GETTING TOGETHER IN A PILE--Mule Quarterback Larry Gonzales, No. 11, finds a swarm of River Road Wildcats Friday night as he tries to advance the football at Amarillo. In the background, coming up to help are John Orozco, No. 30; Kevin Morris, No. 50; Robert Ibarra, No. 61 and David Quintana, No. 66. The Mules won the game by a score of 16-7. Mules Start District Action With 3-2 Record

Friday night, the Muleshoe Mules traveled to Amarillo River Road with the expectations of "messing up their homecoming." The River Road Wildcats were waiting for the Mules -- to try to win their first game of the season, sitting on a 0-4 record to the 2-2 for the Mules.

Guess what happened on the way to the end of the game? The Mules were victorious, taking a 16-7 victory from the RR Wildcats.

Going into first quarter action the Wildcats received the opening kickoff. Immediately running into penalty trouble, the Wildcats still managed to put a drive together. They moved the ball 31 yards in seven rushing plays and completed a couple of passes for 25 yards. This made them a couple of first downs before the drive bogged down, and resulted in a missed field goal attempt by Wildcat Branch Willis.

At 7:01 of the first, the Mules took over the ball, but despite a couple of rushing plays for seven yards, and a fumble by quarterback Larry Gonzales, who recovered his own fumble, the Mules were forced to punt the ball away.

River Road failed to move the ball against the tough Mule defense, and were forced to punt. The Mules took the ball on their own 24 and following a missed pass and six yards in two rushing plays, the Mules punted the ball back to the Wildcats.

River Road managed several plays and another first down before the scoreless quarter ended.

Shortly after going into second quarter action, River Road got on the scoreboard first with a 26 yard dash by Brandon Junel for the Wildcats. River Road's PAT was good, and they took a 7-0 lead.

Taking the kickoff with 11:29 left on the scoreboard clock before the half, the Mules made a first down, their first of the game, on a one yard smash by John Orozco, followed by two rushing plays by QB Larry Gonzales, good for 20 yards.

Still in penalty trouble, the River Road Wildcats ran into more face mask trouble, which gained another five yards for the Mules.

Still containing Mule power runner John Orozco, the same held true for Danny Rodriguez who failed to move against Wildcat defenders.

It became a defensive game, as the Mules punted the ball to the Wildcats, who ran six rushing plays, and punted back to the Mules.

Failing to get a drive started, the Mules lost four yards on three plays, then gave the ball back to River Road.

Late in the second, the Mules were trying their aerial game, without much success, as the quarterback was overthrowing, or underthrowing the ball. Still River Road found the face mask of the players, and the Mules were advancing the ball on Wildcat penalties.

With :47 seconds left, the Mules finally put a drive together to get within 16 yards of the end zone. Junior Olivarez booted a field goal 26 yards to put the Mules on the scoreboard with :06 left in the half.

The game went into halftime activities with the Mules trailing by four points, 7-3.

As the Mules took the third quarter kickoff, Danny Rodriguez broke loose on a 26 yard kickoff return, followed by a 16 yard pass reception from quarterback Larry Gonzales.

Again, the Mules' ground game broke down, with three plays netting only three yards, forcing the Mules into another punt situation.

With River Road taking the ball on their own 17, they made one play, good for only one yard, before fumbling the ball away to Muleshoe Mule Hector Sanchez.

Mrs. Griswold said Welcome to Scouting. A Big Thank You for the Support of the Kiwanis Club.

people who must grow up exposed to drugs, gangs and crime in today's society. But, despite the pitfalls awaiting young boys today, Griswold retains an optimistic view of their future thanks to the Cub Scouts.

Griswold, currently Cub Master of the Muleshoe Cub Scouts, was hardly more than a child herself when she started working with the Cub Scouts in 1943. Because of the war, many women had to take over the traditional jobs reserved for men, and Griswold became a Den Leader at Tonopah Air Base in Nevada.

Since that early beginning, Griswold has spent 47 years teaching and helping young boys. Some of those years in Scouting occurred during the 17 years Griswold's husband, Leonard, worked for the Muleshoe Ranch.

In recognition of her years of distinguished service, the Cub Scouts have honored Griswold with every Scouting award, including the Silver Fawn and the Silver Beaver, as well as the Den Leader Coach, the Scouter's T, the Arrowhead and the Spark Plug awards.

In Hart, they ran out of awards for Griswold, so they invented a new award named after their first recipient. Now, every year, they give the Betty Griswold Woman of the Year Award to an outstanding woman in that community.

Cross Country Wins 1st Place;

Girls Are Eighth

Coach John Morrow took the boys' and girls' cross country teams to Amarillo on September 29.

The Muleshoe Mules placed first in the tournament with 56 points; while the girls placed eighth with 25 points.

Andy Crawford was fourth with a time of 18:18; Corley Hutton, sixth, 18:22; Beto Diaz, 12th, 19:06; Ricky Diaz, 15th, 19:15; Shawn Wheeler, 23rd, 19:47; Eric Lambert, 39th, 21:16; Cory Collins, 41st, 21:18; Albert Garza, 42nd, 21:19 and Jeff McGuire, 69th, 26:43.

For the girls, Shane Schuster, fifth, 13:38; Monica Clemmons, 18th, 13:57; Rebecca Green, 62nd, 15:02; Blanco Sanchez, 88th, 15:54; Virginia Lira, 112th, 17:53 and Rebecca Gonzales, 117th, 19:06.

While Griswold is understandably proud of the awards honoring her work, it is obvious that she finds her true reward in helping young boys grow into responsible adults who will live their lives in the Scout tradition of God, country and family.

