HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Howard County may be the most thoroughly "prospected" oil field in existence, but she's got four oil refineries and further proof that they are keeping right up with that industry in some of the most highly competitive areas of the nation is seen in yesterday's announcement by G. L. Rowsey, Great West superintendent, that a cracking plant will be added to that refinery.

Great West gasoline already finds a market in the Chicago area, where the competition is plenty keen. This improvement will enable this efficiently operated refinery to recover more gasoline, 15 per cent more.

Say, wonder what this Bonehead Club business is all about? This newspaper carries the story of its formation in today's issue, but its source is anonymous. Evidently we are due to hear and see much of the outfit.

Let's see, how long is it until football season? September 1 ought to find a lot of squads doing preliminary training.

There are games and games, but brethren, that is THE game. Big Spring's Steers are to have a real playing field all their own, and what's more, the school board has decided to stop letting one part of its system, athletics, play the role of the beggar, and will finance that activity just as it does geography, arithmetic, glee clubs and cooking classes.

Big Spring is now the largest city in the large District 2 of the Interscholastic league, with the exceptions of San Angelo and Abilene. We passed Brownwood and already were larger than Sweetwater.

Big Spring has as much good red-blooded American boy material as any school in the district.

Candidly, what Big Spring does not have is the real football spirit.

Until she acquires that she will not have a title contender for a football team.

A genuine football spirit will do more to make a community happy than most anything you can think of. It puts the citizenship shoulder to shoulder, enthusiastically in a common cause and enough glitter, enough thrill, enough good clean kick to make it inimitably interesting.

Go into some of the cities where school boys have formed a habit of winning and you'll find the business men, the school patrons, the general public cooperate with the coaches and school officials not by giving a lad on when he violates training rules (telling him "not to take that stuff" off the coach and thereby doing one's bit toward making him not a law-abiding but a law-flouting fellow); nor by griping at the coaches and the team each time they lose a game.

They do just the opposite.

C-C Membership Picnic Scheduled For Monday Night

With the younger members of the Chamber of Commerce in charge, its second quarterly open membership meeting will be held Monday at the City Park at 7:30 o'clock.

The meeting is for all members of the Chamber of Commerce and their families and guests, with the general public.

Refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, ice cream and lemonade will be served.

The meeting will be featured by a program arranged by J. D. Reeves, program chairman, and his committee.

The nature of the program has not been divulged by the committee chairman; although he has made the assurance it will be entertaining. Regular reports of the organization will be heard as preliminaries to the program.

The second session of the year was turned over to the junior members to make all arrangements for the program and entertainment.

PROGRAM FOR CLUB'S PICNIC IS ANNOUNCED

SECOND ANNUAL OUTING TO BE HELD FRIDAY AT CITY PARK

The second annual Howard County 4-H Club boys' and girls' picnic will be held at City Park Friday, June 21.

Junior Health Club girls, under direction of Mrs. M. E. Showalter, county nurse, will join the 4-H members at the picnic.

The county home demonstration agent, Louelle Allgood, and the county farm agent, J. V. Bush, expect practically all of the club members to attend. There are 119 4-H club members.

Meet 9 A. M. Boys and girls are requested to park their automobiles along the south curb of the court house block at 9 a. m. and report immediately to the county agent's offices. All of them will leave at 9:30 a. m. for the park.

Boys are to bring sandwiches, wafers and bread. The girls will furnish the sweets.

Lunch will be served at 12:30 p. m. C. T. Watson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Wendell Bedichek and a representative of the Bradshaw Studio have been invited as guests.

The entire afternoon will be devoted to games and contests. Henry King of the R-Bar club and Hubert Haworth of the Cosmo club will talk on the progress of Howard County 4-H clubs. Both are successful club members.

Cold drinks will be donated by business men of the city. The party will return to town and park its cars on the south side of the square ready to start for homes at 6 p. m.

Dairies Directed To Get Permits

Heads of all dairies selling, retailing or wholesaling milk in Big Spring, are urged by J. M. Williams, city sanitation officer, to make application immediately for a permit.

Williams announced Saturday he would be in his office every day this week to confer with dairymen. Applications for a permit must be made immediately, Williams declared. As soon as the application is received, the permit will be issued, following an inspection of the dairy.

When Williams makes an inspection of the dairy and finds it complies with the city ordinance, a permit to sell milk here will be issued. All those interested in selling, distribution, and handling milk, and pasteurizing plants, are required to have permits.

Victoria County Has New Gas Discovery

BEEVILLE, Tex., June 21.—(AP)—Victoria county was assured a new gas field today after the Lion Oil and Refining Company's No. 2 McFadden, in the southern end of the county, was completed yesterday at 3,838 to 3,843 feet as an estimated 35,000,000 to 50,000,000 cubic foot gasser.

15 Per Cent Additional Recovery To Be Effected

The Great West Refining company yesterday began hauling material to its plant east of the city for construction of a cracking plant, which will be designed to add 15 per cent gasoline recovery to its process.

The refinery, operated under management of G. L. Rowsey, who announced the improvement, has daily rated capacity of 7,500 barrels of crude oil. The new cracking plant will reduce the volume residuum, raising the gasoline production correspondingly.

Great West is running 4,000 barrels of crude daily. Its allied company, the Great West Pipeline company, transports the oil to the plant.

Only Howard county crude produced on Dora Roberts leases, is used. Practically all of it is low gravity oil.

Great West's chief market is in the Chicago area.

Six new employees will be added to the regular payroll when the cracking plant is completed.

Demonstration Of Cooking To Open

The Big Spring Public Service company announced yesterday that it will conduct a special cooking demonstration of Esfate Gas Ranges in the basement of the First Methodist church Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Manager Gil Cotton issued an invitation to all the women and girls of Howard and adjoining counties to attend the demonstrations.

A trained instructor in home economics will be in charge. The fresh-air oven is a feature of this range. It is built like a double boiler, creating uniform heat, eliminating pan shifting.

Scouts To Launch Viking II, Nailless Boat Made Here

The Viking II, bravely painted and and sporting a Gigantic Indian head on its prow, will be launched by the scouts of Big Spring Troop No. 1.

The Viking is a boat made by the boys under the direction of E. B. Ribble. It weighs but twenty pounds and will carry 250 pounds. The boys have tried it out with that amount of weight and it still had a good half foot above water. It is only two feet in height and is twelve feet long. It cost the boys only $4.75 complete.

Simply made, it is a framework of light wood covered with canvas and chalked with tar. It has not a single nail in it with the exception of the tacks used to secure the canvas around the top. A wooden keel holds it steadily upright. Oars, or more properly, paddles, were made by the boys by whitening out two light planks.

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—(AP)—W. L. Stewart, 52, president of the Union Oil Company of California died here today of a heart attack. He had been ill a year.

Jess Massingale, her husband, in corroborating the testimony said the defendant "seemed crazy on the subject of the Bible." He also "talked at random" and "could not keep his mind off the Bible," at times.

Mrs. Tillie Welty, in her testimony told about the same story of the mental status of the defendant and his relatives.

Percy Johnson, brother-in-law of the defendant, was used to attempt to impeach the character of one of the state's witnesses, Mrs. Emma Mayhall. He said her "reputation is bad." Doctors W. H. Bennett, of Lamesa, who attended the slain man, was asked a lengthy question

DEFENSE ENDS TESTIMONY IN MCKEE'S TRIAL

ATTEMPT TO ESTABLISH INSANITY FLEA IS MADE AT LAMESA

COURT ROOM, LAMESA, June 21.—Springing a surprise by not using the defendant, Ira McKee, to testify in his own behalf, the defense of the case in which McKee is charged with murder of W. R. Billingsley, closed its direct testimony before Judge Gordon B. McGuire of the 100th district court Saturday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock.

Adjourn to Monday. Thomas L. Price, district attorney, then announced that owing to the fact that the state desired to introduce some witnesses who were not here and who had to come from a distance, and the further fact that he, the district attorney, was not in the best of health he would ask permission to adjourn court until Monday morning.

Judge McGuire announced the convening of court for 9 o'clock Monday morning, when the state is expected to begin its rebuttal testimony.

Eight witnesses who were to corroborate the testimony of the sisters and other relatives of the defendant as to his present and previous mental state, were brought to the stand during the afternoon. Their testimony was for the most part brief and cross examination not very sensational.

Three or four clashes between counsel over the method of cross examination and the type of questions asked marked the afternoon session.

Under indictment Jess Massingale admitted under cross examination that he was under indictment in Palo Pinto county on a charge of violation of the state prohibitory law. This brought an objection on the part of the defense.

Recalled to the stand after the defense closed, an admission that he was also under indictment on a charge of automobile theft was made. Objection was overruled and a question as to his wife's alleged status on an indictment was knocked out when the objection was sustained.

John Aouse, of Gordon, testified he knew the relatives of McKee and corroborated statements of witnesses at the morning session as to the mental condition of the relatives of the defendant. As to McKee, he said that he thought McKee at the funeral of his brother in Palo Pinto county had "acted queerly."

Mrs. John Rouse admitted that she had seen McKee on numerous occasions and that he had acted "mighty funny" at the funeral of his brother, Jesse McKee, in Palo Pinto.

As To Sanity Thurman Rouse, brother of John, said he had known the family "all of my life" and that he considered McKee of unsound mind. He corroborated other testimony as to the mental condition of relatives.

"Get out, send your wife in," Harvey B. Shead, defense counsel, said in a loud tone as the witness left the stand. Mrs. Rouse was not present. Earl Welty, of Gordon, admitted he did not know much about McKee and his relatives.

Mrs. Susan Rouse Massingale, of Peeco, also corroborated the previous testimony. "I believe Ira McKee is of unsound mind," she testified.

Jess Massingale, her husband, in corroborating the testimony said the defendant "seemed crazy on the subject of the Bible." He also "talked at random" and "could not keep his mind off the Bible," at times.

Mrs. Tillie Welty, in her testimony told about the same story of the mental status of the defendant and his relatives.

Percy Johnson, brother-in-law of the defendant, was used to attempt to impeach the character of one of the state's witnesses, Mrs. Emma Mayhall. He said her "reputation is bad." Doctors W. H. Bennett, of Lamesa, who attended the slain man, was asked a lengthy question

MANIAC FATHER, TAKING FAMILY FOR PICNIC, HURLS WIFE, FOUR CHILDREN TO DEATH; KILLS SELF

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 21.—(AP)—Settled with a maniacal frenzy while on an outing with his family, Raymond C. BUDDIES OF WORLD WAR WILL FEAST

Memberships Being Sought; Wasson Ranch Place

A saw tooth German bayonet—regulation French army rifle with the long slender sword tip bayonet—a water cooled German machine gun—a German trench helmet—all captured from the enemy during such encounters as the ones at Verdun and Aix la Chapelle, rusted and service scarred, they stood in the window of the Ballard Drug Co. beckoning the war buddies to join a peaceful army, the American Legion.

For the Legion post here, with Dr. Charles Deats in command is putting on a drive for new members.

