

ACLU investigating harassment allegations

By TERRI CULLEN
UD Reporter

Local American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) members are investigating allegations by people who feel they were unjustly harassed at the Roaring Springs Music Concert over the Labor Day weekend.

The Springs Ranch, where the concert was held, is about 70 miles from Lubbock. Entertainers such as Jerry Jeff Walker and B. W. Stevenson performed at the concert.

ACCORDING TO Marian Jones, owner of the ranch, a total of 190 illegal arrests were made, Carla Crisford, ACLU local board member said. The University Daily was unable to locate Jones, who is in California.

Bobby Lucas, a Tech senior management student, said he and four others left the concert around midnight. As they left the ranch, Lucas said there was a highway patrol car stopped on the side of the road.

Passing the car, Lucas said the driver left plenty of room for the highway patrol car. The car in which Lucas was riding was then pulled over by the highway patrol car which was using its flashing lights and sirens.

"THE PATROLMAN asked the driver to get out of the car," Lucas said. "He then asked us how much we had had to drink. We said we had had a couple of beers earlier in the day."

Lucas said everyone was then asked to get out of the car. The three men were handcuffed with plastic handcuffs and the two women had their hands tied with some type of nylon strap, Lucas said.

The driver, who was accused of driving while intoxicated, passed the breath test, but was then charged with a traffic violation of crossing the center lane, Lucas said.

LUCAS, who said he was drinking a soft drink at the time the car was pulled over to the side of the road, was arrested for public intoxication, as was the other male passenger. Lucas said he was never given a breath test.

Lucas said he was never told of what he was charged with until he was brought before a justice of the peace in a "make - shift" building in Roaring Springs.

Lucas said the justice of the peace gave him the option of pleading not guilty and posting a $400 bond or waiting until Monday or pleading guilty. Lucas pleaded guilty and paid the $27.50 for public intoxication.

"I DON'T KNOW where I would have gotten the $400 because I don't have $400 and I certainly didn't want to stay in jail until Monday," Lucas said.

Lucas said the only time he was not held in handcuffs was when he had to hold a chalk board with his name on it while his picture was being made. The five people were held in the building for two to three hours, Lucas said.

"I'm not saying I hadn't been drinking a couple of beers earlier in the day, but by no stretch of the imagination was I drunk," Lucas said.

A LUBBOCK MECHANIC said in a deposition he was stopped at 2:30 a.m. leaving the ranch Sunday. While he was being interrogated by the highway patrol, the mechanic said the highway patrol was stopping all the cars leaving the ranch.

George Hunt, who worked at the concert for Jones, said in a statement

Jones and her son and daughter were never stopped although Jones tried to get the Highway Patrol to stop her as she went through stop signs.

Jerry Jeff Walker had to change cars four times to get to the music festival from Lubbock, according to Hunt.

"THEY KEPT the police C.B. on in their cars so they could hear the police saying what type of car he was in," Hunt told Crisford. "He was stopped once but crouched down in the center between two others and they didn't recognize him."

R. B. Cunningham of Muleshoe, was hired by Jones to be in charge of security at the concert. Cunningham said in a statement that he met with the other security men Friday evening and they were given the instructions not to carry a gun, to avoid trouble, break up fights and that two men must be together at all times.

Cunningham said he had talked with Sheriff Jinks Wilson of Motley County two weeks earlier and was told that the sheriff's department would not be at the ranch. Cunningham also said a Childress sergeant told him that if he got into any trouble on the grounds at the concert, they (Childress Department of Public Safety (DPS)) would not be there to help him.

CUNNINGHAM SAID, to his knowledge, there were no arrests on the premises of the concert. However, Cunningham said, a DPS helicopter flew over the concert all day Saturday.

A communications center was operating out of a mobile home in Roaring Springs, Cunningham said. On Sunday, when Cunningham left, he said the Communications Center was still there but the antennae were down. Cunningham said he did not see any police officers in town on Sunday.

At least one to three police cars were supposed to be parked in front of the ranch gate at all times to help direct traffic if the traffic became crowded, Hunt said.

HOWEVER, Hunt said, there were a total of 70 units at Roaring Springs from Friday until Sunday. Hunt also said 20 or more persons were deputized in Roaring Springs by Sheriff Jinks Wilson.