While Griswold cherishes reunions with her grown-up Cub Scouts, she does not take credit for their successes. Griswold says if credit is due anywhere, it is because a Scout is a Scout seven days a week, and a Scout makes his own success with help from Scouting guidelines. Still, she enjoys seeing her grown-up Scouts when the occasion arises.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Texas voters could be paying a new state income tax - maybe as early as next year - if the Texas Supreme Court does not overturn the ruling that school finance reforms enacted after four special sessions are unconstitutional.

An Austin state district judge made the ruling last week, saying the hard-forged school finance bill was too scant and ordering the Legislature to try again when it meets in January.

Predictions from every faction predict the remedy as costly, and because every tax and rate category has been hiked to the maximum, the only viable option is to enact a state income tax.

This prospect is exactly what many legislators, judges and other statewide officials want - and what many others abhor.

The turmoil has begun anew because young, liberal State District Judge Scott McCown called a new tune and quickened the music for candidates dancing in elections to the statehouse.

As gasoline prices shot up last week, candidates and voters wonder whether local school property taxes will skyrocket next.

Voters In Or Out

The Supreme Court will make the call, either accepting Senate Bill 1 reforms or upholding McCown's ruling, virtually forcing new taxes.

Thus, the candidates for Supreme Court, usually little known, will be in the hotseat for the five weeks remaining until Election Day.

Gov. Bill Clements and Texas Republicans claim forced taxes can be avoided if the bench's democratic majority is voted out. But the top gun for the Texas Democratic Party, Ed Martin, disagrees because there are only three contested seats and, of those, liberal Oscar Mauzy returns as a regular if he doesn't win the race for chief justice.

Voters, Vetoes & Vouchers

In other words, there's a real question here of whether voters are still in the loop or out.

Martin is probably correct in assuming the attorney general's office and Supreme Court are stacked philosophically with McCown, but Clements is talking about the long haul.

McCown ordered the Legislature to come up with a new school finance plan by Sept. 1, 1991, but handed down no specific marching orders.

Hence, lawmakers are free to adopt a slight alteration or a radical plan, whether funded by the Democrats' state income tax or driven by a new "voucher" plan pushed by Republican Clayton Williams.

Voters are still very much in the loop in this arena, for the philosophical make-up of the new Legislature and the new governor's skill with a veto stamp will be fundamental.

Will Mattox Appeal?

Lame duck Attorney General Jim Mattox said he is uncertain whether he will appeal the state's position to the Supreme Court. Actually, what matters most is whether his successor will.

The Democratic nominee, San Antonio state Rep. Dan Morales, promptly announced he would appeal, if elected, but his critics jeered that the "have-not" school district which originated the lawsuit lies in his legislative district.

He would appeal, they charge, but wouldn't fight as hard to win it as the Republican nominee, state Sen. J.E. (Buster) Brown.

Line in The Sand

Like a line in the sand, the choice between higher taxes and better education has polarized many voters, as emotional issues tend to do.

Quite likely, the state of the local school district will probably affect a voter as much as anything this year, and this late campaign development has the political gurus in Austin puzzled.

Speaker's Race

Texas Speaker Gib Lewis, en route to a history-making fifth term, is meeting more resistance than usual in his bid for re-election in Fort Worth.

Lewis angered Tarrant County Democrats by endorsing the Republican incumbent over the Democratic challenger in nearby Arlington, although it is part of speaker politics to take care of his players in the House.

Folks say that Lewis is damaged by revelations of tax debts owed by his businesses, by laxness on ethics reform, and by not having former U.S. Speaker Jim Wright on the top of the local ticket.

Keep your eye on this race. It's the lightning rod of the state, if any House race is.

Pari-mutuel Tax Cut

State Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, said last week he will introduce a bill in the 1991 legislative session to slash the state's 5 percent tax on pari-mutuel racing.

Flanked by a pair of thoroughbreds as he spoke on the Capitol steps; Barrientos said a tax cut would boost Texas' fledgling racing industry, "thereby guaranteeing thousands of new jobs and millions in revenues for the state."

His proposal, backed by the Texas Thoroughbred Breeders' Association, would lower to 1 percent the state tax on bets placed at horse tracks.

SCAC Meets In Graves Home

The home of Courtney Graves was the scene of the first SCAC meeting of the school year on Monday, September 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Brian Bush, president, opened the meeting and Courtney Graves, chaplain, said the prayer. Galin Latham gave the treasurer's report, followed by Robin Berry reading the minutes of the previous meeting.

Blain Ferris introduced Joe Rhodes, SCAC's Citizen of the Month for September. He was presented with a red boutonniere for all he contributes to the Muleshoe Area. After visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes, Brian Bush gave a report on special community projects this past summer, he and other SCAC members worked on. They were given a big thank you by the sponsor and club members.

Fund raisers were discussed for the completion of the Jane's Ranch House, the Cook House, and the Log House.

Joe and Darla Rhodes gave away a Joe's Boot Shop jacket which was drawn by Mickey Trussel.

Refreshments were served after the meeting was adjourned and dues were paid by the new members.

We're now ready to see a few good football games.

It was reported that Sister Ina Wilemon received a substantial reward for bringing in a new member from Loverign Grand Lodge. "Congratulations!"

Refreshments were served to 16 members by Ruby Green. The group was dismissed with a prayer by Fern Davis, Chaplain.

Health Agency Salutes World UNICEF Summit

When representatives of 28 countries from around the globe gathered Sept. 29 and 30 at the United Nations in New York, they focused their attention on one of civilization's oldest concerns—how best to protect and improve the health of children.

The World Summit for Children concentrated on solutions to the plight of nearly 40,000 of the globe's children younger than five who die each day from needless hunger and preventable disease.

In Texas, state and local agencies, service groups and church organizations are helping to publicize the summit. In cooperation with the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF), groups are staging events such as candlelight vigils in most metropolitan areas. The media have aired public service announcements on behalf of children's health and sponsored other activities.

