A MASTERPIECE OF SCIENCE

This is the first view of the 200-inch telescope mirror, the greatest "eye" of science, since it was poured at Corning, N. Y., last March. The mirror, partly cooled, is shown inside a beehive where its surface recently was remitted to smooth out some of the rough spots. Preparations are being made to cast a second "eye," the twin of this one. (Associated Press Photo)

Committeemen Get Bankhead Forms

Community committeemen of Howard and Glascock counties were given a supply of forms and last minute instructions here Thursday before they went about the work of actually taking applications under the Bankhead Act. Although there was not a full supply of necessary blanks, C. M. Weaver, administrative assistant to County Agent O. P. Griffin, said that the committeemen would be able to begin work of taking applications at once. The photo was taken from an altitude of about 5000 feet, showing the three runways running east and west, north and south and southeast and northwest. The hangars and administration buildings can easily be seen, as well as the Broadway of America highway. This is the second of a series of air views of Big Spring and vicinity which are being published by The Herald.

Raymond Fischer Heads Aviation Committee Here

The aviation committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce composed of R. W. Fischer, Cecil Westerman, Dr. P. W. Malone, Homer McNew, Carroll George, Ray Wilcox, Joe Galbraith, R. B. Ellis and Lester Fisher, met Friday morning for breakfast at Hotel Settles. A business session was held, and several matters pertaining to aviation were taken up, including a campaign to stimulate the use of airmail service and joining other West Texas cities in forming another air route between Houston, San Antonio, San Angelo, Big Spring, Lubbock and Amarillo. C. T. Watson, manager of the local chamber, was instructed to write other chambers of commerce interested in forming the new line, with a view of calling a meeting in Big Spring at a future date to discuss ways and means of establishing the line. Several cities along the proposed route have signified their interest in establishing such a line, it was brought out. It was suggested that a large sign be placed at the Big Spring airport to advertise Big Spring to airway passengers who pass over the city. Another plan was suggested to stimulate use of airmail service by the placing of stickers on letters urging use of air mail. Raymond W. Fischer, manager of American Airlines station in Big Spring, was elected permanent chairman of the aviation committee.

The commissioners court will meet August 14 for a hearing on the budget.

Troops Ordered Demobilized As Guard Increased

Adjutant General Declares He Will Carry Out Orders Of Governor O. K. Allen

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Surrounded by guns of the mobilized national guard at Jackson Barracks, Adjutant General Raymond H. Fleming Friday replied to the civil district court order for dismissal of troops by directing his officers to fortify their positions. Sentries at the gateway of the barracks refused the civil sheriff access to command of the state militia when the sheriff sought to serve the court order on him.

The court order calling for demobilization of troops, summoned to duty in the bitter factional dispute between political forces of Senator Huey Long and Mayor T. Semmes Walmesley of New Orleans, was obtained Thursday by the city attorney. Meanwhile, national guard officers sent a fresh detachment of militia into the city voting registration office, held by force of arms since last Monday night, and unloaded additional machine guns at the office, just across the street from the city hall.

When asked if he intended defying the civil district court order, Fleming said, "I am going to carry out orders of Governor O. K. Allen."

WASHINGTON BY IKA BENNETT Talk

Operations of the second Federal Export-Import bank are extended to all countries except Soviet Russia. George N. Peek, president, outlines terms upon which the bank will assist exporters. It is assumed that the enlarged scope of this bank will dovetail in with expected increase of exports resulting from new reciprocity deals. That's the scheme. But hard-headed exporters can't see any benefits. In the first place, they get help—theoretically—from the Federal bank only if commercial banks fall down—and when a commercial bank refuses credit on sound business there's a reason. Peek makes it pretty plain between the lines that if commercial banks refuse credit he will be mighty chary in granting it. He might be killed in the political rush if he hadn't that alibi.

Mary O'Dare Is Jailed At Wichita Falls

Sharp Cut In County Tax Rate Recommended By County Judge

A sharp cut in the county tax rate and a material reduction in valuations will be recommended to the county commissioners court by County Judge H. R. Debenport when he files his new budget estimates, it was learned authoritatively Friday. His recommendation will call for a tax rate out of 15 cents, leaving the new rate 90 cents. His budget figures will also suggest that valuations be trimmed by at least three-quarters of a million dollars to approximately $12,000,000 for the county. If his recommendations are accepted (and in all probability they will be on major items of the budget) it will mark the fifth cut in the county tax rate within the past seven years. In 1928 the rate stood at $1.44. The following year it was trimmed to $1.20 and in 1930 it slid below a dollar to 96 cents. From there it was cut to 75 cents where it stayed during 1931-32. In 1933 it was reduced to 65 and the new budget will call for 15 cents to come off that. During this same time, valuations have also been gradually cut. Indications were Friday that Judge Debenport would complete his proposed budget in time to file it with the county clerk Saturday afternoon. It was understood that the document does not call for any curtailment of charitable functions, but does recommend a salary re-

Benny Wilson, Abilene's wrestling terror, blew into town Thursday with ideas for boosting the bone-bending game here. He was accompanied by Ross Williams, a backer, promoter, or something of the sort, and a fellow named Swendell, a wrestler from the University of Nebraska. The trio spent the afternoon here in search of a suitable location to construct an open air arena. Wilson was very much pleased over the possibilities here, declaring Big Spring was an ideal spot. He was, however, critical of the methods used here in the past in promoting wrestling.