The University Daily was unable to locate Wilson for comment.

The Roaring Springs justice of the peace is Jones's father, Hunt said.

"HE WAS ASSIGNED slack hours and told that only local violators would be sent to him," Hunt said. A Matador justice of the peace appointed a retired police officer as an assistant justice of the peace to handle the cases, Hunt said.

Jails in Matador, Dickens and Crosbyton were used to hold the arrested concert goers.

Facts and allegations concerning the Roaring Springs concert will be presented tonight to the local ACLU board. The board will decide if the evidence is worthy of pursuing.

A LOCAL law firm is also investigating allegations for its clients.

Students feeling they were unjustly harassed at the concert should call the Law School Library or the Human Rights office at 763-2076 and leave their name and phone number with Carla Crisford of the ACLU or attend the ACLU meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Wesley Foundation Library, 2420 15th St.

Regents discuss Med School topics

By BABS GREYHOSKY
UD Reporter

Tech was presented Friday with a $350,000 check by regent Clint Formby in behalf of Dan Thornton, Tech alumnus and former Colorado governor.

The presentation was made during the Board of Regents meeting in which Formby said Tech has been named as the major beneficiary of Thornton's wife's will.

"EVENTUALLY, this could mean $1 million to Tech," Formby said. "This is one of the largest bequests Tech has received."

The money will go toward agriculture science and research at Tech. About $100,000 of the money will be used for scholarships.

The presentation brought a lighter moment to the meeting that began with heavy discussions over Medical School matters.

THE MAIN CONFLICT involved a motion to consider a contract with St. Mary's Hospital Family Medicine Training program for 1976-77.

Regent Fred Bucy questioned the logic of operating family practice residencies at St. Mary's when hospital officials at Tech already anticipate a difficulty with filling the teaching hospital.

Family practice residencies are operating at the Shallowater Clinic and at St. Mary's, but the family practice program has free access to admit patients to the teaching hospital.

REGENT DR. JOHN HINCHEY and Dr. Richard Lockwood, vice president of the health sciences center, explained that St. Mary's will be maintained as a family practice base for patients who wish to continue under the care of their regular doctor and for patients whose illnesses are not of the specialty nature that the teaching hospital will be treating.

Lockwood said the distribution of the patients from the outreach clinics will depend on the clinical problem.

"If it's a simple one (problem), the patient will go to St. Mary's," Lockwood said. "A case requiring specialty treatment will be referred to the teaching hospital."

Despite opposition from Bucy, the board moved to consider the contract.

MORE DISCUSSION ensued over whether money could be saved if basic science courses taught in the Med School could be taught within the university.

Lockwood said basic science departments on campus, while still good departments, are not specific enough to contribute to the education of students at the medical professional level. He added, however, that such a cooperation is workable at the research or graduate level.

Lockwood also reported that Thomason Hospital in El Paso would be purchasing $800,000 worth of equipment.

CONCERNING LOCAL developments, Lockwood said a possibility of establishing a residency program at Methodist Hospital is being considered. Also Friday, regents spent considerable time discussing parking and dormitory situations, concentrating in the area of parking lot completion.

Student parking permit fees were raised last spring to help fund the construction of parking lots for some of the dorms. The lots were scheduled to be completed by September, but that deadline was not met.

DR. CECIL MACKEY, Tech president, said he would like to see an elimination of the requirement for sophomores to live in dorms, but added, "According to our reports, the number of sophomores wanting to move out would be more than the number of freshmen moving in."

The board reported that 110 men and 60 women had been denied dorm rooms because of lack of space.

Mackey said he would continue to study the problems.

In other areas, the board—approved the acceptance dates for completion of several campus building projects;—granted emeritus status to Terrell Barney Warren, professor of architecture; John Henry Baumgardner, professor of animal science, and Willie Mae Wolfe, associate professor of home management; and—authorized lower tuition fees for foreign students.

Hiss speech slated for Tuesday night

By TERRI CULLEN
UD Reporter

Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury and imprisoned for five years after being named the State Department official who had passed secret documents to Communist spies during the McCarthy Era, will speak at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in the University Center Ballroom. Hiss will talk about the McCarthy Era.