Barbecue Tuesday. A letter has gone out to every ex-service man in the county of whom there is any record inviting him to the barbecue at the Cecil Wasson ranch about four miles south of town.

Commander Deats asks that all men in the county join the Legion in a regular war time get together Tuesday evening at 6 p. m.

He says that there must be hundreds of ex-service men in the oil fields about whom no one has any idea, and that if they should get together the post here would be one of the largest in this part of the country.

"Over the Top" The Legion here will put on the sham battle "Over the Top" to assist in the Oil Men's Jubilee Celebration, July 3-4-5. It is hoped, said Commander Deats, that fifty of the regulars at Sweetwater will be sent over to take part.

Bonehead Club Is Organized Here; Service Banned

Footballers Paramount In Program Outlined At Meeting

BONEHEADS of Big Spring have organized.

The Bonehead Club came into existence last night at an impromptu, although deliberately planned, session of a group of local men who believed themselves eminently qualified as members of such an organization.

With a suggested motto, "Of Service To Nobody Or Nuthin'" this organization will presently begin functioning as the official dispenser of nonsense for this section of West Texas.

Rules and regulations, yet in the preliminary stage, will, however, be built around the doctrine that there is altogether too much seriousness and service in existence hereabouts. The one great purpose of the group will be to substitute bull for business, slander for service.

It is rumored capital punishment or a good substitute therefor will be administered the first man who attempts to teach or learn anything at a meeting of the club.

JONES VALLEY SEWER MAINS WILL BE BUILT

DITCHING MACHINE IS READY TO BEGIN WORK MONDAY

As soon as an emergency job, under the Benton street viaduct, is completed, ditching for the city sewer collection system will begin in Jones Valley, City Manager V. R. Smith announced Saturday.

The contractor, W. S. Thompson, San Angelo, moved a ditching machine to the viaduct location Saturday.

Pillings for the viaduct will pierce the existing sewer main leading toward the old disposal plant east of town. It is necessary, therefore, to lay a part of the new outfall line at this time. The line will run along the south side of the T. & P. tracks past the viaduct three blocks instead of crossing under the tracks near Benton street, as it now does. It then will be run under the tracks and along the north side of them for some distance, before turning southeast toward the new disposal plant site.

Mr. Smith said the ditching machine will be moved directly from the track near the viaduct to a point immediately south of the tracks on San Antonio street, in the lowest part of Jones Valley. The ditch will be opened for the 12-inch main that will form the backbone of the collection system in that section of the city. It will run from the tracks along San Antonio to West Fourth streets. From that point southward the line will be reduced to six inches in diameter and will continue southward so far as there is any development.

Smaller lines will lead from east and west into this main. From the north end of the 12-inch Jones Valley main, the 15-inch outfall line will cross under the tracks, leading eastward to the disposal plant east of town. Into this outfall line the entire collection system will converge.

OFFICER IS RIDDLED BY 6 BULLETS

Mysterious Shooting Occurs In Victim's Office

SAYRE, Okla., June 21.—(AP)—The body of T. C. Phillips, 45, sheriff of Beckham county showing several bullet wounds, was found in his office here tonight.

The body was found by M. L. Ingram, under-sheriff, who said he could ascribe no reason for the slaying. Indications were, Ingram said, that Phillips was called to the door of his office, and that when he opened it his assassin fired. Six shots took effect.

In First Term Phillips was finishing his first term as sheriff and was a candidate for re-election. He had been active in enforcement of prohibition.

Phillips' gun was in its holster when his body was found, and one thumb was caught in a vest button. The firing had been done at close range. One bullet entered the neck just below the chin, and another entered his chest.

The town was crowded with the usual Saturday night crowd but only two persons were found who said they heard the shots. They were Ingram and a youth working at a filling station near the court house. They rushed to the sheriff's office but found no clue. They said they believed they saw persons running from the court house but were not sure.

Officers sent for bloodhounds from the state reformatory at Granite to take up the trail. They were expected to arrive within a few hours.

Some officials expressed the belief that Phillips' fight against bootleggers in the county was directly responsible for his death. He captured a large still yesterday and another today.

Phillips lived in a suite of rooms in the court house.

MT. PLEASANT, Tex., June 21.—(AP)—Sam Black, 49, commercial painter of Paris, Tex., was shot and killed tonight at Lake Linger Long, a resort near here, where he was operating a holiday concession.

His assailant, with whom officers said he had difficulties over rent for the concession, was held in jail tonight but officers said charges probably would not be filed until Monday.

Black was shot three times with a shotgun and died about 15 minutes afterward.

The shooting was witnessed by a large Saturday night crowd of merry-makers at the resort.

Officers said witnesses declared the landlord and Black engaged in a fist fight and the other man left, then returned with a shotgun and fired upon Black.

Black leaves a widow and four children at Paris.

Equipment For City Park Will Be Bought By Lodges

The four brotherhoods, including engineers and trainmen of the Texas & Pacific Railway company are arranging to jointly donate $300 for purchase of playground equipment to be placed in City Park. City Manager V. R. Smith has been informed. G. C. Potts, proprietor of the 50-50 Cleaners, has authorized the purchase of a tiny tot's teeter-totter for the park, Mr. Smith said. City officials are highly elated over the interest, and the benefit being derived by the citizenship from this park. It is expected that allowances as liberal as possible will be made by the city commission for the park when the annual budget is adopted soon. Applications have been received by the city manager for concessions in the park for drink stands and other commercial ventures. The policy of the city commission is that no commercialization of the park will be allowed at this time.

Sidewalk Parking Will Cause Fines

Warning to motorists in regard to parking on sidewalks was issued Saturday by Chief of Police E. A. Long. The warning followed arrest of several who have blocked the sidewalks nightly on Fourth street and Scurry street near the West Texas Golf course. "It is a violation of city traffic laws to park an automobile on the sidewalks," City Judge Tracy Smith declared. "We hope it will not be necessary to fine anyone for violation after a warning has been issued."

Oil Mop Causes Night Fire Alarm

A mop, saturated with oil, and hanging on the wall, was responsible for a run made by the fire department at 11:15 o'clock Saturday night. Spontaneous combustion caused the mop to ignite in the supply room of Markham-Jones Lumber Co., 409 Goliad Street. No damage resulted from the blaze.

FOLKS ARE TIRED OF LISTENING TO BOTH SIDES OF PROHIBITION WILL ROGERS HAS DETERMINED

By Will Rogers

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and in the letters that I get after spouting on the "Raddyo," (and say by the way, you know we used to kid Al Smith about the way he pronounced that word, well we just now come to find out that was right all the time and the rest of em all was wrong. Yes Sir Al was absolutely right. Then these people would write me and say, "Why don't you name some of the words that Mr. Hoover mis-pronounces?" and then they would name em.

Boy, what would I know about them? If that's all the people in this country had to worry about, why we would be sitting pretty fine. If there was nothing wrong with us but our pronunciation we would be well off.

But talking about getting letters from folks, I have had more letters about my broadcasting a week or so ago on Prohibition than I have on any one of the other subjects, and 98 per cent of them agreed not with the subject so much as the fact that what I had to say about it was that "We were tired of listening to both sides of the argument and didn't care what happened to it." Well you would be surprised the amount that are really tired of it and wish the whole word and subject would pass out of our every day usage. They have asked me so many of them to try and give them something in print of what I did say, and especially they wanted the real dope on whether the Book started off it looked like I would get what I wanted right off the reel and that if I used all that was said in regard to wine that I would have to issue it in two volumes.

You see that's one wonderful thing about the Bible. There was no censorship in those days. Of course now some of our Churches hold Conferences and cut out certain parts that they think don't belong in there, or change them according to what they think should be said instead of what was said. In other words we are always having somebody improving on the words of the Lord. That's even worse than a Scenario Writer brightening up Shakespeare.

Then here just the other day I went to that wonderful play in New York called "Green Pastures" and say, by the way don't miss it, it's the greatest thing I ever saw. It's the play as you probably know that really enacts all the scenes of the Bible in the every day homely way that the real old down home Negroes think that it is. There is one character of the Lord, just an ordinary fellow, walking among them and talking to em about like any old Preacher. He offers some of his subjects, "Here Brother Noah, is a good ten cent Cigar." Another time when he was having a tough time with his subjects he says, "This job of being the Lord is no cinch."

Tired of listening to both sides and don't care what happens

Going around with him all the time up in Heaven is old Gabriel, and he keeps saying to Gabriel, "Look out Gabriel don't toot that horn yet." Gab is always shining up the old Alto Horn. It's the most simple, and the most impressive, and the most reverent thing you ever saw done on a Stage. And it's just exactly like those old Camp meetings that I have gone to down home in Oklahoma, and it comes about as near being right as some of these other more so-fisticated religions that we have. These Negroes take what the Lord said literally and not what they thought he ought to have said, so don't miss that show if you have to go clear to New York to see it.

But what I started in to tell you about old Noah. Well in this show they got him building the Ark right here on the stage. The Lord is telling what to put in it, and Noah asks about the snakes, and the Lord says, "Sure we got to have snakes." "Well," says Noah, "don't you think Lord that we better take a jug of spirits along with us in case one of the snakes goes haywire and bites somebody during the rain?" So the Lord told Noah to take the Jug, and then Noah says, don't you think Lord I better take two Jugs. "No," says the Lord, "Put the one Jug in the middle of the Dock." So you see everybody seems to be pretty well wise to old Noah. He wasn't hardly what you would call the backbone of the Anti-Saloon League.

You see it was in the early Chapters of Genesis that it reads, "And he became a Husbandman and planted a Garden." You see the minute he got married he started Fight in raising the ingredients that go with married life. So you see you don't want to prevent wine raising. You want to prevent marriage. You want to prevent marriage that show if you have to go

Then it says, "He drank of the wine and was drunk." Not just a little tight or about half loaded, but drunk. And I expect in those days and times among those old Timers, when they admitted anyone was Drunk. I expect he filled the bill. Now Lord didn't seem to mind it, in fact it was on account of the drinking that he picked Noah to gather all these animals into the Ark, he was the only one that had seen all of em. So Noah just went out and every time he needed another pair of Animals he would just take another drink in fact two drinks for he always had to have a he and a she, all but a Democrat and its mate. He run out of Wine just as he was looking for the mate to the Democratic He, and that's today why there is so few drinkers in the Democratic party. They are the Party of law and decency, all due to Noah running out of wine.

LELAND DASH DEFEAT BLESSING Great Arthur Only Shires To Make The Grade PRATT LAUGHING UP HIS CUFFS

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer

Leland's defeat both in the 100 and 200-yard dashes in the national intercollegiate track meet probably was a blessing in disguise to Texas Christian University.

Prior to the double loss, the Frog Dash had not said definitely whether he would play football next fall, and it is just possible that if he had won either race he would have been induced by track enthusiasts and the Olympic committee to remain off the gridiron. But, he lost, and a few days later said he would be out for football.

With a costly new stadium in process of construction, Texas Christian can use Leland in a big way next fall. He was the greatest single drawing card in the Southwest Conference last year and can be counted upon to draw plenty of customers through the gate in 1930. With him in the backfield, the Frogs must be conceded at least an outside chance of repeating for the championship, and a title game can go a long way toward paying off the mortgage on the old home-stand.