At the Texas Department of Health (TDH), Dr. Robert MacLean, Deputy Commissioner, said, "The conditions threatening the lives of so many children worldwide sometimes escape noticed in the U.S. Our health care system, regardless of its known faults, succeeds in preventing the mass starvation and disease suffered in some of the world's poorer countries."

Dr. MacLean added, however, that health conditions for U.S. Children still require improvement. Although, for instance, the U.S. has made special efforts to reduce the nation's infant mortality rate of 10 deaths per 1,000 live births in 1988 (the latest year with complete data), it still ranks 19th among developed nations with low infant mortality rates.

In Texas, the infant mortality rate was slightly better than the national average in 1989, with 9.1 deaths per 1,000 live births.

Marge Tripp, TDH volunteer coordinator, said, "The kind of work TDH does on behalf of children of course is far more advanced than is hoped for worldwide in the foreseeable future. "UNICEF is dedicated to the very survival of children worldwide, particularly in developing countries," Tripp said. TDH's maternal and child health, water hygiene, child nutrition and immunization programs already ensure against large-scale life-threatening conditions for Texas children.

Tripp, who not only works at TDH, but also has been on the National Advisory Board for UNICEF since 1986, said, "My familiarity with children's programs is a constant reminder that the most vulnerable human beings—the very young—are utterly dependent upon anyone able to help them live until tomorrow.

"I don't think any of us should take for granted the availability of clean drinking water, nutritious food and basic health care when we are sick. Too many children have died from lack of such luxuries," she added.

who was in Griswold's Cub Scout Den in 1953. During a recent trip to Muleshoe, Denney took the opportunity to visit with Griswold, a meeting that Griswold recalls fondly. Denney lives in Virginia where he is the District Executive of the National Council of Boy Scouts. Terrie Snell of Muleshoe, Denney's sister, was a Den leader last year.

Dr. Bruce Purdy, a Muleshoe Den Leader, said that the success of the program is directly related to the level of involvement of the parents. Dr. Purdy is an involved parent and has indicated that he will follow the tradition of most Den Leaders, moving with the boys as they grow from Cub Scouts to Boy Scouts.

Since it is normal for parents to follow their sons through the ranks of Scouting, there is always a need for new Cub Scout Den Leaders.

As Griswold put it, "We always have plenty of boys interested, but we never have enough adults to be Den Leaders."

Frank Hezmall, the District Executive for the South Plains Council in Lubbock, added his invitation to Griswold's to any adults who might be interested in Scouting to register and join other Scout leaders training at the Pow Wow in Lubbock Oct. 20.

Hezmall also indicated that he has plans for Griswold within the South Plains Council when her health permits.

Part of Griswold's success is due to her attitudes about teaching. Her motto is: "If you make it fun, they will learn more." She believes this is true for the boys and the Den Leaders as well.

Griswold will be teaching and demonstrating handicrafts and the uses of bones and other throw-away items to Den Leaders at the Pow Wow in Lubbock, and invites anyone who wants to learn about Scouting to join her there or to contact her in Muleshoe.

Using bones in her handicrafts has earned Griswold the nickname, "The Bone Lady." She uses bones and other cast-off items that are useless in the eyes of most people to make handicrafts.

Griswold does not believe in throwing anything away. To illustrate this fact, Griswold introduced this reporter to a Day-Glo orange, lobster-looking bone whose plastic eyes seem to follow you around the room. "George, the Den Watcher," as the bone is named, is in charge of discipline during Griswold's Cub Scout pack meetings.

If George falls over (with Griswold's help) because any of the boys are misbehaving, then the next Coke party will not be for another four weeks.

If further evidence is needed that everything can be used in handicrafts, one has only to look at Griswold's patchwork stuffed dogs and Scout badge tokens. The bone tokens hang on each Den's "Den Doodle" mobile and serve as a visual reminder to each Cub Scout of the badges he has earned for anything from reading and learning to Scout motto and rules to bicycling.

Although Griswold and her husband only moved back to Muleshoe in 1989, she is already involved as Cub Master in the Cub Scout Pinewood Derby (for wooden model cars) in January and is making plans for other Cub Scout programs and events which are aided by their sponsors, the Muleshoe Kiwanis Club.

Griswold keeps a picture in her living room of her victorious Hart Pack gathered around their winning Pushmobile, a vehicle which bears a close resemblance to a Soap-Box Derby car. She hopes to bring the Pushmobile Derby to Muleshoe.

What with Griswold's plans for her Cub Scout Pack in Muleshoe and Hezmall's plans for her in the South Plains Council, both Griswold and the Cub Scouts will have an interesting year to look forward to.

History books are written both from the record and from prejudices.

CHAMPION AMERICAN CROSS--Bob Holloway, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Holloway of Muleshoe, exhibited the first place heavy weight American Cross steer at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas. The 1136 pound black steer went on to be named champion of the American Cross Breed. Nine year old Jack Holloway, Bob's brother, placed fifth with his 1106 pound Hereford in the heavy weight class. New Drug May Prevent Leg Amputation

Researchers at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston are studying a drug that could prevent significant disability--and even leg amputation--in thousands of diabetics.

According to Dr. Yadollah Harati, an associate professor of neurology at Baylor, the drug, a new aldose reductase inhibitor (ARI), is thought to prevent the formation of nerve-damaging sugars from the excess glucose common to diabetics.

Ten to 12 million people in the U.S. suffer from diabetes, and about half of them will develop diabetic peripheral neuropathy within 25 years after diagnosis of the disease, Harati said.

In some cases, the nerve damage can be so severe that, along with other complications, it may lead to amputation.

The three-month multi-center study, for which volunteers are being sought, is being spearheaded at Baylor by Harati and Dr. John P. Comstock, an assistant professor of medicine.