Hiss served as secretary to Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes following his graduation from law school. He also held a number of government posts during the New Deal Era. Hiss was a member of the 1945 delegation that accompanied President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Yalta Conference, where among the agreements reached was a settlement of the issues relating to the United Nations. He served as principal advisor to the U.S. delegation of the first session of the United Nations.

IN 1947, Hiss resigned from the Department of State to become the third president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

In 1948, Whittaker Chambers, senior editor of Time magazine, accused Hiss before the House Committee on Un-American Activities in public session. Hiss denied the accusation.

Hiss sued Chambers for defamation in federal court.

IN DECEMBER, 1948, Chambers surrendered under subpoena five rolls of microfilm, hidden in his Maryland farm, to House Committee Investigators. This farm episode resulted in the case coming to be known as the Pumpkin Papers.

While he was appearing before the grand jury, Hiss resigned as president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Chambers also resigned as senior editor of Time.

Hiss was indicted for perjury by the grand jury in New York City. The first trial jury deadlocked and was discharged. A second trial ended in a verdict of guilty.

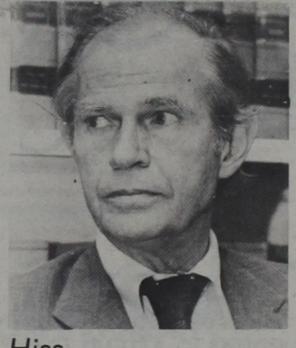

HISS WAS sentenced to five years in prison and released on a $10,000 bail pending appeal. The U.S. Court of Appeals upheld the conviction.

On March 22, 1951, Hiss surrendered to Federal Court to begin his prison term. A motion for a new trial was filed but denied the following year.

On Aug. 5, 1975, Hiss was reinstated to the Massachusetts bar by that state's highest court. It was the first time that the court ordered the reinstatement of a lawyer who had been disbarred.

Tickets can be purchased in the UC ticket booth or at the door. Student tickets are $1 with ID and public tickets are $2. For more information call 742-3610.

Regents, LCHD eye one director concept

By NAN BURK
UD Reporter

Tech and the Lubbock County Hospital District (LCHD) now are considering operation of the Health Sciences Center Hospital by a sole administrator rather than joint operation by both groups.

That announcement came in a statement released Friday by Clint Formby, Tech regent, and Marshall Pennington, LCHD chairman.

Previously, the two boards have dismissed joint operation of the hospital, with Tech and LCHD charging each other for specified shared services. A preliminary report of projected operating costs of the teaching hospital was presented by Max Caraway, an accountant hired as a consultant for the two boards. Caraway presented his report to each board Thursday.

The two boards will meet in a joint work session to discuss the report and the alternatives for operation of the teaching hospital, but no specific date for the meeting has been set.

"We would like to get together soon," Formby said. "I would guess the meeting would probably be within a few weeks."

Three options for operation of the hospital are open to the boards, Pennington said. One: Tech could operate the hospital. Two: LCHD could operate the hospital and lease service-producing facilities to Tech. The third option is a combination of the other options.

The boards asked Caraway to project the needs for the operation of the teaching hospital by a single entity rather than by both groups. According to release, if either LCHD or Tech operates the hospital as sole administrator, the shared services issue becomes a moot point.

Formby said the Caraway report will be made public, but he hesitated to give an indication of when the report would be publicized.

"The report was pretty much on target," Pennington said. "There were no big surprises."

Formby said further comment or release of the Caraway report could be dangerous because the two boards still are negotiating.

Coliseum lot spaces reserved

Commuters seeking parking spaces into the city coliseum parking lot may have difficulty in securing a space. According to Barbara Milner, Traffic and Parking Counselor, city functions this week will be using the lot for parking.

A Scottish Rites activity held today through Wednesday will require 200 parking spaces. The United Fund luncheon will further increase the demand on the coliseum parking lot Tuesday as 1,000 spaces will be reserved and restricted from student use.

Commuters should find alternate parking in the stadium and locomotive lots.

Hurricane toll reaches 750, expected higher

LA PAZ, Mexico (AP) - Rescue supplies poured into Baja California on Sunday, where workers pulled hundreds of bodies from the muck and debris left by Hurricane Liza.

Official figures and estimates of the number of bodies already found ranged from about 400 to 750, but hundreds of others were reported missing and most sources agreed the toll could go as high as 1,000.