Casey Jones (Eralie Gross) tried it for a while but wasn't long in packing up and skipping out. His promotional ideas didn't go over with the populace. Even the wrestlers he brought in here objected to his tactics. Wilson said he understood Casey wrestled in Fort Worth about three weeks ago. The department never saw Casey in action but he talked a fine battle.

The department had quite an argument over last night's game when Umpire Bob Shires made a very bad decision. A base runner interfered with the fielder and Shires called him safe. He was wrong. ### 'Schoolboy' Rowe's Return To Form Big Factor In Tigers Pennant Drive

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series of six articles on the brilliant pennant dash being made by the Detroit Tigers.

By EARL J. HILLIGAN

LYNWOOD'SCHOOLBOY' ROWE

DETROIT (AP)—"I'm agoin' to win 30 games this year, yea sir!" Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, 21 years old, six feet, four inches tall, 205 pounds, grinned confidently in the manner befitting the youngest member of a pennant-aspiring major league baseball team and one of the team's leading pitchers.

"The Detroit Tigers are agoin' to win that American league pennant," the Schoolboy added, "and I'm agoin' to go everything I can to help."

The Schoolboy wasn't boasting. His statement that he will win 20 games echoes the estimate of Manager Mickey Cochrane on the amount of winning the tall youngster who learned his pitching in the grade schools at Eldorado, Ark., will do in his second year in the major leagues. The Schoolboy already has won more than half the number.

Arm Once Thought 'Gone'

Rowe signed with the Tigers when he was 15 years old and in the eighth grade. After seasoning with Beaumont in the Texas league, he came north with the Tigers and great things were expected of him.

Then one afternoon last summer, playing against the Philadelphia Athletics, he fielded a bunt and whipped a fast throw to first. Something in his arm seemed to snap, he said, and this spring his arm ce-tinued to bother him.

Manager Cochrane, despairing of any chance of Rowe recovering, planned to send him back to Beaumont. The expected loss of Rowe was a blow to the Tigers, who felt Rowe was a coming star.

Then came the return to form which Cochrane now says is one of the biggest reasons the Tigers are serious pennant contenders. Rowe is one of three Tiger pitchers who had notched at least 10 victories before the end of July.

NEWSIES WIN GAME 10 TO 7

The Herald Type Line tamed the league leading Lions 10 to 7 Thursday after playing an extra inning.

The victory puts the How in a tie with the Lions for first place, and gives nearly any team a chance to take last half honors.

The teams went into the eighth inning tied 7-7. The Newsies went to bat first and put across three runs. Savage and Jackson got on base and Savage scored on an out by Arnold.

Hart reached first safely, advanced on a weak by Burison, and sped home what McMahon got a clean hit.

The Newsies had little trouble in holding the Lions in their half of the eighth.

Arnold cracked a hard one down the foul line for the Newsies in the sixth that went for a triple. The Herald got eight hits and the Lions four. McMahan, Hartz, Kitcher, walked twice and got two hits out of five trips to the plate. Day, twirling for the Lions, got up three times and got two hits.

The score by innings: Herald... 202 003 03-10 Lions... 108 102 10-7 Batteries: Herald—McMahan and Jackson; Lions—Day and McDaniel.

ever goes bad, I sure am agoin' to work my head off to get in the apple. Say, mister, that's the fun outfield," Rowe says, revealing his pride in a batting average of close to .300 and the fact that Manager Cochrane uses him occasionally as a pinch-hitter.

"Outfieldin' means you can step up to that old plate three times, sometimes four and five times a day and take your cut at that old apple. Say, mister, that's the fun of baseball!" Rowe is just a big, likeable kid to his teammates. He pitches best when interested, and Manager Cochrane, knowing Rowe likes to pitch in front of crowds, sent him against the Yanks twice in their recent "crucial" series, the Schoolboy winning both games.

NRA TURNS TO CODE ADMINISTRATION

Announcement by NRA in Washington of three new policies to govern code operation emphasizes again the manner in which the administration is transferring its activities from code formulation and directing its effort to code administration. The new policies, adopted under the general principle of trial and error, will vitally affect the averaging of maximum work hours, classification of customers unless codes and the basis for valuation of materials.

