality of the coffee which Ivy had brewed, she protesting that it would have been much better if it had been made with real water instead of coconut water and Bowers maintaining the contrary.

They returned first to the river where they had drunk and bathed, and after repeating these pleasures and sitting about and chattering until they were dry, began to explore without any special theory or system.

Between shoulders, the little valley in which they found themselves was no more than a quarter of a mile in the widest space. They wished to find a location which would provide the following particulars: proximity to water, security from wind and rain and a view at all times of the lagoon and the open sea beyond.

The shoulders of the valley where the rocks showed black and bare gave promise of caves. But the jungle and the undergrowth of watergrass were so dense that the work of exploration was slow and exhausting.

During that day they discovered the three caves which have been briefly described. But dusk overtook them during the work of hunting for a fourth and they returned to their first camp and for the second night slept in the open.

The next morning they loaded their gear back on the life-raft and with Ivy and Helen joy-riding and Bowers wading and tugging upon a length of rope, they removed their base to a high part of the beach near the mouth of the river.

Here they built a makeshift shelter of coconut fronds and once more set out upon exploration with their hopes upon that shoulder of the valley which had not been examined the day before. And chance led them almost directly to what Bowers declared was a miracle of volcanic foresight.

Ivy had declared that she was thirsty. Near at hand was the trunk of a coconut tree heavy with nuts in all stages of ripeness and leaning at such a slant that Bowers was able to climb into the top without the necessity of cutting steps. When he had wrenched some green nuts loose and dropped them to the ground, he looked about him.

Not fifty feet away and directly ahead, he found his view cut off by a smooth black precipitous cliff. It might have been sixty feet high and except for one tall straight coconut tree springing from a terracotta-like pocket of soil, it was bare of vegetation.

The ledge from which the coconut grew was perhaps a third of the way to the top of the cliff, and just to the right of it a circular patch of blackness almost seemed to shout to him that here was the perfect cave. While they were quenching their thirst he told Ivy "Careful, and even boasted a little.

"It isn't so black," he said, "it isn't deep enough, and even if it isn't the most perfect cave in the world it's not possible. Then he laughed. "I am beginning to wonder how we are going to get at it."

Even to get to the base of the cliff into which the alluring hole had been blown by some volcanic

Two persons whose activities were closely checked in the widespread investigation of the Lindbergh baby kidnaping were leaders Fisch (right), the man Bruno Hauptmann said left him the ransom money a year ago, and Henry Uhlig (left), a friend of Fisch. Fisch died of tuberculosis in Germany some months ago. It was established that he had paid his ocean passage with gold certificates, believed to have been part of the ransom bills. (Associated Press Photos)

But just when they were ready to give up for the sixth or seventh time, and this time for good, the thing was in place, and so firmly wedged at the base at one end and into a notch of the ledge at the other that it could have been thrown down only with the utmost difficulty.

"I'll just run up," said Bowers, "and have a look around. If I am disappointed I'll let you know. I'll howl like a wolf."

Presently he had climbed to the top of the primitive ladder and disappeared above the ledge. After what seemed to Ivy a long wait, but which in reality was only a matter of seconds, he reappeared, steadying himself by the upper end of the ladder and grinning down at her.

"I've taken this fine country house on a long lease. Are you coming up? ... Can you make it?"

Ivy felt insulted and Helen, who was swinging from Ivy's shoulder, felt even worse. She disengaged herself, hopped briskly to the trunk of the tree, and screaming defiance at the world in general, ran up it. Ivy was not far behind her.

Both Ivy and Helen, were apparently, as pleased with what they saw as was Bowers.

blat was not easy. There was a difficult upward slope of broken rocks varying in size from a pebble to a grand piano and when they had worked their way to the top of this slope through the bushes and creepers in which it was tangled and hidden, they found that the cliff itself was more than perpendicular.

The ledge, for instance, from which the coconut tree sprouted, would have sheltered them from a perpendicular fall of rain. It was a good twenty feet above the heads and the cliff, smooth as the side of a stone house, offered no holds for toes or fingers.

Ivy suggested that they return to camp for rope and wire. She was all for felling two coconut trees, leaning them against the ledge and converting them into a ladder rung by rung. The rungs could be cut from anything that was strong enough, and the ends roped and wired in place. Standing upon the first rung, the second could be adjusted and fastened.

But Bowers in the meanwhile had thought of a better way, and instead of a ladder they compromised on one coconut tree notched for steps.

The coconut is one of the toughest and heaviest of trees and Bowers was a long time in felling and deeply notching the one that was finally chosen. How they managed to drag it to the base of the cliff and erect it against the edge of camp for rope and wire, she herself could have explained with them against the ledge and con-

Disbursing officer is bonded. That would leave the bonding company holding the bag - unless the Department of Justice used to retrieve the payment from the recipient, as Congress passed compensating legislation.

Charges have been made by the Republicans that AAA deliberately held up a lot of benefit payments administrator Hopkins. He will be forced to defend several socialist schemes in which public money has been sunk in large amounts or taken refuge in the excuse that he couldn't keep track of everything.