Every team in the conference will be watching Leland like a hawk next October, so it is doubtful he will get away on the spectacular runs he did a year ago. But he will pull the fans through the turnstiles just the same.

Art Shires, after all, seems to be the only member of the Shires family with any great degree of baseball skill. The other brothers, notwithstanding some efficient ball-players, have failed to make the grade.

Len Shires, a chunky younger brother, already has set some kind of a record for speed in reverse gear this season. He has, in the short period of three months, dropped from a place on the New York City roster to the South Coast league, a semi-pro outfit.

Len was something of a show piece in the Giants' training camp at San Anacostia last spring. Photographers snapped him doing this and that and sped the negatives all over the land. He looked too slow on the paths even then, however, and when the season opened was shipped to Bridgeport of the Eastern league. He stuck there a while, but saw he's back in Texas.

A South Texas sports scribe who saw Len perform at second for Goose Creek had the following comment:

"If yesterday's game is an example of his play it's no wonder that Len descended the ladder so rapidly. He won't even be a star in the South Coast league."

Either Del Pratt is a very shrewd handler of pitchers, or he has a sixth sense that tells him when one of his chumpers is about to turn sour.

Hank Thormahlen is the case at point. The barrel-chested southpaw pitched great ball for the Waco Cubs up to a month ago. He was easily the league's outstanding twirler. Then, without a word of warning, Pratt sold him to Fort Worth for a stiff price, said to have been the biggest cash deal in the league's history.

Waco fans raised sand and other teams of the circuit did not look upon the deal with favor. They accused the Panthers of having bought themselves a pennant and wrecked what little ball club Waco had.

Then what happened. Thormahlen started doing his stuff for the Cats. Rather, he made a stab at it. He couldn't get anybody out and hasn't yet. He has been a dud of the purest ray. They are calling him the $10,000 lemon.

It looks like another example of Del Pratt's luck. Or is it luck?

MORELAND WINS GOLF TOURNEY

DALLAS BOY DEFEATS YOUTH

Reynolds Smith Fails To Take Hole In Final

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 21 (AP)—Never allowing his opponent to win a hole, Gus Moreland, 19-year-old Dallas youth, won the Crest Country Club invitation golf tournament today. His opponent was seventeen-year-old Reynolds Smith, also of Dallas, whom he defeated 7 and 5. The match ending on the thirty-first hole.

Smith was even par when the match ended, but from the time Moreland smacked his tee shot down the fairway on the first hole until the finish Smith never gained the honor. Moreland shot seven under par.

The match did not become a one-sided affair until the closing holes of the afternoon. Beginning on the twenty-seventh Moreland scored four birdies in five holes to take the top-heavy lead.

For seven holes they battled on even terms before Moreland won for the first time. He won only one more hole during the 18 holes which was completed, with his lead being 2 up. He was three under par for the morning round while Smith was one under.

The morning round was completed with Moreland boasting a 70 and Smith a 72. Par is 73.

It was Smith's putting that kept him in the neck and neck fight with Moreland.

They started off by halving the first three holes in the afternoon with par fours. On the short fourth, Moreland won the hole to go three-up. The fifth and sixth were halved. His out was short. His putt for a birdie rimmed the cup and trickled away.

The lake just in front of the green cut Smith the seventh hole and he found himself four down.

Despite an out of bounds penalty on the eighth hole, Moreland gained a half with a five.

Then followed Moreland's four birdie in the next five holes for the victory. The first came on the ninth hole. However, the birdie on the tenth gained only a halve. Another birdie followed on the eleventh sending him six up.

The twelfth was halved with par fours. It dormed the match.

Moreland's tee shot on the thirteenth found trouble on the right, while Smith sent his sailing up the middle. Moreland had a good out to the left edge of the green with BOBBY JONES, for the third time won the British open golf championship Friday, increasing his golf titles to three. The Georgian won the coveted crown with a score of 281. He won the amateur championship of Great Britain last month.

THREE HOLD CLINCH IN OILBELT

Magnolia Defeats Humble In Final Inning

The Magnolia Oilers, champions of the first half, went into a tie for first place in the Oil Belt League by downing the Humble company in a closely contested game that was not decided until the late innings by a count of 8 to 5.

White was on the mound for the victors and registered his eighth victory of the season. Rainey of Magnolia was the clotting star of the day with a home run and a double in three trips to the plate. Ragon went the route for the losers and held the Magnoliamen in check until the later innings. Holt was the star slinger for the Humblemen.

Merrick and Bristow upheld the colors of the Oil Belt league in a commendable manner by trouncing the Sterling City Cowboys in an exhibition game 12 to 0. Lefty Lydia limited the visitors to two scattered hits while the Thursday's conqueror of Moody collected fourteen hits off Roberson and Hardy. Lydia also played a prominent role in the slugging with a triple and a home run to his credit.

Merrick and Bristow halted the rush of Moody in a slugging duel that was almost one-sided, Thursday by a score of 13 to 5. It was the first defeat of the season for the Moodymen. Gresset, who had won four straight starts, was battered from the mound in the fourth.

Sunday Humble plays Merrick and Bristow in a scheduled game while Magnolia journeys to Colorado for an exhibition with the Col-Tex refinery. Rainey has been named as the starting hurler for the Magnoliamen.

Schelling is ready to fight if he can gain a release from Buslow's managerial contract, which does not expire until Oct. 13. Otherwise, he insists that he will remain idle until the entangling alliance with Buslow is wiped out by time. Sharkey is so anxious to remove the stain of his defeat on a foul that he is already on record as being willing to pay Buslow's 20 per cent share in Schelling's wages.

NESBITT, DESPITE SLUMP, HOLDS LEAGUE HIT LEAD

Barbers Only Team To Have Average Of .300

Although he had slumped a bit since his terrific gate of two weeks ago, Bruce Nesbitt continued to lead the City League in batting as that great entered upon the last week of the first half with an average of .322. Right behind was his teammate, Brown deadlocked with Lydia of the Barbers with a mark of an .290. Hoehn of Richco and Purvis of Cosden were tied in doubles with five each. L. Madison of the Barbers was leading in total bases, tied for the lead in triples, and second in runs scored and hits. Cosden of Richco was deadlocked with Madison in triples and led the field in hits. C. Madison of the Barbers topped the lot in runs scored with twenty-one to his credit. He led the circuit clouters, the Richco third-baseman having two runs to his credit. Smith of Cosden and Aiken of the Laundry headed off two victories against no defeats but the real leaders were Cosden of the Barbers and Dickenson of Richco.

The Barbers are the only team to have an average of over .300.

Out at Richardson Refinery there is an aspiring shortstop that labors under the name of Tab Clark. That is he was out there until the game Friday afternoon. Whether he is now is not known by this writer. A quick perusal of the box score will reveal that Tab Clark, slugging ball slinger that he is, pranced to the box five times, pranced back to the dugout four, and went to first on an error once. That wouldn't have been so bad if every man that started the game hadn't got from one to three hits. After the game Clark broke his hip. But you can't get on base by hitting a dugout post with a fungo or otherwise.

Aiken became suddenly ill of four base clouts all at once Friday afternoon when he was hit with everything but the umpire's pompadour. Connelly, socked one over the seventh square yard of plank in the left field fence. Cook, following the newly acquired Connelly, followed suit, only his went over the eighth one. That made three for the Richco third sacker. Both of the boys had hard days. Cook, before he hurt his ankle, or wrist, got a home run and two doubles. Connelly gleaned a home run, a triple and a single. Even Garcia, the Mexican twirler, got three singles in four trips. And imagine Bill Hoehn getting two singles, and biffing a hard one to Brown in left field. Even Hugh the Eat Shagger almost got a hit off Aiken.

This afternoon at Dusty D. J. C. Moore will bring his Richco boys to town and they will meet the Mexican All Stars, fast team with some new uniforms. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. If the clock is white about it, and following that fray the Laundry will meet Cosden in what is predicted to be a bloody affair. Lefty Potter, arch enemy of the conductor of this column, will send his southpaw against the Laundry. Either Jackson or Crouch—and it looks like Jackson—will start against the Cosden still operators. Wanted one umpire with a bullet proof vest, and two ears that are not working well.

We deem it our duty to extend a pair of congratulations. The first goes to Old Folks Bivens for socking a sock Friday afternoon. LAUNDRY DOWNED BY RICHCO Supported by an infield that couldn't be cracked, Garcia, Mexican moundsman, had the Laundry at his mercy Friday afternoon, and Richco went into the leading position of the City League when they clouted Aiken and Nesbitt for 16 hits to run across 14 tallies. The Laundry was able to snatch a lone run out of the wreckage.

The single tally for the Laundry came in the second inning. Bruce Nesbitt scoring after he singled, and Reid led Aiken's clout go between his pedal extremities. Laundry batsmen got four hits off of Garcia, Nesbitt getting two, Taylor and Blevins one each.

Aiken was pounded off the hill-top in the second inning, and was relieved by Nesbitt, who survived the ordeal until the final two men were out. He then resumed his place in the center pasture and Aiken picked up the reins in the box again, only to be hit bigger and better.

During the battle every player got at least one hit off of the Doc with the exception of Clark, Woods and McWhirter.

Richco tallied a pair in the first inning on two home runs, each over the left field fence. Connelly and Cook performed the act. Seven were tossed across the slab in the second, when Aiken and Nesbitt gave up seven hits, Reed, Garcia, Hoehn, Connelly and Burns getting singles, Stanton a three base clout, Cook a double, Cramer walking and Valdez contributing a couple of errors.

One was scored in the fourth on a double by Burns and a single by Cramer, Burns carrying his bulk across the plate. Two were added in the fifth when Hoehn singled, Connelly got on, and Cook doubled. The final two were tossed into the dual in the seventh when Brown dropped Hoehn's drive to left, allowing Garcia, who singled, to tally, Hoehn chalking on Connelly's double.

ATHLETICS DEFEAT TRIBE

PHILADELPHIA, June 21 (AP)—A crowd of 20,000 saw the Athletics make a clean sweep of the four-game series with Cleveland by taking the final today 7 to 1. Rube Walberg, fourth pitcher of the series to go the distance for the champions, gave up only four hits and did not allow a safety in the last six innings. Three home runs, all made off Mel Harder, accounted for six of the victor's tallies.

LAUNDRY TO CLASH WITH COSDEN

Richco To Meet Mexican All-Stars At 2:30

Two games for the price of one—just one of those Sunday afternoon bargains which the Big Spring Amateur Baseball Association is prone to provide for the customers—will be offered this afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

In the first clash the Richardson Refinery, leaders of the City League, and battling for honors for the first half, will clash in a feature fray with the Mexican All-Stars.

The Mexican aggregation boasts of some of the cleverest diamond performers in Big Spring. Several of them are playing with City League aggregations, and have displayed their wares favorably in the field, but have noticeably slumped in batting.