The new policies indicate clearly by the present trend under NRA. As long ago as the general code conference held in Washington last March General Johnson stated that renewed effort must be given to code administration as one by one the industries of the country came under approved codes.

These changes that are being made in the administration of codes in general and in particular provisions of individual codes justify the claims the NRA has made all along that it did not intend to set up stereotyped covenants as unchanging as the ancient laws of the Medes and Persians. On the contrary, the aim has been to keep the codes in a fluid state as it were, so that changes could be made wherever it was necessary to promote the unity of interests, represented by the three great parties to the New Deal—capital, labor, and the public.

More far-reaching of course, than minor changes in code operation, which are the forerunners of greater changes to come, is that NRA code drafters are now hastening the work of completing codes for remaining uncodified industries and grouping the residue under the basic code designed to cover all that have not been brought under specific regulations.

HUMANITY TAKES HOLD OF JUVENILE JUSTICE

There is a certain large American city which possesses an enlightened and active juvenile court. Not long ago one of the city's newspapers set out to compare the way youthful offenders are handled by this court with the way similar offenders were handled before the court was established.

What was learned is worth repeating here as an object lesson.

Consider the case of Jimmie, for instance; Jimmie, the 11-year-old who kept running away from home and who said he was going to go on doing it.

The juvenile court authorities had a talk with Jimmie. They found out that he ran away from home, very simply, because he was unhappy there. He felt that he wasn't getting the breaks; his older brothers lay abed late and had nothing to do after they did get up, but Jimmie was routed out at 6 every morning and kept at a routine of household drudgery all day long. He had no time to play and he got precious little love or attention.

So the court's first step was to give Jimmie a room in the juvenile detention home—a clean, up-to-date building surrounded by playgrounds and equipped with books, toys, and so on, not in the least like a jail.

While Jimmie stayed there, enjoying life for a change, court officers went to his home and began

Boston Whips Giants 8 To 0

Ed Brandt, Southpaw, Stops Giants Sluggers In Their Tracks

BOSTON—Ed Brandt, veteran Boston southpaw, stopped the Giants sluggers in their tracks Thursday while the Braves blasted out an 8 to 0 victory to gain an even break in the four-game series.

Brandt gave only two hits and allowed only three men to reach first as he joined Lon Warneke and Dizzy Dean in the select list of pitchers who have whitewashed the Giants this season.

BUCK E. GINCY 3

CINCINNATI—Loose pitching and poor fielding cooperated Thursday to let the Pittsburgh Pirates trounce the Cincinnati Reds, 13-0. Hafey's fifteenth home run of the season, a drive in the seventh that hit the roof of a house across the street, did the Reds little good.

CHIEFS 6, ST. LOUIS 2

CHICAGO—The Cubs defeated St. Louis, 6-2 Thursday to take the series, two games to one, and cut the Giants' lead over them to three games. Woody English hit homer for the Cubs. Bill Lee scattered nine Cardinal hits for his season's ninth victory.

DODGERS 8, PHILS 0

BROOKLYN—A home run by Al Lopez in the ninth after the Phillies had rallied in the same inning the job of straightening out things with his parents so that, when he came back, he could have something like a fair break in the division of family duties.

The reporter who learned all of this, having seen how a lad like Jimmie fares when an enlightened and conscientious juvenile court looks after him then tried to find out what used to happen to such boys a decade or more ago, before the court was functioning.

The contrast is enlightening.

Ten years ago the cop who picked Jimmie up would have lugged him off to jail, forthwith. The only questioning he got would have been from policemen; he would have spent some time in an unclean cell, in close proximity to drunks, aged vagabonds, pickpockets and all the other bits of human driftwood that land in the police lockup.

Eventually he would have gone back home—carrying a stigma. His parents would have paddled him, the neighborhood children would have teased him, nothing would have been done to alleviate his unpleasant home conditions—and, in all probability, by this time he would have developed into a full-fledged outlaw, an enemy to society made bitter by society's injustice.

An ounce of prevention, they say is worth a pound of cure. A juvenile court which keeps unfortunately-placed youngsters from growing up into crooks is worth, to the city which supports it, infinitely more than it can possibly cost.

"I also note what you have to say about the teams who are in a winning streak having no trouble getting players, whereas the other teams can't get enough players to play a game. I believe this situation could be remedied by having an "All Star League." In lieu of the usual practice games, why not have a schedule of games arranged between teams of No. 1 and 2, calling it the above league and register the standings. This will create more interest than a practice game. A team at the bottom in either league, have a chance at the top position in the "All Star League, or at least a chance to improve their position.

"I also believe the swapping about of players could be remedied if a judge or enforcer was selected for each league, selecting him from amongst the fans. Have each manager of every team fill the names of his players with him. Before a game this enforcer could check the line-up of the individual teams with his list. If any ineligible players are in the line-up he could immediately have them removed. This method in my estimation would put "finks" to this swapping of players.