They also hope ARI will benefit all diabetics suffering from foot pain, often severe, as well as numbness, tingling and a burning sensation. And they want to learn if ARI will be free of harmful or unpleasant side effects.

But, even if ARI is found to be of value, Harati said, effective treatment for diabetic peripheral neuropathy is probably two to five years away.

Muleshoe Mules

Finding the right territory, John Orozco slammed through for 17 yards and a Mule first down, then the Mules finally made it in from the two yard line, with Orozco slamming through at 7:06 of the third to paydirt.

The PAT failed and the Mules had a 9-7 lead over the Wildcats.

River Road had a modest drive started, and had covered 37 yards in five rushing plays and one pass play before David Quintana intercepted a pass from Wildcat quarterback Clint Latham, with 5:12 left in the third quarter.

In eight more rushing plays, the Mules made 23 yards in nine plays, and a couple of first downs before the drive fell through, and the Wildcats took over on downs.

River Road had possession of the ball when the quarter ran out, but failed to be consistent in a drive.

Punting the ball back to the Mules, River Road went on the defensive again, but the Mules were undaunted as they moved 57 yards behind the running of John Orozco, Larry Gonzales, Juan Perez and Eric Richardson.

The drive culminated in another Mule touchdown when John Orozco broke through from nine yards out and made it into the end zone. The scoreboard clock showed 8:05 left to play. Sergio Garcia booted through the PAT, and the score stood at 16-7.

Intensive players on both sides ran into penalty trouble as River Road made a desperation attempt to move the ball following the kickoff. To no avail. They managed 26 yards on five rushing plays, and lost yardage on a couple of rushing plays. Two attempted passes by the River Road quarterback gained seven yards on one try, and the pass was incomplete on a second try.

After the Mules took over again on downs, John Orozco and Juan Perez had a couple of rushing plays each before John Orozco fumbled the ball, and it was recovered by the Wildcats.

Attempting an aerial attack, the Wildcats had two passes go incomplete, before one was completed for 12 yards. On the next attempt, Sergio Garcia intercepted the River Road pass, and the Mules took over again with 3:53 left in the game.

Putting together a good drive, the Mules maintained possession of the ball until the clock ran out in the game.

Next week, the Mules will travel to Dimmitt to begin district play. Friday night, the Dimmitt Bobcats had their first loss of the season, to Denver City. Gametime is 7:30 p.m.

And, consider computer proposals for county treasurer's office; consider waiving probation period as to salary for Paula Tarter, county attorney's secretary; consider approving bond for Ed Harp, senior citizens van driver; consider order to compensate officials on salary basis rather than fee basis; direct by order that all money that would otherwise be deposited in a salary fund, be deposited in the general fund; and consider order authorizing county judge to pay regular monthly recurring bills.

CRP Delayed Payment Plan Explained

Danny Noble, CEO of the Bailey County ASCS office, said the following information has been received in his office regarding CRP rental payments:

• Much has been written in recent weeks about CRP rental payments, much of it contradictory, depending on where it was published or who was being quoted, said Noble. The facts are these:

• OMB (Office of Management and Budget) did sequester the CRP program for FY 1991 (as it did in FY 1990, when no reduction was ultimately necessary because of excess carryover funds.)

• Until the budget agreement was announced September 30, the possibility of a reduction was very real. In fact, until legislation to implement the budget agreement is law, and final FY 1991 appropriations are in place, full payment cannot be guaranteed.

• Payments cannot be made on October 1 because we must wait for the final CRP appropriation to be enacted. We anticipate that this may occur about October 20. Following enactment, the law requires that the funds be apportioned by OMB. While no problems are anticipated, we must deal with these procedural hurdles.

• ASCS regrets the necessary delay of these important payments and hopes to make 100 percent of payments due, possibly as early as November 1."

Faith in one's self is the foundation of success.

During the week of Oct. 1-Oct. 5, the third grade classes at Mary DeShazo Elementary have written letters to the troops. They are so excited and I can hardly wait until the kids receive a letter in return.

Our young men and women are doing their duties and I believe we, as Americans, should write and give them all the support and encouragement. Mail is like gold. To hear from home means a great deal to them.

Please help support our troops. Write a service member -- the rewards you'll receive are endless.

Thank You,

DPS Runs ATV Safety Program

The Texas Department of Public Safety hopes to reduce the number of people killed in accidents involving all-terrain vehicles (ATVs) through a training program now administered by the Department.

"In the seven-year period from 1982 to 1989, 75 persons died in ATV accidents in Texas," said Linda Cox, DPS Coordinator of the ATV Safety Program. "Over the years, the Department's efforts to reduce other forms of traffic deaths in Texas have paid off, and we believe this new program will have similar successful results."

The Texas Legislature enacted a law in 1988 requiring that all operators who ride ATVs on public land complete a safety training class. The Department of Public Safety was assigned the program in 1989.

The state program has adopted the national ATV Rider-Course, developed by the ATV Safety Institute, a non-profit corporation funded by four leading distributors of ATVs in the United States. The one-day course is available free to anyone who has purchased an ATV since December 30, 1986. Some purchasers are also eligible for cash incentives by the manufacturers.

Students completing the course will receive a DPS certificate which must be carried by operators when riding on public lands. The law also requires that all operators on public land annually register their ATVs and pay a safety fee.

For more information about course locations or the ATV program in Texas, call the DPS Motorcycle Safety Bureau at 1/800-292-5787.

Senator Phil Gramm Reports

The U.S. Senate has voted 79-19 to fund the crop insurance and agricultural research programs that are critical to Texas Farmers, U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm reports.

"The Senate is putting up $4 million for construction at Texas Tech's Plant Stress Laboratory," Gramm noted. "And Texas A&M is slated to receive full funding for its Institute of Biosciences and Technology in Houston and the oilseed research program at the Food Protein Research Development Center at College Station."