There is little doubt but what Richco boasts of one of the strongest aggregations in the City League today. And there is even less doubt than that but what J. C. Moore, generalissimo and even manager, has mobilized the greatest defensive team that can be placed in the field today. The Martin, Cook, Clark, Hoehn combination can't be ousted. At least it hasn't been.

In the second fray of the afternoon the Cosden Refinery will clash with the Laundry in the scheduled City League game of the day.

Cosden, only a half of a lap behind Richco for first place honors, will endeavor to oust the button maulers in Sunday's game in order to go into a tie with Richardson for first place crowns.

The Laundry, torn asunder as it is, lost to Richco Friday afternoon when Aiken was pounded to all parts of Howard and Mitchell counties.

With the Laundry fighting an uphill battle, it looks as if Cosden, Richco and the Barbers will fight out the battle for winner of the first half of the season, which ends June 25.

Cotton Clover, rated practically unanimously as the best umpire seen in action at Dusty D. this season, will be arbiter for the two frays.

Gates at Dusty D. will fly open at 2 o'clock, central standard time.

SEASON SPLIT JUNE 25

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Big Spring Amateur Baseball Association, held Friday afternoon, it was decided the season would be split June 25. The game of that date will be included.

Should teams be tied for first place honors at the end of the season, a one game playoff will be ordered by the board in an effort to decide the champion for the first half.

Managers, meeting Thursday night, decided to leave the split season date to the board of directors of the organization.

SNOWFLAKE WINS

CHICAGO, June 21 (AP)—Walter J. Salmon's Snowflake, leading 3-year-old filly of the year, added the $10,000 Illinois Oaks to her string today, defeating a classy field of her sex and age at Washington Park. The Three D's Stable's Pansy Walker was second with H. P. Headley's Alcibiades third.

Snowflake stepped the mile and one-eighth in 1:52 and paid $5.50 for a $2 mutuel.

And Now Arrives The Driving Course, It's Open For Moans

The miniature golf courses have come—and have remained. And it is all the putt-putts now.

And now comes the driving game. Announcement was made Saturday of the opening today of a driving course on East Third street, two blocks west of Square street. The driving course is the only one between El Paso and Fort Worth.

Baker & Franklin of Fort Worth constructed the tee and fairways. The course extends from the highway in the Texas & Pacific Railway tracks. Caddies are provided. All the players has to do is hit and watch, or groan as the case may be.

Other driving courses are to be constructed by the firm of Richmond, Odessa, Pampa and Pecos.

Candidates For County Officers Pushing Causes

Howard county politics—abetted by a Saturday crowd and a blazing sun—picked up in Big Spring yesterday.

With swarms of rural residents in the city for the day, candidates for various offices took advantage of the opportunity to distribute the now-familiar bits of cardboard.

As the July primary sweeps near, candidates for contested offices are in the heat of a summer campaign. Indications are that equality as much interest will be manifested in the second primary, which the Democratic Executive Committee approved, as in the first.

Considering the entire ticket, the office of tax collector seems to be the most hotly contested. Created when Howard County's census passed well over the 10,000 mark, it has become popular with those seeking a public office.

Six in Race

Six have announced for the place. The two leading ones will go into the second primary in what is predicted to be a close race for the office which was removed from the supervision of the sheriff.

H. R. Debenport, county judge, has two opponents. J. D. Cunningham and H. C. Hooper, seek the post which Judge Debenport has held for seven years. Voters of Howard county first named Judge Debenport to the office November 3, 1923, and he has been reelected at following primaries since that time.

Interest in the one-man race for district and county clerk seems to center around the point of whether the two offices will be split in the general election.

Unlike the procedure followed in the separation of the offices of sheriff and tax collector, the offices of district and county clerk can be split into separate divisions only in the general election. Votes cast in the governor's race, multiplied by five, are considered. Should the total surpass the 8,000 mark, after the multiplication process, the two offices would be separated.

Unopposed

As matters now stand, J. I. Prichard, incumbent, will be elected to serve the county again for the next two years. Prichard has been at the helm of this department for 28 years, having been elected first in 1902.

E. G. Towler has an opponent in W. A. Prescott for the office of county treasurer.

John G. Whitaker, Big Spring attorney, is opposing James Little, incumbent, for county attorney. Pauline Cantrell, county superintendent, is opposed by R. F. Lawrence for county superintendent of public instruction.

With one exception, two or more are seeking places on the county commission. W. B. Sneed is the only candidate for that office in precinct number four. O. C. Bayes and Frank Hodnett oppose each other for commissioner of precinct No. 1. Pete Johnson and Charlie Robinson, seek the place for precinct No. 2. J. O. Hesser and George G. White are making the race for commissioner of Precinct No. 3.

Justice of Peace

John E. Williams is opposing Cecil C. Collins, incumbent, for justice of the peace of Precinct One, and three—John Williams, J. M. Ogden and W. M. Nichols are in the race for constable of precinct No. 1. Williams is the incumbent.

George Mason, district attorney, Jess Slaughter, sheriff, Anderson Bailey, tax assessor, and J. F. Ory, public weigher, go into the first primary July 29 without opponents.

The political pot is it stammers also issues quite a bit of discussion on the congressional race. Two, El Paso residents—Marvin L. Burkhead and R. E. Thomson—are after the office, and E. E. (Pat) Murphy of San Angelo is seeking the post. Claude B. Hudspeth, former resident of El Paso, has thrown his support to Murphy.

Penrose E. Metcalfe, incumbent, goes to the primary unopposed for representative of District 91.

SWAP WAR DEBTS FOR HONEYMOON

Mr. and Mrs. S. Parker Gilbert are shown as they arrived in New York for a belated honeymoon after Mr. Gilbert made his final report as Reparations Agent General in Berlin.

question. "The defense rests," unexpectedly announced Mr. Shead. Jess Massingale was recalled by the state for questioning and then the case closed. It is understood the state will occupy a considerable part of Monday to rebuttal testimony. Nearly all of the officers here expect a state ranger, a policeman, and Deputy A. M. Bennett, of Lamesa and Mrs. Joe L. Ray, sheriff, have not testified in the case.

It was at least two hours after that before it was definitely fixed that Spang had exterminated his immediate family and at that time, he himself, was dead.

Form Letter

It was meant that every ex-service man receive one of the letters but if he did not it is quoted below and was meant for him, anyway, said Dr. Deats.

Dear Buddy: The Big Spring American Legion is going to have a big time on the Cecil Wasson Ranch, about four miles south of town on the San Angelo pike, on the west side of the road, Tuesday evening, June 24th, at 6:30 p. m.

Barbecue will be served, and there will be wrestling bouts, string orchestra, etc.

Friend, this is a mighty fine chance for you to come out and have a good time with a live bunch of fellows. Charlie Deats tells me that arrangements will be made for at least one hundred ex-service men. Be there and bring one or more ex-service men with you. The arrangements and entertainments are in the hands of L. W. Croft, Herby Lees, Frank Heffley and Lib Coffee. You can't afford to miss this entertainment.

Yours very truly, CARL S. BLOMSHIELD.

STEELING—

indication of this same purpose has been given since he declined to run. His friends believe he can swing votes that may turn the tide in a closely-drawn contest for one of the two coveted places in the run-off.

Sen. Parrish, who said he hadn't been a candidate at all, declared his support for Senator Small.

Taken altogether, the week appeared to have been a Sterling-Small week, with both these candidates making definite strides forward.

Thomas B. Love predicted for himself that he would lead his nearest opponent 50,000 votes. He may have whistled as he talked to try to make himself believe it. Love, with his fight won to get on the ballot, was apparently just in that position—his fight on the issue won, and interest lagging in his fortunes thereafter. The cause for his being a central figure in the picture was no longer. Definite evidences of campaign weakness, even in the counties where he figured on being strongest, have developed. Sen. Love apparently has never fully learned that the Hoovercrat vote of 1928 was not cast at his behest, or because he was in the movement, or, as that, "for" him or because of him at all. It would probably be more accurate to say that he was the agitator, rather than the leader, of the Hoovercrat vote movement. Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's candidacy has caused much less interest and agitation than have Ferguson races in the past. It hasn't "clicked" in the big exciting ways of the Ferguson fights of old. Unrestrained expressions in her prepared copies of speeches, with respect to the courts, and her statement that "elect me and you will get two governors for the cost of one," have caused uneasiness among even the Ferguson faithful, and have failed to gloss over James E. Ferguson's political concern in the race.

Earle B. Mayfield seemingly has held his own following, as previously organized, during the changing and readjustment and formative alignments of the past week. He is plugging away hard, and has built up a working campaign organization in the second trenches. It probably can be said accurately that Mr. Mayfield did not benefit by the decisions of Gov. Dan Moody, Lynch Davidson and Pink Parrish to stay out of the race.

James Young and Barry Miller may be assumed to be practically at their stride, whatever it is.

These views are the format of opinions, conclusions, arguments, campaign documents, and general comment heard both in the comings and goings at Austin and in a swing of 600 miles through the state during the week, sifted down by an attempt to analyze the trends of sentiment. They may be right.

Fourteen—

He made arrangements with the Douglas hotel to care for his passengers, agreeing to pay room rent. That was Thursday. That night the passengers were advised in a telegram from Sweetwater they would be picked up here Friday morning. Those who have not given up hope are still looking for that "pick up."

Four of the passengers departed Saturday morning, with the best wishes and little else, of their fellowtravelers. One bought a ticket; the other three went out to aid in blazing the hitch-hiking trail. Some planned to leave Saturday night. Others chose to await arrival of money from friends and relatives.

No Clues
All efforts to find trace of the bus driver had been futile. Members of the sheriff's department received a telegram from Mark Marshall, railroad commission motor bus chief, Saturday, declaring the bus line did not have a permit to travel in Texas. And sheriffs, along the route reported no clue as to the location of the cross country bus could be found.

Members of the "stranded in Texas" party represented the states of Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Michigan, Pennsylvania and California. "Oh, yes," declared Phee, who is a Chicago school teacher, "we are taking it alright. Yes, we surely are taking it."

Miss Maxine Laird, 334 Menomosee Street, Chicago, and Mrs. Fran Anderson, are the only women in the party.

"You want to know how I like Big Spring?" Miss Laird inquired. "Just fine, but it seems our bus driver doesn't."

"Casualty List"
The passengers who found themselves suddenly without something to use their Los Angeles to Chicago tickets for, were: James Kucera, 2714 West Cortland, Chicago; George Dolly, Dewitt, Ill.; B. Durmont, 3582, West Adams St., Chicago; Arthur L. Oliver, 318 Dayton Street, Hamilton, Ohio; R. O. Brown, 3032 North Euclid Ave., St. Louis, Mo.; George Mapes, 2215 Lake View, Detroit; Miss Maxine Laird, 334 Menomosee St., Chicago; Harold Long, 516 Fifth St., Oakmont, Pa.; Paul Halberg, 849 Monica St., Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Fran Anderson and son, Raymond Anderson, 457 W. Fort St., Detroit. Wm. J. Phee, 9618 University Ave., Chicago; P. Anderson, 1112 W. 9th St., San Pedro, Calif.; Raymond Woodward, 201 1-2 Sidney St., St. Louis.