"With the kind regards and appreciating your interest in this sport called "Soft Ball", I am,

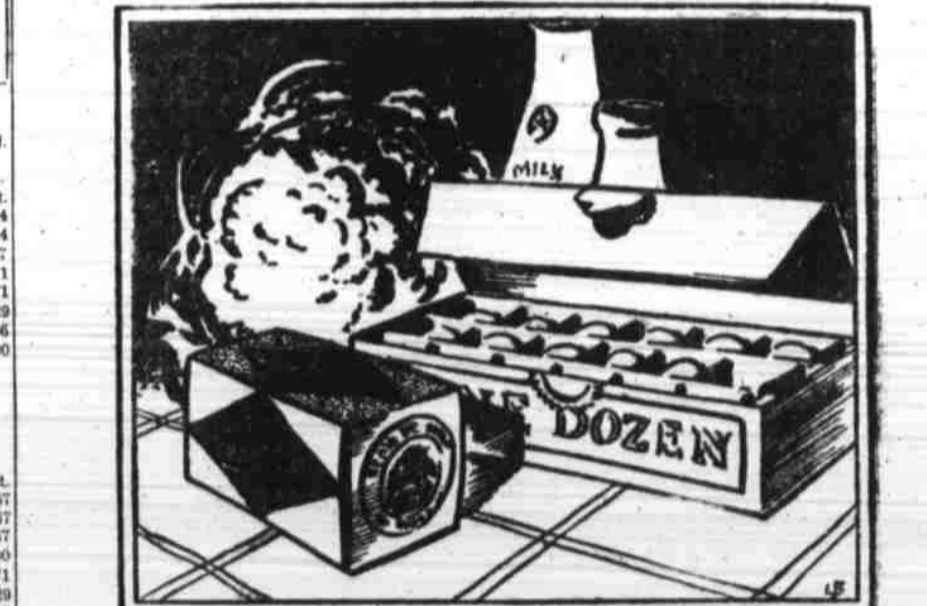

Yours truly,
Jimmie Storm.

This department did not say that the protest was lodged with Storm, we did not even know that he was managing the team. The Settles manager protested to the umpire, the correct thing to do. Under the circumstances we feel that Jimmie was not to blame. He did not know who was signed up and simply played the team sent out.

Some managers have mistaken ideas that it is no longer necessary to sign players. If it is necessary to use a player not signed the team must have an understanding with the opposing club. Too, there must not be over eighteen players on the roster. One thing that would get some of the teams is the use of too many players under 21 years of age.

to tie the score gave the Dodgers an 8 to 7 victory over the Phillies Thursday and returned them to sixth place in the standing.

Founder Buys Back Clovis, N. M., Paper

CLOVIS, N. M., (AP)—J. Lindsay Nunn of Amarillo, president of the New Mexico Publishing company, announced the sale of the Clovis Evening News-Journal to Mack Stanton, founder of the News-Journal.

Through the sale, Nunn said, the Nunn interests withdraw from New Mexico. Nunn and his son, Gilmore, former publishers of the Roswell Morning Dispatch and Carlsbad Current-Argus, will now devote their time to their Pampa and Childress, Texas, publications and Nunn Electric company in Amarillo and Wichita.

Stanton, who will take charge Aug. 15, organized the News-Journal in 1928. He has announced there will be no change in staff for the present.

Toy Plane Companies Thrive

CLEVELAND, (UP)—Two Cleveland concerns manufacture model airplanes, putting the city in front rank of making the products, which have superseded those of the days when youngsters twisted toothpicks, tissue paper and rubber bands into queer contraptions. One of the companies, the Peerless Model Airplane company, was founded by Lee Howell, now only 18, who started the company four years ago with 15 cents capital and a ball of twine.

Open Air Meeting At Church Of Christ Begins Sunday Nite

MELVIN J. WISE

An open air gospel meeting at the Church of Christ, Fourteenth and Main streets, will begin Sunday evening at 8:15 p. m., with Melvin J. Wise, minister, doing the preaching. Services will be held on the vacant lot adjoining the church building. The meetings will continue for two weeks, Minister Wise said.

Singing services will precede each service. Minister Wise, who has been in Big Spring for two years, cordially invites the public to attend each and every service during the meetings.

JUAREZ, Mexico (UP)—It was an amazing record, and Juarez officials still are talking about it. A check of the police court docket on July 4 showed the name of not a single American. It was the first Fourth of July, officials said, since the advent of American prohibition 15 years ago that at least one American did not spend the day in the Juarez jail for drunkenness.

$300,000 Left By Marie Dressler

HOLLYWOOD—The estate of Marie Dressler, veteran actress who died last Saturday, was estimated conservatively at $300,000 by Attorney P. B. Bradner, who was to file her will Thursday.

Miss Dressler left $35,000 to a servant, Mammie Cox, who also was given all the actress' apparel except jewelry. To Jerry Cox went $15,000 and the Dressler car.