Other Texas-related items in the new appropriations bill include $146,000 for wool research and $10.9 million for the Children's Nutrition Research Center at Houston.

"This marks a major step forward on these agricultural programs and projects that are important to the future of farming in Texas," the senator said.

Gramm is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee which originated the legislation.

Supreme Court Rules Public Schools Financing Unconstitutional

By W.N. Kirby
Texas Commissioner
Of Education

In October 1989, the Supreme Court of Texas ruled that the Texas system of financing the public schools was unconstitutional. The court held that "Children who live in poor districts and children who live in rich districts must be afforded substantially equal opportunity to have access to educational funds." Furthermore, the court held that taxpayer equity was also a factor. "There must be a direct and close correlation between a district's tax effort and educational resources available to it," the court said.

The Texas Legislature met both in regular session in 1989 and in four special sessions in 1990 attempting to fashion a workable solution. The problem was not an easy one to solve unless there was to be massive consolidation, major redistribution of existing funds, major new revenue in place of existing local funds, or some combination of these and other approaches. The Legislature's final solution was Senate Bill 1, which has now been challenged in the courts.

Senate Bill 1 commits the state to a multi-year phase-in of significantly increased state aid over the next five years. An additional $528 million in state funds is available for school year 1990-91, and the state commitment promises even larger increases each year thereafter. By 1994-95, some $2.5 billion above current levels should be available. That means from $4 billion to $6 billion in additional state aid will be distributed over the next five years. Major new state resources were necessary if districts above state average in property wealth were to avoid major losses of state aid.

While much of the new money is aimed at improving educational opportunities, particularly in property poor school districts, some of that increased state aid should eventually allow local property tax reductions. As more state aid becomes available in future years, significant local property tax decreases should be possible, provided local districts plan accordingly.

The new finance system sets a target for 1994-95 of guaranteeing any district in Texas $4,500 per pupil at a local effective tax rate of $1.18. The amount needed or determined appropriate will vary from district to district, but state aid essentially will guarantee each district has access to similar revenue for similar tax effort. For example, an $0.85 tax rate would deliver $3,500 per child and a $1.00 rate would deliver $4,000 per child.

Beginning this fall under Senate Bill 1, a district of $100,000 property value can receive $3,500 at a $0.91 rate. If the provisions and timetable of Senate Bill 1 are carried out over the next few years, new money should be possible to reduce local property taxes in many districts.

The new finance plan allows local board members to determine the amount of money really needed to have a quality education and then guarantees that the state will make up the difference between what local property taxes generate and what is needed. This cost sharing arrangement ensures that property taxpayers across the state will be treated fairly and equitably with similar local effort delivering similar revenues instead of the widely varying amounts previously provided.

The new plan establishes a target rate of $1.18 in 1994-95 delivering $4,500 and moves the state forward to that point from $0.91 in 1990-91 guaranteeing $3,500. Over 600 school districts already had effective tax rates above $0.91 in 1989; thus two-thirds of the districts already exceeded the local rate required for maximum state aid in 1990-91 without any tax increase. For that one-third of districts not currently at the $0.91 rate required for maximum aid in 1990-91, the state provides increased funds for incremental local tax increases, thus allowing local option to avoid dramatic increases in local taxes. Senate Bill 1 allows districts with low tax effort to transition from their 1990-91 tax rate upwards by 25 percent, 50 percent, and 75 percent per year until fully implemented in 1994-95. Because 1990-91 becomes the base year from which future state aid is calculated, some districts have chosen to raise local taxes beyond what was expected.

Districts which receive guaranteed yield money will receive maximum state aid for 1990-91 at a tax rate of $0.91 this school year. However, some districts may argue that they need to be at the maximum level of $1.18 immediately in order to receive maximum state aid for future years. The additional dollars generated in future years by moving immediately to $1.18 must be carefully considered with respect to the amount of money needed to run an efficient and effective school district.

In addition, tax rollback provisions are still in place. Districts are subject to the eight percent increase limit on the effective tax rate with exemptions only up to the $0.91 level in 1990-91. Board members and taxpayers alike must balance their desire for additional state aid to help provide for a quality school system along with their need to keep an affordable tax rate.

The Legislature has made a long-term commitment to the school districts, and most importantly, to the school children of Texas. Difficult choices will have to be made by school boards, administrators, teachers and parents who must now combine their energies and abilities in order to make fair and balanced decisions as they guide their schools toward excellence and opportunity. Equally important, future Legislatures must fund the commitment of Senate Bill 1 at the state level so that equitable educational opportunity and local property tax equity can be achieved.

Eagles Roam All Over Amarillo Christian

It was the Three Way Eagles all the way last weekend when they defeated Amarillo Christian by a score of 60-12.

At 9:36 of the first, Mario Guillen whipped a 25 yard pass to Efrain Guillen, which was good for a TD. Roy Guitron booted in the extra points for the Eagles to take an 8-0 lead.

This was followed at 8:12 of the first when Mario Guillen found Jesse Haros with an 11 yard TD pass. The kick failed.

Amarillo Christian got on the board with 6:27 left in the first on a Carver-Carver 36 yard pass, and a run for the PAT failed.

Bobby Gonzales scored next for the Eagles on a 26 yard run, with Roy Guitron scoring the extra points. With 1:17 left before halftime, Bobby Gonzales blasted through from two yards out, and Roy Guitron again made the PAT good.

The Three Way Eagles had a 30-6 lead going into the second quarter.

The only TD in the second was with 1:42 left before halftime when Bobby Gonzales made it in from 17 yards out. Roy Guitron kicked the extra points.

Coming back in the third, Mario Guillen went in from six yards out with 4:06 left to play. Amarillo Christian scored on a 75 yard run from a kickoff return.