Members of the sheriff's department declared Saturday they could do nothing, and little of that, to aid the deserted transients. The tickets to Chicago were sold in Los Angeles. The tickets from Odessa to Big Spring were valid.

All the department could do was to make an effort to locate the bus and the driver, preferably the latter. All efforts to find trace of him had proved futile Saturday night.

CHICAGO, June 22.—A thrust from an umbrella fatally wounded an unidentified man staggering along West Madison street today.

The umbrella, according to witnesses, was wielded by a pedestrian in what appeared to be an instinctive act of self-protection. He went on his way without knowing that he had killed a man. His name was not learned.

After receiving the thrust the wayfarer kept his feet for a few steps. Then he collapsed in the doorway of a restaurant and died soon afterward.

Physicians found that the point of the umbrella had severed his jugular vein.

"Of course," she said, "we all think he's darling!" And that we suppose is the sum and substance of all writings under baby pictures. She also said, "Oh make something up, that's the way you do anyway, isn't it?" So we stand accused—and come to think of it, we guess we do anyway!

S. Holmes, Mrs. A. L. Cone, Mrs. Harry Stalkup and the financial advisor, D. C. Maupin.

Brother Hamilton, the associational missionary for this section, will give the principal address this afternoon. He will then carry on a week's revival in the mission.

The program will be in charge of D. C. Maupin and talks will be given by the Rev. Mr. Richbourg and Dow Heard, pastor of the First Baptist church. Mrs. Harry Stalkup will have charge of the music.

The public is cordially invited to attend the opening of the Mission and the revival meetings during the coming week.

CALIFORNIA TOWN HAS GARDEN CONTEST

CARMEL, Cal. (INS)—Let the rest of the world keep its bathing beauty contest, its flag pole sitting contests, its marathon dances and what have you. All this village asks is to enjoy its garden contest in its own quiet little way.

Recently this village held its first garden contest, for a silver cup awarded by the local women's club. Artists discarded their brushes for the hoe, novelists folded up their smoking typewriters for the spade and Carmel's fairest women weeded lawns and gazed stary-eyed on each new rosebud that came into the great yard.

Mrs. Joe Edwards has returned from Los Angeles where she has been spending the winter. She was accompanied by her sister and her sister's husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Tillery, and Jack Tyles of Los Angeles.

Sam Segal of Breckenridge was a week-end guest in Big Spring.

Dr. Jim Barcus and his mother, Mrs. John Barcus and sister, Mrs. A. B. Duboss and four sons of San Antonio, returned Friday from the Carlsbad Caverns.

Big Spring Was Once A Comanche "Resort" According To Old Diary

Four score years and one is the age of Big Spring, and still she is in her youth.

Eighty-one years ago Captain R. B. Marcey of the U. S. Army, young, gallant, brave and adventuresome, and one of the most outstanding pathfinders of his period, camped beside Big Spring.

"It was," he said, "flowing from a deep chasm in the limestone rocks into an immense reservoir of some fifty feet in depth."

Now Big Spring, about five miles south of town, is empty and deserted, full of broken bottles, twisted pipe and tin cans.

The Discovery

Early in 1849 Captain Marcey received orders from Brigadier General Arbuckle, commanding at Fort Smith, Arkansas, to fit up what we would call a little army (about 80 men) and accompany an emigrant train to Santa Fe, New Mexico. He was to then drop south to the vicinity of what is now El Paso and endeavor to locate an Indian guide who could pilot him through West Texas on what could be made a good wagon road, to an intersection with his own outgoing train which went westward through Oklahoma and Panhandle of Texas.

If he could find such a guide, and he was satisfied from his own previously acquired information that he could, he could march from that point to the "Plains" in perfect safety. If he could do this without subjecting his command to the necessity of encountering severe trials and hardships he was to return by that route, otherwise to return the same way he went.

An Indian Guide

He found his guide, an Indian, and blazed the way through this country, filing such a report with the War Department that it had a material bearing on the location of the Texas and Pacific Railroad. Within two years after his report, the original predecessor company of the Texas and Pacific Railway was chartered by the Legislature of Texas to build a railroad from the N. E. corner of Texas along the route followed by Marcey.

His Diary

The following excerpts from Captain Marcey's diary cover the discovery of Big Spring and discloses some of its earliest history. "Oct. 2. We marched twenty-three miles today in a course N. 72° 22' E. which brought us to the Laguna, or Salt Lake.

"The country has been similar to that of yesterday, over high rolling table lands of the Mesa, with no wood except the small mesquite brush. The water in the Laguna is brackish, but there is a small pond south of the road where we encamped, which, although it is slightly sulphurous, is not unpalatable. Should travelers come to this place on their way to Mexico, in an extremely dry season of the year, I would recommend them to carry from here in their wagons a supply of drinking water sufficient for two days, as this would last them until they reached the sand hills, if by any accident, they did not discover the Mustang Pond.

"A Fine Spring" "Oct. 3.—Leaving the Salt Lake this morning our bearing was N. 71° E. for eight miles where we reached the border of the high plain and descended an easy slope of about fifty feet to a bench below. "From here we could see low bluffs in the direction we were marching and our guide informed us that near these we would find a fine spring of water.

"Fourteen and a half miles of travel over a beautiful road brought us to the spring, which we found flowing a deep chasm in the limestone rocks into an immense reservoir of some fifty feet in depth. Favorite Indian Resort "This appears to have been a favorite resort for the Comanches, as there are remains of lodges in every direction, indeed, our Comanche guide tells me that he has been here before, and that there was a battle fought here some years since between the Pawnees and the Comanches in which his brother was killed.

"Oct. 4.—We left Big Spring today at one o'clock P. M. and traveled twelve and one-half miles in course N. 43° E. to a spring in a beautiful timbered valley, with excellent grass. The spring is in limestone rocks to the south of the road and furnished a good supply of water. It is a tributary of the Concho."

HOWARD COUNTY

Howard county was formerly a part of Mitchell county, but was organized in 1883 and is 30 miles square. The organization came two years after the T. & P. built into Big Spring. The first Commissioners court met on July 1, 1882.

The city of Big Spring was first comprised of 40 blocks including First to Sixth streets and Goliad to Jack. The streets were laid off parallel and at right angles with the T. & P. railroad.

First Newspaper

The first newspaper was the "Pantagraph" and was published in 1884. The first three stores established were Joe Fisher, Bessie Bros and Hines & Seay. The J. & W. Fisher store was established in 1884.

MODEST MAIDENS

All women who are members of the Parent-Teacher's Association, the Federation and all social and study clubs as well as county women are asked to meet at the Club House Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

No trouble is anticipated in getting the signatures as the movement carries the endorsement of every organization including the three service clubs, the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions.

Picked out at random on only one petition are some of the names of men in the city who heartily endorse the County Library movement: E. O. Ellington, B. F. Robbins, E. G. Fowler, Wendell Bedichek, Seth Parsons, C. D. Baxley, W. D. Cornelison, W. C. Blankenship, Robert Campbell, L. L. Bugg, C. K. Blivings, James Little, Walter Vastine, V. R. Smitham, C. A. Quereau, R. PLAYS "BRIDGE" OPPOSED FOR OFFICE

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—The game of "bridge" apparently isn't as trivial as most husbands would have their wives believe.

Coach Glen Filley of McKendree College here recently resigned, intimating that President Cameron was absolutely against his re-election for the reason that he accused Filley of playing "bridge."

"If a man can't play bridge without involving himself in such a manner," exclaimed Filley, "there ought to be a law."

Local Woman Was Once Tennis Champ Of State

"I went to Austin to have a good time," said Mrs. W. B. Ballard plaintively, "but all I got to do was play tennis."

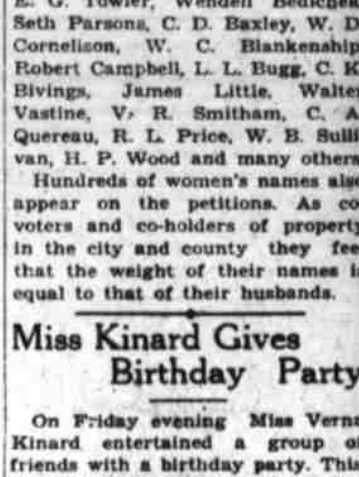

Mrs. Ballard won the state high school championship at Austin in 1922. She had no idea, she said, that she would even remotely have a chance to win.

She was from Abilene, of course, for it is Abilene that sends the champs out into the state. She had always played with boys and men and so when she was matched with girls she found them easy to handle.

Her greatest trouble at the meet in Austin, she said, was with Dallas and Galveston. She and Dallas played deuced sets all one afternoon and on into the morning.

No, Mrs. Ballard does not play tennis now.

Roach, of New York, with her three pastel portraits of the celebrated Fratellini clowns. This Salon is one of the most important ones held in the capital and Miss Roach's contribution has received favorable comment from many sides. Her work shows a rare human quality as well as real humor.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

I am fifty-five years old and have been married nineteen years. My daughters are eighteen, fourteen, and four and a half years old, all of them attractive, neat and well-mannered. I always keep myself clean and neat and I am beautiful in my children's eyes. But to my husband I am everything that is not beautiful. He is good looking but he has a most unusual disposition. Our life has been one perpetual moving from place to place, leaving debts behind us. To make a long story short, this has been my life—debts, criticisms and babies. But I am devoted to the babies.

He keeps no position for any length of time and must have his fishing twice a week during the season. Now that our oldest daughter has graduated and is going to work he demands that she shall give him half her wages as love money. This is about the last straw. If she should go my heart would break. It is for the sake of the children that I have suffered all these years. No other man has entered my thoughts, but I have heartaches and humiliation because other women are in my husband's life. I have reached the end of the rope.

But I continue to put up with this condition of affairs for the sake of the children or shall I break this thing up now? I am not living but am only existing. Tell me what I ought to do.

Kindly omit address.

Have a conference with your husband, and let him clearly understand that all fishing is off until he reforms. Do not blink the facts, nor yet exaggerate them. Taken as you state them, they are bad enough. On no account allow him to touch your eldest daughter's money. If necessary, arrange with her employer to pay it to you directly. Should friends or husband squirm, consult a lawyer and force the issue.

You can compel this unworthy and selfish fellow respect your decision. The law has tentacles to lay hold on him and he will find, if recalcitrant, that a court of justice is not a pleasant place for him. You have much to gain and little to lose by the course I suggest. Its postponement can only send us further misery. Face him with the alternative of either ending his financial and sex debaucheries or accepting entire separation from you and the children.

Eighteen years of studied neglect and failure to provide for his family condemn him. Every consideration points to the demand for a radical change. You have suffered much. You are fully spent. Do not allow the children to camp longer in the misery you describe. Act confidently, hopefully and continuously till you have escaped from your bitter bondage.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

I have often admired the calm and well-poised manner, even under the most trying circumstances, of the cultured Oriental. What philosophy or training permits them to accept uncomplainingly and even unemotionally the saddest tragedies of life? Being an average American, ill-poised under difficulties, quiescent and vastly emotional, I should like to know the means whereby that enviable stoicism of the Oriental may be acquired. Perhaps you do not think this stoicism a desirable acquisition. If not, why not? The Oriental philosophy of fatalism is characteristically pessimistic. It does not instill the brave acceptance of life so much as it pleads for its extinction as a grievous burden. If you carefully compare the East and the West you may discover that their respective peoples do not support your conclusion.