Numerous personal friends were bequeathed jewelry or sums of from $2,000 to $5,000 and many unpaid notes were returned marked "canceled."

The residue of the estate goes to Miss Dressler's sister, Bonita G. Anthony.

Watered Trees Lose Leaves

PROVO, Utah (UP)—Even though trees are well watered, they will lose their leaves under the relentless rays of a 100 degree sun, conditions here indicate. Carolina poplars, growing in the bank of an irrigation ditch, already are dropping their foliage. Residents believe the scorching sun is the cause of the "early autumn" fire the ditch is filled with water.

Strong Trade Position Will Protect U.S.

Survey Reveals Country Has Little To Fear In Foreign Commerce

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY
United Press Financial Correspondent
WASHINGTON, (UP) — America's already strong trade position, broad bargaining powers given President Roosevelt, and the revival of world trade will assure the United States continued leadership in the foreign commerce of the world in the opinion of administration leaders and important business interests.

The No. One position of the United States as the world's largest exporter of goods is not believed threatened by the series of "trade wars" in various sections of the country, or by the encroachment of cheap Japanese, or other foreign goods, on the domestic and foreign United States markets.

After leading the export nations of the world in the volume of foreign exports for many years, the United States, according to official figures, further has increased its gains since the start of the current year. United States exports through April were 52 per cent ahead of a year ago, compared with a gain of only 26 per cent by Japan, its nearest competitor.

Slight Inroads by Japan
Some inroads on American trade by cheaper Japanese goods have been admitted, but the United States had more than made up for these losses elsewhere. Germany at the present time appears to be the largest loser of foreign trade, but still maintains third place in the leading export nations of the world.

It was pointed out in responsible circles that there is little fear of Japanese domination of world trade. President Roosevelt, in addition to the huge resources of the United States, has ample power through reciprocal trade bargaining powers, to secure important agreements for trade with other nations of the world, and thus offset any alarming foreign inroads on American trade.

Export Statistics
A measure of the ability of the United States to push its export market in the face of adverse world economic conditions is shown in the following export statistics gathered by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States:

EXPORTS	1st Quarter 1934	1st Quarter 1933	Gain
Coal, coke	3,722,400,000	2,706,000,000	37.6%
Crude petroleum	2,503,947,000	1,722,362,000	24.4
Gas, fuel oil	1,874,440,000	1,386,032,000	35.2
Unmanufactured cotton	1,045,387,000	993,306,000	5.2
Iron, steel scrap	783,359,000	285,524,000	163.9
Boards, planks	741,695,000	587,864,000	26.2
Fertilizers	647,405,000	451,468,000	42.4

No fear of foreign invasion of American world markets is shown in the following conclusions of 1933 world trade drawn by Edward L. Bacher, manager of the Foreign Commerce Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States:

"One — Our domestic exports still exceed those of any nation, and we still occupy second place among the importing nations of the world.

"Two — So far as quantity comparisons are available we rank well with the importing exporting and importing nations of the world in the degree of our foreign trade improvement in 1933 over 1932.

"Three — On an actual quantity basis a majority of our export and import lines have shown a distinct improvement over 1932 and a strong upward movement toward the higher levels of the five year average."

HEAVY GAINS IN VOLUME OF AIR MAIL CARRIED IS NOTED

FORT WORTH.—Heavy gains each week in the volume of air mail handled at Fort Worth division airport postoffice since the new 6 cent-rate went into effect July 1 are shown in figures released Thursday by Clint C. Taylor, superintendent of railways mail service, Eleventh Division. The first week in July the total volume handled was 4,220 pounds while the last week's total was 4,857, a gain of 627 pounds.

Of the six air mail lines radiating out of Fort Worth, American Airlines Southern transcontinental route, Los Angeles to New York which serves Big Spring, carried the greater bulk of July's total air mail which was approximately 20,000 pounds, Mr. Taylor said. Eastbound planes out of Los Angeles and westbound planes out of New York bring in daily cargoes of mail to be assorted at the division postoffice here and dispatched on outgoing planes. These fly to Brownsville with connections for Mexico City; Houston and Galveston; Atlanta and Charleston, S. C.; Wichita Falls and Amarillo; Kansas City and Chicago; Oklahoma City, Tulsa and St. Louis; Little Rock, Memphis, Nashville and Cleveland, O.; and intermediate points.

"The increase in volume of air mail each week in July over the preceding week indicates the growing popularity of this service under the new 6 cent flat-rate," said Mr. Taylor. "It is gratifying to postal officials to note that business interests of the southwest, as elsewhere, are patronizing this service more and more as they become better acquainted with its advantages. Already the use of the service is about back to normal and we expect the reduced rate eventually to build it up to proportions it has never reached before."