Three Way scored twice more in the third. At 3:40 Mario Guillen lofted a 31 yard pass to Jesse Haros and he also scored with 0:45 left in the third on a 26 yard run.

At three-fourths of the game, it was 54-12.

Shortly after the fourth quarter began, Mario Guillen intercepted and ran back a 55 yard TD with 9:43 left in the game.

Because of the six man 45 point rule, the game ended at this point.

Mario Guillen had six carries for 98 yards and one touchdown and Bobby Gonzales had 14 carries for 201 yards and three touchdowns.

Mario was 4-7 in passing for 126 yards and two touchdowns.

Efrain Guillen had two catches for 59 yards and one TD and Jesse Haros had two catches for 42 yards and one TD.

Gas. It's A Natural For Economy.

When it comes to heating your home or business, cooking your food or heating water, nothing does it better or more economically than natural gas.

Heating with gas costs less, by far, than electric heat. Gas also out-performs electric heat pumps. As it gets colder, heat pumps become less and less efficient. But, whatever the weather, the air flowing from gas heat is as much as 30 degrees warmer than heat pump air.

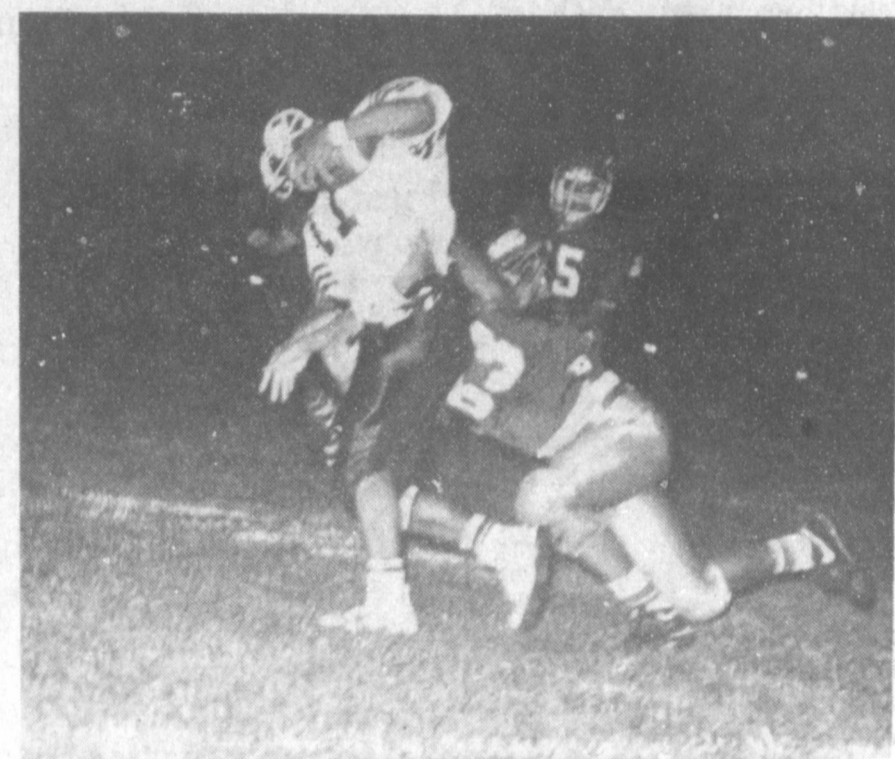

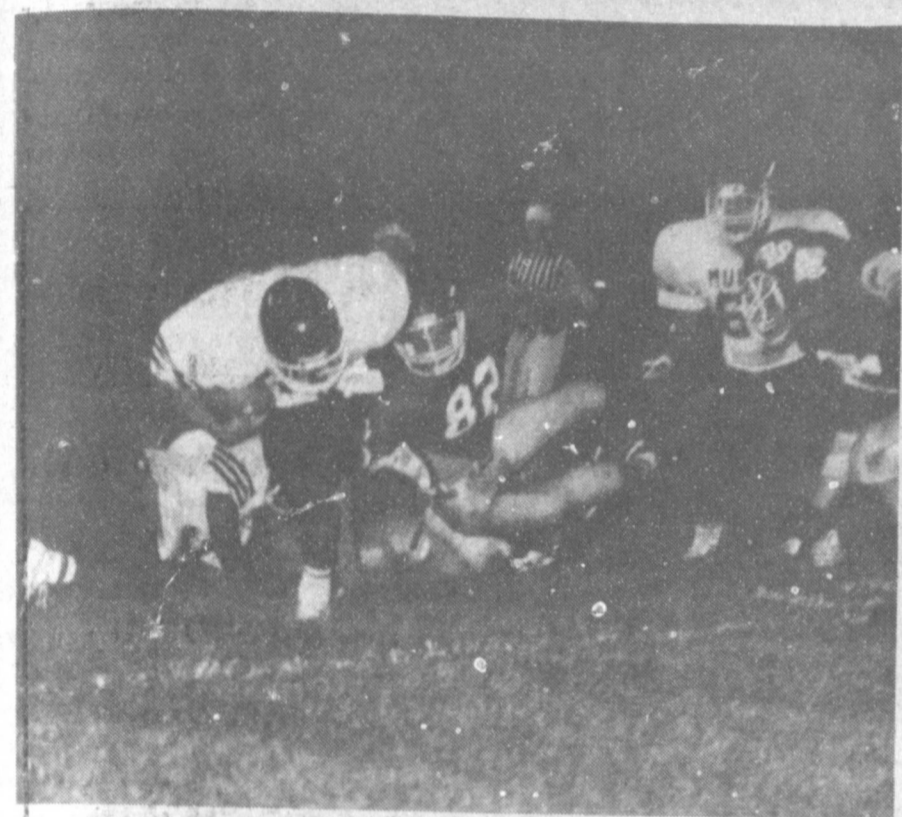

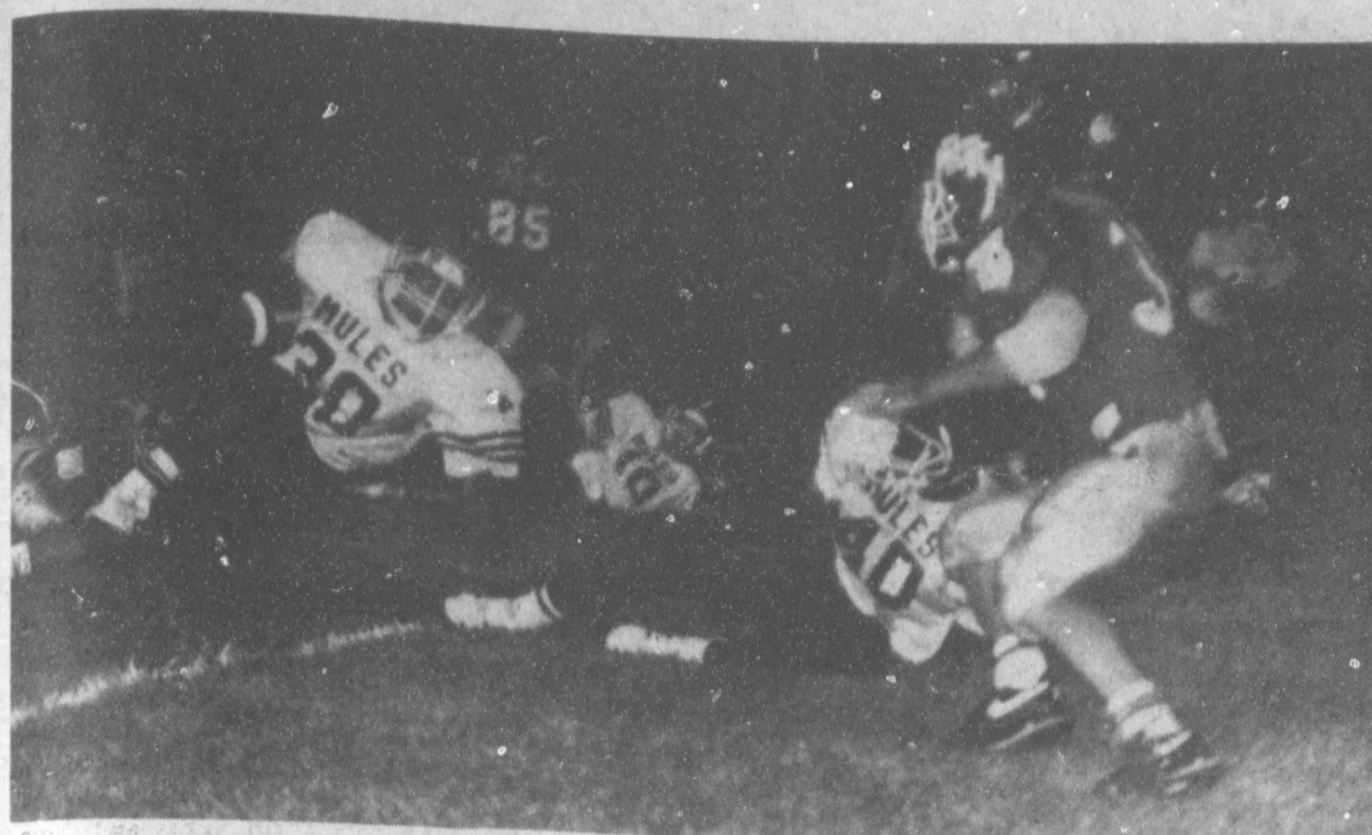

Water heaters using natural gas far out-perform electric water heaters. On average, a gas water heater can save hundreds of dollars in energy costs over five years. And, gas heats water much faster than electricity.

Looking to the future, gas may play a significant role in vehicular use. It is estimated that if only 10% of our vehicles were converted to natural gas in America, it could displace 700,000 barrels of foreign oil per day!

Whatever the energy job, go with gas. For economy, it's a natural.

Gas. It's a natural.

Letter To The Editor

September 25, 1990

Letter to the Editor:

You have been kind enough to help the children of St. Jude's Ranch collect used Christmas cards for their recycling project. They are now ready to sell their finished product.

This program teaches the abused and neglected youngsters who call St. Jude's "home" the value of honest work and creates in them that most important of life's ingredients, "positive self esteem."

Would you please consider publicizing the enclosed news release on this project? I'll be back in touch with you around Christmas time to remind you when the children start collecting used card fronts. They will need more publicity then.

You will feel good helping these fine youngsters as they struggle to get a second chance in life.

I appreciate your consideration and assistance and the kids will love you for it.

Cordially,
Ed McMahon
NBC Studios

To help members of our Ranch-family-at-large understand the reason St. Jude's Ranch and St. Jude's-Good Shepherd Campus exist, I am writing a few case histories. The names are changed but the events are factual.

Twelve year old Aaron and nine year old Michelle, a brother and sister team who have been with us for two years, were recently entertaining us with the tales of "remember when" before coming to St. Jude's. Some of the stories were not as happy or amusing to the staff as they were to the two children: Like when Michelle got stuck inside a Good-Will collection depot while trying to steal a warm winter coat; or the time she found $1.67, enough to buy some candy, in the pockets of some pants left at a Salvation Army Thrift store box; or the time they found "two whole fried chicken legs that had never been eaten on" in a restaurant garbage can, and that was their Christmas dinner that year; or how the only Christmas presents they got were toys they picked out of a trash dumpster. They had been left simply to roam the streets and fend for themselves.