Are you quite sure that the "average American" is the backboneless creature you describe? Of course we have to carry the usual baggage of weeping and wailing over the inevitable. Nevertheless, Chicagoans hung out business signs over the smoking ruins of their city, and bravely went forward after the great fire which well might wipe them out. In this they represented their fellow citizens elsewhere when confronted by apparently irremediable disasters.

I admit that Chinese, Japanese and Hindu peoples have greatly profited by the spiritual teachings of their several religions. Thus cultivate a sense of inward values which has subdued their devotion when surrounded by outward woe. Yet the same fortitude of soul is common in the West, and clergy-men, doctors, and social workers witness it daily in their work.

You ask me whether or not I advise stoicism. I admire anything from any source which contributes to a man's development of soul and imparts a discrimination to his mental perceptions. But I question if pure stoicism invariably achieves these ends. When it freezes the heart the calm it induces is neither healthy nor permanent. Under repression often produces a volcanic explosion as only the fanatical outbursts of Eastern crowds? Doubtless we can learn useful lessons from our Oriental brethren. Yet upon reflection, would you prefer their civilization, its stagnancy and immobility included, to the emotional stir and buoyancy of America's optimistic millions?

Just Crazy Over Cottons

Shoulder Capes "Out" Like All Over-worked Fashions That Become Fads

BY ADA LINGO
Yesir, yesir, sub-rasse over cottons is the cry of fashionists all over the country.

And well they might be for some of the most charming of the summer fashions have come garbed in the lowly product of our Texas fields.

For instance there is the "light blouse and dark skirt" dress originated by Vionet, that has become classic in the North and East. It is being shown in linen with a dark skirt and a lighter coat blouse of the same color. It is very smart in a casual sort of way. A dotted Swiss with short puffed sleeves and a plaited skirt, has glass buttons down the front and is another smart frock.

Dresses of cotton mesh are inexpensive and cool. They wash well and require no ironing. Often the details are carried out in handkerchief linen. Schiaparelli's frock has gilet and sleeves of cotton lace, with berets and brimmed hats of the same mesh fabric.

The black plique suit with handkerchief linen blouse is another outstanding favorite.

Just any cotton fabric is okeh, provided it is smart and simple. Of course the fluffy, ruffy things may be worn, by them as kin wear them, but these ladies are few and far between.

BEWARE, BEWARE, THE LIFE OF A FAD IS SHORT

And so if your dresses, sport capes and capelets see what the New York Times is "prophe-sing":

"It is not so very long since the word went round that capes were to be good. Capes instantly appeared on every conceivable kind of dress, on blouses, on pajama costumes and on scores of coats, not excepting the raincoat. The riding habit seemed to be the only outfit that continued capeless. Women who did not like capes returned from shopping excursions with ruined dispositions.

"They may now cheer up. When a fashion receives such immediate and wide acceptance, its smartness suffers and its life is apt to be short. Already there are indications that the cape is going out as fast as it came in. The most significant report comes from Paris, where a handful of notably well-dressed women exert an influence on styles that spreads across the Atlantic and reaches the Pacific. A number of these women appeared at a smart evening gathering in Paris recently, and not one of them wore a cape, or even a capelet."

Cold Dishes For Hot Days

By JOSEPH BOGGIA, Chef
The Plaza Hotel, New York City

When the dog days are upon us, and our appetites must be tempted with a special appeal if they are to respond with their wonted vigor, nothing is more appropriate than a cold main dish for either the noon or evening meal.

Carefully prepared, with a proper use of seasonings, a d thoroughly chilled before serving. Jelled dishes well deserve the more prominent place they are rapidly being given on the summer menu. Meat, sea-sonings may constitute the chief ingredient, or we may decide upon a combination of the last with either of the other two.

Tongue in Aspic—Wash and scrub a beef tongue in salted water and boil until tender. Remove skin and place the tongue in a saucpan. Add two onions, one stalk of celery, four cloves, and salt and pepper. Cover with liquor in which tongue was boiled. Add one blade of mace, one bunch of thyme, one bunch of parsley and one teaspoon sugar. Simmer for two hours. Re-pool, just east of the hotel. The sister of our co-worker, the Water Bucket, is publicity director there and extended us this courtesy. We think she is just swell. Honest, it's a hotel to dream about, with suites from $450 a week down to—well, what have you? . . . In Paris the mode for too much matching is passing. . . . "The way," says L. L. of the New Yorker, "to get the right permanent for out-growing hair is to insist that your permanent be slightly wavy on top and very curly on the ends. It's easy to do in one operation—the trick is in the winding. With a good wave, you can safely use a coolish curling iron, which will keep the ends curly and turned up for several days." . . . Linen bankies come now both useful and ornamental. Some enterprising designers have made them with a red corner to mop off excess lipstick and still look fresh, beat that one. . . .

ZIFFON A RAINCOAT
A swank little raincoat is being manufactured by the Sherman Brothers of 270 West 59th Street, New York City. It is of celanese, full length and slips up the full length of the front. Not just half way mind you, so that you have to pull it off over your head and muss your hair and your clothes, but all the way from neck to hem.

And it comes at $6.50 in celanese, at $5.00 in jersey and $13.00 in crepe-de-chine. We'd like to get our hooks on one.

WHITE GLOVES MOST IMPORTANT

From every quarter comes the news that white gloves continue to be smart and necessary. In fact, beige gloves are worn only when they repeat some beige note in the costume. White pliskin is very good for sports and white kid, three quarter, short or long, is smart for more formal things. White cotton gloves look well with the cotton dresses of the more tailored type.

"CALOTS" NEW IN HAT FASHIONS

"The hats were most interesting," writes Madame Revilla in her last letter describing clothes worn at the Paris Ritz for luncheon. "Reboux turbans with the wide border of coarse white straw and the black felt 'calot' (like the little round shaved spot on the top of a priest's head) were worn by many elegantes. Another striking black and white combination was seen in the close-fitting jersey caps, one side white and the other side black with shirring across the back. They were favored by a number of smart women who wore them well off the forehead and way up on one side. I noticed also that most of the other hats had some white trimming—a border or band or inset of some sort. And this white effect was carried out further with white slip-on kid gloves that reached half way to the elbow, over the coat sleeve." Weekly Style Letter.

Decorative Window Shades

The painted blind is a drapery saver.

BY MARGERY TAYLOR

No longer is the window shade to be permitted to disturb a room with its plain blank stare. The newest kind bears a gaily painted design.

If you are one of those fortunate souls who do their own designing, painted window shades offer joyous problems. But if you like to have your art guided, there are transfer patterns in fascinating variety to help you.

Coated shades will be found most satisfactory, as they may be easily cleaned and are proof against wind and rain. Striking effects can be obtained with sealing wax paint or with oil paints, if you prefer them.

Draperies and glass curtains are unnecessary with these shades, so decorative can they be made. An unusual treatment can be achieved with a painted beaverboard cornice across the top and a cove or extension of the cornice down the sides.

For over-curtains, voiles, scrim, organdie or any transparent or semi-transparent fabrics in plain colors are simple but effective. To top off curtains, painted wooden poles, a cornice or a valance may be used.

Each room, of course, will have its appropriate shade design and these shades can make the smallest window look important. In the entrance hall, on a stairway landing, in the kitchen or the small boudoir, where windows often are small, such shades are especially welcome. So also are they in the breakfast room. And in a little sunroom, what could be more cheerful than vivid French peasants dancing gaily over the blinds.

In the bathroom, a design on shades repeated on the shower curtain makes a real ensemble. Popular fish designs, for example, give a marine air, carried out in a cool blue-green and coral color scheme. The garden may be brought into the kitchen with shades painted with pert little flower borders. Bird designs bring the right note into the hall, breakfast room or sun room.

SUNBURN AND FRECKLES CAN BE PREVENTED WITH CARE

Summer is dreaded by many women, for they know it does unpleasant things to their faces. Many skins are quite lovely until summer comes, when they suddenly become very temperamental, and look shiny and spotty soon after powdering. Some women even complain that their faces feel hot and irritated after the least exposure to the sun.

The change a hot summer works in your skin often is so gradual that you may not notice the damage until it is done. Neglected skins suffer most, so it is wise to accept the fact that hot weather may spoil the texture and color of your skin, and then try to prevent this.

In the inquiries that come to me at this season, I often find that women do not know how to care for and protect their skins during warm weather. "After all," many of your letters say, "I can scarcely step outside my door without getting freckles. Now, what am I to do about that? I cannot stay inside all summer!"

No—you certainly should not stay indoors too much, for fresh air and sunshine are excellent skin tonics. Instead, you can learn to take a few precautionary measures, and then safely enjoy being outside as much as you wish.

Foundation cream has very good protective qualities. Spread plenty of it all over your face and neck, wipe off the surplus cream with cleansing tissues, and then pat on your face powder. Or, if you prefer a liquid foundation, apply a generous coating of powder lotion. Wipe off the surplus lotion with a bit of cotton, and then put on your powder.

Naturally, these simple preparations will not protect your skin from burning if you insist on staying out in the sun for hours at a time. But if you are sensible, and expose your skin no longer than necessary, you will not need to be in despair about sunburn or deep

Simple Stories Of Daily Things

The Mailman's Visit, The Ladies' Aid, Washing Dishes, Made Small Rituals

By Ona Reagan Parsons
"The Beloved Community" by Zephine Humphrey.

(E. P. Dutton and Co.)
"The R. F. D.; not that we ever call it by those cold, official letters. We do not even call it "the mail," though that latter term means much. We call it "Elmer," and therein is suggested the whole distinction between the impersonal mechanism of the city and the country's warm, human friendliness."

Thus does Zephine Humphrey tell in warm simple words the story of the mailman's daily visit. In her volume, "The Beloved Community," she makes a ritual of the daily tasks, from washing dishes to attending the Ladies Aid Society.

Her book is the story of herself and her friends and their life in the little town of Dorset, Vermont.

To continue with the story of Elmer which is typical of the other incidents in the book and is one of the best because of the fact that she temporarily forgets to moralize—

"Elmer is the event of the day . . . Elmer is due at our house and time between one and three; and, though we often find fault with it, the attitude has its own charm . . . the general time of day is just right, with the long morning's work behind us, with the tranquillizing effect of dinner in beneficent action. . . .

The Mail Box
"Like all our neighbors, we possess an oven-shaped mail box mounted on a post; but, also like them, we seldom permit it to be of any use. Into our hands the mail is delivered; his hand contribution to the next out-going mail is received; then . . . Elmer leans back in his seat and addresses himself to conversation. Sometimes the whole family gathers; sometimes chance passers-by stop and join in; often Elmer gets out and goes to inspect an ailing animal or automobile and minister to it. For, even more than most Vermonters, he has a versatile resourcefulness, and his good nature is unbounded.