Miller Brothers Locate Tire Store In Big Spring

Miller Bros. Tire company, dealers in Federal tire products, have opened a branch store in Big Spring, having secured the building at 212 East Third street, where a full line of Federal products has been stocked. Tom Slaughter, well-known Big Spring citizen, has been named manager for the local store.

Miller Brothers have their central store in San Angelo.

WASHINGTON, Mo. (UP) — A 1,000-foot hole drilled here, 50 years ago by citizens hoping to strike coal, is furnishing Washington with water since the hot weather dried up streams and springs. The deep hole, uncovered by an old-time resident, who remembered it had filled up with water before being cemented, furnishes enough for almost the whole town.

Miss Nell Hatch left Friday morning with a party of local persons who are seeing the Caribad caverns at Caribad, N. M., and expects to return with them Sunday.

TOOK PILLS FOR YEARS THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Corrected His Constipation

If you are troubled by common constipation, read this letter:

"Just a word in appreciation of what your ALL-BRAN has done for my health. For years, I had been doping myself with pills and other dopes for constipation.

"I decided to try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Now I am in good health, and haven't taken a drop of medicine for six months." — Thos. F. Little, 564 E. Wheeling St., Lancaster, Ohio.

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness — any one of these may be caused by common constipation. Yet this condition can be corrected, usually, by eating a delicious cereal.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to help promote regularity. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much safer than patent medicines! Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal.

If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-green packages. Get ALL-BRAN and not a part-bran product. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SPITE MARRIAGE

by Katherine Haveland Taylor

Chapter 24 THE DECISION

Bob crushed his cigarette to a fireless, corrugated, and frowning, and hands clasped, and frowning, and turned thumbs, a quarrel, into words. "I've been considering every phase of it," he confided. "I've walked about a good deal since luncheon time. I left mother then. I thought of what it might mean to you, this hold up. I don't want to hurt you."

"It is what I want," she told him. Again she met his bewildered, questioning look. "Suppose," he suggested bluntly, "Tarleton tires of waiting for you? Of course, you could explain, but—"

"You need not consider that," she assured him and a little bitterly. "It won't be," he paused to rub a clinging strand of tobacco from his lip, and then, able to speak again, he continued with: "More than a year. Of course," his voice was unsteady, sharp, "it would be vastly better for her to die believing a lie of us. Could you, do you think, without too much wrong to yourself, to your chances for happiness—marry it?"

"I could! I will! I wish you could believe that I want to! That I want nothing so much!" she replied. For a moment he covered his face with his big, thin, tanned hands.

"I'll never be able to thank you for it," she heard. She smiled; she was, she felt, thanked disproportionately for that which she longed to do; thanked by his trust and by his asking her to do something for him.

"His hands dropped. "You will stay with mother," he said, and as if he were issuing an order. "I have to finish my work; no one else can; but I'll go right along and hurry it through to come back. I have decided that's sweet. And I shall trust you not to do anything that might make her suspect the truth. You can tell Tarleton why you're going so cautiously and afterward—make it up."

"It is not necessary for you to think of that . . . of Geoff as being, in any way, connected with me!" she responded; her cheeks hot, her voice unsteady.

"We need have nothing to do with one another save before her," Bob stated, without heeding Marsha's outbreak.

Her anger died. "I quite understand," she said fully. "An occasional two, and gentle words," he murmured, "necessary, those pretenses." A muscle at the corner of his mouth twitched. To pretend these frail signposts to all that he had left, to lose his two women at one time. "I am a weakling," he thought:

"I'm letting it down me!" "I understand, Bob." "It may not be very long," he said again.

She leaned toward him to lay her hand upon his. "Oh, Bob!" she said. He felt her sorrow for him and it almost melted him; but he saw, too, that "rehabilitation," the one that had ended his ecstasy for him, Marsha in Tarleton's arms; Tarleton's lips crushed against hers. His rose bravely to leave her.

She heard the door of his room close against her, but he had asked her help and she had that fact to treasure and she would help him and live in his house. And dream of him as having lived in it. And dream too of how he had loved her, and know how she loved him. And how she could love him with ever the chance for it again.

But faint, that chance! His square, firm chin! And how she loved it, and him!

The next mid-day found her settled in the Powers house and by the tea hour she could see the way she was to follow.

"When are you going to start for Mexico?" she asked of Bob that evening when they were, for a moment, alone.

"When I am certain you know the way around," he answered. "You trust me?" she questioned. "I am going to trust you," he said, and almost grimly.

The mirthless smile she was learning, a smile that had roots in pain, appeared at that.

"People deal so," she commented, "with had little children and morose to whom evil suggestion means evil action. But you don't need to build up this particular part of me. You can trust me without being dramatic about it and without assuring me—a bit too loudly—that you will trust me. As it happens, I am having a chance to play the role I most want to play."