And then there were the two brothers and one sister who had been living in a van parked in the desert. They were so covered with lice and fleas that we had to use a special chemical shampoo to clean them. I didn't know what the word "nit-picker" really meant until we had to pick out all the nits (lice eggs) one by one from their hair. We provided emergency good used clothing from our storage closet. For eight year old Dorothy we got one dress, two little shirts and two pairs of blue jeans, all size 6 because she was so small. The next morning after being waked she stood in front of her closet for half an hour before getting dressed. As she put it, "I don't know what to put on. I've never had so many clothes in my whole life." After being with us a year we were worried that she had not gained weight although she ate everything in sight, so we took her for a medical check up. The doctor prescribed high potency vitamins with floride to combat bad teeth and a scurvy type condition. But first he asked Dorothy, "What did you eat before coming to St. Jude's?" "Do I have to answer?" asked the child. "No," replied the doctor gently. "Well, I'll tell you anyway," she said, "we had bologna and cold hot dogs." "Everyday?" replied the doctor in amazement. The little girl thought for a while and finally said, "Once we had a watermelon."

There are people who have time to talk (about their views) indefinitely.

Your success, if you are wise, doesn't depend upon someone else.

Patience is the art of solving problems by letting them alone.

There's a difference between working and working for a living.

Fire Ant Lifestyle Makes Tough Job Tougher

Fire ants are increasingly difficult to eliminate because of a change in the life histories of fire ant colonies. They are appearing with multiple queens instead of single queens, according to a study conducted by the University of Florida's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences and the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

These new colonies house as many as 200 queens per mound compared to single-queen mounds. When the queen in a single-queen nest dies, the entire nest dies; but when one of the multiple queens die, the workers scatter. In multiple-queen nests, fire ant workers have no loyalty to a single queen. This makes eliminating the colonies even more difficult.

The study, which found 30 to 40 fire ant mounds per acre are up to 5,000 mounds per acre. The greatest producer of real work is necessary.

Who is at the Helm?

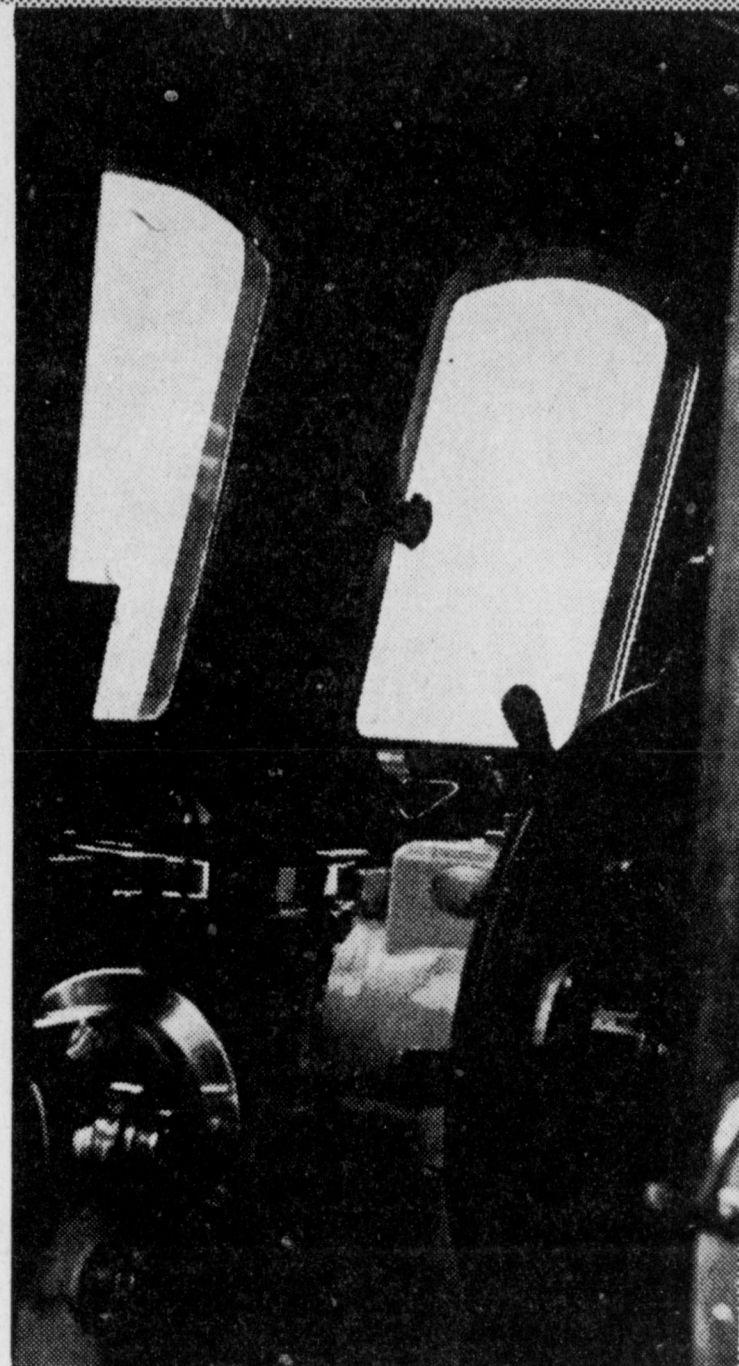

Who guides our lives? Are we a ship without a helmsman? Are we adrift, going no place?

Thanks be to God, who loves us so, He is willing to guide us, to show us the way over all manner of seas. How glorious to know there is such a One! All of us follow someone, some standard, but the true standard is God and His Word.

Let Him take over the wheel. He doesn't promise smooth sailing all the time, but He promises to guide us through the storm, and show us the way over calm and sweet but sometimes marker-less seas.

"And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make fat thy bones; and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water whose waters fail not."

Isaiah 58:11

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