NEW YORK Receptive

Reports that Bernard Baruch would turn up as pinch-hitter-in-chief for the revised NRA lineup were woven more substantial cloth than most Baruch rumors. Wall Street and big business in general would welcome Baruch's assignment to an important role. They may not agree with all his ideas but he talks their language and shares their philosophy. He favors a stabilized currency, economy leading to a balanced federal budget and government cooperation with business minus the element of "interference." Such a program is sweet music to conservative ears. No wonder you hear it said that his appointment would be the most "constructively bullish gesture" the President could make. Insiders remark that Mr. Baruch wouldn't object at all to playing Richelieu. It's understood that he is "receptive" to the proposition of serving the administration in an advisory capacity - provided the New Deal is amended to fit his ideas. This impression is so widespread in financial circles that his appointment to any public office would be hailed as a reassuring and positive turn to the right.

Unions

Refusal of many cotton mills to take back strike ringbinders is proof to New York watchers that the "settlement" does not settle fundamental differences. New strikes in the South are in the offing. Observers here agree that the textile situation will depend upon the acceptability of the new Textile Labor board and the promptness of its action. It will be very difficult for the president to name a board acceptable to both sides - and after the board has been named it will be still more difficult for it to blaze out a settlement satisfactory to both contenders. The central quarrel is over unionization and the closed shop. It is the forces in the background that have to be brought into line.

Open

The durable industries have about completed plans to set up a permanent committee to represent them in Washington. It will aid the fight against the government central bank and strenuously advocate relaxation of the Securities Act and of business restrictions in general. An organizer privately remarks: "The veterans, the farmers and labor have done pretty well for themselves with their lobbies. We figure it's about time we cut ourselves a piece of the same pie." Other branches of industry have had ideas along the same lines (via the Industrial Advisory Board) but are still a trifle leery of Congressional reactions to such open-faced methods.

RFC

The RFC's charter expires at the end of January, 1935. Opponents of the central bank idea will lay down a surprisingly powerful barrage to defeat its renewal - not that they have anything special against the RFC but because it will be the first Congressional test on government banking. They figure it will give them a big edge for the decisive battle if they can kill off an existing federal credit agency. Their chief argument - as expressed through friendly Congressmen - is that the emergency is over so let's get back to normal. Privately, they're dubious of success but a close vote would satisfy them. They hope it that many Congressmen will vote to continue the RFC who would balk at a central bank.

Harmony

The renomination of Lieutenant-Governor Bray by the New York Democrats indicates that Jim Farley has had to pay a price for party harmony. Bray has a Tammany hookup and decidedly does not belong to the Roosevelt wing. It's understood that Governor Lehman would have preferred another running mate. But chucking him overboard would have reopened a fresh-healed wound and party strategists decided it was too big a risk. Farley's policy of eliminating factional fights did good work here.

Sidelights

Financial circles haven't given up hope of a two-cent subway tax as an answer to relief problems (and a painless method of putting over a higher fare). The New York State Chamber of Commerce is fronting for the banks in the argument. Brokers were relieved to learn that the Stock Exchange's financial report shows big reserves. They had been afraid of heart-breaking pessimism. Al Smith's plea for party regularity doesn't feaze Fusionist McGoldrick's supporters. They can't see Al working his head off to elect Frank Taylor. He led a break from a Lubbock jail last June 24. Ask Uniform Rates In Workmen's Compensation

By RAYMOND BROOKS AUSTIN - A. C. Baldwin, president of the newly-formed Insurance Buyers Council of Texas, has filed with the state insurance commission an application for rules governing workmen's compensation insurance involving separate uniform rate levels for approximately 20 industrial groups. Proposed rates and regulations were asked to be made uniform upon, and based upon the experience of these separate groups. The petition asked "in fixing said levels, a publicly-disclosed formula, or method, be employed which will produce an equitable relativity of cost as between one group and another, on the basis of actual loss experience." Selection of a joint committee, representing carriers, the insurance buyers' group and the divisions of the insurance commission, to set out the groups was asked. Numerous changes in present regulations, elimination of the schedule rating plan, provisions that employers may actually check the experience records of their classifications, and other suggestions were proposed in this first petition of the council.

Killed Bobcat With Slingshot

MILES CITY, Mont. (UP) - Tom Wolf and Roy Brown two youngsters, slew a big bobcat with slingshots. Hiking over the Wolf ranch, the boys were started when their dogs started the bobcat. They followed until the cat was cornered with a cliff on one side, logs on another and one of the boys on the other two sides. Tom and Roy pelted it with stones from their slings until they knocked it unconscious, then crept close enough to finish the job with a large stone.

Gave Patrol Wagons Name

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) - Police patrol wagons, according to Nashville police, gained the title, "Black Maria," in Nashville. Decades ago, Nashville's first prisoner carried in its first patrol wagon a benched spring wagon drawn by two horses, was a large negro. Some observing "wisecrackers" consequently dubbed the vehicle "Black Maria."