She was used to women who looked upon her with fear or a thinly veiled scorn, and to those who looked away from her or over her from intention, but she was not used to any woman's looking at her with a smile that revealed an absolute trust.

This did something to her that produced an emotion utterly unlike any she had ever had before. It made her say, two days after she had taken up abode in the old Powers' house, "I wish you wore lace or buttoned shoes!"

"And why, dear?" asked Mrs. Powers, as she looked up from her endless knitting.

"Because I feel that I would like very much to lace or button them."

"Because I feel that I would like very much to lace or button them," Mrs. Powers smiled because Marsha was smiling, but she thought, as she considered the quality of Marsha's smile, that Marsha was much upset over Bob's coming departure. After Mrs. Powers smiled, she answered in a way Marsha would have once termed "appallingly stuffy!"

"I am afraid, if I did wear either of those kinds instead of low slippers, Hannah would want to lace mother, could not quite understand. There was a curious easy falling into adjustment. None of the jealousy which will sometimes live in the hearts of the best of mothers, was left to the faded, fading woman; all petty emotion was crowded from her by the vast relief which rose from the fact that Robert would not be "lonely."

Marsha left him much alone with his mother. She made him find it easy to meet her. She became, through her will, the kind, unerring tactful stranger, unless Mrs. Powers were near, and then, she became his wife.

Those were his most difficult moments. The skill with which she

Whirligig

velopments from the tariff deals. At the same time he throws cold water on the plans of southerners to develop a home paper industry.

Mordcaid favors imports of pulp so that foreigners can buy American cotton and farm goods. He doesn't seem to think a southern paper industry would be "efficient" and if an American industry isn't efficient it's to be sacrificed to foreign industry according to the new tariff deal.

"Give foreigners all the American market possible, so that they can buy American farm products," is the theory. Men interested are anxious to head off the threatened slaughter of the businesses from which they hope to make profits. They are handicapped in organizing because no one yet knows who is to be slaughtered first.

Relief

Corrington Gill, acting Relief Administrator, is spending $300,000 to find out who are on relief rolls; why; whether they're capable of work; whether relief has made them hate work; whether somebody in the family can work; what kind of relief should be provided for those who can't work; etc.

Twenty-six hundred agents are gathering this information in 86 key areas. The information will be digested and made intelligible by October.

Until that time Federal Relief must go hippity-hop, trying to relieve everybody and scattering a lot of money in the process. "There's disagreement as to the figures all along the line. The A. F. of L. says 8,499,000 persons were without work of any sort on July 1. The National Industrial Conference Board estimates a half million less. Most of these are getting relief of some kind. Over 15,000,000 persons are getting relief, not counting drought victims."

Jobs

The FERA doesn't seem to be solving the question of unemployment. The jobs it gives out are temporary and when the jobs fade out the individuals concerned go on the dole. The A. F. of L. reports that industry's spurt last spring was made without any considerable increase of workers. Now there is a slump in both business and work. FERA accordingly releases more temporary jobs and more dole allowances.

FERA is spending $125,000,000 a month. Administrator Gill is afraid the total will increase and become permanent unless employables in families on the dole can be given live breeding before the number of cattle and hogs in the country gets back to normal. Meanwhile those who raise livestock stand to gain by higher prices—as do the meat packers.

Industry

Canners of vegetables and fruits will put out smaller quantities but any losses in volume will be more than offset by price increases. This industry has had a tendency to overproduce and the automatic curb will be healthy.

Mail order stores will unquestionably take it on the chin for a while. But government aid will prevent undue shrinkage of farm purchasing power and in some districts it will show a net increase. Many farmers who have money have stopped buying because of uncertainty. Once assured the world isn't coming to an end they'll start using their catalogues again. Even by this fall the mail order business should have recouped its current losses.

Automobile sales in affected areas are due to follow the mail order trend at a leisurely distance. They'll be cut to the bone for several months but there's no reason to think the damage is permanent.

The farm machinery business is shot for the rest of 1934 so far as domestic consumption is concerned. Even more normal agricultural conditions should paint a far brighter picture in 1935.

The railroads have more occasion to view with alarm than any other industry. Carriers in the drought country are out of luck on this year's agricultural traffic—and they have fresh wage and pension costs to meet before they can hope for a revival.

Government shipments of relief supplies will be a partial offset but not enough to cheer about. The volume won't begin to cover the grain that isn't shipped and the rates will be lower than usual freight charges. New York comments that the roads never quibbled about giving the government special tariffs—not with the shadow of the I. C. C. lurking in the background.

Protection

Bank credit will be tightened sharply but temporarily. New York banks are advising their correspondents in the farm belt to go easy on all kinds of loans and the big fellows themselves have gone timid again.

But bankers themselves privately admit that the pressure of unused funds will operate to end the credit famine the minute the banks are convinced that business hasn't received a mortal wound. It's also becoming more apparent that the government will use its own credit to keep things moving if the banks renege too long. And the banks will not refuse to buy government securities.