Quite sure am I that nobody in our valley does so many big and little unredeemed acts of kindness. All in the day's work is it for him to thaw out a frozen pipe, mend a leaking roof, help bring a calf or a colt into the world, witness a will, give financial advice, sharpen an axe, hoe a row of corn, bind up a sore throat or cut finger, hold a baby while the mother answers a letter, break a young horse, put a tipsy person to bed; and all with such brotherly cheer that every household is the happier. Meantime the mail waits; fifteen minutes, half an hour, an hour, as long as necessary.

Friendly Relations

"Now, I affirm, this is quite as it should be . . . the humaneness of the method of our letters' delivery is the element which we most applaud; and if Elmer did not take time to cultivate the friendly relations between himself and his clients, the daily transaction would soon degenerate into the mechanical dullness which we so deplore in the city. But sometimes, being human ourselves, we are false to our finer intelligence and grow impatient.

"I remember well one day when I thus fell from the grace of sympathetic wisdom. I probably had an inflated sense of the possible importance of my lingering letters. At any rate I hung over the fence, watching Elmer's delays, until I worked myself into a ridiculous state of protest.

"Finally I swept out of the gate and down the road to our next-door neighbor's box, where Elmer had been at a standstill for twenty minutes.

"Elmer," I said coldly, I have been waiting for half an hour. Will you kindly give me my mail!"
"Elmer's conduct was admirable. . . . He promptly produced from his bag and handed over to me my so highly prized consignment of mail, consisting of one circular. This document I made shift to receive as if it were a communication from the White House and retired with

BOOKS

And Bookmakers

DESERVED SATIRE

Two books that should be amusing to even the most casual and infrequent reader are Dorothy Parker's "Laments for the Living" and Josie Turner's "Elsie Dinwiddie on the Loose."

The former is the first book of prose ever published by that woman satirist. If it is as good as her "Enough Rope" it is plenty good. It is, we understand, fifteen sketches of city types, humorous but scathingly frank. Good luck to Miss Parker. We wish that there were more and better satirists in this serious country of ours.

Miss Turner's book is another satire. It is a scorching take-off on the old Elsie Dinwiddie stories, which many of us have no doubt tried to wade through. What with these two books, "King Man," and "The Great American Curran" the American people should begin to suspect that they are not such "hot stuff" after all.

CALLS BOOK CUT UNSOUND

Houghton Mifflin Company, whose publishing history dates back over three generations, will not join the six New York firms in cutting the price of books to $1 and $1.50 in an effort to remedy the present depression which these houses state they have experienced in their sales.

ALL QUIET

Erich Maria Remarque, of Berlin, expects to visit the United States in the fall. His second novel, a story of the adjustment of the soldier to post-war conditions, will probably be published early in the new year. His "All Quiet on the Western Front" has now sold nearly 3 million copies in the 25 languages in which it is available.

"ON WOMEN"

Susan Ertz, lately author of "The Galaxy," says that she is fed up with the praise bestowed on the members of her sex. "When women have invented an art, a system of philosophy, a science or even a fashion," she remarks wittily, "it will be time for the walk to ring with excited praise."

"A WOMAN must have designed it"

That's what you'll say when you see the marvelous new Estate Gas Range. But really, it was designed by a mere man—to make kitchen hours shorter and happier for the ladies!

Smart, new color Motifs! Ivory and Jade Green, Ivory and Ebony, White and French Gray. New one-piece, removable, easy-to-clean cooking top.

FIRST and most wonderful of all is the Estate Fresh-Air Oven, built like a double-boiler. You know what that means—absolutely uniform heat, absolutely perfect baking results, every time. No more pan shifting. No more oven peeping. No more contrary pies or cakes, rolls or roasts.

You can have the Estate with a Heat-Retaining (Insulated) Oven, too, that helps you keep that cool-girl complexion even on the hottest Summer day.

Then think of these convenient features: Rigidraw smokeless broiler

We'll be more than happy to show you the new 1930 Estate Ranges now on display. And you'll be more than happy to own one, especially since our terms make it so easy for you.

clancy in its ability to create homes.

This Bishop Irving Peake Johnson of the Episcopal diocese of Colorado placed squarely before the twentieth biennial convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs at Denver the problem of where modern youth is going and what can be done about it.

The good bishop and other speakers discussed the tendency of all ages in present-day America to use homes as a place to hang the hat and nothing else.

The members of the much-cussed and discussed younger generation are, of course, just what their elders have made of them.

The problem of juvenile delinquency will never be solved by the school or the church, except as purely intermediate agencies.

Just what is a home for? Most of us perhaps consider it a place where congenial people live and love each other.

"The Seventh Wave" by Maricetta Minnigrode Andrews (Albert and Charles Bond).

The most interesting thing about Mrs. Andrews is that she is the wife of the director of the Corcoran Art Gallery of Washington, D. C.

The next thing is that although she has been able to capture a certain amount of literary fame by her memoirs, which were more interesting than her present novel, she now insists on doing novels.

She is attempting here, so we are told, to picture the sowing of the seeds of moral discontent that flourish in our age.

Well... the boy grows up and wants to be an artist. Finally his grandfather gives in and he goes to Paris.

He settles down to the directing of his estate while his wife who has discovered a Swiss gardener gardens after the old world fashion and organizes garden club after the new world fashion.

FIRST IN BIG SPRING and HOWARD COUNTY Established in 1896 UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

The Chief Issue

MANY ISSUES and more "isms" are being promoted by the gubernatorial candidates.

The most important of these issues, insofar as Howard county is concerned, is the highway department, and proposed methods of financing highway construction.

Howard county stands in an extremely precarious position with reference to state highways. She has, due to untiring efforts of the county commissioners court, a wonderful system of lateral dirt roads.

Few counties of West Texas have the opportunity Howard has of obtaining not only federal but state aid as well for building more than 75 miles of roads.

Many counties have one state-federal road and one state road. We have two state-federal roads, and therefore are entitled to receive two dollars for one for all construction done within the county.

No permanent improvements have ever been made on highway 1 and 9 within Howard county. The asphaltic topping extending a short distance north and south on No. 9 and along No. 1 across the county is not of the permanent type.

In fact, it is identical in texture and thickness with the "squirtop" asphaltic topping the present state highway engineers put on gravel roads to preserve the gravel and smooth the surface.

As a maintenance measure this topping placed in Howard county several years ago has served its purpose well but it was expensive. If the county spent its own money on it, well, it just picked the wrong time to improve its roads.

Every citizen of Howard county, we believe, should favor a plan whereby the state and federal governments would pay the whole cost of building state roads.

This would free the counties from the burden of taxation on real and personal property to retire county road bonds. It would allow counties to spend more money on lateral roads and for other purposes.

West Texas, particularly, would benefit by such a system. Counties out here frequently do not have enough taxpayers or enough tax evaluations to vote bonds to provide the required portion of state road construction costs.

We should pay strict attention to the statements of all candidates with reference to highways. We should favor a change in the financing system.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS: What is a Home For? DURNELL delinquency is merely a confession of adult ineficiency.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Summer Diets: Foods are utilized in the body for two principal purposes: First, as a source of material for growth or the renewal of worn tissues; and secondly, as a source of energy for work.

Since the average adult grows very little, in comparison with the child, his food is principally utilized as a source of energy. Ordinarily less than one-fifth of the total energy content of food is spent in motion, and more than four-fifths in heat production.

The human body tends to maintain a fairly constant level of temperature—98.6-10 degrees Fahrenheit. But that of the surrounding atmosphere in our climate varies in the extremes of many degrees below zero to over 100 degrees.

For this reason we tend to eat more and different foods in winter than in summer.

In summer, the heat requirements of the body are low; often the atmosphere is warmer than normal body temperature. Hence it is logical that the diet in the summer should be lower in calory content than the winter diet.

The average individual depending upon whether he does light or heavy work, varies in his food needs from 3,000 to 4,000 calories per day. Approximately one-third is supplied in the form of proteins and two-thirds in the form of carbohydrates and fats.

Most of the summer diet can be built up out of fruits, fresh vegetables and milk foods. One could find in such a diet a plentiful supply of proteins, sugars and fats as well as the mineral salts and vitamins required for health.

ANN HARDING bid for recognition in "movie society" circles. Friendship here outweighed consideration which usually impel the prospective star benedict to choose another film star for the honor.

Howe and Lyon have been friends ever since Ben made his start in pictures. Howe, older than Ben, advised him, helped to publicize him, and in every way possible furthered his career.

A NEW JANE: Ann Harding will play the title role in the talkie version of Charlotte Bronte's novel, "Jane Eyre," but the Jane of the film will bear only a slight resemblance to the renowned heroine.

The dialog, for one thing, will be more modern in style, the stilted bookish conversation of the novel being obviously impossible for the screen.

Action will be injected, of course, and while the period will remain virtually the same, the time will be advanced from 1849 to 1860, to allow more colorful costuming.

The most notable change, however, will be seen in Jane herself, who will be endowed with more force of character than the original Jane ever knew.

RE-NAMING THE ROSE: That song hit of a few years ago, "The Sheik," almost appeared as "The Rose of Araby." It had been lying on a publisher's shelf some time when someone noticed a news item stating that the novel "The Sheik" had sold amazingly.

Then the publisher, strolling down Broadway, noted the first 24-sheets announcing Valentino in "The Sheik."

That settled it. The "Rose" became the "sheik"—and although the number was not included in the movie's score, it became identified with the picture.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

By ROBBIN COONS: SYNOPSIS: During a visit to London Mary Lou Leslie is learning things about love. She came expressly to see Brynmor Whitmore, her sweetheart of last summer, but he is indifferent toward her.

Brynmor has become enamored of Clarice Day, who dances at the Emerald Dragon. He takes Mary Lou to this night club, then deserts her to talk with Clarice. Overhearing Brynmor's conversation, Mary Lou hears him call her "too darn nice." Police raid the club, and Mary Lou escapes with Tony Titherington, a stranger with whom she has been dancing. Jumping through a window into Tony's flat, she lands in a bath tub full of water.

Tony persuades her to don his pyjamas and bathe while her clothes dry. She tells Tony how she believed in Brynmor's love, and resolves to have a good time in London despite him. Tony asks her how she intends to do it, and Mary Lou says she doesn't know.

Chapter 4: "Look here," Tony said presently, "I'd like to help you. If I take you out, show you the sights, introduce you to some pals of mine who are good sports, will you do something for me?"

"If I could go back to Frinwood feeling I'd had a really good time, all that I expected and more, I think I'd do anything!" Mary Lou replied.

"It isn't so bad as that," Tony grinned. "I merely want to take you to Surrey to introduce you to my aunt."

Mary Lou was amazed. "Why?" Tony shook a finger at her. "All in good time. Suffice that when you meet aunt Ethelberta, I want you to behave just as you do in whatever is the name of the god-forsaken place you came from, child?"