Ashman Worth $23,000

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP) - For more years than many Rochester residents can remember, Charles Callahan carted away the ashes from the rear of their homes during the winter. Little else was known of the man. Recently he died. He left an estate valued at $23,000. There was no will. Administration papers were filed by his widow.

Piker If Less Than 1,000 Wives

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) - A Sultan, who didn't have at least 1,000 wives was a piker, according to Murat Bey, who served three sultans as personal secretary before 1922. Murat Bey, on a visit here said any one who even tried to strike up an acquaintance with the Sultan's wives, or who attempted to invade the harem's private sanctuaries, met with "great harm."

Mishaps Mar Quiet Fair

VAN WERT, O. (UP) - The Van Wert County fair is usually a quiet event, like any other American county fair. But this year two mishaps marred its third day. David Carrean, 32, jockey in the final of the running races, was crushed when his horse stumbled. Then Charles Riggins, 70, was injured seriously while run down by a hit-skip autolite while directing traffic.

Prayers Were Not Insistent

BOISE, Idaho (UP) - Idahoans prayed for rain at the insistence of Gov. C. Ben Ross recently, but it didn't rain. However, he won the Democratic nomination for governor. He explained the failure of the heavens to open and loose a flood on the parched farm and timber lands immediately after the spiritual offerings by saying: "It depends upon how insistent the people were in asking for it."

Second Cherry Crop

OSBORNE, Kan. (UP) - Mrs. Eva Phillips is harvesting a second crop of cherries this season from one tree. The first crop was harvested in June. Mrs. Phillips believes the summer-long drought, followed by suddenly cool weather, was responsible for the phenomenon.

Old Hat Caused Death

TOWANANDA, N. Y. (UP) - An old hat was death's agent in claiming the life of William Evans, 59, of Towananda. The hat was blown from the man as he drove along the river road. He parked the car and ran after the hat. The brakes of another vehicle screeched, but it was too late. Evans was killed. The hat was saved.

BRING CLOSET DOOR TO COURT

The door and a piece of a door jamb of a closet in the home of Bruno Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnap suspect, are shown being brought into court. On the jamb was scribed the name, address and telephone number of Dr. J. F. "Jafis" Condon, intermediary in the famous case. Below is a close up of the closet door, showing the serial numbers of two bills - one of which corresponded to the number of a Lindbergh ransom bill. (Associated Press Photos)

Strange Golf Happenings

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP) - Mayha they put magnets in the cups on Michigan golf courses, or build them funnel-shaped a la Joe Cook. At any rate, Cliff C. Jones returned recently from a vacation on Mackinac Island with a yarn for the record books. In ten days of play he saw holes-in-one made by two competitors, and capped the climax by firing a "dodo" on a 132-yard hole himself.

Suicides In Own Night Club

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP) - In the late afternoon after a court hearing concerning financial affairs of his spacious night club, Benay Wieser, 40, chose the painted tropics of his Coconut Grove club for a suicide site. He strangled himself with a phone cord.

8 Yokes Changed His Mind

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UP) - John Mikalauskas started to make a cheese omelet, but changed his mind when he cracked open an egg and found it contained three yolks. He placed in on exhibition in his restaurant window.

FALL IS HERE

THE weather may say no, but the calendar says yes. Fall is officially here. That means housecleaning and a host of necessary new things.

So we suggest you take stock today. Does the house need painting, shingles, storm windows? What about the furnace? It's not too late to put it in first-class order even if you have already started the fire. Look well at the dining-room rug, the living-room furniture, the paper on the walls. Are they full worthy of you - especially when visitors call? And the car! Soon it will need anti-freeze and a general tuning up after a Summer of hard use. The lawn may need seeding (Fall is the ideal time) and the flower beds their winter covering. And you yourself need clothes.

All these things are so easy to choose. Just read the advertisements in this paper. They are safe guides to goods and services. Study them carefully, and you will be well repaid in quality and price.

Under the regulations, pilots may fly 100 hours per month, but not for more than four consecutive months.

Flies also will be given a medical examination every three months to determine their fitness.

He added, however, that the change in maximum hours was made in the interest of public safety and not because of labor and personnel problems.

Under The Dome At Austin By GORDON K. SHEARER

AUSTIN, (UP)—A tunnel under the Neches river has been considered and rejected, William Lea-Orange, said while here working for a bridge.

Objection to the bridge is that unless it is made with a clearance of 185 feet naval vessels will not be able to go above it to fuel. This would keep them out of port Beaumont.

A tunnel was considered, Lea said, but it was found it would cost about $5,000,000. With a bridge or tunnel, a 16-mile road will take people between Port Arthur and Beaumont. Now they go 29 miles out of the way to complete the same trip via Beaumont.

At the capitol the news of this movement is not received with great enthusiasm. It is admitted procedure may need revision but the change will cause much confusion.

Dallas committeemen, chuckling over the award to their city of the 1936 Centennial site, confided that mosquito helped them do it. The Centennial commission visited Houston just after the severe storm that flooded large areas.