Mexican troops immediately buried the bodies in mass graves or burned them to avoid epidemics.

La Paz, the capital of the state of Baja California Sur, was worst hit. The city of 85,000 and about a dozen towns near by were without adequate drinking water and had no electricity or telephone service.

An estimated 70,000 persons were left homeless by the hurricane. The Mexican government said it was rushing in 100,000 meals and 40,000 temporary housing shelters by boat and plane.

Workers dug frantically in the 100 degree heat, looking for bodies in piles of mud and half buried cars.

Neighborhoods were wiped out by the storm, which carried winds of up to 135 miles per hour and dumped five to six inches of rain.

Butz considers resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz has considered resigning but has no plans at this time to do so, a top aide to the secretary said Sunday.

Butz, whose derogatory and vulgar remark about blacks has become a campaign issue, talked with a White House aide Saturday.

During the conversation Butz mentioned the possibility of resigning and offered to do so, but then decided to "sleep on it," the Butz aide said.

Butz later decided not to submit his resignation at this time, the aide said.

Ford strike talks continue

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators for the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. gathered for more meetings Sunday amid indications they were on the verge of settling the 19 day nationwide strike.

Negotiators held an all day meeting Saturday that lasted into the evening, and some sources said they thought a tentative agreement could be in the offing. It was the second late night meeting in a row in the talks aimed at settling the strike, which began when 170,000 Ford hourly workers walked off the job Sept. 15.

KTXT changes format today

By JEAN MOHR
UD Staff

KTXT-FM, Tech's radio station, has adopted a new format in which records will be played according to popularity, beginning at 6 a.m. today, according to Don Campbell, KTXT-FM program director.

Instead of grouping records into categories such as jazz, rock, soul, classical, etc., KTXT will divide records into groups of popularity, Campbell said. The station will rely on national publications such as Billboard Magazine to determine the groupings of popularity, Campbell said.

FROM THE FIRST summer session until September 1976, the format had been all jazz, Campbell said.

When Vicki Robbins became station manager in September, KTXT's format changed to a combination of rock and jazz, Campbell said.

However, the KTXT staff felt the jazz audience was not big enough in Lubbock. A contemporary format introduced popular music.

Any type of music that will offer listeners what they like will be tried, Campbell said. The station wants to compete for Tech listener attention so that information about Tech may also be provided to students.

KTXT AIR personnel are volunteers seeking experience in radio work, Campbell said.

Tentatively, the station's wattage will be increased to 5,000 watts in January.

Money for the transmitter increase will be earned by the staff's participation in the Residence Hall Association's

Reese blasts Mahon in news conference

By GEORGE JOHNSTON
UD Managing Editor

Claiming that the government bureaucracy has grown too big and it is time for a change, congressional candidate Jim Reese blasted his opponent George Mahon during a news conference Friday.

"When looking at the total bureaucratic growth including welfare and tax coming from all directions, we have to look at Mahon's record," Reese said.

MAHON, Reese said, was either a willing cog in the machinery or is totally ineffective in stopping it.

Reese continued by saying Mahon, through his votes alone, has spent more money than any man in the world.

"And its not his money, but yours and mine," Reese added.

REFERRING TO a recent debate challenge to Mahon, Reese said it is the media's responsibility to urge Mahon to accept the challenge.

"This way we can get the issues open to the public," he said.

"I would be willing to debate Mahon at anytime and any place."

MAHON HAS voted against balancing the federal budget the last four times the vote has come up Reese claimed.

Reese also accused Mahon of "selling out to the other side" or voting with the liberals.

Reese claimed Mahon has recently voted for numerous liberal bills such as food stamps for strikers and persons above the poverty line, automatic parole after 10 years no matter the crime and for Occupational Safety and Health Administration guidelines for businesses under 25 employees.

"HIS FRIENDS can't even count on him anymore," Reese said.

Reese said if he were elected, he would give a definite life to all the government bureaucracies.

"The government has gained hundreds of new administrations while losing only four years," he said.

NAACP to file suit against City Council

By SUSAN HAMPTON
UD Reporter

A federal class action suit against the Lubbock City Council was entered Friday by the Lubbock chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

The suit, according to NAACP President F. L.

Loivings, seeks a change in the at-large method of electing members of the Lubbock City Council.