"Frinwood." "Well, just as you behave in Frinwood, at a vicarage ten." Mary Lou stared at him. "Must I behave like that all the time?"

"Of course not," he smiled. "Only when Aunt Ethelberta's there. With me you can be just as modern as you please."

"I intend to be," she told him. "But—how can I begin?" "Tony smothered a yawn. "Suppose you begin by spending the night here in my flat?" he suggested. "These clothes of yours show no signs of drying. You can curl up on that sofa."

"I couldn't possibly do that." There was horror in her voice. "Well, you can have my bed, since you're so fancy," he told her. "I guess I can manage on the couch."

"Oh, I couldn't stay here anyhow," she insisted. Tony blinked at her sleepily. "Why not? It's the sensible thing to do."

"I—I don't know," she faltered. She glanced nervously toward the door. Tony laughed aloud. "Great Jupiter!" His laughter made Mary Lou feel a fool. "You mean that most girls wouldn't be afraid?" she asked. "Afraid of what?" Tony grinned. "Show me the modern girl who is genuinely afraid of any mere man."

Mary Lou laughed, too. She couldn't help it. Her laughter cleared the air. Her eyes rested on the clock on the mantel shelf. "Heaven!" she exclaimed. "It's four o'clock. Jay will be having a fit. She'll think I'm dead or something." "Who is Jay?" "She's my cousin. I'm staying with her. She and her husband have a studio in Chelsea. What will she think?"

"Give her a ring," suggested Tony. "Explain what's happened." "It's awfully late. I hate to disturb her."

"Well, if she's having a fit she won't be asleep," Tony pointed out. "Here's the jolly old phone book." A sleepy voice answered Mary Lou's call.

"Jay? It's Mary Lou." Jay evidently was struggling to become awake. "Where are you, child?"

"In—m M—" Mary Lou suddenly remembered that she didn't even know Tony's other name. "In a man's flat."

"What are you doing there?" "Waiting for my clothes to dry. I fell in the bath tub."

"How did you fall into the bath? Were you tight?" "Oh, no," quickly. "I—I just slipped in."

"What are you wearing now?" "His—his pyjamas and bathrobe." She blushed.

"Ye gods," from Jay. "And I thought I was entertaining a shy country cousin! I shall have my work cut out in the next few weeks!"

Another pause, and Jay said seriously, "Is he nice, child? You know what I mean."

"Oh, ever so nice," Mary Lou said quickly. "He—he wants me to stay the night here."

"I think I had better give him the once-over," Jay said decisively. "Get straight into a taxi. Mary Lou. Never mind about putting on the wet clothes. No one will notice what you have on at this hour of the morning. By the way, a pal of yours called about an hour or so ago, a tall, handsome fellow, with a black eye. He seemed mighty upset over your conduct tonight. I'll tell you the rest when I see you."

"That was Brynmor," Mary Lou gasped. Her amazement was tempered by a certain pleasure that Brynmor had bothered to call at Jay's flat. Could he have been so bored with her, after all?

"Now hurry home like a good child," said Jay. "I'll try to stay awake till you get here."

Tony didn't demur when Mary Lou told him the outcome of the conversation.

"I heard you giving me a good character," he grinned. She didn't reply. They gathered her damp clothes into a bundle, and Tony called a cab.

"At any rate," murmured Tony, when they were almost to Chelsea, "if you hadn't fallen into that bath tub we wouldn't have reached our agreement about my taking you to

WALL STREET ECHO HEARD IN RITZ PLAY

Echoes of the recent Wall Street catastrophe may be heard in William Haines' newest all-talking picture, "The Girl Said No," which opens today at the Ritz Theatre, and in which the comedian has the role of a boy fresh from college who tries to crash the portals of New York's financial market.

Information is that the new picture, which was adapted by A. F. Younger from an original story by Sarah T. Mason, is a sequel to the latter's "Brown of Harvard," which first brought Haines into the limelight as one of the screen's most successful comedians. The dialogue was written by Charles MacArthur, co-author of the famous hit, "The Front Page," and comedy interpolations were supplied by Robert Hopkins.

Leila Hyams Prominent in Haines' supporting cast are Leila Hyams, who played opposite him in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," the well known comedy pair of Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., who continues the role of Haines' Nemesis which he created in "Brown of Harvard," Clara Blanche, William Janney, Junior Coghlan, Phyllis Crane and William V. Wong.

The picture was directed by Sam Wood, whose most recent productions were "So This is College," and the Dunean Sisters' talking debut, "It's a Great Life."

It is said that Haines' new picture combines comedy with a good proportion of straight acting and includes even a share of pathos with which forte the work of the young comedian may seem, on the face of it, wholly unrelated. However, those who are intimately conversant with Haines' abilities testify to his prowess in the straight dramatic field, which it has been said, has not yet been altogether revealed to the movie-going public but which the producers are said to be saving as a grand surprise.

Original Plot The plot of "The Girl Said No" is concerned with the hilarious career of a young man following his graduation from college and entry into the business world. The smart alec wise-cracks himself not only out of a number of jobs but also out of a romance with a secretary in a Wall Street brokerage office with whom he has fallen desperately in love. It is only the crisis brought about by the death of his father which makes our hero realize the boob he is and he promptly sets himself to the task of supporting his mother, sister and brothers and regaining the confidence of his beloved, who has just about reconciled herself to marrying the man who had always been his stumbling block in college and is that again in business. How this somewhat startling reformation is brought about with a subsequent kidnapping of the heroine at the threshold of her marriage to the villain, is reported to make up a fresh and extremely amusing comedy.

Advance reports of this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production have it that Haines has never been seen to better advantage, not only in the comedy scenes but particularly in the more serious family sequences.

FAIRBANKS AND PICKFORD COMING TO QUEEN THEATRE, IN "TAMING OF THE SHREW"

When a beautiful girl encounters a legitimate proposal of marriage tendered by a handsome young man with such a statement as "I'll see thee hanged," things are bound to happen.

And happen they do in "Taming of the Shrew" which comes to the Queen theatre Monday and Tuesday as the feature attraction, and likewise brings Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks to the screen together for the first time.

From the opening shot to the final fadeout, "Taming of the Shrew" is just one long, glorious laugh. From the first moment gay but

'REDEMPTION' WITH GILBERT WILL BE HERE

"Redemption," an all-talking adaptation of Leo Tolstoy's drama, "The Living Corpse," will open Wednesday at the Ritz theatre with John Gilbert in the starring role and Renee Adoree, Conrad Nagel, Eleanor Boardman and Claire McDevell in important supporting parts.

The Russian work, which achieved considerable success on the American stage with John Barrymore and more recently with the German actor, Alexander Moissi, was prepared for screen purposes by Edwin Justus Mayer. The direction was handled by Fred Niblo, who will be remembered as the creator of "Ben Hur," and who guided the steps of Greta Garbo in her first American production, "The Torrent."

Information is that the picture is one of the most expensive to come out of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, the lavish scenes necessitating construction of mammoth sets and a wealth of intimate detail which, it is reported, follows to the smallest item actual conditions of the period in which the events of the story is laid. In this connection, it is said that Mrs. Natalie Buknail, M-G-M research expert, spent several months in investigating Russian characteristics of that period in an effort to gain realistic atmosphere and that true Russian feeling was further insured through the services of Alexander Toluboff, Moscow architect, who supervised construction of interiors.

The story of "Redemption" centers about the tragedy of a Russian officer who despite love for his wife, is drawn away from his domestic happiness through the pull of a gypsy heredity. Gilbert plays the officer, Miss Boardman the wife, Renee Adoree the gypsy girl who lures him to his downfall and Nagel, the man to whom the deserted wife finally turns.

Among items of the picture, which are said to be as unusual as they are spectacular, are a ride over the snows in a racing sleigh, a grim courtroom suicide, the strange dances of the gypsies in their mystic ceremonies and a brilliant Orthodox Russian wedding taking place in an old cathedral with the clergy in elaborate robes, the formal procession, sacred icons and other significant details.

BYRD'S POLE EXPEDITION IS SEEN IN FILM

The daring flight of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd across the South Pole is only one of the feats of daring and heroism captured by the Paramount cameraman who brought "With Byrd at the South Pole," a thrilling picture of adventure, to the United States. The feature film, which will show at the Ritz Theatre, starting Friday, is a continuous drama, filled with adventure, humor, thrills and romance.

Never before has such a colorful pictorial record been spread on the screen. More than 30 miles of film were required to perfect it. From the moment Rear Admiral Byrd and his intrepid band of explorers stubborn Petruchio (Douglas Fairbanks) lays eyes upon his bride-to-be, the stormy, tempestuous Katherine (Mary Pickford) there ensues a battle of wits and wills. Loving her fiery temper, and intrigued by her defiant remark, "I'll see thee hanged," Petruchio sets about unconsciously to tame the Shrew. To make things more complicated, he employs the very tactics that have won her the cognomen of "wildcat" throughout all Italy. How she resists, and how the ultimate solution is worked out could only be told by Shakespeare.

In this screen story of the Bard's immortal comedy, brought to the screen for the first time in the history of motion pictures by Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, every bit of sensational dialogue, comedy and striking situation has been left intact throughout production. This was accomplished by Sam Taylor, the man who directed "Taming of the Shrew," and before that, "Coquette," which established Miss Pickford as one of the greatest emotional actresses the screen has ever seen.

Taylor succeeded in retaining all the humanness which characterizes Shakespeare's works, and yet enhanced the scope of the play through the medium of the motion picture camera.

Critics who have seen the "Taming of the Shrew" hail it as an achievement in sound-recording, thanks to the innovations supplied by David Forrest, who was responsible for the microphone work on "Coquette."

Among the featured players who support the two stars in the comedy are Joseph Cawthorn, Clyde Cook, Dorothy Jordan, Geoffrey Wardwell and Edwin Maxwell.

landed in the unknown region at the "bottom of the world," until they started the final trek for home, the life they lead, the sights they saw, the thrills they experienced are in this film for everybody to wonder and marvel at.

Byrd's race to the South Pole was a race against time, the terrific cold and the appalling terrors of the Antarctic winter. For seven weeks the adventurers waited while cloud and fog blanketed the sky. Then came twenty hours of clear weather, and, in this twenty-hour, Byrd, with three companions, made the daring flight across the pole and back to the comparatively safe base. They covered a distance of 1,680 miles and during the flight, faced dangers such as few men have lived through.

Even before this thrilling race started, the Byrd men had to win a race against the terrific cold. The plane had to be made ready. Engine oil, always removed at the end of a flight to keep it from congealing in the crankcase, had to be heated to a boiling point in one of the houses. The airplane motors, covered with thick canvas hoods, were heated by means of gasoline torches placed under them. It took two hours to bring the engines to the proper degree of heat to take the boiling oil. The temperature was 65 degree below zero.

When the motors were warmed, a shout was sent for the oil man. Such incidents, exciting and real, are parts of the picture Paramount has captured. "With Byrd at the South Pole," Wilford Vanderveer, Paramount cameraman with the expedition says "It was an amazing experience to live through. Now, when I see it on the screen, it is more amazing than ever."