All told the outlook doesn't call for a blue funk any more than it calls for hurrahs. A keen New York observer predicts that within six months it will be the city consumer—not industry or the farmer—who will most need government protection.

Rations

The State Department learns of the appointment in Germany of a raw material dictator. Dr. Puppe will ration raw materials as did the food dictators during the war.

It is believed that this winter will see ration cards for necessities such as bread, potatoes and butter. German scientists are working overtime to discover synthetic substitutes; rubber will be available in quantities sufficient to make Germany independent of imports. Oil handlers are to furnish gasoline made from brown coal. Sugar will be made from wood.

There is no present belief that blockade conditions will be repeated.

Notes

Airplanes between Calcutta and Bombay are to be cooled by dry ice to moderate summer normal temperature of 115 degrees with occasional hops to 130. 12,000 men are now at work building cars and engines for 18 railroads which borrowed $61,900,000 from PWA. Radio listeners throughout the world are asked to report on echoes to the Bureau of Standards. Science can't yet figure out why science at all. The Census Bureau is about to issue a summary of American Business, 1934 model, also retail and wholesale census showing sales, average full and part-time employment, payrolls, expenses, etc.; also an amusement census in detail. France is figuring on reducing her 6,800,000,000 franc deficit by boosting the national lottery.

NEW YORK
 BY JAME McMULLEN

Gains
 Second thoughts on the drought in high New York quarters lead to the conclusion that the country is more scared than hurt. Granted that the situation means misery to thousands and a tremendous relief problem for the government, financial leaders balance present difficulties against possible future benefits and find comfort in the latter.

Here's how the effects of the drought on various lines of activity shape up in New York eyes—on the premise that the weather has already done its worst and will not continue to aggravate farm losses. The wheat shortage will just about cancel the surplus that had been such a source of grief and clear the decks for normal marketing at a decent price next year. Exports are predicted a fairly stable base price around $1.25 a bushel—though speculation may push it higher at intervals.

Cotton won't stage quite so strong a comeback. The surplus will be reduced but it already amounts to more than an average crop and the dent will be relatively slight. Still the cotton farmer can expect to be better off next year than he has been for the past five.

The drastic decline in the corn crop is significant in its probable effects on livestock. Less corn—less hogs. The city men believe it will take several years of intense

LACK OF FACILITIES HERE CAUSE OF CURTAILMENT OF LOCAL TRANSIENT BUREAU

Numerous inquiries Friday led E. W. Conway, division director, to explain curtailment of the local federal transient bureau service, effective Monday.

"It is not because we have had any unpleasant relations," he said, "but because facilities are such that it makes the maintenance of a concentration camp impractical under circumstances."

Big Spring, he explained, is a town with comparatively few vacant buildings and especially few large buildings not in use. Experience has taught, he continued, that it is unadvisable to maintain a concentration camp in the heart of the business district. Such an arrangement, he added, does not work for the best, either for the clients or the town.

More than a month ago he said he was advised to search out for a probable location other than in the heart of the business district. In this task he was unsuccessful and consequently there was no alternative save curtailment of the local bureau.

He stressed the point that the bureau was not being moved elsewhere and that Big Spring was to remain a division point since it was at the cross-roads of two im-

Conway will remain here approximately one week after Monday, clearing up the accounts of the local bureau and seeing that the new arrangement is put into effective operation. He said he was desirous of having merchants cooperate with him in straightening the affairs of the bureau.

If Fordham Frank Frisch's Cardinals do not beat out Memphis Bill Terry's Giants for this year's National league pennant no one can blame the Dean brothers from Oklahoma. Separately or together, they have fed more pitching poison to the world champions than any other fingers in the league. Moreover, they may continue to hand it out to the New Yorkers for the balance of the season, on the basis so far of the Giants' complete inability to combat them.

When Paul Dean outpitched King Carl Hubbell out in St. Louis earlier in the season the boys were inclined to laugh it off as "one of those things."

"Hub," remarked the Loyal Giant Rooters, "Wait until Slightly Dizzy tangles up with Hubbell again and see what happens."

Well, folks, 20,000 or more cash customers in the Polo Grounds the other day saw what happened and

Straight from the heart

The Boys on the Range, and the Dudes on the Ranch want boots that they know are right. Storekeepers tell us the boys want cheap boots. We don't believe it. Every man wants the best boot he can afford. Try to fool your horse and give him sawdust instead of bran, and what happens? Try to fool you by giving you boots made out of cheap leather and what do you think will happen? You buy a Starnes or a Packard because you know you get your money's worth. Well, a Starnes doesn't let you down, either. We're high hat about our reputation. You kinder puff up when you answer, "They're Starnes." If your dealer can't or won't show you a Starnes boot, write us direct for catalog and price list. Starnes boots start at about $12.00.