LOVINGS SAID at a Friday news conference, Lubbock residents who live generally north of 4th Street or East of University Avenue have never received any representation in city council.

The suit, filed by Lubbock attorney A. Gene Gaines, is scheduled for trial Nov. 5 in federal court.

According to Lovings, the local NAACP chapter was given the authority by the national NAACP organization to file a friend of the court brief in support of Gaines' suit. LOVINGS POINTED OUT the suit concerns not only racial discrimination because, "white residents who live in certain areas of Lubbock have been denied equal representation along with the minorities."

The Lubbock NAACP feels the basis for the suit is to prove that the at-large method of electing council members is unconstitutional, because electing members dilutes the votes of various minorities and effectively denies representation.

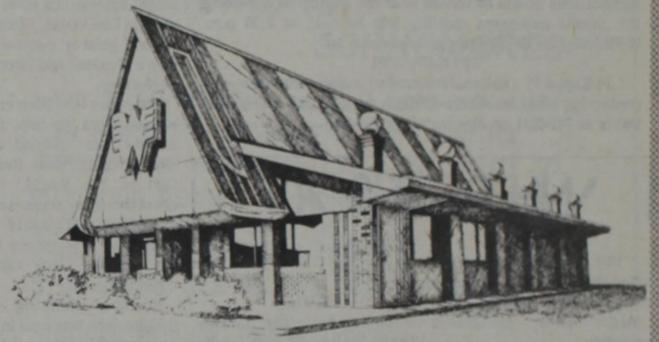

Lovings suggests a single-district system whereby people in each district can elect their own members to city council.

"WE WANT to make it clear," Lovings said, "that we are not proposing a ward system for Lubbock." The ward system was the old decentralized mayor-commissioner form of city government in which each commissioner ran his precinct and did the hiring, firing and contracting.

Holmes concert review

Rich, Sedaka concerts close fair

Charlie Rich was probably the biggest name entertainer to appear at this year's South Plains Fair. After his performance, it was obvious how he achieved his fame.

Rich's biggest problem was that he was forced to follow the worst comedian I've ever seen in my life on stage. The guy's name was Billy Holiday, which is revolting in the first place, and after seeing his half hour of horrible humor, I hoped he'd take a holiday — a long way from here.

JOHNNY HOLMES

Though classified as a country singer, Charlie Rich proved to be much more. In fact, his performance came across as something you might witness in a hotel on the strip in Las Vegas. After three days of good ol' c-and-w, Rich was a pleasant and interesting performer.

The tunes that Rich crooned ranged from his hits, mostly mellow like "Behind Closed Doors" and "Most Beautiful Girl In The World," which drew the most response from a crowd you could have stuffed in a telephone booth, but his best work came in other areas.

Possibly thinking about Sedaka, who was next in town, or probably just enjoying himself, Rich and his dynamite back-up band played a tremendous '50s medley which started subtly and built up a full head of steam through "Midnight Blues," which brought back some "Happy Days" memories. Charlie Rich was best simply because he was able to play a wide variety of high quality stuff and effectively shed his stereotype, and also because he's a super entertainer. Lubbock is richer because of his visit.

Friday night was the first of two evenings of music to be supplied by the new and improved Neil Sedaka.

Before the show, Sedaka admitted it was tough playing in his position because the older people in the audience wanted to hear oldies and the younger people only know his more recent hits. Sedaka attempted a mixture of tunes to please everyone, and almost succeeded.

Clad in a light green Nehru-looking jacket and baggy green pants, Sedaka raised some eyebrows by singing a song about his children. "Oh Daddy" is not exactly a typical Sedaka number but it attracted some attention.

Sedaka had obviously been denied a sound check because nothing clearer than a dull roar came through his system for the first three songs. Neil hadn't counted on the problems and ruined "Step-in' Out" and "Laughter In

The Rain" two of his most recent hits by playing them through the murk of the shaky system. It was really too bad we were forced to hear these two pretty decent songs get mutilated like they were, but Sedaka bounced back and his sound cleared up for the remainder of the show, which was good but not great.

Oldies but goodies became the name of the game, and Sedaka's best return to nostalgia was "Oh Carol" written about Sedaka's teenage love, Carole King.

It's really kind of funny to see a guy as old as your father trying to rock out on stage with musicians who weren't even born when he started, but if you just listened to the music and ignored the gaudy green outfit and chipmunk cheeks, Sedaka was okay.

Netters win tourney

By LISA BURGHER
UD Sportswriter

The Tech volleyball team pounded its way to victory once again last weekend, defeating UT-Austin in the finals to earn the championship of the Texas Women's University tournament in Denton.

Tech overcame and outlasted the Longhorns, 15-11, 8-15, 15-11, in a heated match that lasted almost two hours.

It was a grudge match for the Raiders who had already lost one game to Texas in pool play and had determined losing once to the Longhorns was more than enough.

Tech was the top team in its pool with a 9-1 record. The Raiders played North Texas State in the semifinals and, after winning the first game, 15-8, the team overcame a 14-9 deficit the second game and turned it into a hard-fought 16-14 win.

Tech's match record this season is now 17-0, but even more impressive is its individual game record, which stands at 48-4.

Soccer team suffers 'tough' defeat

By EDDIE GOLDBERG
UD Sportswriter

This weekend the soccer team traveled to Wichita Falls for a rematch with the Indians of Midwestern University to avenge the 4-3 defeat suffered in Lubbock 2 weeks ago. Although the team played one of their best games of the year, they were still defeated 2-0. The first score didn't come until 31 minutes into the game when Donald Wooley made an attempt to score. The ball didn't make it in, but was left unattended, until Eugene Barnes fell on it. There was a hand and foot struggle between Barnes and Wooley until Hubert Alfero came in and kicked the ball out of Barnes hands into the goal. The second half was started out by a yellow card to Midwestern's Tobey Ball for tripping. Twenty minutes later, another yellow card was handed to Indian Mark Rodriguez for obsessive fouling. The last goal was scored two minutes before the end of the game as Barnes left the goal area to clear the ball away from the field, but mislaid the kick to the center of the field. The ball was worked in and scored by Alex Alkhaszvilvi before Barnes could get his bearings in the goal area. Barnes felt it was an all or nothing situation.

"We had less than a minute to go, and we were behind so I had to get the ball upfield as fast as possible. We would either score or be scored on," Barnes said. Playing at the wing position for Tech this week was Juan Sanchez, who felt that Tech should have won.

"We had this game won, one of their players even said so," Sanchez said. "There were too many shots hitting the goal. Something has got to change." One of the "almost scores came when Lane Holmes scored a goal, but pushed an Indian in the process to nullify the score.

"We didn't have any trouble getting to the goal. We need practice in shooting, we were missing by inches," Holmes said. One of the most outstanding players was Mike Benson, who also felt Tech should have won. "If we had played all year like we played today we would be on the top right now. The only problem was that we didn't score when we had the chance," he said. "Today was the best team effort I've seen in two years."

CC finish 7th

STILLWATER, Okla. — Oklahoma State Cowboy Eastern New Mexico's John Kebero and Arkansas captured respective individual and team titles at the

Pokes, 28-13

SEATTLE (AP) - The unbeaten Dallas Cowboys, jolted by two early Seattle touchdowns, rallied behind Roger Staubach's two second quarter TD passes and the running of Robert Newhouse and Doug Dennison in the second half, downing the expansion Seahawks 28-13 in a National Football League game Sunday.

The Cowboys, 4-0, marched 83 and 80 yards for second half scores while holding Seattle scoreless.

Newhouse, who carried 19 times for 120 yards, scored on a 24 yard run late in the third period, putting Dallas ahead 21-13.

Oklahoma State Cowboy Jamboree in Stillwater Saturday.

Kebero, a native of Kenya, covered the five-mile course in 23:52, outdistancing Stan Vernon of Oklahoma, Bernard Rose of Oklahoma State, and Niall O'Shaunessy of Arkansas.

In the team totals Arkansas was an easy winner with the low score of 42 points.

For the Tech runners, Terrell Pendleton, competing in his first meet of the year, finished in 16th position with a time of 25:00. Other finishers for the Raider harriers in the 70-man field were Marc Johnson (22nd), Greg Lautenslager (25th), Mark Freeman (36th), Steve Serna (42nd), Richard Cepeda (43rd), and Ricky McCormick (48th).

Next Friday, the Tech cross country team travels to Arlington, where they will compete in the Arlington Invitational.
